

MAY FURNISH TOWN CURRENT

Town Council to Consider Proposition from Fairfax and Loudoun Power Plant.

An adjourned meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, Mayor Harry P. Davis presiding, with the following councilmen present: D. J. Arrington, John H. Burke, J. M. Bell, R. S. Hynson, C. M. Larkin, R. M. Jenkins and M. Bruce Whitmore.

The following business was transacted:

Permission asked by Mrs. Annie Alcott to erect a weather shed over her lot on Centre street. The request was referred to the chairman of the building committee. Mrs. Alcott also stated that the transformers which she had purchased in May, 1919, and for which she had paid the sum of $100, had received no adjustment to date. This matter was referred to Superintendent Gue, who was instructed to gather all data necessary and report same back to the council.

Mr. J. J. Conner appeared before council as representative of Milford suburban line consumers, asking for a contract to present to them, as they were unanimously in favor of taking over their line from the town corporate limits. On motion duly made and seconded it was ordered that the Public Utilities committee with the mayor and town attorney, draw up a suitable contract to be presented to these consumers. Mr. Conner also requested that Mr. Hurst and Mr. Sharrett be allowed to hitch on to the Milford line, which upon a motion duly made and seconded was allowed to be done.

John W. White appeared before council with a request that some action be taken whereby his property on Grant avenue be protected by overflow of water. This matter referred to street committee.

The bonds of Mrs. Orma J. Davis, treasurer of town, and also of William D. Miller, sergeant were read and ordered turned over to mayor to be kept in his possession.

Letter was read from Mrs. Rose McMeredit asking permission to make water connection with pipe line running to Mr. J. R. Dorrell's farm. It was ordered that Mrs. McMeredit be advised that she must first obtain permission from Mr. J. R. Dorrell to tap said line.

Chairman of Public Utilities committee reported list of delinquent water and light rates as of the 16th, and it was ordered that penalties be added to same. It was ordered that all water meters be read monthly in order to discover any wastage to the consumer or the corporation, and consumers to be billed monthly at rate of a minimum charge of $3 per quarter for 5000 gallons and 60 cents per thousand there-over.

Mr. A. S. Harrison, representing Fairfax-Loudoun Light and Power Company presented a form of contract and asked the council to consider same.

A resolution was passed which stated that when the Fairfax and Loudoun Light and Power Company are ready to supply electric current to the corporation of Manassas at 31c per k. w. H. and terms of contract are made satisfactory to corporation, that a contract shall be entered into with said company.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS GET PURE BRED SIRE

Farmers Must Look Carefully to Quality and Cost of Production of Beef Cattle.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)

Efficiency is the most necessary factor in making any business a success. This was true even during a period several years ago when money was plentiful, prices high and products easy to sell. It is doubly true at a time like the present when the opposite conditions exist, and it applies to the business of farming as it does to any other business.

The farmer who weathers the present storm the easiest and who makes the greatest success in the future will do it by making his farming operations efficient. Among other things he must look more carefully than ever to the quality and cost of production of his farm products. This can be well illustrated with beef cattle.

During the recent war abnormal conditions existed. Quantity was wanted. As a result even the commoner grades of cattle brought good prices. However, times have changed, conditions now are more nearly normal and the demand is and will continue to be for quality in beef cattle. For this quality the market will pay a premium.

With cattle, quality and a low cost of production go together. Farmers who will make the most out of their beef stock in the future are those who get down to fundamentals and raise the kind of cattle that will produce beef at a minimum cost and at the same time command the high prices on the market.

Scrubs will not do this. It calls for well bred beef animals that will make cheaper and more rapid gains, mature earlier, and on account of their better beef conformation and quality, always sell for more on the market. The only way of getting this last class of cattle is through the use of good purebred beef sires. In this lies the easiest, cheapest and surest way of making the beef stock more efficient, and the latter means more money for the farmer who raises beef cattle.

Through the Agricultural Department at Blacksburg we are going to put on a special campaign to replace scrub and grade beef bulls with high class pure bred bulls, because the class and quality of the cattle we feed must be raised if we are to feed at a profit. Who is interested in a good pure bred bull at little over grade prices? I can get you the bull if you are ready to better your class of cattle, and get bulls at nearly your own price.

BRENTSVILLE

Mr. J. R. Cook held divine services at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning with quite a number present.

Remember the Sunday School every Sunday at both churches.

The ladies of the Brentsville Kensington will meet with Mrs. J. D. Springer on next Thursday at 2 p. m. The subject of the meeting will be, "How to make our meetings more profitable for this year." We hope every member will be present with a suggestion.

Rev. J. R. Cooke visited Mr. and Mrs. Seymour last Sunday.

Mr. Will Boley and family are moving to Catlett this week.

A cow belonging to Mr. J. M. Keys gave birth to twin calves on Wednesday. Both are normal.

LEE-JACKSON ANNIVERSARY

Representative Thomas Connelly, of Texas, Speaker of the Day—Luncheon Served.

The ladies of Manassas Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, are to be congratulated on the successful carrying out of their program for the Lee-Jackson celebration held yesterday afternoon at the courthouse, as well as for the delicious luncheon served at noon to the old Confederate and a number of other visitors at the high school. After the luncheon, in the serving of which the Daughters of the Confederacy were ably assisted by the Judith Henry Juniors, the guests, together with a number of others from the town, gathered at the courthouse, where in the room, which was most fittingly and elaborately decorated with bunting and Confederate flags, a very interesting program was given.

Owing to circumstances over which he had no control, Hon. A. J. Montague, who was to have made the address, was unable to be present. He sent a most able substitute however in the person of Hon. Thomas Connelly, Representative in Congress from the state of Texas, who was introduced with a few well-chosen remarks by Mr. T. E. Didlake.

After thanking the people of the town for their courtesy and hospitality, in which as Virginians he declared we had not been overrated, Mr. Connelly went on to say that although he was not a Virginian, as a son of an old Confederate soldier, he could at least share in the admiration of and pay a tribute to these two patriots, whom by common agreement the world called "Great." He further remarked that it would be presumptuous for him to even try to add to what had already been printed and spoken concerning these two noted military leaders, but that it is profitable as well as appropriate at these anniversaries to review, especially for the benefit of the younger generation, the noble qualities of both Lee and Jackson, which have ever stood for all that is highest and best in American manhood.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Monday, January 16, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Cornwell, when their daughter, Janet Roberts, became the bride of Joseph Henry Weaver, of Manassas.

As the guests assembled, the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Miss Effie Weaver, sister of the groom. The officiating clergyman was Rev. C. Clements, of Jefferson, Va., who used the single ring service. The bride was attended by her mother. The groom was attended by the bride's brother, Herbert Cornwell. During the ceremony the bride and groom stood under an arch trimmed with hemlock and ferns. The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with Chantilly lace and tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and rose buds. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver left on a short wedding trip and will soon leave for their home in Detroit, Mich., where Mr. Weaver is engaged in business.

—Mr. W. A. Mountjoy, an old citizen of Woolsey, is seriously ill at his home.

MRS. AUGUSTA SMITH PAYNE PASSES AWAY

Succumbs Suddenly at Home of Her Niece, Mrs. Henry Robinson, on Centre Street.

Mrs. Augusta Smith Payne, widow of Mr. S. Allen Payne, died on Saturday morning at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Henry Robinson, with whom she had been making her home.

Mrs. Payne, who before her marriage was Miss Augusta Payne, was born at Clifton Station May 16, 1857, where most of her life was spent.

Though her death was sudden, it was not unexpected, as she had been in poor health for some time, and knowing her days on earth were numbered, she was spiritually prepared to go.

Of her immediate family the deceased is survived by three sons, Messrs. Harvey, Julian and Archie, and two daughters, Mrs. A. M. Shaver and Miss Iola Payne, all of Washington, and one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Hutchison, of Eckington, all of whom attended the funeral with the exception of Mrs. Hutchison, who was unable to be present.

The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Charles Fry, pastor of Clifton Baptist Church, who very fittingly selected for his text, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord for they rest from their labor and their good works follow them."

By request of the deceased, a solo, "Some Day the Silver Chord Will Break," was sung by Mrs. T. R. Bywaters, formerly of Clifton. Interment was made in Clifton cemetery with the following serving as pallbearers: Messrs. A. Hart, W. H. Mathers, C. Mathers, V. Wright, George Kidwell and M. Simpson, all of Clifton.

Mrs. Payne was a sister of Mrs. Luther Payne, of this place.

The following beautiful lines were read by the pastor as a fitting close to the services:

DYING

Passing out of the shadow into a purer light; Stepping behind the curtain, Getting a clearer sight;

Laying aside a burden, This weary mortal coil; Done with the world's vexations, Done with its tears and toil;

Tired of all earth's playthings, Heart-sick, and ready to sleep, Ready to bid our friends farewell, Wondering why they weep;

Passing out of the shadow into eternal day— Why do we call it dying? This sweet going away.

BROWNING ELECTED JUDGE

To Preside Over Orange, Louisa, Culpeper and Goochland.

Alexander Thomas Browning, at present Commonwealth Attorney of Orange county, was nominated last week as judge of the circuit composed of Orange, Culpeper, Louisa and Goochland counties, defeating Judge J. B. Rutherford by the narrow margin of one vote. Judge Browning's election will be of interest to a good many people in this county, by reason of his marriage to Miss Adrea Bradburry, who has many friends and relatives in this community.

Judge Jesse F. West, of the third judicial circuit, was at the same time, nominated as judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge E. W. Saunders.

A nomination by the caucus insures a prompt election.

—The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Metz was taken to the Children's Hospital in Washington on Tuesday for an operation.

GEORGE B. BRYANT DEAD

Brother of Our Townsman, Mr. B. L. Bryant Dies at Monroe

As we go to press we learn of the death in Monroe, Va., of Mr. George B. Bryant, a former citizen of Manassas, and a brother of Mr. B. L. Bryant, of this place.

Mr. Bryant was born near Manassas about sixty years ago, and spent the most of his life in this county. He was at one time proprietor of a lunch room on Main street. He moved to Monroe about twenty years ago, where he has since been in the same business. He was well thought of by a number of railroad employees, who have always been his patrons.

The deceased is survived by three brothers, Messrs. B. L. Bryant, of Manassas; James Bryant, of Washington and Eppa H. Bryant, of Flint, Mich.; and by four sisters, Mrs. Emma Clark, Mrs. Addie Smith and Mrs. C. F. Colbert, of Washington and Mrs. James Payne, of North Carolina.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral, but the body will be brought to Manassas and the funeral will doubtless be on Sunday.

FAIR OFFICERS ELECTED

(H. W. Sanders, Secretary)

At the first meeting of the board of directors of the Fair Association held here Wednesday, January 18, the following officers were elected for 1922:

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church has secured some rare talent from Washington to give readings and musical selections in Conner's Hall on January 30, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Boberson of the Roberson School of Personality is considered one of the most delightful and entertaining women on the platform of America and that she is to take an important part in this entertainment is indeed a rare opportunity for the people of Manassas.

Mr. Pratt, too, is expected and his humorous stories need no added word here.

OLD QUARRY REOPENED

We are informed that after a lapse of nearly a quarter of a century the old granite quarry at Occoquan is once more in operation.

This quarry has been reopened by a firm in Baltimore for the purpose of furnishing stone for building break waters.

The granite submitted from this quarry has passed a higher test than that from several other quarries.

All the modern machinery for procuring the stone will be installed, and there will be employed a force of from seventy-five to one hundred men.

INVALID CHILD DIES ON SUNDAY

Willard Smith Leith, Son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Leith, Passes Peacefully Away.

Willard Smith Leith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Leith, died at the home of his parents on Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock.

The deceased had been an invalid practically all of his life, having been confined to his bed for about four years. It will doubtless be a surprise to the majority of the people of Manassas to learn that he was in his nineteenth year, for to the most of us he will always remain the affectionate little fellow who was a familiar figure on our streets in the earlier days of his life.

While speaking of the deceased let us not forget the devoted mother, who has given the best years of her life to the care and comfort of her afflicted child and who in the sad hours of her bereavement has this solace: that through all these years she has left nothing undone that could have added to his comfort in any respect.

Beside his father and mother he is survived by two brothers, Arthur and Robert, and one sister, Miss Ruth, all of Manassas.

Funeral services were held at the Primitive Baptist Church, by the minister, Elder Dalton, assisted by Rev. T. D. D. Clark, of the Baptist Church. Those serving as pallbearers were Messrs. Carl Kinchee, Buschell Beachman, Eugene and Raymond Davis and Bruce Hynson and Walter Hornbaker.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Dewey, of Agnewville; Mr. John Leary, of Occoquan, and Mr. John Leith, of Washington, aunt and uncles of the deceased, and Mr. Wilson Merchant, also of Washington.

MR. GEORGE J. PATTON

Life-Long Resident of County Dies at Nokesville Monday.

Mr. George J. Patton, a life-long resident of Prince William county, died on Monday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Anderson Manuel, near Nokesville.

The deceased was sixty-seven years of age and was well known throughout the county. He will be remembered by some of the older residents as having at one time been a candidate for the house of delegates from this county.

Though by profession a surveyor, Mr. Patton had also been a school teacher, and was noted for his wonderful ability as a mathematician. He was one of the few men from this county to serve in the Spanish-American war.

Funeral services were held from the house on Wednesday at noon, Rev. C. W. Mark, of the Methodist Church officiating, and the interment was in the family burying ground near Nokesville. The following were pallbearers: Messrs. Charles Fitzwater, E. K. Bodine, Ernest Patton, James Payne and Westley King.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Anderson Manuel, with whom he made his home.

—Mrs. C. L. Peters, who for the past few months has had rooms at the home of the Misses Bushong, on West street, has moved with her family into the property of Mr. C. E. Fisher, on East street.

WORKERS FOR VIRGINIA

Whatever differences of opinion may exist respecting proposed means of giving this State a modern system of highways, we may expect to find only the warmest accord when a tribute is offered to the vision and fine spirit of the Virginia Good Roads Association. This association is now holding its eleventh annual convention here, and Richmond rejoices in the privilege of entertaining a group of Virginians so thoroughly committed to a vital Virginia project.

It is timely to observe that the leaders of the Good Roads Association have come to this convention with their courage and confidence unshaken. They are unwilling to admit that the door to early action has been closed by the General Assembly's committed economy. They feel that there is in fact no conflict, though one may appear to exist, and that with an opportunity to state their case they will be able to show the feasibility of immediate action favorable to the good roads program. They have not trained for a weak admission of defeat; their record is the best evidence that they will go right ahead with the fight.

The sympathy of the people for the good roads campaign in Virginia is beyond question. There is widespread chagrin over the State's failure to keep in step with her neighbors in the development of highways. The urgency of Virginia's need is admitted on every hand. If there are some who honestly doubt the practicability of making an immediate start on a comprehensive scale, there is certainly no one who could wish to see the projected development delayed without exhausting every practical resource. It is a fortunate circumstance that the Good Roads Association should be meeting at this time to impart fresh impetus to the great movement it has sponsored.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

THE PEOPLE OF THE NEAR EAST

We, as a people, are now passing through a great financial crisis, the worst of which, we are led to believe, is over. We are meeting the emergency in a way that shows that we are the true descendants of those sturdy pioneers who planted their flag at Jamestown and bequeathed to us a country free from oppression of rule, and a country abundantly rich in natural resources. The American people have suffered during the last few years, but we have much for which to be thankful when we consider what is now happening in the Volga section of Russia.

This is not a new condition. It has been one of long standing and one to which our missionaries are now giving their lives without pay that they may be able to relieve these starving people, who, amidst the worst conditions imaginable, have always had an abiding faith in Christianity and to whom we are indebted for the preservation of the Christian religion. These missionaries are now asking those who are financially able to assist in providing for the starving people of the Near East.

We call your attention to the plight of those who are overridden by the Turks, and who are unable to care for themselves, asking that you ever bear in mind the fact, however powerful we may be, and however remote from us the Near East may seem, we cannot afford to ignore their cry for succor.

"The resources of these devastated countries are practically exhausted. There is widespread starvation and a prevalence of cholera that will grow worse as the weather gets colder." Few of the refugees have any clothing except vermin-infested rags, and most of the children are entirely naked. In Russian Armenia the dead wagon began its daily round in August instead of January, February and March, as in previous years. One's imagination recoils before the picture of what conditions will be in February and March of this year unless substantial aid is given.—Loudoun Times.

AN IMPORTANT SESSION

Though under way for only a few days, the present session of the General Assembly promises to be exceedingly important.

Among matters, already introduced in the form of bills or resolutions, are the proposal to merge the medical department of the University of Virginia and the Medical College of Virginia, the Byrd resolution calling for an investigation of the Highway Department; the Hill bill, placing the supervision of prohibition laws in the hands of the Attorney General; the Goolrick bill, decreasing the powers of the Highway Commissioner, increasing that of the Commission and giving the Governor power to remove the Commissioner with or without cause; the Brown-Page bill, aimed at a curtailment of the alleged monopoly enjoyed by the Virginia Pilot's Association, and many others.

The resolution calling for an investigation of the Highway Department was requested by the Governor and the State Highway Commissioner. The Goolrick bill seeks to remodel the Highway Department along lines in effect in some of the most progressive states in road building, and will correct certain evils surrounding the office which have been criticised. Both of these measures will doubtless help create a more popular and efficient Road Department.

The Booker bill, calling for the consolidation of the two medical institutions, while not actually of very deep state-wide importance, will command general attention by reason of the great traditional and historic interest centered in the University.

Indications are that the Anti-Saloon League forces will not attempt to recreate the State Prohibition Department but will accept the Hill bill, which appropriates $50,000 annually for the special purpose of use by the Attorney General in enforcing the liquor laws.

Through the bill aimed at the Pilots' Association Messrs. Mann and Page hope to reduce pilotage fees and restrict the alleged monopoly of the Pilots' Association to such an extent that ships entering Virginia waters will enjoy the same advantages had by those entering other Atlantic ports.

In addition to these there are tax matters, school questions and other important problems that come up as matters of routine and last, the all important problems that come up as sincerely hoped, will get fair consideration notwithstanding the recent autocratic action of the House in deciding to hear nothing of that aspect of the problem having to do with bond issues.—Free Lance.

ROBERT E. LEE

Only ignorance or presumption could induce one to approach the subject of Robert E. Lee with the thought of adding to his fame or of making more secure his place in the reverence and affection of the world. It is in the nature of all peoples to pause on occasions for a period of rejoicing in their richest heritages; Virginians, Southerners, Americans turn, on the birthday of Lee, to the cherished privilege of reassuring the shining heritage that has come down to them from him.

Not only in his country, but wherever history is read, wherever civilization has reached, the name of the superb Southern chieftain has become a symbol for loftiness, strength and genius. In the field of military science there is no modern master who does not recognize the supreme gifts with which the Confederate leader was endowed. In the broader field of human life and character, Lee is the exemplar of those who seek an inspiration to the most exalted standards of conduct.

It is profitable, as well as appropriate, on the anniversary of this beloved man's birth, to reflect upon the heritage he gave us, to review once more that array of shining qualities and virtues that has lost no ray of luster with the passage of the years.—Times-Dispatch.

LAUGH AND LIVE

GEORGE FROM GEORGIA

Down in Georgia a fledgling lawyer had for almost his first case the defense of a youth charged with assault with attempt to murder.

From the evidence it developed that one evening the youth, feeling particularly exuberant, had pulled a gun on an older man, and save for lack of a true aim, murder would have ensued.

The case made out against the youth, George, by name, was strong and left no loophole of escape.

As he felt in duty bound the young lawyer exhausted himself in an impassioned appeal to the jury to regard George's youth and his complete lack of malice toward the plaintiff.

At last he sat down covered, he hoped, with glory, and bathed, he knew, in perspiration. It was a hot day and he had worked hard.

The jury filed solemnly out.

"Well, George," he observed to his client, struck by his nonchalance, "you are not nervous I see. You are not worried over the outcome, are you?"

"Nope," returned George indifferently.

"You have no fear that the jury will return a verdict against you?"

"Nope," responded George.

Lacking his client's optimism as to the results, the lawyer was mystified.

"By golly!" he exclaimed, "if you are not scared I am. And I'd just like to know why you are not?"

"Because," explained the unperturbed George, "that jury will be obliged to stay that tell it returns a verdict of 'Not Guilty.' You see my Grandpappy is the foreman of the jury."

COMFORTING

"Will this stuff kill me?" asked the suspicious customer.

"I hope not," said the affable bootlegger, "but if it does there will be no reflection on you or the members of your family."

"How's that?"

"I stand in with the coroner. He'll return a verdict of death from natural causes."

HOW SHE GOT IT

"Hello, Tims!" said Jones. "I saw your wife this morning. By jove! that new coat of hers must have cost a pot of money. You're doing specially well at present?"

"No, not exactly," replied Tims, moodily. "Fact is, she got it by accident."

"By accident!" exclaimed Jones. "How was that?"

"Well, it was this way, I got home rather late the other night. The hall was very dark, but I could just distinguish a figure standing by the chair. I slipped up to her, put my arm around her waist, and whispered, 'Mary, give me a kiss.'"

"But—but," stammered Jones, "I thought your wife's name was Kate?"

"It is," murmured Tims; "that's how she got the coat."—London Tit-Bits.

Peace Time Patriotism

¶ The American people were fairly started on the road to National Thriftness during the war. They learned how to get along without a good many things that had theretofore been considered necessary, and many who had never saved before managed to lead money to the government.

¶ It is to be hoped that the people will not forget the war's lesson of economy and thrift, and that those who have fallen back into the old ways of extravagant living will soon come to realize that patriotism can be exemplified as well in peace as in war.

¶ Patriotism demands thrift.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

Catharpin Community Will Start Cheese Factory—Expected Stock Will Soon Be Sold.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)

There were several meetings held last week in the interest of helping the farmers establish a market for their milk. This market must be established for the farmer before there is any incentive for him to produce all his farm will afford. One of these meetings was especially interesting to the general public.

The second meeting in the Catharpin community was held last Saturday at which time a report of a canvassing committee was heard, and they had the promise of the milk of nearly 200 cows to start with. At this meeting it was decided to organize a cheese factory with a capital stock of $2,500. This stock will be issued in $25.00 shares.

It is expected that by this coming Saturday, at which time there will be another meeting, all the stock will be taken, a site definitely decided upon, upon which to erect the building, some one selected who will operate the plant, etc. At the coming meeting officers will be elected and plans made for the erection of the factory building, plant ordered, etc.

This is a most encouraging piece of constructive work, and I believe will mean the development of this part of the county in the dairy industry, which means a check for the farmer every month.

There were also two other meetings held in the interest of cheese factories. One of these was held at Wellington, where there is a quantity of milk that the producers are not satisfied with the returns. The prospects are good there for a factory to materialize.

There was also a meeting held at the store of Cleveland Russell, at Hoadly, where a good crowd of farmers gathered to discuss the advisability of establishing a factory in order to furnish a steady and regular market for their milk, which is now made into butter. This community needs just such a market for their milk if they are to stay in business and if they are to farm they must keep stock of some kind, the most profitable of which is the dairy cow.

Those interested in this proposed enterprise are in two communities, and I am sorry to say, do not seem inclined to get together on a location that will be suitable to each community. This is the very attitude that has kept the farmer where he is today—the attitude, "if I cannot get what I want I will do nothing."

It is hoped that these people will get together and forget personal preferences and do the thing that the majority will join into, as there is no part of the county that needs such an enterprise more than these communities, and that such an enterprise will do more toward building up a solid form of agriculture than this community.

The advisability of establishing a canning factory in this part of the county was also discussed. Such a factory would furnish a market for tomatoes and corn that would mean a cash crop to those farmers that need the money to buy their cows and the necessities of life. Tomatoes could be hauled a good distance to a factory provided a large enough acreage was put out that when a picking was made the farmer had a load to carry to the factory, thus making the cost of hauling the minimum. These are the things that we will have to encourage, especially in the lower part of the county, if it is ever to come out and be a real agricultural section.

HAYMARKET

The Women's Guild of St. Paul's Church celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of its organization with a "birthday party" at the parish hall on Thursday afternoon of last week, to which the members of the congregation and friends were invited. A large birthday cake lighted with sixteen candles and one to "grow on" was a part of the celebration, and later was cut and served together with ice cream, fancy cakes, coffee and confections. The constitution of the guild, the minutes of the first meeting and other interesting data were read from the secretary's book by the rector, the Rev. T. M. Browne.

The guild was organized by the Rev. Cary Gamble during the first months of the rectorship in 1906, and has ever been most active and successful and of great value to the advancement of the work of the parish.

Mr. J. Allan Troke, master entertainer, cartoonist, musician and humorist, will give an entertainment at the parish hall Wednesday, January 25, at 8 o'clock p. m. Admission, 15c and 25c. This will be the second of a series of entertainments for Haymarket under the management of the National Alliance, Cincinnati. Mr. Troke has entertained some of the most critical audiences in the whole lyceum field and is spoken of as a brilliant humorist entertainer, who will delight children and older people, as well, with a program full of novelty, fun and interest.

General Lee's birthday was observed by the Junior League of Haymarket school with appropriate songs, recitations and compositions. This league includes the children of the first and through the fifth grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakly Walter, formerly of Linden, are among Haymarket's new residents. Mr. Walter has opened a grocery store in the old Hulfish building.

Highway Costs and The Motor Carriers

All authorities on good roads agree that the rising cost of road maintenance is due in large measure to the steady increase in the number of motor vehicles that are used as common carriers to transport passengers and freight.

The cost of road repairs in New England, according to The World's Work, has advanced from $100 per mile to $1500 per mile since motor carriers came into general use. Our State Commissioner of Highways says that these vehicles have also caused a great increase in road costs in Virginia.

The Secretary-Treasurer of the Virginia Good Roads Association only recently said: "We can and must place them under State legislation and control if we are to safeguard our highways against destruction caused by the uncontrolled growth of this traffic."

Properly regulated by the State, motor carriers would serve the public much more effectively than under the present go-as-you-please plan.

Rules should be prescribed in the interest of road protection.

Service should be controlled to meet the people's needs, as is now done with other common carriers.

Personal responsibility of drivers and owners should be insisted upon.

A reasonable tax on earnings should be imposed, in order to meet that part of the cost of highway repairs which motor carrier traffic is responsible for.

We believe that all fair-minded citizens will approve such a plan of regulation as just and reasonable.

Already officers have been elected for the Hayfield and Bristow clubs. For Hayfield the following officers will have charge for the year: President, Ray Luck; vice-president, Bertha Luck; secretary-treasurer, Nellie Copen; reporter, Elsie Copen. For Bristow club: President, Sylvia Showalter; vice-president, Gertrude Ledman; secretary-treasurer, Ruth Manly; reporter, Pauline Ritchie; club leader, Mrs. M. C. Dickens.

It is interesting to see the business like way in which these club members go about their work. It is hoped that by the end of the month all officers for the year 1922 will have been elected.

New members are coming into the clubs, especially the canning club. Our goal is twenty-five first year canning club girls for 1922. January and February are the months for the club enrollment campaign. Club members should get busy and see that their boy and girl friends join some club project.

Some most excellent work was done during the year 1921. It has been the custom for several years to publish in the county papers the best composition written by a canning club girl. This past year the honor fell to Olivia Athey, whose story is given below:

HISTORY OF MY CROP

Motto: "To Make the Best Better."

This is my third year to do canning club work. I have taken more interest in my club work this year than any other year. At first I was uncertain whether I could keep up my work as another was taken sick in March and has been very sick all the summer. Miss Gilbert, my county agent, advised me to do the very best I could.

I joined the canning club because I wanted to learn the use of vegetables and how to prepare them in a proper and economical way. Also it is nice for club girls and friends to unite and have a nice time, and at the same time we are learning to can in the proper way.

I did not have a separate garden this year, as I did not have the time to keep it in a proper way. I just took care of my father's garden. It is about three-quarters of a mile from the depot. The soil is sand and slate mixture, being very deep and rich. My father cultivated the ground for me, so it would be well broken up and the plants would grow better.

My tomato seeds were put in boxes in my flower house which was well temperatured. They were put in the ground in May after being transplanted in the house. After removing plants to put in the ground I put them four feet apart each way; so they could be worked easily both cross and lengthwise and have plenty of room to grow. They were kept plowed and worked well so they could get their full growth and keep the weeds from growing. Keeping them pruned well I had very nice tomatoes.

I also had lima beans and snap beans which were planted the last of June. In all I got 37 qts. of green lima beans and 2 bushels of dried lima beans in the shells, had 72 gallons of green string beans and 2 gallons of dried ones. I had 999 1/2 pounds of ripe tomatoes and 450 pounds of green ones, making a total of 1440 1/2 pounds of tomatoes. We used a good many tomatoes and snap beans at home and sold a good many also.

As fruit was scarce this summer, it was a very good thing to have tomatoes to put up. There was a good sale for all kinds of vegetables we had to spare as many of the crops failed. My father and brother did most of the outside work for me as I had the responsibility of all the house work.

We have had several interesting meetings this year. At one of them our county agent showed us how to make bread and also to judge it. In this way we can tell whether our bread is good or not. If it is not up to the standard it makes us work harder to see how quick we can make a perfect loaf.

I have made more bread this summer than I ever did in all my life. I have made somewhere around one hundred loaves in the last four or five months. I did not keep the exact number, but I made bread nearly every week. We like it better than baker's bread. I don't make it often now because I am going to school and that with the house work, is all I can manage. This is another useful thing which the canning club has taught me.

I am glad that I stuck to the club, for next year it will be easier than if I had missed this year. If nothing happens, I hope I can finish my four year's course and teach others how to can and many other things in the way that I have been taught. I wish every boy and girl had the opportunity to take club work. The more I take it the better I like it.

My county agent asked me to write a more detailed account of my summer's work, so I am adding it to the close of my story.

My mother was taken sick in March and continued to be sick all the summer. She can do light work now. During her illness I had to do the house work, such as sewing, cooking and cleaning up. The first sewing I ever had to do was in my first year of canning club work. In this work I learned how to sew on the machine and make many useful things; so that in the past summer I have made a good many dresses and other wearing apparel. Had I not have joined the club it is very doubtful whether I would have known how to make different things and would have had to get some one to do it for me.

The canning club has not only taught me how to use the needle but many other helpful things. I found it a great help in my cooking and putting up fruit and vegetables in many different ways for winter use. I had been taught how to make loaf bread in my club work and found it a great help. When Daddy and the boys came in tired after a day's work I tried to have something fixed up in a dainty way so they always appreciated the things I fixed. If I had not taken the club work I would not have been capable of doing the house work so easily. I think every girl should know something about house work. Mother certainly was glad that I had taken the club although I did not have the time this past summer to give to it as I should have. I sincerely hope nothing happens to keep me from finishing my four years course. Every year I like the club work better and better. I like the motto to "Make the Best Better."

MONTHLY MEETING OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

Letter Read from Dr. Wayland Accepting Invitation to Give Address February 10th.

(Lillian V. Gilbert, Secretary)

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince William County Woman's Auxiliary was held in the high school building Friday, January 13, Mrs. Round presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president. Although the weather was disagreeable a number of members were present. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

Reports were made by Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis, chairman of the Rest Room committee, Mrs. Ashby Lewis, treasurer of the auxiliary, also Mrs. Mae Dogan gave report of proceeds from contribution box in the Rest Room.

After a brief discussion, motion was made by Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis that the organization be called the Woman's Auxiliary of Prince William County. This motion was carried and the president, Mrs. Round, and the secretary were appointed a committee to revise the constitution before the February meeting.

A letter from Dr. W. Wayland, who has the chair of history and social science in the Harrisonburg Normal School, accepting an invitation from the Woman's Auxiliary to make an address before that body on the subject of civics was read by the secretary. This was fully discussed by the members, after which the secretary was instructed to write and invite Dr. Wayland to meet with the auxiliary February 10, that being the regular time of meeting. Dr. Wayland's discussion will include such topics as the initiative, the referendum, the recall, qualifications for voting, constitutions, statutes, the common law, etc. Two meetings are being planned, one for the afternoon with the auxiliary and members of the different clubs in the county, the other in the evening, a public meeting to be held in the courthouse.

The February meeting being the time for election of officers it was decided that a luncheon be served at 12:30, after which the meeting will be called for 2 p. m. A committee consisting of Mesdames Broadus, Spies and Lewis were appointed to have charge of the luncheon. The secretary was instructed to write to the president of each club and urge that representatives attend the meeting if all members cannot attend.

Letter to Club Presidents. Manassas, Va., Jan. 16, 1922.

Dear Club Presidents:—For several months the Woman's Auxiliary of Prince William County (mother of all housekeepers' clubs) has been working on some plan by which the women of the clubs and county could become better informed along the lines of public questions confronting us. Women have the ballot now, and it is our duty to use the privilege in a way that will be a credit to our county.

The auxiliary meets the second Friday in each month. Dr. John W. Wayland, who has the chair of history and civics in the State Normal School for Women, at Harrisonburg has kindly consented to address the club women of the county the second Friday in February. His address will take up the following topics: The initiative, the referendum, the recall, qualifications for voting, constitutions, statutes, the common law etc. These are all questions of importance.

The president of the auxiliary urges that, if possible, all members of clubs be present or send at least two representatives of each club.

It has been arranged that the clubs be guests of the auxiliary at a luncheon at the Manassas High School at 12:30 after which the meeting will be called to order at 2 p. m. All members of the clubs and auxiliary are urged to be present. An answer is requested.

Very sincerely yours,
LILLIAN V. GILBERT,
 County Home Demonstration Agent.

George Washington crossed the Delaware but our foreign guests "double-crossed" our American delegates and we may be doing something just as foolish in buying Miller Train Control, but we are GOING TO BUY AND PAY SPOT CASH FOR JUST AS MUCH MILLER TRAIN CONTROL STOCK AS THE CAPITAL STOCK OF EVERY BANK IN PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY COMBINED.

This, at "first blush," may seem an extravagant statement but it in fact is but a conservative business proposition and means just what it says.

This stock may eventually be worth something and it may amount to nothing more than it has in the last ten years. If you want to sell it at a reasonable price, bring it to our office, along with the proverbial stocking and carry the bacon home.
