MANASSAS BOY PAINFULLY HURT

Vehicle in Which He Was Riding
Struck By Automobile and Completely Demolished.

Thomas Fately, young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fately, was painfully injured on Saturday night of last week when a buggy, in which he was riding with Ernest Twine, the latter colored, was struck and demolished by an automobile supposed to have been driven by Otis Breeden, son of Mr. A. H. Breeden, who lives between Manassas and Milford Mills.

Young Fately and Twine are both employed by the Sanitary Lunch Room. While the two were on their way from work to their respective homes at a late hour on Saturday night they were run down on Main street, near the residence of Mr. E. B. Giddings. The automobile struck the horse drawn vehicle with such force that the latter was torn loose from the horse and completely demolished. Fately, who was riding on the left side of the buggy seat, was thrown out of the vehicle and badly bruised from head to foot. At this time he is apparently recovering from his injuries, and it is not thought that he is seriously hurt. Twine saved himself by jumping from the buggy before the automobile collided with it.

The screams of young Fately were heard by persons living near the scene of the accident, who, after rendering such first aid treatment as they could, conveyed the young man to the home of his parents.

The driver of the automobile, either wantonly, or by reason of the excited state of his mind following the collision, did not stop to render the injured boy aid or assistance. The officers of the town upon being informed of the accident, immediately set to work to discover, if possible, the guilty party or parties, and it was soon learned that suspicion pointed strongly to young Breeden. After gathering certain rather damaging evidence against him, he was placed under arrest Wednesday afternoon charged with violating Chapter 407, Acts 1922, and will be given a hearing before Mayor Davis this afternoon. He is now out on bail in the sum of $500.

For the information of the automobile driver the act referred to is published herewith in full:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, that it shall be unlawful for the driver or operator of any motor vehicle or other vehicle, which shall have run into, over, or collided with, or in any way injured, any person, persons or property upon the public highways, streets or alleys of this State, to fail to stop such vehicle and return to the place of the accident and render such aid and assistance to the person, persons or property so injured as may be necessary or possible under the circumstances, giving his name and address to the person or persons so injured."

"Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding one year, or both."

GAINESVILLE

Meeting, which has been conducted by Rev. W. H. Berry, of Alexandria, assisted by Rev. C. L. Beard, pastor of Gainesville and Sudley churches, will close on Sunday evening.

Mrs. R. A. Pearson and Mrs. Haywood Triplett left on Wednesday morning, where their father, Henry Clay Pearson, is seriously ill. Mr. Joseph Florence is on the sick list.

Miss Ruth Gleaves and Miss Helen Duncan, of Wythe, county, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Allen.

Mr. E. R. Conner, of Manassas, was in Gainesville on business several days ago.

Dr. H. H. Walker, of Remington, veterinary inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, applied the tuberculin test last week to the T. S. Meredith Holstein herd, numbering forty-eight animals; also to the Hackland herd, near Gainesville, owned by Mr. Green Carter. The test proved both herds free of tuberculosis and they are eligible to be classed on the state record as accredited herds.

—We have been informed by Supt. Gue of the Municipal plant that there will be neither light nor power next Sunday from 7 a. m. owing to necessary repairs being made at the power plant.

MANASSAS MAN CHOSEN

Mr. B. Lynn Robertson Will Represent State at Wheat Conference.

Mr. B. Lynn Robertson, proprietor of the Manassas Feed and Milling Co., has been appointed by Governor E. Lee Trinkle, a delegate to represent the State of Virginia at the National Wheat Conference to be held in Chicago June 19 and 20, 1923.

This is a conference called by the governors of the different states for the purpose of finding a satisfactory solution for the wheat problem which now confronts the nation.

To this conference have been invited representatives of organizations of agriculture, commerce, elevators, millers, bakers, retailers and railroads as well as of educational bodies interested in the production and consumption of our wheat crop.

It is not a market that is needed for the wheat but a more profitable market, and realizing that higher prices for wheat can only come through increased demand, an outlet for the surplus production in the United States must be found by educating the public to consume more wheat in the form of bread and cereals.

QUANTICO BANK CLOSES DOORS

Fredericksburg Man Appointed Receiver of Institution by Judge S. G. Brent.

A special dispatch from Fredericksburg under date of June 10, to the Times-Dispatch, says:

The Bank of Quantico was closed Saturday evening, following examination by F. B. Richardson, chief state bank examiner, and W. J. Ford, of Fredericksburg, has been appointed receiver by Judge S. G. Brent, of the Prince William County Circuit Court. Closing of the bank is reported to have been due to holding paper, which became questionable when a cotton mill in North Carolina failed, and not having sufficient capital and surplus to absorb the loss. The bank has $10,000 paid-in capital, $7,500 surplus and profits, deposits of $150,000, and $50,000 in reserve funds.

The depositors are principally officers of the Marine Corps, stationed at Quantico. It is believed that the depositors will suffer only small loss. The bank is controlled by interests in North Carolina, it is reported.

HAYMARKET

The finals for Haymarket graded school were held on Tuesday evening and the high school on Wednesday evening at the Parish Hall. On both occasions the programs presented were very attractive and well arranged, and were composed of songs, pantomimes, short plays and drills.

A large number of pupils in both schools received certificates of promotion. There were no graduates, this being the first year of the full high school for Haymarket.

Supt. Chas. R. McDonald made an address on Wednesday evening. The finals were attended by a large number of patrons and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. C. Dodge and family have reopened their home here, after an absence of six months spent in Washington.

Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Gillis, of Baltimore and Haymarket, have opened their bungalow here for the summer. Mrs. Roswell Blair and her little son, Thom, are at the family home, "Shirley," after spending the winter in Boston. Lieut. Blair is stationed in Washington and will spend the week-ends with his family.

Miss Virginia Hall, of the faculty of the Country School, Warrenton, is at her home, "Shirley," for the summer.

Among those from Haymarket who attended the Shriners' meeting in Washington last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Moffet Spillman, Mr. and Mrs. Smedley and family, Mrs. Tulloss, Miss Mary Butler, Mrs. J. W. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jordan and Dick Jordan, and Mr. C. S. Seeley.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Disoway entertained at a charmingly arranged tea on Saturday afternoon for their house guests, Rev. J. A. H. Bomberger and his fiancée, Miss Ann Gottwald, whose marriage will take place tomorrow (Saturday), at the bride's home, Oaks, Pa. The guests at the tea included Mrs. Bomberger, of Morristown, Pa., who was the guest of Mrs. Carval Hall for the week-end, and Rev. and Mrs. Thomas M. Browne, of Lynchburg. Those who served at the tea were Mrs. C. Furr, Mrs. Carval Hall, Miss Ella Keyser, Miss Audrey Furr, Miss Margaret Furr, and Miss Annie Cochran.

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS TO MEET

Conference Will Be Held Monday to Complete Plan for Tri-County Short Course.

(Miss Lillian V. Gilbert, County Home Demonstration Agent)

Next Monday, June 18, Misses Annie L. Garrett and Roberta Moncreur will be in Manassas to complete plans for the tri-county short course for girls of Stafford, Fairfax and Prince William.

One of the most helpful programs ever used in the county will be used this year. Girls are busy getting ready to attend, and it is hoped that no mother will keep her daughter away if she is eligible to come.

It is the plan of demonstration work to select as many girls as possible, who may possibly make local leaders. It is hoped that two girls will attend from each club in the county. If nothing happens to prevent, the program of the work will be printed in the next issue of The Journal.

This short course will be held at Eastern College July 9-14. The girls will live in the college, coming in the afternoon of the 9th and leaving on the afternoon of the 14th.

The county girls are busy now getting started with their bread work. During the months of June, July and August the girls will study the making of soda and baking powder biscuits, and corn meal muffins. The course requires that biscuits and muffins each be made twice a week. Demonstrations in judging good bread will be given and this course will close with the three girls in the county making the best record, meeting three girls from each of ten counties at Charlottesville, where the final contest will be held. The three girls making the best record there will be given a scholarship to the state short course in 1924.

The thirty-three girls will be entertained free of charge and will also be given a trip to Monticello.

Another opportunity that comes to the girls of the state this year is through the efforts of Miss Hannah Wessling, formerly bread specialist in the Washington office.

Miss Wessling is still interested in the women and girls of the south and through her efforts a state short course scholarship will be given in each district. The girls entering this contest make loaf bread. The bread will be judged at the state fair, and the scholarship awarded to the girl in each district making the highest score. It is not too late for girls to enter this contest. Yeast is furnished each girl; also books giving recipes.

We are sorry we are not going to have a county fair this year. The next best thing is district fairs. The people in three districts have completed their organization and prospects are good for little county fairs in the districts. They are starting off as follows:

Brentsville district, with Mr. J. B. Manuel at the head; fair to be held at Nokesville, September 27th.

Coles district, with Mr. C. R. Earhart as president; to be held at Gold Ridge; date yet later.

It is urged that representatives from all communities in the district attend this meeting.

Ocoquan district completed its organization, with Mr. J. L. Dawson, president. This fair will be held at Bethel high school, the date, Friday, October 12th. A meeting is called for Monday evening, June 18th, at which time final plans for the catalogue will be made.

It is the plan in each district to have the catalogue ready as early in July as possible.

MISS CONNER BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. WEST

"Floral Hall," Home of Mr. J. J. Conner, Scene of Beautiful Wedding Last Tuesday.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season was that of Miss Mildred Layna Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Conner, of Manassas, and Mr. Russell Green West, of Keyser, W. Va., which was solemnized at "Floral Hall," the home of the bride's father, on Tuesday evening, June 8, in the presence of a host of friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party descended the stairs, preceded by the license bearer and the flower girl, little Misses Marian Blough and Sallie Ann Thomason, respectively, the bride and groom taking their places before a flower-decked altar where they were made man and wife by Rev. W. K. Conner, of Harriburg, Pa.

The bride, who looked charming in her bridal veil and dainty gown of white tulle and lace, carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Her attendants were her sister, Miss Lola Conner, as maid of honor, gowned in blue georgette over blue silk, Mrs. H. S. Zigler, as matron of honor, whose dress was of white crepe satin, and Mrs. Ruth Wilhite, of Frederick, Md.; Miss Marian Bowman, of Johnstown, Tenn., and Miss May Hooker, of Nokesville, as bridesmaids.

The groom's attendants were: Mr. Gray West, as best man and Mr. Kirasofe, of Bridgewater; Mr. Ernest Seny, of Keyser, W. Va., and Mr. Quinter Miller, of Sidney, Va., who served as groomsmen.

Preceding the wedding, a solo, "O, Radiant Hour," was sung by Mr. Nelson Huffman who also played the wedding march. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the guests were led to the dining hall, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, the color scheme being in pink and white, where delicious refreshments were served.

The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. E. Conner, of Harriburg; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hinegardner, of Charlottesville; Prof. Rachel C. Laughlin, of Philadelphia; Miss Ethel Thomas, of Bruceton Mills, W. Va.; Mrs. Eva George, of Keyser, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Zigler, of Timberville, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. John Hinegardner and children, of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilhite, of Frederick, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Seese and family, of Nokesville; Mrs. Walter Seese and son, of Mt. —Old Councilmen Re-elected
With Two Exceptions.

The municipal election held in Manassas on Tuesday of this week resulted in the election of Harry P. Davis, Mayor, and the following Councilmen: D. J. Arrington, J. H. Burke, E. R. Conner, B. C. Cornwell, R. M. Jenkins, C. M. Larkin, M. Bruce Whitmore, O. O. Holler and O. E. Newman. All members of the present council were re-elected with the exception of Mr. R. S. Hynson and Mr. J. M. Bell. These members will be succeeded by Messrs. O. O. Holler and O. E. Newman.

While the mayor and members of the Council body filed declarations of candidacy, they made no fight for re-election, and it is said that some members of the body did not wish to become candidates, but simply filed declarations as a matter of form at the solicitation of friends.

The ballots showed that seven persons were voted for mayor and twenty-eight for members of the council.

The Journal pointed out editorially some time ago the advisability of retaining the present mayor and council members. The newly elected officers will take their seats on September 1st.

Athey; McDuff Green, Supervisor, Brentsville District, opposed by D. E. Earhart; Wm. Crow, Supervisor, Dumfries District, opposed by J. T. Syncox; J. L. Dawson, Supervisor, Occoquan District, opposed by G. C. Russell. Mr. S. T. Cornwell, Commissioner of the Revenue for District No. 2, declined to stand for re-election, and the aspirants for that office are T. M. Russell and Silas H. Sealeman. R. A. Rust and Rolfe Robertson are opposing each other for Supervisor of Gainesville District, O. C. Hutchison having declined to again become a candidate. For member of the Board of Supervisors from Coles District J. E. Keys and C. R. Earhart are the opposing candidates.

A very interesting question is being discussed in connection with Mr. Herring's candidacy for the House of Delegates. It is said that Mr. Herring was a member of the Board of Supervisors of Stafford county and that he did not resign from that office until December of the past year. In order to have held office in Stafford it was necessary for him to have held his residence there.

It is a constitutional requirement that a person must have a legal residence for at least a year in a county before he is entitled to vote. It is a further constitutional requirement that a person cannot be elected to an office unless he is qualified to vote for member of the General Assembly. If it is true, as reported, that Mr. Herring did not establish a residence in Prince William county until December, 1922, he would not be qualified to vote in the November election, and, therefore, it would follow, according to the expressed opinion of lawyers here, that he is not eligible for election.

Having given up his residence in Stafford county he could not vote there; and, not having been in Prince William long enough to have established a legal residence, he could not vote here.

BETTER HOMES AND BETTER ROADS

President Harding yesterday, speaking on two different occasions in this city, urged upon the American people better homes and better roads. One of these occasions was the dedication of the model of the "Home, Sweet Home" of John Howard Payne, inspiration of his immortal song, and the other was the dedication of the "zero milestone," from which all distances from the National Capital are to be measured hereafter.

These two American needs are related, and the nation is to be praised that they are on the way to accomplishment. The average home in this country is far improved over that of half a century ago, and the average American road is infinitely better than that of the same period back.

"Better homes" means more than more artistic architecture. It means better sanitation, greater comfort and more attractiveness. A better home may not cost more than its predecessor, save for the higher cost of construction at present, but it will have more in it to hold the family together, which is the chief purpose of a home.

The better roads make for better living. They may take the family out touring, but if the home is attractive and comfortable it draws back to it all who fare forth for pleasure or on business.

The good road has come, or is coming rapidly. There are parts of the country where it is not yet known as a physical fact. But the residents of those parts are impatient with their poor highways and are working hard to improve them. The government is aiding. The states are active. The counties are hustling. The boroughs and townships are scraping and rolling. Altogether it may be said that the good road has arrived.

Some of the motor cars that started out bravely from the west to make Washington for Shrine week had to turn back because they could not navigate the mud of the rain-soaked roads west of the Mississippi. That should not be. And the day will come, perhaps within a decade, when there will be no such danger anywhere in this country save in the back lanes of infrequent communication.

With good roads the American people can all go visiting from one "better home" to another. Good roads make for wider acquaintance. Better homes make for stronger family life. In these two particulars the American people are blessed above the average of the human family; but there is room yet for improvement.—Washington Star.

WE NEED MORE RELIGION

Just recently a minister speaking to a large graduating class in one of our cities, said that "a new interpretation of our religion is needed," and then went on to explain that we are living in a rapidly changing world and that it was necessary religion be reinterpreted to meet the needs of the day. We do not care to dispute with this eminent divine, but we have been harboring the opinion for some time that too liberal interpretation of religion was its greatest handicap. The Bible teaches us religion and therein we find the great rules of principles we must follow. Our religion will be just about as we interpret the Bible, and to liberally interpret religion means simply liberally interpreting the scriptures. To our notion the Bible has stood throughout the ages as a modern beaconlight of safety and consolation to the weary and worn wanderers of the world who heed its admonitions. The Bible has stood the test throughout all these ages and is yet far in advance of the civilized and religious world today. We do not need more liberal interpretation of religion, but we do need more REAL interpretation of the Bible as to the principles which are necessary to real religion.—Virginia Star.

LAUGH AND LIVE

PRECOCITY

"Mother," said little John, arrived at home from church, "babies aren't no good as they used to be, are they?" "Whatever makes you think that?" replied his mother. "Well, little Willie can't talk yet, and he's nearly two, but Job could talk when he was a baby."

"Where does it tell you that, dear?" asked mother.

"Don't you remember the lesson this morning, mother? It said that Job cursed the day he was born."—The Argonaut.

FEATHERS

Young Husband—Did you make those biscuits, my dear? His Wife—Yes, darling. Her Husband—Well, I'd rather you would not make any more, sweetheart. His Wife—Why not, my love? Her Husband—Because, angel mine, you are too light for such heavy work.

NATURALLY

Violent ringing of the bell aroused the druggist at midnight. Below his window he saw a young lady. "What can I do for you, Miss?" he inquired. "Is anyone dying?" "Oh, no!" came back in sweet tones. "I have quite run out of rouge." "Indeed?" snorted the disgusted druggist. "I'm very sorry, Miss, but I never keep enough rouge in stock to cover a cheek like yours!"—Holmes Store News.

MUSICAL EVENING

Master (to new cook): "We want you to show what you can do tonight, Sarah. We have some rather special people coming for a musical evening. Do your very best, you know." Cook: "Share, sir, that I will. It's a long time since I did any singing, but you can put me down for a couple of comic songs, if you like."—The Beacon Light.

NOT A PACKHORSE

Many years since a man in Newington, Conn., who was very religious, married one of the most troublesome women he could find in the vicinity. One of his neighbors ventured to ask him the reason. He replied that having had but little trouble in the world, he was fearful of becoming too much attached to things of time and sense, and though by experiencing some afflictions he should become more weaned from the world, and he married such a woman as he thought would accomplish his object. The best part of the story is that the wife, hearing the reason why he married her, was much offended and out of revenge became one of the most dutiful wives in the town, declaring that she was not going to be a packhorse to carry her husband to heaven.—Boston Globe.

TWO OF THEM

First Tenderfoot—I don't like that chap, Jenkins. Second Tenderfoot—Why not? First Tenderfoot—Well, he's one of those people who turn round and stare after you. Second Tenderfoot—Is he? How do you know?

GOOD TURNS PER SECOND

A boy acrobatic applied at a circus for a job. The ringmaster asked him what kind of turns he could do. "Every kind," said the boy, "with the exception of one." "And what is that?" said the R. M. "Turn inside out," said the boy.

A dark prisoner in Townsen jail, on looking through a barred window, beheld another darky on the outside sporting a watch and chain; he called to him and asked what time it was. The darky with the watch looked up and answered: "Look here, nigger, 'tain't no use to tell you de time, you can't go no where no how."

Excellent War Record of R. S. Barrett and Family

R. S. BARRETT, of Alexandria
Candidate for State Senate

Few men had a greater opportunity to be of service to the United States government during the World War than did Robert S. Barrett, of Alexandria, who is a candidate for the State Senate in the primary to be held in August. At the outbreak of the war he was in South America making an investigation for the government of the opportunities of development of American trade. As soon as possible he hurried back to Washington to offer his services to the government in whatever capacity he could best serve. He hoped to be sent to France as an interpreter as his knowledge of French and Spanish would have made him valuable in Europe. Shortly after his return he received the following letter from the Department of Commerce:

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce
WASHINGTON
January 19, 1918.

Mr. Robert S. Barrett,
Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Barrett:
The Department of Commerce hereby makes call upon you to perform a service which is essential to the national welfare at this time. Whether or not it is a surprise to you, you have been selected out of the entire available force of the Bureau's foreign and home representatives to take the position as Commercial Attache at Buenos Aires. Since both the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Redfield, the Chairman of the War Trade Board, Mr. McCormick, and myself consider you the man best fitted for the work contemplated, I think you have no choice but to accept.

Economic investigation and representation of the highest type is required in the country indicated; a man who is well acquainted with that country, both commercially and politically, is the type specified for the assignment. It has a great deal to do with our present and future economic relations and will, I think, afford you not only the opportunity of a life time to acquire distinguished honor, but will also provide you with an opportunity to serve the country in a way which is seldom the good luck of any man.

I assume that you will accept the post and make ready for departure at the earliest possible moment.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) R. S. CUTLER,
Chief of Bureau.

Although disappointed at not being able to go to the front, Mr. Barrett immediately accepted the position offered him by Mr. Cutler and sailed for Buenos Aires, Argentina. His work in his new post was of the most arduous character. He was in direct charge of all commercial matters of the United States government, including the purchasing and loading of food stuffs for the army in France which were shipped direct from the Argentine to Europe; the prevention of German and Austrian firms in South America, from trading with their principals in Europe and securing merchandise from the United States; the black-listing of enemy firms so as to destroy their trade and have them bring pressure upon their governments to end the war as soon as possible; and the loading and dispatching of all ships controlled by the United States Shipping Board.

So successfully did Mr. Barrett handle these vast and complicated business matters that at the conclusion of his services he was given a wonderful banquet by the American colony in Buenos Aires and was the recipient of many testimonials and letters praising his work. Mr. Barrett also received due acknowledgment from the government for the important work that he performed.

At the conclusion of the war Mr. Barrett resigned and became the active head of a large banking and importing firm in Buenos Aires. During the first year of his service he sold more than $20,000,000 worth of American goods in South America. Two years ago he returned to his home in Alexandria with the intention of devoting his life to charitable and philanthropic work in which he is greatly interested. He entered the senatorial race because he had the time to devote to the duties of the office and because he felt the necessity of having more business men in the general assembly.

Mr. Barrett's family were prominent in the world war. His two sons who were students at the University of Virginia, enlisted at the beginning of the war and were sent to Plattsburg, where they became student instructors. His youngest son entered the naval academy at Annapolis from which he has just graduated. His brother, Major Charles Barrett, of the Marine Corps, had a brilliant career in France and recently received the medal for distinguished services. He is now located at Quantico. His sister, Kitty, who married Major Charles Poser, of the Canadian forces, drove an ambulance in London and France for four years and became a sergeant in the British Army. Another sister married Captain Rathbone Smith, of the Canadian forces and was the head of the Red Cross work in western Canada. Another brother, John Barrett, who has a large farm in Fairfax county, was unable to enter active service on account of defective eye-sight, took an active part in war work at home.

Mr. Barrett's mother, Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, who is now the national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, rendered most valuable service. She was sent to Europe by the War Department to investigate conditions surrounding the life of the soldiers. Her services in this country are too well known to be repeated.

Mrs. Robert S. Barrett performed her war duties in a novel manner. When it was very difficult to secure teachers for the Alexandria public schools on account of the teachers leaving for Washington to take positions in the War and Navy Departments, Mrs. Barrett offered her services to Superintendent Sweeney and became a teacher in the primary grade, where she served until conditions became normal.—Alexandria Gazette.

SENSIBLE BUYING

SENSIBLE BUILDING

THERE is some talk of the high cost of labor and materials causing a suspension of building in certain sections.

THIS is true where wages have gotten too high and a bonus is being paid for either labor or material, but where wages and material prices are fair construction is going ahead steadily and on a sensible basis.

THE merchant, the contractor or the mechanic who is giving fair values and service is busy and will stay busy for some time to come.

"PYROX"
Is Surely Good

"PYROX" is the best thing I have ever tried," writes Mr. R. Daron, Wrightsville, Pa. "I used it on fruit and vegetables, including melons, potatoes, apples and plums, where it gave good results. Pyrox is surely good."

You can profitably use Pyrox for destroying all leaf eating insects, also most fungous growths, rots, scabs, blights, etc. You not only protect your crop but increase the yield by using Pyrox. It is easily applied; does not clog the sprayer nozzle and sticks like paint. Ask for the new and interesting Pyrox booklet.

We can supply any quantity you want, in small crocks, kegs or barrels.
