BOYS TO DRILL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Manassas Students Organize for Military Training and Physical Culture.

Military training for the boys and physical culture for the girls have been introduced this year at Manassas Agricultural High School for the Eighth Congressional District, to supplement the academic, agricultural and normal training courses already provided. Mr. H. W. Sanders, the new agricultural director, who is a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, is in charge of military training, and drill began this week.

The physical culture classes began their exercises at once under the direction of Miss Mildred Belt, a graduate of Goucher College, who is instructor of mathematics at the high school. Members of the faculty enjoy the classes with the girls.

"To the credit of the patrons of the agricultural high school of Manassas, as well as of the students themselves, the innovation of military science and tactics has been received with a spirit that is fully in keeping with the spirit of our day," said Mr. Sanders, when approached by a representative of The Journal. "Every boy in the school has enlisted in the military company that is being formed and, judging from the results of the first few days' work, the organization bids fair to be one that will reflect credit on the high school and on the town."

A drill period of thirty minutes daily is the present plan for the boys' organization. In accordance with their aptitude and ability the cadets will be appointed to positions as non-commissioned officers. This feature is expected to arouse and hold the best interest of the boys.

"It should be clearly understood," said Mr. Sanders, "that the primary object of this work is not to develop trained soldiers, but to improve the bearing of the cadets and instill in them the principles of obedience, hearing things correctly, and thinking quickly and accurately. Many difficulties have presented themselves in the perfection of the system, all of which can be overcome, however, with the hearty cooperation and support of the student body."

The great demand for business help promises to make a material increase in the enrollment of the commercial classes under Miss Williette R. Myers.

BOYS AND GIRLS AGAIN IN SCHOOL

Young People Are Glad to Return to Their Books—Large Enrollment.

The Manassas High and Graded Schools opened Monday morning. A large enrollment is reported and a fine spirit of enthusiasm was displayed by the students beginning the work of the session.

At the formal opening exercises of the high school, addresses were made by Rev. J. F. Burks, rector of Trinity Church, Mr. George G. Tyler, former superintendent of schools, and Mr. H. W. Sanders, the new director of agriculture. Miss Sallie Norvell Larkin welcomed the new students on behalf of the senior class, faculty and alumni and Beverly Walker, member of the first year class, responded.

Among the out-of-town students who have enrolled are: Paul Ward, Bealeton; Lucian Hopkins, Nokesville; William and John Sweeney, Gainesville; Rice Green, Paris; Fauquier county; Margaret Furr, Warrenton; Virginia Kite, Hood, Madison county; Charlotte Rice, Burke, Fairfax county; Mae Patton and Dorothy Sanders, Catharpin; Marjorie Brower and Nell Cave, Gainesville; Helen Elsie, Stone House, and Doyal Herrell, Haymarket.

FOOD PRODUCTS FOR STATE FAIR

Prince William Asked for Display of Cherries—Other Gifts Wanted.

The special exhibit of cherries which Prince William women and girls have been asked to send to the state fair at Richmond is to be shipped by Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, county fair demonstration agent, on Wednesday, September 26. Great interest has been exhibited by the housekeepers of the county and it is hoped that everyone who has taken part in the effort to increase the food supply will contribute to the exhibit. The displays this year will not be returned to their owners; they will be turned over to the Red Cross Food Conservation Committee, eventually to appease the appetite of some khaki clad boys at the front.

Both The Journal and The Democrat have offered space in their windows for assembling the "gift" exhibits before packing. The time is short and it is urged that all who desire to participate will send their exhibits in time. Contributions for the special exhibit of cherries—canned, dried, pickled or preserved—should be brought to Manassas not later than Tuesday.

"It would be well for clubs and other organizations to get together and, as far as possible, combine their gifts, so that products may be shipped in case lots, as a case of tomatoes, beans, corn, fruit, or ten-pound package of dried fruit or vegetables," says Miss Gilbert. "Canning club girls and boys and boys engaged in the work of the agricultural league of safety are urged to join in the exhibit. Those belonging to the bean club can send a quart of beans."

"It is impossible for the county agent either to write or to see every family in the county during the short time before the fair. Therefore it is hoped that everyone will respond cheerfully to this unique call. Virginia is in the lead regarding the manner in which she is going to conduct this part of her state fair this year. Why cannot Prince William lead the counties?"

"Homekeepers, girls and boys, do your best to make her lead."

—Miss Lucy May Buck, elder daughter of Mrs. B. C. Buck, who taught school last year in Fauquier county, left Sunday for Portsmouth, where she has accepted a position. She will make her home with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Buck. Mrs. Buck and Miss Elizabeth Buck plan to leave for Portsmouth later.

PRINCE WILLIAM PAYS TRIBUTE TO HER DEPARTING SOLDIERS

County Officers, Red Cross, Band, School Children and Others Parade With Forty-one Prince William Selectmen.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT COURTHOUSE AND RECEPTION

Large Crowd Participates in Demonstration—Troop Train Carries Second Quota to Camp Lee—Fairfax, Rockingham and Shenandoah Men Meet at Manassas for Trip—Addresses and Music.

All Prince William paid tribute at Manassas Wednesday to the men who have been selected as her representatives in the new National Army. Forty-one members of Prince William's quota of 108 left for Camp Lee on a morning train, together with 57 men from Fairfax, 72 from Rockingham and 63 from Shenandoah.

The formal exercises in their honor began at 9 o'clock on the county courthouse green beside the memorial group which was erected after the Jubilee of Peace. The speakers were seated on the cement platform which forms the base of the memorial, above which the Stars and Stripes and other patriotic decorations were suspended. Banners bearing the words, "You are undertaking a great duty," the opening sentence of President Wilson's message to the men who are responding to the selective draft, and "Duty is the sublimest word in the human language," the sentiment of General Lee, were prominently displayed.

The bronze cannon which represented actual service in the family quarrel of '61, the mounds of cannon balls topped with flags and the huge anchors representing the other branch of Uncle Sam's defense, formed an appropriate background for the celebration.

Prince William's new soldiers, who had become a part of the National Army at 4:30 o'clock of the day before, were seated in rows just in front of the speakers' stand, still in civilian clothing to be discarded at Camp Lee and bearing themselves proudly in recognition of their opportunity to serve the nation.

Grouped behind them, at the corner of the lawn where Grant and Lee avenues converge, were the members of the county chapter of the Red Cross which arranged the celebration. On the opposite side of the memorial stood the 400 children of the Manassas schools who participated in the musical program under the direction of Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge.

Lieut. Round Presides. Lieut. George C. Round, who wore his country's uniform in '61 as a member of the United States signal corps, was master of ceremonies. Lieut. Round made a brief address in launching the program and read the President's message addressed to the men of the National Army, a copy of which was printed in The Journal of September 7.

The next speaker was Mr. George G. Tyler, county clerk, clerk of the local board governing the selection of men from Prince William and chairman of the Manassas or county chapter of the American Red Cross. Mr. Tyler congratulated the boys on their fine appearance and expressed his confidence that the county was fortunate in having such fine young men to uphold the nation's standard. In closing he urged the young men to remember the anxious waiting of the family left at home, doing a duty none the less patriotic in upholding the civil life of the nation, and to keep them happy with letters from camp.

Responds for the Boys. Earl D. Merrill, of Independent Hill, one of the 41, was called upon to speak on behalf of the boys. Mr. Merrill, who is a graduate of Manassas High School and a student of Cornell University, was clad in the uniform in which he had seen service with the military company at Cornell. He spoke briefly and earnestly, expressing the willingness of the boys to enter upon military service in the present crisis. "We shall do our duty," he said in conclusion pointing to the banners overhead. "We cannot do more; we shall do no less."

Hon. C. J. Meetze spoke feebly of the seriousness of the occasion and of the pleasure of the county in doing honor to the boys, paying tribute to the stalwart manhood selected to do Prince William's part in preserving the national honor.

Mr. C. A. Spies referred in glowing terms to the young men in whose honor the celebration had been arranged and expressed the affectionate interest of the county in their welfare and the wish that each one may return when the world is made safe for democracy to live in honor as a citizen of the nation for which he has offered his life.

Poem to the Soldiers. Rev. T. D. D. Clark, pastor of the Manassas Baptist Church, expressed the tribute of the county in verse. His poem, which was written for the occasion, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Westwood Hutchinson, commander of Ewell Camp, Confederate Veterans, made a brief address. "I was the youngest of six brothers who entered the Confederate Army," said Mr. Hutchinson, "and all survived the war." This remarkable experience was emphasized for the encouragement of the boys.

An earnest appeal for divine guidance was made in the invocation offered by Rev. J. Halpenny, of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The closing prayer for the safety of the boys who have dedicated themselves to the nation's service was made by Rev. J. F. Burks, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church.

The musical program was entertained by the presence of the Fraternal Americans band, led by Mr. Raymond M. Florence. The school children sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and the assembly sang "America."

Soldiers in Parade. At the conclusion of the program at the courthouse, the crowd moved in parade formation to the railway station, where one of the largest crowds ever seen in Manassas awaited the departure of the troop train. The boys were led by the county and town officials, the band and the Red Cross, and followed by other organizations and the long line of school children. Girls of

BLOW FRACTURES SKULL

Montgomery Fox, of Fairfax County, is Victim of Club.

Montgomery Fox, a well known and highly respected farmer of Fairfax County, lies at the point of death at his home near Vale, with a fractured skull received during an altercation between his son, Carlos Fox, and a neighbor, E. L. Reid, on Monday. The wound was inflicted by Reid's son, Vernon Reid, with a heavy stick of wood.

The unfortunate affair grew out of a quarrel between the younger Fox and the elder Reid over the operation of a traction engine in which they were jointly interested. The men exchanged blows and clinched, Reid, it is said, having young Fox down on the ground. Montgomery Fox approached with the intention, according to report, of separating the combatants. Vernon Reid, misinterpreting Montgomery Fox's action as intending harm to his father, picked up a piece of wood and hit the elder Fox on the head. Mr. Fox was about 65 years old.—Herdon Observer.

WILL NOT SEIZE HOME PRODUCTS

Government Issues Denial of Report That Pantries Will Be Invaded.

(C. A. Montgomery, County Agent.) Traveling over the county I find many people who believe some of the reports that the government is going to take a percentage, or a large portion of the foods we have stored in our homes. How some of these reports started I do not know. I do know of a few people who misunderstood an article that was in the Washington papers a few weeks ago, stating that the food administrator would make a thorough investigation to know the amount of foods in this country, and to do this the amount in the pantries of private homes would have to be found. It did not state that the government would take any that is there, any more than it stated that the government would give each family all it should happen to need to live comfortably through the winter.

Below is a letter just received from the U. S. Department of Agriculture which reads as follows:

"There is no truth in a widely circulated statement that the government expects to take food supplies from any family. Both the Food Administration and the Department of Agriculture join in a statement to counteract what seems to be a deliberate propaganda to the effect that the government intends to take from every family all canned goods put up in excess of 100 quarts.

"This is only one of the variations of the rumor, which has been widely circulated.

"The authorities state emphatically that no such course has ever been contemplated by the government. On the contrary, both the Department of Agriculture and the Food Administration are strongly urging housewives to can and preserve, especially at this time, all surplus fruits and vegetables in order that the households themselves may have a cheap and plentiful supply of food."

See Specialist Coming.

Mr. Hawkins, who is in charge of the bee industry in fifteen of the southern states, will be here Wednesday to give demonstrations in handling and wintering bees. Persons interested are requested to notify Mr. C. A. Montgomery, county demonstration agent. Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Montgomery plan to visit different sections of the county during the day.

NO REFLECTION ON COMMITTEE

County Clerk Tyler Issues Statement to Correct Wrong Impression Created.

"I see from an article in the Manassas Democrat of yesterday that a wrong interpretation has been put upon a news item that I gave the editor, at his request, in regard to certifying the name of Mr. C. J. Meetze to the secretary of the electoral board as a candidate for the House of Delegates in the coming November election," reads a statement issued from the Prince William county clerk's office this morning by County Clerk George C. Tyler.

"It is my duty, as clerk of the court, under the General Election Law, upon receiving proper notice from any one that he intends to be a candidate for office in the coming election, to certify the same to the clerk of the electoral board.

"The fact that I certify the name of a person to the clerk of the electoral board, under the General Election Law does not indicate in any way what party has nominated him, or whether he is the nominee of any party at all.

"Any person qualified to be a candidate for office, whether he be democrat, republican, prohibitionist or independent, has a right to file his notice with the clerk of the court and it is then the duty of the clerk to certify the same to the clerk of the electoral board.

"Mr. Meetze filed his notice on September 10, 1917, and I sent a certified copy of same to the clerk of the electoral board on the same day.

"This is all that I have done, and I feel that it is unjust to me and misleading to the people to suggest that this in any way reflects upon or modifies the action of the Democratic Committee in nominating the democratic candidates for the House of Delegates."

Supervisors Hold Busy Session at Courthouse—Many Orders Ordered Paid.

At a regular meeting of the county board of supervisors on Thursday, September 18, Palmer Smith, superintendent of roads for Prince William, reported that the acting viewers in connection with the proposed opening of a road through the land of J. S. Powell's heirs, in Occoquan district, running from Neaboco bridge in a westerly direction, had decided that the road could be materially shortened without damaging grave-yard, yard or garden, the danger to the traveling public lessened by the absence of a right-angle turn in the road, and the values of the land on each side of the road increased.

An area of .668 of an acre was involved and the damages were assessed at $10, the bed of the old road to revert to the Powell heirs. The state highway commissioner was requested to ask for bids for the reconstruction of the roads from Nokesville to Greenwich and Haymarket to Hickory Grove. The balance of the joint state and county maintenance fund, estimated at $3,272, was apportioned as follows, Nokesville road, $1,452, and Haymarket road, $1,840.

G. M. Davis was appointed deputy superintendent of roads for Occoquan district. One thousand dollars was ordered to be transferred by warrant from the special road fund to the joint state and county maintenance fund.

W. J. Ashby was appointed a committee to buy two cars for the jail. The superintendent and assistant superintendent of roads of their respective districts were authorized to paint the bridges of the county.

M. J. Hottle was authorized to purchase three drag scoops and six wood drags for Manassas district.

R. L. Gregg was authorized to order supplies for the county rock crusher.

W. J. Ashby, jailor, was appointed a committee to attend to necessary repairs for the court house and jail.

J. L. Dawson, J. C. Dove, H. C. Metzger, G. M. Davis and W. S. Lynn were appointed a committee to examine Neaboco bridge and report at the next meeting.

A warrant for $712.80 was ordered to be drawn on the Occoquan district road fund for meeting the payroll for maintenance work, the amount to be refunded to the district fund upon receipt of a certificate for the maintenance work.

The business of the session was transacted by the six members, as follows: J. L. Dawson, Occoquan district, chairman; J. J. Conner, Manassas district; J. T. Syncox, Dumfries district; McDuff Green, Brentsville district; O. C. Hutchison, Gainesville district, and T. M. Russell, Lees district.

BOYS ARRIVE AT CAMP LEE

Prince William Soldiers Write From Camp Lee. All in Good Spirits.

A letter from the Prince William boys who left Wednesday morning for Camp Lee was received by The Journal this morning. It is signed "The Boys" and was written by one of their number Wednesday night after their arrival in camp. The letter follows:

"We arrived here at 6:15 and in good spirits. The group from Prince William thus far has led the contingent from Northern Virginia. The Fairfax, Fauquier, Prince William and Harrisonburg Branch county boys, numbering 568 men, came on the same train.

"A generous chicken dinner was served us on the train at Gordonsville; we were given an early supper at Richmond, and on reaching camp and after being checked up the groups were escorted to the mess hall and fed again. No one complains of hunger.

"After supper each man was given a blanket and an empty duck tick which he filled with straw and placed on his cot. The cots have real springs to them. Bathing facilities are adjacent to each of the barracks. After removing travel stains there, a large proportion of the fellows busied themselves with writing home, giving their first impressions of the life at Camp Lee.

"Camp Lee is located seven and a half miles southeast of Petersburg, out in the country. The land is very flat and quite sandy. The buildings, substantial wooden structures, are a little city in themselves. The barracks are two-story enclosed structures, divided into several large well-ventilated rooms, each room accommodating about fifty men. Many of them are still in the process of construction.

"Despite the large stream of men pouring in from all parts of the state, there was no confusion. In a quiet, prompt, orderly manner, each county group was received, checked off and assigned to its quarters.

"We first came into contact with the Y. M. C. A. on the train. A traveling secretary gave each man a very cordial invitation to the association buildings at Camp Lee and distributed some very helpful literature to prepare them for the life before them.

"We have our physical examination in the morning. The lights are about to go out, which means getting to bed in the dark. Ten volunteers have just been called from the Prince William and Fairfax boys to serve on kitchen duty tomorrow.

"In haste, but in good spirits, we are,
Sincerely,
THE BOYS."

MILK PRICES GOING UP.

Dairymen Think 32 Cents Lowest Rate This Winter.

Fixing of the winter milk price was postponed by the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association at its fall meeting in Washington on Saturday in the hope that the food administration may force a reduction in the price of feed, which would in turn affect the cost of producing milk. The meeting was attended by a number of dairymen from Fairfax and Loudoun counties.

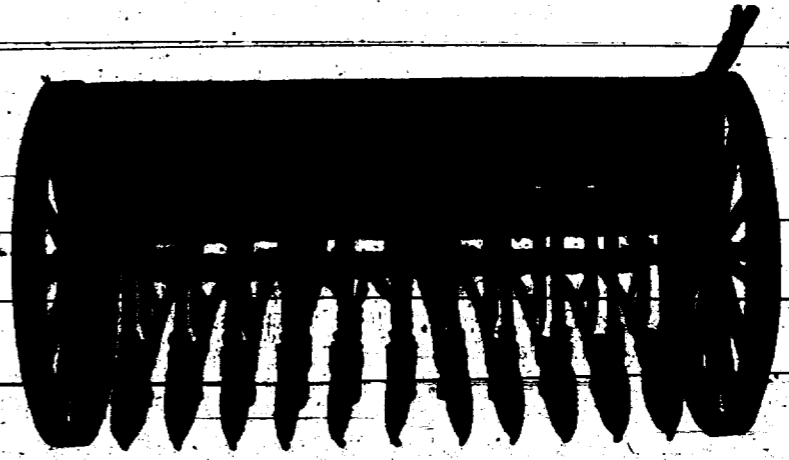

Members addressing the meeting stated that 35 cents a gallon would be the lowest that milk could be sold at a profit after October 1 on the basis of present production costs. This, it was stated, would mean a retail price in the District of 14 or 15 cents a quart.

After a price of 32 cents had been suggested, as the lowest possible minimum that could be hoped for, even with the greatest reduction to be expected in prices of feedstuffs, the whole question was left in the hands of a special subcommittee of the executive committee, which will keep in close touch with activities of the food administration, and then report a price for winter milk to the executive committee. That committee was empowered to fix a price. During the summer the price has been 24 cents a gallon, whole sale.—Herndon Observer.

PRINCE WILLIAM PAYS TRIBUTE

the junior circle of the Red Cross, wearing the Red Cross insignia, formed a bodyguard on each side of the boys, signifying the protective interest of the Red Cross in the soldier.

The line of march began at the courthouse and moved eastward up Lee avenue, West and Church streets to Main street, and westward by way of Center street to the railroad crossing at West street. At the corner of West and Church streets the line was met by the selected men from Fairfax, under the leadership of Mr. Alfred H. Drummond. The new arrivals were greeted by Lieut. Round and Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, the mounted marshal, and placed in line with the Prince William boys.

Crowds at the Station. The paraders broke ranks at the station and mingled with the boys and their relatives until the departure of the train shortly after 10:30 o'clock. Flags waved and the air was musical with laughter and the exchange of happy conversation, although the atmosphere at times was darkened by the sadness of mothers, sisters, wives and friends of the boys who were moved to tears or unable to join in the gaiety of the celebration.

Each of the young men from Prince William wore a badge bearing the name of the county and "God keep and guide you," the closing words of President Wilson's message to the men of the National Army. The ribbons, which were the gift of the Red Cross were presented during the exercises at the courthouse by the members of the Red Cross junior circle.

As the train passed out of sight flags waved from the windows and answering hands waved from the station platform before the crowd dispersed.

The Red Cross committee in charge of the celebration was composed of Lieut. George C. Round, Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe and Mayor W. C. Wagener.

The Evening Reception.

An informal reception, followed by a musical program and refreshments, was given in honor of the boys at Conner's Opera House on the evening before their departure. The receiving line was composed of Mrs. George T. Lyon, vice chairman; Miss Mary Larkin, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Spies, Mrs. A. A. Maloney, Mrs. Thomas H. Lion, Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe and Mrs. J. E. Jordan, members of the Red Cross.

Mr. George G. Tyler, chairman of the chapter, presided during the program, which included "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Sandalphon" in pantomime by Misses Mabel Lyon, Catherine Larkin and Emily Round and Misses Courtney Kincheloe, Mabel Lyon, Emily Round and Elsie Rosenberger; respectively; songs by Miss Louise Maloney, a piano solo by Mrs. Hodge, a short address by Lieut. Round and several chorus numbers.

Later the boys attended the moving picture show as guests of the management.

The receipts from the ice cream and cake sold to the general public after the exercises amounted to $21. The boys took up a collection among themselves and made a contribution to the Red Cross.

The committee in charge of the evening's entertainment was composed of the executive committee of the Red Cross chapter, the girls of the junior circle and the following committee of members: Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Mrs. J. E. Jordan, Miss Isabel Kelley, Mrs. A. A. Maloney, Mrs. A. E. Spies, Mrs. B. T. H. Hodge, Mrs. E. R. Conner and Mrs. Thomas H. Lion.

Individuality in Box Papers

Individuality in writing papers means a writing paper so distinctively different that your friends and neighbors are not using it when you are. We carry some of the most distinctive and individual papers ever sold. We try to buy in large assortments but small quantities of each kind. This gives everybody a fair chance to select the very individual and strikingly distinctive paper which they can claim "all their own." Standard papers, envelopes and books, as you wish.

INTERESTING FEATURES OF THEM

S. Signs are sometimes striking in their suggestion that names of people nowadays do not indicate nature—either personal nature or nature of occupation. Gardner is the name of a local shoemaker. Krumm is not a baker, but a grower of vegetables. Dein has no restaurant, but a tailor—"tailleur," one man calls himself—shop, while Taylor is a carpenter. "Shoes shined inside" is on a sign. This is a "squinting construction," as our rhetoric professors would tell us. But we all know what is meant though "inside" may mean shoe or shop.

E. Entertainment. All kinds and sizes of hotels are observed. Every variety of purs, creed, color, culture, intelligence, nation and religion can find congenial environment. One restaurant proprietor advertises "Table Board—One Meal Means a New Boarder." I once heard of a landlord who announced "Board." A facetious individual said that his board was a bed and his bed was a board. The local person referred to above evidently gives food as part of the board and feels confident that an act at his place will create a habit.

A. Ambition. Young people like to do something that will distinguish them among their associates. Half-grown girls here, especially those with limited mental power, strive to attract attention in some unusual way. Some lead little dogs. One day three girls tried to draw the attention of observers by playing with the toy rubber balloons of children. A number have been carrying around the few instrument, the skates, although none of them that I have heard pretend to play on them. But among the school is to be commended. The girls and other senior friends will drive. This desire to be superior all of these young aspirants for fame may wake up some day like Byron and find themselves famous; if not as poets, in some other of the thousands of realms in which distinction is possible.

S. Screams. Why do girls, even some women, scream at little or nothing? In and out of the water they constantly hear female shrieks. Probably this is merely practice. Babies cry because by wise provision of nature this is necessary to develop the lungs so that the child's cry is preservation. For a similar reason, young females scream, it may be, to keep in practice for emergencies when screaming may bring help. When a man attempts to shout, he finds that his vocal organs frequently fail him. Women keep in practice for the unexpected time of need. If this is not the explanation, what is the justification of these air-annoying shrieks?

H. Hats. It is noticeable that women usually voluntarily and immediately remove their hats, even small ones, at entertainments, although there is a sloping floor. But none of them show this courtesy to persons behind them in churches, where those conducting the exercises have a far more important message, but where the floor is almost invariably level, rendering the removal of hats more necessary. Sometimes women refuse absolutely to doff their headgear when seated, as was the case with several members of the Gypsy Smith meetings in Manassas. Where is the philosopher or psychologist who can explain this anomaly? Is it due to one of those customs adopted by the female mind without any reason discernible to the male brain? One of your readers of the gentler sex may enlighten us.

O. Ocean City. My sister and I went over to Ocean City by trolley making the eighteen miles' trip to that point in fifty minutes. One can go straight across from Longport by boat which takes the same time, although the distance is much shorter. Ocean City is becoming a city indeed. And it is a city that has always been and always will be dry, in accordance with its charter. No one can get title to property without agreeing never to sell liquor on it. Booters seldom go there and they stay only until the next train on the return trip. When they ask for "the bar" at a hotel, they are told that the only bar in the vicinity is the one formed of sand out in the ocean, a short distance from the shore. Ocean City citizens and visitors have a constant reminder of the effects of alcohol in the wreck of the large iron ship, which came ashore several years ago because of drunkenness among those manning the vessel, which still has valuables in the hold, covered by sand, and is itself being gradually pounded to pieces by the waves. New Jersey is a "wet" state and Atlantic City is one of its most noted resorts.

R. Rivalry. Most men like to dress neatly but do not expect to be given recognition merely on the basis of their clothes. Like the horse that is gaged from the standpoint of personal points, he wishes to be judged by what he is rather than by what he

Solomon, indeed, must have created a sensation when arrayed "in all his glory." Men, as a rule, wish to be regarded on the basis rather of social refinement, business ability, intelligence or character. There are women, however, who usually judge each other from their clothes and often the most conspicuous of the female who wears rich, showy clothes. And, each expects, indeed insists, that her mediocrity in plain English, dressmaker will have her costume absolutely different from and more stunning than all others ever made, now in course of construction or to be built. A certain lady, horrified at the discovery that a society rival had a gown similar to her own, gave it to her servant. Of the effect on the rival, when the maid appeared in public arrayed in the expensive garment of her mistress, the opponent sayeth not. Atlantic City is a resort where the products of the dress emporiums of all the world are exhibited. And yet I recently noticed two young women, walking together, dressed alike, including green and white striped skirt and white shoes. Explanation—sensation. They were "the observed of all observers." This statement is made, of course, for the benefit of my unenlightened men readers. The ladies will readily understand the raison d'être, which our French friends tell us is a classical expression for the "reason for being."

E. Extremes. Atlantic City has a permanent population of 65,000. In August the transients run up the figures frequently to 300,000. Small places like Manassas generally contain people who are noted for neither the greatest spiritual activity nor the lowest evil influences. This resort, being a city, has both. Visitors are thoroughly tested. Church members, especially new converts, show their true selves by the way in which they spend their time on Sunday and during the week. We have daily devotional services from 9:45 to 10:30, conducted by Mr. S. D. Garrison, author of the well-known "Quiet Talks" books.

E. These talks here are searching, spiritual, soul-inspiring. One of these talks was given on Sunday morning regularly at the Y. M. C. A., which gives soldiers and sailors rooms and Sunday breakfasts almost free. We are reminded of the consecration experiences at Northfield and Princeton. And yet, in close proximity to where these divine uplifting meetings are held, there are gatherings of men and women degenerates, the actions of whom it would be a shame to mention. Raids are made frequently on such places by the police, when they learn of the evil houses. Every day the local papers contain notices of the arrests of criminals of all classes who come here to ply their trade. And, sad to say, we find these same contrasts in some homes even in Manassas. There are relatives between whom there is a great gulf, separating saints growing in holiness and those becoming more unholily and impure. May this gulf be bridged, not by mere silly, useless penance but by penitence which is turning from sin and regeneration, which is being born into a new life in Christ Jesus.

(This article was written by Rev. Alfred Kelley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, during his recent visit to Atlantic City.)

WHEAT CLUB PROGRESS

County Agent is Gratified to Note Interest Exhibited. C. A. Montgomery, County Agent. The way the farmers are taking hold of the wheat club project is indeed gratifying to me. A good number have already promised to enter the club, and some have decided that they will get the prize for the best five acres. What we want is more of that spirit. Then we will know that the farmers are going to raise more and better wheat.

BAND MAKES A HIT

The band of Bull Run Council No. 15, Order: Fraternal Americans, was warmly applauded Wednesday when it took part in the parade arranged in honor of the departure of the Prince William men for Camp Lee. When the parade ended at the station members of the band remained to cheer the crowd with lively music until the train left for Petersburg. The band members who took part in the parade were as follows: Messrs. Raymond M. Florence, leader, E. L. Cockrell and Claude Hixson, cornets; L. R. Wean, alto; John D. Bell, baritone; Obed Runkin, tenor drum; J. M. Bell, bass drum, and Dr. M. D. Brown, bass.

ECHO OF LIFE

Say, if life hath grown so weary, Hopeless, bitter, that to mend it Not one power of mind remaineth, Is it, Echo, wrong to end it? Echo—wrong to end it! If some ill I could not parry, (Remember that no heart can share it) Presses on me sore and heavy, Must I simply try to bear it? Echo—Try to bear it! Is it true the spirit willing Find a ready, sure rewarder? That submission smoothes life's pathway And resistance makes it harder? Echo—Makes it harder! If some duty stern and homely Fronts me, makes me daily view it; And my spirit loaths and hates it; Must I, Echo, up and do it? Echo—Up and do it! Will that duty now so irksome, Shining like a cloud the present, Draining, draining, grinding, wearing, By performance grow more pleasant? Echo—Grow more pleasant! Should I cease e'er life to ponder, Cease to alter or arrange it? Only present duty doing Patiently until God change it? Echo—Till God change it! —F. A. Marr.
