

URGES LOYALTY OF CHRISTIANS

Rev. W. A. Hall Preaches On
Necessity of this Virtue On Part of Church Members.

That each individual church member should be loyal to Christ and to the church of his membership, was the subject of an earnest and forceful sermon delivered in the Presbyterian Church here last Sunday morning by the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Hall.

Mr. Hall took as his text the fifth and sixth verses of the 137th Psalm: "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy." He also read selections from the Epistle to the Ephesians, the first and fifth chapters, and spoke in part as follows:

The words of the Psalmist so fittingly express this loyalty that I have chosen them for this occasion, in connection with the texts from the Epistle to the Ephesians, to show the New Testament view of "the church our blest Redeemer saved with His own precious blood."

The most of my sermon will be about "the holy Catholic Church" of the Apostles' Creed; while the closing part will apply to the church locally, that is, our own congregation. Individual loyalty is necessary—

I. Because Common Honesty Really Requires Individual Loyalty to Christ and the Church.

No one has a right to be a member of the church who has not enough common honesty to be loyal to the church. Such a member is out of place in the church, and is a liability instead of an asset.

He can never commend the church to the world, nor win converts to the Christian religion. His own disloyalty will continually discount and condemn his membership wherever he goes and whatever he does.

What such a member really needs is one hundred per cent of "old time religion" to convert him "from the error of his way, and save his soul from death, and hide a multitude of sins."

And it is an open secret that the really loyal members painfully realize all this, however charitably they may feel, think, speak, and act about it.

"But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak."

This individual loyalty is necessary II. Because Common Interests Really Demand Individual Loyalty to Christ and the Church.

Since all church members are equally bound by their vows and obligations to be loyal to Christ and the church, no one can be disloyal to Christ and the church without injuring the interests of all others in the church. Disloyalty tends not only to destroy the blessings and benefits of the communion and fellowship of the church, in which all should share alike, but disloyalty also tends to add unnecessarily to the already heavy burdens borne by the faithful few in all of our churches.

These loyal members who can always be counted on "in season, out of season," have a perfect right to demand the same loyalty on the part of all who have professed to love and to serve the same Lord and Master, Jesus Christ.

And when we consider the fact that these common interests are not merely temporal but eternal, the necessity for individual loyalty looms up larger and larger as we learn to appreciate the meaning of the inheritance of the saints in light and glory everlasting.

This individual loyalty is necessary III. Because Christ and the Church Justly Expect Individual Loyalty from Every Member of the Church.

"Christ loved the church and gave Himself for it," and He expects and His church expects all the members to be filled and thrilled with the same spirit of undying devotion to her welfare, to her work, and to her worship.

Nothing short of this can ever be well-pleasing to Him, "whose we are and whom we serve." And no true servant of the Master can deny this fact or consistently refuse to render the very best service of which he is capable.

"My gracious Lord, I own Thy right
To every service I can pay,
And call it my supreme delight
To hear Thy dictates, and obey."

MRS. E. A. SINCLAIR DIED LAST NIGHT

Prominent Resident of Manassas and Former U. D. C. President Passes Away.

Mrs. Eloise Armistead Sinclair, one of the most prominent women of this section and a former president of Prince William Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, died early last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. B. Giddings, on South Main street, of pneumonia, after an illness lasting about a week.

Mrs. Sinclair was the widow of Arthur W. Sinclair, a well known attorney here who preceded her to the grave in 1917. Prior to her marriage she was Miss Eloise Armistead, daughter of George and Laura Armistead, and was born at Front Royal sixty-four years ago.

She was prominently identified with a number of organizations and held membership in the Colonial Dames, Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of 1812, and Daughters of the Confederacy. In all public movements in which women participated and in every effort for social welfare her time and talents were freely given to her country, her state and her church.

Mrs. Sinclair is survived by one son and two daughters—Hon. C. A. Sinclair, representative from Prince William and Stafford counties in the Virginia legislature, Mrs. Laura Nash and Mrs. Kathleen Giddings, all of Manassas. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary L. Leach, and a half-sister, Mrs. Leah Leach, both of Texas.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist Church here, the pastor, the Rev. J. Murray Taylor, officiating, and interment will be made in the Manassas cemetery.

GIVE BENEFIT CONCERT HERE

Temple School of Music to Give Fine Program for Benefit of High School Fund.

Announcement was made today that the Temple School of Music, conducted here by Miss Margaret Temple Hopkins, will give a benefit concert in the auditorium of the new high school building next Wednesday night, the proceeds to be donated to the school fund.

The program will include several artists of prominence, among whom will be Prof. Anton Kaspar, violinist; little Miss Miller, child violinist; Miss Priska Kaspar, pianiste; Miss Louise Raymond, reader; Mr. J. E. S. Kincaid, Bass soloist, and Mr. George H. Wilson, accompanist, all of Washington.

An interesting feature of the program will be several numbers to be presented by the pupils of Miss Raymond's dancing classes. It is reported that Miss Raymond has been engaged for several numbers on a program that is being prepared for the young prince of Rumania who is now touring in this country with his mother, Queen Marie.

The selections to be offered Wednesday night have not yet been announced by those participating, but the impression prevails that the program will nicely balance the classical and popular and thus furnish an enjoyable evening's entertainment for the general public.

HOLD U. D. C. MEETING

The monthly meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Covington, November 3. The usual program was given, followed by a most interesting discussion of old and new business in which the daughters planned to carry out things that will aid in the education of our children and in the interest of our community. They hope to have some of these plans carried out in the near future.

After the discussion the daughters were served with delicious salad and coffee by the hostess.

The meeting of December will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Speiden.

The daughters wish to express their appreciation to the public for their coming out to the silver tea. They hope that the next time every one will do the same.

WHERE WASHINGTON LIVED

Mount Vernon, home of Washington, where thousands of visitors to Washington, D. C., go annually to pay tribute to the Father of His Country. The wonderful old structure has been well preserved and its gardens are among the most remarkable in the country. Mount Vernon retains the charm of a fine old Southern mansion, despite its many years as a semi-museum.

SHOW CORN AND POULTRY HERE

Exhibit to Be Held at High School Gymnasium Dec. 4.
Prizes to Be Given.

Preparations are going rapidly forward for the corn and poultry show which will be held in the High School gymnasium here Saturday, December 4. Attractive ribbons will be given in the different classes and first, second and third prizes will be given in the following classes for corn: ten ear exhibit of white corn, ten ear exhibit of yellow corn; ten ear exhibit of shell corn; ten ear exhibit in shelling contest and ten ear exhibit in utility class.

In the shelling contest any variety of corn can be entered. The corn will be weighed before it is shelled, then the corn weighed after it is shelled and the per cent of corn to cob is then figured and the one having the highest per cent will get first place.

In the utility class, any variety of corn may be entered and the entries close on this class, the 23rd of November and the entries must be sent in to the county agent or the superintendent of the corn department by that time. In this class of corn, the exhibit will be judged for type as well as tested for germination and root rots, therefore anyone wanting to enter in this class must get their exhibit in by the 23rd, so it can be tested for germination and root rots. This exhibit will be on display at the show, showing the germination of each ear of corn.

The premiums offered in the different classes are donations made by the merchants in the town of Manassas, Nokesville and Haymarket, and the prizes in all classes of corn will be $4.00 for the first prize; $3.00 for second prize; $2.00 for third prize.

The members of the Corn and Poultry Show wish to express their appreciation for the donations made by the merchants of the above mentioned towns and it was only by their generosity that the above premiums could be offered.

Following is a list of the merchants who have donated premiums to the corn show:

R. S. Hynson, Prince William Hotel, Young Men's Shop, C. E. Fisher and C. C. Fisher, Manassas Feed and Milling Company, Newman & Trusler, J. H. Burke & Company, Hynson & Bradford, Prince William Pharmacy, Hibbs & Giddings, Peoples National Bank, Bank of Nokesville, Nokesville Farmers Union and the Bank of Haymarket.

KIWANIS COMMITTEE WORKING

Mr. Fred R. Hynson, chairman of the Kiwanis Christmas committee, reports work progressing nicely for the community Christmas celebration. The committee is still requesting donations of toys and state that this request applies to the general public, and not to Kiwanians alone.

The committee also asks that those who know of children who will need the committee's assistance to have a happy Christmas will give the names of such children to the committee.

DR. LEWIS SPEAKS

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington University, addressed the Swavely students at vespers last Sunday on the value education.

TAKES DEFEAT ON NEW FIELD

Swavely Eleven Goes Down Before
Devitt in Fast Game.
Here—Score, 20-0.

Swavely played her hardest football game last Saturday, it being the first game played on the new field.

The Swavely eleven, suffering from the temporary loss of two of its star players, clashed with the veteran Devitt eleven and played a wonderful game of football. Under the leadership of Captain Teller and the able direction of quarter-back Bill Arnold, the team made their presence felt by the Devitt team, breaking through on numerous occasions, and other times successfully holding the line against the Devitt backfield.

McAfee, who went in in the early part of the game, was a great mainstay in the Swavely defense. Many times he got around end to clip the Devitt runner even before he reached the line of scrimmage.

Teller made a spectacular play in the third quarter, intercepting a forward pass and gaining fifty yards before he was downed on the Devitt sixty-yard line. A penalty immediately after placed the ball on the Devitt one-yard line, where Swavely was successfully held for downs.

Woodfin, Swavely full-back, was taken out at the half because of injuries. His place was taken by Tarbuton, who carried the ball on line plunges for large gains. Woodfin played a wonderful game, carrying the ball for several gains and backing up the line at crucial moments, when it seemed that Devitt was sure to break through.

The Devitt quarter-back showed canny generalship in the management of his team, successfully plunging the line, running around end, and launching an aerial attack on numerous occasions.

Devitt scored in the first, second and third quarters. The ball was carried across only after hard line plunging against a hard-fighting and determined Swavely eleven. In the first quarter Hartigan scored, in the second Moyna and Head-carried the ball the third time across the line. Nartigan made two extra points while Moyna missed his chance to add to the Devitt score by gaining the extra point.

Devitt, the strongest team in Washington, came down fully confident that they would completely swamp Swavely. They found that they had underestimated Swavely and were able to run up the score they did only by playing a hard game of football.

CARTER-TEEL

Mr. Robert R. Carter and Miss Carrie Elizabeth Teel, of Haymarket, were quietly married Saturday morning at the manse, Rev. W. A. Hall, the pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the young couple among whom were Mr. Willard A. Carrico, Mrs. H. O. Carrico, Miss Inez L. Carrico, Mrs. H. C. Teel and Miss Mary W. Teel of Haymarket, and Master Alfred McIntosh of Manassas.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter will make their home in Baltimore.

Reports from New York indicate that Henry Ford is negotiating for the Virginian railroad as a coastal carrier for the D. T. and I.

START RED CROSS ROLL CALL TODAY

Prince William Chapter Seeks to Make This Banner Year For Local Organization.

The Tenth Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross starts today. From Armistice Day to Thanksgiving the appeal of this organization goes forth, calling for the co-operation of every man, woman and child of the nation in the humanitarian services to which it is devoted.

Miss Inno McGill, secretary of Prince William chapter, has issued the following statement urging the people of the county to enroll as members of this organization:

"With its watchword of service, the Red Cross has stood by in every emergency and every disability resulting from war or destruction wrought by the elements. It has won world wide fame for the promptness and efficiency with which it responds to every call of suffering humanity. As President Coolidge has said: 'In war and in peace it has never failed us.'"

"Then let us not fail to enroll this month as members of the Red Cross Society. Prince William county responded promptly to the appeal of its local Chapter in behalf of the sufferers from the hurricane in Florida. The Chapter takes this occasion to thank all who contributed to that relief fund."

"Some idea of what is now being done in the storm swept area of that State is found in the latest bulletin from Red Cross headquarters. This gives nearly 23,000 families whose homes have been totally destroyed or badly injured, in the area where, first, it was estimated that 18,000 families

TOWN OBSERVES ARMISTICE DAY

Many Organizations Take Part in Celebration—Fiddlers'
Contest On Tonight.

Manassas is observing Armistice Day today in a giant celebration sponsored by Washington Camp, No. 107, Patriotic Sons of America, and participated in by various local organizations and the town generally.

Old Glory flies from many homes and business houses and a general holiday is being observed.

A thirty-piece section of the United States Marine Band from Quantico is here and the strains of martial music bring back the hectic days of the World War and the compelling emotions that stirred the nation to action in that period.

Owing to the death last night of Mrs. E. A. Sinclair that portion of the program which was to have been given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy was abandoned out of respect to her memory.

The exercises of the day began at 10:30 o'clock this morning when the mammoth parade moved from its rendezvous at Prescott avenue and Center street, down Center street to West street, north on West street to Lee avenue, and west on Lee avenue to the new high school building.

In the line of march were veterans of the Civil, Spanish and World Wars, the Marine band, pupils from the Bennett school and the high school, Boy Scouts, members of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., members of visiting camps of that order, and a procession of gaily decorated automobiles.

At the high school building, exercises incident to the raising of the flag presented to the school by the order will be held.

Addresses will be made by Mayor Harry P. Davis, Wheatley Johnson, members of the order sponsoring the celebration, and others. The program will be interspersed with music.

Lunch will be served at the close of the morning program to which all veterans and visiting members of the order are invited.

At 1:30 there will be a band concert, followed by various athletic contests in the afternoon, and tonight, an old-time fiddlers' contest will be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock. This feature promises to furnish fine entertainment and is anticipated with great interest by the people of the town.

REALTY MARKET IS ACTIVE HERE

Transactions in County Involve
Nearly Hundred Thousand Dollars Sales Values.

Recent sales transactions in Prince William county real estate involve a valuation approaching the hundred thousand dollar mark, as shown by the deeds of bargain and sale recorded in the clerk's office here.

This amount does not include rights of way acquired by the state for road purposes, or any transactions of this nature, but are straight out and out sales, and indicate an active and healthy condition of the real estate market here.

EIGHT YEARS AGO

Eight years ago today America's task of redeeming the nations from the clutches of a power-mad despotism was ended.

Eight years ago today cable and wireless, telegraph and telephone, newspaper and word of mouth, carried to the furthest reaches of humanity the news that red war had run its course.

Eight years ago today millions of mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, wives and sweethearts and children, fell down on their knees and thanked God that no longer would cruel shells burst over the trenches in which their loved ones lay.

Eight years ago today the men who fought on bloody fields, and those who sailed the death-infested seas, and the bold spirits who carried warfare into heaven's clouds, received the command to cease operations, and men sat down to reason on the ruin that had been wrought.

Eight years ago today the angel whose business it was to guard the American army looked down upon those battle-tested youths from the streets and fields of this republic and murmured "Soldiers of America, it was well done!"

Eight years ago today another army finished its work also. They were the people who stayed at home, who loved the boys in France. They were just as devoted to the nation and the cause of liberty as the soldiers were. Many of them would gladly have gone had circumstances made it possible. They too fought the war in field and factory, in munition plant and office, in all the wonderful organization that provided the sinews of war.

Eight years ago today the American woman had again proved that she is a worthy mate for her man. No comfort was left unprovided, that woman's love and service could supply. Every feminine art was laid on the altar of liberty. When it was evident that man power was a deciding factor she did not hesitate to don overalls and work in the factory, or drive the trucks, or render any service whatever that would contribute to the victory of her country. And in Europe, always just behind the lines, waiting for the poor lads who were shell shocked or pierced by German bullets, the American woman glorified the service of the Red Cross.

Eight years ago today the nations of the world bowed before the genius, the intellect, the unselfish devotion to the highest principles of patriotism, statesmanship and humanitarianism, of one who was the incarnation of the American spirit, and who may ultimately be recognized as the greatest of all Americans—Woodrow Wilson.

Eight years ago today—and how the scenes have shifted on the stage of human affairs! The great men who were the central figures in the stirring events of 1918 have passed on, yielding their leadership to others. Wilson sleeps with the immortals of the ages. Shell-torn fields which ran red with human blood are now carpeted with green grass and flecked with the colors of many flowers. Forces of construction have replaced those of devastation in the battle areas, and towns and villages have risen again from ruins. The once proud emperor of Germany is ending his ill-starred career an exile at Doorn while his field-marshal, Von Hindenberg, is president of a German republic. French and German capitalists are today forming a giant steel combine to combat the American product and citizens of this country have been hissed on the streets of Paris. And England is the same plodding old country that "muddles through," because underneath all her surface changes the English character is sound and dependable.

Eight years ago today—and the boys who won the war are ageing on into middle life, and will soon be old; then they will pass on one by one as did the Confederates. But in a million God-fearing homes in the hills and valleys of America today are other clean-limbed lads and sunny-faced maidens who will stand up and play the parts of men and women—when the day comes—just as they did whom today we honor.

This is why we turn with thankful hearts to America's God on this anniversary. This is why we celebrate Armistice Day.

A DARK SPOT

One would have to look far to find a better place to live than in the town of Manassas or the county of Prince William. Many of the charms of the "good old days" linger here and play tag with the frisky innovations of the present era.

Every comfort, convenience and improvement in modern living can be enjoyed here, and the social register is diversified to suit all tastes and temperaments, with a beautiful harmony of the whole.

Here are educational institutions of which any city would be proud, and various organizations which increase the knowledge and conserve the interests and welfare of the citizens. Charity abounds in the hearts of the people, and no case of pain, suffering or need is without a ministering hand if the facts are known. There is a kindly feeling even for the fallen.

The relationship between the town of Manassas and the rest of the county is one that is conducive to mutual growth and prosperity. In some counties the outlying districts seem to be antagonistic to anything that benefits the county seat, and the development of the county as a whole is retarded by this foolish antagonism.

Here, Manassas is strong for anything that brings happiness, peace and prosperity to any section of Prince William county, and the citizens of the county can walk the streets of the town with open consciences and guileless hearts because they know that they are fair and square comrades of the townsmen. That is a condition that is worth more than gold.

But there is a dark spot in the picture. We provide our boys and girls with happy homes, good schools, exceptional religious advantages, social training—everything, in fact, that will tend to develop splendid manhood, and womanhood—for what? That they may fly away like last year's birds to nest and build elsewhere.

Practically no career is open to the young man or woman who wishes to settle here and engage in a profitable business or profession. The limited field of employment has few vacancies and business is almost exclusively commercial. The only remedy for this condition is to develop the industrial possibilities of the town and county.

Other towns that have less advantages than Manassas have done this, and other counties have found that the development of an industrial center is of great benefit to the agricultural interests.

In many sections of this country today, notably in New England, are many industries that could and would operate in Virginia if some effort were made to get them. New companies are constantly being formed in this state who are looking about for desirable sites. Wide-awake towns get in touch with this business and secure it for themselves. That is how towns grow.

In a recent letter to The Journal the secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce expressed his willingness, and that of his organization, to co-operate in any possible way with the business men of this town and county for the development of the resources of this section. If the business men here would accept that proposition and organize for a progressive future, they would further their own business interests and render invaluable service to the community.

BROODS GOD

Roll of the sleepless, restless sea,
Wash of the waves on a purple lee,
Sweep of a gull on shoreward flight,
Fade of the twilight into night;
Settle of darkness, fold on fold—
And over all broods God—broods God!
Till the last long wave has rolled.

Shriek of the eagle from the sky,
Death in the crouching leopard's eye,
Spring of the panther, hiss of the snake—

Blood and death in wold and brake,
Blood and death and life are wrought!
And over all broods God—broods God!
Till the last grim battle's fought.

Hark to the tread of countless feet,
Crossing the lines where ages meet—
A million fears and a million hates
And tramp, tramp, tramp to a million fates!

Pain and pleasure, joy and lust—
And over all broods God—broods God!
Till the last man's bones are dust.
—Arthur Davidson.

High Lights of Happenings in State Told in Short Paragraphs

RICHMOND.—Rev. George W. McDaniel, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church here and president of the Southern Baptist Convention, speaking in behalf of the latter body, requested an audience with Marie, Queen of Rumania, with a view to ending the persecution of Baptists and other protestants in the little Balkan kingdom, and suggested that she might receive the Southern Baptist delegation in a short interview when she passes through Louisville, Ky. The request has been declined by her majesty on the ground that she will not have the time to grant the committee an audience.

RICHMOND.—John Skelton Williams, comptroller of currency under Woodrow Wilson and a world famous authority on finance, died at his residence "Paxton," near Richmond, on Thursday. He was president and chairman of the board of the Richmond Trust Company at the time of his death, and also headed the board of the Georgia and Florida railroad, which he was engaged in reorganizing.

DANVILLE.—The Baptist General Association of Virginia, composed of all regular Baptist churches in the state, has been in session here since Tuesday. The sessions will close tomorrow night.

RICHMOND.—Two governors witnessed the gridiron clash on Tate Field here on Saturday between Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the University of South Carolina. They were Governors Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia, and Thomas G. McLeod, of South Carolina. The game was won by the visitors by a score of 19-0.

FREDERICKSBURG.—Meetings in the interest of better social and business relationship between New England and Virginia were held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, attended by prominent New Englanders and Virginians. Many matters of interest to both sections were considered and plans for co-operative effort looking to their accomplishment were made.

The most important matters taken up were those connected with the improvement of coastwise water transportation facilities and the establishment of a regular passenger, mail and freight air transportation service between New England and the South.

NEWPORT NEWS.—The supply of crabs for the market is very good at this time, and crab meat is bringing a very good price, according to Harry K. Houston, commissioner of fisheries. There is every prospect that crabs will be plentiful throughout the season, the commissioner said, and the quality of the catch bids fair to be exceptionally good.

MEXICO CITY.—In an all-American final for the women's national tennis championship of Mexico, Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., defeated Miss Martha Bayard, of New Jersey, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3 to win the title held by Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California.

WEST POINT.—"Chestnut Grove," the birthplace of Martha Custis Washington, burned to the ground Friday night. This beautiful old home was possibly the oldest in this section of the country and was beautifully situated in a terraced garden on the banks of the Pamunkey River in New Kent county.

WOODSTOCK.—It has just been definitely announced here by the Chamber of Commerce that Woodstock will receive one of the 75 mm. guns and carriage (light artillery) German war trophies, from the State of Virginia, which will be dedicated to the Shenandoah County boys who gave their lives for their country in the World War.

BLACKSTONE.—Sales of dark tobacco on the Blackstone market last week, which was the opening week, have been rather light, something like 125,000 pounds being sold at an average of $10 per hundred weight.

NORTON.—Announcement has been made here of a general wage increase over the Virginia coal fields of approximately 30 per cent, the higher wages to become effective as of November 1. The advance in wages means an addition to the payrolls of around $750,000 a month. The announcement followed an informal conference of coal men here last week.

NEWPORT NEWS.—Rev. Marshall Wingfield, pastor of First Christian church of this city, was notified yesterday of his appointment as a member of the Speakers' Bureau of Hadasah, an international organization of Jewish women with headquarters at 114 Fifth avenue, New York City.

WINCHESTER.—Frederick county apple growers virtually completed Saturday the picking of the largest crop of commercial varieties ever produced in their orchards, the total being estimated at about 900,000 barrels, or about one-third of the state's production. In many orchards apples that did not grade No. 1 were left on the trees, but most of the larger growers picked everything, selling blemished and undersized fruit to by-product plants, receiving fairly good prices.

STAUNTON.—Excessive real estate assessments in Staunton, as they affected fifteen property owners who complained of them to the equalization board last week, were reduced Monday by the board in sums varying from $50 to $2,490. The total amount chopped off aggregates $8,590.

ROANOKE.—A statement issued Monday from the office of R. A. Fulwiler, federal administrator for the seventh zone, showed that 175 persons were arrested on various prohibition charges during October and that large quantities of liquor were confiscated. A total of 122 illicit stills were seized with 891 fermentors. Twelve automobiles, the property of alleged rum runners and appraised at $6,825, were also confiscated.

RICHMOND.—R. A. Fulwiler, prohibition administrator for Virginia, was deposed from office by Assistant Secretary Andrews, national chief of the dry force, Tuesday, according to information from Washington detailing a shake-up in the prohibition forces along the Atlantic coast.

FEED YOUR COWS.

Right now is the time to keep your cows up to a full flow of milk for the winter season, when prices are best for milk and cream, as you will see from the price scale below.

DOES 100 PER CENT PROFIT APPEAL TO YOU?

Equal parts by weight of corn, wheat bran, and cottonseed meal constitutes a very fair dairy feed when fed with plenty of good silage or corn fodder. A ton of this mixture at present prices will cost about $35.00. Fed to your cows this ton of feed will produce about 170 pounds of butterfat for which we will pay $78.20.

PRICES IN EFFECT THIS WEEK

No. 1 Cream Butterfat--per lb.	- - -	46c
No. 2 Cream Butterfat--per lb.	- - -	41c
No. 3 Cream Butterfat--per lb.	- - -	36c

Remember the high premium for good quality cream. The prices shown are for cream delivered at the plant. Patrons of our Truck and Station Service recognize the reasonableness of our small charge of 1½ cents per pound butterfat for that service.

HAS FAIR YEAR

Financial Returns Close to Those of Last Year—Wheat and Corn are Dark Spots.

The gross financial returns to agriculture probably will not be far from last year's figures, the Department of Agriculture sums up the agricultural situation in its monthly report issued today.

"Spring wheat and cotton are dark spots in the picture this fall, and the apple industry may also be noted as sharply depressed by low prices," the report says.

"Except for some depression in the territory of those crops, however, the season winds up with about average crop yields, and a probability of gross financial returns not far from last year's figures."

Discussing the cotton situation, the department says:

"The fall in cotton prices now fills the headlines. Predictions of the same last spring were given scant notice. For four years the growers of cotton have been doing just what other producers do when business is profitable—increasing production."

"In the last four years the south has turned out approximately 50,000,000 bales of cotton. During forty consecutive months beginning July, 1922, the average farm price of cotton never went below 20 cents a pound and much of that time it exceeded 25 cents. Four good cotton crops sold well enough so that growers increased their acreage from 30,000,000 in 1921 to 47,000,000 acres this year."

"The south is not without resources for meeting the present situation and rarely have the farm and business leaders of any large region met an emergency in so united and comprehensive a fashion. Cotton is good property. The consuming world can and will use a lot of it this year."

Up in the spring wheat country there is a strip of territory extending from central North Dakota through South Dakota to central Nebraska, the report says, where drought and bad weather cut the crops and for which a lean winter looms ahead. South Dakota showed the lowest general crop conditions in the country last month, only 55 per cent of average. Other local areas of flood, drought or frost damage claim some attention but they are less extensive.

Hog cholera, which "is showing up with rather serious losses in some counties of Illinois and Iowa," is giving producers considerable concern, although, it is pointed out, "general underlying conditions in the Corn Belt are better than last year."

"Corn prices are slightly higher but still low enough to encourage feeders. Hog prices stay relatively high and reports indicate a materially larger crop of pigs in prospect this fall. The small 1925 crop of hogs, now in pack, cost the packers nearly $1,200,000,000. It brought producers more money than in any year excepting the wartime inflation years and measured in terms of corn prices during the marketing season was probably the most profitable ever marketed."

The department's general index of purchasing power of farm products, in terms of non-agricultural commodities remained at 83 for September, the same as August, the five pre-war years being considered as 100.

WILL MAIL AUTO LICENSE BLANKS

Hayes Says Fees for 1927 Based on Weight Instead of Horsepower as Heretofore.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10.—The Motor Vehicle Commissioner is now preparing license blanks for each automobile owner in Virginia. These blanks will be mailed about December 1st, at which time the 1927 license tags will be placed on sale in each of the counties and cities in the state.

In order that each owner receive his application blank, it is necessary that the proper address be given by the owners who have changed their addresses since they received their last license. The commissioner would appreciate the owners co-operating with him by promptly advising their title number, license number and new address.

The new law requires all cars to be licensed by January 1st, and he trusts that the owners will co-operate by applying for their licenses as soon as the license card is received.

He further desires to call attention to the change in license fees from horsepower to weight. On each blank the correct weight will be shown. The fee is 70 cents per hundred pounds or fraction thereof. If the car weighs a fraction less than 50, drop to the next lowest figure, 50 and over will require the next hundred pounds. The minimum fee is $12.25 which will cover all cars weighing 1700 pounds or less. There is no change in truck license fees.

The 1927 license cannot be used in 1926, and 1926 license cannot be used in 1927. Owners buying new cars, between this date and the first of the year, it will be necessary that they promptly register the title, obtain license, or a transfer from the old car, in order that they may be in shape to receive a card for the 1927 license.

The last Legislature prorated the license fee in quarters, the license fee being at this time one-quarter of 70 cents per hundred pounds.

The Department will appreciate the co-operation of the people in order that every one may obtain license before the first of January.

New lubricating oil

SAVES GASOLINE!

Hudsons, Dodges, Overlands prove it

IN hundreds of comparative road tests made with all types of cars and trucks astonishing savings in gasoline and oil consumption were noted—when the new "Standard" Motor Oil was used. 10% to 20% increase in gas mileage; 12% to 40% increase in oil mileage.

A typical test is one run with a Hudson over a 992 mile course from September 24 to October 22, 1925. This test showed a 27.1% increase in oil mileage; 12.4% increase in gas mileage; smoother operation of the motor at all speeds; more power; less drag on the hills; better lubrication and cooler motor; no carbon.

Verify these astonishing results in your own car. Get your crank-case filled today at a "Standard" Service Station or dealer. Then expect results. You can actually feel the difference.

were homeless and without food and clothing.

"Since that appalling disaster, on September 18, Red Cross has been called upon to aid the hurricane sufferers in Cuba where, in October, thousands of homes were demolished; 600 persons were killed and over 5,000 injured.

"The organization has also rendered relief to residents of the Island of Bimini and the Bahama Islands affected by the hurricane that struck Florida, and has donated $5,000 for relief in connection with the destructive earthquake in Armenia when 350 persons were killed, thousands injured and many rendered homeless.

"Within the past two months, or since September 11, there have been floods in Kansas, Illinois, Iowa and Oklahoma that have left, in all, 3,220 families requiring Red Cross assistance. The fires in Alaska completely destroyed the homes of sixty-six native families and of thirty-seven white families.

"In all of these disasters, because of the overshadowing appeal of the Florida disaster, relatively small sums have been contributed by the public. The contributions to relief work in these cases have come chiefly from Red Cross headquarters, and that national organization is contributing practically the entire relief fund to the sufferers in Alaska.

"The Prince-William County Chapter has recently met many urgent demands—relief to families of disabled veterans; relief in fire disasters and other like emergencies. It forwarded $100 to headquarters immediately on receipt of the wire asking assistance for the Florida sufferers; that donation being promptly followed by the sums voluntarily contributed to the disaster relief.

"And these are the conditions that bespeak the needs, this year, of a banner roll call in Prince William. If every reader of The Journal in Manassas and throughout the county would enroll, the Red Cross membership of the local Chapter would reflect the sympathies of a grateful people on Thanksgiving Day."

URGES LOYALTY OF CHRISTIANS

This individual loyalty is necessary. IV. Because the Church Must be Supported and Perpetuated by Individual Loyalty to Christ and the Church.

This "Church of the living God," with all of her achievements, is here today as "the pillar and ground of the truth," because individual members have given her their loyal support through the years of her history; and as long as she continues to live and to labor and to bless this community and the world, she must be supported and perpetuated in like manner as she has been in the past; for there is no other way known under the sun for the church to fulfill her high and holy mission than by such individual loyalty throughout all ages.

Now, in conclusion, as to our own loyalty to Christ and the church, and as to our own consecration to her work and her worship, let me quote the words of Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale. He says: "When war comes to any country, there are rich men who give money, millions of it, that the war chest may be full. But the only men who give what Lincoln called at Gettysburg 'the last full measure of devotion,' are the men who give themselves. 'Here am I, send me'—nothing can ever take the place of that! In that sterner war where there is no discharge, in that age-long, world-wide fight against the evils of earth, this same sound principle holds. Money is needed, counsel is needed, organization and administrative ability are needed."

"The bringing in of that kingdom which is not meat and drink, not shot and shell, but righteousness and peace and joy in the divine Spirit, requires all these fine forms of effort. But nothing can ever take the place of that personal consecration of each man's own soul to the service of the living God."

"Let none hear you idly saying, 'There is nothing I can do.' While the souls of men are dying. And the Master calls for you. Take the task He gives you gladly. Let His work your pleasure be; Answer quickly when He calleth—'Here am I, send me, send me.'"

SEMI-DIALOGUE

"Pop, what's a monologue?"
"A monologue is a conversation between husband and wife."
"I thought that was a dialogue."
"No, a dialogue is where two persons are speaking."

GIVE VISITORS OUR PRODUCTS

New Englanders at Fredericksburg Given Smithfield Hams and Other Dainties.

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 10.—Through the co-operation of manufacturers throughout the state, Virginia's richest treasure, her products were carried back to New England by representatives from these states at the New England-Virginia conference which came to an end here Sunday evening, November 7, after a three day session beginning November 5. Each representative present was presented with a box by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce containing products native to Virginia. Presented by Junius L. Fishburn, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, these gifts will be carried into every section of New England, and will prove a source of real publicity for Virginia's products. Twenty-five Virginia business men last year were entertained in New England and were presented with more than $1,000 worth of New England's products.

Among the gifts which it is hoped New Englanders will enjoy when they return home are: Fancy Smithfield hams, given by the Smithfield Company, Inc., of Smithfield, Virginia; apples given by the Valley of Virginia through the courtesy of Colonel H. J. Benchoff, and from the Charlottesville Chamber of Commerce; hat boxes manufactured in Petersburg; tobaccos from the same city, several kinds of tobacco from Richmond; peanuts from the Planters Nut and Chocolate Company at Suffolk, Virginia; Alberne stone griddles from the company's plant not far from Charlottesville; waterground cornmeal from one of the famous old mills of Virginia; pickles from a national pickle manufacturer in Richmond; Virginia mineral water drinks from Richmond; candies from Lynchburg; hampers of sweet potatoes from the Eastern Shore of Virginia Chamber of Commerce; gypsum and other mineral novelties from the southwestern part of the state.

TURKEYS TO BE HIGHER THIS THANKSGIVING

Stocks in Storage Said to be Forty Per Cent Less Than Five-Years Average.

Thanksgiving turkey eating will be somewhat more costly this year than in the past two years, according to a holiday prediction made by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. The turkey crop is not as large as it was last year or the year before, and a prediction of 45 to 48 cents a pound for this year's Thanksgiving turkey is not considered pessimistic.

The cool weather, this fall has been favorable "turkey weather." So long as the days and nights are comparatively warm, turkeys continue to roam the country and fail to put on flesh. When the temperature falls, they are content to cease wandering off, and settle down to grain feeding which rapidly adds pounds of turkey meat. The crop generally is further advanced than at this time in several years, and reports from the country consistently tell of the high quality of the turkeys. In Texas, which is the big early state for turkeys, the crop is believed to exceed last year when many of the young poulters were lost during the hot, dry summer. Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Ohio are expected to have fewer turkeys for the market this season while the other states report flocks of about the same size last year.

Stocks of turkeys in storage are less than half as large as at this time a year ago and 40 per cent below the five-year average. Reserves of frozen turkeys, therefore, will be less of a market factor this season than last. Holdings of chickens and fowls are five million pounds larger than a year ago and ten million pounds larger than the five-year average, however, offsetting to some degree the decline in turkeys.
