The growing of timber is not a ma jor industry on the farm. It is, how ever, a profitable investment. Timber is a crop that brings in a considerable part of the farmer's income. The marketable products of the farmer in Virginia include pulpwood, cross ties, poles, piling, mine props, bolts and billets of hickory, cedar and dogwood, excelsior wood firewood and sawlogs.

VOTE TUESDAY

A highly interesting political campaign will draw to its close in this county on Tuesday. All county offices are to be filled, and the county's representation in both branches of the General Assembly are to be chosen.

The men chosen by the citizens on Tuesday for county offices are to handle the county's finances and direct the county's policies for the next two years. those who are best qualified to serve the people's interests cannot be stressed too strongly.

The men who represent the county in the next House of Delegates and Senate will be called upon to vote on matters that gravely affect the state's welfare, and that, in a measure, shape policies that are to hold for many years.

The duty of voting, and voting carefully, was never more incumbent upon the people of Prince William county than it will be in the coming election.

This newspaper hopes that every qualified voter in the county will go early to the polls and register his choice for the men who are to debate and perform the things which are to vitally affect his interests and welfare.

PRIMARY LAW EXPLAINED Men's opinions differ in matters pertaining to politics as they differ on other questions of public policy and importance." The Journal is a Democratic newspa-per but it does not take issue with any person because he or she has embraced the faith of some other political party. However, The Journal does call to the attention of members of other political parties that Democratic primaries are strictly party affairs and are held solely for the purpose of selecting party nominees. The result of a primary election merely determines who shall be the party standardbearer at the ensuing general election. Therefore, the question as to who are entitled to participate in a Democratic primary is an important one from a party standpoint.

The primary method of selecting party nominees is not compulsory. Other methods of making nominations may be set up by the duly constituted party authorities. As a general election is the method provided for the selection of officers chosen by popular vote, it has been enacted as a part of the primary law, indirectly, that a voter cannot change his politics by announcing such change at a primary election. The change must be made in good faith, and, as an evidence of such good faith, must be made at a general election. A pledge to support the party nominees is not enough. The voter must have supported the party nominees at the last preceding general election, in which he or she participated.

The above view is confirmed by a letter, dated July 18, 1927. from Attorney General John R. Saunders to Mr. J. E. Jordan, of Haymarket.

The letter, so far as pertinent to the question, reads as follows: J. E. Jordan, Justice of the Peace,

Haymarket, Va. My dear Sir:-Acknowledgement is made of your letter of July 16, 1927, in which you say: "There seems to be a difference of opinion in regard to the primary election law, and I would appreciate it if you would set us right. Some contend that a Republican has a right to vote in the Democratic primary, providing he agrees to support the nominees."

quiry is found in the third paragraph of Section 228 of the Code (Virginia Election Laws, p. 66), which reads as follows

"No person shall be permitted vote for the candidates of any party in any primary unless such person is a such person participated, he or she voted for the nominees of such party; and, upon challenge, such person shall declare on oath that he or she is a member of such party and supported such nominees as hereinbefore requir ed before being permitted to vote.

Trusting this will give you the d ired information, I am, Yours truly,

HIGHWAY SIGNS

A determined effort is being made to abolish the use of unsightly billboards along the highways of the state, advertis-The importance of selecting ing everything from sealing wax to steam engines. It is understood that a bill will be presented at the next session of the Legislature with this end in view.

> Legislative candidates in some ections are being questioned as to their attitude toward the matter, though it is hardly probable that the fate of any candidate will be determined on the billboard matter.

Unquestionably, speaking generally, the movement to eliminate the unsightly billboard is a good one. It overlooks the most important aspects of monumental figures cheerfully smiling under the benediction of somebody's pills, or the sad-faced gentleman to whom has just been explained the insidious nature of halitosis.

The real danger, however, in posting our highways with these signs is that they tend to draw the attention of the motorist when it should be directed solely to the matter of running his car and keeping it in the road.

Just so long as these side attractions continue, there will be the temptation to read them, and during the fraction of a second that it takes to grasp the meaning of the lettered message, there is the chance of a major accident. TO VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

This is just a word in reply to the advertisement my opponent, Mr. Weir, has been running in The Manassas Journal for the past two weeks, asking you not to dismiss an experienced man for a new one.

I do not consider myself a new man, in any sense of the word. I served four years as deputy treasurer under Capt. Herrell, that is, I was a collector of taxes under him. I was elected supervisor for Coles district, in which capacity I served twelve years, and was afterwards elected Commissioner of Revenue for the lower part of the county, which position I have held for four years. So, I am willing to leave the question to you, as to whether or not I am a new man.

Now, Voters, if I am elected, it is my intention to have my office in the Courthouse, if possible, where I think I will be able to serve the citizens of the county to a better advantage. If it is your pleasure to give me the office on August 2, I will greatly appreciate it, and I thank you in advance for any assistance you may give me.

CLARENDON, VIRGINIA, July 25, 1927. TO THE PEOPLE OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

As the campaign for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate draws to a close I am taking this opportunity to solicit your influence in my behalf. I appreciate very sincerely the splendid aid given me by the people of Prince William County four years ago and trust that my record is such that I may merit your continued confidence and support.

During my four years in office I have never missed a day in attendance. While the Senate was in session I gave up everything-business, home and social life-and devoted my entire time, night and day, to the business for which I was elected.

I have given very earnest attention to each of the units of this district with regard to local legislation and have served Prince William as faithfully as I have my own native county.

I favor the election of the local school boards by the people and the selection of the division superintendent by these boards. I am opposed to the appointment of local officials from Richmond.

I am opposed to the short ballot as an unwarranted limitation of the rights of the people and shall both vote and work against it when it is submitted to the people.

Apples |Sell Well.

Winchester—Yellow Transparent apples shipped from Winchester to the Liverpool market in refrigeration arrived in excellent condition and sold well at last week's auction, according to a cable received today by forwarding agents. The shipment was made in the nature of an experiment with "soft" apples, and it was indicated that other summer varieties such as Dutchess, Gravenstiens and Astrachans, will be sent abroad this season. The tomage, however, probably will be limited, so far as England is concerned, because the crop of early apples in that country is larger than usual.

Hume Made Secretary.

Norfolk—G. L. Hume, of Suffolk, identified with the lumber industry for the last twenty-three years, was elected secretary of the North Carolina Pine Association recently by the board of directors meeting here to succeed John M. Gibbs, who resigned to become trade extension manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association with headquarters in Washington.

Found Not Guilty.

Gate City—After a deliberation of one hour and forty-five minutes, a Scott County jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the trial of Patton Flannary, charged with aiding and abetting in the murder of young Hiram Johnson, near Speers Ferry, Va., thirty-seven years ago. William Flannary, brother of Patton, has been actually accused of the murder, but his whereabouts are unknown.

"Thank God, I'm a free man," exclaimed Flannary when the verdict was announced. He will go back to his farm home in Tie Valley, Okla., in which state he was arrested about Faces Serious Charge.

Richmond—Held for the Federal grand jury, Mrs. Eva Hollowell, matron of the Methodist Orphange on Broad Street Road, is in the city jail, charged with sending poisoned candy through the mails.

The woman was arrested Thursday on a warrent sworn out by W. T. Webb, postal inspector. After a preliminary hearing before Melvin Flegenheimer, United States commissioner she was sent on to the grand jury of the district court. Her bail was fixed

The charge states the woman sent a box of candy containing mercury, to Robert Thompson in Aurora, N. C., According to testimony, the box was mailed from Norfolk to the town in North Carolina. The recipient, suspecting danger, sent the candy to Inspector Webb for analysis, and the United States Bureau of Chemistry found it contained poison.

Callom Jones, assistant United States district attorney, conducted the case for the government. It was rumored another charge will be preferred against the woman when the grand jury convenes for October session here.

The woman's past was being uncovered. She is believed to have a husband in Norfolk.

HERRING EXPRESSES GRATITUDE

GEORGE W. HERRING
FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES
PRINCE WILLIAM AND STAFFORD COUNTIES

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

I regret very much my inability, owing to limited time to see and confer with each elector of Prince William county, with a view of giving you the benefit of any claim I might have for your suffrage in the Primary to be held August 2nd next, as to why I should receive the nomination of our party for the House of Delegates from this District, consisting of the counties of Prince William and Stafford.

Therefore, I have adopted this method to set forth my claims why I am entitled to your support; it is always a delicate matter for one to speak of their own achievements or virtues, but in this instance and owing to the fact that I am not personally known to a large number of my fellow countymen I trust you will not deem it egotism on my part for me to refer you to those whom I have served in the past and to those who have known me since early boyhood.

I feel that I can achieve some real benefit for this district should you honor me with the nomination; my interests are your interests, and my welfare is your welfare for the reason our interests are identical in that I am now and have been for many years a practical and active farmer as well as being engaged in other activities of life and when I serve myself I serve you, and by reason of that mutual interest I feel capable of serving your interests faithfully and conscientiously.

We at this time are suffering from the effects of the late World War and the inflated conditions which prevailed during and immediately following that period; we are burdened with heavy taxation and in many instances with valuations far in excess of true values by reason of the depression which has overtaken us, for your interest, as well as my personal interest, it shall be my aim and conscientious endeavor to economize in the amount of taxes imposed upon our people and in the expenditure of public funds, having in mind the necessity of improved highways and school advantages for the future or rising generation. I have the good fortune of having been blessed with a large family; my needs in this regard are your needs and I know the burdens and responsibilities resting upon our people in these particulars, and I shall jealously guard and protect those interests in accordance with the wishes as may be expressed by you or in absence of which may appeal to my judgment.

In this connection, should you honor me with this nomination and which nomination is equivalent to election, I want every constituent, in this district to feel at liberty that he or she not only has the right to call upon me in person or by letter expressing his or her views and desires as to any pending or projected legislation, and for you to do so I now give you my assurance that your wishes shall be my endeavor, as I will again recognize that to hold public office makes one a public servant. In this connection we are but one family, and if we can stand together and present a united front we will find that our co-operation one with the other will not only strengthen my desires and endeavors to represent you but will more strongly impress the righteousness and justice of our cause; therefore, whether you honor me with the nomination or not, I want to assure the good people of Prince William county that by reason of having cast my lot with you that our interests are identical and I wish to co-operate with you in all of your laudable undertakings.

At this point you will permit me to express my gratitude for the friends who have so cheerfully aided me and are aiding my candidacy, and with the assurance that whenever the future will afford an opportunity I will in a more substantial way give better evidence of that gratitude which I hold for the people of Prince William county, and our mutual interests and co-operation, and for the hope that our community may better enjoy and reap the reward which is due us when we can work in harmony and good will with one another.

In conclusion, allow me to impress upon you the importance of selecting a nominee for this honorable position from Prince William county, for while I was formerly a resident of Stafford county, and as for the people of Stafford I hold them in high esteem, but human nature is the same the world over and Prince William can be best served by a Prince William citizen whose interests are identified with the county in which he resides.

With all good wishes,

July 27, 1927.

An Earnest Appeal

(Advertisement)

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM AND STAFFORD COUNTIES:

There has been a rumor in general circulation that I would withdraw from the primary race for nomination to the office of member of the House of Delegates. Fearful that this rumor has gained credence among the voters in some sections of the district, I take this means of advising the electorate of the two counties that such rumor is entirely without foundation, and that I have never had any idea of withdrawing.

I have endeavored to conduct my campaign on a high plane and feel confident that not only my friends but those who may disagree with my candidacy as well, will admit that I have said or done nothing that was calculated to detract in any way from the personal character and integrity of my opponents. I believe that a candidate for office should seek favor with the electorate on his own merits and record and not on the weaknesses of his opponent. I have conducted my campaign on that principle; and should I be favored with the nomination to the office to which I aspire it shall be my purpose to go about the discharge of the duties of the office with the same principle in mind.

I am deeply interested in the problems and needs of Prince William and Stafford counties, and not in personalties of individuals. I am under no obligation to any individual, any group of men, any organization, or any faction. My obligation will be solely to the people of this House district.

It is evident that the voters are appreciative of the manner in which my campaign has been conducted, for a decided drift has set in in my favor during the past two weeks; and I now feel confident that with the co-operation and support of the people of Prince William county my nomination will be assured.

I have endeavored to impress upon the voters of Prince William the urgent necessity for retaining the county's supremacy in the House of Delegates. I am again urging this necessity, for supremacy once lost is difficult to regain.

I was born and reared in Prince William and for some years past have been engaged actively in business in the county. My close touch with every section of Prince William and Stafford has brought the needs of the district before me, and my sole purpose for seeking nomination to the House of Delegates is to have an opportunity of trying to solve some of the problems that now confront the people of the two counties and the state at large.

I regret that I have not been able to see each voter in person. My failure to see every individual voter has not been due to indifference on my part, but because it has been impossible to see eyery one in the two counties. I have given my time to the campaign in a wholehearted way, and if elected I will try to reflect credit to the people who have honored me with this office.

I hope every voter who has an opportunity to read this article will consider this a personal appeal for his or her support at the polls on Tuesday next, and for such support I will ever be grateful.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

FRED R. HYNSON.

SOLICITS YOUR SUPPORT

(Advertisement)

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY:

As the strenuous campaign for the nomination of the Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates from this legislative district comes to a close I desire to address a short communication to the citizens of Prince William County.

First. I rest my appeal for, and ask your suffrage entirely upon, such fitness as I may possess to represent you. I feel that as a farmer, a dairyman and stock breeder, my study of governmental matters, and especially of the legislative needs of this district, I can render valuable service to a constituency largely composed of farmers, dairymen, breeders and those dependent upon and associated with agricultural interests.

Second. If during the progress of the campaign, as a result of the excitement of debate, and because I have been prodded and exasperated, I have at times retorted in a manner unbecoming the occasion or unbecoming in me as a candidate, I wish to apoligize to the good people of Prince William, and to say that I do not want the issue here settled except upon its real merits.

Third. Last, but by no means least, I desire from the depths of my heart to thank the good people of Prince William for their open armed hospitality and warm reception of me, a total stranger to you all, up to two months ago. The fame of Virginia for hospitality is as alive in Prince William today as it ever was in the old days, and whatever the result of this contest may be, I will carry out of it a sense of the deepest gratitude for all your kindness and cordiality to me who, until so recently, was a stranger within your gates.

Cordially and thankfully yours,

D. M. CHICHESTER.

The largestouring car occupied by the Korp family, moving towards Washington en route to New York City, it is said, when a large coupe, occupied by the negroes, crashed head on, driving both machines into a twisted mass of wreckage. Passing motorists rushed the injured to Hygeis and Memorial Hospitals, but John Korp was dead when admitted to the institution.

Henrico county officers are investigating the crash, and arrests will be made in the case later, it was said.

Witnesses of the fatal crash said the coupe driven by one of the injurea negroes, was running at a terrific rate of speed.

John C. Korp, father of the dead boy, could not be located by long distance phone or telegraph. It is thought he was on his way to meet his family in Washington.

To Cut Coal Rates.

Roanoke.-Rumor has it among coal officials and shippers of this locality that railways which deliver coal from the southwest Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky mines to Lake Erie ports for lake cargo transporta-tion have agreed to grant a cut of 20 cents a ton in freight rates. This cut, if true, probably will become effective in August.

Such a cut would meet a similar reduction forced on carriers of coal to the lake ports from Pennsylvania and Ohio mines by the Interstate Commerce Commission in May, to be effective August 10. By the cut any changes in the freight differential between the two localities, at which the Interstate Commerce Commission decision was directed, would be voided.

Principal Southern carriers hauling lake coal include the Norfolk and Western, Chespeake and Ohio, and Louisville and Nashville Railroads. Officials of the Norfolk and Western today said they had no comments to make on the report that the Southern carriers had granted the reduction.

Record for Longeyity. Danville.—Danville's longest-lived family has been discovered on Colquhoun Street, where one household of five members has a combined age of 349 years. The head of the household is T. W. Moore, a Confederate veteran, who is 81, and with him live his aunt, aged 92; his mother-in-law, 72; his wife, 52, and a cousin, also 52. All of the household are in good health. ~

Threshing in Full Swing. Amherst.-Wheat threshing in the county is now in full swing and many of those who have threshed the grain are hauling it to the mills. While some crops are turning out well, in many threshing yards the yield is rather smaller than it was last year. This is probably due to the fact that in some fields rust developed before the grain was matured.

Thus the last link in the chain was forged. Breeding places of the mosquito were destroyed, and Cuba was rid of the Yellow Fever plague that had existed in Havana for 150 years times, causing a loss of thousands of lives, and millions of dollars. The more severe ravaged in New Orleans, Charleston, Galveston, Portsmouth, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Memphis became history. It was in enemy that in Portsmouth in 1885

Dr. Reed died in Washington No vember 23, 1902 of appendicitis. He lived to see his work accepted and plans made for important work in this and various other allied lines. By his labors the tropics were made safe, the Panama Canal made possible and the canal zone, recognized as the most unhealthy place on earth, made a nealth resort, with a death rate lower

He laid the basis for such modern safeguards as the screening of houses, the protection of foodstuffs, the re-

VOTE FOR Charles Henry Smith STATE SENATOR Next Tuesday

BECAUSE he advocates putting the affairs of the State on a business basis.

BECAUSE of his record in the House of Delegates for the past six years.

BECAUSE of his popularity in both branches of the Legislature.

BECAUSE he believes the Counties should be given the privilege of selecting the form of Government best adapted to its peculiar needs.

BECAUSE he is opposed to any legislation that will increase taxation.

BECAUSE he opposes the Short Ballot.

Because he supported the measure in 1926 which reduced the land tax 25c on the $100 valuation.

BECAUSE he favors the continuation of the gas tax under which system good roads can be built and maintained with the least burden upon the people.

BECAUSE he is qualified to represent the interests of the 30th Senatorial District in an efficient manner.

Just because the Ford car is a glutton for punishment is no reason why it should not have proper lubrication

Your Ford will give you better service, cost you less for repairs and last longer if you lubricate it with "Standard" Motor Oil for Fords. Ask for it by name. Then you're sure of the best Ford oil money can buy.
