WASHINGTON'S HORRIBLE DISASTER STUNS COMMUNITY

Prince William, in a sense a surburban county to Washington, this week keenly sympathizes with the Capital City and her residents in cated and that the council should be the great loss of life attendant upon the cave-in of the roof of one of granted the privilege of raising the Washington's leading motion picture houses, the Knickerbocker Thea- corporation tax rate to a maximum of ter, on Saturday night, when nearly a hundred lives were lost and when upwards of a hundred other patrons of that amusement place ing. In the annals of Washington no former disaster was so terrible. The sudden tumbling down of tons of concrete and steel, with practically no warning having been given, crushed or trapped nearly every occupant of the theater, and the heavy snow storm, together with the lack of proper tools for the rapid removal of the debris, caused the work of rescue to proceed far too slowly. Virginia is a heavy loser for according to Tuesday's issue of the Richmond News-Leader, no less than twelve of the victims claimed by death in this catastrophe were natives of the Old Dominion.

THIS WOULD MEAN MUCH TO THE COUNTY.

Last week we read in one of the metropolitan papers of a series of dental clinics that are to be held in every school in one of the counties of this state. It was said that the dentist, to be selected for the work by the school board of that county, is to go from school to school, at each doing all the dental work found to be necessary. It was further stated that the cost per pupil treated would be very reasonable Is there anything in this recital that is of interest to our coun

There is no telling how much ill health is due to defective teeth. Germs of many diseases and those contributory to many states of impaired vitality are known to thrive exceedingly well in decayed teetn. All health authorities are agreed that defective teeth are veritable breeding grounds for such germs, and none denys that he decaying tooth is a menace to the welfare-of its possessor. Sidney L. A Great Industrial Worker

There isn't any doubt about the dependability, adaptability, efficiency or economy of the Fordson Tractor. These things have all been proved by the most severe tests on farms all over the country, where more than 170,000 of them are in daily use.

Light, easy to handle and operate in small spaces, there is absolutely no doubt about the practicability of the Fordson for industrial uses. This has been proved by manufacturers in most every line, construction and excavating engineers, cementing contractors, coal and building supply concerns, street and road building contractors, cities, towns and villages.

You can undoubtedly apply a Fordson to your line of business. Let's talk it over. It will interest you to get all the details.
