Not Something for Nothing

In offering our service and facilities to prospective customers and clients we are not offering something for nothing. We expect ultimately to be repaid for the expense of handling every account that comes to us.

Banks are money-making institutions, and ours is no exception. If we are to continue to go forward, we must operate profitably.

However, we sincerely believe that our facilities for rendering real banking service are unsurpassed, and that those who contemplate opening accounts cannot do better than come to us.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Great preparations are being made for the Philomont home-coming, which will be held in that little village on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 13 and 14. Among the things of which Philomont boasts is the distinction of having the oldest postmaster in the United States, David Tavener, who is ninety-seven years of age, and discharges the duties of the office.

Two men attired in the uniform of United States Marine Corps, after purchasing a supply of gasoline from a filling station at Fredericksburg, snatched the contents of the cash drawer while James Cross was making change and escaped. The theft occurred while young Mr. Cross was the sole attendant on duty. The sum taken from the cash register was about $25. The police were notified and an extensive search of all highways leading from the city failed to furnish a clue as to the bandits.

Colonial Beach has begun the season with plenty of excitement and intense local feeling. During the first days dozens of women from Washington and other cities were dragged from the water by the police and paraded through the streets to their hotels or cottages because their bathing suits measured an inch or two inches, and sometimes more inches, too short. Many of the women protested that they had the usual suits worn at the Washington city beach, and bought from the best stores, and that they were not aware of any regulations in Colonial Beach that would forbid them wearing these suits.

Several business men met last Friday in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Fredericksburg, and discussed the question of the fight for fair and just freight rates in Virginia. It is the opinion of several that the reduction in freight rates of 10 per cent does not change the fact that Virginia is being discriminated against. Among the out-of-town speakers at the meeting was W. T. Dabney, business manager of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, who was the principal speaker on the program.

Close to 2,000,000 feet of sawed timber and lumber have been shipped during April and May from about fifteen lumber camps recently opened along the Winchester and Western railroad between Winchester and Wardsville, W. Va., most of it being sold to large railroad systems.

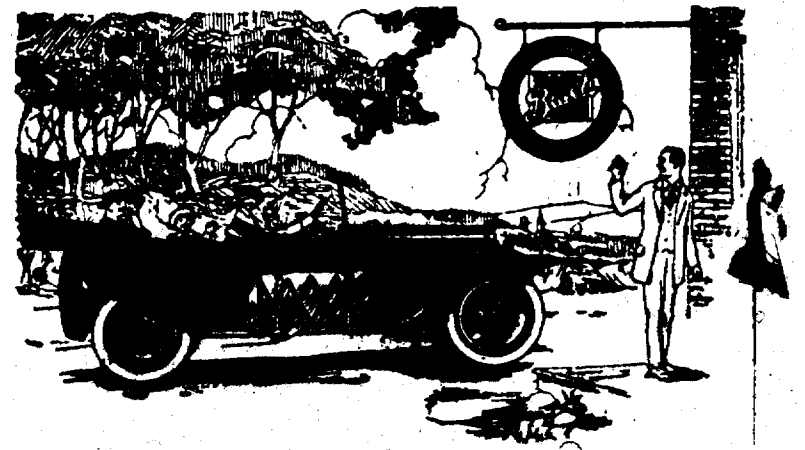

A famous old hand fire engine built in Baltimore in 1840 and presented by Miss Sarah Zane to the Sarah Zane Fire Company, Winchester, will be presented to the museum being collected by the Handley Foundation Public Schools, instead of being sent to the National Museum in Washington. The company recently offered it to the National Museum, and the offer was accepted, but strong local influence has persuaded the firemen to ask the National Museum authorities to release them from the offer. The engine is said to be one of very few of the kind now in existence. It is well preserved.

John Meadows, Lynchburg College baseball player, who sustained a fractured skull a week ago when he was struck over the left ear by a thrown baseball, has fully regained consciousness at a hospital there and attending physicians now believe he will be fully restored to his former condition in due time.

Evidence introduced Friday in the case of W. P. Thomas, charged with violating the Mapp act in connection with the seizure of an automobile load of liquor recently, revealed the fact that the bootlegging car, which broke down near the city limits, was towed into Danville behind a hearse belonging to a colored undertaker. The driver of the hearse was discharged when he showed that he was performing a friendly act to a motorist in distress. Thomas was fined $50 and sent to jail for thirty days.

Gilbert Ruiz, who came into Norfolk from Tampico on the steamer F. K. Lane, is the luckiest stowaway to hit the beach there in several weeks. All of Gilbert's immediate predecessors have been promptly sent back on the ships upon which they arrived there, but Gilbert, who is only eighteen years old, pulled a rabbit's foot. The reason for admitting Gilbert was that he was able to produce conclusive evidence that he was a native of Porto Rico and therefore as thoroughly an American citizen as any one in Norfolk.

The fox-terrier which is known to have bitten as many as five persons in Lynchburg and in Madison Heights, an Amherst county suburb, has been pronounced as mad, and all of the victims have been advised to take the Pasteur treatment. The dog is said to have belonged to N. A. Ray, of Madison Heights.

SHOULD BE CALLED ON FOR EXPLANATION

The charges laid before Secretary Mellon against Prohibition Commissioner Haynes by Representative Hill are entitled to serious consideration. They are not to be dismissed as mere political propaganda. If Mr. Haynes circulated with approval the alleged utterances of a Kansas judge, who is said to have indorsed as proper the threat of a prohibition agent to burn the house of a Volstead law violator, he should certainly be called on for an explanation. If he said in Louisville recently "Shooting on the public highways is a trivial matter when compared with the vast task of enforcing the national prohibition laws," he should be called on for another explanation. In the latter case, which Mr. Haynes seems to belittle, prohibition agents, it seems, made a practice of holding up automobiles and firing at those which disregarded their signal to stop, these cars in numerous instances being occupied by women and children as well as men. If these allegations are true, Mr. Hill has ground for saying that the Prohibition Commissioner is encouraging lynch law on the part of his agents and inciting mob reprisals on the part of the people. Those who stand for the observance of law must not themselves set an example of lawlessness. Otherwise they put themselves on a lower plane than the alleged criminals they denounce.—Baltimore Sun.

PROTECTING THE CONSUMER

As this paper pointed out at the time of the announcement of the agreement between Secretary Hoover and producing operators in nonunion bituminous coal districts fixing the maximum price for coal at $3.50 at the mines, the consumers of coal would not derive any appreciable benefit from the agreement in the absence of effort on the part of the government to extend the price-fixing arrangement further along the line by securing similar voluntary agreements with coal dealers establishing fair price levels. With the reserve supply of coal above ground being steadily diminished and no prospect of early settlement of the strike of union miners in sight, the price of coal scarcity would naturally be taken advantage of by the dealers with limited stocks on hand to advance prices in response to the inevitable buyers' scramble.

This condition was foreseen by Mr. Hoover and he has been prompt to take steps to protect consumers against such anticipated rising prices. He is understood to have decided to call a conference of coal dealers along the lines of the meeting had with the operators earlier in the week in an effort to pass on to the public the full benefits obtained by the establishment of fair price levels for coal at the mines. It was indicated at the Commerce Department that Mr. Hoover's plan for protecting consumers against rising prices of coal which tendency is already manifesting itself, might develop before he leaves the first of this week for a speaking tour in Indiana and Ohio.

It is reasonably to be assumed that the distributing coal agencies to be called into conference will be as responsive to the necessities of a situation that threatens to entail additional burdens upon the public as were the operators, and will lend voluntary co-operation in putting into effect any plan which may be worked out for maintaining reasonable maximum prices for spot coal deliveries, thus preventing a runaway market. Since, of course, it will be impracticable to assemble the entire group of retail dealers in the conference, it might be that the greed of some of these would militate against the general observance of the maximum price arrangement, but the representative dealers' associations would find a way to whip the recalcitrants into line through their power to put them out of business when their present stocks of coal should be exhausted. The public, therefore, awaits the outcome of this proposed second conference to control the price situation with hopeful expectancy.—Times-Dispatch.

Of every 1,000 automobiles in the world, 843 are owned in the United States and 37 in Canada. This means that eighty-eight per cent of all the automobiles are found in these two countries. Great Britain has four per cent of the total number of auto vehicles, France two per cent, and in all other countries combined are found the remaining six per cent.

As soon as a man gets a good business under way he begins to milk up the deficits of a lot of "cats and dogs."

It seems as though the only way for a rich man to be healthy is to live as though he were poor.

DEVELOPMENT FROM COMPLEX TO SIMPLE

The development from the complex to the simple is a characteristic of every field of human endeavor.

When a machine is first invented, it is usually encumbered with cams, springs, gears, and numerous other parts, which, in the improvements that follow are eliminated.

The most useful and revolutionary devices, when finally perfected, are absurdly simple as compared with the inventor's original model.

The origin of the alphabet is not clear, but we can appreciate the simplicity of the modern English alphabet when we recall that the Chinese have no alphabet, but about 20,000 syllabic characters. The Russian alphabet contains 35 letters, and the English 26.

The system of numbers we use is another example of an extremely simple device of enormous value. The decimal system of coinage is an American invention; it was proposed by Gouverneur Morris and adopted by the United States in 1786.

Architects have called George Washington's home at Mount Vernon the finest example of domestic architecture in the country. Its beauty lies in its simplicity and in the perfect union of form and purpose.

Again, in the art of typography, the type makers of the eighteenth century did their work so well that one type face designed by the Caslons continues the most popular. This face is extremely simple. Type makers tried for a century to improve it, but without success, although there have recently been invented a few faces which for certain purposes are superior to Caslon.

The most widely read book in all literature—the Bible—is also the simplest. The modern English dictionary contains over 300,000 words and yet the deepest of human emotions have been ably expressed by Biblical writers whose vocabulary was limited in some instances to less than 2,000 words.

In one of the colleges at Oxford is a copy of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, hung there as an example of the beautiful yet simple use of the English language. Lincoln's vocabulary was not large, yet his thoughts were expressed with clarity and compelling dignity.

In fact, in all the arts we find genius and simplicity interlocked. The work of the masters is always distinguished by the quality.

Modern man is constantly struggling against the complications which exist on every hand. He sometimes finds in himself a tendency toward complication of his problems. He introduces latinized words into his writing when plain Anglo-Saxon would be better.

LAUGH AND LIVE

HE LIKED THE COMICS
A prospect wandered into a store with the intention of buying a certain period style piece for his wife. "Here's a beautiful Louis XVI design," said the salesman. "and it's only $600.00."
"Too much," replied the customer.
"Well, how about this William and Mary design? Only $450.00."
"That's more than I want to spend. Haven't you something in Mutt and Jeff for about $200.00?"
As to what happened to the salesman, the truthful retort said naught.—Furniture Journal.

WIDENING OUR MARKET
"I want," said the little girl, entering the general store, "five pounds of sugar, a bar of chocolate, a bottle of milk, a pound of butter and a pound of shelled nuts. Then I want a roll of cotton batting, some gauze, a tube of vaseline and a bottle of olive oil."
"Why, what's going on at your house?" asked the storekeeper. "Somebody sick?"
"No," replied the child, "sister's going to make fudge."
—County Comments.

WHY HE CHANGED
Old Ben Sanders had been a devout Methodist for many years. He suddenly left and joined the Christian Scientists. The following year he returned just as suddenly and unexpectedly to the Methodist fold.
Upon being asked by one of the brethren why he had returned to the old congregation, he replied: "Well, I just naturally got tired o' bein' so darned happy."

HE HAD HIS DOUBTS
An elderly man was persuaded by one of his sons to go with him to a boxing exhibition.
The son paid for two $2 seats.
"Now, dad," said the son, joyfully, "you'll see more excitement for your $2 than you've ever seen in your life before."
The old man grunted.
"I've got my doubts about that," he said gloomily. "Two dollars was all I paid for my marriage license."

MR. JOHNSON WAS SATISFIED
A well-known sales manager tells a story about a colored boy who walked into a drug store near his home and asked the druggist if he could use the phone. This is what the druggist heard:
"Hello, is dis Mistah Johnson's residence?" "Is Mistah Johnson there?" Mr. Johnson, Ah heahs as how you is needin' a boy to look after yo yand and drive yo cyar?" "You say yo already has a boy?" "Is de boy givin' yo satisfaction?" "You say he am givin' yo perfect satisfaction?" All right, Mistah Johnson, Good-by."
The boy hung up and the druggist said to him: "Boy, are you looking for work? I am looking for a boy to help in the store."
"Nooch, I'se not lookin' fo' wuk? I wuks for' Mistah Johnson; I'se just been checkin' mahself up."

HIS AVOWAL
Tony Spagoni was having his throat examined at the infirmary. "Say 'Ah-h-h-h,'" said the doctor.
"Me no spik English," said Tony.

'Tis Stylish To Be Comfortable

Pointed toes are no longer fashionable. Even the style magazines are illustrating properly-shaped shoes for all except the formal social functions.

Many women have found great comfort in shoes. You will like them, too, because they look so well and harmonize so naturally with the shape of your foot. You get real enjoyment out of Cantilever Shoes.

There is no crowding of the toes, no pressure, no restraint. The shoe is modelled upon the lines of the foot and the flexible arch of the shoe is like the flexible arch of the foot. The great comfort in Cantilever Shoes is simply the perfect freedom they allow.

The freedom of the muscles to exercise and keep strong safeguards you against weak or fallen arches. The free circulation helps to keep your feet in good condition, and cool in summer, for feet swell from restricted circulation.

Graceful in appearance, well made, of fine leathers, Cantilever Shoes will give you economical service and a degree of foot comfort which you will appreciate best after you are wearing them. Sold in Washington only by

DIXIE THEATRE

June 12--MONDAY and TUESDAY--June 13

Arrow Film Corporation OFFERS

The Blazed Trail Production

"Ten Nights in a Bar Room"

ARROW Presents-- TEN NIGHTS IN A BARROOM STARRING-- JOHN LOWELL

This is the old-time theme of a great play and of a great novel, but it is modern in treatment--so modern that you might think it to have been produced to promote the cause of prohibition. Nothing of the kind. Liquor had no more to do with the inception of the screen production than the anti-pathy of a newly wedded man to his mother-in-law, or the laws of gravitation. The action might have occurred within the past few years, and probably did occur, for it is certainly true to recent life.

There is nothing of the eternal triangle or "sex stuff" in it; the love of a father and mother for a lost child is the final sentiment of the offering. The opening of a new saloon in the lumber hamlet of Cedarville is made the occasion of a great celebration, and when Slade, the landlord, takes the floor of his new home, he poses as a philanthropist. He is--not. Joe Morgan, the owner of the mill, soon becomes ensnared in spider's web; goes from bad to worse, loses his all and is the indirect cause of the death of his little child. Repentance then comes and a reformed husband seems assured of happiness with his forgiving wife.

The picture is stuffed with action of which only a faint outline is given in this notice. The scenes are of great beauty and splendor. John Lowell plays the part of Joe Morgan and does it for all he is worth. He is one of the most robust actors on the screen. Fanny, his wife, is played by Nell Clark Keller.

The character gem is, of course, Baby Ivy Ward as little Mary Morgan. She is a wonderfully gifted and natural child actress. Charles Mackay as Simon Slade acts well and vigorously.

 PROBABLY the first place you ever noticed concrete was in concrete sidewalks. This was only about twenty-five years ago. Today hardly any other kind is built.
 Concrete has proved its economy, insubstantiality, its permanence. Even though most of those first walks were built before concrete construction was properly understood, some of them are still giving good service.
 Today your dealer is able to give you the same cement that has stood the test of over twenty-five years' use on all types of work. For more than a quarter century Atlas Portland Cement has been "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

 Farming, like every other business, must cut down the overhead.
 It is not a question of being able to afford a Fordson; it is a question of being able to continue farming on the old too-costly basis.
 The farmer's problem is not all a sales problem; it is also a production problem. He must cut down the cost of production.
 The Fordson does more work at a lower cost and in less time than the old hand method.

 Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Fairbanks, Mrs. W. J. Fairbanks, Miss Virginia Carter and Mr. Carlton Hill motored to Washington Sunday to visit Mr. W. J. Fairbanks, who is a patient at Sibley Hospital.
 Mrs. C. G. Hill spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Fairbanks at Agnewville.
 Mr. Luther Keys is recovering slowly at his home near here.
 Quite a few of the young folks from near here attended a very enjoyable dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Holmes Saturday evening.
 Miss Belle Kincheol spent the week-end at her home.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holmes and children, of Fredericksburg, motored to Mrs. Holmes' former home Saturday, where she and her children will remain for a week as guests of her father and sister.
 Mr. Mike KoVach was a Sunday guest of Miss Lucille Lunsford.
 Mr. J. S. Lunsford and son Charles spent the week-end at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Colvin, of Catlett.

Mr. C. A. Barbee made a business trip to Quantico Saturday.
 The cheese factory situated near Minnieville is nearing completion and most of the machinery has been installed. The plant will be operated by Mr. Luther Pearson.
 Mrs. J. S. Lunsford was a guest of Miss Lucille Kincheol Sunday evening.
 Miss Maud Norman called at the home of Mrs. C. A. Barbee Monday evening.
 The girls of the Gals Glee Club failed to go on their picnic Saturday owing to inclement weather and a post to go Thursday, anearntaoinnna regarding the date; however they held their outing on June 1st.

CLIFTON
 Rev. T. H. MacLeod preached at usual hour Sunday morning, his subject being "The Saving of Time." The Sunday School had held a short session of Decision Day, several members decided to confess faith in Christ and join the church. There will be a catechetical class each Sunday between Sunday School and service, for them to have general instruction. Any one wishing to join this class can do so.
 The Baptist church held their usual Sunday night services. Rev. C. H. Fry preached.
 The school auditorium was the scene of a reception in honor of the senior class Saturday night at 8 o'clock.
 Mr. J. Paul Quigg, who has been a student at V. P. I. Blacksburg, arrived home for the summer vacation Thursday, June 1.

The school league met in the school building Friday afternoon, owing to the threatening clouds there was a small attendance. The following officers were elected: President, H. F. Myers; vice-president, D. W. Buckley; secretary, Mrs. H. F. Myers; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Quigg. It was reported that the finances were in a very low state as there had been practically no response to appeal for funds. Miss Hudson promised to make an appeal in assembly at school.
 The school finals will be held Thursday and Friday nights; Thursday will be the entertainment given by the teachers and children of the grades and Friday the commencement for the graduating class will be held. The address will be made by Representative Ketcham, of Michigan.
 Miss Mildred Lewis was a Sunday visitor at their home here. Miss Lewis reports that her mother has been and is still ill in a city hospital. Her Clifton friends hope she may have a speedy recovery.
 The weather now has been giving us an over-dose of rain recently, making the ground so wet that it is impossible to cultivate crops at all, giving the weeds a splendid opportunity for growth.
 Mr. Blevins has accepted a position in A. J. Kidwell's blacksmith shop and they will move to the village in the near future.
 Judson Council, who has been a student at the University, is home for his vacation.
 Mrs. R. E. Buckley and daughter, Elizabeth were on the sick list Sunday.
 Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weam have moved into the house recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Mathers. Mr. and Mrs. Mathers having moved into Mr. Mathers' father's bungalow with his parents.

Build Up Your Strength
 Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract contains all the valued drug principles of purest Cod Liver Oil without the nauseating taste of the oil itself, and has proven ideal in treating run-down, weakened conditions, especially in children. Most persons in whom are found tubercular tendencies are to a greater or less extent anemic—the blood pale and impoverished. Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract, in addition to the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, contains peptonate of iron to help supply this deficiency.
 In the treatment of children who are pale and listless and who catch cold easily, you may confidently expect an increase in the appetite and weight and the general appearance of good health very quickly after beginning the use of sometimes after two or three days' treatment. We strongly recommend, however, that the treatment with Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract be continued until such a time as there is every indication of a perfect healthy condition. Aged persons who find their general strength below its normal state will find in Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract that mild, healthful tonic of which the system is so greatly in need. Remember, Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract is guaranteed to satisfy, or money back. PRICE $1.00.
