In judging a man's strength there are three important points to be considered:

First—The men in control.
Second—The paid up capital.
Third—Surplus, Undivided Profits and Stockholders' Liability, which is $79,000,000, making the financial strength of The National Bank of Manassas

A CONCEPTION OF IDEAS

There seems to be a tendency in the literature and on the stage to portray the white slave traffic as an evil which существует against the white slave traffic there seems to have risen a demand for stories and plays dealing with the sex problem. Writers and publishers who have been long interested in this question will deal in this sort of literature because there is a market for it. They may be better than owners of homes of ill-fame but they are in the same immoral business.

A WOMAN'S A WOMAN FOR THAT

Endowed woman with the ballot does not detract from her womanly instincts. It does not lower her in any way. She is still a woman and a good woman and the fact that she has the ballot will enrich democracy. She will take her place in the fight for quality and the ballot will make her a more enlightened and liberal woman. She will vote for the best and against the worst.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS

The Democrat, at the danger of being accused of "buttering it, has taken the privilege from time to time of suggesting improvements in some measure of public service. This is because the town is in trouble and has at this time a few things in its system that will at least look well on paper.

First: The town needs a districting system of sewers. It is a mistake to have a system of sewers that is too small. A good system of sewers will save the town money and the expense of guttering the main streets. A system of sewers is necessary.

Second: A pair of saws located on a prominent and easily accessible street in the town would be a great convenience to merchants and farmers who would pay a good rate of interest on the investment.

Third: The town ought to own a team of mules, wagon and mower. Nearly every town in the state owns one or more mules and it is a great expense to have a wagon and mower. When one town does the dirt could beiname off the streets more promptly and the wagon, if owned by the town, would be more economical.

Fourth: The town would suggest that so long as an "A" has been laid for a new town hall, one years' assessment collected and the second nearly due that the council make its arrangements to build next summer so we can get the benefit of the coolness and usefulness of the structure as soon as possible.

Small farmers need weather, lights and services are the heart of an engine. Get one that is of questionable integrity and you may have no trouble in the mechanic can't even attempt him. He will have seven or eight months' work with an asn tant like most of them and his time is worth more than common hikes.

VEGETARIANISM GONE WRONG

The members of the United States biological survey who found on the roads for the control of bloods had, among their difficulties, the case of the bob-o-link.

When this bird comes to us in the spring and puts on its natural plumage, he is a most attractive, handsome sight as he is carried on a feed, informing the farmer, with every note in the musical scale, that his crops are going to be protected if "the gift of God's bowels is best" will hold on. But in the autumn, the bloods put on his mig-grating clothes and turn vegetarian. The seeds he sates in the north can be spread, being mostly weed seeds. It is in the south where the bob-o-link puts on his chef. He depends on the roots fields and what he does there stays with the plants in the future as well as at present. National Weekly.
