

An aerial photograph of a residential development, showing a grid of streets and several large, irregularly shaped lots. The lots are mostly undeveloped, with some showing signs of construction or clearing. A large, semi-transparent red watermark with the word 'DRAFT' in a bold, sans-serif font is overlaid across the center of the image. The watermark is slightly tilted and has a thick red outline. The background is a high-resolution aerial image showing the layout of the development, including streets, lots, and some vegetation. The overall tone is professional and technical, typical of a planning or engineering document.
