town that is likely to be the most important election that we have and work done, in order that advancement be made. ever had. The council is about to give the citizens an opportunity to vote on a bond issue for the installation of the three most needed improvements for the growth and prosperity of Manassas and unless a new council is elected in whom the people have confidence both as to ability and integrity, the whole thing will probably fail through and we will vegetate and mildew for another term of years before a council is found with courage enough to start it again. THE DEMOCRAT has said before and here repeats that nine most, five, would be ample and it would be much easier to find five strong enough to go, that he saw no reason why he should not, and capable, honest men willing to serve than it is to find nine; also five men could and would dispatch the business affairs with more ease and speed as well as more satisfaction to the tax-payers. Undoubtedly the commission form of government is the very best thing for towns and cities larger than Manassas, but our town too small to hire a man at a salary commensurate with the ability required because we haven't work enough to keep such a man busy. We will have to be content with our present management. but let us ask the new council to get the next legislature to reduce the downpour of rain last Friday night there was no nominating of the men he thinks best suited for this position. Don't forget vote either in a spirit of levity or for a man not qualified.
