GREENWICH Miss Susanna Veeder, who spent several days in our town, has returned to Washington. Mr. Thomas Borwell, of Washington, is visiting Rev. J. R. Cooke. Misses Myrtle E. Johnson and Mr. G. H. Washington motored to Calvert, Calverton, Cassanova, Meets, Warrenton and Haymarket last Friday on business.

FIELD DAY WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Over Six Hundred People Were in Attendance—White Rose Wins and Loses.

The Prince William Field Day held Saturday on Smith's Field was a success in every way. It is estimated that between six and seven hundred people were in attendance. The gate receipts totaled over two hundred and fifty dollars. Considerable expense was attached to the occasion and as yet the amount that was cleared is not known.

At noon Congressman Upshaw, the "Georgia Cyclone," gave an inspiring talk. Among the things he especially emphasized were better and cleaner living, progressiveness of the individual and the community and that Prince William county people get together and erect a community auditorium in Manassas.

Immediately after the Congressman's speech the first ball game of the double header staged with Purcellville, champions of Loudoun county, started. "Uncle Nick" Altrock, of the Washington baseball club, who had been procured for the occasion, was on hand for the fun-making.

In the last half of the ninth the home team staged a rally which produced five runs. Trimmer led off with a hit and scored on Reid's double. Rittenour made first base and Calvert walked, both scoring on Adams' double. Brower fanned. Pearson followed with a hit scoring Adams. Altrock, next up, was hit by a pitched ball. Saunders lifted an easy fly to second base. Trimmer ended the rally that he had started by fanning. Three runs more and Manassas would have tied the score.

The second game was by far the best of the two. Manassas finished on the long end of a 5 to 3 score. Dennis, pitching for Manassas, was steady at all times. He walked only one of the opponents and in only one inning did he yield more than one hit. This was in the second inning when they made two hits and showed across one run for their only earned tally in the game.

The White Roses tied the score in the third inning when Reid hit safely and Adams, running the path for Reid scored in a bingle by Dennis. Purcellville took the lead again in the fourth when M. McDaniel scored on error after making a freak triple to right, the ball taking a high bound over the fielder's head. In our half Altrock hit safely with one down and ambled across the plate on Adams' triple. Adams scored on error. Saunders made first base but Reid, following, hit into a fast double play.

MUSIC PUPILS GIVE AUDITORIUM BENEFIT

Many People Enjoy Program of Temple School Students—Master Hopkins Stars.

Last night in Conner's Hall the Temple School of Music presented "An Evening Down in Dixie." The performance was most creditable and those in charge are to be congratulated as well as are those who took part.

The program opened with the musical sketch, "The Sandman." Miss Susan Ish Harrison took the part of "Mammy Choloce," Miss Esther Warren Patten the part of the good girl, Master Charles Webster Hopkins, the part of the naughty boy and little Miss Mary Pricilla Lunsford the part of the baby. Each part was taken in a pleasing manner and little Miss Mary Pricilla was not content to leave the stage with her fellow actors and actresses, but climbed into a rocking chair for the rest of the play.

In the "Little Red Riding Hood" scene little Miss Walsler Conner took the part of Little Red Riding Hood and Master Julius Hopkins the part of the wolf. In "Cinderella" Miss Rena Bevans took the leading part while Miss Rose Ratcliffe took the part of the Prince and Miss Lucie Athey the part of the fairy god-mother.

Next the stage was filled with a chorus of forty voices. Mr. Worth Stork, the ever popular reader and impersonator, appeared on the stage in negro make-up as "Uncle Chad," and gave a humorous sketch entitled, "The One-Legged Goose" and introduced the various songs by the chorus and the songs and dances of Master Julius Hopkins. In the chorus Misses Catherine Weir and Muriel Larkin ably took the soloist parts.

MR. C. H. FRY GIVEN SURPRISE

On last Wednesday night May 10, about one hundred and fifty people from Fairfax Court House, Fairfax Station and Clifton assembled themselves at the home of their pastor, Rev. Charles H. Fry in commemoration of his birthday, and gave him a complete surprise and a most enjoyable time was spent.

Ice cream, lemonade, sandwiches, cake and potato salad were served, after which a devotional service was led by Mrs. Clyde Mathers, then several addresses were enjoyed. When everything was in full swing Mrs. Henry Jones presented to Rev. Fry a most beautiful birthday cake, illuminated by forty-two burning wax candles, in behalf of the pastor's friends at Fairfax Station.

No sooner was this done than another birthday cake with burning candles was presented by Mrs. Clyde Mathers. Then the Hustler's Club of the Oliften Baptist Sunday School which Mr. Fry was instrumental in organizing and which has been giving dramatic entertainments in surrounding towns the past winter and spring, arranged themselves in a circle around the pastor and Harry Calhoun, vice-president of the club, in a few well chosen words presented to Mr. Fry in behalf of the club, a very handsome leather suit case, to which Mr. Fry responded in a touching manner.

After this games were indulged in and a most friendly and enjoyable time was had, showing the friendly, loving and co-operative spirit that exists between pastor and people. All left for their homes wishing Mr. Fry many more happy birthdays. Adams. Struck out, by Brower, 5; by Dennis, 4. Base on balls, Dennis, 1. Umpire Saunders. Parcellville has a ball-playing team which is well balanced and carries a punch. They should also be commended on their good sportsmanship. "Uncle Nick" kept the spectators in smiles and giggles by his funny antics and speeches. He also put on an exhibition of fancy dancing to the music of the Marine Band. Many people who had never seen him before now know why he is one of the biggest drawing cards in the present baseball world.

ALL IN READINESS FOR THE BIG SCHOOL MEET

Closest Competition in Years Expected When District High Schools Meet May 20.

The thirteenth annual track and field meet of the Eighth Congressional District High Schools will be held on Round Athletic Field in Manassas tomorrow afternoon.

Four schools have entered teams and more may be on hand. The four already entered are Alexandria, Calverton, Floris and Manassas. Leesburg and Warrenton may also send teams. Over fifty entries have been made and keen competition is expected. Several records are in danger of being broken.

If Manassas wins this year the silver cup will become her permanent possession as Manassas has won first honors for the last two years. This cup was put up for competition in 1915. Manassas won it that year and the following. Warrenton then took it away for the next year only to have Alexandria capture it the next two years, Manassas won it back in 1920 and again last year.

Manassas is the only school that has been represented in every meet since the first one was held here in 1910. Since then the school has won the cup eight times. Members of the school's teams also hold eight records in the eleven events.

The following events will compose the list tomorrow afternoon: 100, 220 and 880 yard dashes, mile run, 120 yard hurdles, pole vault, high and broad jumps, shot put and discus throw.

PREPARATORY MEETINGS Will Begin Next Week—Church Choirs Are Asked to Unite.

Next Monday night at 8 o'clock in Grace M. E. Church, a series of prayer meetings will begin preparatory to the Union meeting to be conducted by Rev. Cloris G. Chappell, of Washington, beginning on Monday night May 29. Choirs of the various churches participating, are requested to unite their forces, and report for practice, which will immediately follow each prayer service. It has been decided to use the new Gypsy Smith hymn book, but as the new book contains many of the hymns used at the tabernacle meetings, it is suggested that those who have copies of the old book bring them to practice.

TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Finance Committee and Mayor Authorized to Have Bonds Printed and Sold.

At a regular adjourned meeting of the town council held on Monday night at the town hall, Mayor Harry P. Davis and the following councilmen were present: Messrs. B. C. Cornwall, M. M. Jenkins, R. S. Hynson, C. M. Larkin, J. H. Burke, J. M. Bell and M. Bruce Whitmore.

The minutes of the meeting held on April 24, were read and approved.

Mr. R. M. Weir appeared before the Council in regards to livery license and the council amended section 62 of the recently enacted license tax schedule to read $5.00 for a livery stable of five stalls or less.

The mayor called the attention of the council to the fact that the council had not elected a president pro tem for the council in case the mayor was absent. On motion of Councilman Hynson, Councilman M. Bruce Whitmore, chairman of the finance committee, and a very able councilman, was elected to the position.

After a discussion on the bond issue recently authorized by the State Legislature, to pay off the floating indebtedness of the town, Councilman Burke moved, that an ordinance be voted upon. The following ordinance was unanimously passed:

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Manassas, Va., that the Finance Committee and the Mayor be and are hereby authorized to have printed the bonds described on the resolution passed on March 28, 1922, and be it further ordained that the finance committee and the Mayor be and are hereby authorized and directed to negotiate the sale of these bonds at a public or private sale.

A note of $8,400 in favor of the National Bank of Manassas, was ordered renewed and the interest paid thereon.

A bill of $80.00 rent for the public hitching lot was ordered paid.

It was ordered that the sum of $42.22 be paid the Manassas Motor Co. and the sum of $15.00 to Mr. E. A. Hutchison for attorney's services.

Section 20 of the license tax schedule was affected by adding to it the following provision: A licensed barber shop shall have the privilege of keeping a shoe shine in the room in which the barber conducts his business.

Section 75 was amended to read as follows: Every physician or surgeon practicing in the town of Manassas will be required to pay the physicians' license tax.

The above amendments were unanimously passed on motion of Councilman Hynson, Councilman C. M. Larkin not voting.

Councilman Hynson brought to the attention of the council the request of the vestrymen of the Trinity Episcopal Church that the town council co-operate with them in lighting a concrete walk in front of their church. The request was put to a motion and it passed, the town to pay one-third of the cost, not to exceed $50.00. These terms of co-operation were made so generous only because of the fact that the request was from a church, the council wishes to have noted.

The council will next meet on Monday night, May 29.

OUR BIRTHDAY

With this issue The Journal is entering its twenty-eighth year of success. Each year, since The Journal was established in Manassas in 1895 by the late W. H. W. Moran, who guided it through its hardest years of existence, has been marked with more success than the year preceding it. Through all these years it has urged town, community and county progress. The results stand for the public's inspection.

Every week it has watched and silently recorded the events and happenings of the community. Its files are really a modern history of our town and county. Through its editorial columns it has pushed for a bigger and better Manassas, a more progressive county, and for what it thought was right.

Success in the newspaper world can most easily be registered by reference to the paper's subscription list. Our list is the largest in the county and one of the largest in Northern Virginia. We are proud of it. Every day it grows larger. Subscribers and friends, we thank you. We want you to feel that The Journal is your paper.

Another earmark of business success is continued management. The present owner and manager was with The Journal when the first issue appeared twenty-eight years ago and has been connected with it ever since.

Today our policy is little changed. We are trying to make The Journal a live home paper. A paper that every member of the family will want to read. To our friends it is unnecessary to re-announce that we are staunch supporters of the Democratic party.

We cannot greet with best wishes for success and happiness, our host of subscribers and friends on each one's birthday so we are taking advantage of our own birthday to greet you.

GREETINGS.

THE GASOLINE GOUGE

Whenever a monopoly or a combination has wanted to levy a special tax upon the public, it usually has invoked the old economic law of supply and demand. It has justified its grab policy by pointing to diminished production of a given commodity or by an over-demand. And people, without any positive knowledge of the facts, have tamely stood for the gouging.

At the moment the Standard Oil Company is engaged in taking a little heavier toll from the gasoline consumers of the country. It has advanced its price 2 cents in most centers and as much as 3 cents a gallon in others. The so-called "independents" have done likewise. The price increases have been so general and so uniform on the part of all producing interests that the conclusion is inescapable that they are made as a result of friendly understanding.

To date the gasoline producers have merely referred to "market conditions" as a defense of their action. Exactly what is meant by this remains to be explained. If the oil companies dared they probably would fall back upon the dear old supply and demand platitude as their answer, but it so happens that this gun had been effectively spiked before it could be discharged.

The Bureau of Mines, which interests itself in gasoline production, has confided to the public that a new high mark in the stock of gasoline in the United States has just been reached, and on April 1 a total of 854,232,000 gallons of that commodity was in storage, awaiting a market. This was an increase in a single month of nearly 50,000,000 gallons.

This does not indicate any marked increase in the demand, such an increase, for example, as would warrant a quick and decisive jump in price to the consumer. If the stocks had been reduced either by diminished production or by an increase in consumption there might be some excuse for shaking down the public. But the stocks have increased enormously within the past six months and the aggregate amount of this product now in storage may soon reach the billion-gallon point.

The Senate was quick to call for an official investigation of the amazing action of oil producers in demanding more money for its output at a time when production was steadily increasing and consumption apparently was at a standstill. The Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission were ordered by formal resolution to get at the truth about this business and to report the truth to Congress.

This inquiry will not merely comprehend the question of price advances, but it will go further, if the Senate's orders are carried out. It will throw some light on the phenomenon of a group of great "competitors" in the oil industry deciding at the same time to raise the price of their gasoline to exactly the same extent.

There may be collusion, of course, on the part of these interests. There may be no understanding or agreement, but it seems singular that all of them should entertain the same thought at almost the same hour of the same day and all should act on that thought in the same manner. The millions of gasoline consumers in this country will be interested to know how this could be possible without some interchange of ideas on the part of the competitors.—Richmond-Times Dispatch.

OVER THE HILL TO THE POOR HOUSE

Over the hill to the poor-house I'm trudgin' my weary way,—
 I, a woman of seventy, and only a trifle gray,—
 I who am smart an' chipper, for all the years I've told,
 As many another woman that's only half as old.

Over the hill to the poor-house,—I can't quite make it clear!
 Over the hill to the poor-house,—it seems so horrid queer!
 Many a step I've taken a toilin' to and fro,
 But this is a sort of journey I never thought to go.

What is the use of heapin' on me a pauper's shame?
 Am I lazy or crazy? am I blind or lame?
 True, I am not so supple, nor yet so awful stout;
 But charity ain't no favor, if one can live without.

I am willin' and anxious an' ready any day
 To work for a decent livin', and pay my honest way;
 For I can earn my victuals, an' more too, I'll be bound,
 If anybody only is willin' to have me round.

Once I was young an' han'some,—I was, upon my soul,—
 Once my cheeks were roses, my eyes as black as coal;
 And I can't remember, in them days, of hearin' people say,
 For any kind of a reason, that I was in their way.

Tain't no use of boastin', or talkin' over free,
 But many a house an' home was open then to me;
 Many a han'some offer I had from likely men,
 And nobody ever hinted that I was a burden then.

And when to John I was married, sure he was good and smart,
 But he and all the neighbors would own I done my part;
 For life was all before me, an' I was young an' strong,
 And I worked the best that I could in tryin' to get along.

And so we worked together; and life was hard, but gay,
 With now and then a baby for to cheer us on our way;
 Till we had half a dozen, an' all growed clean an' neat,
 An' went to school like others, an' had enough to eat.

So we worked for the childer'n, and raised 'em every one;
 Worked for 'em summer and winter, just as we ought to've done;
 Only perhaps we humored 'em, which some good folks condemn,
 But every couple's childer'n's a heap the best to them.

Strange how much we think of our blessed little ones!—
 I'd have died for my daughters, I'd have died for my sons;
 And God He made that rule of love; but when we're old and gray,
 I've noticed it sometimes somehow fails to work the other way.

Strange, another thing; when our boys and girls was grown,
 And when, exceptin' Charley, they'd left us there alone;
 When John, he nearer an' nearer come, an' dearer seemed to be,
 The Lord of Hosts He come one day an' took him away from me.

Still I was bound to struggle, an' never to cringe or fall,—
 Still I worked for Charley, for Charley was now my all;
 And Charley was pretty good to me, with scarce a word or frown,
 Till at last he went a courtin', and brought a wife from town.

She was somewhat dressy, an' hadn't a pleasant smile,—
 She was quite conceited, and carried a heap of style;
 But if ever I tried to be friends, I did with her, I know;
 But she was hard and proud, an' I couldn't make it go.

She had an education, an' that was good for her;
 But when she twitted me on mine, 'twas carryin' things too far;
 An' I told her once, 'fore company (an' it almost made her sick)
 That I never swallowed a grammar, or 't a 'rithmetic.

So 'twas only a few days before the thing was done,—
 They was a family of themselves, an' I another one;
 And a very little cottage one family will do,
 But I never have seen a house that was big enough for two.

An' I never could speak to suit her, never could please her eye,
 An' it made me independent, an' then I didn't try;
 But I was terribly staggered, an' felt it like a blow,
 When Charley turned 'g'in me, an' told me I could go.

I went to live with Susan, but Susan's house was small
 And she was always a blatin' how 'twas for us all;
 And what with her husband's sisters, and what with childer'n three,
 'Twas easy to discover that there wasn't room for me.

An' then I went to Thomas, the oldest son I've got,
 For Thomas's buildings'd cover the half of an acre lot;
 But all the childer'n was up me—I couldn't stand their sauce—
 And Thomas said I needn't think I was comin' there to boss.

An' then I wrote to Rebecca, my girl who lives out West,
 And to Isaac, not far from her—some twenty miles at best;
 And one of 'em said 'twas too warm there for any one so old,
 And t'other had an opinion the climate was too cold.

So they have shirked and slighted me, an' shifted me about—
 So they have well-nigh soured me, an' wore my old heart out;
 But still I've borne up pretty well, an' wasn't much put down.

Thil Charley went to the poor-master, an' put me on the town.

Over the hill to the poor-house—my childer'n dear, goodbye!
 Many a night I've watched you when only God was nigh;
 And God'll judge between us; but I will al'ways pray
 That you shall never suffer the half I do today.

—Will M. Cariton.

CLIFTON

Rev. T. H. MacLeod preached Sunday morning on the subject of the "Place of the Woman in the World and Especially in the Home." Among other things he said man was regarded as head of the home, but the woman was as certainly the heart which was far more important to the welfare of the home. He took as his Biblical example the Shumanite Woman.

In the afternoon the Centreville Sunday School Convention met in the Presbyterian Church with District Chairman H. Calhoun in the chair.

The Sunday Schools of the District were all represented except Jerusalem Baptist.

The Clifton Baptists turned out in full force with the classes bearing banners.

Mr. Miller, County chairman was present and made an address, he gave an account of the State Sunday School Convention held in Charlottesville last February. He urged the schools to send a delegate to every convention to get inspiration.

Mr. Miller also gave some statistics showing that the citizens of the state of Virginia had paid out a sum of $96,000 in one year for luxuries, he stated that if that had been added to funds for the Lord's cause or even the half of it, the work could be very materially advanced.

Rev. T. H. MacLeod gave an address on the subject of ships the Sunday School workers should build.

First came Membership, every effort should be made to get as many members as we can.

Second came Discipleship after making them members we should use every means to make them believers and workers.

Third came Worship, after becoming members and disciples, then every effort should be made to have them understand how to worship and how to regard God.

Fourth came Stewardship, showing that we should endeavor to edify the members and disciples to give a certain portion of his means to the cause of God.

Fifth came Leadership, training them to become leaders.

Rev. C. H. Fry preached in the Baptist Church at night.

The school entertainment Friday night was a decided success and was a credit to Miss Hudson and her assistants. One of the audience said she never saw any thing so funny.

The following program was rendered:

A play entitled "The Rummage Sale."

A play entitled "A Slight Misunderstanding."

STATE NEWS NOTES

Professor M. Goode Homes, who was shot and killed last Saturday by Marshal Ben Hsie, at the University of South Carolina, made his home in Charlottesville for a number of years. Before and following his graduation from the university, he was a member of the engineering firm of Homes, Wayland & Brown, of that city, resident engineers on the first macadam roads built out of Charlottesville—the Ivy, Fry's Spring and Rio roads. He also designed and built Altamont Circle, that city, and Gildersleeve Wood, at the university. From here Mr. Homes went direct, in the fall of 1909, to the University of South Carolina, where he was made dean of the engineering school, and was prominently connected with many projects. Professor Homes married a Miss Crosby, of Augusta county. She survives with four children.

Damages estimated at $600,000 was caused in Bristol and surrounding sections last Thursday night by high waters from Beaver Creek, which flooded a dozen streets in the center of the city, numerous business houses and stores. Many persons were forced to leave their homes. The Virginia post office; the Hotel Bristol, and a number of stores on State street, near the creek, were flooded. The Virginia courthouse was entirely surrounded, but little water got inside. Barricades of sandbags were used to keep the flood from many establishments. Heavy damage to farms north of Bristol were reported.

A bright-eyed baby, perhaps 2 1/2 months old, was found late Saturday at his father's home, west of Winchester. The infant was dressed in expensively made clothing and another change of clothes lay nearby in a bundle. A heavy blanket was wrapped around the child. The waif was turned over to nurses at Memorial Hospital and the find reported to police officers at Winchester. Mr. Massey said he was preparing to retire when he heard the child's cries, and found it in the gateway. He and his wife had been attending the theatre at Winchester and had gone home. The child was not there when they passed through the gate, and Mr. Massey was of the opinion that whoever deserted the little girl placed her at the front gate soon after the Masseys returned home.

My feet are a little wet, but I had no great trouble getting back to the hotel. You people here certainly put on great floods."

This was the remark made on Friday night by former Governor Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia, after he had found himself cut off from his hotel by cold, muddy water which ran several feet deep in streets on both sides of the hotel. Gov. Davis was on State street when the flood began about 10 o'clock and he immediately hurried for the hotel only to find the way blocked.

"I inquired of a policeman as to the best way to get back," said the former Governor, with a smile, "and he directed me to take a side street for a detour and approach the hotel from the rear. I followed his directions and walked several blocks around and entered the hotel by the rear door." As the Governor was talking the water ran five feet deep in Moore Street front of the Hotel Bristol where he was stopping.

Many guests at the hotel, finding themselves cut off, removed their shoes and hoes and waded down the streets rather than take the long way around. One man slipped and fell at the entrance of an alley, and was almost carried away by a torrent rushing toward Beaver Creek before he was rescued by two companions.

The Danville police have been asked to look for Thomas L. Smith, a resident of the Mountain Hill section four miles from Danville, who has been missing since last Tuesday under circumstances which have not been explained. He left home on Tuesday to come to Danville. A few weeks ago he was ill and after recovering he appeared to have moody moments. The theory is that he has suffered some form of aberration and is wandering about the country. The woods have been searched and the Danville police are sending out descriptions of the man who is thirty-two years of age, about five feet six inches tall, with light hair and blue eyes.

A narrow strip of Campbell and Appomattox counties between Lynchburg and Appomattox was visited by a hail storm Sunday afternoon which in places stripped trees of the foliage. part of the city experienced the storm, but the stones were too small to do injury.

R. E. BYRD, JR., President CHAS. P. STEARNS, Vice-President

TO THE Farmers of Prince William County:

Have you ever stopped to think what benefits you have derived from the Farmers' Union? Stop and think the matter over with yourself of how many dollars you have to your credit actually saved by the organization of the Farmers' Union.

Look at the legislation we are getting in our favor now. Were we ever recognized before? No. But believe me those fellows down yonder in Washington have been calling on the farmers and asking them what they want done.

Man alive, LISTEN! I want to tell you right now that if it was not for the Farmers' Union today, what would you be paying for your fertilizer? Who brought those fellows to time? It was the Farmers' Union and believe me, this grand old Union is handing it right on to its brother farmer. You fellows who need fertilizer should see your Exchange. They have your needs at heart; they have the price and you will be benefited in three ways instead of one. Ask the manager and he will tell you.

Gentlemen, listen; don't stick your nose too close to the grindstone. Keep your eyes and ears open. Study the questions of the day that are coming before you. Be on your guard. Join the Farmers' Union. Help yourself as well as others.

TO THE LADIES OF THE COUNTY: We invite you to join us. We need your help. Hunch that man of yours and tell him you are on. Stand with your Union, the farmer has got to rise. Don't let Capital sit on us always. The farmers control the wealth of the world. All they need is organization.

Brother farmer, listen. Let's have a heart to heart talk. When you trade at your Exchange you buy as cheap as you can anywhere else. The profits come back to you, so why not join the Union and become a stockholder in your local Exchange?

Brother, we could make our organization the biggest thing in old Prince William county if you would come in and join us. We can market everything we have to sell and eliminate all middlemen. Look up your local secretary and treasurer and tell him that you are on and that he can bank on you, now and forever more. We are for just laws and good citizenship.

To the Purchasers of a 30 x 3½ Usco for $10.90

WHEN the "Usco" Tire announced its new price of $10.90 it carried this understood contract with the buyer—

A price reduction made in good faith—using all the U. S. advanced art of tire making not only to get the price down, but to keep the quality up.

Today $10.90 is not the uncommon price it was last November.

But the "Usco" Tire is still the uncommon tire value it always has been.

Because in carrying out the "Usco" price reduction in good faith, we learned something about raising the quality, too.
