STATE TO HONOR POE AND LEE

Thursday Made Legal Holiday
As Tribute to Our Greatest Poet And Soldier.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 12.—America's greatest poet and her greatest soldier, Edgar Allan Poe and Robert E. Lee, will be honored in Virginia, where they played their greatest roles, on January 19, which has been declared a legal holiday by the Governor. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson, said to be the greatest corps commander in American history, will be honored at the same time, having been born January 21.

Lee and Jackson were Virginians by birth, and Poe, born in Boston achieved his fame here and lived most of his artistic life in Richmond, where a national shrine to his memory is located in Virginia. Notable among these are the battlefields where the two great soldiers carried on their campaigns, and the University of Washington and Lee, whose first president Lee became shortly after his surrender at Appomattox, Va. Poe's room at the University of Virginia is a rendezvous for tourists from all over the country.

It is interesting to note that the Lee museum, in the basement of the Lee Memorial chapel on the Washington and Lee University campus is being improved under the guidance of a committee of prominent men. Two rooms have been set aside to house many relics intimately connected with the life of the Confederate leader. A gift of $1,500 procured other mementos which will be on display in the museum. The fact that the chapel has recently been fire-proofed indicates that a permanent Lee Memorial will be located here.

Robert E. Lee was born at Stratford, Westmoreland county, Va., January 19, 1807, the youngest son of Major-General Henry Lee, called "Light Horse Harry." He entered West Point in 1825, was graduated four years later, second in his class, and given a commission in the U. S. Engineers Corps. In 1831 he married Mary Custis, who was the daughter of G. W. P. Custis, adopted son of Washington and the grandson of Mrs. Washington. By 1838 he had attained the rank of Captain and took part in the Mexican War, repeatedly winning distinction for conduct and bravery.

After the war engineering work engaged him until 1852, when he was appointed superintendent of West Point, and during his three years there he accomplished many important changes.

The career of Lee from the time of his appointment to the post at West Point until April 1861 when Virginia seceded from the union was closely identified with the Federal Army. While personally opposed to the principle of secession, Lee felt that his greatest duty was to Virginia. He refused the command of the field army about to invade the South, becoming instead the highest ranking officer in the army of the Confederacy.

In the autumn of the first year of the war, Lee engaged in an unsuccessful campaign in West Virginia. He spent the following winter devoting his experience as an engineer to the fortification and general defense of the Atlantic Coast. Abandoning this project when the well-drilled army of the Potomac was about to descend upon Richmond, he returned to its defense.

Little can be said of Lee's career as a commander-in-chief that is not an integral part of the history of the Civil War. His first success was the Seven Days' Battle, in which he stopped McClellan's advance, following this with a crushing defeat of the Federal Army under Pope. The year ended with another great victory at Fredericksburg.

Lee won the battle of Chancellorsville against odds of two to one. The great three-day's battle of Gettysburg, where for the first time fortune turned decisively against the Confederacy was another chief event of 1863. A series of tremendous struggles between Lee and Grant marked 1864, and finally in 1865 Lee, worn down by heavy losses, was compelled to break out of his Petersburg lines. Headed off by the Federal cavalry, and with the dwindling remnants of his army closely pursued by Grant, (Continued Next Week)

GOVERNOR BYRD MAKES ADDRESS

State's Executive Looks Forward With Confidence to Progress of State.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 11.—The most important business of the initial session of the General Assembly which met at Richmond today was to receive the legislative message of Governor Byrd. This was the longest communication the Executive has so far addressed to the law-makers. It comprises about 25,000 words. The document was purely in the nature of a business message addressed by a business man in a discussion of state business. It opened with a prediction of a brilliant future for the state. Governor Byrd said:

"Virginians are anxious that their state stand, by right of present achievement, no less than of past glory, in the very front line of American Commonwealths. There she is entitled to be in the present, as she was in the past. It is our duty to put and keep her there."

The message opened with a clear statement of financial conditions in which it was shown that, in less than two years, a deficit of $1,368,004 had been converted into a state surplus of $2,596,181, a net gain of $3,964,185. Could Wipe Out State Debt.

The Governor showed that the state debt had been reduced to approximately $17,000,000, and that this was being retired at the rate of $1,000,000 each biennium. In this connection he said:

"We enjoy the unique distinction of having sufficient cash assets in the Literary Fund and the potential value of our one-sixth interest in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad to discharge our entire bonded indebtedness. Few, if any, states can make a similar claim. I have no more earnest hope than that the people of Virginia will continue to resist the temptation to issue bonds in large amounts."

"By reason of the Pay-as-You-Go policy Virginia can hope to continue tax reduction while other states, that have adopted the bond policy of financing, must look forward apprehensively to increased burdens of taxation. Already our freedom from bonded indebtedness has encouraged new industries to locate in Virginia."

Reorganization of State Government.

FIRE DESTROYS STORE AND BARN

Building of T. H. Athey Burns to Ground Tuesday Night—Origin Unknown.

The store, slaughter house and garage belonging to Mr. T. H. Athey west of town, was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday night between 12 and 1 o'clock.

Someone passing along the highway gave the alarm of fire which awoke Miss Mary Athey, who called her brother Forrest.

The fire department responded to the siren call of "fire" but the buildings had practically burned to the ground by the time the firemen arrived on the scene.

Mr. Athey was out of town on business at the time.

The origin of the fire has not been determined.

DIES TUESDAY OF PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Henry Butler Passes Away At Her Home Near Manassas After Short Illness.

Mrs. Mamie Spittle Butler, 34 years old, wife of Mr. John Henry Butler, died Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock of pneumonia at her home near town.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church, her pastor, the Rev. W. A. Hall, officiating. Interment was in the local cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. C. C. Fisher, P. L. Frohitt, J. L. Bushong, Walter Sadd, J. H. Dodge and Eugene Davis.

Mrs. Butler was born and reared near town and was the only child of the late Jean and Emma Bryan Spittle, and is survived by her husband, two aunts, Miss Cora Spittle and Mrs. Donia Crouch, of Manassas and an uncle, Mr. John Crouch, of Greenwich.

STATE DAIRYMEN MEET NEXT WEEK

Annual Convention to be Held at Charlottesville Thursday and Friday.

Thursday and Friday, January 19 and 20, Charlottesville, the Virginia dairymen will hold their annual convention which includes a two day program of addresses from important leaders of the dairy industry, dairy educational exhibits and commercial exhibits by dairy supply manufacturers.

The program for Thursday is devoted to subjects pertaining to the more important subjects and speakers of the day follow:

The President's Annual Message, C. T. Rice, Oakton, Va.

A Dairy Improvement Program for Virginia, Professor C. W. Holdaway, Head of the U. S. Dairy Department, will direct this part of the program.

DAUGHTERS PLAN FOR CELEBRATION

Hon. R. Walton Moore to Address Local Chapter at Lee-Jackson Entertainment.

The Daughters of the Confederacy at their last meeting presented plans for their annual Lee-Jackson celebration which will be held on Thursday, January 19, at 8 o'clock in the parish hall. Hon. R. Walton Moore will be the speaker of the evening. The public is cordially invited.

Mention was also made of an entertainment which will be given by the local Chapter, U. D. C., on Washington's birthday, February 22. Further announcement, however, will be made later.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Woman's Club held its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. Eli Swavelly, president; Mrs. C. M. Larkin, vice-president; Mrs. George Hasel, recording secretary; Mrs. A. S. Gibson, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. R. S. Hynson, treasurer.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS MEET

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Peoples National Bank was held Tuesday.

The officers and directors who served last year were reelected for the ensuing year.

A meeting of the stockholders of the National Bank was also held on Tuesday when officers and directors were reelected for the year.

DAIRY EXHIBITS AT CONVENTION

Talking Cow Feature of Meeting of State Dairymen at Charlottesville.

Among the outstanding educational exhibits to be presented at the Virginia Dairymen's Convention and Show will be a talking dairy cow which is a feature that comes to this convention from the National Dairy Show recently held at Memphis, Tenn. The exhibit is a model dairy cow that talks giving dairymen good advice in the matter of better feeding and breeding methods.

An educational exhibit on the subject of "Knowing Your Cows" will be presented also to show Virginia dairymen the value of keeping herd records. This exhibit was shown at the National Dairy Show and was one of the chief attractions there.

A dairy feeding exhibit and a quality cream exhibit will be on display at the Armory at Charlottesville.

The Dairymen's Convention and Dairy Show begins at the Armory at Charlottesville on Thursday morning, January 19, and all dairymen in Virginia should plan to attend this show and convention.

That we enlarge our program to bring about closer co-operation and better understanding between the town man and the farmer. That we foster or sponsor the movement of keeping the county nurse.

In closing I just want to say one word more about team work and I want each committee and member to give me the best support he has. Team work is the keynote of success in any great undertaking. It is the working together of all for one and one for all idea that brings the best results. Each Kiwanis Club is a team in the organization, and each club is working to accomplish all of its objectives. It is your co-operation as a member of the team that will make our club a success, and you as individuals a larger stockholder in the glory of having done something worth while. An organization to be effective for great uses must fit to its parts like the cogs of a perfected machine and be dominated by a higher sense of responsibility. OPPORTUNITY

They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;

For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake and rise to fight and win.

Wail not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane;

Each night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb;

My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to come.

Though deep in mire wring not your hands and weep,
I lend my arm to all who say, "I can."

No shame-faced outcast ever sank so deep
But yet might rise and be again a man.

In the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia:
Elizabeth Dickens Monaghan

v.
John J. Monaghan.

IN CHANCERY

The object of the above styled suit is to obtain by the plaintiff from the defendant a divorce from the bond of matrimony which was created by the marriage between said parties on the 20th day of September 1924; and to be awarded the exclusive care, custody and control over their infant son, Tommys Dickens Monaghan. A bill appearing by and filed by the plaintiff.

said John J. Monaghan, who is a resident of this state, and that his last known place of residence was 325-11th Street, Northeast, Washington, D. C.; it is therefore, ordered, that the said John J. Monaghan do appear within 10 days after due publication of this order, in the clerk's office of our said Circuit Court, and do what is necessary to protect his interest. It is further ordered that this order be published once a week, for four successive weeks, in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper published in said Prince William County, Virginia; that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the court house of said Prince William County on or before the next succeeding Rule Day, and that another copy thereof be mailed to the said John J. Monaghan, by prepaid registered United States mail, to the post office address given in said affidavit, to-wit 325 Eleventh Street, N. E., Washington, District of Columbia.

Present Hon. Samuel G. Brent, Judge.

R. B. SWART, Plaintiff

ATTACHMENT

The object of this attachment is to attach the estate of said E. E. Pickett, in Prince William county, especially his undivided one-sixth interest in and to 62 1-2 acres, more or less in Gainesville District, said county, adjoining Catharpin Run, Dodge, Owens etc., and subject the same to the payment of the plaintiff's claim of $250.00, with interest and costs of these proceedings; all of which is more fully described in the pleadings in this action; and it appearing that said attachment has been levied upon said real estate and returned; that the same has not been executed upon the defendant; that said defendant is not a resident of this state and his last known address is Seat Pleasant, Maryland, it is therefore ordered that the said defendant do appear within ten days after due publication hereof and do what is necessary to protect his interests; and that this order, by the Clerk of this court, be published, posted and mailed as provided by the statute in such cases made and provided.

VIRGINIA

In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of the County of Prince William, December 13, 1927.

An information having this day been filed in the aforesaid Clerk's Office, as provided by law, alleging that on the 8th day of December, 1927, in the said County of Prince William, a certain White Motor Truck (with gas tank attached thereto) license Number T-5244, issued by the State of Virginia for the year 1927, engine Number 8199, was seized pursuant to Section 28 of an Act of the General Assembly of Virginia, commonly known as the Prohibition Law, as amended, and that at the time of said seizure ardent spirits were being illegally transported in said White Motor Truck in said Prince William County, and praying that said White Motor Truck may be condemned and sold and the proceeds thereof disposed of according to law.

Therefore, it is ordered that the Texas Co., Melvin Kennedy and all other persons concerned in interest do appear before the Circuit Court of Prince William County on the first day of the February 1928 term thereof (that being the 6th day of February, 1928), to show cause, if any they can, why the said White Motor Truck should not be condemned and sold to enforce the said forfeiture.

not the farmer also. When he becomes canny enough to stop being fooled by swivel chair farmers who want his vote and sets seriously to work to improve his own condition he will be far on the road to prosperity.

There are three basic factors in the future prosperity of the farmer. In the first place, the farmer must go back to work. The advent of automobiles and the lure of amusement is taking the farmer too much away from his field. It is too easy to jump into a car and whirl off to town and waste a half day. There are too many farmers who want to hire somebody else to do their work while they motor about over the country. There are few who can really afford to do this. By all means, the farmer is entitled to reasonable recreation and enjoyment—just the same as other workers, but, like other workers also, he must expect to be tied down to his business if he succeeds at it.

Education is a second factor in the farmer's redemption. If he is to deal successfully with men in other trades and callings, he should be as intelligent, as well-informed as they. He should spend part of his spare time in acquiring knowledge both of a general nature and specific to his own vocation. He should be a firm friend of education for his children's sake as well as his own and he should

On yesterday Governor Byrd delivered the first part of his message to the General Assembly, outlining the accomplishments of his administration to the present time. On Tuesday he is expected to deliver the second part of his message, detailing his "Program of Progress" for the future. A significant fact is that the present assembly has fifty-one new members, and this means that any number of surprises are within the realm of possibility.

WHICH PARTY IS GOING TO RELIEVE THE FARMER?

Wherever two or three politicians are gathered together nowadays, sooner or later the argument turns on relief for the farmer. In order that the farmer friends of The Journal may not be misled into the expectation of any real benefits from these politico-agricultural discussions we hasten to assure them that all such arguments are purely academic. Nobody really intends to do anything to aid farmers. Nobody talks about it but politicians who are angling for the agricultural vote. They almost bring tears to our eyes when they picture to us the distressful situation of

NEWS OF WEEK IN OLD VIRGINIA

High Lights of Happenings in State Told in Short Paragraphs

New Stadium for University of Va.

Charlottesville.—The University of Virginia is to have a football stadium with a seating capacity of approximately 25,000, to be ready for use next season. Architects have been working on plans for some weeks and they are nearing completion.

The site for the structure has not been definitely chosen; but will be decided upon at the next meeting of the board of visitors, the governing body of the university. Several suitable sites are under consideration. A spot especially favored is on the links of the University Golf Club, just west of the university and in close proximity to the splendid new memorial gymnasium, the biggest and most complete building of its kind in the southland.

As soon as the site is chosen and the plans are passed upon, work on the stadium will be begun—probably early in March—and rushed to completion.

Infant Recovering From Hurt.

Danville.—William Allen Garrett, 2-year-old son of A. E. Garrett, prominent Danville warehouseman, is recovering from a serious injury. The little child had a long pipe in his mouth when he fell over on his face, thrusting the smoking pipe down his throat. The stem snapped off.

His little sister, seeing the child purple in the face, probably saved his life, taking in the situation and removing the pipe stem which had wounded the throat. Specialists were called and the child is now able to take nourishment. The pipe stem taken from the throat was about five inches in length.

Ship Train of Tomatoes.

Christiansburg.—What is perhaps the largest single shipment of canned tomatoes out of Christiansburg since it developed into a major shipping point for this commodity on the N. & W. was made by the Old Dominion Canning Company on December 30, with the movement of a solid train load. These tomatoes moved into Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, North and South Carolina. Nearly every car was a repeat order, attesting the mountain-grown tomato industry.

Richmond.—It costs $32,798,727.88 or approximately $89,859.50 a day to run Virginia's government during the past fiscal year, according to the annual report of C. Lee Moore, state auditor of public accounts.

Disbursements, for all purposes, from the state treasury totaled $41,828,825.75, but of this total $4,750,000 was expended for the payment of temporary loans, $3,544,943.69 was paid to localities and $188,150.18 went to the state's literary fund.

Dog Warns Woman of Fire.

Petersburg.—Fire, believed to have been started by the explosion of an oil stove, destroyed the home of Emmett Sanford, of Chesterfield county, Stop 55, Richmond Turnpike, last Thursday. Mrs. Sanford was in another part of the house when the stove is thought to have exploded in the kitchen. She was warned of the fire by a German police dog, a pet of Sanford's. The dog, according to stories of the fire, ran into the room with Mrs. Sanford and barked and pulled at her dress. No one was hurt in the blaze.

Petersburg firemen rushed to the scene of the fire with chemical apparatus, but, because of the distance, they arrived too late to do anything toward saving the house. No water protection was available.

The value of the house and its contents was said to be about $10,000, of this amount $3,000 represented the value of the furniture in the house.

Blaze Entails Heavy Loss.

Purcellville.—Fire last week threatened to wipe out the entire business section of Purcellville. Starting in Paul P. Popkin's lumber yard, it was soon a conflagration.

A large frame building in which some of the lumber was housed, and belonging to J. Terry Hirst, was entirely destroyed. Shirley Ball's grocery store, adjoining the lumber yard, was burned to the ground. The brick store building belonging to H. T. McDaniel was also destroyed. The loss is placed at $50,000 partly covered by insurance.

Other buildings threatened were Chamblin's Garage, Purcellville Motor Company, W. S. Steele's building, E. D. Nichol's hardware store, Nichols & Paxson, general merchants; Popkins office building, A. & P. store, Loudoun Light and Power Company, Kennedy Walter's dry goods store and the Purcellville Pharmacy.

These were saved by the fire company and the prompt response of the Leesburg Fire Company.

This fire recalls a disastrous one which entirely swept out the business section and some of the residences thirteen years ago. The first building, which was destroyed last week, was the only old building left. This is the third time the lumber yard has been burnt during the past thirteen years.

Death Sentence for Robbery.

Charlottesville.—Raymond Brookman, young white man, was sentenced to death in the electric chair for a daylight robbery of a store near Clamont October 31. Mrs. E. D. Muscard, proprietress of the store entered by Brookman, was shot in the side of the head and suffered the loss of one eye.

Battles Giant Snake on New Year.

Shenandoah.—A desperate battle with a giant copperhead, after the snake had wrapped himself around his leg, his life probably saved only by the rubber boots he was wearing and the dispatching of the reptile only after an active half-hour of combat was the result of a happy New Year hunt by T. T. Early, of Madison county, adjoining Page.

Mr. Early, in company with Sheriff John T. Hall, of Madison, were on the hunt near Leon, Madison county, when Mr. Early was surprised by the snake. The snake coiled himself about Early's leg and fought desperately to draw his head from beneath Early's foot, only to finally have life crushed from his body. Knowing the enormous ways of the reptile, Mr. Early kept his foot upon the snake until it ceased to wiggle and was extinct.

Plans Airport.

Petersburg.—A municipal port for the city of Petersburg long considered by Dr. W. F. Dry, city manager, and local business. This airport will be one of a c to be established all through the state and will be built some time in 1928.

It is believed that the airport will be carried to a successful conclusion.

To Erect Hospital.

Richmond.—An eleven-story hospital to be one of the most modern in the country, will be erected by a corporation composed of Rich business and professional men. The site now occupied by the Hygeia hospital, 101 West Grace street, was announced Monday by Dr. John Blair, chief surgeon of Hygeia hospital and one of the leaders in the project.

The present hospital, formerly of Nancy Langhorne, now Lady Fairfax, will be torn down, marking the closing of a local landmark.

The new structure will embody the latest developments in hospital construction and will cost more than $300,000. Preliminary plans have been approved and construction work is expected to start within a short time. Formal opening is scheduled for September 1.

Danville.—Announcement has been made of a gift of $25,000 by Mrs. Mary Boyd Dibrell, widow of R. L. Dibrell, to the fund through which superannuated ministers of the Virginia Methodist conference are maintained. The principal will be invested, and the annual return paid in to the denominational fund.

Rev. J. B. Winn, H. R. Fitzgerald and Louis N. Dibrell are named trustees.

Commission To Meet.

Richmond.—The State Conservation and Development Commission, of which William E. Carson, of Riverton, is chairman, will meet in Richmond on Friday, January 20, it has been announced by Elmer O. Fippin, executive secretary. At this meeting the commission will discuss and act on a legislative program to be presented to the General Assembly during the sixty-day session, which has already opened.

Chairman Carson arrived in Richmond Monday and held a brief conference with officials interested in conservation and development of the state's resources. Mr. Carson was confident that the Shenandoah National Park has been virtually assured and predicted success for the bill before Congress reducing the minimum area to 327,000 acres.

49th Year as School Head.

Lynchburg.—Dr. E. C. Glass Monday began his forty-ninth year as superintendent of the public schools of this city. Dr. Glass has served in the office forty-nine years continuously, though the Readjuster party in the early 80's elected a superintendent to succeed him, but he was never able to qualify because of ill health.

Mr. Glass is the oldest school superintendent in point of service in the United States.

Man Found Frozen.

Marion.—Paxton Cassell, 21, was found frozen to death in his car last Thursday morning about 8 o'clock in Bear Creek, a small stream near Marion, Va. Wednesday was his day off at the Southwestern State Hospital, where he was employed. He had spent the day at Nebo in Rich Valley to see a girl friend. Leaving there about 10 p. m., he had proceeded as far as Bear Creek, where people living near-by heard him blow his horn, presumably for help.

ATTENTION—Moving pictures of the New Ford Car in the making will be shown at the Dixie Theatre, Wednesday, January 18, 1928.

The World's Champion

Senger challenges the world of modern medical science to produce an article superior to Senger's Ointment for boils, runarounds, ringworm, fresh cuts or bruises, or old sores of years standing. Senger's ointment cures them. Corns, bunions, eczema, piles, and even the old so-called white swelling.

If suffering with old sores, call on J. H. Senger, or Dr. C. R. C. Johnson's Drug Store, in Manassas, Va., for Senger's Ointment, and get relief.

J. H. Senger, Manassas, Va.
TESTIMONIAL:
"This is to certify that I suffered with a fractured knee cap 2 1/2 years; a draining sore for more than 2 years. I used 18 different ointments and salves without permanent results. Senger's Ointment gave perfect satisfaction. John Hanley, 626 Virginia Avenue, S. E., Washington, D. C."

Again -the Greatest Sensation of America's Greatest Industry for Economical Transportation

Again, Chevrolet has created an automobile so far beyond all expectations in the low-price field that it constitutes the greatest achievement of America's greatest industry.

Build on a 4-inch longer wheelbase offering numerous improvements in performance, beauty and safety—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet marks a spectacular epoch in the development of luxurious transportation at low cost.

The engine is of improved valve-in-head design with alloy "invar strut" pistons... hydro-laminated camshaft gears... mushroom type valve tappets... AC oil filter... AC air cleaner and a new crankcase breathing system.

Throughout the entire car similar advancements are represented—from the four-inch longer wheelbase and the new semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—84% of the wheelbase, to the marvelously beautiful new Fisher bodies in new Duco colors.

Come in and drive this great new car. Drive it through traffic—and get the thrill of its darting pick-up... the smooth, certain action of its non-locking four-wheel brakes! Drive it on the open road—and test every point in the speed range for smoothness and roadability! Try it on the hills—and learn the true meaning of Chevrolet power!

Do that—and you will agree with thousands of others that here is the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile.

Social Note: Among others who have returned to work following the Christmas holidays are Congress, bill collectors, and the rest of us.

The problem of filling the lunch basket for school children is one that many mothers have to meet. Diet plays a very important part in the health of the growing child, and it is, no small task to provide a daily lunch that appeals to the appetite day after day, while providing the different food elements so necessary to the growth and well-being of the child. Here are a few suggested combinations:

Raisin or nut bread with butter; cheese; orange; maple sugar.

Crisp rolls, hollowed-out and filled with chopped meat or fish, moistened or seasoned, or mixed with salad dressing; orange, apple, or small container of stewed figs, prunes or peaches.

Slices of meat loaf or bean loaf, sandwiches, fruit, small frosted cake.

Small mayonnaise or salad dressing bottles are handy to use as containers for stewed fruits, soft cheese or jam for children's lunches.

It is a simple matter to make cookies and drop cakes with Bull Run Self-Rising Flour. Jelly tarts, rolls, and buns are excellent for lunches. Use White Rose Flour, and be sure of good results.

A wise old owl sat on an oak; The more he heard, the less he spoke, The less he spoke, the more he heard— Let's all be like that wise old bird!

A small boy in the visitor's gallery was watching the proceedings of the Senate Chamber.

"Father, who is that gentleman?" he asked pointing to the chaplain.

"That, my son, is the chaplain," replied the father.

"Does he pray for the Senators?" asked the boy.

The father thought a moment and then said:

"No, son. When he goes in he looks around and sees the Senators sitting there, and he prays for the country."

Parasites Kill Corn Borer Pest

Twelve Different Species
Have Been Liberated in Infested Fields.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In fighting a destructive insect the possibility of using its natural enemies, particularly its parasites, is always given careful attention. Parasites have been used with success in campaigns against several insect pests; and are being given a very thorough test by the United States Department of Agriculture as a part of its efforts to curb the European corn borer.

Progress has been made in establishing a number of foreign parasites, the status of which is discussed in Circular No. 14-C, "Status of Imported Parasites of the European Corn Borer," prepared by D. W. Jones and D. J. Caffrey, entomologists of the department. This circular is intended to inform corn growers and other interested persons of the principal facts regarding these imported parasites.

Many Kinds of Parasites.

Studies were begun in Europe by the bureau of entomology in 1919, soon after the corn borer was discovered in the United States, which revealed several kinds of parasites that were helping to reduce the numbers of the pest in that part of the world. After it was determined that none of these parasites could by any chance become harmful to plants, and that they would not attack each other, they were sent to the United States and liberated in corn fields where the corn borer was most numerous.

To date a total of 1,798,090 imported parasites representing 12 different species have been liberated in infested fields in the United States. Systematic collections and field examinations in the vicinity of the locations where the parasites were liberated have resulted in the recovery of six species of the parasites under circumstances which show that they have become well-established and are now at work preying upon the corn borer. Two of these species were recovered in the Middle West in July, 1927, while the others were found in New England.

Not Sure of Effectiveness.

Although efforts are being made to import, breed, and establish parasites of the corn borer in American areas infested by the corn borer, it is by no means certain, says the department, that they will prove to be effective aids in controlling the pest. Judging from the experience with similar parasites imported to aid in the fight against other foreign plant pests several years may elapse, even with the best of success, before any important effect can be expected.

In the meantime every effort should be made to control the corn borer by using clean farm practices and cultural methods leading to the destruction or use of all corn residues of the previous year before the corn borers emerge from them as moths in the spring. The details of such practices have been discussed in previous circulars and in other bulletins of the department.

A copy of this circular may be obtained upon writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Plan New Hog Pastures During Winter Season

Now is the time of the year to be planning new hog lots and getting them fenced for use next year. There will be no time when the spring rush of work comes on, and the spring crop should have good, clean ground to run on next year. On many farms the same lots have been used so long for hogs that they are badly infected with parasitic diseases which make it absolutely impossible to get the maximum growth on hogs that continue to run over them. In some instances they are in such a bad state that the death loss is quite heavy, especially among the young pigs, and in some cases quite so among even the older hogs.

Agricultural Notes

Do you take time to exercise your hobby?

Buying feed right is the first step toward making a dairy pay.

Many farm jobs can be done in the next few months to relieve the busy calendar of spring.

Every farmer should make it a point to visit his state college of agriculture at least every year or so.

Plenty of clean drinking water where cows can get it easily will do more than anything else to make them produce all the milk they can.

Only those evergreens should be planted in the fall that come from much cooler climate than that of the region where they are to grow. All others should be planted in early spring.

Many farmers cut down the normal egg production of their poultry flock because of the fear of getting the birds too fat. No hen can be too fat to lay if fed a laying mash and good clean scratch grain.

An Advertisement in The Journal Pays

Advertising That Lives Longer

For the merchant in a comparatively large town who wishes to increase his sales among the people residing in the surrounding rural districts, the Weekly Newspaper is the ideal advertising medium.

Many farmers' homes are visited by but one newspaper, and almost invariably this newspaper is a Weekly. The universal use of the automobile has widened the area from which the modern merchant may confidently expect to attract customers. The farmer can and does visit town more frequently than in the days when a horse and buggy were his only means of transportation.

If the farmer's wife sees attractive merchandise offerings in the advertisements contained in the popular Weekly Newspaper, it is a matter of only a few minutes before she can be shopping in town or city.

The merchant who advertises regularly in the Weekly Newspaper, circulating through the area from which he wishes to attract patronage is building up a larger, more prosperous business. He is making new friends constantly, and he has the satisfaction of knowing that his advertising is especially profitable because it is THE CHEAPEST FORM OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING he can buy.

Advertising in the weekly newspaper Lives Longer—therefor it is most profitable form of newspaper advertising.

The MANASSAS JOURNAL is a Weekly Newspaper.

CHILD MANAGEMENT

By D. A. THOM

Syndicated from the revised edition of Child Management. The Child Who Steals.

Stealing is a harsh word to apply to the acts of children. It is associated so closely with a criminal career and one so naturally thinks of jails and prisons, highwaymen and robbers that childhood and this type of delinquency seem almost incompatible.

On the other hand, problems are never solved by dodging the issue. "Of course, we don't consider it stealing when Johnny takes things belonging to me or to other members of the family," said one mother in defense of her 8-year-old boy, and another mother argues that "taking food or pennies is not considered pilfering." Sometimes the juvenile offender is acquitted by the parent on the ground that "he does it in such a cute way" or that "he is so unselfish—he never uses for himself the things he takes 'you can't expect a child so young to understand what he is doing.'"

These are only a few of the numerous excuses by which parents permit themselves to be deceived. Stealing must be considered stealing as soon as the child has developed mentally and socially to the point where he is capable of differentiating his property rights from those of the people with whom he comes in contact. It must not be forgotten that most children are warned at an early age that such acts are against the wishes of their parents without being given any appreciation of the social code called honesty. In such cases the act of stealing is nothing more than disobedience and must be treated as such.

Children naturally absorb from the environment in which they are living a tendency to conform with the social customs of that environment, and they can also give an intelligent reason why such social customs are enforced. When a child reaches this stage in his development he must be held responsible for his conduct, and it is grossly unfair for parents to minimize its significance, by refusing to face the issue.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY

Under and in virtue of a decree entered at the last Term 1927 in the chancery cause of William B. Robinson et al v. Eva N. Robinson et al by the Circuit Court of Prince William County, the undersigned commissioner of sale, thereby appointed, will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder on SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1928, at about noon of that day, in front of The Peoples National Bank, in the town of Manassas, said county, two certain parcels of land lying and being situated on the south side of Center Street, adjoining the Southern Railway Company and the Standard Oil Company's oil tank, and being formerly known as the William H. Robinson property; one of these lots has a dwelling and outbuildings thereon, the other is a vacant lot and running from south side of Center Street back to the Southern Railway Company's right of way.

Terms of Sale: One-third cash and the residue in one and two years, in equal payments, with interest on deferred payments from day of sale.

THOS. H. LION,
Special Commissioner.

I, G. G. Tyler, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, do certify, that Thos. H. Lion has executed a bond as required by law and directed in the above mentioned decree in the above mentioned cause.

POULTRY

FEED REQUIRED FOR CHICKENS

From time to time we receive inquiries asking how much feed is required for producing chickens, says the Iowa Homestead. These people appreciate that the feed cost is one of the important considerations in raising poultry. Too often people believe that it is the whole cost, for some do not make allowance for other costs, such as mortality, depreciation on buildings, labor, etc.

The Connecticut experiment station determined the amount of feed which was required to grow White Leghorn and Rhode Island Red chicks till they were 24 weeks of age. At that age Leghorns had consumed 22.13 pounds per bird and the Red 25.77 pounds. The Leghorns weighed 3.28 pounds and the Red 4.3 pounds per bird.

The Indiana station reports that it took approximately 30 pounds of feed to raise White Rock pullets to 28 weeks of age. From these two reports it would seem likely that average amounts of feed needed to reach maturity would be approximately 25 pounds for Leghorns and from 30 to 35 pounds for the heavy breeds.

Some figures are also available on the amount of feed that will be consumed by hens in a year. The smaller breeds require less than the larger breeds and hens that do not lay heavily will consume less than those that are heavy layers. Heavy laying Leghorns will consume approximately 75 pounds of feed yearly per hen, while the heavier breeds will need about 85 pounds.

Skim Milk Recognized

Feed for All Poultry

Skim milk is a recognized feed for poultry from the baby-chick on up to the laying pullet, and as a supplement to either home-grown feeds or the commercial product, it is recommended by successful poultrymen and specialists the world over.

Those engaged in the poultry business must necessarily have high production. Unless they have an abundance and a variety of feeds and know how properly to mix them, the commercial feed must be used. This is also the case with every farmer who seeks high production.

Commercial poultry feeds, in most cases, are the result of scientific research. Their efficiency has been demonstrated so many times that there is no room for argument, but no farmer will make a mistake if he seeks to lower the cost of production by producing his own grains and by utilizing all the skim milk available.

Preventing Egg Losses

Is Not Difficult Task

The season is near at hand for converting feed crops into eggs. No one wants to put labor into the production of eggs and then lose their value. It is estimated that about 17 per cent of the eggs shipped to wholesale markets have no commercial value because of their being dirty, broken, or having chick development, or being shrunken, rotten or moldy. The following conditions will almost entirely eliminate losses from these sources: Eggs for market should weigh from one and one-half to two pounds per dozen; be uniform in size; be free from dirt, but not washed; be strong shelled, fresh and fertile. They should be laid in clean nests, gathered often, never taken from an incubator nor from stolen nests; they should be kept in a cool, dry place until delivered at the market.

No Difficulty Is Met

in Picking Out Layers

No difficulty should be met in picking out the best-laying or the poorest-laying hens in the farm flock. With some birds, however, the distinguishing marks are not so distinct and may sometimes be rather contradictory. Thus one hen may be an early molter and yet show good body depth. Another bird may molt late and at the same time show poor quality. Birds of this type are usually medium producers, and the owner must decide whether they should be kept or sold.

Affects Egg Size

It is possible in forcing feeding when the hen lays day after day for a week or two that the egg will lose in size, depending on the den and the kind of food eaten. If the hen has inherited capacity to lay many eggs, and she gets the right kind of foods, she will lay normal-sized eggs even though laying heavily. To lay many normal eggs the hen must be fed plenty of protein foods, such as are found in the mash, especially during the winter.

Avoid All Drafts

There should be no drafts in the poultry house in fall and winter. The sides of the house should be as nearly air-tight as it is possible to make them. This applies also to the roof. This is one reason why shingle roofs are not satisfactory. The air sifts through and considerable heat is allowed to escape. Drafts are responsible for the birds contracting colds. Cracks should be completely closed so that comfort will be afforded to the laying flock.

port by the sound of the bell. Suppose the keeper of that light had been of the "I don't care kind;" no matter what our activities in life maybe, each of us as individuals must accept definite responsibilities, and as we meet those responsibilities we must face them with the courage of the woman, who, when the light failed, made personal sacrifice for the safety and happiness of others. In this great Kiwanis International you are the keeper of the light. What your club does or accomplishes depends on how you back it up. If you don't care, if you fail to do your part, you not only hurt yourself but you hurt your club, which is depending on you. Only through helping each other, through team work will you make our club a success, and in that way bring to yourself the gladness that usually follows any victory won with the application of the Golden Rule.

state government, which groups the many departments into twelve major divisions. He then enumerated the several offices which had been merged as well as the several which had been absolutely abolished. "In this reorganization," said he, "the Governor lists sixty appointments of boards and heads of departments."

Under the reorganization of the financial system of the state, it was estimated that annually there was saved $800,000. Discussing indirect savings Governor Byrd said: "Improved tax administration alone has added $1,000,000 to our revenues by the collection of income and intangible taxes from those who have not heretofore paid their just share."

Taking under review the twelve major departments of government, Governor Byrd pointed out the great advantage of this new arrangement. This was especially true with regard to the Department of Taxation, whose activities were highly commended. Governor Byrd held that the revenues of the state had been increased at least $1,000,000 for each of the years 1926 and 1927, or $22,000,000 in all, which result was achieved, not by increasing taxes, but by collecting them. To Spend Millions on Roads.
The Governor showed there would be total road funds for the next biennium of $32,004,680. Receipts from the gasoline tax during 1927 amounted to at least $7,500,000, and should go over $8,000,000 during the present year. Of this, $2,666,666 will go to the counties.

The message showed that $23,571,031 was spent by localities and state on public education in Virginia in 1927. Of this, $13,573,000 went in salaries to teachers.

The Governor discussed tax reform at length and showed that, as a result of complete segregation, state unity had been materially advanced. He showed that by the repeal of the state tax on land and tangible personal property benefited individual land owners and holders of tangible personal property to the extent of more than $1,500,000 last year. Tax reduction was made, said he, in ninety counties and eight cities in Virginia in 1927.

The Governor will transmit a second message to the law-makers next Monday which will contain many important recommendations. In this, he will recommend another tax reduction of $1,200,000.

The Governor today was high in compliment to members of the General Assembly, to their work during the past two sessions of the legislature, and to the confidence which Virginians could feel in them.

CLOTHES in the MARLBOROUGH MODE

Can the Man Who Demands
the "Acme of Style"
Wear Ready-Made Clothes?

THERE ARE in America at least half a dozen leading ready-to-wear clothiers capable of turning out garments which in design, cut, fashion and fabric equal the productions of the best custom tailor.

The man who is difficult to please may say: "The custom tailor has only a few hundred customers, while the ready-to-wear manufacturer must produce the same suit by thousands. There cannot be that tailored look of individuality about a ready-made suit."

Can't there, though? Have you seen our new Marlborough Modes, with their "Protected Individuality"?

By special arrangement with the makers of these authentic University styles, we are authorized to sell only a very limited number of each Marlborough Mode.

The wearer of a Marlborough Mode is even more effectively protected against a "rubber stamp" "standardized" appearance than is the patron of a high grade custom tailor.

If you expect to wear a Marlborough Mode this season, may we suggest an early call before our strictly limited stock is exhausted?

NOW WE'LL SEE WHAT TAKES PLACE IN RICHMOND

At noon yesterday the General Assembly of Virginia gathered at the Capitol in Richmond for its 1928 session which will extend through a period of sixty days. Prince William county is represented in the two bodies by Representative Dan M. Chester and Senator Frank Ball. While there are a number of matters that are of real vital interest to the state to claim the attention of the body, little of spectacular character is anticipated. The prospects are that the session will be largely devoted to constructive legislation. The largest possibility of a deviation from this program will lie in the development of an unexpected strength by opponents of the Byrd program.

The Governor has made two appointments within the past two months which may rise up to plague him. They are the Combes appointment to comptrollership and the Fletcher appointment to succeed Berkley L. Adams on the State Corporation Commission. Disregarding for the present the merits of either of these appointments, undoubtedly both have added something, whether little or much, to the strength of the element which is not in full accord with the Governor's policies.

A matter which is likely to precipitate a spirited fight early in the session is the contest for the judgeship of the Hustings Court. There Judge W. Kirk Mathews, the present judge, is being opposed by John L. Ingram, who is said to have the endorsement of the Richmond Bar Association, an organization of lawyers in the Capital City. This organization has waged a relentless war on Judge Mathews since the last General Assembly disregarded its recommendation of Justice Ingram, his present opponent, and it remains to be seen whether the coterie of lawyers who dominate the politics of Richmond will be able to force the General Assembly into a

YEAR IN ADVANCE

KIWANIANS IN REGULAR SESSION

New President Delivers Inaugural Address—Officers Installed For Year.

At the meeting of the Kiwanians Friday night the new officers were installed for the ensuing year. The retiring president, Mr. Eli Swavely, delivered his farewell address, which enumerated the achievements of the year past. The new president, Mr. F. R. Hynson, delivered his inaugural address, which referred to the objectives of the club for the ensuing year. The address is as follows:

With the help of each Kiwanian I hope and pray that I shall be able to direct the destinies of this club through a very successful 1928. I am not unmindful of the responsibilities that come with the honor of being president, and I now beg for your hearty co-operation. I will need your help and I ask for it now, to be given me all through the year.

I thank you all from the bottom of my heart for the honor you have bestowed upon me, and I shall do all in my power to serve you faithfully and efficiently.

Kiwanis has meant a lot to me. I get real inspiration from the work of this organization. I am always the happiest when I am doing something for somebody else. Sooner or later men will learn that they cannot live for themselves alone. Just a word about criticism. I know there are going to be times when you will want to criticise this club and its president, and as there are two kinds of criticism, I want your criticism to be of the constructive kind and not destructive. Whenever a member of this club wants to criticise the club, the board of directors or the president, I hope he will have strength enough to come up on the floor and get it off his chest, and not try to undermine this club with destructive criticism.

Kiwanis is not a secret club. Board meetings are not held behind closed doors, and it will be a real treat to have any of you attend board meetings whenever it suits your pleasure. Committees should attend occasionally. I will be glad to receive any suggestions you care to make for the betterment of the club. I will promise to give them all careful consideration. There are a few objectives that have been passing through my mind which I believe will help our community a great deal if we can put them into some forceful working order. I believe that we should send a weekly letter to the Washington and Richmond papers. That we report the meetings in detail to the Manassas papers. That we aid in giving the Manassas and Prince Georges papers of
