A THIRD CORN TEST PLANNED

Corn Growers Quick to See Benefits to Be Derived From Testing Before Planting.

(H. W. Sanders)

Many of the corn growers of Prince William county were quick to see the benefits to be derived from testing the seed for root rot as is evidenced by the fact that 1,145 ears of corn were brought in to the high school to be included in the second test as compared with 645 ears, the number included in the first test. Mr. James Godkin, specialist in plant pathology from Blacksburg, will be in Manassas today and tomorrow in the interest of the work and will have charge of the reading of results.

Farmers are especially requested to call at the agricultural building on Saturday to secure their samples of corn, get the results, and confer with Mr. Godkin concerning their corn breeding problems. Whether you have entered any corn to be tested or not it will be worth your time to learn the possibilities of the test. One state has fifty community germinators in as many counties. At the present time Virginia has only four and it is the earnest desire of those in charge of the work to have them serve the largest possible number of corn growers.

Several samples have already been received for the third test which will be started next week. The germinator will test at least 2,000 ears at one time. If it can be filled next week, the total number of ears tested will approach the 4,000 mark, which would probably mean that a majority of the corn growers of the county had been served in a most practical and profitable way. Moreover, further assistance will be rendered those who take advantage of the test by the Extension Division of Blacksburg. Mr. Godkin will return in the fall to help with the field selection of seed corn and again in the winter to assist with crib selection. It is further planned to continue the work through a period of years, thereby attaining the maximum results. It is for these reasons that it is especially desirable for those who are interested to begin the work this year.

COUNTY FARMERS HOLD MEETING AT COURTHOUSE

Important Business Discussed—Educational Program Was Planned for May.

(J. H. Dodge, Secretary)

The County Farmers' Union met at the courthouse last Saturday morning with President R. L. Kane, of Nokesville, in the chair.

The committee, consisting of J. H. Dodge, W. B. Doak and R. L. Lewis, on the Farm Credits Bank, made its report, and were continued with authority to organize such an association for the county. Mr. B. F. A. Myers, of Clifton, was mentioned for the district director in the association.

Bro. W. L. Browning was appointed a committee to secure a crowd at the monthly meetings. Prof. H. W. Sanders spoke on the seed corn testing being conducted by the high school, and asked that an educational program be put on for the May meeting. Bros. J. H. Dodge, W. L. Browning and H. W. Sanders were appointed to arrange such a program.

County Agent Browning spoke of the corn growing contest he is going to put on in the county, and also spoke on the cannery to be established near Manassas for the purpose of putting up tomatoes.

Bros. W. L. Lloyd and W. L. Browning were appointed a committee to investigate the advisability of the establishment of a wheat elevator in the county.

The meeting adjourned to meet in the forenoon, May 12.

TRACK MEET TOMORROW

Lovers of outdoor sport will get their first treat of the spring in Manassas tomorrow afternoon when a track meet will be held on Round athletic field. Besides the local high school the teams representing Florida and Culpeper will contest for the championship of Northern Virginia agricultural high schools. Over thirty boys have been entered in the eleven events.

Reports for Manassas high and graded schools have been sent out this week and last. The honor roll for the schools will be found elsewhere in these columns.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX ON OR BEFORE MAY 5

Unless you do this you cannot vote at the election on November 6, 1923, at which time members of the Senate and House of Delegates and county officers will be chosen and the Bond Issue for Roads voted on. Neither can Democrats vote in the August primary unless they pay poll tax on or before May 5.

If you wish to qualify for these important elections go to see your local treasurer AT ONCE. If you are not registered, see the Registrar of your precinct.

NOTED ARTISTS GIVE RECITAL

Alex and Alice Skovgaard Entertain Highly Appreciative Audience on Monday.

That the people of Manassas really appreciate good music was evinced on Monday evening, when every seat in the Parish Hall was taken at the recital given by Alex and Alice Skovgaard, noted violinist and pianist, under the auspices of Manassas Chapter, U. D. C. for the benefit of the Manassas Battlefield Park Association.

The program opened with the Sonata in E minor, by Sjorgren, a composition serious in vein, which was followed by several lighter numbers all played by the violinist.

Perhaps the most enjoyable violin numbers on the program were, "The Guitar," by Reinecke; the "Indian Snake Dance," Cecil Burchleigh and the "Minuet from the Quintet in E major," Boccherini. Mr. Skovgaard graciously responded with a number of encores including some of the old favorites.

It was indeed a wonderful opportunity for Manassas people, especially violin students, to hear this artist play with his superb tone and finished technique.

Mrs. Skovgaard was also most enthusiastically received by the audience, especially by the piano students, a number of whom were present. Her accompanying was perfect and her solo work charming. Rhythm, exquisite interpretation and delicacy of touch, beautifully musical as well as technically perfect, were all combined in this pianiste. Her numbers were modern in type and were all lovely.

Although these artists are not accustomed to playing in small towns, appearing only in the large cities, they were modest and unassuming as all truly great people are.

The artist expressed himself as much pleased to see the attention and musical appreciation of his audience.

The Temple School of Music kindly furnished a piano for the evening and co-operated in every way with the Daughters of the Confederacy in making the occasion a success.

AN UNUSUAL TRIP OF NOTABLE INTEREST

MAJOR EWING SPEAK FOR WASHINGTON-VIRGINIA PARTY ON NEW ORLEANS TRIP

(By Miss T. S. B.)

Valley and mountain and river, forest and city, field and stream, stories of the war of the 60's and beauties and progress in our Southland today—all these made forever memorable a trip by eighty-five Virginia and Washington people April 8 to 16, inclusive. The occasion was the Confederate reunion at New Orleans, the Crescent City along the dykes of the majestic Father of Waters. In three chartered Pullmans the party, jolly or serious, as occasion required, went out and for the most part spent the sleeping hours in their respective bunks. In a quiet spot the cars were parked on Elision Fields, in New Orleans, accessible by trolley, service and every convenience being furnished by the railway people. It was a great camping party, bent on pleasure and keeping alive the best traditions of the Confederate South.

One car contained Washington and Virginia Confederate veterans, their entire expense being defrayed by the Washington camp of Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Montgomery, Alabama, was reached about noon of Monday going out. The cars were parked and the entire party taken by citizens of the city for an auto ride about the place and into its lovely and prosperous suburbs. Lunch by the Daughters of the Confederacy was served at the first White House of the Confederacy; and then the party was received by the governor. Standing on the spot where Jefferson Davis became President of the Confederacy, the governor made a stirring address. Another auto ride followed, and then at seven the citizens of the city gave the party a splendid banquet at the leading hotel.

Speeches of welcome and good fellowship were made by the mayor and many distinguished men and women. By unanimous arrangement Major E. W. Ewing, long recognized as a prominent lawyer of Washington and Virginia, had been selected to respond for the party. His fine words and happy expressions brought round after round of applause and at his close he received a well-earned ovation.

The party reached New Orleans early Tuesday morning. There were occasional showers; but the weather was balmy and flowers grew in the open everywhere. The reunion was the usual success. Major Ewing addressed the Sons' convention on behalf of the Manassas battlefield park. His address received high praise and his work for that great memorial was one of the notable features of the reunion. He was supported in a forceful and eloquent appeal by Governor Trimble, of Virginia.

The party left for home Friday night. Breakfast was had in Mobile and at eight o'clock the party went on board a U. S. Revenue cutter, armed with four long range guns, and enjoyed a delightful sail down to the Gulf of Mexico. Lunch was served on board. The party landed for two hours at historic Fort Morgan, within sight of the smoke of Pensacola, Florida, and returned to Mobile in time for an hour's inspiring drive about that lovely city along the shores of that commerce laden bay. By request of the party Major Ewing, in a beautiful address, thanked the officers of the ship, who were from Massachusetts; made appropriate reference to the gray clad Confederates on board a Federal boat; and presented Mrs. Stanley Finch, of Mobile, "a splendid representative of the noble, hospitable and intelligent womanhood of the South," truthfully said the speaker, to whom the party was indebted for the bountiful and complimentary lunch served aboard.

The second Sunday morning, bright and quiet, found the party near Atlanta, the rich and charming green city of Georgia. Nearly all the party gathered in the veteran's car and sang many soul stirring old-time religious songs. Major Ewing, again pressed into service, presented as "the silver tongued orator not only of Virginia but of the national capital," gave an impressive reading and short exposition of the nineteenth Psalm, a veteran led the prayer; other songs followed and the occasion was greatly enjoyed. For two hours the party drove about lovely streets of Atlanta, its green grass, bright flowers and genial sunshine giving no hint of the storm at that time gripping our section; and about noon Monday reached home.

About one-third of the party was from Arlington and Fairfax counties.

SHIPS ABLAZE ON THE POTOMAC

Wooden Craft at Quantico And Others on James River Destroyed by Fire.

Fire broke out among a score of valuable wooden ships anchored in the Potomac river three miles below Quantico, Va., Wednesday and meager reports indicate thousands of dollars in damage.

Simultaneous with the news of the fire on ten ships anchored in the Potomac river came word from the Shipping Board that 200 wooden ships were threatened with fire in the James river, near Clairmont, Va.

Through powerful field glasses, Maj. H. N. Manney, chief of staff of Quantico, told the Times that he saw four of the ships enveloped in flames and that they were lying in a line of five other ships, two abreast.

Major Manney reported that through his glasses he saw a navy tug come alongside and cut three of the ships free of the fire.

Major Manney says that the boats which were afloat in the Potomac river were recently sold by the Shipping Board to an Alexandria shipbuilding company.

The ships in the James river were sold recently by the Shipping Board to the Western Salvage Company, of San Francisco.

Immediately after receiving word of the fire Major Manney sent Captain Heufe, of Quantico, to the scene in a motor boat.

A squad of navy airplanes were also dispatched with a view of rendering assistance and taking pictures of the blaze.—Washington Times.

The Tri-County Short Course, which will include the counties of Prince William, Fairfax and Stafford, will be held at Eastern College, Manassas, from July 9-14. Plans have been made for giving instructions in various phases of club work and very attractive programs, both educational and recreational, have been planned for each day during the week.

SCHOOLS WILL HOLD MAY DAY

Plans Completed to Hold Interesting Program at Central Point in Each District.

Miss Grace B. Moran, supervisor of rural schools in this county, has planned a most interesting May day program for each school district.

Plans have already been completed and the dates set for holding celebrations in the six districts. The following is the schedule:

The schools of Brentsville district will meet at Nokesville on May 4; those of Gainesville will have a combined entertainment at Haymarket on May 11; Independent Hill will be the gathering place of the schools of Coles district on May 12; the schools of Manassas district will be entertained at the Bennett school on May 18; those of Dumfries district at Dumfries May 19, while Bethel has been chosen as a meeting place for the schools of Occoquan district on May 25.

The program for each of these May day celebrations will open with a school parade followed by group singing, crowning of the May Queen, May pole dances, recitations and drills.

During the course of the afternoon a league rally will be held, also athletic sports of all kinds. The school work of the children will also be on exhibition.

One of the chief features of the day will be the basket picnic, to which every one is cordially invited to come, bring a basket and participate in. Parents are asked to co-operate in making the celebration in their respective districts a success, not only by furnishing means of transportation for their children to the place of meeting but by attending themselves.

An all-day picnic will be held at Nokesville school on Saturday, April 28, beginning at 10 a. m., under the auspices of the Farmers' Union. Every one is cordially invited to come and bring their family and basket, and join in an old-fashioned picnic.

COUNTY AGENT PLANS CONTEST

Gold and Silver Medals to Be Awarded Winners in Corn Growing Campaign.

(W. L. Browning, County Agent)

After we have found that our seed corn is free from disease, how can we tell what varieties are best for the farmers of our county to plant? As a means of determining the best varieties, the best methods of cultivation, and the best kinds and amounts of fertilizers to use, we are putting on a corn growing contest among the farmers of the county.

We want at least twenty-five farmers to enter this contest by growing five acres or more of corn. These farmers will keep a record of the amount of fertilizer used, labor, and other items, and the yield will be weighed and measured at the end of the season by a disinterested committee. If this contest can be run for several years, it is likely that we will find that a certain variety, or several certain varieties, and that certain methods of cultivation and fertilization have given best results over the entire county. In this way our corn planting methods may be standardized and the maximum results obtained.

To the two winners in the contest a gold and silver medal will be awarded. Each contestant not winning either of the medals will give two bushels of corn that will be sold to secure a fund to purchase the prizes. I have already the names of several farmers who have agreed to enter the contest. If you are interested and think it a good thing, please send me your name.

In determining the winner, both yield and cost per bushel will be considered.

WE STRIVE TO PLEASE

We happen to know a few things about the daily grind of a country editor and a fellow can write best about the thing he knows. Editing a country newspaper is not always as easy as it looks, and the editor naturally makes many mistakes. The most frequent cause of regret to the editor does not come from the things he prints in his columns but the things he leaves out. We know by experience that more readers of the paper are offended because something in which they are interested is left out than because something they do not endorse is printed. To miss your personal item is taken as a direct slap from the editor. Often, too, items slip in the paper, which people want left out and again we are criticised. So we get it going and coming.

A worthwhile country editor or reporter never lets his personal animosities creep into the columns of his newspaper or play any favorites in giving his readers the news of the community. We try hard in this office to avoid any appearance of playing up items regarding any set of people. But we can't make some people believe this. We would not intentionally hurt the feelings of the most sensitive reader of the Examiner. Some times the compositor skips an item or turns two pages of copy instead of one. The proof-reader works under pressure just before going to press and fails to notice the oversight. The item is left out and the person to whom it referred looks in vain for it when the paper comes. The disappointed subscriber immediately charges the editor with purposely cutting out the paragraph, when the editor, in fact, never knew it had been written.

Another great cause of regret in the newspaper office is the last moment ruthless killing of good news items to make room for an advertisement that was received too late to give time for extra pages to take care of it. The business man rushes in at the eleventh hour with his copy for a big advertisement, begs for space and threatens to boycott the paper if he doesn't get it. We yield to the jingle of the dollar and in the rush to make place for the store's announcement the item about you or your family is omitted. But to the average person who knows nothing about the limits of a newspaper chase, the editor is charged with a personal spirit against you and purposely leaving out the very item in which you were most interested. And so it goes. We seldom hear of the nice things we say about people, but let something be overlooked or lost in the shuffle and we are roasted to a finish.—Moorefield Examiner.

VIRGINIA AT NEW ORLEANS

At the Confederate Reunion which closed with a grand parade in the city of New Orleans on Friday, Virginia occupied the van of the parade and her representatives and troops received a great ovation. All Virginians are proud of the attention which is showered on Virginia on every occasion of the kind referred to, because it shows that the old Commonwealth holds a warm spot in the hearts of the people of other states, particularly of those in the South. On any historic occasion Virginia can be counted upon to play an important part.

For many years now the people of the state have apparently been satisfied with such honors. They have, not until recently, seemed to take note of the fact that when it comes to present day records, Virginia is not making such a one as brings acclaim from outside sources. If instead of an historic occasion, the one at New Orleans had been called to deal with public education or public roads, what place in the parade, may we ask, would have been assigned to the Old Dominion? Virginia could not hope to secure the van on such an occasion and she would, indeed, be lucky if she escaped the rear. We have moved at a snail's pace in the development of our schools and roads and while the delay has not been altogether inexcusable in the past, yet if we continue at the present snail's pace, we will be able to present no valid excuses.

Virginia has a grand history and her record of achievement in Colonial, Revolution and Civil War days, is a glorious one, but this past record only serves to emphasize the indifference of the one now in the making. We must, to use a slang expression, "get a move on ourselves," if the Old Dominion is ever again to occupy the proud position which was once hers.—Free Lance.

The oil stock promoters are being prosecuted in Texas, and an effort is being made to curb their favorite game of easy-money getting. Oil stocks of the disreputable class, bad as they are, are no worse than thousands of other stock-selling schemes. Barnum was right. The fool is soon parted from his money, and the greedy man can be made to disgorge his cash to the limit if he is assured he can get two dollars or ten dollars for one. Imprisoning promoters will not protect the suckers. About the only thing you can do along this line is to imprison the sucker himself.—Virginia Star.

TALKING ROT AGAINST "BABY TALK"

A woman instructor in "essentials," speaking at the National Kindergarten and Elementary College, stated that "baby talk" was injurious to children, and that parents were blind to the future welfare of their children as regards proper language. Here is another case of a childless woman knowing more about raising children than do those who know the joy of talking to their first-born or to their tenth-born in that language which emanates only from the fond heart of a parent.

It is a language as old as time itself and has been spoken to the highest as well as to the lowest born. It has been the heart-to-heart conversation between mother and child, and the symbol of tenderness in all cases. It is a universal language of sentiment—interpreted in as many tongues as there are races of people in the world. Let these highly educated reformers rave, but let us not take away from the fond mother the joy of talking "baby talk" to her baby.—Virginia Star.

SUNSHINE

(The Poet Scout's Creed)

I never like to see a man a 'rastlin' with the dumps
'Cause in the game of life he doesn't always catch the trumps;
But I can always cotton to a free and easy cuss
As takes his dose, and thanks the Lord it isn't any wuss.
There ain't no use o' jickin' and swearin' at your luck,
Yer can't correct the trouble mor'n you can drown a duck.
Remember, when beneath the load your sufferin' head is bowed,
That God'll sprinkle sunshine in the trail of every cloud.

If you should see a fellowman with trouble's flag unfurled,
And looking like he didn't have a friend in all the world,
Go up and slap him on the back, and holler "how'd you do,"
And grasp his hand so warm he'll know he has a friend in you.
Then ax him what's a-hurtin' 'im, and laugh his cares away,
And tell him that the darkest night is just afore the day.
Don't talk in graveyard palaver, but say it right out loud,
That God'll sprinkle sunshine in the trail of every cloud.

This world at best is but a hash of pleasure and of pain.
Some days are bright and sunny, and some all sloshed with rain.
And that's just how it ought to be, for when the clouds roll by,
We'll know just how to 'preciate the bright and smilin' sky.
So learn to take it as it comes, and on't swear at the pores
Because the Lord's rememberin' when eases your path eashroud,
That God has lots of sunshine to spill behind the clouds.

LAUGH AND LIVE

DIDN'T MISS HIM

"Don't you miss your husband very much now, that he is away fishing?"
"Oh, no. At breakfast, I just stand a newspaper up in front of his plate and half the time I forget he isn't there."

PLENTY OF PROOF

Smithkins had dined generously and partaken generously at his club, and on leaving the room he paused before a gigantic stuffed tarpon in a glass case on the wall. He looked earnestly at it, and then said to his friend: "The man who caught that fish is a liar!"

THE PLACE FOR HIM

Lawyer (suffering from brain-fag)—I wish I lived in Sweden; divorces are almost unknown there.
Fried—Perfectly natural, my dear fellow—the land of safety matches, what?

TIP FOR FISHERMEN

We are already getting ready for the fishing season, but we would like the loan of a pet catfish so that we can have better luck when we go fishing. Why a pet catfish you may ask? We were told that an old fisherman kept a pet catfish at home so that he could tell what days would be good for fishing and what days the fish would not bite. When he felt like going fishing he would throw some bait to his pet fish and if the fish would grab the bait as though it was the first meal in a long time, this shrewd fisherman would venture out and make a haul, but if the pet fish didn't show any "pep" fishing was no good and he stayed at home.

THE GOOSE

A boy in a nearby school was asked to write a composition on a goose, and here is the result:
"The goose is a low, heavy-set bird, composed mostly of meat and feathers. His head sets on one end and he sets on the other. He cannot sing much on account of the moisture in which he lives. He carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking. A goose has two legs and they set so far back on his running-gear that they came pretty near missing his body. Some geese when they get big are called ganders. Ganders don't have to set and hatch, but just loaf, eat and go swimming. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander."

USEFUL GIFTS FOR MEN

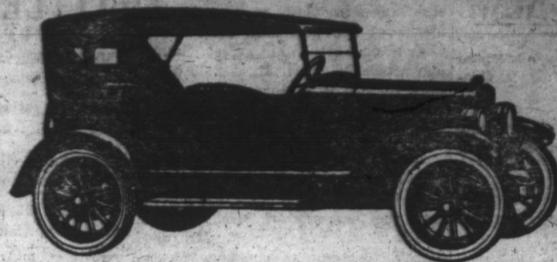

Kathleen blushed prettily as she told the sister of her fiancé that she would like to buy a birthday present for him.
"You know him better than I do," she said, "so I want your advice."
"Yes?" said her future sister-in-law, inquiringly.
"What," went on the blushing Kathleen, "would you advise me to get?"
"Oh, I don't really know," replied the other girl, carelessly. "I could only advise you in general terms. From what I know of him, I should say he would appreciate something that he could pawn easily!"

NO JOB FOR HIM

Jim was very much in love, but held back his proposal from sheer bashfulness. At last he decided to pop the question by telephone.
"Mabel, I love you!" he gasped, his heart thumping.
"Will you marry me?"
"Of course I will, Arthur. Why didn't you come and ask me yourself?"
Then Jim shouted back:
"You'll have to break the news to Arthur yourself. I'll be hanged if I will!"

A CRAZY MAN

Owner of Fishpond (to man who is trespassing)—"Don't you see that sign, 'No fishing here?'"
Angler (with injured air)—"Yes, and I dispute it. Why there's good fishing here; look at this stringfull. The man must have been mad who put that board up."

Success Without Mystery

When a car as good as Overland is made better—at the lowest price in history—and when people welcome it with ringing praise—and call it the greatest automobile value in the world—there is naturally no mystery in the tremendous increase in Overland sales, both locally and nationally.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

More and more business men realize the necessity for true audits, for efficient recording systems and for real knowledge concerning profitable and unprofitable departments of their enterprises.

From the smallest retail business to the billion dollar manufacturing corporation, comes the demand for proper accounting.

During the past few years changes in business have taken place and extend to every quarter of the civilized world.

The very rules of business have changed and we are face to face with conditions we never dreamed of before.

If a business enterprise would survive and prosper under the new order it must know the details of its business, not only through the medium of annual or semi-annual audits, but in many cases, week by week, and day by day.

I will be glad to have any work along this line, which will be honestly and loyally done.

THOS. H. COBB,
Public Accountant.

It Makes a Wonderful Difference

THINK OF THIS FOR A MOMENT: Ice makes a wonderful difference in your comfort and health, yet it costs so little that most people actually forget the big part it does play in better living.

Ice keeps the butter hard, the milk pure, the lettuce crisp and tender; with it meat does not spoil—food is saved. Try eating uniced foods for a short while during really warm weather, and you will know the difference it makes.

ICE is an absolute necessity the whole year round, but during these spring days it is absolute folly to expose your foods to the varying temperatures which are so harmful to purity and flavor.

Telephone us today to start service.

WE ARE PLEDGED TO KEEP DOWN PRICES

Every day you see evidences of a NATION-WIDE ADVANCE IN PRICES on practically everything that man, woman or child wears. Our store's obligation to this community requires that we must combat this all we know how; we must do whatever we can towards keeping the price of our merchandise within the reach of the pocket books of our trade and the full determination of this store is to keep prices down. We are firm in the belief that the trade appreciates the effort we have made to maintain lowered prices by the manner in which they have responded to our prices and efforts.

THERE IS JUST ONE AGENCY THROUGH WHICH PRICES CAN BE KEPT DOWN IN THE FACE OF PRESENT CONDITIONS—VOLUME. With increased VOLUME we will maintain present price levels despite the advances that are now taking place daily in the Wholesale Market. Our coming advertisements will reveal strikingly the fact that VOLUME MEANS VALUE. We have placed the details of this plan before our employees; our confidence in them and in the Trade enables us to bank with complete assurance on reaching the necessary goal in increased volume. Our accomplishment of this is your protection against advanced prices.

The FUL-O-PEP Way

Gives You 1 Pound of Gain at Cost of 2 Pounds of Feed
Instead of only 1 pound of gain to each 4 pounds of feed, which is the basis of figuring cost of production arrived at by experiment stations covering several years experiments with grain feeding. Why continue to feed this old expensive way when The Ful-O-Pep Way will give you the same gains with only half the feed?

FUL-O-PEP GROWING MASH

Costs Less Per Pound of Gain Made Than Any Other Feed

Start your chicks the third day on Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter. Change gradually at six weeks to Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash, keeping it before your chicks at all times. Growing Mash, because of the high feeding value of its Oatmeal, fish and bone contents goes twice as far as grain feeds—every ounce is digested by chicks' delicate digestive organs—there is no waste and when compared with results cost only just as much in pounds of feed consumed for gains in pounds of meat produced. Furthermore, your losses, from bowel and digestive troubles that arise from feeding hard indigestible grains, will be very much less and your flock will be of even growth and development. Feed in conjunction with the mash

FUL-O-PEP COARSE CHICK FEED

A HIGH QUALITY GRAIN RATION FOR GROWING CHICKS
That's just exactly what Ful-O-Pep Coarse Chick Feed is—it's just the right size and contains the correct proportions of each ingredient for chicks from four weeks to three months of age—or until they are old enough to consume Ful-O-Pep Scratch Grains.

"Company" Manners

"When do you say 'Thank you?'" asked the teacher. Little Johnnie replied: "When we have company."

"That must be what they call 'company manners.'" Our Bank has no company manners. We try to treat everybody alike, every day in the year. We try to be courteous, accommodating, friendly. If we can be of service to you, kindly call and tell us your needs. We take pride not only in having a good, strong, reliable Bank, but also in our helpful service. We invite you to take advantage of our excellent banking facilities.
