BALKAN-TURKISH WAR

The Balkan-Turkish war has been a wonderful month of fight ing. The first week it was the Montenegrians alone against the Turks. The second week the Bulgarians, Servians and Greeks had joined the Montenegrians and during the second week the Servians captured practically all of old Servia; Bulgaria had won sever important battles and practically surrounded Adrianople; the Montenegrians obtained possession of all the fortresses between their border and Scutaria, the most important city of Albania; the Greeks advanced into their ancient province of Epirus and captured the towns around Mount Olympus. The third week showed continued success for the allied provinces. The fourth week finds the Bulgarians within a few miles of the Turkish capital, Constantinople; the 000 gallons of whiskey in three months. Montenegrians in undisputed possession of the province of Albania; the Servians and Greeks in possession of their contigious territory, for a little hot water, sugar and whiskey. also the Grecian navy in possession of the islands of Semnos, Samothrace, Rhodes and eleven smaller ones. The main Turkish army is between the Bulgarian army and Constantinople, but their opposition has been a sorry speciacle, so far although there have bee some fierce and long contested battles. The reasons for the failure as the lonesome oyster in a festival stew. of the 'terrible Turk' seem hard to find, but probably two of the principal ones are the fact that the Young Turk cabinet recalled a something that will scare the other women away. great many of the old and experienced officers, replacing them with PRESIDENT TAFT has issued a Thanksgiving proclamation young Turks, and the Young Turk cabinet has compelled christian ting aside November 28 for the observance of that day, subjects to serve in the army, who, of course, deserted at the first | ONE politician is quoted as saying: "You can't run a campaign The final outcome of this history making war it is impossible to

BETTER LIVE STOCK NEEDED...HOW TO GET THEM

Address of W. M. Brown, Field Agent, Department of Farm Improvement Work, Southern Rail way Company, at a Meeting of the Manassas Farmers' Institute at Manassas, Va., on October 18, 1912.

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN

The subject of which I am to speak to you for the next few minutes is one that is very dear to me as I have spent the greater portion of my life—this much of it—on the farm with the live stock, working with them with the view of improving the hogs, the horses and cattle. I was reared in the territory of the mule and the negro, and thought ofttimes that I know them perfectly, but have been convinced that we can never tell just what either one has in his head or his heels.

The subject of bettering agriculture and the live stock of our country is a subject that has been attracting much attention. The time has come when we must all put our shoulders to the wheel and turn this present condition of farming into one far superior, thereby making the nine million acres of improved land in Virginia pay double the present revenue, and the other nine million acres of unimproved land pay some profit rather than be kept at an actual loss as some of it is being kept to-day. I am sincerely proud that I have been assigned territory where our people are awake to the need of this change and are willing to do their part toward bringing about the realization of a new era of farming. I must say that you farmers of this portion of Northern Virginia are doing some farming equal or superior to any in the South, but the "Half-has not been told," and we have greater possibilities before us than we have ever dreamed of.

You have many times heard the stery of the pioneer of American agriculture and most of his successors even down to the present time. You have been told of the condition of the virgin soil as it was found by our forefathers, and you can see the present condition of this great heritage, the soil. The increase in the production of the soil has not been keeping pace with the increase in our population. Every year the farmers of this country are called upon to produce food for two million new mouths. It is estimated that by 1930, a time the oldest of us hope to see, we will have a population of 142,000,000 people. If the magnitude of the numbers themselves startle us, how much more startling is the problem to support and employ so vast a population. Within twenty years we must house and employ fifty millions of additional people. The problem before the American people is a grave one. Its solution can not be shirked. Measures and means must be devised to meet and solve it. And the purpose of this meeting and similar meetings is to help solve this problem.

Upon the soil depends the life and welfare of the nation, and of the human race. Soil alone. of all our natural resources, is capable of self renewal, through wasting of rocks, through chemical reaction with liquids and gases, and by means of vegetable matter once produced by and returned to the soil. Our one resource, therefore, looking at humanity as something more than the creature of a day, is the productivity of the soil. Since that, too, may be raised to a high state of usefulness, or lowered to a point of disappearing value, it is of great consequence that we should consider every means to improve this, our greatest safeguard and our choicest dower, the soil.

Scientific men have been working to find some way of maintaining and improving the fertility of the soil without the use of animals, but that can not be done economically, if at all, in the South. The one practical way of maintaining and improving our soils is to adopt a system of live stock husbandry for all of our farms. Keep more live stock and better live stock, the two subjects I wish talk to you about now.

Gov. Harmon, in opening the Atlanta Corn Show, said that the South was the Wonderland American Agriculture. Virginia, and the South, once crushed so low that it seemed she could never rise, is now awaking and showing the world how to produce cheap feed. Virginia corn won the $1,000 cup at the last National Corn Exposition, and Mississippi alfalfa captured the gold medal at the last World's Fair. Forty-five Georgia boys produced an average of 124 bushels of corn per acre last year. One man in Virginia, not many miles from this place grew 100 tons of hay on 33 acres this year. With the Southland, the place that God has especially smiled upon, with our long seasons, with a great variety of crons, and with the possibility of large yields, we can produce the cheapest feeds of any country. To consume these feeds, we must have live stock.

The South needs more milk and meat products. We send out of the South every year more than one hundred million dollars for meat. One Southern city imports more than one million dollars worth of meat. Fifty of our Southern cities import from the North more than twenty two million dollars worth of milk products yearly. Nine of the Southeastern States bring into their borders more than thirty-two million dollars worth of milk products. It has been estimated that fifty of the Southeastern cities use three times as much milk and milk products as the entire South produces. Let Relief After Many Years our people get busy in supplying these demands. So much now for the need of more live stock in

To help improve these millions of acres of impoverished soil of Virginia and of other Southern States, I know of no one industry so well adapted and so prefitable as dairying, so now I am going settle down to a discussion of better dairy cows and how to get them. How much are the farmers of Virginia losing each year by keeping inferior cows? Would it be possible to make a correct estimate? If we should judge what they are losing by taking the net income from an average dairy cow and compare it with the net income of a good producer, it would run into the millions of dollars. I w not dare say that we do not have good stock in Virginia, but on the other hand, we have as good cattle as they have anywhere, some of them, but not enough of them. It is for more of the latter

The average cow in Virginia, as near as I can find out, broduces an average of a little ever 3,000 pounds of milk and 170 pounds of butter fat. Many herds in the South have more than doubled this amount, and we want every herd in Virginia to make an average of at least 5,000 pounds of milk and 250 to 300 pounds of butter fat. The old idea that a cow is a cow, and that one cow is worth just as much as another is fast disappearing, and our dairymen are realizing that it is net profit that they want, and that the cow that will give the largest net profit is the one that is worth most.

Using the figures of the Department of Agriculture in Bulletin No. 349, the common the South which gives 3,036 bounds of milk with 170 pounds of butter fat, will give net returns of $14.83 after paying for cost of feeding and handling, while the good cow, the one that we should have as an average, which gives 6,000 pounds of milk and 300 pounds of butter fat, will give a net profit of $68.36 per cow. Suppose you have a twenty cow dairy of poor to medium cows, you will make a that fail to produce results because profit on the 20 cows for the year of $296.60, while if you should have the better class of cows. or cews that measure up to the standard, you would get a net profit of $1,267.20 from your twenty cews. You can figure the difference. The question naturally arises, why does anyone keep inferior cows at such a small profit, when he can increase his net income so much by better cattle? There might be assigned two or three reasons for this. One is ignorance of what a good dairy cow will produce, and get them, or he does not take time to breed his hest cows to a good thoroughbred male and grow his calves. Let it be what it may, the dairymen of this country are losing more than 175 millions of dollars annually by keeping poor cows. Isn't it time that we were giving this question more attention? Let us work to have more cows producing 6,000 pounds and fewer of those producing half that quantity.

The State Department of Agriculture of Tennessee, together with the U.S. Department of Agriculture have put men into the field to encourage and persuade the dairyman to find out "boarder" cow and get rid of her, and replace her with a better producer. Let me give you some common within the next generation of their figures. Let us take a herd of 20 cows, one of the best they found, as a se herd produced an average of 5,974 pounds of milk with 307.5 pounds of butter, the herd giving an York physicians. Here is a list of the income of $1.845.00, or an average of $92.50 per cow. Another herd of 12 cows produced an average "don'ts" which the doctors say will of 4,283 pounds of milk and 177.8 pounds of butter. This herd made a gross income of $53.36 per cold: cow, a difference of $89.14 per cow. If it takes $45 to feed and care for a cow, the owner of herd No. 1 made a net income of $47.50 per cow while the owner of herd No. 2 would get a net income of $8.36 per cow.

I know of one man who was offered $40 per cow for his herd before the testing and weeding out proceeds, and now that same man has refused $100 per cow for his herd. He sold all inferior cows and filled their places with the heifers from the best producers in his herd.

and filled their places with the netters from the best producers in his herd.

Let us look still further at a comparison of the best and poorest of the two cows tested by these find Chamberiain's Cough Remedy most men. The best one produced 8,087 pounds of milk and 410.94 pounds of butter lat. It cost $56.96 excellent. Sold by all dealers. which made the butter fat cost about nine cents per noute. jairies are mostly near large cities and they find it more profitable to sell whole milk. Skim milk as well as the facilities for raising calves is lacking on most farms, consequently they find the raising of calves an expensive operation. As a result of this, our dairymen, most of them, depend upon the men market for their cows. The people living away from market raise very few dairy cattle, therefore we cannot depend upon that source for our stock. In many sections the dairymen go to stock yards for their cows. This is one of the chief reasons for the low production of our Souther

In addition to this, the people who are breeding dairy cows often breed them to inferior, scrub or grade males, and ignore the performance of individual cows. These customs will surely prevent any marked improvement in the dairy herds.

These three essentials are recognized to be of most importance by our best breeders of dairy cattle: (1) Systematic records should be kept of all cows so as to determine which are profitable; (2) A pure bred male, well selected, should be used; (3) The heifer calves from the best cows should be retained in the herd. If these are followed out, the herd will surely be improved.

Ladies and gentlemen. let us fill our obligation to this Commonwealth and the people who are to come after us by doing all in our power to improve the soils of Virginia, and hand them down to our children as heritage we will be glad to give, and they will be glad to receive. Let us work toward Headquarters better and more live stock, and last but by no means least, a better type of humanity will be the
