

THE FOURTH AT "ALABAMA LODGE"

Day Passed Quietly in Manassas—Picnic Parties Have Fine Time Regardless of Rain And Enjoy The Outing

The glorious Fourth in Manassas was a quiet day, and the rain that fell the night before and during the day in some measure spoiled the picnics and ball games that had been planned, but even with that the day was well celebrated and enjoyed in a quiet way by a large number of our people. The business houses of the town generally were kept open to supply the needs of anyone desiring to go picnicking, or to otherwise celebrate the day, but business was quiet.

Quite a number of picnic parties had been arranged, and all the good things that go to make a picnic dinner had been prepared on the day previous, so that even when the Fourth proved to be cloudy and rain threatening, the parties packed their baskets and went on their ways, deciding to risk a possible wetting.

Several picnic parties went to the Potomac river and to other favorite picnicking grounds, while a large number of people went up to Culpeper to the horse show.

The weather in the morning prevented the base ball scheduled for that time, but in the afternoon the weather permitted a game and a large crowd was out to witness the game between the home team and the Clarendon boys.

Taken as a whole, Manassas people observed the day in a fitting manner, and at the same time had an enjoyable time and no accidents occurred to mar the pleasure of anyone.

Sunday School Picnic

The Baptist and Methodist Sunday Schools had prepared for a union picnic on the Potomac river, and though the day was far from what was desired, about seventy-five of the scholars of the two schools were loaded into autos and trucks and drove to the Potomac, near Woodbridge, where they had their picnic, and when they returned in the evening all reported an enjoyable time regardless of the threatening weather. Fried chicken, ice cream and everything that a hungry boy or girl might crave had been liberally prepared and taken with the party, so that no one was hungry. When they returned in the evening the whole party were planning for next year, only hoping that next year the rain would be omitted.

Picnic at "Alabama Lodge"

One of the pleasantest events of the Fourth was a picnic party that drove in their cars to Widewater, on the Potomac, and enjoyed the day at "Alabama Lodge," noted for its hospitality and the good times visitors there always report.

Various forms of amusement were indulged in during the day, and everything that a picnic party could do was done to make the day one of pleasure and good cheer.

Regardless of the threatening weather, the party engaged in a dip in the water. Then in the evening a crab feast was indulged in. And during the day bridge was indulged in by lovers of the game, and in the evening it was found that Mrs. Newman had scored the most points.

The party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Larkin, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Newman, Dr. and Mrs. Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe and two children, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harrell, Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Miss Janie Herrell, Messrs. T. E. Diddlake, Peyton and Charles Larkin, and Mr. McGee.

Late in the evening the party drove home to Manassas, and are unanimous in reporting the day as a real holiday and one that they thoroughly enjoyed.

It is such days as these and such celebrations that really constitute the enjoyable periods in life and make holidays really worth the observing.

FIRE AT RESTAURANT

Sanitary Lunch Scene of Small Blaze Yesterday Afternoon.

About 12 o'clock yesterday an alarm of fire drew a large number of people from their dinners, and it was found that a gasoline stove at the Sanitary Lunch, near the Southern Railway station, had become overheated and set fire to a gasoline tank. Prompt action by the proprietor and his assistants soon had the fire extinguished, and when the fire department arrived on the scene all was over. It is said a pitcher of iced tea was used with telling effect and proved a good fire extinguisher. The loss to the proprietor of the restaurant was small, about $50.

INJURIES FATAL

Victim of Accident at Markham Dies in Alexandria Hospital.

W. E. S. Leonard, who was struck by a Southern train at Markham last Friday, an account of which appeared in last week's Journal, died at the Alexandria hospital on last Saturday morning from his injuries.

Mr. Leonard according to reports received here concerning the accident was driving an automobile and was coming up grade, his view being partially obscured by the high embankment.

At the time he reached the grade crossing the machine stopped right on the track and Leonard got out of his machine and was endeavoring to get the machine off the track when the train came along and struck, hurling him a considerable distance. He was picked up and later placed aboard a train for Alexandria accompanied by Mr. Moore, of Marshall, Va. Both legs were so badly mangled that they were amputated by Drs. M. D. Delaney and W. M. Smith. In addition Leonard received internal injuries.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. and Virginia Leonard, and was well known around Markham.

MAGNIFICENT HIGHWAY

To Be Constructed from Washington to Mt. Vernon.

At the June meeting of the board of supervisors for Arlington county, the board appointed a committee of three for the purpose of co-operating with similar committees in Fairfax county and Alexandria city with the object of reviving the Mt. Vernon Avenue Association.

In 1888 the Mt. Vernon Avenue Association had transferred to it by the General Assembly of Virginia the claim of Virginia for repayment of a loan made to the United States government in 1790 and used for the construction of the first public buildings in Washington.

It is believed that this fund and its accumulated interest will be more than ample to meet the cost of constructing a magnificent highway between Washington and Mt. Vernon and be a daily reminder of the Great Washington.—Clarendon Chronicle.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Program Arranged for Observation of Day at M. E. Church.

Preparations have been made for the observation of Children's Day at the M. E. Church, South, next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion, and the morning service promises to be one that the younger element of the church will participate in and thoroughly enjoy. A welcome awaits not only members of the church and Sunday School, but all who wish to enjoy the program rendered by the children.

Special attention is asked for all who contemplate putting on a single farm exhibit, also a single garden exhibit, as several attractive prizes are offered for exhibits of this kind.

Also, those interested in making a floral exhibit should begin arranging for their displays, and it is hoped that the floral department will prove to be a large one, as they add much to the beauty of the building and the attractiveness of the whole exhibition.

Come out and get acquainted with him and with the merits of the Jersey breed, the dairymen's friend.

PRETTY WEDDING

Former Manassas Girl Becomes Bride of New York Man.

The Church of the Epiphany, in Washington, was the scene of a wedding on June 28th that interests many Manassas people when Miss Edith Manassas people when Miss Edith Lipscomb, of that city, became the bride of Mr. R. H. McLaughlin, of New York City. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Torrey.

The bride was attired in a gown of white crepe and carried a bride's bouquet of roses. Miss Ethel Lipscomb, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and the best man was Mr. Frank Lightfoot, a friend of Mr. McLaughlin.

After a wedding trip the young couple will make their home in New York City.

Mrs. McLaughlin formerly lived in Manassas.

—Master Robert Saunders, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Saunders, who has been suffering with a broken arm for the past two weeks, is improving nicely now.

WHITE ROSE WINS FROM VISITING CLUBS

Woodbridge Club Defeated 13 to 8—Clarendon Plays Fast Game But Loses—Woodbridge Wins From Ox Road Club

Woodbridge Sluggers Slugged. Last Saturday brought the Woodbridge sluggers, and Manassas fans to the grounds expecting to see a hot game. But it was a one-way procession around the diamond until the ninth inning, when the home boys grew careless and let the Woodbridge near-sluggers make a few scores.

Up to the ninth inning the visitors had only scored once, while the home team had worn itself out running the bases. The score at the end of the game was 13-8 in favor of Manassas.

White Rose 5—Clarendon 4

On Tuesday, July 4th, two games were scheduled on the home grounds between the home team and the Clarendon boys, but owing to the rain and wet grounds the morning game was not played.

In the afternoon the weather was more propitious and the afternoon game was played with a fair crowd present to root for the White Rose.

The game was one of the best the boys have played this season, and by far the fastest one played on the home grounds, the score being 5 to 4 in favor of the White Rose boys in the tenth inning.

In the eighth inning the score stood 4 to 3 in favor of Clarendon, but in that inning Dennis, the White Rose pitcher, stole home making a tie score. The ninth inning was played without either side scoring, but in the tenth Trimmer got a two-bagger allowing Calvert to score and ending the game 4-5 in favor of the White Rose.

"Bawl" Notes

The dreadful Dreadnaughts, the Alexandria aggregation that cleaned up on the White Rose boys some days ago, had proved to their satisfaction, or at least it was impressed upon their minds, that they are not at all invincible. Last Sunday they played the Shamrocks of Washington a second game, and also met a second defeat at the hands of the Shamrocks, the score being 11 to 7 in favor of the Shamrocks. The Purcellville team which comes to Manassas soon is a member of the Loudoun county league and stands second in percentage of games won in the league. The team defeated Upperville 11-1.

Woodbridge Defeats Ox Road

On July 4th the Woodbridge Lions (junior team) had as their guests on the home diamond the Ox Road first team, and the Woodbridge boys fittingly observed the Fourth by being to Ox Road boys what their ancestors did to the British on that other Fourth—put them on the losers' side.

The Ox Road boys are a fast playing bunch, having lost only one game to Alexandria this season, but the Woodbridge sluggers just slugged a little harder, with the result that they scored 10 to the Ox Road boys' 2. It was a good game throughout. Following is the line-up:

PLANE DESTROYED

Aviator and Mechanic Escape With Slight Injuries in Mishap.

An airplane, piloted by Captain George Hamilton, U. S. M. C., took a 50-foot drop in Chappawamsic Swamp near Quantico, while returning to the landing field at the Marine Aviation Field at Reid. Engine trouble caused the plane to crash into the swamp near the new bridge connecting the roadway between the Marine Field and the Quantico Barracks.

The machine was demolished by the fall, but Captain Hamilton and his mechanic escaped with minor bruises.

CHANGE OF SITE

Courthouse to Be Asked by Voters in Stafford County.

Twenty petitions are in circulation in Stafford county to bring the question before the voters of that county to let the people vote on the location as to a site for the new courthouse.

A large per cent of the voters are signing the petition, as they think it is an issue the people should decide, and at the rapid progress that is being made, no doubt, they will be ready to present it to Judge R. H. L. Chichester asking him to call a special election to let the people decide the question by balloting on it.

The places are selected which have one acre of land each for a site, one at Palmsouth, one at Mountain View and one at the old site.

MOBBY'S MEN

The Forty-Third Virginia Battalion to Meet at Culpeper.

The survivors of the Forty-third Virginia Battalion of Cavalry (Mobby's men) will meet in Culpeper on September 7, 1922, by invitation of the ladies of the U. D. C. and the A. P. Hill Camp.

It is hoped that as many of the old boys will attend as can possibly do so, as there will be something of importance to come before the camp.

WHEZZEL—GROVE

Former Prince William County Boy Takes Bride in Pennsylvania.

A pretty church wedding was solemnized June 11th in the Zion Lutheran Church, Hummelstown, Pa., immediately after the regular evening service, when Miss Fannie E. Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Grove, became the bride of Arthur G. Whetzel, of Hershhey, son of James L. Whetzel, of Dearwood, Md.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Herbert S. Garne the pastor, Rev. Herbert S. Garne. The altar decorations for the occasion were ferns, yellow daisies, peonies and roses.

The ring service was used and the wedding marches played by the church organist, Mrs. Robert M. Blair. Mrs. J. E. Marts sang, "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy" previous to the wedding ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, George H. Grove, wore a gown of silver cloth and lace, her veil being caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of ferberfue and calla lilies.

Mrs. Paul Zentmyer, of Hershhey, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of orchid crepe de chine and carried an arm bouquet of heliotrope.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Whetzel left for a trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Among the guests present at the wedding were Mrs. Elwood Allen, Mrs. Ernest Campbell and Mr. David Whetzel, of Catlett, Va., and Mr. Jasper Whetzel, of Manassas.

The groom is a former Prince William boy.

—Mrs. Ballenger Patterson leaves this (Friday) afternoon for Washington, where she will visit her son and family for an indefinite length of time. Mrs. Templeton Hodge will accompany her as far as Clifton, where she will remain, and at the request of former pupils inaugurate a summer class in plane music.

—Mr. R. S. Hynson was in Baltimore on business yesterday.

SERVED IN FIRST MANASSAS

Was With Stuart, Mosby and Other Famous Leaders During War.

Dr. William Logan Dunn, eighty-four, who rode with Jones, Stuart and Mosby through the War Between the States, died at his home at Glade Spring, June 26.

Dr. Dunn was a participant in the first battle of Manassas, where he performed both medical service and important scout duty.

A few days after Dr. Dunn joined Mosby's Battalion in July, 1863, Col. Mosby was seriously wounded at Goodens Tavern. Dr. Dunn not only gave the necessary surgical treatment to his commander, but brought him safely back to the Confederate lines, though he was hotly pursued by Federal cavalry.

At the close of the war Dr. Dunn located in Glade Spring, and continued actively at work until about six months prior to his death.

The body was dressed in Dr. Dunn's Confederate surgeon's coat before being placed in the casket. And on the breast of the coat was fastened three cherished badges—the veterans' badge of honor, the badge of the Stuart Cavalry and the badge of the Immortal Three Hundred who followed and fought with Mosby.

CHURCH BEING REPAIRED

Sunday School Being Made Attractive and Comfortable.

(Contributed)

The church at Bristow is undergoing repairs, and when finished will add largely to the comfort and attractiveness of the building.

Attendance at the Bristow Sunday School for the past two weeks has been quite small, but as many are on their vacation, and the weather is hot, the fact that the attendance is small is easily accounted for.

Besides lack of attendance, the school needs the assistance of more teachers and an organist.

Sunday School is held at 2:30 in the afternoon, and it is hoped the attendance will be increased.

CHEESE FACTORIES

Are Opening Up in the County—County Agent Busy.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent.) For the past two weeks H. F. Fralin, cheese specialist, has been in the county with the county agent getting the new cheese factories at Minnieville and Catharpin started. These two plants are making a splendid start, with a very satisfactory amount of milk, of good quality, and with this good quality of milk the cheese-makers are producing a high quality of cheese. These cheese factories can be made very great factors in the development of the dairy industry in this county, and with that will go greater prosperity to the people in these communities. These plants or any other farmers' associations are bound to fail unless they get the fullest co-operation of every person interested. You cannot expect a cheese factory or any other enterprise to prosper and to help your community unless you as one of that group do your best to hold your end up. Do not expect the other fellow to do more than you are doing yourself. If you cannot boost it, do not kick.

The rumor has gotten out throughout the Gold Ridge cheese factory neighborhood that the factory is located in the wrong place; that it does not pay anything for its milk. If you are one of those who think it is located wrong, you can do more good by keeping silent than by starting trouble; and as for paying in competition with its competitors, I want to say that never since the plant has been in operation has it paid less than any of its competitors for butter fat, and all during the first four months last summer it paid from two to five cents per pound more for butter fat than any of the creameries. And in addition to this, the patrons had no express charges to pay; nobody to tell them what the weight of their milk was or what it tested, as they did that themselves. Does this look like it does not pay? Someone in this section has an axe to grind. Let us hope he soon gets through grinding and gets to producing milk.

The other rumor is that the extension division through which the plant was started has fallen down and cannot sell the cheese when the plant produces it. I want to tell these people in this community that 80 per cent of all the cheese produced by this plant has been sold through the efforts of the county agent; that the cheese made from milk filled with onions this spring that this plant could not possibly have hardly given away has been sold for an unusually good price and the money received; that through this office all the cheese made by this plant has been sold to one of the largest concerns doing business in Washington; that they will take it as often as the plant will deliver it, and will be paid for at the market price. Does this look like we have fallen down? Surely these people do not expect us to make their cheese for them. If the average producer would put more thought to the production of clean milk and let his association do the rest, all would be better off. The Gold Ridge factory will pay up in full for all its milk due July 1st, and the price will compete with the creamery price paid for butter fat.

One word about producing milk for a cheese factory. We want good, clean, sweet milk. Any farmer using the ordinary precautions for clean handling of milk can meet these requirements. See that your milking pails are clean; see that the cow's udder is not caked with mud and manure, but is cleaned off, so it will not drop into the bucket. See that the milk can into which you put your milk is sweet and clean. If your cow puts her foot into the milk bucket, keep that milk for your own use; do not expect the factory to take what is not good enough for your own use. Any farmer should at least do these things in order to have good milk for home consumption. If your night's milk is good and cold in the morning, and you are not going to cool morning's milk, which is not necessary, do not mix the warm and cold milk together. Take it to the plant in separate cans. Any farmer can conform to these simple rules of producing clean milk, and your cheese-maker will produce a higher class product thereby.

Quite a number of farmers early in the spring spoke to me about wanting to learn to caponize chickens. Now is an ideal time of the year to do this, and I will be glad to have anyone write me or phone me if you are interested in seeing this work done or having a few birds caponized. I would like to arrange a series of caponizing demonstrations in different parts of the county, where the neighbors can get together and learn how to do the work.

Where will these demonstrations be held?

We want the birds to be caponized to be about 1 1/2 pounds in weight; not to have any feed for from 24 to 36 hours, and no water for 10 hours before caponizing. This will insure a much more satisfactory job.

WHY DO SO MANY PEOPLE HAVE WEAK ARCHES?

If shoe clerks are correct in saying that sixty per cent of the women they wait on have weak arches; if the army examiners were correct in rejecting, on account of flat foot, enough men to make a big city—then it does seem strange that so many people should have to suffer from failure of the foot to hold up under the weight of the body. They're not all fat people, either.

THE ANSWER

Broadly speaking, the reason is this: Every part of the body is always clad so as to permit reasonable muscular freedom, except the foot. Here the ligaments and muscles which should hold the arch bones in place, become atrophied through restricted circulation and lack of exercise in shoes that are rigid, tight, ill-fitting. Down goes the arch. There are other special causes but the bulk of the sufferers can blame the shoes they have worn.

YOU CAN AVOID IT

How much better to wear Cantilever Shoes, with their flexible arches, and room for every part of the foot. They allow the arch muscles to exercise and strengthen naturally as you walk. Circulation is free. They are restful shoes to wear all day. They are comfortable. All these features for your comfort and well-being have not prevented Cantilevers from being good-looking shoes. Their trim appearance is one of the pleasures in wearing them.

These shoes are very finely made. The prices are moderate.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH MANASSAS FANS?

Don't Stand Back and Let the Other Teams Walk Off With All the Ribbons.

Base ball does not appeal to everybody. Neither does everybody like spinach. As a rule, though, most people who were not old when Lee surrendered do like base ball, and they love to root for their home team. Some of them actually root through whiskers, which were grey when the Southern Railway ran its first train through Manassas. The point is Manassas has a real classy base ball team, one of the leading teams in northern Virginia. Just now it is a top-notch, and for the sake of the town should be continued as such. Certainly it cannot hold its own without the support of the community, and any community which gets its inspiration from tombstones rather than from good clean sports is an anomaly in these Volstead days. Get in behind the ball team. Give it your support. Show the rest of the towns that Manassas is no laggard when it comes to placing the town on the map.

 THOROUGHFARE GAP

William Beverley Tells of His Personal Recollections of the Great Battle.

When a small boy, I went with my mother, who was a near relation of the Lees, to visit at Arlington, the old Lee home. I knew the general when I was a student at the Virginia Military Institute. I was at Lexington when he died and saw him laid in his last resting place.

I can remember incidents connected with the second battle of Manassas, fought in August, 1862.

Just after McClellan's defeat on the peninsula, he was ordered to withdraw from the peninsula and go to the aid of General Pope, who was in command of the Federal forces before Washington. Lee, hearing McClellan was ordered to re-enforce Pope, gave orders to Stonewall Jackson to make a forced march and strike out Pope's army before McClellan could reach him.

Jackson, leaving Culpeper, made a rapid march to Marshall—then called Salem—from where via The Plains through Thoroughfare Gap, and was at Manassas, capturing General Pope's provision train before Pope knew that Jackson was within a hundred miles of him.

When General Pope, who had headquarters near Warrenton, Va., was informed by courier that Jackson was at Manassas, he at first discredited the information, but a second courier informed him that Jackson was at Manassas and had captured his (Pope's) provision train.

Pope gave orders at once to General Ricket, who commanded a Pennsylvania division, to occupy Thoroughfare Gap and cut off Lee, who was following Jackson from Culpeper on the same route, through Marshall and
 The Plains.

On the night before the second battle of Manassas, General Lee, with his army, had reached the western entrance of Thoroughfare Gap; his army going into camp along Broad Run Creek and near the present
 Broad Run station.

General Lee and his staff spent that night at my old home, "Avenel."

Being anxious about Jackson, General Lee walked the floor until midnight, when a courier arrived with a dispatch from Jackson, assuring the General that Jackson was in no immediate danger, and could hold out until Lee's army could reach him.

Early the next morning General Lee mounted his gray horse, "Traveler," and, with his staff, rode toward Thoroughfare Gap, and gave orders to General Longstreet to drive back the Federal forces and take the Gap.

General Longstreet sent a regiment over the mountain north of the Gap, one south of it, and a body of troops along the road leading through it.

Ricket's Division had a battery on a ridge a quarter of a mile from the east side of the Gap, and shelled both sides of the Gap continuously in front of his advance. After hard fighting General Ricket was forced to retreat and was driven back in the direction of Washington. General Lee then pushed rapidly forward, joining Jackson and inflicting a disastrous defeat on Pope's army.

Some years after the war an old soldier came from California to visit the old battleground. He said the hardest fighting he was in during the war was in the battle at Thoroughfare Gap, that his company in Ricket's Division lost more men there than in any other engagement; that with one volley from Longstreet's men thirty of his men fell killed and wounded. His own brother was killed at his side.

"The Confederates," he said, "used a paper cartridge containing a round ball and three buck shot. When Longstreet's men rose and fired they were so near us that the round ball went through my brother's forehead, one buck shot grazed one cheek, one
 the other, and one pierced his chin.
 At first I thought I would stay with my brother, but seeing that he had been instantly killed, and knowing that I would be captured, I retreated with the rest of the company. The next morning we sent in a flag of truce and buried our dead.

The breastworks thrown up in that fight by Longstreet's men are still standing.

Some twelve or fourteen years after the war, in walking over the crest of the mountain near the Gap, I saw something that looked like the handle of a cup sticking out of the ground.
 I pulled it up and found it was a silver cup. After cleaning it, I found on it the following inscription: "Lieutenant R. A. B. Freeman, Company A, Second Regiment, Georgia Volunteers."

I found out that the surgeon of that regiment was a Doctor Gregory, of Alexandria, Va. I wrote to him and he replied that he knew Lieutenant Freeman well; that he had come out of the war alive and his home was at West Point, Ga.

BUDGET SYSTEM CREATED BY DEMOCRATS

With General "Hell and Maria" Dawes and Senator McCormick (Newberry Republican, Ill.), claiming the Budget act as a great Republican achievement under which they are saving more money than Monte Cristo ever dreamed of, while the Government is borrowing money to meet its obligations, the following facts concerning the creation of the budget system, supplied by Senator Pat Harrison in a recent speech, constitute the real history of the origin of the budget:

"I hope the budget system will come to something, but let me remind the Senator that while his name was attached to the bill which created the budget he will recall that President Wilson, in no less than three measures to Congress, asked the Congress to establish the budget system, and the Congress passed a bill creating the budget. It went to him and he vetoed it because he said that the Congress had exceeded its authority in one little particular. Then it was that the Senator from Illinois said to himself that the President was right, and he wrote his bill so as to incorporate the recommendation of President Wilson, and they followed the instructions of President Wilson in framing the law accordingly. Since then the Attorney General of this administration has said that President Wilson was right in his contention. Yet they claim the budget as a great achievement of this administration."

AUTHORITY

President Harding frankly told the miners and operators that he had no specific legal authority to bid them to a conference. Nevertheless he summoned them. They readily obeyed his call. They also at once set about consulting together to see if they could not come to an agreement to end the coal strike. And they went to that task with other words of the President still in their ears, for he warned them that a failure on their part to settle their dispute would not mean that the country would be left helpless. There was a higher power, he intimated—the power of public opinion, the demands of humanity—which would see to it that industry should not be strangled nor masses of the people brought into discomfort and peril through a tyrannous use of the giant's strength which the workers and owners appeared to be able to exert. Explicitly defined by law or not, there existed an authority to which they must bow. It is the authority of the common weal.

In like manner the railroad board informed the unions that it had no authority under the statute to forbid them to strike or to compel them to accept lower wages. They have the legal right to quit work. But in their case, too, there is a mighty power which will surely set bounds to their actions. It stands behind the phrases which we used to describe it—the general welfare, the public good, the essential needs of the nation. Roughly, it is the right of self-preservation. The whole people will never consent to be thrust into misery by a part of the people.

There is therefore an authority, sufficient and dread, to enforce obedience. If driven to the exercise of its power, it will find agents and weapons. It will work through popular sentiment. It will utilize the press. It will prompt and energize public servants. Let men and organizations tempted to seize the occasion to paralyze our industrial life and to inflict hardships and suffering upon millions not delude themselves.—New York Times.

MARRIAGE—NEW STYLE

Some nice points in marriage law are raised by the reports of two distinct cases reported in yesterday's newspapers. A county judge in Nebraska, confronted with the problem of tying the knot between a couple, of whom one stood beside him and the other was in Alsace, performed the ceremony by cable and then issued a certificate, only to find that his ingenious way out of a difficulty would not stand the test of the Federal law and that the happy pair must be stood up together and wedded all over again.

The other case occurred in England. There the affair was as completely feminine as circumstances would permit. The officiating minister was a woman, a woman played the organ and a woman's choir sang. The bridegroom, however, was an indispensable adjunct, and so he, poor man, doubtless feeling very much out of it, was allowed to be present on sufferance. The best man was conspicuous by his absence. A brand-new ritual was used, from which the word "obey" was, of course, omitted, and instead of the usual formula the two plighting their troth vowed to "love, comfort, honor and keep" each other, and in token of the pact interchanged rings. It may be matter of small moment except to those immediately concerned whether a marriage so effected is good in English law or not. Its significance lies in the revolt of which it is both the symbol and the pioneer. The Rev. Constance Colman, who conducted the ceremony, explained that she regards the standard marriage service as an insult to woman and an offense to the purity and holiness of marriage, and that accordingly she deleted every phrase that implies either that woman is man's inferior or that marriage is in any way an unclean thing.

The agitation for a reform in the Anglican wedding service has been going on for a long time without decisive results. Mrs. (or is it Miss?) Colman has boldly taken the bull by the horns. She has precipitated action, and the developments of her challenge to orthodoxy will be awaited with interest.—Washington Post.

ADVANCE OF WOMEN

The capturing by women of professions and prerogatives formerly held unassailably, as it seemed, by men goes on apace. The latest advance made by the feminine movement is that reported from the central conference of American rabbis in convention at Cape May, N. J. This body, amid prolonged applause, passed a resolution advocating the ordination of women as rabbis, and in so doing declared the question to be a modern issue due to "revolutionary change in woman's status in this time." On former occasions the central conference has gone on record as favoring the fullest measure of self-expression for woman, as well as full utilization of her gifts "in the service of the Highest." Its vote of Friday, if acted upon, as it probably will be, opens up an entirely new field of activity for Jewish women, of which they are certain to avail themselves.

Thus one by one the citadels of exclusiveness are falling. There are women members in the British house of commons. So far they have not been admitted to the House of Lords, but they are knocking loudly at the door, and, scarcely without a doubt, they will eventually find seats in the House of Representatives, and it is only a question of time, perhaps only a short time, when one or more will be found in the Senate chamber. In truth, there is no position, however exalted, and no profession, however shrouded in long traditions as being the peculiar appenage of men, to which women may not now aspire. The proof that they will so aspire is evident on every side.—Washington Post.

THOUGHTS

A little sheet of paper,
 A pen, a bit of ink,
 A string of words upon the sheet
 To make a reader think;
 And what the reader thinketh,
 One may not know or care,
 But like a flash the thought has gone
 And left its impress there,
 Its impress everywhere.

A little idle folly,
 A flip, or a jest—
 A little foolish error
 That never goes to rest;
 And where the error leadeth,
 It strikes with might and main . . .
 And though full hotly he pursue,
 No measure will he gain,
 Nor see his words again.

A little touch of Nature,
 A little breath of love,
 A little gentle cooling
 As of the turtle dove! . . .
 God bless the hand that wrote it! . . .
 God speed its way for aye!
 Boundless the lands that welcome it,
 And may it ever fly,
 And may it never die!

A NEW METHOD

Merchant—"They say you are very successful with old bills and seldom have to dun them twice. What's the secret?"

Bad-Bill Collector—"I am afflicted with insomnia and do my collecting nights."—Life.

RANK BY CHRISTENING

Two negroes were carrying a heavy piece of timber. Both wanted to "boss the job."

"Lay it down here," ordered one.
 "What you-all a-talkin' to, man?" the other demanded.
 "Does you-all think you kin boss me around like dat?"

"Sure I kin," said the first darky. "Mah name is Lew Tennant."
 "Huh! dat's nothin'," responded the second son of the sunny South. "Mah name is Sam Brown."

THEY'D BEEN BEFORE HIM

"Have some sags dis mornin', Judge?" asked the ebony waiter.

"Not this morning, Sam," replied the man of the bench, adjusting his spectacles preparatory to distinguishing the name of some dish on the menu from the fly-speck.

"Ever try any of our fresh boiled sags, Judge?"

"Yes, indeed, Sam; and found 'em guffy."

CURTAINED

"It is possible to have too much of a good thing," remarked the Parlor Philosopher.

"Yes," agreed the Miss Maa, "the dog with the shortest trail runs the least danger of having tin cans tied to it."

THE RIGHT PRESCRIPTION

Patron—"Can you tell me what ails my wife?"

Doctor—"She does not take enough outdoor exercise."

"She does not feel like it."

"True; she needs toning up."

"What do you prescribe?"

"A new hat."

—Mr. Wright was seventy-six years old, having been privileged to see the fulfillment of the promise of three score years and ten to those who valued life and its purpose. He was a good father, very tender and affectionate to his family, and keenly felt the responsibility upon him as the head of the home. As a member of church and state, he took his place and made a distinct contribution to society. But in all his endeavors, he was modest, unassuming and a man of few pretensions. Upon marriage he settled down as a farmer, and in recent years served several terms as a justice of the peace of Brentsville magisterial district. While awaiting the arrival of relatives for the funeral, the great number of faithful neighbors and friends were untiring in effort to render every possible service to the sorrow-stricken family. This was a splendid recognition of the respect and good feeling held by the entire community. Funeral services were conducted by Dr. W. F. Gruver, Supt. Virginia Conference, Harrisonburg, assisted by Rev. S. D. Skelton, pastor, Monday at 2 o'clock from Aden United Brethren Church, of which he was a member. HINES EYE SERVICE Do you ever take a physical inventory of yourself? It is an excellent way of bringing weak points to your attention; and when you recognize them, you can take means to make them strong. The weak spot physically in most men and women is their eyes. From illness, overwork, carelessness or neglect, their eyes are not in the condition they should be. How about your eyes? If they feel strained or pain you, have them examined at once. You may not need glasses, but if you do, it's wise to wear them in time. Dr. O. W. Hines, Graduate Optometrist, next visits Manassas, Va., July 11, 1922. Office—New Prince William Hotel. ### PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

In Railroad Labor Trouble Begin to Appear—Jewell Ready.

Prospects for peace in the railroad strike begin to appear on the horizon. The latest from headquarters of the striking railroad workers, issued by President Jewell, states that his body is ready and willing to consider negotiations with anyone with proper authority looking toward an adjustment of the trouble. Mr. Jewell says: "We are willing to confer with anybody authorized by the railroads to bring peace proposals to us. I include or exclude nobody, but if the Labor Board, for instance, came to us with a definite proposition we would not hesitate to consider it."

The head of the Railroad Labor Board is exerting every effort to bring about an understanding between the men and the roads, and it is thought that a meeting between the union representatives and the representatives of the railroads will be arranged through Chairman Hooper's efforts.

REVENUE COLLECTIONS

Internal revenue collections for the State of Virginia for the fiscal year, which ended Friday last, amounted to $44,356,298.79. These figures were compiled in the office of John C. Noel, collector of internal revenue, at Richmond on Saturday after every collector in the state had been heard from by telegraph.

The total for the eleven months preceding June already were in hand. The totals for June from each collector were quickly added and the year's total obtained. The amount covers collections from all sources by the internal revenue service.

TRINKLE FOR MANASSAS PLAN

Calls on Virginians to Assist in Building Battlefield Park.

Gov. E. Lee Trinkle, of Virginia, in a proclamation brought to the attention of the people of the Commonwealth the plan for the creation of the Manassas battlefield Confederate park and called upon "the sons and daughters of Virginia" to join enthusiastically in plans of organization and in adequate financial co-operation "that speedily the plans for the battlefield Confederate park may be successfully consummated."

COMMUNITY EXHIBITIONS

Preparations in Progress for '22 Exhibit—Some Special Features Are Offered.

(H. W. Sanders, Secretary)

Owing to an unavoidable delay on the part of The Journal, catalogues for the fourth annual exhibition of the Prince William Fair Association have not yet come from the press. It is expected, however, that they will be ready in the near future and distribution will be made as promptly as possible. If your name is not on the mailing list of the association, you are requested to apply at once for a copy of the catalogue to avoid further delay.

With the exception of this unfortunate occurrence, the plans for the 1922 fair are further advanced at the present time than they have been for any annual exhibition since the organization of the association. A contract for the lease of the grounds has been made and the uncertainty of making satisfactory terms with the owner is thus eliminated. Buildings constructed last year are now in good condition and may be relied upon to satisfactorily house the larger part of the exhibits. Provision has been made for additional space to be used if necessary. At the suggestion of officials of the Southern Railway, application has been made for reduced railroad rates and special train service to the fair grounds. It is also expected that the Post Band of Quantico will be back this year. In accordance with the demand for a smaller and better show for the entertainment and amusement of the fair patrons, arrangements are being completed for booking such a company. Definite announcement will be made of this next week. Orders for advertising material placed last February will be filled by the latter part of the month in time for posting several weeks before the dates of the fair.

As announced in the early part of the year, the dates selected for 1922 are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 27, 28 and 29. Probably no more ideal dates could be selected than these, unless they were during the following week, which is the week of the State Fair. The change from four days to three days will be a welcome one for many exhibitors, especially those having live stock.

A feature of the 1922 fair, which will be found in the new prize list, will be the community exhibits. A silver loving cup, valued at $50, will be offered by the directors of the fair association for the community making the best exhibit. The second prize will be a two-burner oil stove, and the third prize, $10. Entries in this class will be open to all communities in the county which hold fairs this year. The following score will be used as the basis for making awards: Display, 20%; farm crops—variety, 15%, quality, 25%; garden and orchard—variety, 8%, quality, 12%; home economics—variety, 8%, quality, 12%. Owing to the limited amount of space, fifteen feet will be allowed for each exhibit. Articles entered in this class will not be eligible for other classes.

Owing to the favorable dates selected, it will be possible for the communities to hold their fairs early in the fall and select an exhibit for the county fair. All articles and animals entered for the State Fair may then be shipped directly from Manassas to Richmond, thereby saving much extra transportation.

In addition to the single farm exhibit, provision is also made for single garden and floral exhibits. Special attention has been called to these features in an article by Mr. Klise, superintendent of this department, which will be found in this issue of The Journal. If you have not read his announcement, please do so, as plans should be made at once for exhibitions in these classes. Classes in other departments will remain very much the same as they were last year and prospective exhibitors are requested to refer to the old catalogues for general information until the new catalogues can be distributed.

The skyscraper, the efficient factory, the modern house and farm would be impossible as we find them today—without concrete.

The concrete structure safeguards money invested, safeguards life, and endures the property as much it contains. Through the last quarter century, need for all types of buildings. Atlas Portland Cement has come to be generally known as "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

A NEW ANTHEM

Augusta Stetson and other critics have recently been clamoring for a new national anthem. Ohio, as usual, arises to the occasion. While we have been erecting a statue to Keys, Lebanon (Ohio) has erected a monument to the men of Warren county who developed the Poland-China hog. At the dedication of the monument the new national anthem was sung to the appropriate air of "America." Two stanzas follow, as given in our esteemed contemporary, the New York World:

This spot will be the shrine
For Poland-China swine,
Which we esteem;
Tribute to those whose skill Labored with earnest will
This vision to fulfill,
The hog supreme.

Ohio, 'tis of thee,
Great land of Miami,
Of thee we sing.
Land where the corn grows tall,
Land where the hogs enthral,
The state that beats them all,
In everything.

Here at least is something that will thrill the new America and the new American. The hog-spangled banner, oh, long may it float, in the land of the rich and the home of the shoot!
—Baltimore Sun.

STATE COMMISSIONER

Advices Farmers Be Careful in Purchase of Crimson Clover.

Information in the hands of the Commissioner of Agriculture of Virginia is to the effect that Europe, which furnishes a large proportion of the crimson clover seed used in this country, has a short crop of seed this year. American grown seed is also scarce. Those who are in a position to know predict that there will be much crimson clover seed on the market this summer which is poor, below the average quality and of weak vitality. Old seed carried over from previous seasons, brown in color, low in germination, will probably be offered, not only in separate lots, but blended and mixed with new crop seed of better appearance and stronger vitality.

The mixing of low-grade seed with high-grade seed is a recognized practice among the trade, though the commissioner thinks it deserves condemnation, as it is simply a medium by which low-grade, carried-over stocks can be disposed of to advantage. The presence of any considerable quantity of brown, dull-appearing seed in crimson clover is pretty good evidence of blending, and in purchasing such seed the farmer or dealer should view with a critical eye and insist upon knowing its germination and the date it was tested.

The commissioner advises farmers to buy only recently tested seed with analysis tags attached and check the analysis statement by having each lot tested—especially for germination. Representative samples sent to the commissioner of agriculture, Richmond, Va., will be tested without charge, and, as the germination test only requires from three to five days for crimson clover, prompt reports showing its approximate vitality or germination can be secured.

BRENTSVILLE

On account of the rain we did not get to have any game here Tuesday. There is a game scheduled for Centerville vs. Brentsville here Saturday. Mrs. J. E. Rawlings and daughter, Miss Betty Ramaloe, of Alexandria, visited Mrs. Paul Cooksey this week. Messrs. Ecker Cooksey, of Indian Head, Md., and Mr. Walter Sloper, of Washington, visited Miss T. H. Cooksey this week. Miss Mae Molair, of Alexandria, visited her parents here over Sunday. The social given on the school house lawn by the ladies of the Brentsville Kensington last Saturday night was well attended. Mr. Harvey Woodyard, of Independent Hill, visited his brother here Tuesday. Miss Hazel Young is visiting relatives in Washington. Among the Sunday visitors at "Ferndale," the home of Messrs. H. P. and R. E. Young, last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Newton and son, Frank, Mrs. Emma French and son, Stanley, Mrs. Bertha Young and sons, Thomas and Calvin, and Mr. Schmitt, all of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Young and Mrs. Paul Cooksey and sons.

Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract contains all the valued drug principles of purest Cod Liver Oil without the nauseating taste of the oil itself, and has proven ideal in treating run-down, weakened conditions, especially in children. Most persons in whom are found tubercular tendencies are to a greater or less extent anemic—the blood pale and impoverished. Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract, in addition to the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, contains peptonate of iron to help supply this deficiency.

In the treatment of children who are pale and listless and who catch cold easily, you may confidently expect an increase in the appetite and weight and the general appearance of good health very quickly after beginning the use of

To Maintain a Standard—

is not always an easy task. In these times when the public is clamoring for something cheaper, it's a great temptation for merchants to cheapen their products. We have always refused to do this for the quality here must be kept up. We buy only the best and sell only the best—and at prices that are consistent with standard quality. Selling only meats we have no "baits" to throw out. Our only inducement for you to buy is: Quality plus Service and Sanitation. Our steadily increasing patronage warrants us in our belief to fight along this line and not be tempted to resort to the line of the least resistance. Your children will receive every kind attention here. May we serve you?

ROWZIE ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON

Charged With Violating Narcotic Drug Act—Known as "The Mystery Man."

The Washington Times is authority for the statement that John Weldon Rowzie, formerly of Manassas, was arrested in Washington on Monday, charged with a violation of the narcotic and drug act.

According to the Times, Rowzie, who is known to the police as "the mystery man," is believed to be a member of a drug ring operating between Washington and Philadelphia.

A warrant was first sworn out against him, charging him with passing a worthless check. When pursued, Rowzie fled to the bath room and locked the door. Policeman McDuffie, who made the arrest, says he looked through the key hole, and saw Rowzie using a hyperdermic. When the policeman burst through the door, at a near beer establishment, where Rowzie was locked in the wash-room, he says Rowzie was attempting to destroy the drug paraphernalia. Search of Rowzie's pockets at the station house disclosed six bottles of suspected cocaine, three needles and some kind of solution.

His arms showed several perforations when arrested.

It is said that letters addressed to "Dr. John Rowzie, Clifton, Va.," as well as equipment used for wire tapping were also found on his person.

Rowzie refuses to explain the presence of any of these articles, merely stating that he is engaged in important work, and that the mystery will be cleared up in two weeks.

Rowzie is held under $2,000 bail to answer the charge of violating the Federal Narcotic Law, which carries with it a penitentiary sentence.

Rowzie will be remembered as a former railway mail clerk, who lived with his family at Manassas for a number of years.

Through his bad habits he lost his home here, and afterwards his position as mail clerk.

About two years ago, he was arrested in Manassas, and a large quantity of contraband liquor was found in his home.

Shortly thereafter, he abandoned his family, consisting of a wife, and three small children.

This family became an object of charity, and but for the benevolence of some of the men and women in Manassas (assisted in part by some of the family relatives), its distress would have been acute.

Public feeling was very strong against Rowzie, and last year, he was indicted on the charge of non-support, and arrested and brought here on extradition. He plead guilty, and was released on bond, conditioned on his supporting his family. He made several very small contributions for a little while, and then ceased entirely, and his family moved to the southwest part of the state.

It was said that after he lost his position as mail clerk, he failed to surrender his pass, and that for quite a while, he plied his business of trafficking in liquor and drugs between Washington and Bristol, riding on this pass. He even got so bold that he would take possession of any berth in the sleepers which he found vacant.

He now claims to be a detective. It is believed by the Washington police that his arrest will lead to important revelations in the matter of drug crimes.

CHECKENS WORTH WHILE

The following very interesting story comes from over in Rockingham County and illustrates what chickens can do:

Just outside of Harrisonburg a returned soldier and his wife started a chicken farm. He had been gassed and wounded in France. In February, as one of the gas reactions was approaching, he took what money he had and went to the Walter Reed Hospital, in Washington. His attack was more severe than he anticipated. His worry over his wife's loneliness and helpless estate retarded his recovery. The hospital authorities wrote the local Red Cross nurse to investigate. She found the wife and children just about down and out, but still too proud to ask aid. Her few chickens had carried the burden of supporting the family all through the winter and spring, but with the moulting season at hand the laying stopped and the hens that laid the silver eggs had to be sacrificed for necessities.

A much more prosperous chicken farm than he left will cheer the Virginia soldier when he shall have come back. Nor does the devoted wife know how or why; God alone knows. That for the Valley spirit.

INCREASE SIZE OF NATIONAL FOREST

New Acquisitions Bring Total Area of National Forest to 352,000 Acres.

At a recent meeting of the National Forest Reservation Commission held in Washington several tracts of land aggregating 10,000 acres were incorporated in the Shenandoah National Forest according to an announcement recently by Forest Supervisor Marsh. The greater part of the land which was accepted lies in Augusta county in the Buffalo Gap section. The remainder lies in Page and Shenandoah counties. The size of the tracts approved ranges from 100 to 4,000 acres. The acquisition of these lands will bring the area of the National Forest to 352,000 acres.

Owing to the fact that the appropriation for the purchase of lands for the present fiscal year is practically exhausted, and that the appropriation for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1922, is less than a half million dollars, the policy will probably be to acquire only small tracts which block in well with lands previously acquired, or larger tracts which are offered at particularly attractive prices.

A very few of the larger tracts ranging in size from 10,000 to 60,000 acres can be considered under the present appropriation, although sufficient land has been offered, if funds for their purchase were available, to increase the area of the Shenandoah Forest to approximately a half million acres.

Local forest officers are well satisfied with the progress which has been made in fire protective work during the past fire season, during which only 378 acres were lost within the boundaries of the National Forest. Such headway as has been made along this line is due in a large measure to the fact that the local residents and the more progressive timber land owners are now awake to the fact that forest fires and timber production have come to the parting of the ways. Land which is burned over periodically produces timber which is defective and of an inferior grade and which consequently has a much lower sale value.

Plans are now under way looking to more complete protection of the forests of the Valley counties and of the state of Virginia. The federal and state forces are planning an active campaign for the coming fire season, and it is hoped that destructive fires such as occurred at various points throughout this region during the past spring may be largely eliminated in the future.
