

NO BETTER FOOD THAN GOOD MILK

Children Especially Should Be Given Plenty Every Day, Says County Agent.

(By R. G. Koiner, County Agent)

Your county agent wishes to say a little something about milk this week. Apparently, that is a small subject, but I assure you it is not as small as it seems. We trust you are going right along with the preparation for that bumper crop of Liberty wheat about which so much has been said, as well as having selected some seed corn from the standing stalk before it was put in the shock. What about that bunch of sheep? Please don't take it all out in thinking about them.

But I wish every person in Prince William county would heed what I have to say about milk—just plain, simple, common cow's milk. You have been so intimately associated with milk since your earliest recollection that many of you are failing to appreciate its great value as a food—hence, the necessity of my giving you a reintroduction to your old friend.

You are all aware that this question of food is one of the most vital issues of the times. It is one of the great pivotal points upon which turns the destiny of nations. And it is for this reason partly, that I wish to beg every person in Prince William county to "go to it" and use the largest possible use of milk. Encourage the children to drink it.

It will build up their teeth, bones, and muscles. It will fill them with a vitality and energy to be had from no other source so cheaply and easily. It is really and truly for them a builder while tea and coffee will tend to destroy them.

Now, you know Prince William is an agricultural county—that is, one whose wealth comes from the growth of crops, and what crop do you grow that is of greater value than the crop of children? Shall we not give it every attention? Milk does not have to be brought into our county on the train. That relieves the railroad all the more for war purposes. Milk as we have it is not one of the foods the government wants for export to Europe. Let the government have the wheat, meat, sugar and other things it wants for winning the war. We can do finely with milk and mush, fruit and vegetables, corn bread and sorghum.

Why should our farmers spend their money for any food supplies? They can raise them all and thus have their money for Liberty bonds, etc.

See these little extracts from a U. S. bulletin: "Many people think of milk for adults at least, as a beverage rather than a food, and do not realize that a glass of it adds as much to the nutritive value of a meal as a quarter of a loaf of bread or a good slice of beef." And again, "We see that milk at all but the highest prices assumed is a cheaper source of protein than any of the animal foods except soft fish."

This bulletin also produces incontrovertible evidence of the value of milk. We have analyzed a supply of them from Washington. Please ask me to mail you one. Your home demonstration agent, Miss Gilbert, would be glad to show you the best and best method for making delicious cottage cheese—a most nourishing and concentrated article of diet that is not wanted for export to Europe. Now, as almost every family in Prince William has or can have one or more cows for family use, the question of cost for them need not be considered. Just be sure your cow is a good one and then let her have all the corn fodder and legume hay she will consume with the addition of a small quantity of such ground grain as you happen to have or can get most readily. Of course the feeding of the dairy cow in a commercial way is a very big subject, but the above advice will be alright for the family cow.

If there are some who are so situated that they prefer to buy their milk, very well, if they will only be sure to buy it in abundance. There is, I am very glad to see, an abundance of it produced, for I see hundreds of cans of surplus milk shipped each day to Washington. Surely, if we appreciate the value of milk as much as Washingtonians do we will keep all we need in our county before we ship a surplus. In order, though, to get any of this surplus which is going daily to Washington those who want to buy will have to pay at least as much for it as it brings in the city and enough in addition to pay for the expense of bottles, caps, crates and lots of other extra labor that goes into the retail delivery of milk. In these days of high war prices the town consumer should consider himself fortunate to get bottled milk delivered daily for twelve cents per quart. In the cities it runs from fifteen to twenty-five cents per quart. When you get a quart of milk, you are not object to paying twelve cents per quart delivered.

Ben Rubin, the escaped convict who says he killed Eva Roy, was indicted yesterday by a special grand jury of Fairfax county. Commonwealth Attorney C. Vernon Ford asked Judge Brent that the case be not set until a committee of alienists examine Rubin. During the reading of the indictment by the clerk, Ben Rubin, who has maintained through all examinations that he was the real murderer of Eva Roy, stood before the court with his head hanging and looking at neither Judge Brent nor other court officials.

SAYS HE KILLED EVA ROY

Ben Rubin, Escaped Convict, Indicted by Grand Jury.

Ben Rubin, the escaped convict who says he killed Eva Roy, was indicted yesterday by a special grand jury of Fairfax county.

Commonwealth Attorney C. Vernon Ford asked Judge Brent that the case be not set until a committee of alienists examine Rubin.

During the reading of the indictment by the clerk, Ben Rubin, who has maintained through all examinations that he was the real murderer of Eva Roy, stood before the court with his head hanging and looking at neither Judge Brent nor other court officials.

When asked if he had retained counsel for his defense, he replied, without even looking at the judge:

"I don't need any, I have no defense."

Judge Brent appointed Attorney F. D. Richardson, of Fairfax, as counsel for Ben Rubin. The judge said the crime for which the prisoner had been indicted was a serious one and the Commonwealth wanted to give him every opportunity possible to defend himself against the charge.

The indictment came as a surprise to the Fairfax people, none of them having been acquainted with the plans of the court to indict him so soon after being turned over to the Fairfax county officials. There were not more than a dozen people in the courtroom at the time the special grand jury brought in the indictment.

In the second race at Fredricksburg on Wednesday, six furlongs, purse $125, Brenton's Little England won, Utterback's Miss McGiggler being second.

LETTER OF REGRET

From Members of the Ministerial Association.

Rev. Alford Kelley, Manassas, Va.

Dear Bro. Kelley:—We have just learned with feelings of mingled indignation and keen regret of the probable dissolution of your relation to the church and community which we believe you have zealously and faithfully sought to serve. When we consider the cause for which you have been called upon to suffer, we are confirmed in our conviction of the righteousness of the course pursued by you for its correction.

Why you should be singled out for punishment we are at a loss to understand, seeing that each one of us, the undersigned, had an equal share in what is regarded as blameworthy in you. If, however, you are to be only the first to suffer in this way the will of the Lord be done. A paralyzing blow has undoubtedly been struck at Christian rectitude, and struck in the house of its professed friends. Only fifteen months have passed since the memorable tabernacle meeting which you were chiefly instrumental in making possible. What has become of the gracious blending of community sentiment and co-operation which signalled that season of refreshing from the presence of the Lord? It is heart rending to contemplate the bitter and undervalued reversal of Christian regard you are now called upon to endure, when we remember the assurance: "Nevertheless, we are encouraged by the reflection that God is faithful and will not suffer you to be tried beyond your strength."

With assurances of unchanged and unfeigned confidence and esteem, we remain,

Your brethren in the ministry of our Lord,
H. C. BURR.

THREE-DAY CHAUTAUQUA

To be Held in Conner's Hall on October 16, 17 and 18.

The Chautauqua guarantors held a meeting at the Town Hall, Saturday, Sept. 21, Mr. J. J. Conner, chairman, presiding.

The Chautauqua will be held at Conner's Hall October 16-18—three full days. Mr. J. J. Conner was appointed chairman of the ticket committee and tickets will be on sale until the close of the opening day at $1.25 for the season of three days.

The guarantors wish to call the attention of the public to the fact that no season tickets will be sold for less than $1.25, and this low price is due to the fact that the contract between the association and the guarantors was entered into almost ten months ago.

The guarantors are fortunate in having secured the services of the Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania, which has given such satisfaction here and elsewhere.

RESIGNATION OF PASTOR DESIRED

Resolution Will Be Prosecuted Before Presbytery at the Next Monthly Meeting.

Early in September the pastor of the Manassas Presbyterian Church, Rev. Alford Kelley—because the majority of members disapproved emphatically his action, as a member of the Manassas Ministerial Association, in voting to expel Dr. Herwin U. Roop, an United Brethren minister and President of Eastern College, from membership in the Association, and the resolution being published in The Journal of September 6th—announced his purpose to resign his position.

Mr. Kelley later, out of consideration for the other three members of the Association, who voted for Dr. Roop's expulsion, and by reason of denunciations published in the Democrat and signed by officers of some of the local churches and other citizens, declared his purpose not to resign until the case was settled. Since many of the church members wished the separation of the church and pastor to take effect as soon as possible, the elders called a meeting of the session on Friday, Sept. 13th. At this meeting it was decided to hold a congregational meeting on Monday, Sept. 23, at 2:30 p. m., to consider the question of asking Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relation between the church and the pastor, Rev. Alford Kelley.

This congregational meeting was duly held on last Monday. The pastor, according to Presbyterian law, presided as moderator and the stated clerk, Mr. W. I. Stare, clerk of the session, by virtue of his office, acted as clerk of the meeting. The moderator opened the meeting with prayer, after which the clerk read the call of the session for the meeting. In answer to the question of the moderator as to how many constituted a quorum, it was announced by Mr. E. K. Mitchell that the church charter made no stipulation on that point, but that the practice of the congregation was to consider the persons present as constituting a quorum. The moderator announced, therefore, that the twenty-seven persons present, some of whom were not part of the seventy-nine enrolled communicants, were sufficient in number to transact business.

Replying to Mr. J. H. Dodge, who asked if persons not communicant members could vote, the moderator replied that Presbyterian law allowed all persons who contributed to the church to vote on matters involving finances, including the calling or resignation of a pastor, unless the local church charter provided otherwise. The local charter making no restriction, the moderator ruled that all twenty-seven persons present were entitled to vote.

The moderator then stated that the congregation might feel free to speak, if he were absent, and expressed a willingness to retire, if the congregation so wished, and have an elder preside. Several persons expressed their desire to have the pastor hear what they had to say. On motion the pastor was requested to remain.

The clerk then read a resolution, which is as follows: Whereas, The Rev. Alford Kelley has declared to the session of the church his intention of resigning the pastorate of the

Manassas Presbyterian Church of Manassas, Va., giving as his reason for such intention, his belief that he can do no farther good in said church; and Whereas, The indorsers of this resolution are constrained to share with him such belief; and

Whereas, Nevertheless, the said Rev. Alford Kelley states that he is not now ready to tender his resignation and may not be ready for several weeks or months and possibly years, hinging on certain vague contingencies in a matter we consider outside the provinces of this church; therefore be it

Resolved, That we do respectfully, and with deep regret for the compelling circumstances, request the Presbytery of Washington City to sever the relations of Rev. Alford Kelley as pastor of said church; and that in accordance with the requirements of the proceedings in such case we elect two (2) commissioners to present this matter before said Presbytery, and to prosecute it to a successful conclusion.

After considerable discussion of the resolution by various members of the session, the following resolution was adopted by a vote of 27 to 0:

Resolved, That we do respectfully, and with deep regret for the compelling circumstances, request the Presbytery of Washington City to sever the relations of Rev. Alford Kelley as pastor of said church; and that in accordance with the requirements of the proceedings in such case we elect two (2) commissioners to present this matter before said Presbytery, and to prosecute it to a successful conclusion.

Following prayer and the benediction by the moderator, the meeting adjourned.

IN GRIP OF WHITE PLAGUE

Draft Figures Reveal Appalling Facts About Tuberculosis.

Twenty-nine of every one hundred men examined in the United States under the first draft were declared unfit for military service on account of physical defects of one sort or the other. And five per cent of all the discarded contingent in other words approximately 4,000 for Virginia—owed their rejection to tuberculosis.

Little short of appalling are these statistics and, worse still, they will become even more depressing when supplemented by data concerning the registration of September 12.

When one recalls the fact that even with the sanatoria now building there are only 454 beds for consumptives available in Virginia, the figures concerning those needing treatment seem staggering and there is an impulse to cry for immediate action. Truly the state is confronted with a problem which cannot be evaded and which well merits the attention the Governor and other officials now are giving it.

That the men rejected for military service on account of the disease will have to be cared for goes without saying. Considerations of common humanity demand this. And then, too, it should never be forgotten that they are a constant menace to those with whom they come in contact.

UNIVERSITY HAS TRAINING CORPS

Outline of Courses Offered by University of Virginia for Men Between 18 and 45.

The University of Virginia announces certain facts regarding the organization of the Students' Army Training Corps, and its program of studies for the Corps.

The Students' Army Corps and the Naval Section are open to men between the ages of 18 and 45 not physically disqualified for military service who have completed a good high school education, and present a proper certificate of same. The Medical examination will be given at the University.

Members of the S. A. T. C. and of the Naval Section will be housed, fed, uniformed and taught at the expense of the government; each member will receive $30.00 a month.

All students, with the exception of "special" students, who were eighteen years old on or before Sept. 12, 1918, may apply for induction into the Corps. According to advices received from the Department of War, an eighteen year old student will presumably remain in college for nine months; a nineteen year old student for six months; and a student twenty years old or more than twenty for three months. Exceptions will be made, as the needs of the national service require, in the case of technical and scientific students, who will be assigned for longer periods for intensive study in specialized fields, such as medicine, engineering and chemistry.

Those students who were not eighteen before Sept. 12, 1918, can not be inducted, but may be enrolled in the S. A. T. C. Such students will be under military command only while in ranks. They will thus obtain military instruction, but they must provide their own uniforms; they will receive no pay, and will not have their expenses or tuition paid by the government.

All members of the S. A. T. C. who pursue academic work will have eleven hours a week of military training—eight of which are devoted to drill, one to military inspection, and two to lectures and classroom work. Students in the Department of Law will have the same amount of military training as academic students. In Engineering, students will take the full eleven hours for the first two terms, and thereafter only six hours of the military course. Students in Medicine will be required to have only six hours a week of military drill and instruction.

The program of studies embraces a large variety of military subjects and other studies of direct bearing on the war, and is made specially to the policy of the War Department. The whole plan is arranged in accordance with the varying periods of time during which students of different ages will presumably remain at the University. The session is divided into four quarters of three months each. Students, therefore, will enter upon courses of study, as one-quarter, two-quarter, or three-quarter men, according to the present expectations regarding the duration of their University work. A course on the "Issues of the War" is made compulsory for members of the S. A. T. C. The regional director, however, may empower universities and colleges to excuse from this course students who have already had two years of work of collegiate grade. The course will set forth the remote and immediate causes of the war and the underlying conflicts of points of view expressed in the governments, philosophies and literatures of the various nations. At the University of Virginia this "War Issues" course is divided into five divisions: (1) History (2) Economics and Government (3) English (4) International Law, and (5) Philosophy. Each division is planned as a three months course, and will be repeated every quarter. The successful completion of any three of the five topics included will constitute the course on the "Issues of the War." Students in the Schools of Engineering and Chemistry will take only two of the five topics.

In addition, the government has designated certain studies as "allied subjects," and upon that list the University of Virginia has based its plan of work for the S. A. T. C. The program of studies must, in every case, be approved by the Dean of the College and by the professors in charge of the courses elected. This secures intelligent supervision, with a view to the training of student soldiers, in regard to the selection of courses from the "allied subjects."

One Quarter Students.

The following courses are regarded as specially adapted to students twenty years of age or more: Issues of the War (Historical Division); Mathematics; Practical Geometry and Mechanical Drawing; Physics; Military Geology; Meteorology; Navigation; Military Bacteriology; Military Hygiene Sanitation; Plane Surveying; Topographical Drawing; Plane Table-Traversing and Mapping; Automobiles; Radio Telegraphy; Practical Electrical Engineering; Ballistics; Military Law; Military French; Military German.

Two Quarter Students.

Students nineteen years old may elect any of the above subjects as well as any division of the course on the "Issues of the War." They may also elect the following: Chemistry; Physical Geography; Descriptive Geometry; English Literature; Modern History; Economics; Government.

Three-Quarter Students.

Students eighteen years old have all the options of the two-quarter student, and in addition may elect the following: Astronomy; Biology; Pre-medical students, and those specializing in Chemistry and other sciences, will pursue the same subjects of study as hitherto; and will be required in addition to take Military Training and the course on the "Issues of the War."

Students in the professional departments of the University will follow a more intensive curriculum than usual, besides having Military Training and the course on "Issues of the War." For illustration, the Department of Engineering, to meet the national needs, will offer an intensified course, covering two years of eight quarters.

The Government has established at the University of Virginia a "Naval Section of the Students' Army Training Corps," into which not more than fifty students will be inducted. Members of this "Naval Section" will be classed as Apprentice Seamen and will wear the uniform of their rating. They will be under the command of a special Naval officer, but until such officer is assigned the commanding military officer, Lt. Col. Cole, will be in charge of them. The course on the "Issues of the War" will be required. The attention of these students is especially directed to the following subjects: Astronomy; Navigation; Meteorology; Mathematics; International Law; Hygiene and Sanitation; Geography; French; German; Government and English; Economics; Modern History; Military Law; Maritime Law. These students also will follow the general plan for one-quarter, two-quarter, and three-quarter men.

Study Halls will be provided for the student members of the S. A. T. C., and will be open during the morning and afternoon of every week day. On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, from seven p. m. to nine p. m. all members of the S. A. T. C. will be required to be in the appointed Study Halls, and the military authorities will keep record of the attendance. Students who are not members of the S. A. T. C. may, as far as practicable, pursue the regular work in all departments of the University, and may elect also any of the courses above designated. However, "special" students and those physically unqualified are not allowed to take the Military Training. Matriculation days at the University of Virginia are Sept. 24, 25 and 26.

"Where you gwine, Sam," he said, "to Camp Meade?" "No, I ain't gwine to Camp Meade," 'Ise gwine to Berlin. I ain't bothered 'bout dem way stations."

TO RED CROSS WORKERS

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, Director Propaganda and Speakers Department National Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., has addressed the following letter to all Red Cross workers.

This is the forerunner of a series of letters to be sent every little while by the National Woman's Liberty Loan Committee. These will tell you something of how the vast sums of money appropriated for the prosecution of the war are being spent by the government.

The money we pay out and what we get for it is a fair statement of our war program and of our national achievement so far, and indicates definitely the magnitude of our undertaking, the giant scale of preparation and the standard we have set for ourselves in this grim struggle to preserve our national life and the civilization of the world.

What we have done so far points to what is before us—what we must do week by week and month by month till the war is won. In normal times—in peace times—it costs about a billion dollars a year to run the government. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, Congress appropriated in round numbers, including deficiencies, $18,882,000,000.

For 1919 Congress has appropriated in round numbers at the present session, including deficiencies and appropriations bills pending, $24,330,000,000. The mind is often confused over "appropriations" and "expenditures." Congressional appropriations fix the limit of what may be used.

Then the governmental departments and bureaus spend what is necessary, and at the end of the year the appropriation lapses. Official figures show that for the fiscal year 1918 the government spent $12,696,702,471.14, and in addition during the war months of 1917 disbursed $885,000,000 for loans to Allies.

Up to the very day we entered the war Germany believed that victory for the Central powers lay just ahead. A strong factor in this calculation was their belief that the Entente powers were financially exhausted.

Germany had spent fifty years preparing for a war of conquest. She knew that from its very start she must wage it from within the circle composed of herself and her Allies, that she must produce from within this circle her raw stuffs and manufactured material, and by doing this, though the war has continued far beyond the eighteen months that Germany set for its winning—if there was to be a winning—she has kept her money at home, used it over and over again, as the same water often turns the wheels of many mills.

Our Allies, on the other hand, owing chiefly to their lack of preparation, had to come into the markets of the United States for most of their war necessities, and in the years of our neutrality their account with us totaled approximately $9,453,524,547. A nation and an individual are alike when they want to buy anything—they must have money or credit, which is based on money. Our Allies were short on both and we supplied their need. We advanced them money and credit, and we called the transaction a loan. In the fiscal years 1917 and 1918 we loaned them $5,623,000,000. Their securities and governmental undertakings to repay lie in the vaults of the Treasury of the United States.

What our Allies did with that credit or money is of vast importance to us. They looked to us to supply them with wheat and corn and cotton from our fields, coal and ore from our mines, and finished products from our factories and foundries, otherwise they could not remain at war, so they brought this credit that we had lent them into our markets and spent it over our counters.

During the fiscal year 1918 our exports amounted to $6,000,000,000. Six billion is six thousand million! Most of these went to our Allies, and was turned immediately and eagerly into fighting stuff for winning their war—our war.

You will be interested in knowing some of the things our Allies really did with the sums we lent them. First they used over $150,000,000 for relief in Belgium and Servia. The people in Belgium call it "blessed money." Beside the enormous expenditures embraced in the term "munitions of war" they have spent $800,000,000 for cereals, $800,000,000 for meat and other foods and $600,000,000 for cotton.

The letters immediately following this will tell the cost of turning a citizen into a soldier, of the draft, the soldier's life and training in the cantonments, his life overseas and the building of the ships that took him there, the engineering projects in France to make ready for the soldier's coming, our aircraft production, the wonderful Liberty motor, and kindred subjects.

WHY THE TEACHER TRAINING DRIVE

"Making the world safe for democracy," "Win the war, win the world!" These are great slogans, but we need not deceive ourselves. To accomplish these aims will require the utmost sacrifice in blood and treasure. Adequate supplies in food and ammunition, together with efficient strategy, are necessary. The moral resources of the Allies are vital. Time and again we have heard from our leaders that neither side will be overcome until the morale of the army and the people gives way.

The Sunday-school's task is to build up the nation's moral resources. Intellectually, we assent to the need for such an agency; actually, we give relatively little time to making it efficient. The Sunday-school is desperately needed in the present to keep boys and girls pure and strong. In every country at war, juvenile crime has increased alarmingly since the beginning of the conflict. When the war is won, the liberties of the world will be in the hands of the coming generation. That generation is now being trained.

But in the face of this situation the fact is that the churches are letting slip their hold on childhood at this particular hour. Not intentionally but actually, because the strain of these war days has made us neglect the institution which always appears so promising even when neglected. Every church this year is either losing in enrollment or else succeeding by desperate effort.

The Teacher Training Drive aims to unite all the forces in an effort to dynamite the church out of its complacency over religious training, and to stimulate everywhere a firm resolve and actual plans to train the leadership needed for effective work.

The local church is the place for this effort. Here we have Sunday after Sunday the young people who must soon be the teachers and officers of the church. The young men have gone to the front, and are now getting training in other fields, but the young women are here, together with a few promising young men, eager to learn how to play a big part in the world's affairs. The Drive aims to start a teacher training class at the Sunday-school hour in every Sunday-school. This may be done by giving an approved Normal Training Course as the regular lesson to classes which are already organized, or by forming a new select class. Both methods have proved successful. Other objectives are a Mid-week Training Class in every Sunday-school for workers already in service, and a definite effort to secure a wider use of the best current literature and books upon the subject of Sunday-school work.

We must arouse Christian people to see and feel that effective teaching of the Christian religion must underlie all true progress. By training the workers in this field, we can contribute immeasurably toward achieving the ideals which America holds so dear.

ENLIST CHILDREN TO HELP FIGHT DISEASE

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24.—Now that the "man power" of Virginia has been registered by the draft boards in order that America's foes across the sea may be properly reckoned with, the State Board of Health intends to utilize the "child power" of the commonwealth—in other words, the pupils of the schools—in order to combat equally remorseless enemies that menace us at home. To put things differently, a "drive" has just been started through a campaign of education against diphtheria, scarlet fever, sore throat, mumps, bad colds, grippe, Spanish gripe, influenza, tonsillitis, meningitis, tuberculosis, measles, whooping cough and pneumonia.

A rallying cry for the youngsters is sounded by the words "Save Yourself," which appear as the topline of a striking poster to be widely distributed throughout Virginia. And then, on the same publication, the beholder sees two simple rules of health which fall naturally under the captions, "Don't" or "Do." Here are the injunctions that carry a negative: "Don't sneeze or cough over any one; don't put in your mouth fingers, pencils or anything else that does not belong there, nor use a common drinking cup." Under the word "Do" one sees this wise advice: "Whenever you cough or sneeze, bow your head or put a handkerchief over your mouth and nose."

In explanation of the two rules the poster announces that the germs of the diseases mentioned in the opening paragraph are spread through the secretions of the mouth and nose of sick people and carriers.

Thousands of the posters will be nailed to the walls of school-rooms, so that their message may be burned into the memories of the children, and teachers will be urged to supplement the advice of the health authorities with admonition of their own.

In order that the pictorial lesson likewise may reach the grownups, who in many instances need it almost as badly as the children, the poster will also be hung in public places where it will readily attract attention.

MEETING OF RED CROSS CHAPTER

Special Session Held Monday Evening—Reports of Chairmen of Various Committees.

(Miss Mary Larkin, Secretary)

A special meeting of the Manassas Red Cross Chapter was held at the Town Hall Monday evening at the call of the chairman, Mr. Geo. G. Tyler, who presided. The invocation was offered by Rev. H. Q. Burr, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

The following committee reports were received:

Mrs. R. B. Sprinkel, Home Service secretary, reported that the Home Service Section had dealt with sixteen families of soldiers during the month of August and had expended in their behalf the sum of $8.

Mrs. R. S. Hynson, Supervisor of Woman's Work, reported progress in the making of hospital garments.

Miss M. E. Rixey, Knitting Supervisor, reported about seventy-five pairs of socks on hand for shipment and an urgent call for sweaters by October 10.

Mr. Albert Speiden, chairman of the special auditing committee appointed to transfer the accounts of the late treasurer to Mr. G. Raymond Ratcliffe, presented the report of this committee, which was adopted and ordered filed.

Mrs. A. H. Harrell, Supervisor of Surgical Dressings, announced that the Chapter had received a monthly allotment "until further notice" of 6,000 4x4 gauze wipes. There are only two surgical dressings workshops in the Chapter jurisdiction, at Manassas and Greenwich.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson made a report of the visits of Chapter representatives to Quantico Branch and Bacon Race Auxiliary.

Mr. Albert Speiden, chairman of the Finance Committee, presented bills amounting to $47.59, approved in turn by the proper committees, which were ordered paid.

Mrs. T. E. Haines, speaking for Mrs. A. E. Spies, chairman of the committee on disposing of fruit collected, reported the receipt of $11.55 and a balance of $8.85 to be collected, a bill of $3.59 for the shipment of fruit to New York to be deducted from the amount collected and paid by the Chapter treasurer.

Announcement was made by the chairman that eight men from Prince William would leave for Camp Humphries on or about October 7th and that the proper Red Cross committee would take steps to give them public recognition on the day of their departure.

Announcement was made of a new plan whereby the Red Cross is again to demonstrate its authority to the title of the "Greatest Mother in the World," the Chapter having been asked to take up the mending of 1,000 pairs of soldiers' socks per week. Mrs. Arthur W. Sinclair was made Chapter Supervisor of this work, and Mrs. J. L. Harrell, assistant supervisor.

Announcement also was made of another drive for discarded clothing to be sent to the Commission for Relief in Belgium and Mrs. R. S. Hynson was placed in charge.

The secretary announced the receipt of $3 from the sale of ice cream at a recent celebration and $1 from one of the men who recently went to camp.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the executive committee earlier in the evening, when the following new branches of the Chapter were recognized: Quantico Branch, Mr. Benj. Purvia, chairman; Greenwich, Rev. J. R. Cooke, chairman, and Bris-town, Mr. H. J. Carr, chairman. Mrs. J. C. Meredith, chairman of the committee to collect peach stones, nut shells, etc., for the making of gas masks, was not present to make report and announcement was made that a barrel would be placed in the Home Service office for the collection of these articles.

INFLUENZA SPREAD BY CARELESS FOLK

Spanish Grippe Largely Due to Loose Personal Habits of Thoughtless People.

Superstitious people who constantly watch for signs and portents will doubtless regard it as a significant fact that Spanish grippe alias influenza made its first appearance at Camp Lee on Friday, the thirteenth of September.

But common-sense mortals know, almost without being told, that the malady is not in the least wise particular as to the once it gets an impetus, it respects neither high nor low, and travels with the wings of the wind. In plain English, Spanish influenza is more than likely to come your way, or as the late James Whitcomb Riley might put it, these sneezing, coughing "gobble-uns will git you if you don't watch out."

The two important questions today are: What can one do to prevent the disease, or having "got" it, what can one do to get rid of it? First of all, be it remembered that Spanish grippe is one of those spray-borne diseases whose spread depends largely upon the personal habits of individuals. Those who feel themselves in the clutches of the malady should therefore consider themselves in duty bound to "cover their sneezes and coughs"—that is, to exercise the greatest care in the use of their handkerchiefs lest they infect others. And by the same token, all persons, sick or well, should at all times abstain from putting their fingers in their mouths—a habit too common among children and not altogether unusual among adults. Take pains, too, to avoid crowded, ill ventilated places where many persons assemble.

But humankind, alas, is slow in schooling itself to the observance of even the simplest measures for the prevention of disease and so Spanish influenza probably will soon be here, there and everywhere. It is good to know that the malady is seldom a menace to life. Of discomfort, however, it affords a plenty. First comes the sudden onset of headache and pain in the back and limbs. Acute catarrhal conditions of the throat and nose appear, and the fever for a while may go up to 103, possibly higher.

Those attacked by the disease should go promptly to bed, get a doctor and obey his orders. And above all things, they should conscientiously avoid passing the infection to others.

IN GRIP OF WHITE PLAGUE

(Continued from Page One) In view of the startling revelations coming as a sequel to military registration, the bulletin on tuberculosis which the State Board of Health now has in press will be more than timely. This publication is designed especially for the unfortunates who already have tuberculosis and was written with the special purpose of trying to make of each present patient a future missionary to those who may hereafter contract the disease. Persons who have been greatly benefited or cured have been found to be invaluable in inducing others to take treatment and to acquire habits that will prevent them from infecting those with whom they come in contact.

MY EXPERIENCE WITH POULTRY

Composition written by Hardy Duval member of the Bacon Race Poultry Club

I made my start in poultry with one Rhode Island Red egg given me by a neighbor. I set it under one of my mother's hens with some of her eggs. When the chick hatched I fed it well every day, and it became so tame that I could catch it anywhere. When my chick grew up to be a hen she stole her nest out in the woods, and laid 20 eggs. Seventeen of them hatched and every one lived. I made a coop for my hen and chicks and kept the hen fastened up until the chicks were about four weeks old. I fed them well and they grew fast. When they were grown I sold them. The next spring my hen died, and I dug her a nice grave and buried her.

Then I joined the poultry club. The breed which I selected was the Barred Plymouth Rock. I selected this breed because most all the other girls and boys had decided to take it, and also I thought I would like it about the best for the farm. Miss Emily Johnson, who was then our agent, got one setting of eggs, and I got a hen from one of my neighbors. I set the hen in a box in the cow shed and dusted her good with lice powders once a week. I kept plenty of fresh water and corn where she could get it whenever she wanted it. When the chicks hatched I got some eggs and boiled them hard and gave them to the chicks mixed with some bread crumbs when they were about thirty-six hours old. I kept the hen penned up in a coop until the chicks were about four weeks old. I gave them plenty of sour milk and fresh water to drink and corn and wheat while they were growing.

My father got me some lumber and helped me to build a house for my chickens. I built a colony house. I put it on a high, dry place with the front toward the south. It cost me about five dollars, and it took one day to build it.

Since my chickens have been weaned I have fed the grain to them in a feed thrown in the litter and in a mash. The kinds of grain fed are corn, oats, buckwheat and wheat. I give my chickens water three times a day—in the morning, at noon and in the evening.

I clean my hen house every two weeks. I throw the old straw out of the nests and dust them with lice powder. Then I put clean straw in so that my hens will have a good, clean place to lay.

The Poultry Club has benefited me because I have a good stock of standard bred chickens started and I have received some of the bulletins from Miss Gilbert and Mr. Talcott, which have good information in them.

And the girls and boys in this state should join the Poultry Club because they have a good chance to get standard bred fowls, and to learn to attend chickens; besides it teaches them how to farm and to get the best market price for their fowls.

Omaha, Neb., Sept.—He blew in from Gas, Kansas, did John T. Swanson. The recruiting sergeant looked twice, decided his eye-sight was true and that there was a man before him. The stranger's middle initial must have stood for "John." For he was here as Hooverism to the Ninth degree.

"I want to fight and I want to join the Marines," said Swanson. "What do you weigh?" asked Sergeant Lee Carpenter.

"Ninety-two pounds, but then "No chance here. Suppose you go to the Signal Corps. They might attach feathers and use you as a carrier pigeon."

NEED "GENERAL BATH" EVERY SEVEN DAYS

Sanitary Regulations for Convict Camps Prescribe at Least One Good Wash a Week.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 24.—If you object to taking at least one bath every seven days—a "general bath" that insures absolute cleanliness—don't commit a crime and get yourself sent to one of Virginia's thirty-six convict camps, for the State Health Board's new sanitary regulations require a thorough weekly wash of all prisoners working on the roads or in the lime grinding plants.

Furthermore the rules declare that the "general bath" must be taken in "previously unused water" and that each convict shall have an individual towel and an individual basin.

Convicts now expiating their crimes in the camps will fare much more comfortably in months to follow when the new regulations become generally observed. These rules were prepared in accordance with the provisions of an act passed by the last General Assembly and concern the comfort and welfare of some 1300 unfortunates. Of this number from fifteen to twenty per cent are men convicted of misdemeanors while the remainder are felons. Both classes are under the same management, though the "jailbirds" present a somewhat more difficult problem than the felons, as the latter all undergo careful physical examinations at the penitentiary before leaving for the roads.

Particular stress is laid by the new regulations on the importance of vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever, and camp physicians are urged to be on a constant lookout for tuberculosis and other communicable diseases. Flies, mosquitoes and vermin are branded as enemies to be fought and exterminated, and methods for getting rid of them are carefully explained.

The new rules also embody valuable information as to the location of camps, construction of buildings, water supply and equipment, food and nutrition, clothing, bed and bed clothing, sewage disposal, bathing, recreation and religious services. In order that the convicts may occasionally relax, games such as checkers, dominoes, etc., and plenty of reading matter, are specially recommended, as are outdoor sports. For permanent camps—particularly at the lime-grinding plants—shower baths and flush closets are urged.

While the appropriation made for the changes and improvements suggested will hardly suffice to meet the needs of the situation, the statute under which the State Board of Health is acting nevertheless represents an important step in the right direction.

Dr. R. W. Garnett, acting assistant State Health Commissioner, among his other duties, will have the sanitary supervision of the camps, and in addition to requiring monthly reports as to their condition, will frequently inspect them. He is enjoying the hearty co-operation of the Governor, the Superintendent of the Penitentiary and the State Highway Commissioner.

Testing Drugs for Army. Drugs and medicines used by the Army Medical Corps are being tested by the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture at headquarters in Washington and at its offices in various cities. Several chemists have gone from the bureau to accept commissions in the Army and perform the work directly for the War Department. Chemists and inspectors are being instructed for Army and Navy work and special investigations are being conducted on problems concerning foods, leather, fabrics, paper and other products in military and naval demand.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MAKES COMPLETE EXHIBIT AT VIRGINIA STATE FAIR

The U. S. Government is to make its exhibit at the Virginia State Fair at Richmond October 7th-12th, which will be a fair in itself well worth the trip to Richmond to witness. Uncle Sam wants folks to attend fairs this year which are being handled along more instructive lines than ever before and doing a great work towards the winning the war. For this reason Uncle Sam is going to the trouble and expense to show the people of Virginia just how he is making war and how he thinks the farm ought to be run. The government will occupy 10,000 square feet in the main building. All phases of the great war will be shown in exhibits from the War and Navy Departments. As the work of many other departments of the government are closely connected with the plans for winning the war these will also be represented by exhibits. The Department of Agriculture will show what is being done to stimulate increased production of food; the activities of the food administration concerning the saving of food and the addition of new kinds of food; the safeguarding of human life and the saving of coal production through the work of the mine rescue cars will be shown by the Bureau of Mines and the plan of spreading official war news through the committee on public information. It is impossible to print a complete list of the many items in the exhibit but the following are some of the interesting sights to be seen in the arm and navy exhibits. Browning machine guns, for the infantry and Lewis machine guns for the mountain cannon which can be pulled to the Alpine heights; soldiers' clothes in regulation uniforms including aviators' togs for flying; rifles of the latest model showing penetration of old and new bullets; complete equipment of the American soldier and a trench periscope through which he watches for action on the part of the "Fritzes"; gas masks, hand grenades; the shovel with which he digs a trench. Then there are models of the different kinds of tents used by the army and national regimental colors in silk. Storm and post bags; a portable field wireless outfit; heliograph instruments, lanterns for night signaling, day and night rockets and signal flags. The navy display shows a depth charge; the kind used in attacking submarines; naval mines and a big torpedo with its truck. Projectiles of various sizes are to be shown with bombs the airplanes drop. Nowhere will the crowd be larger than around the modern battleships, dreadnoughts, cruisers, destroyers and other vessels that will be shown at the fair. Many trophies from the Germans will be taken including rifles, helmets, etc., exhibited. Without question the government exhibit will give the public more first-hand information about the war and the life of the boys "over there" than anything that has been done. After this great exhibit has been seen it will be much easier to understand the news with which all the newspapers and farm journals are filled. Nobody who is standing with Uncle Sam in his efforts to beat the Hun should miss seeing this wonderful exhibit at the great fair at Richmond October 7th-12th.

FEDERAL FOOD ADMINISTRATION FOR VIRGINIA

Official News—Information—Rulings.

All forty-eight States of the Union were represented at the Conference of Federal Food Administrators with Mr. Hoover, at Washington, on September 4th and 5th. The problem carried home by the administrators to their people for solution is how to build up sufficient food reserves to send across the Atlantic this year fifteen million (15,000,000) tons of food. We sent ten million (10,000,000) tons last year. This year our own men will be there in ever increasing numbers. It is not a question of whether we shall send what is necessary to support our men fighting beside the Allies against the enemy of all for which civilization stands—it is only a question of how much one can help.

Despite the bountiful harvest this year, the administrators were unanimous in declaring that food conservation must be intensified, to meet the demands of our growing army and the civilian populations of this and the Allied countries.

The responsibility is ours now. The countries at war with Germany have a combined population of 220,000,000—little less than half of it is ours.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur says: "The world is standing breathless today watching the greatest race in all human history—the race between the United States and Germany. Germany trying to close up the war before the United States can get into it, the United States hastening to get in before it is too late.

"Since the birth of Christ there has never been such a momentous time as there is today. And yet we drift along today, not getting thoroughly into the war.

"There is only one short way to win this war—unless Germany wins—and that is to get an absolute solution of the submarine. Otherwise we have got to keep the submarines under water and keep the ships on the water while we gradually build up an offensive against Germany.

But you can fight the submarine, because right now the thing that they are trying to do is to keep us from sending food that France and England and Belgium and Italy need.

"We made the French people cut their bread ration one-third a few days before this great offensive began, that is what you and I did."

Yes, you and I did it, even though individually we obeyed every food conservation rule, because each of us is responsible for the ignorance among our people which permits our associates in this war to fight on our rations and their children to cry for bread while we live not only in plenty, but in luxury and with waste. Our duty is undone so long as there remains an American man, woman or child unswayed to the danger that menaces the world—unaware of the vital place food holds in the fight against that danger, and unmindful of individual responsibility for the production and conservation of an adequate supply.

A good example of what a county can do to assure its people was given at Charlotte Court House on September 8, when the Local Food Administrator and Home Economics Director, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Norwell, arranged a patriotic rally for the purpose of increasing interest in war-time conservation.

Mr. W. A. Miles, of the United States Food Administration, Washington—the principal speaker, so deeply interested in his hearers by his address on "Winning the War" that they agreed and secured his consent to speak again in the evening. Local report says his talk was "most inspiring and instructive. His explanation of European war conditions, served us to greater efforts and made clear the necessity for sacrifice."

Canning and seed testing demonstrations were held on the grounds, and short explanatory talks made by State and local people. Canning exhibits from various sections of the county were arranged by the Home Demonstration Agent and Home Economics Director, and after being judged and scored, were sold at auction for the benefit of the Red Cross. The Keyville exhibit won the blue ribbon. The exhibit was remarkably good.

The crowd in attendance were aroused by the day's program to the enthusiasm for food conservation.

BREWING TO STOP DECEMBER 1

After December 1, brewing operations of all kinds must cease, and until further orders, no unmalting grains may be purchased for brewing purposes.

This determination is the outcome of a conference between President Wilson and representatives of the Food, Food and Railroad Administrations and the War Industries Board, it having been demonstrated that this course was made necessary by the drought in parts of the country, materially affecting the supply of feeding stuffs for next year; by the strain upon transportation to handle necessary industries; by the shortage of labor caused by the enlarged army operations; and by the necessity of the war industries for the whole fuel productive capacity of the country.

Millers receiving wheat from farmers' wagons and grinding such wheat on a custom and exchange basis will be permitted to deliver to farmers, without substitutes, flour from such custom and exchange grinding, upon taking from them certificates in the following form:

"I hereby certify that I will use for human consumption in my establishment, one pound of the wheat flour substitutes prescribed by the Food Administration with every four pounds of the wheat flour I have delivered to me by _____ Wheat Miller, from custom and exchange grinding. GIVEN under my hand and seal this _____ day of _____ 1918.

Each mill will provide its own supply of these certificate blank forms. The Food Administration does not furnish them.

CLOTHES OF ALL-WOOL

Wool—pure wool with no taint of cotton—is today, as always, the fabric standard in Kirschbaum Clothes . . . . To put cotton into a suit and thus take away from its wearing qualities means waste—not conservation . . . . To save wool, buy only clothes of all-wool—all-wool, backed up by solid workmanship—and then give the garments proper and constant care.

Kirschbaum Clothes $25-$27.50-$30 UP TO $50
