OCTOBER COURT OPENED MONDAY

Many Cases Are Set For Trial This Term.

JUDGE HOWARD W. SMITH IS PRESIDING ON BENCH

Commonwealth's Attorney Lion Presents Large Number of Liquor Cases.

The October term of the Circuit Court of Prince William County opened on Monday morning with Judge Howard Smith presiding.

Most of the day was spent in setting the calendar and trial dates were announced in numerous cases. That the Court will be busy and that it will end its term with the docket well cleared was evidenced by the number of cases which will be called up.

The regular Grand Jury, consisting of A. E. McIner, foreman; W. E. Lloyd, Colyn Jellison, J. T. C. Collins, W. B. Kerlin, Ellis Cornwell, George W. Spinks, A. K. Graybill, Charles W. Alpaugh, E. M. Briggs and A. F. Woodard, the court having set the number of 11, brought in the following indictments and informations:

Commonwealth vs. Chester Miller, a felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Joseph E. Brandstetter and Alice Brandstetter, for a felony, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. Henry Cornwell, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. Ruth Johnson and Maryann Moore, felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Owen Cornwell, felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Ed. Carter, alias, Ed. VanHorn, for a felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. J. P. Kerns, prohibition felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. W. T. Polen, prohibition felony, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. L. W. Fritter, prohibition felony, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. John Rademaker, prohibition felony, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. Peter Koll, prohibition felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Claude L. Burrows, prohibition felony, true bill; Commonwealth vs. J. E. Brandstetter, prohibition felony, a true bill; Commonwealth vs. John Farrar, felony, not a true bill.

T. H. Lion Is Rusey.

The following informations were filed by the Commonwealth's Attorney for the term:

Commonwealth vs. John Farrar, alias Shad, prohibition misdemeanor; George Cromer, Sam Beavers, Alonzo Maxfield, James Gallahan, William Pergin, Evers Florence, Harrison G. Montell, G. McDonald, Willie Hardy, R. H. Lee, George H. Russell, J. W. Good, Robert E. Shanl and Thomas Emerson, each charged separately with a prohibition misdemeanor;

Claude L. Burrows, John Rademaker, Peter Koll, J. E. Brandstetter, unlawful possession of ardent spirits. Commonwealth vs. James Gallahan, violation of prohibition law in driving while under influence of intoxicants; Commonwealth vs. W. A. Davis for misdemeanor.

COURT REFUSES SPIRITS LICENSE TO PHARMACY

Application For Permit To Sell Ardent Spirits Under Provisions of 1924 Act of Assembly Not Granted.

Stating that the applicant had not shown the necessity for it, Judge Howard W. Smith on Tuesday declined to sanction a permit for the sale by Dr. C. R. C. Johnson, Manassas pharmacist, of ardent spirits on prescription and pure fruit, ethyl and grain alcohol for scientific and pharmaceutical purposes, and wine for sacramental purposes.

Members of the Law and Observance League and of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union presented a petition to the Court protesting the granting of the license, and some of those believing that it would be unwise to have a licensed pharmacist here as well as those who believed it necessary were heard by the Court. No one of the protesters but admitted to the high character and standing of the applicant, and limited their protest to their prejudice against liquor as a medicine and their lack of sympathy with the law making a license possible.

WORTHY GRAND MATRON VISITS WIMODAUSIS O. E. S.

Miss Louise Beale of Grand Chapter O. E. S., Pays Official Visit to Manassas Chapter.

Wimodausis Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was honored last Thursday night by an official visit from Miss Louise Beale, of Richmond, Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Virginia, O. E. S.

Miss Beale made a most interesting address in which she spoke of the growth of the O. E. S. in Virginia, and complimented the work of the local chapter. Mrs. F. S. Cosden, Past Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter of the Grand Chapter of Virginia, was also present and gave a most interesting talk. Each visiting chapter was heard from after which refreshments were served and an enjoyable social hour was spent.

Among the O. E. S. Chapters represented at the meeting were: Mary Washington, of Clarendon; Cudpeper Chapter; Harmony Chapter, Vienna; and Herndon Chapter, Herndon.

P. A. LEWIS OWNS COUNTY HIGH HERD

Prince William Dairy Herd Improvement Association Makes Good Showing In September

The Prince William County Dairy Herd Improvement Association began the association year in September with 26 members, according to the report of Arthur J. Brady, tester, made public yesterday. CHAIRMANSHIP TO MRS. E. SWAVELY

Woman's Club of Manassas, President, Elected Chairman of Fourth Virginia District In Virginia Federation.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Manassas was held here yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. Swavely presiding over the business session, Miss Lulu Metz in charge of entertainment, and Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant heading a charming group in charge of refreshments.

The Budget committee presented its report on budget for the year, which was discussed and approved. Other committees made reports on their various activities.

Mrs. Swavely Chairman.

Reports were read of the annual meeting of the Fourth District of Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs held in Berryville last Thursday and which was attended by a large number of the Manassas members, in fact the Manassas Club was awarded the ribbon for attendance.

Perhaps the most delightful part of the report was the news that Mrs. E. Swavely, president of the Manassas Club, was elected chairman of the Fourth District of Virginia, succeeding Mrs. J. L. Cuyper, of Washington. The district includes the Women's Clubs in the counties of Arlington, Clarke, Culpeper, Fairfax, Frederick, Greene, Loudoun, Madison, Orange, Page, Prince William, Rappahannock, Shenandoah, Spotsylvania, Stafford and Warren.

NOKESVILLE FAIR PROVES SUCCESS

Brentsville District High School Has Interesting School Fair With Many Exhibits.

The School Fair, given under the auspices of the agricultural department of the Brentsville District High School at Nokesville, on Saturday, October 5, with the county home demonstration agent and the county farm agent as well as various county organizations cooperating, will go down in history as a red letter day in the work of the school.

The agricultural class, under Professor J. P. Pullen, had exhibits of grain, fruits, vegetables and other products that represented the various products of this section. Many of this class joined in the stock judging contest.

Miss Mary Bell, county home demonstration agent, had charge of a home demonstration exhibit and entries in this department were varied and numerous.

Miss Ruby Ryman, county nurse, directed a health exhibit which was unique, instructive and of great interest to all in the community interested in health matters.

Miss Beatrix Clark, county rural supervisor, assembled exhibits of various school projects in each class room, in the school which proved a great attraction.

The people of the Brentsville District expressed appreciation of the cooperation of the various county organizations in making the Fair a success and especially so to Professor Pullen who suggested the idea in connection with his work in the vocational agricultural department of the Brentsville High School.

Stock Judging.

Besides the prizes awarded in these classes, Stuart McMichael, Wiley Garman, Fred Shepherd and Claude Albrit, won a trip to the Virginia State Fair, the trip being made possible through the courtesy of F. D. Cox, County farm agent.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Garden Club Section To Undertake Beautification of Highway and Triangles.

The Garden Club section of the Woman's Club jointly with the civic committee will undertake a program which will go a long way toward improving the landscape around Manassas.

The Garden Club met on Monday at the home of Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant, presiding, and after a discussion of various projects it was decided to make an effort to improve the triangle at the intersection of Lee Avenue and the Warrenton-Manassas Road, just beyond the town. Another project will be the planting of dogwood trees and shrubbery along the curb of the highway between Atheyville and the Railroad crossing beyond.

Committees having this work in charge are: Triangle, Mrs. E. Swavely, Mrs. Wade Dalton and Mrs. T. E. Didlake; trees and shrubs, Mrs. A. A. Hooft, Mrs. W. N. Wenrich, Mrs. O. D. Waters, Mrs. C. M. Larkin and Mrs. Walter Saunders.

STUART McMICHAEL IS BEST 4-H DAIRY JUDGE

Wins Highest Individual Honors In Contest At Virginia State Fair.

Stuart McMichael, Prince William County 4-H Dairy Club member, was the highest scoring individual in the State dairy judging contest at the Virginia State Fair in Richmond, leading the next highest scorer by 25 points.

McMichael, with Fred Phipps, of Dinwiddie County, and Raleigh Sanders, of Rockingham County, who ranked second and third, respectively, will represent Virginia in the National dairy judging contest which will be held at the National Dairy Exposition in St. Louis, Mo., next week.

At the State contest, Fred Shepherd, Wiley Garman, Claude Albrit and Tom Tyler, the other members of the team from Prince William County did excellent work and creditably represented the county.

BUSINESS LOSES TO SWAVELY, 13-0

Virginians Score First Victory In Six Years Over Lighter Stenogs.

For the first time in six years the Swavely football aggregation took a victory over Business High School last Friday afternoon. The crowd of on-lookers was the largest that this sport has attracted to the local Prep field. The score was 13-0.

With a line averaging some 160 pounds, and a fast back field, the Swavelys made a good showing. Moore tallied the first touchdown in the first quarter, and the extra point was granted the Manassas boys by penalty, for offside on the part of the Washington team. Potter and Benben made several fast runs. The rushing and passing of the Swavely attack was a great aid in the felling of the Stenogs.

The Lineup and Summary.

HOMES OF CHILDREN NOT IN SCHOOL CHECKED

M. A. Lynch Appointed County School Attendance Officer By School Board.

The County School Board has appointed M. A. Lynch, County School Attendance Officer. In this position Mr. Lynch will visit the homes where there are children of school age who have not been enrolled in any school this year and explain the provisions of the law regarding school attendance to the parents. If, after this is done, the parents fail to comply with the law they will be ordered before the Judge of the Juvenile Court where they will be given an opportunity to explain their reason for violating the law.

BRENTSVILLE JUNIOR LEAGUE HAS MEETING

The Brentsville Junior League of the Brentsville School held its monthly meeting on Friday, October 4, when the newly elected officers were installed. Following the installation a business meeting was held after which an interesting program was given by members of the League including readings of stories and poems and musical selections.

The officers for the ensuing year are: Anna Varner, president; Thelma Landis, vice president; Annabelle Shoemaker, secretary-treasurer.

VETERANS IN GRAY HOLD CONVENTION

Col. D. M. Armstrong Presides As Annual Reunion Opens At Petersburg.

RANKS ARE THINNING—ABOUT 200 PRESENT

Oldest yet present is Rev. Giles B. Cook, Sole Survivor of Lee's Staff, Aged 91.

Petersburg, Oct. 9.—The 42nd reunion of the United Confederate Veterans of Virginia convened here yesterday in Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for a three-day session, with 200 veterans in attendance. The veterans were practically all clad in their Confederate uniforms. The convention was called to order by Col. D. M. Armstrong, grand commander.

The address of welcome was by Mayor Richard T. Wilson. "To men greater in defeat than probably in victory," he said, "Petersburg extends greetings and a welcome with love, hoping that the Confederate veterans will enjoy seeing the old familiar things, the getting together and telling of stories of fond memories."

Responds To Mayor's Address.

Lieut. Gen. Homer T. Atkinson, of Petersburg, commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, responded to the welcome address by Mayor Wilson in place of Gen. W. B. Freeman, of Richmond, honorary veterans, who later attended the convention. General Freeman retired to his hotel during the morning session for rest.

Many of the veterans to the reunion are apparently very feeble. The oldest veteran in attendance upon the convention is the Rev. Giles B. Cook, who is the sole survivor of Gen. Robert E. Lee's staff. He is 91 years old, and was born in Portsmouth, Va. He is now a resident of Gloucester County, Va.

He was for some years rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, in Petersburg, and for a long time was a teacher in the Bishop Payne School here, of which he was a trustee.

Committees Appointed.

Grand Commander Armstrong made his annual address and then followed appointment of committees. Yesterday afternoon the annual meeting of Virginia Division, United Confederate Veterans, was held and the following officers elected: Maj. Gen. William McK. Evans, Richmond, Virginia division; commander, H. Robert Gilliam, Sr., first brigade, Petersburg; brigadier general, G. W. B. Haile, second brigade, Rocky Mount; brigadier general, W. A. Compton, third brigade, Front Royal; brigadier general, C. B. Linney, fourth brigade, Charlottesville.

The convention was addressed by David L. Pullian, commander of Stonywall Jackson Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Richmond. His subject was "The Confederate Soldier." Following the address the veterans were taken on an automobile tour to Fort Morton, a federal earthwork, and to the Confederate earthwork, Fort Colquett, in Prince George County, near Petersburg.

Only 900 In Virginia.

It is stated that there are approximately only about 900 Confederate veterans now living in Virginia. At the Soldiers' Home in Richmond it is said there are about 125 and that the amount is reducing rapidly in all counties in the State.

CAPTAIN C. C. BERKELEY HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Is Candidate For Attorney General On the Anti-Smith-Republican Ticket.

Captain C. C. Berkeley, whom the local anti-Smith chairman terms the Independent candidate for the office of Attorney General of Virginia, and Mr. Tyson Janney, of Alexandria, will be in Manassas on Saturday.

A meeting has been called for 8 p. m., in Conner's Hall, when these gentlemen will speak on the issues involved in the November election.

Captain Berkeley is from Newport News, was a Democratic office holder for more than 16 years, but was recently defeated for re-election by a citizen of his home city. He is now a candidate for attorney-general with the endorsement of the Republican party and the anti-Smith group.

Herndon Citizens Elect.

Herndon, Oct. 9.—Dr. E. L. Robey has been elected to succeed Mr. Melville Walker as head of the Herndon Citizens Association and Community Center. Both the retiring and incoming presidents are popular and efficient men and very active in all progressive work, not only in Herndon but in the county.

Mrs. George R. Brady was elected vice president, Mrs. Benjamin F. McGuire, secretary, and George F. Buell, treasurer.

License Comes High.

Winchester, Oct. 9.—Recently, E. R. McCullough, game warden, arrested E. H. Foster, of Winchester, who was hunting on the Carl Deneen farm, southwest of Hancock, Md., with a license he had borrowed from Jim Resley, was brought before Justice George Huber on Monday evening.

Having shot five squirrels, he was fined five dollars apiece for each squirrel, $20 for non-residence and

There is a "Death Chamber" in the FLY-TOX factory. This chamber is about the room size. It is used to test the quality of FLY-TOX as a spray to kill flies, mosquitoes, bedbugs, roaches, etc. During a test a large number of young, healthy insects are placed inside the cabinet. These insects are raised in incubators for testing purposes. While the insects are flying and crawling around in the "Chamber of Death," FLY-TOX is sprayed inside. Less than a teaspoonful is used. Instantly there is a change. Within five minutes not a buzz is heard. All insects are dead. To make sure they are really dead, the insects are carefully removed from the "Chamber of Death" and placed in incubators in an effort to revive them. If a wing flutters, the FLY-TOX tested never leaves the factory. This test is your guarantee of FLY-TOX quality. It does what you want it to do—kill insects in and about your home. Yet, FLY-TOX is positively harmless to people. FLY-TOX was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research fellowship. It will not stain. Has a delightful perfume-like fragrance. There is only one FLY-TOX—insist upon the genuine in bottles with blue labels.—Adva.

$20 for using a borrowed license, and costs amounting to $67.45.

James Resler, who loaned his license, was fined $20 and costs and his license was taken away for one year.

Club On Auction Block.

Woodstock, Oct. 10.—The Spotswood Country Club with its nine-hole golf course and spacious stone clubhouse, located on a 90-acre tract on the Spotswood trail 2 miles east of Harrisonburg, will go on the auction block October 24 to satisfy debts secured by deeds of trust on the property by John Paul and D. Wampler Earman, attorneys acting as trustees. The Spotswood Country Club, which is owned by 200 Harrisonburg people, was established in 1926. The golf course is considered one of the best in this part of the country, is the work of Fred Findlay.

While the club was able to pay its operating expenses, officials said the revenue was not sufficient to carry the indebtedness, approximately $45,000, on the property.

The Spotswood course is the second offered at public auction in the Shenandoah this year. The other was Shenandoah, at New Market, a public resort.

MRS. TEN EYCK DEWITT VEEDER SUCCEUMBS

Mrs. Ten Eyck DeWitt Veeder died on Saturday, October 5, in Asheville, N. C., and was buried at Arlington. She was the widow of Commodore Veeder, United States Navy; before her marriage she was Miss Mary Greene; the daughter of Charles Greene, of Savannah, Ga., and was connected with many of the prominent families of this vicinity. She spent much time in her summer home at Greenwich, Prince William County, and had many warm friends here where she will be long remembered.

Beautiful in person and character, her life was set upon a noble plane. Her rich nature filled it to the brim with all that makes life worth living; of devotion given and received, of faith and love and charity, of kindness and courtesy to others, of generous deeds. The brave journey now is ended and she sleeps in peace. Her surviving children are William Veeder, U. S. Navy; Deering Veeder, and Misses Mary, Susanne, Aminta and Anne Veeder. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Loughborough Turner, of The Plains.—The Fauquier Democrat.

HAYMARKET

At 12 Virginia Clarke, who is teaching in the school at Aden, spent the week-end at her home here.

Mr. Tom Tyler was a Richmond visitor for the week-end.

Rev. W. H. Carpenter visited friends at his former parish in North Carolina last week.

Mrs. Edward Carter has returned from a visit to Baltimore where she was the guest of Miss Mary Mackall.

Miss Louise Moxley, who has been ill at her home here, is improving.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Ford Brower, of Catharpin, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Randolph, to Mr. Edward Allen Willis, on Saturday, October 26, at 11:30 in the morning, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Haymarket.

October is proving to be a month of many attractive and interesting events in Haymarket. On Wednesday next, October 16, the Chancel Guild will hold a "Dollar Sale" in Parish Hall. Christmas cards and fancy articles ranging in price from 5 cents to $1, will be on sale, also ice cream and cake.

On Friday evening, October 18, the Grace Church Players of Washington, will present a play at the Parish Hall, "All On Account of Polly", which, together with a musical program, promises to be an interesting affair.

LEAGUE MEETING AT WOODBINE SCHOOL SOON

League Will Meet on Friday, October 18, When Interesting Program Will Be Given.

There will be a League meeting at Woodbine School on Friday, October 18, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Malcolm Hill, of Quantico, will be the guest speaker and will give a talk on sanitation. Dr. Hill spoke recently at Manassas High School and his talk was so interesting that T. M. Russell, president of the League, has prevailed upon him to repeat his address at Woodbine.

In addition to the address, there will be an interesting program and music. Refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the school.

FAIRFAX CORPORATIONS ARE VALUED FOR TAXES

Fairfax, Oct. 9.—The Virginia Corporation Commission has sent to Commissioner of Revenue J. U. Kinche-loe, a memorandum of the valuation placed on property of public service corporations located in Fairfax County. This valuation is made annually by the State Corporation Commission instead of by the local tax officers.

The corporations operating in Fairfax County will this year pay into the county treasury $83,482.84 on real and personal property holdings valued at $2,949,987. This sum is considerably in excess of the $75,000 previously estimated as due this year from public service companies.

AUTUMN AID TO PEACH TREES.

Brown rot continues year after the outstanding enemy of the peach crop in this country. Over three and a half million bushels are destroyed by this disease annually in the United States. That a large portion of this loss can be avoided has been demonstrated by many growers who have taken the precautions to clean up the orchard after the peach harvest and fortify the trees against infestation in the following year's crop.

Peach scab adds an additional million bushels to the total loss of the peach crop each year. This disease, too, can be controlled and has the characteristics to yield to the same treatment that is applied for the control of brown rot.

The fungus causing brown rot usually enters the fruit through an opening made in the skin by the plum curculio or peach worm. The brown rot fungus spends the winter in the decayed fruit left on the ground beneath the trees or in the "mummy" fruits that adhere to the limbs throughout the winter. From these habitations the young spores are given off in the spring and spread to the twigs of the trees where they find their entrance prepared for them by the curculio. But often they will enter the fruit without the aid of the curculio. This fungus often grows through the stem of the peach causing death to the twig by girdling the tender bark.

Brown rot is preventable. The huge loss it exacts each year can be effectively controlled by proper sanitation methods and combative sprays. Like many other fruit and vegetable enemies, it spends its winter near the scenes of its summer activities, therefore, the destruction of the rotting fruits and broken limbs beneath the trees and the "mummied" fruits remaining on the limbs will furnish an effective means of decreasing its ravages.

Many commercial peach growers have found plowing under the refuse of the season's crop an excellent method to curtail the propagation of the rot-sports. Where a cover crop is planned for the orchard this plowing permits a double benefit to be attained.

Where curculio has been in evidence during the summer season, it is advisable to give the trees a thorough dusting after the crop has been harvested, using a mixture of one part arsenate of lead and nine parts hydrated lime. This should be applied about a month after the fruit harvest to effect a killing of the remaining beetles that are feeding on the foliage. Another similar dusting in about two weeks will usually be found beneficial.

It is difficult to control brown rot without following the complete spring and summer spraying schedule for peaches. Crowding fruit also gives the rot a better opportunity of spreading. Because of this the trees should be pruned to an open head to permit the sunlight to penetrate the branches and also to aid in the effectiveness of the sprays. Brown rot is usually found more prevalent where the trees grow in rich soils or are heavily fed with nitrogen fertilizers. But there is no necessity to reduce the fertilization of the trees to avoid the rot. Control is possible with the normal use of nitrogen fertilizers.

While sanitation measures will greatly aid in reducing the losses from brown rot, yet the problem is one that requires more than individual protective activities. An orchard properly kept will often become infested from spores traveling from neighboring or distant trees. Then there are certain numbers of the spores that will defy sanitary measures and survive the winter. The safer policy is to remove all possible sources of habitation in the fall and then follow with the essential aid of the complete spraying program beginning with the dormant spray in early spring. Only by this method and care will the enormous yearly losses from these peach enemies be reduced to a level insuring stability to the industry.

Recent developments along several lines of experimentation with peach tree improvement indicate that much of the damages of the peach tree borer and the phony peach will be eliminated through the use of plum roots in peach grafting. Many southern growers believe this method will mark a new era in peach production. By using plum seedlings on which to graft the peach stock, the tree not only develops a stronger rooting system, but produces a more satisfactory quality of fruit that is immune from many of the diseases and weaknesses to which the old peach is heir.

But while these improvements are coming it is essential to peach tree owners, whether large or small, to reduce the heavy losses from brown rot. This can be largely accomplished by the fall dusting and the recommended clean-up program. And while this is being done, the general sanitation measures will help the orchard and other surrounding fruit areas.

MISS MYRTLE LEE LEWIS BRIDE OF A. H. JENKINS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Pocomoke Church, Grotons, Va., at high noon September 21st, when Miss Myrtle Lee Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, of Grotons, became the bride of Mr. A. Hamilton Jenkins, of Manassas. The bride was becomingly gowned in brown transparent velvet with hat, gloves and shoes to match and carried a corsage bouquet of yellow sweet-heart roses. Mrs. G. F. Minor, of Richmond, who was matron of honor, also wore brown transparent velvet and carried pink roses. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. E. A. Lewis, of Salisbury, Md. Little Miss Kitty Johnson, of Charlottesville, who was flower girl, wore pink crepe.

The ushers were Mr. Ashleigh Lewis, of Sanford, Va., and Mr. Bransford Lewis, of Kennett Square, Pa., brothers of the bride. Mr. Jenkins was attended by Mr. D. J. Martin, of Manassas, as best man.

Mrs. Roland Seward, of Salisbury, accompanied by Miss Frances Hopkins, also of Salisbury, sang "The Indian Love Call" and "O, Promise Me".

The church was attractively decorated with evergreens and goldenrod.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left for a trip to northern cities. Upon their return they will reside in Manassas, where the groom is engaged in the mercantile business.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson and children, Kitty and Elmer, Jr., of Charlottesville; Miss Emma Holloway, Miss Alice Elzy, Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Seward, Miss Hopkins, Miss Ida McGrath, Miss Amanda Downing, Miss Elsie Hearn, Miss Reddish, Miss Frances Harvey, Mr. Ashbury Holloway and Mr. Stephen McGrath, all of Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. Bunting, of Pocomoke, and Mr. Clyde Windsor, of Chester, Pa.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear father, R. S. Abel, who departed this life October 9, 1921.

Today recalls sweet memories,
Of my dear father, gone to rest;
The ones who think of him today,
Are the ones who love him best.

Eight long years ago you left us,
To rest in eternal peace;
But my love for you, dear father,
Will never, never, cease.

What would I give to hold your hand
Your dear face just to see;
Your loving smile your welcome voice
Which meant so much to me.

Honest and upright in all of his ways,
A devoted father to the end of his days.

A better father you'd never find.
What a wonderful memory he left behind.

His daughter Georgia.

CARELESSNESS, THE GREAT DESTROYER.

Today, if this is an average 24 hours, several score people will be killed and thousands injured in automobile accidents. It happened yesterday, and it will happen again tomorrow.

Somebody turned without giving a signal; somebody was driving too fast; somebody didn't stop at a school district or a through boulevard; somebody insisted too much on right-of-way or what he conceived to be his privilege; somebody lost his head in a crisis. The result: Casualties and waste, in lives and property, that knowledge, caution and fairness toward others would have prevented.

It should be a reasonably simple thing to observe traffic laws, to keep a machine under control, to learn the written and unwritten rules of the road, and to keep one's eyes open for the mistakes of others as well as one's own. Yet millions of motorists fail to do so.

It should be remembered that every accident is caused because someone was reckless, incompetent, careless or ignorant. Unpreventable accidents are rare. And in this day of fast cars and congested traffic, the poor driver is a menace to the life and property of every citizen.

MR. ANGELL SPEAKS OUT.

The most delightful revelation of the current campaign in Virginia is Robert H. Angell, of Roanoke. So far as our own records go, there never was another political leader like him, says the Richmond Times-Dispatch. He is unique among party captains. While the others attempt to hide their innermost thoughts and their real purposes, for fear of adverse reactions, Mr. Angell speaks out boldly, saying just what he thinks and indicating just the course he will pursue toward the goal of his ambition.

Imagine an old-time politician announcing that, in this campaign, it is not good tactics to harp on State issues, when national issues, spurious but effective in attracting votes, are ready-made for the occasion! Fancy an old-time politician advising his camp that it would be a mistake to criticize the leader of the opposition, because that leader is known to be particularly able and to have accomplished a great deal for Virginia! What party chairman but Mr. Angell would admit that his candidate for Governor had gone off at a tangent on a very important matter and that he should have informed himself before launching a silly charge?

Mr. Angell is convinced that the only hope of the coalition to win the election in Virginia is to revive the witchery of the presidential campaign last fall, and he does not hesitate to speak out. He knows that talk of Tammany and Raskob and the other factors that entered into the defeat of Al Smith is sheer bunk and wholly unrelated to this particular fight, but he knows, further, that such talk fetches in the votes and votes are the only thing that really counts on election day. Mr. Angell realizes that it is absurd for Henry W. Anderson to shoot at the record in office of Harry Byrd. Instead of speaking to the colonel privately, however, he tells us all that the present Governor has been a remarkable success and he, for one, is opposed to directing attention to his accomplishments. The chairman of the Republican party played an important role in promoting the idea of the Shenandoah National Park. He knows the facts of that movement as well as any man in Virginia. Instead of whispering to Dr. Brown, as any other chairman would have done, that, in speaking at Roanoke of park campaign expenditures, he revealed gross ignorance of the situation, Mr. Angell shouted it from the housetops, so that all might hear.

If the coalitionists heed the advice of the Republican leader, they will desist, as their only hope of victory, from attacking the impregnable position of the Democratic party in this State and will train their big guns against Al Smith, Raskob and Tammany. There are other chairmen who would have adopted these tactics, but they would have done it behind a veil of strictest secrecy. Mr. Angell, however.

Every hour of the day, every day in the year this service is performed, that the American public can have the necessities and luxuries of life at its beck and call. Copper from Utah and Nevada, fruit from California and Florida, cattle and grain from the prairie states, manufactured products from New England—the railroads carry it all, swiftly, dependably and at a low cost.

SIXTY MINUTES OF SERVICE

In one hour the railroads of the United States earn $695,037 from their transportation operations and spend $503,425 in operating expenses.

In an hour they pay $320,896 in wages and $44,298 in taxes.

In an hour 5,872 cars are loaded with freight and 88,635 passengers board trains.

In an hour the railroads perform freight service equivalent to hauling nearly 50 million tons one mile, and passenger service equal to transporting over 3,500,000 passengers the same distance.

American civilization could not exist without the service performed by our railroads. Transportation is the life-blood of commerce, business and social relations. A nation progresses in exactly the same ratio as its transportation facilities.

Our grandmothers were concerned about their souls; their granddaughters are concerned about their bodies. "How to Reduce" is today's real "woman question"; and one fraught with peril to the next generation, say the physicians. If the present yearly expense of "beauty parlors"—which, certainly, to judge by the evidence, are not returning value for the money received—could be halved with the Christian mission boards, the enterprise of world evangelization would be straightway quadrupled.

Men are not much behind women in this concern for the physical. The largest single department of every newspaper in the land is that devoted to sports. In order to learn the news of our colleges nowadays one must turn to the sporting pages. "Keeping physically fit" has become the major interest of millions of men.

"Fit for what?" I asked myself, when a wealthy acquaintance said to me at luncheon in a golf club one day, "I just must have my daily golf in order to keep fit." Before he inherited money that man was a useful public servant; now he gives his days to the golf course, in order to "keep fit" to play more golf! So far as the big world is concerned, he is "fit" for nothing.

One "Fit" Athlete.

In a swimming pool, last week, I saw a magnificent specimen of physical young manhood, tanned from a whole season's exposure to the sun. "Who is he, and what does he do to justify his existence?" I asked my young companion. The latter grinned: "He is Blank, a well-known college athlete. He was offered an athletic scholarship at S— College, which certainly makes it easy for football candidates to enter; but this fellow could not pass a single entrance requirement, and S— turned him down. But he was admitted to P—, and with a much larger allowance for expenses; and P— thinks it has a real bargain, for he has frequently got the college into the headlines of the sporting pages." In vacation time this athlete ministers to popular taste by giving youth abundant opportunity to admire him.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR OCTOBER 13, 1929.

Frequent questionnaires among college students have shown that a letter on the sweater is a more highly prized goal than a Phi Beta Kappa key on the watch fob. The magnificent young animal of the swimming pool personifies the day's standards.

For the body-cult runs far and wide and deep. Food fads and health theories have taken hold of myriads. Every newspaper must have its counseling column on health. Magazines exclusively devoted to the subject of physical culture are prosperous—and pornographic. I can imagine one of these persons who keeps his mind upon his stomach—which, I submit is a serious anatomical misplacement, with grave pathological consequences—inquiring of another food faddist "What was that 'Diet of Worms' that made Martin Luther so Strong? I've tried a diet of bran, a diet of nuts, a diet of raw vegetables, a diet of liquids, and now I am wondering how a diet of worms could be prepared so that it would help me!" Everybody knows the twin conversational pests, who talk either about their ailments or about their latest "health food".

Our Heathen Body-Worship.

We have gone farther than even the ancient Greeks in our cult of the body. The latest philosophy to command wide allegiance is "Behaviorism," which reduces both mind and soul to a mere series of physical reactions. Our modern literature is soaked with bodyism, or fleshiness. Physical sensations are set forth as paramount. The end of all being, according to the day's popular fashion, is to get a "kick" out of life. The Ten Commandments, and the accumulated wisdom of the human race, are airily brushed aside if they stand in the way of our present pursuit of carnal titillation. In addition to codding the carcass, to the neglect of the intellect and of the spirit, the fashion is to make the sensations of the body the major end of life.

Let it be said in plain words that this body worship is stark paganism, and wholly contrary to the Christian Scriptures, as well as to the matured experience of mankind. It belongs in the groves and high places of the Canaanites, and in the luxurious and licentious life of the decadent Greeks and Romans.

Against this tendency to reduce immortal beings to the brute level, we place the clear teaching of the Scripture, which is that the body is merely an instrument, a tool, a means to an end. Paul said, "I keep by body under"; which passage is more literally translated, in one of the recent versions, "I maul and master my body". Beginning with the ascetic and suffering prophets of the Old Testament, from Elijah to Jeremiah, all the way through to the Saviour, whose body was broken on the cross, the Bible's record is of great souls who counted not their physical lives dear unto themselves.

What The Bible Really Teaches.

History has forgotten the hordes of Roman gladiators, physically as fine as the numskull college athlete of the swimming pool, but it remembers the ascetic monk Telemachus, whose heroic spirit stopped the whole brutal practice. Thinking persons cheerish the memory of Steinmetz, the "kizard" of electricity, who made a permanent contribution to human welfare, despite his twisted body; and they lay literary laurels upon the grave of Robert Louis Stevenson, who wrote masterpieces on a sickbed.

Greatest of all the disciples of Jesus was the Apostle Paul, whose afflicted body was forced by his dominant will through such adventures and hardships and heroisms as have scarcely ever fallen to the lot of man. Henry Ford may not know much about history, but he has abundant historical warrant for his recent remark that "By the time a man reaches seventy, he ought to have something a great deal more valuable than physical strength".

One reason, and one only, does the Scripture set forth for physical fitness, as in the case of Daniel: that the body may be an effective agent of the soul. The New Testament argues that our bodies are not to be defiled, because they are the temples of the Holy Spirit. A Christian writer summed the teachings up in a sentence: "We have bodies, but we are souls."

Only once does the Bible specifically touch upon the subject of physical fitness and that is in the familiar word of Paul to Timothy, "Bodily exercise profiteth little". The Revised Version suggests the alternative, "Bodily exercise profiteth a little". The Weymouth Translation renders the meaning as "Exercise for the body is not useless, but godliness is useful in every respect." Clearer seems the way Dr. Moffatt interprets the Greek original: "The training of the body is of small service, but religion is of service in all directions".

In another passage, Paul bids Christians "mortify the deeds of the body". To the Philippians he speaks of the "vile body" and says that "Christ shall be magnified in my body". Again, "The body without the spirit is dead". In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus bids us "care not for the body".

So there is small foundation in Scripture for our contemporary cult of body-worship. The body is not an end, but a means. God did not create human beings to be merely magnificent animals: He made us in His own spiritual image, that we might be great and beautiful and triumphant souls. We should give heed to the body for the sake of the spirit. For it is within the realm of the spirit alone that man's permanent and divine possibilities are to be found.

IN THE CLERK'S OFFICE OF THE CIRCUIT COURT OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

OCTOBER 4, 1929:

vs.

MAUDE M. LESTER AND ED LESTER.

IN CHANCERY.

Affidavit having been executed and filed in this office as provided by law that Maude M. Lester and Ed Lester, the above-named defendants, are not residents of the State of Virginia, and that their present whereabouts are unknown and that their last place of residence and post office known to affiant was Bristow, R. F. D., Virginia; that their former post office address was Bluefield, West Virginia; therefore I, Geo. G. Tyler, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia, do hereby enter the following order of publication against the said non-resident defendants.

The general object of the above styled suit by John W. Hall, complainant, is to enforce the lien of a certain deed executed by said John W. Hall as of October 19, 1927, whereby the real estate therein described was conveyed to said defendants, reserving a lien evidenced by four notes, aggregating $4,000.00, with interest secured on the tract of land therein described situate on the waters of Broad Run, in Brentsville Magisterial District, Prince William County, Virginia, containing 195½ acres, more or less, and also conveying an easement or right of way acquired over the lands of Antonio Mertz et al (which said deed will be found recorded in Deed Book 84, folio 92, of the county clerk's office for said county), and by reason of default in the payments secured by said lien, to direct a sale by said court of said land and easement to pay the debt therein reserved and secured as aforesaid.

It is, therefore, ordered that the said Maude M. Lester and Ed Lester, her husband, do appear in this office within ten days after due publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest; that this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulating in the County of Prince William, Virginia; that a copy hereof be posted at the front door of the court house of said county on or before the next succeeding Rule Day, and that other copies thereof be mailed to the said Maude M. Lester and Ed Lester at the address last known of said defendants, to-wit, Bristow, R. F. D., Virginia, by United States prepaid registered mail; and that the clerk of said court shall file a certificate of the facts among the papers in said cause.

GEO. G. TYLER, Clerk.

A true copy: GEO. G. TYLER, Clerk. 21-4t

Statement of the ownership, management, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of the Manassas Journal, published weekly at Manassas, Va., for October 1, 1929.

County of Prince William, ss.

Before me, a Notary Public, in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared F. W. Patterson, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the owner of The Manassas Journal.

1. That the names and address of the publisher and editor are:

Publisher, F. W. Patterson, Manassas, Virginia.

Editor, F. W. Patterson, Manassas, Virginia.

2. That the owner is F. W. Patterson, Manassas, Va.

F. W. Patterson, Owner.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 10th day of October, 1929.

(SEAL) THOS. W. LION, N. P. (My commission expires July 31, 1933.)

REPUBLICAN ANTI-SMITH CANDIDATE FLAYS BYRD

Fredericksburg, Oct. 8.—Dr. William Moseley Brown, anti-Smith-Republican candidate for Governor, speaking in the opera house here, assailed policies of the Byrd administration which he said were conceived and perpetrated in iniquity and ridiculed the assertion that the Byrd program is responsible for the recent progress in the State.

Attacking the short ballot and the present tax schedule, Dr. Brown declared for a reduction in automobile taxes and a redistribution of income tax rates without specifying any particular changes. He criticized the position of Governor Byrd with relation to the seafood industry, and devoted considerable time to an attack upon the election laws which he said invited fraud and should be revised and simplified.

MINISTERS REGRET GOING OF REV. LEE E. SHEAFFER

At the meeting of the Manassas Ministerial Association last Thursday, sincere regrets were expressed at the removal of Rev. Lee E. Sheaffer, pastor of the United Brethren Church of Manassas and Prince William County, from Manassas to Shenandoah, Va. He was assured by all of the ministers that their prayers and best wishes would go with him to his new charge, and that they would always remember with gratitude his splendid Christian spirit and the good work he has done in our midst.

VIRGINIA'S AGRICULTURAL PROGRESS IN PICTORIAL

Richmond, Oct. 8.—The largest pictorial magazine on Virginia ever published by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce has just come from the press, featuring chiefly Virginia's agricultural and industrial progress, although much space is given to scenic and historic Virginia. Whole sections are devoted to Southside, Southwest, Shenandoah Valley, Piedmont and Tidewater Virginia. The magazine will be sent to every part of the world in the State Chamber's campaign to advertise Virginia.

Tobacco is the subject of the cover of the magazine, the picture being a Halifax County view, while scenic views of the Narrows, and Crab Apple Orchard Falls not far from Lynchburg and Bedford, occupy full pages of space.

Hoover's Visit Shown.

The center of the magazine is devoted to recent developments among the Caverns in the Shenandoah Valley region, and views of the new Giant Caverns near narrows are used. The visit of President Hoover to Madison, the launching of the "Houston" at Newport News, historical gifts to Kenmore, at Fredericksburg, and the discovery of a new type of apple which it is believed will help Virginia apple growers develop a more desirable apple, are a few of the features.

The Lonesome Pine, near Big Stone Gap, famous in song and story, is pictured in the magazine, as well as Slash Church, Aquia Church, historical old Stratford, restoration developments at historic Williamsburg, the Warrenton Horse Show, activities among Virginia farm organizations, and agricultural views of Southwest, Southside, Shenandoah and Piedmont and Northern Virginia. Turkeys, ducks and chickens, apple picking and new apple storage plants, new hotels, golf courses, industries, and national shrines such as the birthplace of Woodrow Wilson, at Staunton, are among the features.

Appomattox and its battlefield and surrender markers, claim a page of space, while Old Germantown, Carter's Hall at Millwood, the Peaks of Otter and Woodberry Forest and Randolph-Macon Academy, are shown.

Industrial Progress.

Lynchburg, as it looked two score years ago, and as it looks today, is a unique feature, while Red Hill, the home of Patrick Henry, the grave of the great orator, the stone marking his birthplace, the largest clay pipe works in the world, and distinctive Virginia industries, are a few of the many subjects covered. Air views and new historic markers are liberally used, and a series of Historic Churches in Southside Virginia, industrial views of Danville and Bristol, and an entire industrial page on Martinsville, pass in review before the reader.

Norfolk's progress, and a page of views showing the mining and shipment of coal, are grouped near views of the launching of the new "Pennsylvania" at Newport News, the completion of a fine new hotel in Richmond, and boat races and historical sights on the Historical Peninsula of Virginia. A view of the only place in the world where three railroads cross at the same spot, in Richmond, the Virginia House and Agcroft Hall, and the grave of Varina Anne Davis, "daughter of the Confederacy", are only a few of the many objects of interest brought graphically to the attention of the reader.

SAVING THE LAST VEGETABLES FOR WINTER

The last odds and ends of garden vegetables are golden nuggets which should be conserved for winter use, says the food and nutrition specialist extension division, V. P. I.

An easy way to do this is to combine small amounts of three or four different vegetables into a concentrated vegetable soup mixture. On cold days a jar of this mixture may be quickly turned into a dish of steaming hot soup which will meet a hearty welcome from the whole family. It will also help give the family the health protection so much needed in winter which is obtained from eating each day two vegetables other than potatoes, dried peas or beans.

Any combination of vegetables may be used that suits individual tastes. This recipe suggests one combination:

Cook tomatoes, strain to remove seeds, and then cook rapidly until of the consistency of catsup. To each quart of this pulp use 1 pint tender corn or tiny lima beans, 1 pint of okra, 1 small onion, chopped, ½ cup chopped sweet red pepper, and 1½ teaspoons salt. Heat all together for ten minutes. Pack boiling hot into hot jars, seal and process 2 hours in boiling water or 45 minutes in steam pressure cooker.

CLEARING HOUSE TALKED OF FOR NEARBY BANKS

At a meeting held in Alexandria Friday night last, preliminary plans for the formation of a clearing house association for the banks of Alexandria City and Fairfax and Arlington counties were formulated. A committee composed of representatives of the banks interested was appointed to draft rules and regulations, to be submitted to the banks in the association for ratification. These rules and regulations, it is stated, will be for the purpose of governing banks in their relations with the public.

BRAWNER-BAUMANN NUPTIALS.

A pretty wedding was held at B. hall on Saturday, October 5, 11 a. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Brawner, of Buckhall, when their daughter, Miss Lucy M. Brawner, became the bride of Mr. Carl A. Baumann, of Washington. The ring ceremony of the United Brethren Church was used by the officiating minister, Rev. Lee E. Sheaffer.

After the ceremony a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. The bridal couple then left for a tour to Miami, Fla. After returning they will be at home in the West View Apartments, Washington.

Guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans, Manassas; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Thomasson, Lawrence, Ia.; and Mr. and Mrs. William Brawner, all of Buckhall.

MISSIONARY TRAINS
UNUSUAL ORCHESTRA

New York, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The most unique orchestra in the world is one composed of native Lutherans in New Guinea, established and directed by Pastor H. Zahn, a Lutheran missionary in that land, says the News Bureau of the National Lutheran Council. It is composed exclusively of wind instruments, each of them a large seashell, which, being blown into, produces a single note. Since no variation of tone is possible in spite of the skill of the player, the orchestra must consist of as many players and instruments as there are individual notes in the selection. So skillfully has Missionary Zahn trained what he terms his "trumpet choir" that the players have already learned to render four-part chorals.

CURTAIN RINGS DOWN.

Autumn rings down the curtain on Nature's normal production season. Growing things begin their winter's sleep. Now can be measured the accomplishments and failures of the year.

What problems has the 1929 season developed?

What questions have arisen from the year's work in garden, orchard, lawn or on the farm?

We invite our readers who have been using our Agricultural Information service to continue, and those who have not yet taken advantage of this opportunity are urged to bring their questions and problems into this clearing house of valuable advice and practical information on all matters pertaining to THINGS OF THE SOIL.

MANAGE THE PULLETS TO GET HIGH PRICED EGGS

Some special thought and attention given now to the management of the maturing pullets may greatly increase the number of high price eggs they will lay, according to Harry L. Moore, poultry husbandman, extension division.

All poultry and especially the laying flocks are very susceptible to any sudden change, therefore, great care should be taken to see that there is no sudden change in housing or feeding after the pullets begin to lay. If a change of feed is necessary make it very gradually, using only a little of the new feed at first and gradually increasing it.

The pullets that have been on the rearing range all summer must be housed of course, but before housing them the houses should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Plenty of good dry litter should be placed on the floor and special care taken to see that there are no holes in the back and sides of the house to cause draughts. The pullets may be kept in the house day and night for a week or two, in order that they will become accustomed to the new house.

Properly Balanced Rations. Perhaps the greatest limiting factor in egg production in Virginia is the lack of properly balanced rations for the hens. It is absolutely necessary that the hen be given all she will eat of a good laying mash, the proper amount of good grain, plenty of good clean water, grit and oyster shell, if she is to lay the eggs she is capable of laying. Some pullets begin to lay before they get the body weight they should have.

Any laying bird must maintain good weight if she is to continue to lay. To help get this weight up or to keep it up, a little extra corn or corn meal, may be added to the ration.

A little wet mash at the middle of the day will often help to stop a neck molt and help get the birds out of a slump in production.

The next three months is the time the eggs are worth most, so take a little extra thought and time and try to get more of them.

VIRGINIA MARINE TEAM SEEKS MORE GRID FAME

Quantico, Va., Oct. 9.—More than thirty stalwart huskies of the Marine Corps have completed a month's training on their gridiron here, and are ready to win more football fame for the Virginia military post. The team, comprised of players from nearly every State of the Union, expects to maintain the fast pace set by the post on the Potomac in former years.

Ever since the world war the Marines' chief athletic activities have centered at Quantico, and sea soldiers from that station have been winning laurels on both the diamond and gridiron. All-Marine football teams have been especially successful, and in the last five years official records show they won 41, lost 7, and tied 3 games. Their schedule this year includes games with Davis-Elkins, of West Virginia; St. Xavier, of Cincinnati; the University of Dayton, and several other teams. All of their games will be played away from their home station.

The Marines fire the opening gun of their grid campaign when they go over the top against New River State College at Charleston, W. Va., October

DURING this hot weather particularly, it is most important to keep all perishable foods safely cold. When the temperature in your refrigerator rises even a degree or two above 50, bacteria multiply with alarming speed. In a General Electric Refrigerator the temperature is always below 50 degrees—low enough to check germ growth . . . to keep foods safe from contamination.

The General Electric gives you perfect refrigeration—quiet, worry-free and economical. It has a simple device for freezing regulation. Its mechanism, which never needs oiling, is safely enclosed in an hermetically sealed steel casing, mounted on top. As evidence of guaranteed reliability—there are now more than 300,000 users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs!

And the cabinet of the General Electric is the first and only one built entirely of steel—as strong and warp-proof as a safe. See it for yourself.

NOVEL COURSES GIVEN BY HIGH SCHOOLS

Washington, Oct. 9.—Schools have progressed a long way from the old conception of an education which consisted of "reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic." Many high schools are now offering courses in modern trades which fit the student to enter some industry immediately upon his completion of the school, according to the Bureau of Education.

A number of high schools, for example, report that they are giving courses in aviation. Typical of these is the Juliet, Illinois, Township High School, which now offers a course in aeronautics in which the theory of flying is stressed. Instruction relative to airplane engines is given in connection with the fourth-year work in auto mechanics.

Owing to the demand for service men in the radio industry, the vocational education board of Essex County, N. J., made a survey of the radio manufacturing industries in the country, and on the basis of this information organized specific courses in the trade schools of the county to train for production and service in the radio industry.

A course in stagecraft in which the students learn to construct scenery, do painting and decorating, and electric wiring for illumination is offered by the Santa Barbara (Calif.) High School.

operation with a large harvester company is offered by the high school of Stockton, Calif. The instruction is carried on in the factory of the company by an expert foreman. Students for this course are carefully selected with reference to their aptitudes and interest for the work.

A program including courses in power-plant engineering, laundry work, and linotype work has been developed by the Union High School, Fort Bragg, Calif.

A course in stone drafting together with work in the actual production of materials for buildings is offered by the Bedford (Ind.) High School which is situated in the center of the oolite limestone industry. The local companies cooperate with the high school and furnish a mill and necessary equipment for doing production jobs.

The Frank Wiggins Trade School, Los Angeles, Calif., offers a janitors' engineering course covering heating, lighting, and ventilating from the standpoint of a janitor's responsibilities.

NEED FOR SAFETY EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS OF COUNTY

Washington, Oct. 9.—There is one motor vehicle registered for every child attending the public schools, and this situation has presented a need for safety education in the schools which can no longer be ignored.

This statement was issued today by National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association on the eve of the greatest safety education program ever attempted in this country, in which the Bureau of Education of the federal government, the National Education Association and other agencies have been invited to cooperate.

The national motoring body bases its estimate as to the ratio of cars to children in the public schools on the fact that the number of motor vehicles registered at the beginning of 1929 was 24,493,124, and has easily been increased 500,000 since, while the Bureau of Education estimates the number of children attending school at 25,000,000.

A. A. A. Safety Lessons.

As children are returning to the school room in all parts of the country, the A. A. A. Safety Department estimates that at least two and a half million, or one-tenth of those attending the public schools, will receive A. A. A. safety lessons, while this campaign will be augmented by the work of more than 150,000 school boy patrolmen in over 400 cities.

"That these school boy patrols have contributed largely to a reduction in child fatalities has been manifested by the accident experience in cities where they are being operated," declares Ernest N. Smith, Executive Vice President of the A. A. A., in a letter to William John Cooper, Commissioner of Education, inviting cooperation of the federal bureau in the safety program.

"The school boy patrol plan," continued Mr. Smith, "is further actuated by the incorporation of safety education in the existing course of study, by supplying the school teachers with material for the motivation of the curriculum by pointing out how safety education may be correlated with the regular subjects.

"Proper mental attitudes and habits of mind are more likely to be produced by the correlation of safety education with the other subject matter, than by sporadic campaigns or drives.

The substitution of material that might give the impression to teachers that they are being asked to teach an additional subject is carefully avoided, and no extraneous matter is included in our suggested lesson outlines. For safety training, in the lower grades particularly, the children's own experiences are drawn upon, and, therefore, has more educational value than abstract problems.

"We do not advocate that safety be taught during any particular period of the day or any specific number of hours per month, but that the teacher be encouraged to continuously and continually weave the safety lessons in with the subjects regularly taught throughout the entire school year."

RED CLOVER SEED HULLED.

A considerable quantity of red clover seed was hulled in Prince William County this year which is being offered for sale by the growers at a very reasonable price per bushel.

This seed is of excellent quality and experimental results have shown that home grown seed is superior for use in Virginia. It should be to the mutual advantage of the purchasers and growers to get together both from the "better seed" standpoint and the encouraging of saving more clover seed in the county.

ATTRACTIVE SCHOOLS HELP IN EDUCATIONAL OUTCOME

This is the time of the year to give the school building and grounds a thorough overhauling. If the building is new constant care and cleanliness will help to preserve it. If the building is old it may need repairs, a coat of paint, and a thorough house cleaning.

Proper attitudes toward the school, ideals of sanitation and of art, can be developed best in an environment which is healthful and attractive. A fresh coat of paint not only covers smoky and grimy walls but disinfects the building as well. If a soft buff or yellow color is selected for the walls and a lighter coat for the ceiling, the interior of an old building may be made not only livable but attractive and cheerful in its atmosphere.

Unscreened windows, broken window panes, torn shades, cut-up desks and uncleaned walls add to the discomfort and unhappiness of children and aid the development of careless habits and indifferent attitudes towards work.

The cost of mowing the grounds, removing rubbish or trash, of a thorough house cleaning of the entire building, including the basement, and the application of two or more coats of paint is slight. The result in sanitation, in comfort, in beauty, and in educational outcomes is worth while. Children should have a healthful and attractive environment.

POSTAL RECEIPTS INCREASE.

Postal receipts at fifty selected cities throughout the country for the month of September, 1929, showed an increase of 4.40 per cent over those for the same month last year, according to figures made public today at the Post Office Department.

Postal receipts in Richmond were $167,608.62, as against $167,173.65 in September a year ago.

The five leading cities and their percentages of increase were:

Jersey City, N. J., 17.21 per cent; Denver, Colo., 14.97 per cent; Houston, Texas, 14.94 per cent; Los Angeles, Calif., 13.13 per cent, and Fort Worth, Texas, 11.92 per cent.

SAVE MONEY

Ownership of a Pontiac Big Six is an experience in economy. True, most people choose Pontiac, not because it is so inexpensive, but because of the many big car advantages which it provides. But it is a fact that with a Pontiac you actually save money. You save—

When you buy . . . When you drive . . . When you trade it in

You save when you buy a Pontiac because it is the lowest-priced car ever produced which offers so many advantages. You save when you drive because, according to a large corporation which employed 996 cars of 33 different makes during 1928, Pontiac costs one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six. You save when you trade it in because the demand for used Pontiacs has always exceeded the available supply. Come in to see and drive the car which offers all these advantages.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Loewjoy shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

WHEN WE SERVE SANDWICHES

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

Sandwiches vary all the way from the fancy, dainty bits of goodness which we serve at tea, to the substantial, many-layered sandwiches which are always so popular with men.

Bread for flat sandwiches should be a day old, so as to cut more easily. For rolled sandwiches, or for very thin slices of bread to be buttered and put overlapping on a plate, fresh bread should be used.

White or brown bread, rye, graham, whole-wheat, raisin, date or nut breads may be used, some times two or more kinds together. Long, narrow rolls make attractive sandwiches when sliced lengthwise, buttered and filled. For picnics, the roll may be hollowed and filled with sandwich material. Thin salt wafers or crackers are often used for paste sandwiches.

Bread for fancy sandwiches should be cut in slices as thin as possible and the crusts removed. Picnic and lunchbox sandwiches are cut somewhat thicker and the crusts usually left on. The filling and butter for picnic sandwiches should be increased in proportion to the thickness of the bread.

Here are a few suggestions for delicious sandwiches:

Italian Sandwiches—

1/2 cupful minced celery; cayenne pepper; 2 tablespoons Mayonnaise Salad Dressing; white or whole-wheat bread; 1/4 cup minced ham; prepared mustard; 2 tablespoons Chili Sauce; butter.

Combine minced ham and celery and season with dash each of cayenne pepper and mustard. Moisten with the mayonnaise and chili sauce. Use white or whole-wheat bread.

Cheese, Olive, and Green Pepper

1 cupful grated American cheese; 1/4 cupful minced green peppers; bread; 1/2 cup Spanish olives; 2 tablespoons Mayonnaise Salad Dressing; butter.

Mix together cheese, olives, green peppers and mayonnaise. Butter slices of bread, spread half them with the filling and cover with other slices of bread.

Baked Bean Sandwiches

1/2 cupful Oven Baked Beans; 2 tablespoons grated American cheese; salt; 2 tablespoons orange juice; butter; brown bread.

Mash baked beans. Add grated cheese and salt to taste. Moisten with orange juice and spread between slices of buttered brown bread.

Olive Club Sandwiches—

Bread; Mayonnaise Salad Dressing; stuffed Spanish Olives; butter; lettuce leaves; bacon; watercress.

Toast slices of bread one-fourth inch thick until an even golden brown. Butter lightly and let cool slightly. Spread with thick mayonnaise. On half the slices place lettuce leaves and cover with sliced olives. On the remaining toast, arrange slices of broiled bacon. Put together and garnish with watercress.

Garden Sandwiches— Spread whole wheat or rye bread with creamed butter, then with Mayonnaise Salad Dressing to which enough chopped parsley or cress has been added to color it slightly. Scald, peel, and chill four medium-sized firm tomatoes; pare a cucumber, remove seeds and chop with one-half a green pepper and a small onion; moisten with Mayonnaise Salad Dressing. Slice tomatoes and arrange sandwiches on serving plates as follows:

First a slice of buttered bread, then slices of tomato dusted with salt, pepper, paprika, and garnish with Mayonnaise. Next a second slice of bread, buttered side up, with the vegetables on it. Garnish with spoonful of Mayonnaise and whole Stuffed Olive.

Hot Ham Sandwiches— Spread thin slice of brown bread with a thin slice of ham, or minced ham, then with a thin layer of Heinz Prepared mustard. Cover mustard with a thin slice of American or Swiss cheese. Cover with another slice of bread. Toast the sandwich, or heat one egg and add to it 1/4 teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and 1/2 cup milk. Dip the sandwiches quickly into this mixture and fry until delicately browned in a pan with 3 tablespoons melted butter. Garnish with slices of fresh cucumber pickle and serve at once.

Sandwiches Men Like

Rare roast beef and horseradish and onion minced, on white bread. Swiss cheese, prepared mustard, and rye bread.

Hot Frankfurter sausages in quarter-inch slices, skin removed, and prepared mustard, in rolls or white bread.

Chopped hard-boiled eggs, stuffed olives chopped, and mayonnaise.

BRENTSVILLE DISTRICT COMMUNITY MEETING

Delightful Program Offered by People of Greenwich, Arranged By Teachers.

The Brentsville District Community Association met on Tuesday night in the High School building at Nokesville.

Following the business session when matters of interest to the entire community were discussed, a minstrel program was given. The program had been arranged by the teachers of the Greenwich School, and among the special features were bone, harp and batj selections by N. D. Brady and George A. Wood.

S. C. Foster was named as chairman of the nominating committee to select nominees for office during the ensuing year. Y. W. Zirkle, of the educational committee asked that "school zone" signs be placed at proper distance on either side of the school for the added protection of the pupils. The next meeting will be held on the first Monday in November.

DANCE AT DUMFRIES.

There will be a dance at Odd Fellows Temple, Dumfries, on Wednesday, October 16, with dancing from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. Music will be furnished by Harry Brown's orchestra.

"LOGAN," VIRGINIA PROPERTY OF LATE J. H. WOOD, IS SOLD

Gordonsville, Oct. 10—"Logan," the property of the late James H. Wood, veteran engineer on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, has been sold at public auction to James S. Watkins, Jr., of Edgewood, Albemarle County. Seven springs, located on this property, furnish a large part of the water supply of the town of Gordonsville.

Lying in the valley of the southwest range of hills between the historic Spotswood trail and the Gordonsville-Clement highway, the property takes its name from the legend that Chief Logan, sole survivor of the Mingoes, had his last wigwam under the trees on the lawn there.

SWAVELY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Konold, of Pittsburgh, Pa., spent the week-end with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Illingworth.

Mr. Reeves spent the week-end in Philadelphia.

Sunday visitors at the school included Mr. and Mrs. Graham, and Mrs. O'Neill, of Washington.

The football season opened auspiciously on Friday last when we beat Business High School, of Washington, by the score of 13 to 0.

On Sunday evening the boys were entertained in the gymnasium with moving pictures of the World War, taken by the German Photographic Corps, during the actual fighting.

Walter Plimmer, of the "Hello Yourself!" company, now playing at Poli's in Washington, an old Swavely alumnus, visited the school on Tuesday.

Saturday trips are now being arranged every week to visit places of interest and educational value in Washington.

Arrangements for the winter Lecture Course are almost completed and it promises to be a very interesting one, music, entertainment and instruction, all being included.

On Saturday the football team will go to Richmond to play a game with St. Christopher's School team.

The Money That You
Don't Carry With You—

you can't spend and can't lose

If you carry your surplus money in your pocket you seldom have a surplus long. Besides, while it's in your pocket it's losing interest. It doesn't matter how small the surplus is. A dollar will open an account here and, once opened, it grows.
