HELP! THREE YEARS WITHOUT A CIRCUS!

TOWN COUNCIL COMES TO RESCUE

Offers Inducements to Tent Shows by Cutting Price of License in Two-We Are Waiting and Longing.

We haven't had a circus in Manassas for the last three years. hank, or let the laundry wait Levies on the property valuation another week, to get in.

True, the monotony has been relieved by other kinds of circuses, where people make monkeys of themselves and all that, but the genuine, old-time circuses, that our fathers used to invent excuses to take us to, have passed us by.

HARBINGER OF SPRING

How is one to know that spring is come, when there is not a circus poster in sight? Of course the calendar tells us that gentle springtime is with us, and those of us who are gradually cooling off with the march of years, can Normal Agricultural High smell the fragrance of the fields and woods, feel the warmth of the sun, and a faint tingling of the fancy that our thoughts turned to with annual precision when we were younger.

But that is not the true sign of the advent of spring. Spring circus posters adorn the back fences and side of barns, hypnotizing you while the boss wonwork or women folks begin worrying as the express train from Alexandria whistles in.

LURE OF CIRCUS POSTER But you are an esthete and the appeal of the circus poster your artistic temperament elevates you above all material things. The flesh-pots, worldly ambitions, fame and wealth, all are forgotten in the celestial pomp and glory pictured before your enraptured vision. Seraphic creatures, beautiful ladies, entisingly, teasingly attired, float through the air while Apollonic gentlemen with their hair brushed down slicker than an onion, perform seemingly impossible feats on the trapeze or turning-pole, or on the backs of prancing steeds with a careless grace and jaunty abandon, that anyone with any social ambition whatever, imitates the next time he wout in company.

CARRY WATER FOR ELEPHANTS One is went to recall how when a youngster, he slipped out or ped before daybreak to see the circus come in and unload, and how, he secretly hoped that some day, if he couldn't travel with a show, at least he would be able to chew tobacco like the stake-drivers. The latter ambition often is more than realized. After the boy has packed water all morning for the elephants and camels to waste and he is afraid to go home to dinner, some kind canvasman after polishing the zebra's stripe with a hunk of bologne gives it to the laid to a Some of those menagerie people are awfully good to little boys Who help them.

CRAVE RED LEMONADE

But why recall the happy, bygone days of childhood, when recollection brings sadness by comparison. We want to crowd our few remaining years on this terrestial ball with all the bliss We can find. We long to hear the circus band piay, to see red wagons in the 'korgeous street pageant, 7 to laugh with

EXCITING COMPETITION FOR FIRST HONORS AND TO WIN JEWELS

Impossible to Venture Prediction on Outcome Race So Close That Final Votes May Determine—Citizens Await With Interest Appear ance of Industrial Edition Next Thursday.

IAMONDS, trophies of the Contest, will sparkle no more brilliantly than the Industrial Edition of THE DEMOCRAT, which appears next Thursday, April 20. Quailty is the keynote, and instead of a heterogeneous mass of dry detail, crisp, concise reviews of the activities of this community will be presented. However, there will not be a sacrifice of a single interest for brevity, and the in all the events. field will be covered as thoroughly as possible, under existing conditions. The advertising pages will close promptly at noon next Monday, April 17.

Interest in the contest is keyed to high pitch and so closely are the candidates running that none may feel sure of winning until the last vote is counted. The elimination of the third district will very materially change the results, and the contestants who win the beautiful diamond rings will need to secure every vote possible fore balloting ceases next Wednesday evening at six o'clock.
