Bowel Complaint in Children
During the summer months children are subject to disorders of the bowels which should receive careful attention as soon as the first unnatural looseness of the bowels appears. The best medicine in use for bowel complaint is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as it promptly controls any unnatural looseness of the bowels. For sale by S. B. Simpson.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 3, 1906

We had an election on the bond issue and the pro-bonders won. Is that all?

And now Col. Joe Button, one of the very coldest of the faithful, is having trouble to get his commission of insurance. This is too bad as the job was fixed up for him.

Bryan seems to be the central figure among democratic presidential possibilities. It is likely that the party can do no better, or for that matter any worse, judging from past experience.

How long, how long must the reading public, some of whom no doubt may like that sort of thing, have inflicted upon them the more or less nauseating details of the Thaw-Nesbit-White affair.

Secretary Taft made a great speech down in North Carolina this week, but he must have realized that the Bryan sentiment was a live wire. The Bryanites have never been numerous enough to carry an election, but you may depend on hearing from one when he has been hit.

A freight train passed through here last Monday afternoon and a part of the load consisted of two handsome passenger cars, loaded on flats, that were manufactured at High Point, N. C. The movement of material prosperity is better shown by the growth of manufactures than in any other manner. Is there no way to get our people more interested in the development of manufacturing enterprises?

Healing Properties of Water.
Magazine for July.

There is no remedy of such general application and none so easily obtained as water, and yet nine persons out of ten pass it by in their emergency to seek for other relief. There are a few cases of illness where water should occupy the highest place as a remedial agent.

A strip of flannel or a napkin folded lengthwise and wrung out of hot water and applied around the neck of a child who has croup, will usually bring relief in a few minutes. A towel folded several times, then quickly wrung out of hot water, and immediately applied over the seat of the pain in toothache or neuralgia, will afford prompt relief. This treatment in colic works like magic. Cases on record having resisted other treatment for hours, have yielded to this treatment in ten minutes. Pieces of cotton batting dipped in hot water, then applied to all sores and new cuts, bruises, and sprains is the treatment now generally adopted in hospitals. Hot water taken freely a half hour before bedtime is an excellent cathartic in the case of constipation, while it has a most soothing effect on the stomach and bowels. This treatment continued for a few months, together with proper attention to diet, will alleviate mild cases of dyspepsia.

Educational Progress in Virginia.
These have always been liberal provisions for local taxation in Virginia. The new Constitution went into effect in 1901, in which school year $2,136,900 was spent for the common schools. This Constitution made the provisions for local taxation even more liberal than they had been. The statute law now requires that the levy for schools shall be not less than 7 1/2 cents on the $100 in each district (township), and not less than 7 1/2 cents in each county. From July 31, 1903, to July 31, 1904, the increase in the school funds raised by local taxation was $39,000, while the increase in the state funds during the same period was $39,000.

From July 31, 1904, to July 31, 1905, the increase in school funds raised by local taxation was $161,000, while the increase in the state funds during the same period was $26,400. I have here the figures for 1904-1905 only, but to show that on account of the increased prosperity of the people because of the liberal provisions made by the new Constitution there has been a steady and substantial increase in the local tax for schools.

During the year ending July 31, 1905, the state $2,432,000 was spent for the common schools. Of this amount $1,300,000 was raised by local taxation. I am sorry that it is impossible so early in the year to give accurate statistics showing the rapid increase in local tax for schools which is taking place at this time. But if increased interest in the schools is measured by the increased amount of local taxes raised for schools, we have in Virginia a happy outlook.

An Act appropriating from the State Treasury an additional $200,000 a year for the pay of teachers in the primary and grammar grade, making now $400,000 a year so contributed, not including State taxes for schools.

A High School Act, appropriating $50,000 annually to supplement local funds for the establishment of high schools that maintained a standard fixed by the State Board.

The Williams Building Act, which enables the school trustees to borrow money from the literary fund with which to erect school houses according to plans and specifications to be approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. This money is to be loaned at 4 per cent, to be repaid in ten years.

Other useful measures were passed, but these were probably the most important. The General Assembly of 1906 appropriated from the State Treasury $900,000 a year for the next two years for public education, exclusive of the money given to the State Library and the boys' reformatory, both of which are educational institutions, and are conducted as such.

The Written Law.
From the New York Sun.

Those who have a notion that the case of the murderer of Stanford White ought to be tried under what they are accustomed to call the unwritten law, or determined, on any pretext, by the provisions of an unwritten code, have drifted far from the foundations of common sense and common safety.

The written law is adequate for the protection of society and of all individuals composing society. Whenever the contrary is assumed anarchy comes into sight. Whenever a man, impelled by no matter how great and how just a sense of grievance, resorts to unwritten law and makes himself its tribunal and executioner, he likewise makes himself responsible to the written law, and is the proper subject for the exercise of its most rigorous processes.

The final vengeance belongs to the law that is written.

If this community is healthy and right-minded there can be but one view of this crime. It was cowardly in its attendant circumstances; and it was a crime, because that deliberate and premeditated killing constitute murder in the first degree. The indictment which was presented must be followed in due course before a just judge and a fair jury, and money must be as powerless as the unwritten law to save a murderer from the electric chair. In this way only can the deterrent force of capital punishment be of lasting influence.

A Woman's Revenge.
"Spinster," in M. A. P.

It is perfectly incomprehensible how man can go on wearing the clothes he does; how he can balance on his head a huge black jam pot with a ledge to it, incase his limbs in long, tight sacks of dingy hue; and wear round his manly throat something resembling a shining metal band. Every new fashion for man that comes out appears to me uglier than the last.

A Few Epigrams by Hon. Benjamin Ryan Tillman.
From the Indianapolis News.

"We as a nation have become so great and powerful that we are now going about with a chip on our shoulders, and 'Teddy' is always doing something to kick up trouble. Recently he pulled the lid off the packing houses and we have all been going around since with our fingers to our noses. I haven't been able to get my wife to eat any meat since."

On the influx of alien immigration he said:
"Within the next few years unless the great influx of foreigners into New York is stayed, a condition will be bred in this country that will be first kin to hell."

"I believe in preaching the doctrine of 'America for the American, and 'Pennsylvania for Pennsylvania', and not for the Pennsylvania Railroad."

"The best evidence that the world is getting smaller is the defeat of the Republican caucus in this state two years ago."

"We started on our career as a nation with the ballot box in the hands of the people. These conditions, however, are now changed."

"The corporations have come into control. The old doctrine of competition has gone and in place of it combinations have sprung up, resulting in the organization of capital in the hands of a few men. We are now manufacturing billionaires."

BAD MEAT CONFISCATED

23,000 Pounds of Putrid Poultry, Fish and Meats in Cold Storage.

Philadelphia, July 12.—About 23,000 pounds of poultry, fish and meats of various kinds, declared by the inspectors of the bureau of health unfit for food, was taken from the refrigerating plant of the Delaware Freezing company, at American and Caldwel streets, and consigned to a fertilizing plant.

It was the property of about 30 dealers, large and small, who were storing it there under refrigeration. The inspectors took the stuff away in two big vans.

Officials of the meat and cattle inspection estimated the total value of the meat destroyed to be $160. Of this amount a dealer in Vineland, N. J., loses $100. This was the largest individual loser. He telephoned to Dr. J. F. Schreiber, chief meat and cattle inspector, requesting that action be postponed until Friday.

The dealer declared he had purchased the meat in good faith of a western packing house, and he was allowed time to summon a company's inspector the loss was not bill upon him. He explained that the inspector for the packing house pronounced the meats putrid, the loss would have to be borne by the packing house proprietor. Dr. Schreiber permitted no delay, and the meat in question was confiscated with the rest.

REBATES FINED $50,000

All Those Found Guilty in Chicago Escape Jail Sentences.

Chicago, July 12.—Judge Landis, in the United States district court, sentenced the Chicago & Alton railroad, which was recently convicted of granting illegal rebates at Kansas City, to pay a fine of $50,000 on each of two counts, or a total of $100,000.

John Fathora and Fred A. Wann, former officials of the road, who were also convicted, were sentenced to pay a fine of $5000 each on two counts, or a total of $10,000 each.

The specific charge on which they were convicted was that they had given to the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger company a rebate of $1 a car on all shipments from the Kansas City plant of the packing company.

The defendants claimed that the charge was made against them by the packing company, which had the right to levy it because it owned the track near the plant, and therefore had the right to charge the railroad for trackage.

MINERS' CERTIFICATE CASE

Railroad Company Will Take It to United States Supreme Court.

Scranton, Pa., July 11.—Papers were signed here preparatory to taking an appeal in the celebrated Saluda miners' certificate case to the supreme court of the United States. The Delaware & Hudson company is the real appellant.

The attack on the validity of the certificate act has been successfully defended in the local, superior and supreme courts of this state, although in the superior court the company gained a ruling that residence in the anthracite region was not an essential qualification, such a requirement being in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, in that it discriminated against residents of other states. This advantage was lost when the company went into the supreme court in an effort to have the remainder of the act declared unconstitutional. By going to the federal supreme court the company hopes to regain this lost advantage, and also to defeat the whole act.

MINE STRIKE SETTLED

Men in Central Pennsylvania to Receive 5.55 Per Cent. Increase.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Virtual settlement of the strike of mine workers in the central Pennsylvania bituminous field, which began last April, was made in this city at a conference between representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and the operators in that field. The principal terms of the settlement are:

A 5.55 per cent. increase in wages for all mine workers over the scale which existed before the strike; application of the check-off system to miners, but not to laborers.

The check-off was really the only obstacle in the final discussion of the terms of the settlement. Thirty thousand men were affected by the strike.

KILLED WIFE AND CHILDREN

Inmate Farmer Slaughtered His Wife and Four Little Ones.

Charleston, S. C., July 11.—Charles Walterboro says that J. W. Iragan, a well-to-do white farmer, of Colleton county, killed his wife and four children, branding them with an axe at their home, about 20 miles from Walterboro. He then went to a neighbor's house and told of his deed. Neighbors brought him to Walterboro jail. Iragan says he killed his family but does not know why. He is a native of Sweden. Some years ago he tried to cut his throat, and is believed to be insane.

Murderer Collapsed in Court.

Easton, Pa., July 10.—A most distressing scene occurred in the criminal court. Joseph Boccia, an Italian, convicted of murdering his 14-year-old wife, was refused a new trial, and when Judge Scott mentioned the word hang in sentencing him, Boccia collapsed and fell to the floor. He became semi-conscious, and in that state moaned piteously. He had to be carried from the court room by deputy sheriffs. Boccia shot his wife on t. streets here because she refused live with him and expressed a preference for the company of Amer men to that of the Italian.

And now Col. Joe Button, one of the very elect of the faithful, is having trouble to get his commissionship of insurance. This is too bad as the job was fixed up for him.

Bryan seems to be the central figure among democratic presidential possibilities. It is likely that the party can do no better, or for that matter any worse, judging from past experience.

How long, how long must the reading public, some of whom no doubt may like that sort of thing, have inflicted upon them the more or less nauseating details of the Thaw-Nesbit-White affair.

Secretary Taft made a great speech down in North Carolina this week, but he must have realized that the Bryan sentiment was a live wire. The Bryanites have never been numerous enough to carry an election, but you may depend on hearing from one when he has been hit.

A freight train passed through here last Monday afternoon and a part of the load consisted of two handsome passenger cars, loaded on flats, that were manufactured at High Point, N. C. The movement of material prosperity is better shown by the growth of manufactures than in any other manner. Is there no way to get our people more interested in the development of manufacturing enterprises?

Healing Properties of Water.

There is no remedy of such general application and none so easily obtained as water, and yet nine persons out of ten pass it by in a hurry to seek relief. There are many cases of illness where water should occupy the highest place as a remedial agent.
 A strip of flannel or a napkin folded lengthwise and wrung out of hot water and applied around the neck of a child who has croup, will usually bring relief in a few minutes. A towel folded several times, when quickly wrung out of hot water and immediately applied over the seat of the pain in toothache or neuralgia, will afford prompt relief. This treatment in colic works like magic. Cases on record having resisted other treatment for hours, have yielded to this treatment in minutes. Pieces of cotton batting dipped in hot water, then applied to all aches and new cuts, bruises, and sprains, the treatment now generally adopted in hospitals. Hot water taken freely a few hours before bedtime is an excellent preventive in the case of constipation, while it has a most soothing effect on the stomach and bowels. This treatment continued for a few months, together with proper attention to diet, will alleviate mild cases of dyspepsia.

Educational Progress in Virginia.

There have always been liberal provisions for local taxation in Virginia. The new Constitution went into effect in 1903, in which school year $2,136,900 was spent for the common schools. This Constitution made the provisions for local taxation even more liberal than they had been. The statute law now requires that the levy for schools shall be not less than 7 1/2 cents on the $100 in each district (township), and not less than 7 1/2 cents in each county. From July 31, 1903, to July 31, 1904, the increase in the school funds raised by local taxation was $39,000, while the increase in the state funds during the same period was $39,000.

From July 31, 1904, to July 31, 1905, the increase in school funds raised by local taxation was $161,000, while the increase in the state funds during the same period was $26,400. I have not the figures for 1905 only to show that on account of the increased prosperity of the people, made by the new Constitution, there has been a steady and substantial increase in the local tax for schools.

During the year ending July 31, 1905, the sum of $2,432,000 was spent for the common schools. Of this amount $2,369,900 was raised by local taxation. I am sorry that it is impossible so early in the year to give accurate statistics showing the rapid increase in local tax for schools which is taking place at this time. But if increased interest in the schools, as measured by the increased amount of local taxes raised for schools, we have in Virginia a happy outlook.

An Act appropriating from the State Treasury an additional $200,000 a year for the pay of teachers in the primary and grammar grade, making now $400,000 a year so contributed, not including State taxes for schools.

A High School Act, appropriating $50,000 annually to supplement local funds for the establishment of high schools, that maintained a standard fixed by the State Board.

The Williams' Building Act, which enables the school trustees to borrow money from the literary fund with which to erect school houses according to plans and specifications to be approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction. This money is to be loaned at 4 per cent, and is to be repaid in ten years.

Other legislative measures were passed, but these were probably the most important. The General Assembly of 1906 appropriated from the State Treasury $300,000 a year for the next two years for public education, exclusive of the money given to the State Library and the boys' reformatory, both of which are educational institutions, and are conducted as such.

From the New York Sun.
 Those who have a notion that the case of the murderer of Stanford White ought to be tried under what they are accustomed to call the unwritten law, or determined, on any pretext, by the provisions of an unwritten code, have drifted far from the foundations of common sense and common safety.
 The written law is adequate for the protection of society and of all individuals composing society. Whenever the contrary is assumed anarchy comes into sight. Whenever a man, impelled by no matter how great and how just a sense of grievance, resorts to unwritten law and makes himself its tribunal and executioner, he likewise makes himself responsible to the written law, and is the proper subject for the exercise of its most rigorous processes.
 The final vengeance belongs to the law that is written.
 If this community is healthy and right-minded there can be but one view of this crime. It was cowardly in the circumstances; and it was premeditated; and it constituted murder in the first degree. The indictment which was presented must be followed in due course before a just judge and a fair jury, and money must be as powerless as the unwritten law to save a murderer from the electric chair. In this way only can the deterrent force of capital punishment be of lasting influence.

A Woman's Revenge.

"Spinster," in M. A. P.
 It is perfectly incomprehensible how man can go on wearing the clothes he does; how he can balance on his head a huge black jam pot with a ledge to it, incase his limbs in long, tight sacks of dingy hue and wear round his manly throat something resembling a shining metal band. Every new fashion for man that comes out appears to me uglier than the last.

A Few Epigrams by Hon. Benjamin Ryan Tillman.

From the Indianapolis News.
 "We as a nation have become so great and powerful that we are now going about with a chip on our shoulders, and 'Teddy' is always doing something to kick up trouble. Recently he pulled the lid off the packing houses and we have all been going around since with our fingers to our nose. I haven't been able to get my wife to eat any meat since."
 On the influx of alien immigration he said:
 "Within the next few years unless the great influx of foreigners into New York is stayed, a condition will be bred in this country that will be first kin to hell."
 "I believe in preaching the doctrine of 'America for the American, and Pennsylvania for Pennsylvania,' and not for the Pennsylvania Railroad."
 "The best evidence that the world is growing smaller is the defeat of the Republicans in this state two years ago."
 "We started on our career as a nation with the ballot box in the hands of the people. These conditions, however, are now changed."
 "The corporations have come into control. The old doctrine of competition has gone and in place of it combinations have sprung up, resulting in the organization of capital in the hands of a few men. We are now manufacturing billionaires."

—The Alexandria correspondent of the Washington Star of Saturday says, in reporting the proceedings of the United States court at Alexandria. "In the case of C. C. Cushing an order was issued, upon the petition of Charles King & Son, the National Bank of Manassas and C. L. Hynson, directing that he appear in court on July 16 to show cause why the prayer of the petitioners that he be adjudged an involuntary bankrupt should not be granted."

—It begins to look like something would be done in the great project to dam Rappahannock river for electric light purposes and power by long line transmission as bids will be opened July 16th by D. J. Howell, civil and hydraulic engineer, 605 Twelfth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., for the construction of an earthen dam 375 feet long and 43 feet high with concrete core; reservoir to have a capacity of 6,000,000 gallons. About $20,000 will be expended.

Another Big Trust.

The greatest business sensation of the day is the formation, according to the New York Herald, of a vast corporation to be known as the American Farm Products Company, with a capital of $20,000,000 and a lot of the biggest capitalists behind it. It is to control the market for dairy products, chickens and eggs, to oust the middleman and (if you can believe it) "bring about an increased and uniform price to the producer and a diminished price to the consumer, giving him a superior and purer grade of dairy products and greatly improving present methods of distribution."

What a benevolent trust it is to be! What it has done already is to buy several large butter-refining plants, those of the W. F. Rose Company, Chicago; Illinois Creamery Company, Elgin, Ill.; Eben F. Dudley Company, Owosso, Mich.; Alfred G. Wessling Co., Kenton Ohio; Bigelow Butter Company, Boston, Mass.; Purity Creamery Company, A. H. Barber & Co., Chicago, and the Schermerhorn-Shottwell Company, Des Moines, Iowa. It has also absorbed some large concerns selling milk to New York City, but butter "refining" has so far been its chief interest, and the somewhat jumbled newspaper statements seem to indicate that it is to be mainly a gigantic butter-refining concern.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by S. S. Simpson.
