EASTERN COLLEGE NOTES

Live Happenings of the Week—The Social Calendar and Athletics—Personal News.

The Eastern College Athletic Association held the first meeting of the new scholastic year last Wednesday morning, electing the following officers: President, Mr. Richwine; vice-president, Mr. Polen; secretary, Miss Hoke; assistant baseball manager, Mr. Patterson; assistant basketball manager, Mr. Roads, and assistant track manager, Mr. Lynch.

There will be no football game this week for the Eastern team, the next game being scheduled for Oct. 28 when Eastern will journey to Westminster, Md., to meet the Western Maryland College team. Western Maryland has a fine team and Coach Honaker is preparing for a hard struggle.

Basketball prospects look bright for this season and Manager Ramsey is hard at work on his schedule. With a number of last year's promising material among the new men, this year's team should be the best the college has thus far turned out.

Eastern will also be represented by a girls' basketball team this year, practice having begun last week. Miss Fetzer, manager of the team, is arranging several games with some of the best teams in Washington.

The students seem to be taking more interest in tennis this year than ever before. Both courts are in use every afternoon. At present a tournament is taking place, the object being to find out just where the best material lies. Abe Williams, Eastern's star player of last year, will return to college after Christmas, and will add considerably to the strength of the team.

Friday evening, the 12th of October, found the dining hall of the college a scene of merry-making. A taffy-pull in which all participated furnished a very novel and enjoyable entertainment. This was preceded by a moonlight hike.

Preparations for the annual Halloween ball, which will take place Nov. 4, are well on their way. It is hoped that it may equal if not excel the one of last year. This occasion is always a masquerade and everyone is expected to mask and join in the fun.

Mr. L. G. Saunders, a former student of Eastern College, has recently been appointed supervisor of the model school in the Stroudsburg, Pa., Normal School. Eastern may be proud of having helped him to prepare for so important a position.

The Washington Irving and Jefferson Literary Societies will hold a joint meeting this evening in the college auditorium. An interesting program has been arranged, a feature of which will be a debate, "Resolved, That the government should own and operate railroads."

SCORES ON GEORGETOWN

Giant Hilltoppers Fail to Check Charge of Light Squad from Eastern College.

Football prophets were given a jolt last Saturday when Eastern College scored against Georgetown University at the latter's grounds in Washington.

Although the local team's tally of seven points looks like a peanut in a washboiler, if placed beside the Washingtonians' aggregation of sixty-nine, it gratified the Red and White warriors and dumfounded the spectators. Not even the most optimistic expected Eastern to return with anything but a "goose egg" to her credit. It was generally predicted that Georgetown would have nothing more than a romp, during which her eleven would easily total from 80 to 100 units.

The second quarter of play proved the eventful one for the representatives of the Manassas institution. The Hilltoppers were within 30 yards of their opponents' line when Quarterback Honaker, realizing the danger of his men, called for a shift formation which demanded a run around right end. MacBride, to whom the ball was snapped, then made the one spectacular performance of the game, a run of 70 yards for a touchdown. He added to his feat by kicking successfully from placement.

Many attribute Eastern's showing to the fact that Georgetown played second string men during the period in which they were held. This bears little weight, however, as the Hilltop boasts that its second team is as effective as its Varsity line-up. Furthermore, Gilroy, who has for several years been named among the foremost gridiron athletes of the country, supported Georgetown's second line. This star, through his failure to check MacBride's charge, has been severely censured.

That the Capital City players were alarmed at the Virginians' scoring was evidenced by their haste in returning their first team to the field. Their reappearance only displayed the resistance of the Eastern men, who prevented their scoring throughout the third quarter.

The score by periods follows: Georgetown—First, 24; second, 19; third, 0; fourth, 25. Eastern—First, 0; second, 7; third, 0; fourth, 0.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO MEET

County Organization Will Hold Fifth Annual Convention at Manassas.

The fifth annual convention of the Prince William County Sunday Schools will be held tomorrow at Eastern Auditorium, beginning at 10 a. m. Hon. C. J. Meetze will preside.

The principal address will be made by Mr. Thomas C. Diggs, of Richmond, secretary of the state Sunday school work.

Special music will be rendered. The program will include a solo by Miss Swartley, of Eastern College; duets by Dr. and Mrs. Herwin U. Roop and by Mrs. Roop and Miss Isabel Kelley, a violin solo by Prof. Orville W. Mosher, jr., and a reading by Miss Martin, also of Eastern College.

A conference for girls and boys between the ages of 14 and 21 will be held at the Ruffner Building between 10 a. m. and noon, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Israel, state superintendents of the secondary division. A banquet will be given during the lunch hour, after which the young people will join the other members of the convention at Eastern Auditorium.

DEATH OF JOHN M. HOOE

Deputy Sheriff Dies Suddenly—Funeral and Interment at Manassas Thursday.

John Meredith Hooe died suddenly at his home near Aden, Prince William county, Tuesday night from a hemorrhage of the brain.

His funeral took place at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Manassas, yesterday, and interment was in the Manassas cemetery.

The services at the church were conducted by Rev. E. A. Roads, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Alfred Kelley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Manassas and Rev. J. Royal Cooke, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Greenwich.

The services at the cemetery were conducted by Bull Run (Manassas), Stonewall (Catharpin), Greenwich, Aden and Independent Hill Councils, Order Fraternal Americans. The pallbearers were Messrs. A. H. Green, Robert A. Hutchison, J. L. Brown, M. A. Bell, J. P. Kerlin and H. Thornton Davies.

Mr. Hooe was the eldest son of the late Robert H. and Bettie (Meredith) Hooe. He was born near Nokesville, Prince William county, on July 11, 1870. Surviving members of the family are his widow, formerly Miss Margaret Keiuit, of Nokesville, seven children and two brothers, Messrs. Daniel Hooe, of Warrenton, and Robert Hooe, of New Baltimore.

He was a member of the Greenwich Presbyterian Church and of Aden Council, Order Fraternal Americans.

When Mr. Charles A. Barbee became sheriff of the county, January 1, 1912, he nominated Mr. Hooe as his deputy, and reappointed him on January 1, 1916.

While discharging the duties of that difficult position to the satisfaction of everyone, he greatly enlarged the circle of his acquaintance in the county, and at the time of his death was not only one of the most widely known but one of the most respected and best liked.

It is no idle praise to say that his word was his bond, nor is it a vain eulogium to say that his death leaves a gap in his community and county which cannot be filled.

Hundreds can say of their departed friend with truth and emphasis: "He was my friend, faithful and just to me." X.

"TOM THUMB" NUPTIALS

Pretty Wedding Ceremony Takes Place in Conner's Opera House.

A very pretty wedding took place in Conner's Opera House last Friday evening, the contracting parties and their attendants being the diminutive folk of Manassas who entered with zest into a "Tom Thumb" affair, under the auspices of the Young Woman's Auxiliary of the Manassas Baptist Church.

Little Miss Rose Ratcliffe became the bride of Master Roy Babb, the officiating minister being Master Everett Embery. The bride was attended by little Miss Elida Moser as maid of honor. Master John Henry Burke was best man. The bridesmaids were little Misses Anne Davies, Anita Mills and Alice Weir. Master Jack Ratcliffe and Master Jack Davies were the ushers. The little ring bearer was Miss Janet Trusler.

The bridal party included about forty of the very young Manassas men and maids. The little bride looked very lovely in her wedding garments and each of her attendants added to the beauty of the picture.

Members of the Auxiliary are very grateful to the women and to the members of the church and community who assisted in the wedding.

Statue Will Be Unveiled on Gettysburg Battlefield Next May.

Gov. Stuart has been notified that the equestrian statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, designed by F. W. Sievers as Virginia's contribution to the group of monuments on the battlefield at Gettysburg, is completed. The statue, which has been in the course of construction for the past five years, will be on exhibition Oct. 30 at Tiffany's Studio, Long Island, New York. The unveiling at Gettysburg will take place next May.

The statue was authorized by the Legislature at the session of 1908, and since that time a total of $40,000 has been appropriated for the expense.

The Virginia commission for the Gettysburg monument is composed of Gov. Stuart, Col. W. Gordon McCabe, of Richmond; Col. Thomas Smith, of Warrenton; Major H. A. Edmonston, of Halifax; and Capt. Stephen R. Reid, of Mecklenburg.

Wood's Seeds

Seed Wheat

The Seed W heats we offer are from the best and most productive crops grown in the finest wheat-growing sections of Virginia, and are carefully selected by us to remove all impurities and small and inferior grains, so as to supply our customers only with plump and well-developed seed wheat, which should yield considerably more per acre than ordinary wheats imperfectly cleaned. All of our Seed W heats are selected from good yielding crops, which, with our methods of cleaning, makes the Seed W heat which we offer very much superior to ordinary seed wheat.

Write for Wood's Crop Special giving full information and prices of Seed Wheat, Seed Oats, Winter Barley, Rye and all seeds for Fall sowing. Free and samples of any seeds desired, mailed on request.

TO HELP HOMELESS BOYS

Miss Maggie Smith Asks Aid in Sending Box of Clothing and Other Gifts.

Miss Maggie R. Smith is receiving contributions at her home on West street to be forwarded to the Industrial School and Farm for Homeless Boys, at Covington, Alleghany county. The management is grateful for bed clothing, canned goods and food of any sort, dishes, clothing, etc.

Ninety-three boys are under the care of the institution and for lack of room 722 have been turned away. The home is operated under the auspices of the Episcopal Church, Diocese of Southern Virginia, but the boys are accepted regardless of creed or place of residence.

Old and worn clothing of every description is acceptable, according to a letter received by Miss Smith. Clothing unsuitable for the boys finds ready market among the mountain people—men, women and children.

"If you could know the years of misery, sorrow and suffering these little lads have been saved from," writes Mr. C. C. Thurber, general manager and field secretary of the institution, "you would be glad to have a part in giving them a chance in life."

Miss Smith hopes to have a box ready for shipment by Nov. 1.

OTHERS FAILED

TANLAC SUCCEEDED

Richmond Man's Suffering of Long Standing is Suddenly Stopped by New Remedy.

"I suffered for years from kidney trouble and catarrh. I had pains in my back and sides that were so bad I would have to walk fifteen or twenty feet all stooped up before I could straighten myself," said J. N. Dunnivant, living at 715 South Pine Street, Richmond, Va. "My head and throat were all stopped up and I could hardly breathe. Seeing Tanlac advertised in the papers I thought it was just what I needed and it has since proven that I was right. I have been relieved of all my pains and my head and throat are much freer than they were before. I can walk fine now and feel better in every way. Tanlac has helped me and I think it is a fine remedy for catarrh and kidney disorders. I have tried a good many remedies for the last ten or fifteen years with little relief. Tanlac has succeeded where others failed."

Tanlac has helped thousands of people. Why won't it help you? Give it a trial. It can be secured at Dowell's Pharmacy, Manassas, Va.

PAPER SHORTAGE AND BETTER BOOKS

Just as the movies, often deplored by showmen, have helped the cause of meritorious theatrical wares by largely killing off the "turkey shows," so the scarcity of white paper, serious as it is to publishers in particular, has its compensations for the public. There will be fewer books, but better. Already, it is estimated there has been a decrease of 40 per cent in the number of books announced for publication this fall, as compared with the same period in 1912. And it may confidently be assumed that as the quantity decreases, the quality increases.

Even a cursory analysis of the product to be expected is interesting. The Publisher's Weekly realizes that manuscripts must be of better character to pass the publishers' "readers," now that paper is 10 cents the pound; the New York Evening Post finds that short stories are shorter and more dramatic, more inclined to the "punch" style, because publishers can't spare paper on which authors may grow diffusive; and the Christian Science Monitor is convinced that poetry is markedly on the increase. This last, however, is not attributable to the paper shortage, but to the fact that the world's one, great theme today lends itself to poetic treatment. It is predicted, too, that the year's output of war books will be less generally devoted to descriptive purposes. As the Monitor puts it, "the writers who have seen Europe are peering into the future and are facing the tasks of reconstruction." This is applicable to American economists as well, who may be counted on to speculate and predict concerning conditions in this country after the war. For the general reader, therefore, the outlook is hopeful; fiction will be more worth while, and serious books will be more interesting. — Times-Dispatch.

SWEETNESS OF SPEECH

A distinguished physician gives it as his opinion that if some parents who lay out large sums of money in having their children taught music, would have them taught how to use their voices in talking, so that they would have clear enunciation and a pleasant tone, they would give them a much more valuable endowment to start life with.

It is astonishing how little attention most parents pay to the speech of their children. A harsh voice, a loud and annoying voice, little mannerisms of speech that are disagreeable, are a great handicap to young people in making their way in the world; and the time to correct these is in childhood. But how many parents do you know who watch these defects in their children and patiently and persistently strive to correct them?

If the schools pay very much attention to this matter, the results are not shown very favorably in the product, though we would not intimate this would show neglect on the part of the schools. It is a slow and difficult process, and teachers must not put all their time and labor on one thing. Anyhow, if there is any one thing that is conspicuous in children it is their inability or disinclination to enunciate clearly, and generally to use pleasant tones in speaking; and sweetness of speech is so admirable that one forgets ugliness and other lack of charms in the presence of a soothing voice. — Staunton Leader.

"HIGHBROWS"

President Hibben of Princeton in his address to the students at the opening of the university condemned the use of the phrase "highbrow," to express scorn of intellectual things. This is a timely and wise protest against an attitude of disregard for intellectual development which is too common on the part of the people of this country today. There is a certain class who look upon mental development, research, philosophical thought and scholarship as unprofitable and of no value to society. This is an unwholesome position. It does not discourage those who aim at intellectual achievements. The scorn of small minds does not deter earnest scholars from continuing their work. The misfortune of it all is that a form of antagonism against intellectual endeavor is created on the part of many who should on the contrary be proud of the scholarship of their fellow Americans.

A "highbrow" is too often viewed as a mere theorist, who without practical knowledge of life undertakes to reform conditions that are palpably undesirable. It is the favorite expression of the professional politician, seeking to belittle the activities of men who have read deeply and have formed ideas of how government should be organized and conducted. Often these student reformers are impractical. Their ideals, however, are always worthy of consideration, and, so far as possible, of establishment. Progress is often the result of diligent striving toward the actually unattainable. — Washington Star.

COMMISSION WAS WELL SELECTED

General Goethals, while successfully superintending the execution of man's greatest engineering feat, was able always to keep in mind the point of view and the needs of the workers. More than once his sympathy and wisdom prevented industrial disturbance at Panama. He comes to his new task with the best possible training. His associates on the eight-hour board also call for approval. George Rublee, Federal Trade Commissioner, has the honor of having invented the trade board idea. Mr. Rublee was a leading Progressive in 1912, but when President Wilson adopted the plan of supplying intelligent national aid to business, he was called on to do the necessary organization. The qualifications of Edgar E. Clark, the third member, are indicated by his position on the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. Clark ought to bring to the eight-hour committee that special knowledge which will be of great value in the accomplishment of this most difficult public service. — Chicago Herald.

ON THE TRAIL OF POLIO

Pending formal announcement from the authorities of the Johns Hopkins hospital, an interested public will do well to avoid hasty conclusions from those "it-is-understood" reports spread broadcast by one of the press bureaux. When the hospital has its results verified and established, it will promptly and conservatively state them to the country; meantime, its pathologists can only be embarrassed by the hasty publication of half-truths.

As far as we have been able to gather, the results at the Hopkins have thus far carried the investigators only to a new field of inquiry. Following its usual rule, the hospital has had autopsies performed on as many as possible of the victims of infantile paralysis. In every instance marked disturbance of the lower intestine has been noted, along with the now-familiar lesions elsewhere. These findings naturally suggest infection by mouth, in somewhat the same manner as with typhoid fever. But whether the mouth-infection is due to food, drink, careless habits or insect carriers is yet to be determined. Nor should too much importance be attached to the report that the disease has been produced in a rabbit at Johns Hopkins. Rabbits have been shown by Frost and others to be susceptible to the disease under certain conditions, but they have shown such erratic symptoms and such varying susceptibility that few have been willing to venture conclusions from the experiments with rabbits. Until it is known, therefore, how the rabbit was infected, and whether Frost's methods were changed, scientific judgment will be suspended. — News Leader.

MAKING RAPID STRIDES

In a report recently made by the bureau of research in municipal government at Harvard University it appears that about eighty municipalities in the United States are now conducting their offices under the "city manager plan" of government. In most of these places the city manager is an adjunct of the commission form, acting as the commissioners' non political, administrative and executive official; in others, as in Fredericksburg, for instance, his appointment has been made under special ordinance by the local governing body. Everywhere the Harvard research bureau finds that the position of city manager is open to non-residents of the city or town, which shows that this part of our local plan is a wise one. In nearly every city where this form of government obtains the executive power of the city manager relates to the appointment, removal and general control of his subordinates and he generally is given the power of appointment and removal, this power being considered necessary to the successful administration of the office. For the most part the "city manager plan," considered by experts the best form of municipal government ever devised, has been in operation only since 1914 but during the past two years the increase in the number of cities adopting the plan has been steady and shows no signs of abating. Nine cities in Texas are operating under this plan and two in Virginia, Staunton, the very first in the United States to adopt it, and Fredericksburg. Dayton, Ohio, is the largest city manager municipality and it is working there in splendid style and with fine results under the administration of former City Manager Ashburner, of Staunton. In two other large cities its adoption is being urged and in Philadelphia it is advocated by ex-Mayor Blankenship. The old forms of city government have been weighed in the balance and found wanting and long since would have been more generally discarded but for the powerful political influences, which in nearly every city, stand in the way of good, efficient and economical government. — Fredericksburg Daily Star.

BRENTSVILLE

Rev. J. Royal Cooke filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning. His subject was Christian Fellowship, founded on Revelations 22:21. The subject seemed especially appropriate as it was the day for the observance of the Lord's Supper. Mr. Cooke spoke beautifully and forcefully of the necessity of true fellowship with Christ and His followers as a preparation for our fitness to come to His table. The bread and wine were nothing in themselves, only symbols of the sacrifice Christ had made for us and of our fellowship with Him.

He said the Bible was a history and a revelation. It is the most ancient and authentic history in the world of man, his deeds and his achievements, and a revelation of his needs. Man left to himself had made wonderful progress in the arts and sciences and in government, as evidenced by the rich kingdoms of David and Solomon, as well as the kingdoms of Greece and Rome. But the Kingdom of God, as taught by revelation, is eternal. These bodies of ours are so tainted with sin as to cause a continued warfare between the flesh and the spirit and our only safety lies in true fellowship with Christ.

His text, the closing words of the Bible, contained a prayer, a prophecy and a warning, "For by grace are we saved."

Mrs. Alice Kincheloe has closed her summer home here and with her granddaughter, Miss Myrtle Hedrick, will spend the winter in Washington.

Mr. R. H. Keys, Brentsville's prosperous merchant, has just returned from Baltimore. He reports a tremendous advance in the price of all commodities. He was accompanied on the trip by his brother, Mr. J. M. Keys.

One of the most faithful workers in the Union Sunday School here is Mrs. Arey, of Manassas. She drives from Manassas every Sunday morning to teach her class of married women. Her example is well worthy of emulation.

In the absence of the organist Sunday morning, Miss Muriel Arey, very graciously, took charge of the music at the Union Church.

Respectfully, J. P. LEACHMAN, Treasurer, Prince William County.

URGED TO BUY TICKETS

Guarantors Wish Public to Buy Tickets in Advance to Support Guarantee.

[Communicated]

Chautauqua admission fees benefit the entertainers, not the guarantors.

It should be borne in mind by our citizens that the eighteen local guarantors have pledged themselves to pay the chautauqua people $300, even though 240 tickets at $1.25 are not sold. Public spirit surely is strong enough in Manassas and throughout Prince William county to encourage the guarantors in their efforts to give the citizens a course of high-class entertainments at moderate cost.

All the money that is taken in at the door during the six entertainments goes to the chautauqua people, so that only the revenue from the tickets sold by guarantors will help in meeting the $300 guarantee. The guarantors have no axe to grind and they get no benefit from the sale of tickets. Guarantors pay for their tickets like other citizens. It is hoped that the friends of the best form of entertainments will purchase their tickets at once and thus relieve the guarantors from the need to pay $5 or $10 each to meet the $300 guarantee.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The Annual Teachers Institute of Prince William county will be held on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 9 and 10, instead of the October date previously announced. This change was made in order to better accommodate the exhibit of the Girls' Canning Clubs and the Boys' Corn Clubs which take place at the same time. Detailed announcements will be made later.

We Want a Business Man

A business man who has selling ability. The man we want may be in the automobile business now; he may be in some other business; he may be a farmer; he may be retired.

Whoever he is or whatever may be his occupation, we want him if he can fulfill the conditions of our proposal.

We are in search of a real, live, wide-awake man, who has had business training, who has some capital, who can sell Maxwell Motor Cars.

We are represented in almost 3000 of the leading cities and towns of the United States, and our dealers are prosperous and happy.

They should be, and will continue to be, for the Maxwell Car is the unquestioned leader of its class.

It is a car for which there is a nation-wide and growing demand—because it represents more real value, dollar for dollar, than any other car in the world.

We have no dealer in this locality. We want one immediately. Our representative will call and explain the details of a very attractive proposition.

Anyone interested should inquire at once.

What Cornwell Supply Co. of Manassas

have to say about cream separators this week

IN the last ten or fifteen years there have been dozens of cream separators come on the market which claimed to be "world beaters." But they couldn't make good in the hands of the users and one by one they dropped out of sight. Their owners were willing to take a risk and they lost. If you buy a cream separator from us you run no risk of dissatisfaction or loss.

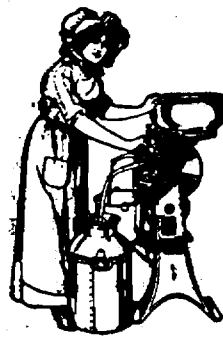

The De Laval is tested and time proved.

Why experiment? What's the use of taking chances with a machine you don't know much about, or an inferior machine, when you know that a De Laval is recognized everywhere as the "World's Standard."

More than thirty-five years of experiment and experience have made the De Laval pre-eminently the best machine on the market for the separation of cream.

If you have no separator now, or an inferior one, we can sell you a De Laval on such terms that it will pay for itself while you are using it.

Sooner or later you will buy a DE LAVAL

FRANK DIXON

TAKING STOCK OF YOUR HOME TOWN BY FRANK DIXON

The Second Evening of the Three Days Festival Program.

For more than twelve years Frank Dixon has filled an average of 150 lectures engagements a year, in every section of the United States, returning to many towns and cities again and again.

He has wit, eloquence, logic, intellect, and, more, he has that divine spark called genius—the power that springs from a masterly mind, the courage of a conscious greatness. His lectures sparkle with a spontaneous and original wit that captivates the audience. He is unquestionably one of the most scholarly and intellectual lecturers one can hear. His lectures contain humor, satire, ridicule and pathos, all delivered with the masterly touch of the finished orator.

To be good anywhere a lecture must be good everywhere. This aptly fits Mr. Dixon's lecture.

The preacher speaks of heaven, not because the pews are filled with angels; he talks on hell, not because they are filled with devils. He knows that in all men are the angel and devil possibilities. Mr. Dixon realizes this in his lectures and that the value of a lecture to any community lies largely in its challenge to fixed custom and established modes of thought. The moment a people becomes content with its achievement it begins to lose the power of action. The moment it ceases to create it begins to decay. To move only along the grooves of familiar thought is to invite brain paralysis. The lecturer must be the aggressor and call men to give a reason for the convictions that they hold or abandon them for better. Mr. Dixon is of that type. He is radically conservative and conservatively radical.

Some lectures come within an hour or two of Fourth of July—hurrah! Next day it is all over except the headache. Others take you out picking flowers. Pretty and pleasant, but that's all. Another class—Dixon belongs here—plowing and harrowing right through your own little garden of sentiment rooting up just the plants you pet and prize most. You are vastly disquieted, but you know down deep that there will soon be greener and sturdier shoots to thrive where the old ones grew.

Mr. Dixon is a sower of thought seeds that have a right to germinate immediately. He is a friend of things as they are, who yet believes in challenging them to give account of themselves. He is an ardent patriot and an eloquent lecturer, a great combination. One may not agree with him, but must respect his judgment.

His lecture on the Lyceum Festival is a social survey of the average town, with suggestions as to treatment of town ailments and their cure. Not every town is sorely in need of immediate reform, but there are few which could not stand a little improvement. It is good for any community to have a town doctor come in and look it over with the eye of an expert. He can see the why of things that are a puzzle to those who have lived there all their lives. Every good live, wide awake citizen cannot afford to miss hearing this lecture. It will make him still more wide awake.

ENTERTAINMENT DAY AT THE LYCEUM FESTIVAL

Rosani, Wonder Worker and Prince of Jugglers.

Rosani, Wonder Worker and Novelty Entertainer. For pleasing, refined and astonishing novelties he cannot be equaled. Dexterity, combined with natural skill and pleasing manner, goes far toward making his entertainment the most artistic, instructive as well as amusing, as it appeals to all, both old and young. As this act needs a little explanation, we wish to say he is no magician, but a manipulator and balancer of various objects, among them being whips, plates, balls, pipes, sticks, bows, bottles, glasses, hammers, swords, tops and many other peculiarly shaped articles of different weights and sizes. Rosani lives in topsy turvy land. His rapid fire manipulations and balancing stunts afford no end of unique entertainment. For the time being all ideas of the natural laws of the universe are forgotten.

HAYMARKET

The traveling public of Haymarket and Buckhall is rejoicing in the good new road now opened for use. Instead of the wrenches and jolts of the old up-hill and down-dale affliction, Mr. Carl Clarkeon has made a route of exactly the same distance and with no hill steeper than 4 per cent, so that a horse can trot all the way in peace and comfort.

Mr. Delaware Davis was generous enough to give the new enterprise the material found on his place and after the traffic has settled the new roadbed it will be surfaced with a splendid gravel from a fine deposit found on Mr. Davis's farm. Mr. Clarkson has now moved his force to the Fairfax end and by hauling out some tons of mud that had settled in holes over the old roadbed of the pike the new road has made its name blessed among automobilists who had stuck in the holes a month ago.

Now, the road force has blasted out some of the worst projecting rocks of the old Devil's Backbone near Fairfax, and the heavy grader has rounded up the shoulders of the old pike for three miles or more in a way to make the old inhabitants rub their eyes and wonder if the good old days of before the war had come back again.

Just at Centerville Mr. Clarkson has found another deposit of splendid road metal. Running along the top of a ridge there is an old breastworks that has been used as a road ever since the war without wearing down or getting muddy. This ridge will be quarried, screened and distributed on the surface of the road for several miles in each direction. Detours will be made to avoid a few of the worst hills and low places and the benefits will be very glaringly apparent in quite a short time.

The method of teaching in the primary department of our school is highly appreciated. The little ones are taking far greater interest than ever before. It is hoped there will be a regular attendance for a day lost at school can never be regained.

Miss Frances White, of Haymarket, has received an appointment to be superintendent of the Oglethorpe Hospital, Savannah, Ga. Miss White is a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, and her fine work there has brought her name to the attention of the medical authorities in Georgia. The Oglethorpe Hospital is a very modern and up-to-date institution, established by the leading surgeons of Savannah, and named in honor of the original Oglethorpe who founded the colony of Georgia.

The life in that far Southern sunny land of rice and cotton is very delightful and Miss White is to be congratulated upon entering into it.

The residence of Mr. E. B. Price is nearly ready for occupancy. The carpenters, painters and tinner have finished and it is now being papered and decorated. When the work is completed Mr. Price will have one of the finest homes in the village.

There will be preaching in the Baptist Church Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. W. L. Naff. Mr. Charles F. Riden has moved into the Dr. Washington house.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. J. H. Utterback is no better.

A runaway horse, belonging to a Mr. Polen, caused some excitement here a few days ago. Mr. Polen was thrown from his buggy but was not seriously hurt.
