MR. WILSON'S ELECTION

The election of Mr. Woodrow Wilson for the office of President of the United States is rather the inevitable than a surprise. With a Republican party torn wide open and a public very much dissatisfied with the general order of things a change was almost a certainty.

REVISE TAX LAWS

There is one special thing in Virginia tax laws that badly needs revising and adjusting and that is the equalization of taxes, particularly personal property taxes. Under the present system we have practically no appraisal of personal property.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES BENEFICIAL

This announcement in another column, of the Farmers' Institute to be held here in connection with the Agricultural School reminds us of the great good to the community that these Institutes have already wrought.

Last year, following a terrible drouth, a little corn show was held in the court house and the corn that was shown there made some of the oldest residents open their eyes. This year has been much more favorable for corn production and, judging from some of the specimens that have been on display in some of the store windows, the show will pay anyone to travel a good ways to see.

WILSON AND MARSHALL WIN BY UNPRECEDENTED PLURALITY

Roosevelt gets Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Washington—94. To Taft is left only the three States of Idaho, Utah and Vermont—12.

Only the uncertainty of two close States whose electoral vote in no way can effect the election of Wilson and Marshall, speculation over the popular vote of the three presidential candidates, and the complexion of legislatures that will name United States Senators is all that holds the interest of the people in the final returns of Tuesday's general election.

The total of the Republican electoral column apparently is fixed at the twelve votes of Idaho, Utah and Vermont; but the footing of the Wilson and Roosevelt columns flickered alternately during yesterday and last night, as late returns from Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota and Wyoming gave indications of change from the results accepted at first.

Estimates of the popular vote polled by Gov. Wilson range through many millions. It was found impossible to compute with any accuracy the popular vote of any of the presidential candidates, and it will be a number of days before the counting of the three-cornered contest in the different States is concluded and an accurate tabulation of the popular vote made possible.

Whether the Democrats, in the wide-spread victories of Tuesday, have secured control also of the United States Senate is a question that will not be settled for a day or two. In many States, where counting still was going on Wednesday night, the control of the legislatures is in doubt.

Woman suffrage won in Kansas, Arizona and Michigan. Late returns from Oregon indicated they had succeeded there also. They appeared to have been defeated in Wisconsin.

HIDDEN MONEY

Statistics show that the percentage of money lost outside of banks is greater than that lost thru bank failures by over 240 per cent. And yet people will store their money away in stockings, bureau drawers, mattresses, carpets, etc., waiting for the thieves and flames. The stories of serious and pitiable losses of this kind published during the past year would fill a volume. They show that many murders have been caused by hidden money in some cases for ridiculously small amounts.

COUNCIL MEETING OF OCTOBER 31

DISPOSE OF IMPORTANT BUSINESS. Light, Water and Sewerage Among Topics Discussed—$180 for Map of Town—Larger Number of Bills Paid.

At a meeting of the town council on October 31, the following members were present, Mayor Chapman, Messrs. R. S. Hynson, E. R. Conner, O. E. Newman, T. F. Coleman, W. W. Wheeler and C. E. Nash.

It was resolved that the ordinance committee be instructed to ask the clerk to furnish the town council with the ordinances now on record so they can be listed in the new code.

It was ordained by the town council that the clerk be and he is hereby directed, empowered and authorized to transfer all licenses issued by the said clerk upon the assignment thereof, except a license granted for the sale of liquor.

A proposition was made to the town council of Manassas by Eastern College, through their attorney, T. H. Lion, to buy a strip of land between South street and Mrs. Sarah Key's property on the east side of Main street, on condition that the Town of Manassas pay the sum of $200 for this land, ten feet wide, in order to increase the width of the street, and this said sum of $200 shall be credited on the taxes, including the year of 1911, accruing against this land from which this strip is taken, so long as the same shall remain in possession of Eastern College, of James R. Hayden, or any party thereof, until the sum of $200 be exhausted.

This proposition was put before council and was accepted, the town to buy the strip of land according to proposition.

Several resolutions and ordinances offered by G. E. Nash, G. E. Newman and R. S. Hynson, were passed upon and voted upon by the members of the council who were present at this meeting. This meeting was a large and important one from several standpoints. Much business was transacted, and more bills paid than at any meeting previous for some time.

One of the most important and vital matters which came up was the discussion of having water, light and sewerage for the town. It was resolved at this meeting that the sum of $150 be appropriated for the purpose of making a contour map of the Town of Manassas, for the installing of sewerage, water and light. The said sum or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be expended by the committee heretofore appointed as it shall be deemed best.

This proposition has now convinced the citizens for several years. Several attempts have been made, but as yet have been unsuccessful. Manassas is behind the times in this one respect. All other towns, even within walking distance almost, have water, light and sewerage installed. Warrenton, Culpeper, and all those towns that are about the same size, have these advantages, and why should not Manassas not go in for the same thing, when it would greatly improve sanitary conditions, and benefit the public in many ways. The thing is certain, a sewerage system is the most needed at present in this town. In some places the conditions are very bad, and are the main sources of the breeding of sickness and

NOTED SPEAKERS AT FARMERS' INSTITUTE

IN SESSION HERE TOMORROW. Prizes for Corn to be Awarded by Competent Judges—Patrons' Day Exercises to Begin Promptly at 3 O'Clock.

Tomorrow will be another gala day for Manassas. Those in charge of the Farmers' Institute are planning to make this the biggest thing of this kind that has been held here in the past year. All the speeches will be made in the Court House and in the Agricultural High School building.

In the morning Prof. Stone of the University of Virginia will deliver an address to the farmers and visitors in the Court House, beginning at 10 o'clock. Directly at the close of lunch Dr. Quarles of the Baptist church will speak, and following him in the afternoon will come Prof. Lane of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, who will hold the attention of the audience for a time. Patrons' day exercises will be held, and promptly at 2 o'clock the children from the public schools will parade.

Prizes for corn will be awarded by competent judges, and also the winner in the domestic science class will be awarded with a prize.

It is to be a big time, in fact earnest efforts are being put forth to make it so, and by being present yourself, you will help add to the crowd, and will hear several interesting addresses from men who are distinguished speakers, and who are well known to many in this locality.

The girls of the domestic science class will serve their usual delightful luncheon, and charge only a very small price compared to the dainty things with which you will be served. Every one is hoping for good weather, to prevail the rest of the week so it will be convenient for the farmers to attend. Every body come and bring your family for the day, and you will be assured of a delightful time.

ANNUAL CONVENTION UNITED DAUGHTERS

HELD IN WASHINGTON THIS WEEK. At Least 1,500 Members Present Aside From Confederate Veterans—Bryan Orates at Laying of Cornerstone.

The annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, which is being held in Washington this week, is the largest gathering that has ever assembled of this kind. At least 1,500 members are present, aside from the veterans of the Confederate armies and their families.

Delegates are present representing nearly every chapter in the United States, and the daughters of Dixie are now in the midst of the greatest convention they have ever held.

The President-General, Mrs. Alexander B. White, was unable to preside on account of the serious illness in the family, and the convention will be presided over by Mrs. Frank G. Osburnheimer.

Last Monday night the reception by the authorities of the Library of Congress to the Southern Relief Society was held at 10 o'clock.

Tuesday William Jennings Bryan was the orator at the laying of the cornerstone of the Arlington monument. Many other notables were present at this ceremony.

Tuesday night the Welcome meeting was held at 9:30 o'clock in the Continental Memorial Hall. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Maria E. Batten, president of the Columbia Division.

This afternoon the Colonial Dames Club will hold a reception to the visiting delegates.

The members of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who were elected to attend the convention were Mrs. W. A. Newman, Miss Jane H. Hutchison and Mrs. A. W. Sinclair. Due to sickness Mrs. Sinclair was unable to attend, and Miss Lillie Hixon being the first alternate, took her place.

Several members from Manassas visited the convention at Lunenburg during the week.

DRAMATIC RECITAL IN EASTERN

Don't forget to go in the song and dramatic recital, including the melodrama of "The White Ship," Rosetti Ovat, by Edward Brigham, Basso Profundo, and Dramatic Reader, at Eastern College on Friday evening, November 22, at 8 o'clock. It will be a great treat.

SHOW APPRECIATION OF VALUABLE SCHOOLING

STUDENTS BEGIN A NOBLE WORK. Making Plans by Which Miss Eugenia Osborne May be Sent to Europe for a Trip and for a Vacation.

To show their appreciation of the valuable schooling received under Miss Eugenia Osborne the pupils who attended school under her for the past several years are making plans by which she will be sent to Europe, for a trip and as a vacation.

Those who have been under the careful training of Miss Osborne realize now of how much worth the knowledge imparted to them has been and how much it has meant to them.

As a preparation for greater good for those who will come under her influence in the future and to show how much she has been appreciated, the students of both the High School and those who attended the Seminary are earnestly working to award her for the valuable service she has rendered to a great many young men and young ladies in this locality.

A committee composed of Miss May Leachman, Miss Charlotte Smith, Marshall Hayden and W. M. Johnson, have been appointed and through them this plan is to be carried through, that is, with the co-operation of other fellow-students. To reach those who have attended school under Miss Osborne and who now are not in Manassas, letters have been sent.

Following is a copy of the letters being sent to all who have been under Miss Osborne's guidance:

Dear Fellow-Student: As a token of appreciation for the days spent under her guidance and as preparation for the greater good of those who will come under her influence in the future, we want to raise a fund of five hundred ($500) dollars to give Miss Eugenia Osburn a vacation in Europe. Give what you reasonably can, remembering that such a gift is not only an appreciation of the good that you have received, but also an opportunity for you to do greater good to your former teacher and through her to the school children of the future. Please forward your contribution to the undersigned member of the committee. (Signed.)

This is a noble undertaking and all those who have attended school under Miss Osborne's guidance will feel it their duty to respond to such a cause.

THE ROBBERY RABBIT (?)

Several of Manassas' Sherlock Holmes put in half of Wednesday night on the lookout for a gang of robbers who had sent word that they would do business at a certain store at 11:30 sharp. One young man armed himself with a ".45" Colt and a copy of "Nick Carter" and bravely went to the railroad yards to look for the advancing hosts of robbers. Another young fellow was prowling around the yard and both happened to look in opposite sides of the same box car at once. "Here they are," yelled both as with one voice. This began a chase which only ended by one falling over a rail and the striking of numerous matches. What became of the robbers no one knows and doubtless never will.

The western sky last night was illuminated a bright red for about a half an hour and it was reported that the Warren Green Hotel at Warrenton was on fire but it was later learned that the fire was between Warrenton and Canby.

KEEPING RECORDS OF DAIRY COWS

KEEP DEFINITE DATA IN DAIRY. Their Value and Importance in Economical Milk Production—Ward Off the Scrubs and Put in Good Stock.

By W. M. BROWN. Field Agent Southern States Dairy Company. The condition of the farming industry as seen on the average farm points to the need of better business methods and more definite knowledge of the profit and loss. In no department of the farm is there more need of definite data than in the dairy. The records of progressive and unprogressive dairymen indicates that there is no business which shows a greater range of profit than the dairy farming. If we examine the records of different dairymen, we will see that one man makes even four times as much as his neighbors. In an investigation of the records of 100 creamery patrons, conducted by Hort's Dairymen, it was shown that one of them made $2.30 for every dollar spent for feed, another made one dollar, and another lost 50 cents. All had the same soil and the same market. Not one in ten read any dairy literature, and about 38 out of every 100 keeps cows at an actual loss. This difference in the profits must be accounted for in the difference in the intelligence that each puts into his business. According to the consensus of opinion fully one-fourth of the cows do not pay their cost of keeping, and another one-fourth do not yield so much profit.

In this article we especially want to show the dairymen the importance of keeping records so that the dairymen may know just what each cow in the herd is doing. By doing this the boards can be weeded out, and only those that pay can be kept. We also want to induce each dairymen to begin to keep complete records of their cows, not only for additional profits, but for the increased interest which they give to all connected with the work, and the business methods which they have a tendency to promote. We still further want to know the possibilities of production with different breeds and grades of cows under different conditions, thereby giving the farmer an incentive to higher standards and greater profits.

With the application of the Babcock tests, combined with better care and feed, both the production and profits of many herds can be doubled, and with little expense.

Records of the performances of dairy cows form the only accurate and safe basis for judging their value. It is the constant aim of progressive dairymen to improve their herds, and such improvement must depend upon culling the herds, and getting rid of the unprofitable animals. From the breeder's standpoint records are especially valuable in helping him find buyers for his animals. Many buyers insist on seeing records of dairy performance before purchasing.

From a feeder's standpoint a record is very valuable. He knows exactly what the cow is doing, he can prepare a ration accordingly and often feed more economically. Then, a daily milk record will enable the dairymen to detect the approach of sickness in a cow, and thus take steps to ward it off.

Great inspiration is obtained

KEEPING RECORDS OF DAIRY COWS

from keeping a record, and nothing pleases the dairyman more than to watch his herd grow in efficiency.

Many of the state experiment stations have shown the importance of keeping careful records of the individual cows, and thus determining which are profitable and which are not profitable.

The Georgia station found that their best cow produced 7,968 pounds of milk, which produced butter worth $115.44, while the poorest of the same herd gave only 2,788 pounds of milk, which produced butter worth only $41.63.

The Michigan station found that the profits on individual cows varied from $6.07 to $94.05.

At the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, the cow with the best individual record made two and one-third times as much butter as the poorest of the seventy-five in the contest.

Thus we see that the differences between the best and poorest animals are great. The poorest cows reported are not so poor as many of those kept by dairymen who make no accurate tests and who know practically nothing of what each animal is actually doing.

The dairymen and farmer may know in a general way which are the best producers, and in that same general way he may weed them out.

But we need to keep accurate records, so that we will know exactly what the animal will do for a whole year with a certain kind of feed and treatment.

THE KEEPING OF RECORDS. Records are far more easily kept than is generally supposed, and the time and cost of keeping them for each cow is so small as to be only a trifle in comparison with their value.

The length of time required to weigh and sample the milk will depend much upon the quickness of the individual doing the work.

After studying the question, the Illinois station found that on an average it would take an individual two minutes per day for each cow, and when the milk is weighed and tested every seventh week as is the custom with some dairymen it takes one hour and 38 minutes yearly for each animal.

With just this amount of time the farmer can have a reasonably accurate dairy record of every cow in his herd.

Considering the time consumed in doing the work and the small expense involved in securing record sheets, scales, and other necessary equipment, Babcock tests, it is surprising that more of our dairymen do not test their herds.

The following shows how a farmer keeps a record of his cows in accordance with the suggestions of the Illinois station.

ing and agriculture so cheaply offered to them by the dairy and agricultural paper, farmers' institutions, farmers' reading courses, experiment stations, agricultural colleges, etc. It has been clearly demonstrated that dairymen must get the information offered by the above named sources to be successful in their work, and they must use business methods and avail themselves of the latest information.

It is within the power of any painstaking dairyman, or farmer to have all their cows producing 5,000 pounds of milk and 200 pounds of butter, and why not get busy in weeding out the scrubbers and replacing them with better cows. We can do this by keeping records and taking action after the record shows us which are the boards.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY EXHIBIT. Great interest about the Southern Railway System at the Northern Fair and exposition, over a quarter of a million desirable people seeking and receiving information regarding the resources and opportunities of the Southeast, according to reports received from representatives of the railway in charge of the exhibits.

The various exhibits made extended over a period of two months and included the country north of the Ohio River from New York and Pennsylvania to Iowa. There were twenty-seven separate exhibits made at district and county fairs in the Northern States in addition to the fine display put in at the Canadian International Exhibition at Toronto.

The exhibits everywhere attracted attention. As a rule visitors pronounced them finer than those made by local exhibitors, and it was usual to hear the statement from a man that he had no idea that the Southeast was a country of such wonderful resources and opportunities.

The fine displays of fruit of corn, wheat and other grains, and the showing about other products of the Southern soil were the things that especially appealed to great numbers of Northern farmers.

Not less than two representatives of the Southern Railway and its associated lines were present at each of these exhibits, explaining conditions in the Southeast and the opportunities offered to the homeseeker as well as the attraction of the Southern country for investors or for visitors.

Reports of these agents show that the total attendance at the various fairs and exhibits visited amounted to over 1,800,000 people, that about 240,000 visited the Southern Railway exhibits, over 70,000 people were personally talked with about the Southeast and nearly 250,000 copies of literature advertising this section were distributed.

In addition to these exhibits special dairy exhibits were made at the Chicago and Waterloo, Iowa, exhibitions, and a special exhibit of live stock opportunities will be made at the International Live Stock Exhibition at Chicago in December.

IN MEMORIAM. Mrs. Edgar Matthew passed peacefully away on Sept. 30, 1912. Sarah Francis Matthew, nee James, of Loudoun county, Va., died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nannie J. Evans, age 76.

She had been in very delicate health for several years. She leaves four children, Tins, Henry, Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Sallie Pierson, all of Loudoun county, Virginia, and 12 grandchildren to mourn her loss.

A kind and loving mother has gone to rest. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. C. A. Large number of sorrowing relatives and friends followed her to the grave.

She was laid to rest in the family burying ground by the side of her husband, who preceded her to the grave thirteen years ago.

Work on the Naval Wireless Telegraph Station at Arlington, Virginia, is rapidly nearing completion. On October 29th, the apparatus was put to a partial test.

The signal N. A. A. of the Arlington Station was repeatedly flashed in the effort to reach Key West, but for some reason, it was impossible to reach that station.

However, when the receiving apparatus was tested, the operators were able to take messages sent from the Marconi station at Chiffen, Ireland, a distance of 2,500 miles.

When the Arlington Station is in full power, it is confidently expected that communications will be established not only with Key West, but with Panama, San Francisco, and San Diego.

LACK OF INTEREST IN MILITIA. As predicted by several members, there was no militia meeting last Thursday night on account of there being only a few present.

The officers were at the hall at eight o'clock and a long time was given to waiting for members to come in who had probably been detained in some way, but the full number present only came to eight, and how in any way can a company of any kind be organized with eight men and three officers?

The officers stated that unless twenty or more members were present at each meeting they would not hold one hereafter until there is enough to go ahead with the drilling. No meeting will be held on Thanksgiving night, but every Thursday night after will be the regular time for the company to come to drills.

The meeting will, of course, be preceded by a parade, with all manner of productions, including banners, banners, vivid representations of political events and unlimited red fire.

JIMMIE NOT A HERO

Why? Because Miss Mildred Detected Them.

By GRACE KERRIGAN.

Jimmie Fargo, gentleman, clubman, society man and traveler, had been in love no less than seven times when he met Mildred first at a function. Seven times he had been in love, or thought he had, but he had never loved until he met Mildred. This was the only and original. It was loved by him—she was not.

Jimmie was a young man. He had been used to making his vow on the first of January every year. He had been used to making his vow on the first of January every year. He had been used to making his vow on the first of January every year.

Jimmie Fargo had a bad, all men have, but they don't admit it. They flatter themselves that it's erudition, perspicacity, judgment, a gift granted to them—alone for being so good. Jimmie was no exception.

From a safe position Jimmie brought his face to bear on the girl of his heart. He was looking at her with a certain admiration. She had a certain beauty about her. She had a certain charm.

He was looking at her with a certain admiration. She had a certain beauty about her. She had a certain charm. He was looking at her with a certain admiration.

He was looking at her with a certain admiration. She had a certain beauty about her. She had a certain charm. He was looking at her with a certain admiration.

He was looking at her with a certain admiration. She had a certain beauty about her. She had a certain charm. He was looking at her with a certain admiration.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Manassas Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scove Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of the representative citizen of Manassas given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Mrs. Annette Betts, Maple St., Manassas, Va., says: "I was annoyed by a dull heavy pain in the small of my back, and nothing seemed to give me any permanent relief. I heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and finally got a box. They helped me from the first. They are the best kidney medicine I know of."

The above was the substance of Mrs. Betts' testimonial, given in October, 1912. When she was interviewed by our representatives on April 7, 1913, she said: "I am the same strong friend of Doan's Kidney Pills as I was when I previously recommended them. I still take this remedy and it keeps my kidneys in perfect working order."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

W. C. Wagener's Manassas, Virginia.
