COUNCIL'S CONCILIATORY ACT SAVES ROAD PROJECT AND KEEPS BYRD FROM FACING ARBITERS

"Bill" Compton Plunges Into Breach in Time to Prevent Drastic Action.

USE OF CURSE WORDS IN WRANGLE CLIMAX

Deed to Strip of Land Acquired By Agreeing to Treasurer's Cash Price

Steam-rollers continued to smooth out rough places in the main thoroughfare of Manassas today, and squabbles as to rights of way here are at an end, it was learned this afternoon.

A most vexatious and difficult situation, one which caused repeated debates in which vehement remarks were made, but which was believed to have been amicably settled, bobbed up anew and unexpectedly at a special meeting of the Council last Thursday night, when R. L. Byrd, town treasurer, considered practically every overture made to him as to allowing paving work to proceed along East Center street in front of his home but the troublesome problem was finally settled when "Bill" Compton plunged into the breach and said he would stand good for the payment of $125 requested by Mr. Byrd for the use of a strip of his land and would pay the money himself if other property owners did not contribute their proportionate share of it.

Declines to Fix Deed

Mr. Compton then called Councilman Whitmore aside and practically arranged to pay for the strip of land by saying he would settle for it himself in case neighbors did not contribute toward the necessary sum.

It was finally decided to have Mr. Byrd deed to the town so much of his yard as will be necessary for the proposed improvement in front of his home. It was suggested that Mayor Sinclair prepare the deed, but he declined to do so, and it was decided that Mr. Byrd would have to see to the preparation of the necessary document in order that the town might in turn dedicate the strip of land to the state.

At one stage of the proceedings it was charged that the town treasurer was blocking the project and the work might be stopped entirely. It was suggested by Councilman Whitmore that, in view of such unexpected developments, he would move that a man who would stand in the way of progress here should not hold the position of treasurer. Both Mr. Whitmore and Mr. Byrd seemed somewhat wrathful.

When the treasurer requested that he be allowed until the next morning to see his wife and try to reach an agreement, Mr. Whitmore said: "This matter must be settled tonight."

In Role of Peacemaker

Councilman Davis assumed the role of peacemaker and tried by convincing argument to get Mr. Byrd to realize how greatly he would be benefited by a better outlook from his home as a result of being enabled to have the use of a modern thoroughfare.

Mayor Sinclair said the Byrds wanted their fence put back, and that they did not want it to extend obliquely across their lot.

"Mr. Gray told me that he would not bind the highway commission to a line of that kind," the mayor asserted. "I received word from Mr. Albright informing me that he understood that there was some trouble about the right of way. He suggested that we do something about the right of way near the Methodist church. Something must be done by July 2."

Councilman Whitmore then suggested that the Council resort to bringing about condemnation proceedings to settle the controversy.

"By the time condemnation proceedings are finished the road builders will have moved away," retorted the mayor, who added: "Mr. Byrd holds up the permit to go through his lot."

"I thought this matter had been cleared up half a dozen times," Councilman Whitmore averred.

"Well, Mr. Byrd," said the mayor in looking toward the treasurer, "you'll have to admit that there is a hang up."

Mr. Byrd replied: "Well, I haven't caused a hang up."

TELLS HOW HE LOST PIN ON BATTLEFIELD

George Odd Newman Recalls Incident of First Bull Run Fight.

George Odd Newman, 91, oldest living member of the Sigma Chi, lost his first fraternity pin, which lies buried somewhere near Manassas, according to word received here this week from his home in Huntington, W. Va. The pin has been lost since the first battle of Bull Run.

Bull Run is a classic in American military history. Mr. Newman joined the fraternity while at Ohio Wesleyan University. After graduating in 1886 he went to Portsmouth, O., where he engaged in the practice of law. In 1891 he enlisted in the First Ohio Infantry and took part in several battles in Virginia.

In telling how he lost his fraternity pin near here, Mr. Newman said: "No wonder it jostled off. We ran that time, let me tell you."

FOUR IN FIGHT AT NOKESVILLE

Love Affair is Cause of One of Two Sunday Disturbances in County.

Nokesville was the scene of two personal encounters which disturbed the peace and quiet of an otherwise tranquil Sabbath observance there last Sunday. A mother's love proved strong enough to pacify an aggrieved son and caused a warrant against a participant in one of the fights to be withdrawn when the case was brought to the attention of Judge J. C. Parrish, of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court.

Carl Todd and Reuben Ryan, reputed rivals in a love affair, came to blows as a result of a quarrel about a sweetheart, it was alleged. Todd was accused of using a piece of iron, which was concealed in a handkerchief to strike Ryan over the head. Two large bumps were made on Ryan's scalp and he was bleeding profusely when he was brought to Manassas to receive medical attention.

Mrs. Todd, mother of one of the alleged offenders, is reported to have been greatly grieved as a result of the fight and it was on her account that pressure was brought to bear to have the case dropped.

A well-known white man and a negro are reported to have engaged in an altercation in which a hatchet figured. It is reported that the white man was in the act of wielding the hatchet when the negro seized him and injured his arm. No warrants were issued in this case.

NABS 5 ALLEGED MURDERERS ON ROAD

Motor Vehicle Inspector Captures Speeders Who are Charged With Being Slayers

Richmond, Va., July 5.—In the capture by Inspector J. E. Boyd, of Hansonville, in Russell County several days ago of five alleged murderers who were speeding along the road with headlights turned out, the public has come to a realization of the value of the road police attached to the division of motor vehicle laws.

The division has fifty of these inspectors scattered over the state, covering all principal routes from Lee county, on the west, to Accomac, on the east, Frederick, on the north, to border counties along the Carolina line. Practically all the important roads have eight to ten of these men stationed at advantageous points so as properly to police them. While this force is small, compared to the size of the State of Virginia, it is performing a valuable service. The officers apprehend more than five hundred stolen cars each year, in addition to the other duties required of them.

QUANTICO LOSES TO HAYMARKET

Walter Keys Makes Ninth Home Run of Season—Score of Game 12-8.

The Quantico Indians were vanquished by the strong Haymarket ball team by a score of 12-8, Sunday at Quantico.

"Hot Shot" Godfrey, of the Haymarket team, first up to face pitcher Kelly, of the Indians, fouled out. Dinnis, the Haymarket twirler, came next getting a nice hit. Buckner, catcher sacrificed putting Dinnis on third. Shoemate, his scoring Dinnis; Walter keys smacked out a double, scoring Shoemate. Calvert singled and Davis retired the side with a foul that Bourne took in with little effort.

J. Keys, of the Indians, first to face Dinnis, fouled out. Martin struck out. Sigalon retired the side with a closing the first inning with the score 2-0 in favor of Haymarket.

In the fourth frame Walter Keys connected with the ball on the second strike and sent it toward the water front for a home run, scoring Buckner, who was on 2nd base.

This was too much for manager Shaw so he pulled Kelly from the box and went in himself. Kelly was doing a nice bit of pitching up to this time and from the writer's viewpoint it was not necessary for Shaw to pull Kelly just at that time at least.

Sig. Keys, the Quantico rugged man, slammed out a homer with no one on bases, making the score 8-2 in Haymarket's favor.

In the fifth Haines Davis, of the Haymarket outfit, smashed out a homer with no one on bases; J. Keys, Martin and Shaw scored for the Indians. Shaw's triple came very near being a home run, only for the fine fielding of Walter Keys, who made a long run to extreme left field and nabbed the ball on the first bounce stopping Shaw at third base.

Haymarket scored two more in the sixth and one in the eighth, making the count at the finish 12; the Indians scored two in the seventh and one in the ninth, closing the game with a count of eight.

STORM DOES DAMAGE

Fourth of July Amusements are Interrupted by Severe Gale Here.

A storm of almost cyclonic force raged yesterday afternoon while Fourth of July picnickers were frolicking and interrupted many athletic games, as well as causing damage both here and in Prince William county. A downpour of rain followed high winds and brought relief from the torrid wave which had prevailed since early morning hours.

In numerous homes in which windows and doors were left open pictures, books and papers were scattered in all directions until housewives began to take precaution to prevent much damage in their places of abode. Tops of hay on several farms were blown down. Some little damage was done to crops in fields west of town.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. JOHN P. HYDE

Funeral of Beloved and Prominent Resident of Bristow Takes Place in Alexandria.

The entire community was greatly shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Pauline Simms Hyde, wife of John P. Hyde, of Bristow.

Leaving home Monday, June 25, with her two small children, apparently in good health, she went to Washington to spend several days with her sister-in-law, Miss Nelle Hyde, after which she intended to go to Alexandria to visit relatives.

On Thursday at 1:30 p. m., she suddenly became ill, and was rushed to Sibley Hospital, where she died at 3:30 p. m. of pulmonary embolism and complications.

Her body was taken to Alexandria and laid to rest beside her mother in Bethel Cemetery at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. Ryland S. Dodge, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. S. Sowers, of the Temple Baptist Church, of Alexandria, of which Mrs. Hyde was a member.

Mrs. Hyde was twenty-three years, five months and fifteen days of age. She is survived by her husband, who is telegraph operator and agent at Bristow, a fifteen months old son, Stewart and a five-year-old daughter, Virginia. She is also survived by her father, Mr. Norman Simms, and three brothers Raymond, Howard and Frank Simms, all of Alexandria, and a great many friends in Alexandria, Bristow and Manassas.

The beautiful floral tributes were evidence of the love and respect of her many friends. There were twenty-six pieces, including a lovely spray from the Bristow School League, in which Mrs. Hyde took an active interest. Her lovely character and cheerful disposition endeared her to all who knew her. She always had a kind word and a smile for everyone and in sickness or in health she took a sympathetic interest in her neighbors and friends. It has been said by many who knew her that she never spoke unkindly to anyone. She was a sincere and devoted wife, and loved her little home and children. She will be greatly missed by her loved ones and friends, but God in His wisdom saw fit to call her home. She is not dead, but lives in the hearts of those who knew and loved her.

Religion First, Then Patriotism, Says Rev. George Hasel in Sermon Here.

MAKES REFERENCE TO FOURTH OF JULY

"Let Us Pledge Ourselves Anew to Foundation Principles of America," Minister Urges.

A plea for religious freedom was made by the Rev. George Hasel in Grace Methodist Church last Sunday night, when he touched upon some of the fundamental principles on which the nation was founded, special reference being made to the untrammelled utterances of the press and equal educational opportunities in this country.

Taking as his text from Heb. 1-10, "In the Beginning, O Lord, Thou didst Lay the Foundation of the Earth," Mr. Hasel stressed the fact that religion comes first in the affairs of a Christian nation. His sermon is epitomized as follows:

"A house is no stronger than its foundation. The foundation of Christianity is Christ Jesus. Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Christ Jesus."

Strength of Nation.

"The strength of a nation depends upon its foundation."

"God first, then country; religion first, then patriotism."

"A king of France, St. Louis, set as his device the following: God, country, family, self."

"Some of the fundamental ideas of our nation now a world power, are: Free speech, a strong weapon when used right, a dangerous one when used wrong."

"Free press. Rumor say that in some cases it is muzzled. What a mighty power the press is when used right!"

"Popular education. Equal educational opportunities for all. So important is this that persistent effort is made to have it represented in the cabinet by a secretary of education."

Praises Political Liberty

"Religious freedom. Here we can worship under our own vine and fig-tree unmolested. Our forefathers came to these shores for religious liberty. Separation of church and state is a principle of our government."

"Political liberty. What a precious possession! Government of, by, and for the people. 'Long may our land be bright with freedom's holy light!'"

"These are a precious heritage that we ought to preserve unimpaired and pass to coming generations improved."

"Let us, on this, another anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, pledge ourselves anew to these foundation principles of our glorious America."

FIGHTS TO STAY WITH MOTHER

Little Nannie Owen and Brother Taken Away After She Offers Resistance.

Little Nannie Owen, 13, did not want to leave her mother and fought in a vain effort to keep from being taken from Manassas to Richmond to be placed in charge of the Children's Home Society of Virginia, it was learned today. She and her little brother, age about 8, were taken away from the home of their mother Tuesday morning. The two children will be cared for by the Rev. W. J. Maybee's co-workers at a big home for the betterment of girls and boys.

When Town Sergeant Robert A. Wilson went to the Owen home Tuesday to take the children into custody Nannie offered resistance. The girl is alleged to have threatened to use a stick of wood in attacking the officer, after biting his right hand. Judge J. C. Parrish and Deputy Sheriff Partlow later assumed temporary charge of the children and took them to Richmond. The Owen family had until recently lived in the old school building near the Manassas High School.

Thousands of surprised persons are talking one way now, but they will reverse when they go to the polls in November.

Andrew Jackson, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, three immortals, left unfinished the great task Governor Alfred E. Smith will take up as a candidate for the presidency, according to the Fauquier Democrat.

James C. Latimer, one of the best known and most efficient members of the Fourth Estate, is secretary of memorial fund being raised for the purpose of erecting a bronze tablet in Williamsburg to William Parks. Contributions should be sent to him at Farmville.

Indications are that the Piedmont section will be well represented at the annual meeting of the Virginia Press Association in Wytheville July 19-20. The editors will make an educational tour of Southwest Virginia. We hope they will hold their next meeting here.

Editor Thomas E. Frank, of the Fauquier Democrat, evidently is a staunch Democrat. He was among the first to clamber to a high seat on the Jesse Jones bandwagon which made so much noise that it could be heard throughout the country last week.

The Alexandria Gazette which carries under its masthead the words, "Established 1784—The Oldest Daily Newspaper in the United States"—says Governor Smith should be elected president. It raps as narrow-minded bigots those who persist in religious intolerance.

Now that the State Democratic convention and the national party powwow of 1928 have ended, we hope the bolting delegations that went to Roanoke will get in the donkey wagon and not try to straddle between two carts, as it often has been observed that sports do not accomplish much by whining about defeat.

Congress can change the dry law, but the president can do practically nothing in regard to it, numerous editors are contending. The Washington Post calls attention to the fact that Senator Glass emphasized the fact that no president can bring about changes in the law, unless the people command such a change by electing a Congress to do their will. This was proved when President Wilson vetoed the Volstead act and was overruled by a dry Congress representing the will of the majority, further commits the Post.

Both bandwagons will be filled with both dries and wets, so why worry about detecting the odor of rum on either side. We should think they both will be glad to find an oasis other than John Barleycorn's between now and November.

"Al Smith stands on a dry platform waving a wet Bill of Rights," wrote George Rothwell Brown, of the Washington Post, but he prefaced the statement by saying that the New York governor's victory was the most impressive demonstration of the people's will in recent political history. Practically the same thing has been said by others about the platform on which Hoover is running for the presidency.

GLOTH CASE MOTION TO BE ARGUED MONDAY Woman Who Shot Her Husband Is Sentenced to Serve One Year in Jail.

A motion to set aside the verdict in the case of Mrs. Marjorie C. Glotch on the ground that it was contrary to law and evidence will be argued in Arlington County Circuit Court next Monday. She was found guilty by a Prince William county jury last Thursday night at 10:55 o'clock as to the charge of shooting and seriously wounding her husband, William C. Glotch, commonwealth's attorney and sentenced to serve a year in jail.

The jury was composed of E. C. Spittler, C. C. Herring, W. J. Green, H. W. Herring, S. S. Smith, R. O. Mayhugh, W. M. Lightner, C. E. Ellison, J. W. Alvey, J. W. Flory, C. S. Carter and Charles M. Wine.

In refutation of charges that Glotch was intoxicated and armed at the time he was wounded, several witnesses testified that there was no odor of liquor on his breath. Glotch was searched and found to be unarmed, it was further testified.

"I've shot Billy. I'm sorry," Mrs. Glotch said according to witnesses. "I didn't know the gun was loaded," others credited her with having asserted.

PALMOUTH The carnival came to a close on last Saturday night. It was a success in every way. The proceeds will be used toward the lighting of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cranford, of Pohick, spent the week-end with Mrs. Payne.

The Rev. Thomas Howard preached at the Baptist church on Sunday night. His subject was, "Personal Work."

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bullock and children, of Moss Neck, and Messrs. Joseph Farish and Warren Gouldin, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bullock last Sunday.

Miss E. Brooks has returned home after spending some time at Quantico.

Miss Eugenia Bullock spent last Monday with Mrs. Charles Coleman, at Berea.

GRADUATION ESSAYS

WELCOME ADDRESS FOR COMMENCEMENT

(From The Yellow Jacket.)
(By William Lloyd.)

Teachers, schoolmates, patrons and friends of the High School: It is my very pleasant duty tonight to extend to you not only words of welcome to these exercises, but also very deep expression of appreciation for your presence and interest in our behalf.

Whatever we have been able to accomplish during our school life has been due to your interest, help and co-operation. We read in Exodus, Chapter 12—these words:

"And it came to pass, when Moses held up his hand, that Israel prevailed; and when he let down his hand, Amalek prevailed."

"But Moses' hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon; and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side; and his hands were steady until the going down of the sun."

This, my friends, represents what you have meant to us. When our hands were heavy, you took a stone and put it under us and we sat thereon. You have stayed up our hands; our teachers on the one side, our patrons and friends on the other side; and our hands have been steady until the coming of this night.

In behalf of the Senior Class of 1928, I thank you and bid you a most hearty welcome.

CLASS WILL READ BY MISS GIBSON

(Shale Gibson)

Ladies and Gentlemen, Superintendents, Teachers and Friends:—Upon behalf of my client, the Class of 1928 of Manassas High School, of the City of Manassas, state of Virginia, U. S. A., I have called you together upon this solemn and serious occasion, to listen to her last will and testament, and to receive from her dying hand the few gifts she has to bestow in her last moments. Cutting so rapidly from life, and finding so many things of such gigantic proportions to be attended to before the end should come upon her, realizing at the same time that she had no longer any time left to spend in cultivation of her own virtues, she did, collectively and individually, deem it best to distribute these virtues with her own hands to those friends to whose needs they seem best fitted. She has tried to be just, as well as generous and impartial, and distribute wisely unto those who will make the best use of such gifts as she has in her power to bestow, the talents that have served her so faithfully these four years. These are her decisions, as at last definitely arrived at through very deliberate consideration. Owing to the flighty condition of her brain, and the unusual disturbance in its gray matter, she begs me to state for her that she may quite possibly have been mistaken in her inventory, but such things as she thinks she has, she hereby gives into your possession, praying that you will accept them as a sacred trust from one who has gone before.

Listen then, one and all, while I read the document, as duly drawn up and sworn to:

We, the class of 1928, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well-trained memory, and almost superhuman understanding, do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or may have been carelessly spoken; one to the other, as the thoughtless wish of an idle hour.

And first we do direct that our funeral services shall be conducted by our friends and well-wishers, our superintendent and his all-wise and ever-competent faculty, who have been our guardians for so long, only asking, as the last injunction of the dying, that the funeral be carried on with all the dignity and pomp that our worth, our merit, our attainments, and our position as Seniors of "grave and reverent mien," must certainly have deserved.

As to such estate as it has pleased the Fates and our own strong hands and brains to win for us, we do dispose of the same as follows:

We give and bequeath to the faculty, who have been our instructors in all the wisdom of the ages, a sweet and unbroken succession of restless nights and peaceful dreams. No longer need they lie awake through the night to worry over this, that, or the other one. It has been a hard strain on them, this getting us through school, for Seniors are said to be at all times and under all conditions difficult to manage. But they have all done their duty, and verily, now shall they have their well-earned reward.

We give and bequeath to our Superintendent, Mr. Richard C. Haydon, in partial payment for all that he has done for us during our long years at Manassas High School, heavy mortgage on our future in the Great Unknown World. It shall be his to watch every step of our progress—to note each trial, each attempt, each victory, each success and honor that we may achieve in the arena of the world—and to accept an interest on our debt, every ounce of praise, every iota of the honor, knowing that it is all due to his faithful instructions.

Again, we give and bequeath to our faculty all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time in our various examination papers. We know that much which we have imparted to them in this way must have been entirely new to them, as well as to all teachers and students everywhere, and would throw much new light on many a hitherto familiar line of thought, throughout the whole world of science and learning, even outside the halls and walls of Manassas High School. We trust they will feel at perfect liberty to make use of all such bits of wisdom and enlightenment for the education of the classes to come after us. This, of course, is left entirely to their personal discretion.

We give and bequeath to The Manassas Journal and the M. H. S. Yellow Jacket all the events of our lives, past, present, and to come, with all the wonders, sensations, hairbreadth escapes, glorious attainments, and other deserved or undeserved notoriety and fame with which we may have been, or may hereafter be associated, trusting that they may furnish plenty of material for news items and brilliant editorials for ages yet to come, and serve as an inspiration for those younger students who so naturally look to us for examples.

The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we hope they may be accepted, not as worthless things lavishly thrown away because we can no longer keep them, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them, and a continual reminder of the generosity of heart displayed in our free and full bestowal:

1st. To our Faculty and Principal, the profound admiration and ever-enduring friendship of the class of 1928, in individual as well as collective manifestation.

2. To the Student Body, as a whole, Edgar Avey's perseverance. We know, from past experience, that they will heed it before they reach our present position.

3. To the coming year's basketball team, Edwin Beachley's ability to play the game and his team spirit.

4. To Elouise Compton, Lucy Athey's "It."

5. To Anna Blough, Frances Berryman's frank and jolly manner, and carefree air.

6. To Bob Weir, Alvin Compton's love of the debate. We feel Bob needs this more than anything else.

7. To Tommy Broadus, Willard Gross's "Way With the Women."

8. To the biggest grouch in school, whoever it may be, Ruth Foster's and Thelma Ramey's sweet dispositions.

9. To Maline Smith, Emma Ellen Ledman's giggle. We are sure that if Maline gets as much pleasure from this giggle as Emma does, she will cherish this gift above everything else.

10. To the incoming Freshman class, Frances Smith's brilliance. If we thought the Sophomores-to-be would appreciate it, we would leave this to them, but you know Sophomores—they think they know everything.

11. To Lib Sinclair, Bine Seelman's willingness to bear her Cross. If Lib can bear hers, though it be of a different nature than Bine's, with the same enjoyment as Bine seems to get, we will feel gratified.

12th. To Burton Lyons, Ralph Saunders' stage personality. We feel that Burton is destined to be an actor and hope this will help him on his road to fame.

13. To some unsuspecting, innocent Freshman, Susie Gibson's job as Class Secretary.

The subjoined list will be recognized as entitled estates, to which we do declare the class of 1928 the real and rightful successors:

1st. Our seats in classrooms and assembly hall. We hope they can fill them as advantageously, promptly and faithfully as we have done.

2nd. Our Senior Dignity. May they uphold it forever, with all seriousness and gravity, endeavoring to realize its vast importance, in spite of their natural light-mindedness and irresponsibility.

3rd. Any stubs of pencils, erasers or scraps of paper that we may inadvertently leave behind us. May they feel free to make use of them, and feel, perhaps, that they may impart some of our great knowledge to them.

4th. Our Senior Privileges. We did not have many chances to use these, but we hope they will have many more.

Last comes the one thing hard for us to part with. To our successors we must leave our places in the hearts and thoughts of our Principal and teachers. They will love them, unworthy as we feel they are, even as they have loved us; they will show them all the same kindness and attention that they have bestowed upon us; they will feel the same interest in their attempts and successes; the same sorrow when they fail. We trust that the class of 1929 will appreciate all this as deeply as we have done, that it may be their most precious possession, as it has been ours, and the one we are most loath to hand over to them.

We do hereby constitute and appoint our Principal sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, we, the class of 1928, the testators, have to this our will, set our hands and seal this 25th day of May, A. D., one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-eight.

MISS ATHEY TELLS OF CLASS HISTORY

Friends, teachers, classmates: lend me your ears.

I come to bury the past, not to praise it;

The good each class does lives after it;

The evil is oft forgotten as they pass. So let it be with us.

In the year of our Lord one thousand and nine hundred and twenty-four in the month of September, there gathered together a band of seekers of knowledge. Some came from our eighth grade, some were green and fresh from a far off country, some journeyed from the farm, and some from other schools.

At first there was much trembling and they were afraid, for 'twas a new and strange land. And one and all were seized with the desire to return to their homes and friends for there seemed no one here to welcome them, but it came to pass that the sophomores, remembering how they had felt a year ago, decided to give a reception and welcome the freshmen to this marvelous land of learning. And behold things were made beautiful with trimmings and the first classmen received their welcome with glad hearts and much laughter and soon they grew to feel as one of the rest.

New and strange things now confronted them, for never before had they heard of the X, Y, Z's of Algebra or the abstruse absolute of Latin.

But they soon found that with much study and good behavior it was possible to reach their highest aim—the honor roll.

Christmas time approached, and tears could be seen trickling down the face of one, for alas William Lloyd had been told by the wise sophomore, Lucy Arrington, that there was no Santa Claus, and he found it necessary to believe it, since it had come from one so wise.

In the Springtime the Latin class, almost bursting with their great new store of knowledge, decided to give a Latin program, and many were made to act what they were not, for there were many vestal virgins and a mighty Caesar among them. People came from afar and cried out, "How grand and wonderful this thing is, which ye have done!" and lo, the heads of the class became swelled to their fullest capacity at the praise which they received.

In the second year the day of the sophomore was exceedingly filled, for the writings of Julius Caesar were found to be difficult to translate, and each night their dreams were filled with visions of geometry propositions with "get that into your head" written upon them.

Many things were needed for Manassas High School, for the "Soph's" felt that no longer could they use their brains and leave their bodies inactive. There must be basketball and in order for this there must first be a gymnasium.

There was much wrangling and gnashing of teeth, for alas! great piles and stacks of money must be gotten before a "gym" could be built; and it came to pass that all opened up their hearts and reached to the bottom of their pocketbooks and, behold a "gym" was built, and basketball was played, and in the year of 1926 a grand commencement was held in the Manassas gymnasium.

Now it happened that one of the teachers, beloved by all, was missing when they returned to their school in 1926, for lo! she had changed her name. It was no longer Miss Dowell, but Mrs. Curtis, but in her place was one who has since become equally beloved.

Now in this third year, these students were exceedingly proud, for they were preparing to take the place of the mighty seniors. At first there were two days of entertainment, for the people had said, "Let there be a new and beautiful school for our children," and behold there was; it was built of red brick with many and spacious rooms. The building was christened "The Osbourn Building," and lo, there was great rejoicing, for she for whom it was named was loved and honored by all!

Now it happened by chance that Miss Halle, seeing the great possibilities of her energetic class, proposed to her pupils that they give a play. It was decided upon, and under her careful guidance "The Poor Married Man" was presented, and all were exceedingly pleased with it. From it much money was received, and not long afterward this great school put her team on the basketball floor, all shining in new suits, and everyone was filled with joy.

Another great aim was accomplished while these wise youths and maidens labored under the name of juniors. For a long time Prince William county had been in need of a county nurse and after much agitation a county nurse was acquired, and great was the rejoicing for no longer would the students be subjected to the measles and other like troubles.

Now it was felt by all that much had been accomplished and the time being ready, all retired to their respective homes to spend the summer and look forward to the year which was to be the crowning episode of their lives.

Now, this, the fourth year in the history of this great and wonderful Class of 28, has been one of much hard labor with little resting by the wayside, for preparations have been making ready for them to take their final departure.

As they realize the honor of their position, the class began to wish for badges befitting their greatness, and many messages were sent to the big cities and towns roundabout for samples of their jewelry. At last, after much considering and reconsidering, the class decided, and rings were purchased, with which all rested well content.

About this time the city of Manassas was very fortunate in securing a "diphth" clinic. But when the school children were waiting to receive "their shot," the seniors among the rest were trembling and pale, for never before had they seen so many needles or been held in such suspense. But it was found that it was as that all wise county nurse had said, "It only hurt a little."

Now it happened that the class had to use a fine and beautiful stage, and must needs have also a fitting curtain. The senior class of last year had wisely started a fund for this purpose, and this year Miss Lulu Metz, that teacher who is favored by the gods to understand both Latin and English, decided that she could spare the time for a play to be presented by the fourth-year English Class. After much studying and practicing it was ready, and "Tea for Tom" was presented to the public. Much praise was forthcoming, and, behold—the heads of the seniors swelled almost to bursting! A second installment was made and the long wished for stage curtain was secured and marveled at for it was truly wonderful and proudly was displayed by the senior class when the teachers held their meeting in this great hall of learning.

A Double Tragedy.

"Will a dollar pay you for your hen that I just ran over?"

Much anxiety was now experienced for all those awful creatures, the college entrance "exams" must be overcome before graduation time; but at the end of the term there are in all 17 who have been victorious. They sit before you now with their heads crammed full of the best of knowledge. This has indeed been a remarkable and, I might add, an unusually successful class, and if your interest be great enough, you may follow them by reading the Yellow Jacket of 1928 for the fifth installment.

VALEDICTORY

The Seniors' Creed
(By Frances Smith)

We who stand tonight at the meeting between a happy past and an unknown future have reached not the end, but the commencement of our lives. And what those lives are to be depends in a large measure upon the foundations we have been building for them in our High School Years. This is a big thought, and I want you to think with me just how big a thing it is. For tonight, at the ending of our course, I am fired with the zeal of a Class Patriotism that I would like to be able to transmit to you with all of its wonderful thrilling force.

It seems well for us who are about to step forth into the arena of the world's progress to consider something of what our parts in this school have been and what they are to be as citizens of the greatest republic and the grandest nation in all the world.

We, therefore, as members of the senior class subscribe to the following resolution compiled by the State Supervisor of High Schools:

"Our intellectual horizon has been broadened. We have learned to know and to appreciate in a measure science and the world of knowledge. We have learned to know that this is only half of life, that the other half is loving those things and assigning values to our experiences."

2. Our interest in mankind in general has taken a broader sweep. We know that our lives must grow and move in personal contact with our fellows, that this constitutes one of the supreme factors in human life and that our appreciation and interest in these things will grow in intensity with the coming years.

3. Our conception of and trust in God is deeper, truer, and nobler. We know that God is the embodiment of supreme beauty in nature and in human character, that our souls yearn for this beauty in our sweetest and highest experience; that life is a continual striving for the radiance of this presence, and that "There are sermons in stones, and good in everything."

4. Our belief in work is sinner and uncharged with deeper significance. We know that work is the basal element in all lasting happiness, that with work comes hope, with hope, plans, and with plans, a vision of the future. We know that with honest work comes love and the highest joy.

5. Our ideals have been lifted to loftier heights. We know that this is a sign of growth and a signboard along our pathway. We know that nothing more sad can happen to us than to lose these ideals and thus fall to lower levels of life.

Let us be true to all that we have learned, as we climb up to victories still ahead—true to our school, our class, and to ourselves—we then shall be true to all the world. Let us be men and women. Friends, teachers, classmates, farewell.

A Statement

Notice to the Public:

I have been informed by several friends that it is generally rumored upon the streets of the town that the undersigned has made claim and demanded payment for certain lands on the south side of Centre Street desired by the town and state in the present development of Centre Street in the way of a permanent road through the town of Manassas, and that I was laying claim to land that did not belong to me. I feel confident that those who know me do not place credence in any such reports, but for those who do not I desire to say I have deeds, which are of record, for all the land between Centre Street and the Railway Company's right of way at the point in question, which I have purchased and paid for, and any doubting the correctness of this statement are respectfully invited to examine the records in the County Clerk's Office.

A matter of this kind is exceedingly unpleasant, and I regret the necessity of making this public statement, but feel in justice to myself and family that it is necessary to correct any false rumors that may be in circulation regarding the matter.

Respectfully submitted,
R. LEROY BYRD.

Council's Act Saves Roads Project

Makes Dramatic Appeal.

"If this thing is going to be changed every day, we will not know what we are doing in regard to the improvement," Councilman Davis explained. "I think the Council has been called upon an unreasonable number of times to consider this matter. It is certainly to the best interest of Manassas that it be settled pleasantly. The road engineers have come here and have given us more than they really agreed to give. Now that they have come here to complete the road, there is a squabble. They have come here to build the highway for the benefit of the town. I think it is bad that there should be a delay. It places the town in an awkward position. They expected the town to secure the right of way."

Words between Councilman Whitmore and Mr. Byrd began to show considerable depth of feeling. They appeared to be greatly exasperated.

Demands Speedy Action.

"If the court appoints commissioners to condemn the property it will be ten to fifteen days before we can do anything, and by that time the project will have gone to the howlows," said Mayor Sinclair. "Would you and your wife be willing to straighten the highway beginning at Dellinger's corner?"

"I will have to submit the proposition to my wife," the treasurer replied.

"It looks to me like a new agreement is uncalled for," said Councilman Davis.

"I can't hold it up," responded Mr. Byrd.

"I think you can," the mayor asserted. "If we can by agreement accomplish the desired object, I don't think anybody will be hurt."

"I honestly believe it would not damage your property," Councilman Davis said to Mr. Byrd.

"We must do something tonight," insisted Councilman Whitmore.

Bitterly Opposes Attitude.

"I am bitterly opposed to Mr. Byrd being treasurer of Manassas and holding up such a proposition. I would offer a motion to that effect," said Councilman Whitmore.

Mr. Byrd made a trip to his home about 10 p. m. to see whether his wife would agree to a plan to have three men make an estimate as to the damage done by the improvement or encroachment upon the property. Mrs. Byrd declined to sign the proposed agreement. It was explained that the Byrd property might enhance $1,000 to $1,500 in value. This phase of the situation, however, did not seem to appease Mr. Byrd.

"If I am going to get the ill will of all my neighbors I think I had better sell it," the treasurer asserted.

Gives Credit to Engineer
Councilmen Arrington and Parrish were rather conciliatory in their attitude toward Mr. Byrd and endeavored to persuade him to accede to the will of the majority as to the situation.

Town Sergeant Robert A. Carter, who witnessed the proceedings, told one of the spectators present he would be willing to give away a part of his land to enjoy such benefits as Mr. Byrd will derive from being enabled to use a paved street rather than one of quagmires.

It was not until after many verbal clashes and the use of a curse word by at least two men that the Compton proposal brought order out of chaos and the situation was adjusted again. The necessary deed was prepared the next day.

The town of Manassas owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. Albright," said Councilman Davis shortly before the wrangle ended.

ALL AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION RATIFIED

Official Tabulation Shows Every Proposal Favored by Governor is Approved

(By Carter W. Wormeley)

Richmond, Va., July 5.—Official tabulation by the state board of election canvassers of ballots cast in the constitutional amendment election June 19 shows that all of the amendments carried, with what were known as the segregation and general revision, or omnibus amendments far in the lead. The three proposals containing what has been referred to as the short ballot appeared less popular with the voters.

The total vote cast ranged around 135,000. This would doubtless have been larger, except for the season of the year, when the farmers were busy with their crops. A fairly representative vote, however, was polled both in the counties and cities, despite a terrific electrical storm which swept over the state on the afternoon of the election.

The support accorded the amendments in the Seventh Congressional District, the home of the governor,

SCHOOL DAYS ARE OVER

(From The Yellow Jacket.)

Another school year has passed; another class has gone out from the school to seek its fortune. It has been a season of work and happiness, and pathos—work and happiness for all—pathos for those who had to drop out of the class for one reason or another. Our high school days are over; we must look to the future.

But before we consider "What we will do," let us think of the things we have done; for the tasks we have already accomplished shall be the stepping stones to what we shall accomplish in the future. We have all gained knowledge sufficient to receive our diplomas. We have broadened our view of life through the medium of study. We have made friends who shall always enrich the memories of our youth. All of these things, we have done, but they are things that every class before us has done. For what shall our class, collectively and individually, be remembered?

One of the honors received by a member of our class, and one that we know shall not be forgotten, was bestowed upon Mr. Ralph Beahm. He had the honor to win the Planters Degree, a distinction conferred by the State Agriculture Department each year, on the twenty outstanding students among the three thousand boys in the state taking agricultural courses. Miss Treva Holler, another member of our class, won in the District Typing Contest, the distinction of having the highest speed and accuracy of any contestant. In the State Contest, Miss Holler had the highest speed of any second-year entry. She was awarded a gold medal for her proficiency. Miss Frances Smith, also of our class, made an unusually high average on the College Entrance Board Examinations, excelling all other members of the class.

By the above you can see that our class, the class of '28, has not lacked in distinction. We have had our share of scholastic glory, and we are proud of those who have given this glory to our class and to our alma mater. We look forward to the future with hopes of success and achievement, and hopes of service and happiness. These hopes have their birth in our high school life.

Alma Mater, we thank you for the bright vision we have for the future. May these visions grow into reality and transform their beauty into service for the benefit of man.

BANKERS PROVIDE STUDENT LOANS

American Bankers Association
Completes Plan to Award 167
College Economic Scholarships Throughout Nation.

AWARDS TO START THIS FALL

Students in Agricultural Economics to Be Helped in Farm States—Will Also Facilitate Entry Into Business Life.

One hundred and sixty-seven collegiate loan scholarships will be provided by the American Bankers Association, 98 of which are now being proffered to 71 selected colleges and universities in 34 states. It has been announced by John H. Puellicher, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Association's Foundation for Education in Economics. The foundation fund of $500,000 was started in 1925 to commemorate the Association's fiftieth anniversary and its aim is to stimulate and aid worthy men or women students to pursue courses in banking and economics in collegiate institutions throughout the country.

The scholarship awards will be available for the scholastic year beginning this fall and will provide recipients with unit loans of $250, to be repaid on easy terms following their entry into earning business life. In several farm states, it is provided, scholarships shall be specifically awarded in agricultural economics.

A special feature of the plan in addition to its educational advantages is that scholars, upon discharge of all their financial obligations connected with their loans, will be given certificates of honorary membership in the foundation signed by the members of the board of trustees, which will be available as evidence of financial reliability for their use in starting their business careers.

Colleges Awarded Scholarships
Professors of one or more scholarships have been made to the following institutions:

Alabama: University of Alabama, Birmingham-Southern College, Arkona, University of Arkansas, Arkansas, University of California, University of Southern California, Stanford University, Columbia University, Washington University, Yale University, Delaware: University of Delaware, District of Columbia: George Washington University, Georgia: University of Georgia, Florida: University of Florida, University of Miami, Hawaii: University of Hawaii, Idaho: University of Idaho, Illinois: University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Knox College, Northwestern University, Ohio: University of Ohio, Kansas: Kansas State Agricultural College, Washburn College, Louisiana: Louisiana State University, Maryland: University of Maryland, Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland, Michigan: University of Michigan, University of Michigan, University of Michigan, Minnesota: Carleton College, University of Minnesota, Hamline University, Mississippi: University of Mississippi, Montana: State University of Montana, Nebraska: University of Nebraska, Nebraska State College, Nevada: State University of Nevada, New Jersey: Princeton University, Rutgers University, New Mexico: New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, North Carolina: University of North Carolina, North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, Oregon: University of Oregon, Oregon State Agricultural College, Pennsylvania: University of Pennsylvania, Dickinson College, Lafayette College, Gettysburg College, Franklin and Marshall College, Allegheny College, University of Pittsburgh, Lehigh University, Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania State College, Rhode Island: Brown University, South Dakota: University of South Dakota, Tennessee: University of Tennessee, University of Chattanooga, Vanderbilt University, Utah: University of Utah, Vermont: University of Vermont, Virginia: University of Virginia, Washington: University of Washington, Washington and Lee University, University of Richmond, William and Mary College, West Virginia: University of West Virginia, State College of Washington, West Virginia: West Virginia University, Wisconsin: University of Wisconsin, Lawrence College, Beloit College.

Plan of Operation
The general plan allots scholarships to higher institutions of learning in states where the banks have completed the subscription quotas assigned them in the foundation fund. Institutions are selected on the basis of type of school, educational standards, geographical distribution and desire to co-operate in the plan. A scholarship committee is to be created in each selected institution, to consist of members of the faculty and a prominent banker. All scholarship applications must be made formally through the college committees and not direct to the foundation. Three some-town references are required of each applicant, at least one of whom must be a banker. Only students of junior or higher grade in banking and economic courses are eligible; and those who have also attended American Institute of Banking courses will be given preference.

Easy Terms

Scholarship payments will be given only to those whose means of education are dependent in whole or part upon their own efforts and will continue only during satisfactory scholastic standing or conduct. The loans are at five per cent beginning the first day of the second January after the date the scholar leaves school, with no interest on repayment made prior to that time. Loans may be paid off in monthly installments of $10 or more. After three installments have been promptly met payments may be placed on a quarterly basis until the loan is wiped out which must occur within three years. In cases of delinquencies, consideration will be given to special circumstances, such as ill health or unavoidable unemployment.

VIRGINIA RANKS HIGH IN APPLE SHIPMENTS

Crop This Season is Expected to Be Between 12,000 and 15,000 Cars in State.

Richmond, Va., June 28.—Frederick county, with an average shipment of 3,380 cars of apples for the last four years ranks fifth in shipments among all counties in the United States, according to a recent survey made by Henry M. Taylor, agricultural statistician for the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture.

Frederick is one of the oldest commercial apple producing counties in the entire country and for many years has been noted for the quantity and quality of the fruit produced. The York Imperial is the principal variety, but other varieties such as Ben Davis, Stayman, Delicious and Grimes Golden are also produced in large quantities. There are approximately three hundred and fifty commercial orchards in the county with an average of nearly 2,000 trees.

Virginia ranks third among all states in the commercial production and shipment of apples. During the past season approximately 9,000 cars were shipped, although the 1927 crop was smaller than usual. Two years ago the shipments amounted to nearly 19,000 cars. The crop this season is expected to be between 12,000 and 15,000 cars.

WAR WAGED AGAINST BEETLE IN COUNTY

Timely Remedy is Given For Getting Rid of Mexican Bean Insect.

"What can I do to keep that little brown bug off of my beans?" This is a question that is heard all over the county. The adult Mexican bean beetle is about the size of a pea, brown in color with sixteen black spots on the back, eight on each wing cover.

The adult and larvae feed on the underside of the leaf, leaving the veins and much of the upper leaf surface untouched, giving the leaf a lace like appearance.

The methods of control are to either dust or spray with the following mixtures: For dusting use one part calcium arsenate, seven parts of hydrated lime.

Calcium arsenate may also be applied as a spray as follows: Calcium arsenate, 3-4 pound, hydrated lime, 1 1-2 pounds, water, 50 gallons or for small quantities, calcium arsenate one level tablespoonful, hydrated lime, two level tablespoonfuls, water one gallon.

Apply as soon as the beetle appears and repeat at intervals of a week or ten days. Since the beetle feeds largely on the underside of the leaf, it is essential that the material be applied to the underside of the foliage.

Do not use lead arsenate or Paris Green on beans, as these poisons burn the foliage severely.

WOULD AID FIGHT TO ERADICATE PESTS

Representative Moore Offers to Send Bulletin to Prince William Farmers.

"Diseases and Insects of Garden Vegetables" is the title of a timely bulletin just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. It is Farmers' Bulletin No. 1371.

Representative R. Walton Moore has written the following communication to The Manassas Journal in regard to the bulletin:

"The farm agent at Fairfax has asked me to send out copies of the bulletin which he thinks is of great value to the farmers this summer and if you will call attention to it in The Journal I can have it sent to any one in Prince William county who will let me know he desires it."

"The Fairfax agent says that beans and other vegetables are being attacked this year more than ever before by insect pests."

LAUNCH SANITATION CAMPAIGN IN STATE

Great Improvement as to Sewage Disposal Within Last Fifteen Years

Richmond, Va., July 5.—With virtually two-thirds of the Virginia counties reported, the campaign to effect 100 per cent sanitation has been definitely launched.

It may shock many persons to learn that there are in the State counties even today which have less than one per cent of the homes equipped with proper sewage disposal and safe water supplies; but the most backward county in Virginia today is above the average for all Virginia fifteen years ago, and there are today in Virginia a number of counties which can boast of sewage disposal well on the way to 100 per cent, such as Arlington with 95 per cent reported, Roanoke with 87 per cent reported, Middlesex with 85 per cent reported and fifteen or more between 60 per cent and 80 per cent.

Before the campaign is ended it may be predicted with reasonable certainty that a number of the counties will be in the one hundred per cent class and there is no reason why all the counties should not be in the 80 per cent or over class. This practically means a Virginia safe from filthborne diseases, it is contended.

Chapman.

COWS IN PASTURE NEED GRAIN, HE SAYS

County Agent Curtis Gives Suggestion as to Summer Food For Dairy Cattle.

To be in the best condition to make a high production this fall the cows should be fed grain when they are on pasture, according to T. T. Curtis, county agent. Most of the cows are beginning to drop off in milk production now. The dairymen want them to freshen this fall to get a high fall average.

By allowing the cow to be dry about a month or six weeks before freshening, the cows have a rest period, and are in better physical condition when they freshen. However, a rest period is not all the cow needs to produce milk when she freshens.

Do you know how much grass a cow must eat to produce a gallon of milk in one day?

Experiments have shown that a cow must eat at least 25 pounds of grass for each gallon of milk she produces. So a cow producing four gallons of milk must eat 100 pounds of grass each day to keep up her body and produce the milk.

If she does not get enough food from the grass a good cow will take the necessary constituents from her body to produce the milk. This means that the cow will be thin this fall and not in a condition for high production. It will be much cheaper to feed the cow some grain now and keep her in good condition than it will to try to build her up in the fall.

Two pounds of 16 to 20 per cent grain per day for each gallon of milk produced will keep the cow up in production and she will stay in good condition. Now is the time to analyze the situation and see that the cow is being fed properly.

They called her a soulless "gold-digger" but--

DO you remember the sensational breach of promise suit, a few years ago, by a humble flower-girl against her young millionaire lover and his wealthy mother? At the trial many ugly charges were hurled at the girl. She was called a "gold-digger," a blackmailer; a shameless creature who loved only money and the luxury money could buy.

But when, in a voice broken by sobs, she told her pitiful story, men hardened to sorrow wiped their eyes furiously—women in the court-room wept aloud.

Then came that dramatic and unlooked-for conclusion. An unexpected witness was called to the stand—and in ten words hurled into the tense silence of the crowded court-room a bombshell that reverberated to the ends of the earth.

Most people were stunned by the unexpected outcome of the trial. Even today few suspect the true history of events behind that tremendous drama of intrigue, suffering and deathless love.

But now the entire story has been told by the girl who was the central figure in that amazing drama. Told in words that will bring tears to your eyes—tears of joy, of sorrow, of understanding and sympathy.

Secretary Wilbur Praises Canned Foods

CURTIS D. WILBUR, Secretary of the Navy, in a recent magazine article, ascribes the high standard of health of the navy personnel to the healthful properties of canned foods.

"As to the relative merits of fresh-cooked foods and their canned equivalents," Secretary Wilbur says, "the experience of the Navy has been that there is no appreciable difference in their nutritional value."

Naval dieticians have established the facts, already conceded in the national newspaper press, that the vitamin value suffers not at all if the juices and fluids are not separated from the food except by evaporation, which leaves all of the food and vitamin value present and ready for use in a more digestible form than the ordinary cookery could present it.

Tons Used in Navy
The Naval Hospital Diet Kitchen

at San Diego has proved that properly canned vegetables are actually in a more perfect state for human consumption than fresh vegetables cooked in any of the ordinary styles used in the average kitchen.

While the Navy occasionally uses fresh foods, canned products hold an undeniable ascendancy in its kitchens.

For more than two years, the Navy Special Diet Kitchens at all the Naval Hospitals, as well as aboard the S. S. Relief, have been utilizing Pacific Coast canned products. The attending doctors have expressed themselves as very much pleased with the diets provided. Such vegetables as corn, peas, tomatoes, asparagus, beans, turnips, squash and vegetable combinations are purchased in immense quantities, while fruit products of practically all Western growths are absorbed by the Navy to the extent of many tons each season.
