AUTOMATIC TRAIN CONTROL

Interstate Commerce Commission Orders Safety Device.

We are pleased to note that many of our subscribers and citizens of the county who had foresight sufficient to invest in the Miller Train Control Corporation stock are about to reap a harvest by reason of that foresight, owing to a recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which directs forty-nine of the leading railway companies of this country to install train control as further protection against loss of life and property incident to the operation of railroads.

At the last hearing of the question before the Interstate Commerce Commission it was shown by and through the Bureau of Safety of the Commission that the Miller device stood alone in this field, in that a full passenger division between Danville and Dalton yards, Illinois, was equipped with this device and had been in daily service under all weather conditions on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad for more than eight years past, the only device with such a record and which said railroad reported to the Commission that the device was satisfactorily performing its functions.

The order of the Commission further provides that the forty-nine railroads should have control installed and in operation by January 1, 1925, which will mean the expenditure of millions of dollars, and those interested in this device stand a most excellent show to receive a goodly portion of these large expenditures for betterments and improvements upon the railroads of the country.

WEDDING PARTY

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rhoades, of Nokesville, was the scene of a pretty wedding party Monday night, July 17, in honor of their oldest daughter, Miss Ina, who was married in Washington July 11 to Mr. V. W. Fitzwater, of Nokesville. The home was very prettily decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers. The color scheme of red and green made the dining-room very effective, where the young people were ushered out about midnight to eat and drink to the health, prosperity and happiness of the bride and groom. The refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cakes, lemonade, fruits and candies, were served by the hostess, Mrs. Rhoades, assisted by Mrs. C. J. Timmons and Mrs. J. W. Wallis, of Manassas. Mrs. John Farney, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Throughout the evening games, music and dancing were indulged in until about 3 o'clock, when the happy young folks, consisting of about 35, dispersed, reporting one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season.

PAVED STREETS

It is a rather sad commentary on the business acumen and foresight of certain property owners in the business portion of the town of Manassas to say that they have refused to enter into an agreement to bear a part of the costs of treating the center of the streets with bituminous macadam. Such a treatment would rid the center of the town of mud and dust, and thereby not only effect a saving in health and comfort and prevent an annual loss of many dollars to the stock of merchants and property of others having business houses on the main thoroughfares, but would, at the same time, add immensely to the value of the properties abutting the streets.

Manassas cannot get ahead if her citizens and property owners take a narrow and selfish view of projects of this kind. The wisest investments are not always those that bring the quickest returns.

While we are on this subject we would like to inquire why is it that the citizens of Manassas, excepting the few, take so little interest in those things that are proposed for the public welfare? It is indeed rare that someone does not bob up to stop any progressive measures or projects that are proposed. If we are to share in the comforts, we should all expect to bear a part of the burdens.

Manassas is a good town, and its people generally are prosperous in a small way. But the town cannot and will not attain unto its full measure until all of her citizens unite in an effort to make her put on added growth and prosperity. When the people of Manassas reach that state of mind which will enable them to forget individual prosperity and labor for the good of all, then indeed will the old town have hit upon happy days.

THE COMMON WELFARE FIRST

Denunciation by union leaders—and by Eugene Debs—of President Harding's move to safeguard the interests of the nation will make no impression save an unfavorable one, upon the minds of the American people. In the call upon the executives of the mining States for steps which will guarantee safety to every man who is willing to mine coal, in the pledge of Federal aid whenever and wherever necessary, there is no threat against the right of the striking miners to remain in idleness; no threat against any right which they may claim as American citizens.

Says the President in his message to the Governors: "There has been no challenge of the right of workers to decline employment, or the right of the employers to hire as they elect. Our present duty is to guarantee security in the exercise of these rights, security in all lawful operations, and afford a safe opportunity for that production and distribution demanded by the necessities of the American people."

Protection of these rights by whatever means may be necessary is the manifest duty of the States and the Federal Government. In a thoroughly practical sense, intimidation and open violence are inseparable. There has been some of the latter, and the union leaders know as well as anybody else that there has been, and still is, a great deal of the former. Both are indefensible under any conditions, and at a time when the prevalence of either or both constitutes a direct menace to the national safety, they are simply not to be endured. Spokesmen for the striking miners, in the very midst of their attacks upon the President's course, unite in declaring that it will have no effect upon the solidarity of their followers. If that be true, the only possible justification for their opposition is swept aside.

Moreover, above any consideration of advantage for either side in this controversy, stands the matter of national safety—"the common welfare," of which the President speaks. Mr. Lewis and his associates cannot be unaware of the country's rapid drift toward industrial disaster. They are well aware of the President's efforts to induce the contending sides to effect a settlement between themselves, and, failing in that, to come together under an impartial plan of arbitration. They may not ignore the fact that it is chiefly their own rejection of this plan that has necessitated the Government's present course. If the adequate protection of the coal mines appears to involve inconvenience for them, that, certainly, is a trivial misfortune in comparison with the impending misfortune of a national industrial wreck. The President could have done no less than he has done without utterly ignoring his solemn obligations to the people whom he represents.—Times-Dispatch.

President Harding's invitation to the mine operators to resume operations apparently means that they are asked to resume work under Government protection.

The terrible evil of the carrying of concealed weapons has been brought closely home to the people of this county in the death of a valuable citizen and officer at the hands of an irresponsible pistol-toting negro.

Tragedies of the kind are being enacted every day all over the land and arouse local interest and indignation for awhile and are then forgotten, only to be brought to mind again when another life pays the forfeit.

And not alone are human lives sacrificed. The dignity of the law is apt to be outraged by the justly aroused wrath of the populace when the culprit is apprehended.

The peaceable and law-abiding citizen is at the mercy of the vicious criminal class, and frequently his obeying of the law against the carrying of concealed weapons leads to his being placed in positions of imminent danger, with no means of defending himself.

Would it not be well for the Legislature of Virginia to provide a much more severe penalty for the violation of the law referred to?

The coal mine and railway strikes appear to be developing into a struggle between the Government and the strikers.

Attorney General John R. Saunders has announced that when his office takes over the enforcement of the State prohibition law on September 1 he would appoint some "conservative" lawyer to assist him in this department of his work. It is reported that State Senator Walter G. Mapp, author of the present rigid enforcement law, has been selected for the position.

THE DEMANDS OF DECENCY

It was not with any "holier than thou" attitude that the Washington Herald directed attention to the hoodlums, mashers, "tin-horn" gamblers and vicious hackers who infest certain well-defined areas in the downtown section. We do not hope that overnight the city can be freed from all manner of vice, or even a generous part of it. But we do believe it can be driven from the main streets where to date it has thrived at the expense of the city's reputation and the prosperity of its business men.

Plans are being perfected, it is understood, to accomplish some such result. Police officials, it is said, believe they see their way clear to conduct a successful drive against the condition complained of despite the seeming inadequacy of the laws. It is hinted there are laws on the statute books which have not yet been invoked; that the prosecutor's office has found a means to convict the undesirables which will entail jail or work-house sentences. Every good citizen will pray this is the truth.

Hoodlumism and all its ramifications reaching out into the world of petty criminals has cost the District of Columbia a pretty penny—in self-respect as well as dollars and cents. Decent citizens are tired of it; they are willing and anxious for a showdown as to whether the Capital of the Nation shall flaunt its shortcomings in the face of the world or whether the daily and nightly disgrace to the city's streets shall be crushed out.

We do not believe a criminal element or even the despicable petty class of potential criminal will be allowed to flourish here. While Maj. Sullivan may not be a Hercules we believe he will give a very fair imitation of the cleaning of the Aegean stables.

And when he finishes the demands of decency will be met.—Washington Herald.

SOMETIMES

He courted Alice, vowed to wed;
Then met another maiden;
Found then for Alice he was dead,
And for Clarice, love-laden;
But, being fickle, he, ere long
Encountered still another,
And plied a suit exceeding strong—
Asked to be more than brother.

To make them mad—Alice, Clarice—
He wrote a tender token,
By mixing which he might find peace
With his engagements broken;
But like an ignoramus he
Sent each her proper letter,
Arousing thus no jealousy,
But making fast his fetter.

He couldn't wed them all, of course
(That is, not grouped), so took them
By ones, and then secured divorce,
And in this manner shook them
Until the third became his wife;
So, solved like necromancy,
Where problems due in later life
When others took his fancy.
—A. Walter Utting, in Judge.

SHOES THAT ADD TO YOUR VITALITY

Shoes that bind and distort the feet are a source of constant irritation. They drain your nervous energy, distract your attention and lessen your ability to concentrate and to work. Such shoes are a drawback to health and success. If you would enjoy the best that life has to offer of buoyant strength and achievement, change to the comfortable Cantilever Shoe.

It is well built on a last that conforms to the contours of the foot. With the natural inner sole line, the toes point straight ahead and are comfortable; a share of the weight of the body falls easily on the ball of the foot.

The well-set heel encourages good posture, which in turn encourages health.

The shank of a Cantilever Shoe is drawn up, by lacing the shoe to fit the instep and provide restful support. And it FLEXES WITH THE FOOT. It does not bind the muscles and impede circulation as a rigid sole does. It strengthens the muscles by allowing them freedom to exercise, thus preventing or correcting weak arches.

The community was very much shocked last week upon hearing of the death of Mrs. J. C. Poore, of Utica, N. Y. Mrs. Poore was formerly Miss Margaret Carter, born in this State about forty-seven years ago. Her early life was spent in Washington, D. C., later making her home in Chicago, from which place she moved to New York a few years ago, where she and her husband made their home until April 1, 1922, moving to Utica, N. Y. During the journey Mrs. Poore was overcome by an attack of pleurisy, which resulted in death July 10, 1922.

She is survived by her husband, one brother, Mr. Phillip T. Carter, of Washington, D. C., one sister, Mrs. J. S. Storke, of Manassas; also one uncle, Mr. Thomas J. Petty, of Washington, and one aunt, Mrs. Sallie Davis Roy, of Front Royal.

During her several visits to this neighborhood she made many friends, who deeply regretted to hear of her untimely death. The sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Miss Mary T. Carter, of Middlesex County, who is attending the Frederickburg Normal, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gordon. Mrs. Teresa Storke spent several days last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Storke.

News was received here Tuesday of the marriage of Miss Corah Lillian Mountjoy to Mr. William D. Wine, both of Washington. Mrs. Wine is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mountjoy, of Bellfair Mills.

Mrs. R. M. Gordon, of Falmouth, Va., accompanied by her sister, Miss Viola Cole, of Washington, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cole, Saturday.

Mrs. Briggs, of Mountainview, Va., and Miss Gordon, of Fredericksburg, were guests of their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gordon. Miss Maud Norman spent Saturday in Manassas, having dental work done.

Many from here have attended the series of meetings at the Hill during the past few weeks.

Mr. H. H. Holmes, of Manassas, was a Sunday guest of Miss L. M. Norman.

Mr. H. L. Tubbs has purchased a car.

To Maintain a Standard—

is not always an easy task. In these times when the public is clamoring for something cheaper, it's a great temptation for merchants to cheapen their products. We have always refused to do this for the quality here must be kept up. We buy only the best and sell only the best—and at prices that are consistent with a standard quality. Selling only meats we have no "baits" to throw out. Our only inducement for you to buy is: Quality plus Service and Sanitation. Our steadily increasing patronage warrants us in our belief to fight along this line and not be tempted to resort to the line of the least resistance. Your children will receive every kind attention here. May we serve you?

BRENTSVILLE

Quite a large number attended the School Improvement League meeting at the school-house last Saturday night. Besides other important business being transacted, the following were elected officers of the Brentsville Community Fair:

Mr. Paul Cooksey, president; Mr. O. W. Hedrick, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Cooksey, secretary; Miss Tracie Spitzer, assistant secretary; Mr. Ed Varner, treasurer, and Messrs. Emmons, Mowry, May, Lam and Mrs. Mowry, chairmen of the various committees.

We have invited Cannon Branch, Bristow, Aden and Gold Ridge to assist us in making our first effort a success. We hope everyone will give us their support.

The Buckhall baseball team was defeated on our diamond last Saturday. Several juniors played on our team, as the regular players could not be present. A good, quiet game was played, however, which is always appreciated.

The ladies of the Brentsville Kensington will not have a regular meeting in July. However, on August 3 Mrs. A. L. Emmons will entertain the ladies at their annual picnic supper, to which the husbands are always invited. The subject will be "Vacation Days."

Mrs. Clyde Wolf recently visited her sister, Mrs. Ruffner at Hoadly.

Mrs. John Seymour is on the sick list.

The Quantico base ball team is expected here Saturday afternoon to play ball.

Build Up Your Strength

Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract contains all the valued drug principles of purest Cod Liver Oil without the nauseating taste of the oil itself, and has proven ideal in treating run-down, weakened conditions, especially in children. Most persons in whom are found tubercular tendencies are to a greater or less extent anemic—the blood pale and impoverished. Rexall Wine of Cod Liver Extract, in addition to the medicinal virtues of Cod Liver Oil, contains peptonate of iron to help supply this deficiency.

In the treatment of children who are pale and listless and who catch cold easily, you may confidently expect an increase in the appetite and weight and the general appearance of good health very quickly after beginning the use of

THE DIXIE

TUESDAY, JULY 25
ZANE GREY'S POPULAR STORY
"MAN OF THE FOREST"
Full of action and thrills, there runs through it all a sweet and tender love story that leads enchantment. Probably one of the most interesting features of this film, outside of the many examples of superb horsemanship and the beautiful scenic shots, is the acting of a huge grizzly bear, a tawny mountain lion, and a faithful dog, the pets and companions of "The Man of the Forest." They prove themselves to be real friends, and take a big part in helping to settle the difficulties which arise. This is the real western you have been looking for. Special matinee, 3 p. m. Admission, 10c; night, 10c-22c.

THURSDAY, JULY 27
PAULINE FREDERICK
"MADAM X"

Turned from her home by the unjust suspicions of her husband she is denied the love of her son and seeks solace in the underworld of Paris. Years pass, but like Banquo's ghost, the love for her son will not down. And in the end she finds him, placed through a strange trick of fate as counsel for her defense for a crime committed to save her husband's career from ruin. Harold Lloyd Comedy. Admission, 10c-17c.

FRIDAY, JULY 28
DORIS MAY
"BOY CRAZY"

A twelve o'clock romance in a nine o'clock town. A trade war between a he-mediator and a she-haberdasher. Country frumps enticed into buying Paris gowns, old "billy goats" vamped into buying "freshmen's" clothes. Her best comedy—faster, funnier and peppier than any picture she has ever made; yet, if you don't feel like laughing, you had better stay at home. Guaranteed to relieve you of the blues. Also Asop's Fabian. Admission, 10c-22c.

SATURDAY, JULY 29
WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS
TOM MIX
"CHASING THE MOON"

"Chasing the Moon" is another Mix thriller, and contains an unusual amount of fun and frolic, the story giving Mix a fine opportunity to display his daring stunts and to indulge his fondness for outwitting his foes. Eva Novak is again his leading woman, and is said to give her usual performance—with skill plus beauty. Pathe News. Admission—Matinee, 5c-10c; night, 10c-22c.
