WOULD MEET LANDOWNERS

Battlefield Park President Coming to Manassas on Saturday.

All persons owning lands upon which the battles of first and second Manassas, or Bull Run, or Young's Branch, or Groveton, as variously known, were fought, are cordially invited to meet in Manassas, Conner's Hall, Saturday, September 24, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of discussing plans for the Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park.

Any other interested parties will also be welcomed to this conference. If you do not understand any point or any plan, come.

This great movement means more to Prince William county than to any other part of the state; and it means more to the landowners in the neighborhood than to any others.

No one concerned in the movement receives a cent of pay. Shall we expect an equal interest on the part of all the people—an equal interest on your part?

Come, and let us get together. E. W. R. EWING, President, Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park, Incorporated.

Railway, but as soon as the fast westbound passenger train came in sight he lost his nerve, it is said, and jumped from the car.

PLENTY OF WATER NOW

Relief from the temporary water shortage in Manassas has arrived ahead of the relief sought by many of our sister towns which have been dependent upon river water during one of the longest dry seasons experienced in many years.

The new well, which was connected with the municipal supply last Friday afternoon, produces a little over 22 gallons a minute, which, added to the yield of the original well, makes the town supply a little more than 55 gallons a minute. While this apparently is enough to supply all consumers, another well was begun this week.

GIRL SHOOTS NEGRO

Surrenders to Police After Firing on Man at Bedroom Window.

Miss Louise Liptrap, of Charlottesville, has surrendered to the police and was released on bail to await a hearing on the charge of having shot and seriously wounded James Newton, negro boy, who was detected peeping through a window of the Liptrap home Thursday night after having climbed to a porch roof.

Miss Liptrap said she was awakened by a "peeping Tom" at the window of her room. Seizing a revolver, she fired through the window at the intruder, who fell to the ground. Newman, who is about 16 years old, was removed to the University of Virginia hospital, where his condition is regarded as critical. A bullet penetrated his stomach.

Newman asserts that two white men held him up at the point of a pistol and forced him to climb to the porch roof to see whether any persons were in the house.

MARRIES SEVENTH TIME. ALL WIVES WERE SISTERS

Fred Harris, 90, has just married his seventh wife. All his wives were daughters of Peter Yost, who lived in Milwaukee, Wis., and sailed a freighter on the Great Lakes in the sixties, says a dispatch from Atlantic, Iowa.

Harris began by marrying the oldest daughter of Yost and has gone right down the line. The last five were widows. Mrs. Gustave Eidleman is the last bride and she is now 78 years old. Her husband, a farmer, perished in the Minnesota forest fires of 1918. She had been married twice before.

Harris, who was a hack driver and later driver of a horse car in Chicago following the great fire, recently bought a small fruit farm there on which to pass his remaining years.

UNDERINFLATION OFTEN MAKES TIRES GO TO BAD

Air Pressure Helps to Get Highest Mileage—Other Hints.

The amount of air which should be kept at all times in automobile tires has been carefully worked out on scientific lines, say the makers of Hartford tires, and these pressures should be adhered to religiously in order to obtain the highest mileage.

If the air pressure in a tire is too low, damage to the tire is sure to result. Other causes for premature failures of tires are: improperly fitting rims, which cause rim cutting, thus exposing the fabric to moisture and chafing; misalignment of wheels, which causes excessive tread abrasion; running over curbs, deep ruts, stones, nails and glass, which causes breaks and cuts in the tread and carcass; sudden use of the brakes, which causes tread abrasion and separation; turning corners at high speed, which causes excessive strain on the fabric and later a rupture; over-heating, which causes separation; and sun exposures, which causes checking and cracking of the rubber surface.

BRENTSVILLE

School started Monday morning with a good attendance. Mr. L. A. Jamison is principal, with Miss Florence Owens as assistant.

Mrs. G. L. Jamison and son are visiting relatives at Alleghany. Mrs. K. M. Bradshaw and sons and Miss Minnie Smith are visiting in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Landes and children, of Washington, visited Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Keys last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Huffman and family have moved into their property recently purchased from Mr. Daniel Breeden.

The Buckhall baseball team was defeated by the Brentsville team here Saturday, the score being 16 to 5.

A surprise party was given Miss Tracie Spitzer Saturday evening. Music and games were indulged in, and a large number of young people were in attendance.

Virginia State Fair Offers A Wonderful Seven-Day Program Of New Amusement Features This Year

A Few of the Scores of Free Amusement Features at the 1921 Fair—

More Than a Dozen Top-Notch Attractions to Be Offered Free Twice Daily, In Addition to a Mammoth Out-Door Hippodrome of Sensational Features, Including Auto Polo Games, Cow-Boy and Cow-Girl Congress and Two Thrilling Aeroplane Acts.

Some idea of the magnitude of this year's State Fair, which opens at Richmond, October 1st, can be had from a glance at the long program of amusement features.

Big Vaudeville Show The open-air vaudeville has always been one of the most popular attractions of the Fair, and this year the management is said to have spared no effort or expense in arranging a program that would surpass even last year's splendid performance.

The program contains such features as the Jordan Sisters, a duo of pretty, charming girls billed as "wire artistes de luxe," who execute novel and skillful tight-wire feats; the "Eight Lustrous Chalks," a company of famous acrobats who perform screamingly funny bumping, tumbling and boxing stunts; Mirano Brothers, in astounding feats of balancing on lofty poles; "Uncle Hiram and Aunt Lucinda," laugh-provoking "rube" comedians; "The Flying Florida," America's newest and most thrilling aerial act; the Six Bellford, champion risley acrobats, and other headline attractions.

Two vaudeville performances will be offered daily, afternoon and evening, on the open air stages before the grandstand. A large new stage has been built this year which will afford spectators a better view of the performances.

Cowboys and Cowgirls. Another new feature to be seen for the first time at a Virginia Fair is the Congress of Cowboy and Cowgirl Champions, in a varied program of rough riding, broncho "busting," trick and fancy riding and roping, relay races, Roman races and other exploits that make up one of the most interesting and thrilling performances ever offered at a fair. The company is headed by Leonard Stroud, winner of the title, "World Champion of Horsemanship," who has won fame in the "movies," with his wife, also a noted champion of horsemanship. Stroud will ride his celebrated mustang, "Teddy," which was presented to him by Theodore Roosevelt. Tommy Kirman, also one of the world's greatest trick and fancy riders, together with his wife, Bee Kirman, will also take part in the performance, which will be offered each day in front of the grandstand.

Two Wonderful Aerial Acts. In addition to this feast of entertainment are the features of all other features—the "flying circus," of Al Wilson and Mabel Cody. These are separate aeroplane acts, each with distinct features. Wilson, who will be remembered for his breath-taking performance at last year's fair, changes from one plane to another in mid-air, while racing at 80 miles an hour. This season he will also make parachute descents from the flying machines, and perform hazardous feats of night flying, his aeroplane brilliantly lighted with fireworks. Mabel Cody, one of the most daring women aviators now alive, duplicates Wilson's performance of changing from plane to plane and illuminated night flying, and in addition accomplishes the nerve-racking exploit of climbing from an automobile to an aeroplane, while the two machines thunder at 80 miles an hour around the race course.

Auto Polo Games Daily. Rivaling the cowboy and cowgirl congress in thrills will be the games of Auto Polo, which will be played in the big oval inside the race track. This game is the regular horse back polo adapted to the automobile being played with long mallets and balls, and affords the most exciting and thrilling of modern sports. These two features, together with the two great aerial performances, constitute a free outdoor hippodrome that has never been approached in the South, and which has probably never been surpassed at any one exhibition in the country. Fireworks Every Night.

Cervone's famous military band, which will be happily remembered by visitors to last year's fair, has been re-engaged this season and will offer free open-air concerts daily and also play in front of the grandstand throughout the free vaudeville performances, both afternoon and evening.

As a climax to each evening's entertainment, the fair will be brought to a brilliant close with a magnificent display of fireworks. Some wonderful effects have been developed in fireworks since the war and many entirely new displays will feature this year's program of aerial and set pieces which is said to be the most elaborate and gorgeous yet contracted for by the management.

Reduced Railroad Fares. Manager Saunders says he has gleaned the best of everything from the amusement world for the 1921 exposition and promises there will not be one dull moment from the opening of the gates Saturday morning, October 1 to the grand finish the following Saturday night, October 8. All railroads are offering special excursion rates to Richmond for Fair Week.

•• A Deepening Experience ••

A Sermon by Rev. O. Gray Hatchison, Dover, Del.

In any body of teaching you will find a few key-words which seem to unlock the doors of the meaning contained therein. In Christ's teaching there are four such words. If I may hold them up to you in such a way that you will grasp the full import of their meaning they might become to you as one of the four cardinal points of the compass in your spiritual voyaging, and held clearly in view, they will help you to orient yourself in any part of the world or in any phase of personal experience which might arise; and thus they will enable you to lay out a straight course toward the heaven which it is your ambition to reach.

These four words are not addressed primarily to man's power of perception or belief. They are addressed primarily to the will. They are meant to include the assent of the intelligence and to enlist the deeper emotions of the heart; but on the face of them they call on every man not so much to believe as to act. If any man will act upon them he will speedily discover within himself certain sublime reactions. The net result will be constantly deepening experience. Here they are, and I think you will agree that they are the four great words in the Christian message.

The first one is COME. How often do you find that word upon the lips of Christ? Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? The answer is not an argument, or a citation of proof text, but an invitation. "Come and see." Come and test for yourself and prove by your experience.

"If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink." This is the eternal invitation. If any man feels that his spiritual nature is becoming dry and unfruitful like some arid field, let him by an act of will, by taking and holding a new attitude toward the central source of spiritual impulse, enter anew into personal fellowship with the divine helpfulness. Then his inner life will drink, as some thirsty field in the San Joaquin valley in California drinks from the Merced river which holds the melting snows from the high Sierras.

"Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." This rest is no mere idle surcease from toil. Real rest is never merely that—it means a renewal of power, an invigoration of all the finer energies for further and more effective effort. In fellowship with Christ men develop a sense of poise, of balance, and of adequacy to their tasks. For as the days are, so the strength becomes.

I need not cite further instances. This attitude toward human need runs like a warm, red thread all through Christ's message. He steadily invites the movement of the individual life toward that which is central, fundamental, vital. He is the one who has the right to say come. When we take the essential qualities of His life and hold them sacred, esteem them divine, lift them to the supreme place in our thoughts, we are not misled. For if any man has seen Him, he has seen the Father. Therefore He is competent to stand at the center of things and say COME.

The scientific man in religion does not view the subject from across the street, or from the seat of the scornful, or from the last pew in some dimly lighted building. He accepts Christ's invitation to COME and enters the laboratory where he can know for himself what religion may be made to mean to his own inner life. And in learning he moves toward that which is central, fundamental, vital, that he may experience for himself the necessary reactions. Then it is that the four gospels give him the image of that life, the flavor of that teaching, the sense of the influence of that person upon other persons, deep down into his own inner consciousness.

If rightly understood that will worn invitation, "Come to Christ," will have tremendous significance. For it will mean the gathering up of all the material of one's life and organizing it into a Christian system of activities and directing them to certain moral ends which find their highest historical manifestation in Him.

The second great key-word is FOLLOW. He found some men fishing and said, "Follow me and I will make you to become fishers of men." This following was to be in parallel lines and not in the identical footsteps. Here He would utilize the capacity developed in that familiar, accustomed toil for the gaining of higher ends. By the use of this very faculty He would enable them to launch out into the deep, into thoughts, aspirations, and activities which lie far below the surface. He would send them out beyond the shallows where they had been investigating their strength, and there they would be made competent to do business in great waters. Thus they would find themselves able to offer better returns from their labor to meet the needs of their fellows. They had been supplying the physical needs of their neighbors. There were many to do this. He calls them to follow that they may be fitted to supply the spiritual needs of their neighbors which so few could do. Come and then follow. To come is the start in the right direction. To follow is the beginning of growth in this same direction. This following requires much self denial. And he that is not willing to deny himself cannot follow.

The next key-word to this growth is ABIDE.

"Abide in me and I in you," He said in that supreme hour in the upper chamber. "The branch cannot bear fruit in itself, except it abide in the vine—no more can ye." So to be spiritually productive you of necessity must abide in Him.

"If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you," as settled principles of actions, as determining ideals. "Ye shall ask * * * and it shall be done." You will go forth with the strength of ten because your heart is pure and your aspiration true through that sense of union with Him.

A single grain of dust at the point of contact will turn back the current of electricity and leave the room dark, or withhold power from the machine. One single grain of conscious, wilful, deliberate evil at the point of contact between the soul of man and the spirit of the Eternal will defeat the beneficent purpose of the Master.

Abide in Him; keep the way open, the point of contact clear, the sense of union real, and your whole moral effort will be made effective.

This abiding is as much a state of action as coming and following. Because it is a living, moving, accomplishing Christ with which we have to do, abiding with Him means any thing else than a passive, quiescent attitude. As he is continually moving forward, so must you; for you cannot lag behind and abide with Him. When He would summon you to some service and ally Himself with you more profoundly in the rendering of it, you cannot abide if you decline that service. The Kingdom of God is a going concern; it is not static. Therefore for you to abide in it you will be compelled to act steadily and nobly.

The crowning key-word of the whole structure is GO.

It indicates that all these finer experiences are to find expression in far reaching action. It means that after you have found Christ and caught step with Him, and learned His movements, and become familiar with His actions, you are not to be satisfied with having all His blessings for yourself this implies but that you are to share these blessings with those, who, until now, have been less fortunate than you. In other words, until you have become a missionary you have failed to understand His teaching and to become inspired by His truth. You may not be called as a Foreign Missionary. You may not be wanted as a Home Missionary. You may not be needed as a State Missionary. But you are required as a house missionary, whether in the foreign field, in the native land, or in the home town. "Freely ye have received"—and then because the life was enriched by what it had received, the other words inevitably follow—"freely give." If the last injunction is disregarded, it is only a question of time, until the capacity to freely receive will be gone. So this word "Go" indicates that every life must develop by finding expression in useful activity.

LETTER IS DELIVERED AFTER 12-YEAR DELAY

Found in Chester, W. Va., During Removal of Post Office to New Building.

Sebring, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Mrs. W. F. Pool, of this place and a former resident of Eldersville, Washington county, Pennsylvania, received a letter several days ago that had been mailed to her twelve years ago by her mother, Mrs. Catherine Magee, who is now dead. Mrs. Pool stated that her mother has been dead for two years and that the letter had been written ten years before.

The letter was dated February 7, 1909, and was mailed from Hanlin Station, near Eldersville, Pa., being addressed to Mrs. Pool, in Chester, W. Va., where she was then living. The letter passed through the Stubenville postoffice to Chester, where it was stamped again. The massive envelope fell into a crack in the mail boxes, out of sight, for a note written on it by the Chester postmaster says: "Found this in moving the office to the new building."

SAYS EVERY HAMLET HAS ITS OWN STILL

Liquor Manufacture Going On in All Parts of State, Prohibition Director Claims.

Additional credence was given statements of police following their raid of a still of huge capacity near Cox's farm, Prince George county, in which William Stafford, one of the alleged owners, was killed, that they are convinced a well-organized and financed bootlegging ring is in existence and have as their operating area a territory of forty miles radius, by Federal Prohibition Director Fulwiler yesterday, who stated that not only did such a condition obtain in this vicinity, but that it exists throughout the State.

"Before the days of prohibition liquor manufacture was confined to the cities. Now liquor manufacturing is going on in practically every hamlet in the State," he said.

Raided distilleries during the past week run into the thousands of gallons and materials confiscated are estimated to be worth over $10,000.

State Prohibition Commissioner Smith stated that the government indirectly had been a party in the building of many stills, as copper garbage cans, built for the War Department during hostilities, readily were seized by "moonshiners" when offered for sale and, with little alterations, converted into modern stills.—Times Dispatch.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline has remarkable pulling Power

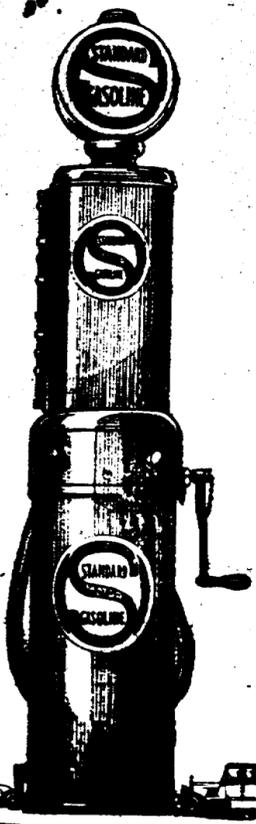

GASOLINE that delivers full power and maximum mileage is not the product of chance but of the choice of crude stocks, skillful refining and constant research.

Gasoline properties are determined by a large number of factors. It is only by the closest study that the exceptional pulling power of the improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is obtained. Our Development Department not only devotes a large share of its work to refining processes, but is also constantly checking up the actual performance of "Standard" Motor Gasoline in various types of motors, in the laboratory and out on the road. The power obtainable from gasoline depends largely on its burning properties, on how much of it fires and how much fails to ignite, thus lowering the explosive force of the whole mixture. The composition of "Standard" Motor Gasoline is positively predetermined with a view to insuring its complete combustion at motor temperatures.

Thousands of critical motorists have given this "Standard" Motor Gasoline a thorough test under all sorts of conditions. They say that it supplies an unusually even, smooth flow of power, and gives exceptional mileage.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is on sale wherever you see the familiar "S. O." sign. It is the cheapest gasoline per mile you can find.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

Economical Methods of Production Urged as Best Means to Insure a Profit.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)
Everybody is kicking about not getting anything for anything they have raised for sale. I wonder if we are using the very best and most economical means of producing these articles. I was on a dairy farm today, and if the same practice in producing feed and mixing grain were followed a great saving would be made, which would mean profit. On this farm soy beans were planted thick with all the ensilage. The beans grew to an average height of three feet. The corn was cut with a harvester, beans and all. This farmer informed me that he got fully one-third more tonnage and a great deal better feed for having the soy beans in the corn. On this farm there is being fed a home-mixed ration with about 18 to 19 per cent protein, at a saving of $12 per ton over a standard dairy feed. What this dairyman is doing all can do. If any dairyman in the county is at all interested in saving money on his winter supply of grain and will take the time to mix it, I will be glad to help him balance the feeds. Why would not this be a big problem for the Farmers' Exchange to take up?

During the past several weeks quite a number of poultry culling demonstrations have been conducted. On one of the farms where there were some forty birds culled out the results speak for themselves. These forty culls were kept for about ten days and the County Agent was told today that this pen of forty laid two eggs in that time. We can cull yours just as well if you do not want to keep boarders this coming winter. Now is the time to get busy on them.

Last week a series of meetings was held in different parts of the county in the interest of co-operative live stock shipping associations. A great deal of interest was exhibited at the meetings where we were able to get the people out. Owing to silo filling, the crowds were small.

There will be a meeting at Nokesville Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the school house. It is hoped we will have at this meeting representatives from all sections of the county that are interested in this movement for live stock shipping. Co-operative livestock shipping is not an experiment. On some of the middle western markets 75 per cent of the stock received is through shipping associations. These shipping associations are entirely farmers' associations. What profits are made go directly to the shippers or owners of the stock. Come out to this meeting and have a voice in starting such an association in this county.

It has been decided to hold the community fair at Bethel School on Saturday, October 15, instead of October 20. Local conditions made it advisable to change the date.

FAMILIES MAY MAKE WINE

Provision Made Several Years Ago Not Generally Known, Officials Say.

Internal Revenue Bureau officials acknowledge that heads of families may, upon filing of notification with local revenue collectors, manufacture 200 gallons of wine yearly for home use, says a Washington dispatch.

Treasury regulations making effective such a provision of the law were issued by Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, with the approval of Secretary McAdoo, in October, 1918, and because of the general lack of public knowledge respecting the provision Congress never has enacted legislation nullifying it, officials said.

The law applies specifically to exemption from payment of tax, officials pointed out, but in its application makes manufacture of wine at home possible, provided the manufacture is by the head of a family and the wine produced be not sold or otherwise removed from the place of manufacture.

PERFECTLY-FORMED SNAKE IS FOUND IN HEN EGG

A perfectly formed snake, three inches long was found lately in the yolk of a hen egg at Levels, Hampshire county, W. Va., according to Dr. Hannum, a well-known physician of that place. Dr. Hannum said he visited one of his patients, and finding him convalescent, and his appetite increasing, the doctor prescribed a boiled egg.

On breaking the shell, the doctor said, he was astonished to see the tiny snake come from the center of the yolk. When the discovery was reported to the patient's wife she recalled having seen a large black snake crawling away from the henery a day or two previously. It is thought the snake charmed the hen, "marking" the egg with a live snake simultaneously.

CLIFTON

School opened Monday morning, with a large attendance and a full faculty. Miss Hudson, of Staunton, is principal, with Misses Campbell and Talp as assistants in the high school. Miss Burke has the sixth and seventh grades; Miss Hitt, fourth and fifth; Miss Davis, second and third, and Miss Wigglesworth, the first. Misses Campbell, Hitt and Davis were on the faculty last year.

Misses Miriam Buckley and Violet Ford have returned from a trip to Niagara Falls and vicinity.

Mrs. Walter Woodyard has returned from a visit to her sister in Toronto, Canada.

The young people are still leaving for school. Roger Elgin left Thursday to begin a course in medicine at the University of Virginia; Paul Quigg left Monday for the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, where he enters as a student in civil engineering; Misses Nina and Christine Ferguson left Wednesday for Harrisonburg, where they will enter the senior class at the normal school.

Miss Ruth Quigg left Thursday to teach in the McDowell High School, Highland county.

Miss Mary Fristoe goes to one of the New England states as a teacher.

The Egerton family, who have been occupying for the summer the cottage owned by Mrs. T. R. Bywaters, returned to the city last Friday.

The Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Quigg last Wednesday, with a good attendance. The society is having the back room of the church repaired for the use of the primary department of the Sunday School.

The School and Civic League met Friday afternoon at the school house. The treasurer was authorized to pay one-half of the bill of Hunsberger and Woodyard for painting the school house.

Committees were appointed to ascertain the cost of providing a place for hanging cloaks and hats in the school rooms, to get estimates of the cost of decorating the hall of the building, and to make inquiries of the board as to the expenditure of school funds.

The library committee was directed to meet the teachers of the school to decide what books would be necessary to fully accredit the school.

Dr. Fristoe had a very painful accident last Wednesday, while walking in his corn field. He stumbled and fell, running a corn stub into his hand to the bone. As he has only partial use of one of his hands since being paralyzed, the accident to his most useful hand is a serious handicap.

The organized classes of young ladies and young men of the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Miss Ruth Richards Friday evening, having a most enjoyable evening.

Miss Mildred Lewis went into Washington Monday morning to enter Central High School.

BUCKHALL

In response to a request from the higher officials of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, that the doors of every church of that denomination be opened every Sunday during the year for some kind of service, the people here will conduct a song and prayer service on the first, third and fifth Sunday nights of each month. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and to help with the work. The regular Thursday night prayer meeting will alternate with the U. B. Church as before.

Only a few responded to the call for help to clean up the cemetery. Those who came worked faithfully, but there is still time for those who did not respond to come and help the good work begun. One great man said, "I judge a community by the looks of its churchyard." It is to be hoped that he won't come this way this year.

Mr. J. T. Speakes has been quite ill with acute indigestion, but is improving.

Messrs. Herman and Arthur Lund, Wilmer Jasper and Ira Brawner and Misses Nellie Raymond, Irene and Lucy Brawner and Lydia, Elsie and Zelma Hensley are attending school at Manassas.

Mr. R. C. Linton, of Independent Hill, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Winslow on Monday.

WOODLAWN

The Civic League met Saturday evening. A short program was rendered, after which refreshments netting the sum of $14 were sold. A large crowd attended.

The next meeting will be held on October 21. A short program will be rendered, and ice cream will be served.

Mrs. Ella Martin has returned to New Jersey, after ten days' visit here. Miss Mollie Hedrick was the guest of Mrs. N. M. Schaeffer Thursday.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to publicly express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends, for their many acts of kindness and helpfulness, and words of sympathy, during the illness and death of our daughter and sister, Howard Knevels and Family.

STATE CAMPAIGN OPENS NEXT WEEK

Democratic Candidate for Governor Will Fire First Gun at Clintwood.

The democratic state campaign will be opened formally at Clintwood, Dickinson county, September 27, when the Hon. E. Lee Trinkle, party gubernatorial nominee, will address the voters of that section on campaign issues by delivering his key-note address. This will be the opening gun, after which signal the long democratic lines throughout the state will advance to the assault. Senator Trinkle will deliver an informal address at Galax Thursday night, September 22, and will speak at Lexington on October 3. His subsequent assignments will be arranged later.

Congressman H. D. Flood, state democratic chairman, is booked to address the voters of Halifax at Halifax September 26. Chairman Flood will speak at Middlesex the following day and at Amherst on October 10. As the democratic campaign is largely under the direction of the state chairman, Mr. Flood will be kept busily engaged during the next few weeks. The tenth district congressman has thrown himself very heartily into the fight and is confident of leading the democratic forces to an overwhelming victory.

Speaking assignments are now being mapped out for Senator Swanson, Senator Glass, Governor Westmoreland Davis, as well as all of the Virginia members of congress.

Former State Senator Samuel Kelly, of Richmond, will speak at Amelia September 26, and at Surry the day following. He will address the voters of King William at their courthouse on October 4.

Thomas W. Harrison, congressman from the Seventh district, will speak in Clarke county at Berryville September 26.

Robert G. Hundley, veteran of the world war and a son of Judge George J. Hundley, of the circuit bench, will deliver an address at Cumberland courthouse September 27.

DAVIS MONUMENT TO BE COMPLETED TO 351 FEET

In view of the storm of protest over capping the Jefferson Davis monument at Fairview, Ky., at 186 feet, and dedicating the shaft next June, John H. Leathers, Louisville banker and treasurer of the Jefferson Davis Home Association, today announced that the monument would be completed to its original intended height of 351 feet. The date for dedicating the obelisk, Mr. Leathers said, also had been deferred.

"We are advised from official sources that the Daughters of the Confederacy," Mr. Leathers' statement said, "have undertaken to raise means to complete the monument. The assurance of this organization means it will be completed."

SPREAD THE GOOD NEWS

The water situation in Manassas apparently has returned to normal. The supply is ample for present needs, the temporary shortage is past and a second new well is on the way to insure us against future difficulty. Altogether, satisfaction reigns in Manassas after a summer of serious discomfort.

Citizens for the most part accepted the situation with a fine grace, waiting patiently for the arrival of promised relief and conserving to the best of their ability the scanty supply afforded by the original well. There were a few, it seems, who made it necessary for the town authorities to pass an ordinance restricting the use of water to essential domestic purposes, but this was to be expected in a town the size of Manassas and need not be considered a reflection upon the spirit of citizens in general.

Unfortunately the news of the temporary shortage spread very quickly—and far and wide—beyond our borders, advertising us in a most unwelcome way.

"I come from Manassas," a traveler would remark, with all the pride of citizenship which a loyal townsman feels.

"Oh, Manassas," he would hear in return, "that's where they haven't any water!"

The bad news had wings. Now it becomes the duty of every citizen to give wings to the good news. We have plenty of water—and more on the way.

THE TEACHERS' CONFERENCE

Next week Manassas will have another opportunity to welcome the annual institute of the Prince William county teachers. The institutes of the past have been well attended by earnest teachers and addressed by speakers of merit, a combination which has made the institute what it was designed to be, an educational factor of vim and force.

Its program for this year, mapped out and issued from the office of Supt. McDonald, promises another session of real worth. The discussions scheduled cover a wide field, which will enable every teacher to present his particular problems and to offer any solutions for the benefit of others.

Prince William teachers, Manassas is glad to welcome you. We wish you the most successful session in the annals of the institute.

ARE WE REPUBLICAN ALLIES?

It is not too soon for us to get busy in Senator Trinkle's campaign.

There is no doubt of his election, of course. A republican could as easily become governor of Virginia today as a squirrel could span the Mississippi with one leap. There is every reason, however, why we should not allow the republican strength to appear greater than is really is.

If we are to guard against this encouragement of republican hopes, already spurred into foreign limits by the last presidential campaign, we must get busy at once. Republican zeal in Virginia recognizes its greatest ally in a listless democracy.

We must be interested now, and our interest must be sufficient to carry us in full strength to the polls on election day.

THE MEDICAL SCHOOL QUESTION

Whether the state medical school shall be located at Richmond, the present site of the Medical College of Virginia, or at Charlottesville, as a continuation of the medical department of the University of Virginia—or which medical school shall be continued and which abandoned, under the consolidation proposed—is still a paramount question pending the next session of Virginia legislators, with whom the decision rests.

Loyal Virginians, whether or not they are alumni of either school, holding the proper regard for the state's highest institution of learning, which should be born in every citizen of the Old Dominion, will surely oppose with strenuous purpose any proposal to dismember it.

Former Tucker supporters have a splendid example to follow in the offer of the Tucker campaign manager, Col. Leake, to join the Trinkle forces in the present campaign. It was all right to differ before the party recorded its choice. It was then a family matter and we were privileged to fight it out. To differ at this time, when the common opponent threatens an advance, would be suicidal. The house of Virginia democracy must not be divided against itself.

There are five and three-quarter millions of people looking for jobs in this country, according to government statistics. Serious? Yes, but probably better than having on every street corner a loafer who wouldn't accept a job as a gift.

BACK TO SCHOOL

As the children go back to school, our friend, the editor of the Times-Dispatch, issues a challenge to all editors who may be disposed to resort to the old yarn about the small boy who regards school attendance in the light of a prison term.

Our Richmond friend is right. School is not what it used to be; and well it isn't. The modern school system is a very cordial invitation to young people to enter and learn. The lessons to be learned are clothed in their most attractive garb. Courses are mapped out according to well-studied plans. Are, music and athletics beckon to the student who might be tempted by idle days, and the vocational opportunities offered by the public schools are eagerly sought.

The school system is not perfect—not yet—but, altogether, we have a very happy substitute for perfection in the progressive school program of the present. There are boys and girls, no doubt, who do not want to go to school. But this is not true of the average specimen of wide-awake American youth.

Congress has resumed its work after a month's recess. If it accomplishes nothing more than during the first months of President Harding's administration, democratic postmasters may have another hunch that their old jobs will be waiting for them in 1925.

The newest sport in Manassas: Watching the water run.

KEEP CALM!

When troubles come or bores annoy,
When evil luck upsets your joy,
When disappointments hope destroy—
Keep calm!

When everything is going wrong,
When life is not one grand, sweet song,
When for a bit of luck you long—
Keep calm!

When somehow you have got in bad,
And you forget when you were glad,
And everybody makes you mad—
Keep calm!

When fickle Fate becomes adverse,
And you've no money in your purse,
And things are going from bad to worse—
Keep calm!

In short, make this your settled plan
(Especially if you're a man),
When things go crooked—If you can—
Keep calm!

"Dicky," said his mother, "when you divided those five caramels with your sister, did you give her three?"
"No, ma. I thought they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one 'fore I began to divide."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

THREE OF A KIND

She was telling an acquaintance about her girl friends. "Yes," she said, "my friend Maud is only twenty-five, but she's been married three times. And all her husbands have been named William."
"You don't say!" replied he. "Why, she must be a regular Bill collector!"—New York American.

ENGLISH AS IT SOUNDS

Here is a singular incident showing how easy it is to mistranslate an overheard remark.
Said Mrs. A, one of the overhearers: "They must have been to the zoo, because I heard her mention a 'trained deer.'"
Said Mrs. B: "No, no. They were talking about going away, and she said to him, 'Find out about the train, dear.'"
Said Mrs. C: "I think you are both wrong. It seemed to me they were discussing music, for she said, 'A 'trained ear' very distinctly."
A few minutes later the lady herself appeared and they told her of their disagreement.
"Well," she laughed, "that's certainly funny. You are poor guessers, all of you. The fact is, I'd been out to the country overnight, and I was asking my husband if it rained here last evening."—Boston Transcript.

USUALLY TRUS

"And so you have decided to let your wife have her own way about it?"
"No, I haven't. She has decided; I have merely acquiesced."

"Say, waiter, is this an incubator chicken? It tastes like it."
"I don't know, sir."
"It must be. Any chicken that has had a mother could never get as tough as this."

BUSINESS METHODS

When the agent brought Mrs. Tarley her fire-insurance policy he remarked that it would be well for her to make her first payment at once.
"How much will it be?" she asked.
"About $100. Wait a minute and I'll find the exact amount."
"Oh, how tiresome!" she exclaimed. "Tell the company to let it stand and deduct it from what they will owe me when the house burns down."—The American Legion Weekly.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

September 2, 1921.
Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, makes the following announcement:

"We are making another reduction in the prices of Ford cars and the Ford truck, effective today. The new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit are now as follows:

	New Price	Old Price	Amount of Reduction
Chassis	$295	$345	$ 50
Runabout	325	370	45
Touring Car	355	415	60
Truck	445	495	50
Coupe	595	695	100
Sedan	660	760	100

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making total reductions in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. The same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of the Ford sedan was $975; today it lists at $660 with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that, we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247, was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer?

Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type of car in which you are interested.

FOR MIDSUMMER Lyons Velvet Hats

—If history is to be believed, women at one time wore straw hats in summer and velvet hats in winter. Woman is a creature of moods and by no means dependent upon the weather man to tell her what to wear.

—In winter she wears hats of straw or lace—in summer, behold, she dons the chapeau of velvet.

—Because it is becoming almost always, and because it seems peculiarly adapted to seaside wear, we excuse the inconsistency of lovely woman's fads, and applaud her in her chic velvet hat though the weather be 100 degrees in the shade.

—These new models are in large, medium and small shapes. The color list includes blue, brown, pheasant, cherry, taupe and black.
—The trimmings are of pin ostrich, in fancy effects.

SHIFTING OF GEAR CAUSE OF CHAGRIN

Better Knowledge of How to Manipulate Car in Driving Will Eliminate Trouble.

Probably no other part of the modern automobile has caused more humiliation to motorists than the gear shift. And yet it is safe to say that more of the chagrin and embarrassment occasioned when the motor is stalled through improper shifting at a busy street intersection is due to lack of study of this important phase of driving a car than to any other cause.

Another place where the engine is frequently stalled through incorrect shifting is in going up a grade. Here the grinding noise and the slipping backward of the car before the pilot can apply the brakes tend to cause confusion. Often the other passengers of the automobile are thrown into something like a panic by such an occurrence simply because they have no idea of its cause and wild forebodings possess them.

When to Shift Gears.

Shifting gears at the proper time and in the proper way saves racking the car's entire mechanism. It usually is not specially difficult in the average car to shift to a higher gear, although some folks succeed in making a big racket in doing so. One of the sources of trouble in respect to this is a dragging clutch. Most cars are now equipped with a clutch brake, and by depressing the pedal far enough this brake is brought into play and overcomes the tendency to drag.

Usually the best result can be obtained in shifting from first to second gear by speeding the car up a little on first, shifting out of first and hesitating an instant in neutral, and then shifting into second. Unless the clutch-brake action is harsh, the clutch pedal should be depressed all the way in making the shift.

The procedure is the same in shifting from second into third speed. Care should be exercised, however, not to speed the car up too much before shifting and the throttle should be in closed position and the accelerator pedal released during the time of shift.

Where Humiliation Is Greatest.

Changing from a higher to a lower gear is where much humiliation is experienced in shifting gears. This is usually due to the fact that the car is being driven at 25 to 30 miles an hour, and the driver thinks for some reason or other that he is going to have use, say, for second speed. He begins to shift, and folks miles around know it by the noise.

Usually no difficulty along this line would be experienced, if the car speed were diminished sufficiently. As a rule, when shifting to a lower gear, the speed of the car should be a little less than when shifting to a higher, between the same relative gears.—Washington Post.

VIRGINIA DRY AGENTS INCREASED TO THIRTY-FIVE

Federal Prohibition Director R. A. Fulwiler, of Virginia, announced Friday that his field force had been increased to 35 agents, and that it was so apportioned as to bring the maximum results.

During August 94 complete stills, 82 incomplete stills, 289 gallons of whiskey, 629 fermenters containing 52,860 gallons of mash, and 200 gallons of new wine were seized and destroyed; two automobiles and 2,700 pounds of sugar were confiscated. Fifty-two persons were arrested for violating the prohibition act. Property forfeited was estimated to be worth $20,206. Taxes assessed against alleged manufacturers of whiskey amounted to $75,665.

STATE NEWS NOTES

A crowd estimated at between 8,000 and 10,000 people silently stood on the sidewalks of Richmond Saturday night to watch the passing of the parade of Richmond Klan, No. 1, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. The white-robed figures, headed by men on horse back, marched along the principal streets. No untoward incident marked the event. There were 802 knights in line. While Chief of Police Sherry had announced that he did not deem it necessary to take any extra precautions because of the parade, a number of extra policemen were on duty and a number of plain clothes men mingled with the crowds.

Joseph Samuel Langford, of Chesterfield county, reputed to be the oldest survivor of the Confederate army, Thursday celebrated the 102nd anniversary of his birth. Mr. Langford walked from the home of his daughter in Chesterfield county to a trolley line about two miles away, to make a trip to Petersburg on his birthday.

With his right hand imprisoned in a coal car hopper, Samuel Staffey sat for two hours while workers at Staunton used an acetylene torch to burn the metal from around his hand. As soon as he was released Staffey was taken to a hospital. He lost two fingers, while the rest of his hand was badly mangled.

Mary Mallory, an estimable colored woman, died at her home near Leesburg Tuesday last, in the 108th year of her age. Her physical and mental faculties were remarkable considering her age, and her health was good until three weeks ago, when she was taken ill. She was able to perform the duties of housework each day, her eyesight was unimpaired and her hearing was perfect. She was a faithful and honest woman, a trustworthy type of the colored slave. Frequently when passing her house she was to be seen smoking her old corn cob pipe. Of her surviving children, the oldest is eighty and the youngest fifty years old.—Loudoun Times.

Col. Wilbur C. Hall, of Leesburg, who was a member of the official party of the American Legion which went to France as guests of the French government, returned on the Empress of Britain and landed at Quebec, Canada. The Legion party was royally entertained in France, and was also officially entertained by the Belgian and British governments.

Mrs. Laura Jane Ayers, thirty-five years of age, wife of Mr. J. M. Ayers, fell dead while shopping in a Lynchburg grocery store. She is survived by her husband and a seventeen-year-old son.

Governor Davis has appointed Mr. J. R. Meadows, of Crewe, as a delegate to represent the state of Virginia at the Press Congress of the World to be held in Honolulu, Hawaii, during the month of October. Mr. Meadows is editor of the Nottoway Record, a weekly newspaper, and the Dixie Press, a monthly magazine devoted to the newspaper fraternity. He is also a member of the Virginia Press Association.

Clifford Ee Rollinson, son of Mr. W. H. Rollinson, formerly of Loudoun county, was smothered to death beneath a load of sand while playing near the Georgetown water front Friday afternoon. His body was found in a motor truck by the driver who was taking a load of sand to the wharf. As the glistening sands shot from a huge hopper along an iron chute leading to the motor truck the driver noted a pair of little bare feet protruding from the onrushing mass. The limp form of the child was rushed to a hospital, but all methods of resuscitation failed. The child and his companions had been playing on the big sand pile. He lost his footing, slipped and fell into the huge hopper and was buried alive beneath a veritable mountain of sand. His companions did not notice his disappearance at the time. The child's mother died a few weeks ago.

A club composed of nearly all the democratic voters of two magisterial districts has been organized at Boyce, Clarke county, in the interest of U. S. Senator Claude A. Swanson, who is a candidate for re-election. Dabney C. Harrison was elected president, and Mr. Frank B. Neville, secretary. The club's sole object is to advocate and work for the re-election of Senator Swanson, it is said.

Mrs. Orra Lee Jenkins, wife of Mr. W. S. Jenkins, a prominent business man of Leesburg, died a few days ago on her sixty-third birthday. She was stricken with an incurable disease many months ago. She was prominently identified with the Baptist Church. Surviving are her husband and a son and daughter, Dr. William H. Jenkins, a Washington surgeon, and Mrs. Hattie J. Clemens, of Leesburg.

Ten men were arrested on gambling charges in a single Richmond house raided by the police a few days ago. A little later eight colored men, caught in another house, were arrested on similar charges.

A romance that began twenty-five years ago during their school days at Sparta, Greece, and which has continued happily ever since, culminated in the marriage at Cincinnati of Miss Liggare Schooley, of that city, to Mr. John Semples, a Winchester business man and veteran of the world war. The bride and bridegroom have arrived at Winchester, and were honored guests at a reception, tendered by some of the members of the Greek colony.

Commercial apples that are usually harvested about the first week in October are now being packed, the season being about two weeks ahead of normal, says a Winchester dispatch. Due to freezing weather late in March and early in April, when the trees blossomed nearly a month earlier than usual, the crop of commercial apples of all varieties in Frederick county is not expected to exceed 75,000 barrels, compared with close to 600,000 barrels a year ago. Frederick county normally produces one-fourth of the commercial apple crop of the state. As a result of the short crop, the highest prices on record are being received.

The Fredericksburg city council has elected Mrs. C. Sidney Hunter, Dr. H. M. DeJarnette, Mrs. J. C. Chichester and Mrs. J. Fred Brown as members of the city health board. It is contemplated to elect two woman members of the city school board at the next meeting of the council.

A provisional company of the Richmond Blues will attend the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Governor's Foot Guard at Hartford, Conn., on October 17, 18 and 19. This will be the third trip that the Richmond Blues have made to New England as the guests of the Connecticut Foot Guard and other New England organizations, the first in 1908 and the second in 1912, and on both occasions they were given a royal welcome and accorded "Southern hospitality" in the last degree. Owing to the fact that the men of the battalion have already devoted two weeks to the summer encampment at Camp Meade, Md., it was not thought practicable to take the entire command, as a great many of the men could not find it convenient to spare the necessary time from their business.

OYSTER SEASON HERE

The oyster season started on the natural rocks of Virginia waters last week. Bivalves are said by oyster men to be of inferior quality as compared to last year's. The reason assigned is that there has been so little rain. Oyster men are getting their boats in shape for a busy season, and will be all through the winter, it is agreed. It is expected that several thousand men will be engaged in oystering in the Newport News neighborhood this year, according to report from that city.

The Administration has discovered that a great many of the expenses it promised to cut off are capable of voting.—Columbia (S. C.) Record.

SENATOR HARRISON TO SPEAK

The unveiling will be preceded by a parade, in which it is expected that 5,000 will take part. The Sons of Veterans of the state will hold their reunion at the same time.

Mr. George H. Smith, adjutant of Ewell Camp, has received a number of certificates which will entitle veterans, sons of veterans and daughters of the Confederacy or any members of their families to purchase tickets to Charlottesville at reduced rates. The United States Patent Office recently approved and published in the Patent Office Gazette a trade-mark covering the name of the farm of an Iowa farmer. Ledru C. Willits, the farmer in whose name the trade-mark was issued, is a breeder of purebred hogs, cattle and sheep. The name of the farm as trade-marked is "Hawkeye." To the knowledge of live-stock men in the United States Department of Agriculture, Mr. Willits is the first stockman, and probably the first farmer, to obtain a United States trade-mark for his farm. There is nothing in the law to prevent it, but apparently no one thought of it before. If a farmer uses his farm name and trade-mark as part of his selling operation in disposing of what he produces, the trade-mark protects the owner of the farm in its use in interstate commerce. Several states have laws which authorize the registration of farm names with the state authorities, but a trade-mark registered by the government protects the use of the farm name outside of the state in which the farm is located.

STATE FAIR OPENS OCT. 1, OFFERING GREAT 7-DAY PROGRAM

The Virginia State Fair announces a departure from its customary Monday opening day. This year the gates of the big exposition grounds at Richmond swing open on Saturday. The show continues in full blast seven days, through the following Saturday. The Fair will come a week earlier than usual this season, opening on the first day of October and continuing through the eighth.

The daily program is as follows:
Saturday, Oct. 1st—"Opening Day."
Monday, Oct. 3rd—"Homecoming Day."
Tuesday, Oct. 4th—"Virginia Day."
Wednesday, Oct. 5th—"Richmond Day."
Thursday, Oct. 6th—"Farmers' Day."
Friday, Oct. 7th—"Children's Day."
Saturday, Oct. 8th—"Everybody's Day."

The gates open daily at 8 o'clock. All exhibit buildings, the Midway and other attractions open at 9 and the show continues in full swing from this hour until 11 o'clock at night.

Judging of exhibits begins at 10 each morning. Band concerts and Wilson's thrilling aeroplane act will be offered during the morning hours among other entertainment features, while the automobile and horse-racing are scheduled to start at 2:30 in the afternoon. Band concerts and the great open-air vaudeville performances begin at 2 o'clock and continue through the afternoon between racing events and are resumed again in the evening, coming to a close at 9:30 each night with a magnificent display of fireworks.

A new stage has been erected in front of the grandstand, which will afford a much better view of the performances than in past years. Several new buildings have also gone up, and some of the exhibit buildings have been improved and enlarged.

The children's Rose Fair is an interesting new feature which will be added this year and a new aggregation of shows and attractions—Wortham's World's Greatest Shows—has been engaged for the Midway. The roadway of the Midway and floors of exhibit buildings have been treated with asphalt and made dust-proof.

All roads offer special excursion rates to Richmond during the Fair.

The State Fair opens Saturday, October 1 and continues through Saturday, October 8. All railroads offer special excursion rates to Richmond throughout the week.

It's Economy To Have Tires Repaired

Even though you can buy a new tire cheaper today than you could six months ago, you can save perfectly good money by having your blowouts properly repaired.

It is extravagance and a pure waste of money to run a tire with a blow-out patch. If brought to us promptly, we can make your tire as good as new, and at a very slight cost. We know HOW. Bring your tire work to us.
