

GREETING OF COUNTY AGENT TO THE PUBLIC

Tells Them His Aims and Gives Farmers Some Advice as to Coming Wheat Campaign.

By R. G. Koiner, County Agent Greeting to the People of Prince William County:

With the editor's kind consent I take this method of greeting you as the incoming county agent, succeeding Mr. C. A. Montgomery, who has worked in your midst for nearly twenty months. From the many expressions of regret I heard regarding his departure, it is evident he had won the confidence, respect and esteem of many of you. I believe his ability and practical patriotism was of high enough order to abundantly merit any confidence you may have reposed in him.

It shall be my earnest endeavor to merit and win, at least to some degree, your confidence as a leader along the lines of practical farming. I want you to feel free at all times to call on me for any help I may be able to give you and if I have not the information you want, I am in position to get it for you if it can be had. I do not suppose it is necessary for me to say that I do not know it all, but it might be opportune for me to tell you that I know I do not know it all. The person who has not learned that his or her knowledge is very limited compared with the vast storehouse of knowledge, has not gone very far along the road to a broad and well rounded mental equipment.

Now, I have been sent here to this portion of old Virginia known as Prince William county and have cast in my lot with you people with a hope and determination to help better the conditions of life within her bounds. The winning of the war is at present our chief concern. Let us not get discouraged because we think we are not getting a square deal now and then, because unless we do win the war we will not get a square deal at any time, but, so far as we can see, a continuously raw one. Having the task of winning the war set before us let us proceed to it with all speed. The government, right now, is asking Virginia farmers as their contribution toward winning the war to thoroughly prepare at once eleven acres of ground for wheat for each ten acres they sowed last year.

Now, as we don't want our boys to do a half way job in "licking" those Huns, let us not do a half way job in preparing and sowing the wheat with which to feed them while at the business. Get the best, plumpest and cleanest seed wheat you can and see that it is sown at the proper time for you to sow it. That means that our farmers are just asked to increase their wheat acreage this fall ten per cent over last fall. I know it will call for some sacrifice and some extra effort in the face of a labor shortage, but we will just have to take these things as our part of the war hardships, and really, we ought to be glad if we can get through without enduring even greater ones. Let us all be determined that no one will have any excuse for calling Prince William county a slacker county in any respect.

We will be working and planning at the same time to meet the changed conditions that are sure to come about after the war is won and over. There are three spheres of activity that require our first and best efforts in a country like ours, viz: First, God (the church); second, Home (the family); third, native land (the nation.) If we properly perform our duties in these three spheres our time will be fully and well occupied.

Now, if you are a church man, as you ought to be, you need money to help spread and extend its work everywhere; if you have a family, you need more money to properly rear and train it; and if you are a loyal citizen, you need still more money to develop and equip your country so as to make and keep it a leader in its class. This much needed money all comes, primarily, from the sale of farm products here in Prince William county. So the thing for us to do here is to get our minds and hands busy at this thing. Let us all quietly fix it in our hearts to make our county one of the best. Let us take a pride in striving to make it a good place to live in by doing all we can to promote its prosperity in the way of better roads, better schools and more productive farms. The profitable and productive farm is at the bottom of the whole structure. My business is to help you have such a farm. Unless we have plenty of that kind of farms the roads will remain bad, the schools indifferent and everybody will have a dissatisfied feeling. Let us proceed to help win the war at any cost and then to make Prince William county such a pleasant and attractive place as that we will always feel proud of it as our home county.

I am the government's representative right here in your midst to help you as far as possible to bring these things to pass. I know nothing of any factions among you and I hope there are none, so that there will be no occasion for us here in Prince William to be knocking each other. If you want to knock anybody, just knock the Kaiser all you want to, but put the most charitable construction possible on the conduct of your loyal neighbor.

We have lots of bulletins in the office at the High School in Manassas that are very anxious to be read. Write or call on me for the bulletin on the subject in which you are interested. They are full of a plain statement of facts that are the result of years of experience by practical farmers and other intelligent experimenters. From time to time I will ask you to meet at central points throughout the county to talk over with myself and others the various problems of profitable and productive farming. Right now, however, do not forget about the wheat campaign. Plow and prepare your land at once. See about the clean, sound seed and acid phosphate. You can buy good sixteen per cent phosphate F. O. B. Baltimore for $21.50 per ton. Put on from three to five hundred pounds of it per acre. Acting on this advice is helping to win the war.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING
There will be a meeting of the Dumfries District School Board at Dumfries, August 28, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of appointing four more teachers in our district. Also to receive wood bids. Patrons invited. D. C. Cline, Clerk, Dumfries, Va.

What The Packers Do For You

Not very many years ago in the history of the world, the man that lived in America had to hunt for his food, or go without.

Now he sits down at a table and decides what he wants to eat; or his wife calls up the market and has it sent home for him. And what he gets is incomparably better.

Everyone of us has some part in the vast human machine, called society, that makes all this convenience possible.

The packer's part is to prepare meat and get it to every part of the country sweet and fresh—to obtain it from the stock raiser, to dress it, cool it, ship it many miles in special refrigerator cars, keep it cool at distributing points, and get it into the consumer's hands—your hands—through retailers, all within about two weeks.

For this service—so perfect and effective that you are scarcely aware that anything is being done for you—you pay the packers an average profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound above actual cost on every pound of meat you eat.

THE NEW DRAFT LAW

Without a single dissenting vote recorded against it, the administration's man power bill passed the Senate.

The bill has gone to conference, where the few differences in the views of Senate and House will be adjusted.

Thus, whether or not Congress votes the specific authority into the law, it will exist nevertheless and may be used by the President as he sees fit.

After the age limits and other debatable provisions of the bill had been thrashed out and the measure came to a vote on its final passage but one discordant vote was heard in the chamber.

In the enactment of this new draft law Congress has responded to the sentiment of the nation and reflected the spirit of loyal Americans.

be won quickly. In this opinion the people concur. The man power of the nation is at the disposal of the government for the wining of the war, just as is every other resource, and the people stand ready to make whatever sacrifices may be required.

THE DECADENCE OF GOOD MANNERS

A few decades ago no man could have obtained advancement in professional or business life or would have been allowed an entree in good society unless he observed those fine points of decorum and etiquette which were the necessary accompaniments of a gentleman.

Transplanted to Virginia, these kindly attributes found congenial surroundings and flourished as the proverbial green bay tree. Under our old plantation system the proprietor was, in all save name, the lord of a feudal manor.

The war came, and since then we have noted a decadence in good manners. Men returned to their ruined homes and meeting, as never before, the stern realities of life, builded again the structure of our social and economic system.

Little attention is paid to manners to-day. How many of the young Virginians of his generation can make a graceful bow? If they could they would subject themselves to ridicule, for such is the temper of the times.

The hustle and hurry of modern life is largely responsible for this changed condition. Grace, character and individuality have fallen into great melting pot, and out has come an intelligent machine known as man.

COAL FOR BROODERS AND INCUBATORS

Because of the domestic requirements of the Northwestern section of this country, and the absolute necessity of taking care of the actual needs of that section, and because of transportation facilities, it is only possible to give that section bituminous coal in sufficient quantities to enable the essential war industries to continue in full operation.

To a certain extent this will cause some hardship to poultry raisers, particularly those who quired for incubator and brooder during the summer months to get such anthracite coal as is required for incubator and brooder use and put it away until next spring.

The situation will be such next winter that the Fuel Administration cannot do as it did last winter because this year specific allotments of tonnage have been made, not only to states, but in a short time will be made to communities as well.

If every poultry raiser will undertake during the summer and early fall to get fuel which he requires for next winter and spring use and to secure either one of the western anthracites or screened coke, it is likely that little difficulty will be experienced by the growers in raising their full quota of chickens next spring.

A letter followed the telegram, saying that the Chautauqua will certainly be held on the latter date. The name of the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson was added to the list of guarantors. The meeting adjourned to meet at call of the chairman.

RETIREMENT OF JUDGE THORNTON FROM BENCH

Entertains the Members of the Bar Association—Presented Handsome Silver Service.

The home of Judge and Mrs. J. B. T. Thornton was the scene of an enjoyable occasion on Saturday, August 24, when Judge Thornton entertained the members of the Bar Association of the 16th judicial circuit at a luncheon.

Prior to the luncheon a short meeting of the Bar Association was held at the courthouse, Judge Wm. C. Gloth, of Alexandria county, president of the Association, calling the meeting to order.

The members of the bar and the officials of his several courts presented to the retiring judge a handsome, solid six-piece silver service upon the tray of which was the following inscription: "To Judge J. B. T. Thornton, upon his resignation from the bench of the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit of Virginia, Sept. 1, 1918, from all the members of the Bar and Court Officials in his circuit, in recognition of his faithfulness, ability and courtesy."

The members of the Association then repaired to Judge Thornton's home where they found awaiting them a bounteous luncheon. The tables were artistically decorated with palms and potted plants and laden with those things that make the heart—or should it be the stomach—of a well man glad.

Mrs. R. Ewell Thornton presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. M. H. Davies, Mrs. W. W. Davies, Mrs. E. H. Hibbs, Mrs. J. Jenkyn Davies, Mrs. John J. Davies, Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. Richard B. Washington, Mrs. Wm. C. Gloth and Miss Lella Green assisted Mrs. Thornton in serving the luncheon.

In the afternoon a visit was made to the Groveton battlefield where Judge Thornton fully explained the movements of the armies at the second battle of Manassas.

Those present were: R. A. Hutchison, Bryan Gordon, Geo. G. Tyler, H. Thornton Davies, C. A. Sinclair and Thos. H. Lion, of Prince William county; Senator R. Ewell Thornton, C. Vernon Ford, John W. Runt, Wilson M. Farr, M. Carter Hall, John S. Barbour, P. W. Richardson, J. R. Allison, J. C. DePutron, W. M. Ellison, and Mr. Ritchie, of Fairfax county; Judge Wm. C. Gloth, Frank Lyon, Harry P. Thomas, Claude O. Thomas, A. C. Crounse, Chas. T. Jesse, Capt. Crandall Mackey, Frank L. Ball, George H. Rucker, Howard Fields and Mr. Sherer, of Alexandria county; N. S. Greenaway, Robt. H. Cox, Judge C. E. Nicol, John M. Johnson, Wm. P. Wools and Richard Washington, of Alexandria city; and John J. Davies, of Culpeper.

FEDERAL FOOD ADMINISTRATION FOR VIRGINIA—INFORMATION AND RULINGS.

"The American people will gladly make any sacrifice in consumption and in the production of foodstuffs that will maintain the health, comfort and courage of the people of the Allied countries. We are in fact eating at the common table with them."

President's Message to the Conference of Allied Food Controllers in London.

SUGAR.

Our boys in the Army and Navy need sugar. The Allies need sugar. We are going to send them all they need, in the form most easy to ship. That means, however, very definitely that we at home must cut our use of sugar to the minimum, for there will not be enough for our soldiers and the Allies unless we do.

It is undoubtedly to be regretted that a sugar shortage exists. That, however, is not one of the tragedies of the war, but merely one of those inconveniences which a little consideration and resourcefulness will quickly help to lessen.

Sugar is available for all legitimate requirements for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables but there are three things which the average American housekeeper, accustomed to preserving a quantity of fruit in her own home, should do to help in a sugar conservation program:

- 1. Preserve a part of the supply by methods requiring no sugar. 2. A part with a greatly reduced amount of sugar. 3. A part by replacing some of the sugar ordinarily used with other sweeteners.

FAIR PRICES FOR FLOUR AND FLOUR have now been worked out for practically every mill in the country, and can be ascertained from the millers and local food administrators.

To ascertain fair delivered price, it is necessary to add to this schedule price the following items: (See Special License Regulations No. 11, p. 10.) 1. (a) Differential for less carload sale—if shipment is less than carload.

GRAIN THRESHING DIVISION.

S. M. White, of Texas, who as Assistant Chief of the Grain Threshing Division Food Administration Grain Corporation is now located at 43 Broadway, New York, and W. T. Russell, one of the Division's inspectors of threshing machines, recently visited Virginia.

Mr. White expressed himself as greatly pleased with the work done in Virginia in preventing waste of grain through improper harvesting and threshing practices and with the splendid spirit of co-operation with the Grain Threshing Division shown by local administrators, threshermen and farmers.

The Food Administration's official test for clean threshing, such as Mr. Russell is making, is a matter of unusual importance to grain growers. By this rule any farmer can test the work of the threshing machine he has hired.

LIVESTOCK PRIZES INCREASED BY VIRGINIA STATE FAIR.

When the Virginia State Fair Association last year doubled premiums over the year before and thereby eclipsed the offerings of every large fair held in the eastern states except one it was thought that this was progress enough for many years to come. Now comes the announcement that offerings for livestock will be further increased to $20,000.00 in cash prizes at the 1918 State Fair.

$25,000.00 IN PRIZES FOR BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS AT VIRGINIA STATE FAIR.

The Virginia State Fair Association has just announced that $25,000.00 in cash prizes will be offered to Boys' and Girls' Club members. This extremely liberal offer is the result of the interest shown in the Boys' and Girls' Clubs at last year's State Fair. It is also partly due to the fact that the young people of the State are doing their part nobly on the farm so as to make up for the shortage of labor caused by the war.

RUSSIA

(By Walter S. Smoot.)

The great Russian Revolution, out of which it is hoped will come a new and free Russian nation, began with the overthrow of the Czar on March 15, 1917. With him fell the old regime in Russia, coming to its end because as an autocracy it did not represent the democratic demands of the Russian people. In 1906 the late Czar granted a Constitution which slightly disturbed the power of the old autocracy, but still left it with much of its old power, which it exercised in a corrupt, tyrannical, and inefficient manner. Its shortcomings were revealed in 1915 when the Russian armies were driven out of Poland and Galicia for lack of ammunition. Late in 1916 negotiations were opened up for a separate peace with Germany by the Russian Premier, a pro-German reactionary—Boris Stuermer. The intrigue was discovered and Stuermer compelled to resign; the negotiations with Germany, however, were continued, and were almost completed when the Revolution occurred. Persistent propaganda, after the meeting of the Duma on February 27, gradually won over the Russian troops to the cause of the people and the nation; and on March 13, 1917, the President of the Duma announced the formation of a Provisional Government with the Executive Committee of the Duma at its head. On the 15th, Czar Nicholas II abdicated leaving the control of the government still in the hands of the official class who had been active in the prosecution of the war.

From March 15 to July 20 Russia was ruled by a Provisional Government of Constitutional Democrats who were headed by the Prime Minister, Prince George Lvoff. The new government proclaimed free speech, the right to strike, universal suffrage, and the maintenance of existing treaties. It was soon apparent that the Government would be opposed at every step by the "Soviet" or Council of Workmen's and Soldier's Delegates, at Petrograd, which considered itself the true representative of revolutionary Russia and planned to give the Revolution a social rather than a purely political character. The Soviet was created and ruled by the ultra-radical Socialists, the Bolsheviks, led by Lenin and Trotsky, who were the avowed sponsors of a separate peace between Russia and Germany. Through these agents the Germans systematically corrupted the Russian armies by fraternizing with the men and professing agreement with their desire for a peace "without annexations or indemnities." By this means Brussiloff's victorious offensive in Galicia in July was converted into a disastrous retreat. Prince Lvoff resigned and the control of the government fell into the hands of the moderate Socialist, Alexander Kerensky.

Amid a burst of enthusiasm all over Russia, Kerensky assumed practically dictatorial power, and secured the restoration (on paper) of the death penalty for treason or mutiny. A new Cabinet was formed from which all extreme radicals like the Bolsheviks were excluded. The American Commission to Russia, led by Elihu Root, which arrived in Washington on August 19, was able to announce bright hopes for the recovery of Russian internal order and military efficiency. The German capture of Riga on the Baltic caused a break between Kerensky and the Russian military leaders, who led by General Korniloff attempted a coup d'état but failed. Rioting commenced in Petrograd under the leadership of the Bolsheviks, who on November 7th drove Kerensky from the city. The Government buildings though defended for a time by the famous women's "Battalion of Death" were finally delivered over to Lenin and Trotsky. Under the Bolshevik regime German agents were given a free hand. In an interview Trotsky declared that Russia would not conclude a separate peace, but orders were issued for the reduction of the Russian armies. Finally on December 15 a truce with Germany was signed, with provision for the immediate opening of peace negotiations without participation of Russia's allies.

The result was the disgraceful peace conference at Brest-Litovsk. So greedy were the Germans, so manifestly determined to keep the Russian territory they had conquered that Lenin and Trotsky refused to continue the negotiations. On February 10, 1918, they withdrew from the conference but announced that the war was at an end and ordered the demobilization of the Russian armies on all fronts. The rapid resumption of military operations by Germany, however, soon brought the Bolsheviks to accept the conditions of peace which had been laid down at Brest-Litovsk. These conditions, which practically handed Russia territorially and politically over to Germany, were ratified by the "All Russian Congress of Soviets" at Moscow, March 14, 1918.

Thus was the German yoke placed upon Russia, a yoke which was to show no signs of lightening until the Czecho-Slovaks—unwilling Austrian subjects who had voluntarily surrendered to the Russian armies—should sweep across Siberia, bringing near the day when Russia should stand proud and free among the nations.

U. S. Government Poultry Exhibit at the State Fair.

Poultry will be well represented in the combined government exhibit at the Virginia State Fair this year. This combined exhibit is for the purpose of informing the people concerning the work their government, in its various departments, is doing towards winning the war.

Among the activities of the Department of Agriculture in stimulating food production, the campaign for increased poultry production is of no little importance.

The poultry exhibit is the product of years of experience in exposition methods and every effort will be made to visualize subjects in such a manner that observers will be informed as well as entertained. This exhibit will show the need for increased poultry production and will illustrate the efficient methods of poultry culture as practiced on the Government Farm at Beltsville, Md.

Some of the points that will be emphasized are the importance of keeping standard bred poultry, the selection of healthy, vigorous birds as breeders, early hatching, culling the flock, and the production of infertile eggs. A special appeal will be made for back-yard poultry keeping.

Models of poultry houses, brooder houses and food hoppers will be displayed as well as many oil bromides illustrating various varieties of chickens and types of poultry houses.

A Government poultryman will be in attendance to give advice and information and to distribute bulletins on poultry. Satisfied customers, whose printing order has been filed by the Journal's job department. See our work and get our quotations on cards, letter heads, statements, envelopes, sale bills, programs, catalogs, etc. High grade printing in one or two colors. Satisfaction guaranteed.

OUR SAVED FOOD FED THE ALLIES

Food Administrator Writes President America Conserved 141,000,000 Bushels Wheat

CREDIT DUE TO WOMEN.

Meat and Fat Shipments Increased by $44,600,000 Pounds.

Conservation measures applied by the American people enabled the United States to ship to the Allied peoples and to our own forces overseas 141,000,000 bushels of wheat and $44,600,000 pounds of meat during the past year, valued in all at $1,400,000,000. This was accomplished in the face of a serious food shortage in this country, bespeaking the wholeheartedness and patriotism with which the American people have met the food crisis abroad. Food Administrator Hoover, in a letter to President Wilson, explains how the situation was met. The voluntary conservation program fostered by the Food Administration enabled the piling up of the millions of bushels of wheat during 1917-18 and the shipment of meat during 1917-18.

The total value of all food shipments to Allied destinations amounted to $1,400,000,000, all this food being bought through or in collaboration with the Food Administration. These figures are all based on official reports and represent food exports for the harvest year that closed June 30, 1918.

The shipments of meats and fats (including meat products, dairy products, vegetable oils, etc.) to Allied destinations were as follows: Fiscal year 1916-17.....2,166,500,000 lbs. Fiscal year 1917-18.....3,011,100,000 lbs.

Increase 844,600,000 lbs. Our slaughterable animals at the beginning of the last fiscal year were not appreciably larger than the year before and particularly in hogs; they were probably less. The increase in shipments is due to conservation and the extra weight of animals added by our farmers.

The full effect of these efforts began to bear their best results in the last half of the fiscal year, when the exports to the Allies were 2,183,100,000 pounds, as against 1,208,500,000 pounds in the same period of the year before. This compares with an average of $91,000,000 pounds of total exports for the same half years in the three-year pre-war period.

In cereals and cereal products reduced to terms of cereal bushels our shipments to Allied destinations have been: Fiscal year 1916-17.....259,800,000 bushels Fiscal year 1917-18.....340,200,000 bushels

Increase 80,900,000 bushels Of these cereals our shipments of the prime breadstuffs in the fiscal year 1917-18 to Allied destinations were: Wheat 137,000,000 bushels and of rye 28,800,000 bushels, a total of 164,900,000 bushels.

The exports to Allied destinations during the fiscal year 1916-17 were: Wheat 120,100,000 bushels and rye 2,800,000 bushels, a total of 122,900,000 bushels. In addition some 10,000,000 bushels of 1917 wheat are now in port for Allied destinations or en route thereto. The total shipments to Allied countries from our last harvest of wheat will be therefore, about 142,000,000 bushels, or a total of 154,800,000 bushels of prime breadstuffs. In addition to this we have shipped some 10,000,000 bushels to neutrals dependent upon us, and we have received some imports from other quarters.

"This accomplishment of our people in this matter stands out even more clearly if we bear in mind that we had available in the fiscal year 1916-17 from our normal carry-over and as surplus over our normal consumption about 300,000,000 bushels of wheat which we were able to export that year without touching on our home loaf," Mr. Hoover said. "This last year, however, owing to the large failure of the 1917 wheat crop, we had available from our carry-over and production and imports only just about our normal consumption. Therefore our wheat shipments to Allied destinations represent approximately savings from our own wheat bread.

"These figures, however, do not fully convey the volume of the effort and sacrifice made during the past year by the whole American people. Despite the magnificent effort of our agricultural population in planting a much increased acreage in 1917, not only was there a very large failure in wheat, but also the corn failed to mature properly, and our corn is our dominant crop. "I am sure," Mr. Hoover wrote in concluding his report, "that all the millions of our people, agricultural as well as urban, who have contributed to these results should feel a very definite satisfaction that in a year of universal food shortages in the northern hemisphere all of these people joined together against Germany have come through into sight of the coming harvest not only with wealth and strength fully maintained, but with only temporary periods of hardship.

"It is difficult to distinguish between various sections of our people—the homes, public eating places, food trades, urban or agricultural populations—in assessing credit for these results, but no one will deny the dominant part of the American women."

A hoarder is a man who is more interested in getting his bits than in giving his bit.

AMERICANS ASKED TO LIMIT USE OF SUGAR

Must Use No More Than Two Pounds Per Person a Month if the Present Meagre Allied Sugar Ration Is Maintained.

Stocks Will Be Short Until Beginning of New Year—Ration May Be Enlarged Then.

Two pounds of sugar a month—half a pound a week—that is the sugar ration the U. S. Food Administration has asked every American to observe until January 1, 1918, in order to make sure there shall be enough for our Army and Navy, for the Allied armies and for the civilians of those nations.

By New Year's the world sugar situation will be relieved somewhat by the new crop. Cuban sugar of this year's crop will be arriving in this country.

Every available sugar source will be drawn on by the Food Administration during the next winter months to maintain sufficient stocks here to keep up our national sugar supply. During October the first American beet sugar will arrive in the market. By the middle of November some of our Louisiana cane crop will be available. All of this sugar and more may be needed to keep this nation supplied on a reduced ration and to safeguard the Allied sugar ration from still further reduction. In Europe the present ration is already reduced to a minimum.

Our Situation. The situation which the United States faces in its efforts to maintain a fair distribution of sugar to the Allied world is as follows:

Sugar supplies throughout the country, in homes, stores, factories and bakeries are at a low ebb. We must make increased sugar shipments to the Allies.

Production of American beet and Louisiana cane crops have been disappointing. Porto Rico crops have been curtailed.

Immense sugar stocks in Java cannot be reached on account of the shipping shortage; ships are needed for troop movements and munitions.

Army and Navy sugar requirements have increased as well as those from the Allies.

Most industries using sugar have had their allotment reduced by one-half; some will receive no sugar.

Households should make every effort to preserve the fruit crop without sugar, or with small amounts of sugar. Later, when the sugar supply is larger, the canned fruit may be sweetened as it is used.

French Sugar Mills Destroyed

France must import sugar today, most of it from this side of the ocean, because the largest portion of French sugar beet land is in German hands. As a result, the French people have been placed on a sugar ration of about 18 pounds a year for domestic use; a pound and a half a month. This photograph shows how the German troops destroyed French sugar mills. Thanks to the French rationing system the annual consumption has been cut to 600,000 tons, according to reports reaching the United States Food Administration. Before the war France had an average sugar crop of about 750,000 tons of sugar and had some left over for export.

Saving Sugar Saves Shipping

AMERICAN families would have less sugar than the people of war-torn France, if we depended entirely on our home-grown sugar stocks. Approximately 75 per cent. of our sugar is shipped to our shores. We produce about 1,000,000 tons of sugar a year. Our imports from abroad amount to over 3,000,000 tons a year in normal times. The United States Food Administration asks each family to limit its use of sugar to two pounds per month per person for household use. The military situation demands that every available ship be placed at the disposal of the Army or Navy. When we save sugar, we save shipping.

EASTERN COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 25

List of Teachers and the Different Branches They Will Preside Over.

The twentieth annual session of Eastern College promises to open very auspiciously September 25th. President Hervin U. Roop, who has just returned from a trip to New York City, announces the following new teachers:

Professor of English—Dr. (Miss) Charlotte Moore. Miss Moore is an A. B. graduate of Cornell University; A. M., 1911, of Columbia University, and Doctor of Philosophy (Ph. D.), 1915, University of Pennsylvania. Before graduating from Cornell she was head of the department of English in Ward-Belmont Seminary for five years. Since then she was connected with Converse College for six years as head of the English department. The presidents of these institutions speak most glowingly of her scholarship, teaching ability and character.

Professor of Modern Languages—Dr. (Miss) Elizabeth E. Morrow. Miss Morrow is an A. B. graduate of Union College; A. M., 1903, same college, and a doctor of philosophy (Ph. D.), of Zurich University, Switzerland. As a teacher Miss Morrow "is a pronounced success; her ability as a disciplinarian is decidedly good; she is robust and indefatigable, very adaptable and remarkably able in many lines. She is a strong character, forceful, modern, diplomatic."

Professor of History and Economics—Dr. W. H. Collins. Professor Collins is a graduate of Western Maryland College and a doctor of philosophy (Ph. D.), Yale University. Dr. Collins knows his subjects thoroughly and is a successful teacher.

Professor of College Mathematics and Latin—Professor Wm. Cobham. Professor Cobham is an A. B. graduate of Glasgow University and an A. M. of London University. All who know him speak highly of his scholarship and teaching ability.

Professor Collins and Cobham formerly taught in Eastern College.

Professor of Spanish and Portuguese—Professor M. de la Rosa. He was graduated from the University of Bogota with the B. C. degree, and also understands the English language.

Professor of the Commercial Branches—Professor C. H. Lockhart, who is a graduate of Vassar University. In addition to his fine training, he has had some years of successful business experience—employing and managing men.

Director of the Department of Music—Miss Vera Board, who is an honor graduate and gold medalist of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Miss Board also studied two years abroad, having studied piano with Monsieur Auguste Pierret and voice with Monsieur Lucien Barton, Paris, France. Until recently Miss Board taught voice, piano, harmony and counterpoints in the Bristol School, Washington, D. C. After having taught there for seven years, Miss Bristol says that she is a teacher of unvarying loyalty to the school and its best interests. Her genial disposition, always hopeful and inspiring in her presence makes her a great acquisition to any college. I can not say too much in her favor. She is a vocal and piano soloist of fine ability. Miss Board will be assisted by Miss Edna Porter and Miss Bella Lipscomb, of Texas. It will be remembered that Miss Porter was graduated from the music department of Eastern College and has since spent two years in further study at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, Md.
