

COUNTY ADVISORY BOARD MEETS

County Agricultural Board Has Luncheon and Meeting

T. T. CURTIS AND MISS MARY BELL REPORT

Gordon A. Elcan, Assistant Boys' 4-H Club Agent, Makes Inspiring Speech

The January meeting of the County Agricultural Advisory Board called for the purpose of hearing the reports of the County agents and discussing plans for the improvement and extension of the work of these agents during the year was held in the Masonic Temple, Manassas, on Tuesday. A sumptuous luncheon, furnished by the ladies of the advisory board preceded the business meeting.

Interesting Reports.
W. L. Lloyd presided, and after welcoming the members of the committee called upon the county agents for their reports. Miss Mary Bell, home demonstration agent, presented a complete and highly enlightening resume of her activities during the year just ended and outlined in brief some of the things planned for this year in all of the phases of her work. T. T. Curtis, county agent, brought a most encouraging report on the growth of the work his department is carrying on in connection with agricultural development, dairy work and 4-H Club work with the boys of the county. Many of the Prince William boys took prizes at the county and state fairs.

Gordon A. Elcan, assistant boys' 4-H Club agent, of the State, was the special guest, and when called upon made an inspiring talk on community development, closing with a special appeal for the encouragement of the splendid work being carried forward by the 4-H Boys' Clubs of the State and county.

County Well Represented.
Among those present were: Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis, Mrs. E. E. Blough, Mrs. John S. Young, Mrs. Raymond Ellis, Mr. Ernest Spitzer, Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Mrs. M. M. Washington, Miss Cook, rural school supervisor; Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, Mrs. John Ellis; Mrs. Holliday and Mrs. T. T. Curtis; Miss Belle Burke, home demonstration district agent, University, Va.; Miss Mary Bell, home demonstration agent, this county.

Some of the men present, in addition to Chairman Lloyd and others, previously mentioned, were: M. M. Washington, G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Rolfe Robertson, J. N. House, W. C. Shackelford, district agent, Profit, Va.; Sam O'Sullivan, county agent, Fauquier County; J. L. Dawson, F. H. May, Richard C. Haydon, superintendent of schools; W. M. Johnson, Richard S. Hynson, C. C. Lynn, J. P. Pullen, head of agricultural department, Manassas High School; Maj. F. W. Patterson, and D. E. Earhart.

THE STATE CORN AND GRAIN SHOW

Two-Day Session Will Be Held In Leesburg, January 24 And 25.

With the State Corn and Grain Show being held at Leesburg on Friday and Saturday of next week, the farmers of Prince William County should find it convenient to attend.

The premiums offered in the different classes are very attractive and from four to six prizes are offered in each class. More than fifty entries alone have been made in the utility class, and one of the best and largest exhibits ever shown at a State corn and grain show is already in sight.

On Thursday afternoon a Senior corn judging contest will be put on by the Association, and medals will be given by the Southern Planters for the winners in the Senior contest, while the Virginia Seed Service will give similar medals in the Junior contest.

In addition to the exhibits and judging contests there will be interesting discussions and lectures on farm crops by speakers of state and national reputation.

Under the plan of the Association to hold their annual meetings and shows in different sections of the state each year it is not often that one is held so close to Prince William, and it is believed that the ease with which farmers here may reach Leesburg will make for a record turn out from the County.

AL SMITH MAKES APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Urges Democrats To Take Care of Huge Deficit. Contributes Speeches.

Alfred E. Smith, recent Democratic presidential candidate and former Governor of New York, appealed to the rank and file of the Democratic party by radio last night to help raise the $1,500,000 deficit that stands as an aftermath of the "happy warrior's" defeat. He spoke over a coast to coast hook-up of thirty stations under the auspices of the national committee, and an account of the speech through Associated Press service as published in the Richmond Times-Dispatch this morning, follows:

Mr. Smith announced that his contribution would be the gift to the Democratic committee of his campaign speeches, for which he said he had had several offers from publishers. A bound copy of the speeches, illustrated with photographs taken on his campaign tours and published by the national committee with no profit for the former Governor, will be sent to each contributor who sends in $2 or more.

Wants More Publicity.
In making his appeal for funds, the former Governor seconded recent assertions of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt that the Democratic party needed more consistent national publicity between campaigns.

"Immediately following every national election," he said, "there is always apparent a general lack of interest in the welfare of our party. It has been the habit of the Democratic party to function only six months in every four years. This is demonstrated by the fact that no attempt was made to liquidate the deficit left from the national campaign of 1924 until the spring of 1928. When the Democratic party finds itself facing a national convention, it begins to shop around the country for the place likely to put up the most money towards the liquidation of the deficit.

"More than that, it has been the custom right along to have the party deficit taken care of by a comparatively small group of people, and usually the small group has an interest in some particular candidate. This I hold to be an unwholesome condition for any political party. It tends to place too much power exactly where it should not be—in the hands of the few."

A political party, he asserted, "that polls nearly 10,000,000 popular votes should be a tremendous factor in the politics of the country, and the strength and force of that great body should not be lost by failure to maintain an organization which would enable them to make themselves heard and felt in the affairs of our nation."

Mr. Smith told his radio audience that there was "need at all times for real facts concerning public happenings."

"To produce and to publish material and information costs money," he continued. "There are two sides to many public questions and there are facts which ought to be brought fairly and honestly before the American people in the next four years."

"As a matter of fact, we have had immediately following the election a number of misleading editorials printed in the Republican press concerning the crushing defeat administered to the Democratic party. While it is true that our system of the electoral college gave Mr. Hoover an overwhelming victory, judging from the standpoint of the popular vote the Democratic party made the best showing in the campaign of 1928 that it has been able to make since the second election of President Wilson."

MRS. ANNIE BELL ROLLINS BURIED FROM SUDLEY

Died on Thursday, January 12, And Funeral Rites Were Held On Saturday.

Mrs. Annie Bell Rollins wife of Wesley Hiben Rollins, of near Manassas, died on Thursday, January 12, and was buried on Saturday with services conducted in Sudley Church.

Mrs. Rollins was a native of Prince William County, having been born at Aldie, on June 15, 1860, and was the daughter of John Swart and Bettie Walker Swart, of that place.

RED CROSS GIVES INFLUENZA ADVICE

Proper Diet Effective Way To Combat Disease, Nutrition Director Claims.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—As part of its cooperation with health authorities in combating the influenza epidemic now sweeping the country, the American Red Cross Nutrition Service has issued a statement emphasizing the importance of proper diet in combating the disease.

Miss Clyde B. Schuman, director of the service, says in the statement that "no element plays a more important part in determining whether a person will become a victim of the disease than his general body condition and resistance, which in turn is largely dependent on his diet." While adherence to what she calls the "A-B-C's of Nutrition" is important at all times, it is even more essential now that the danger of infection from influenza is prevalent everywhere. The following diet suggestions are made as an aid to better general health, and as a method for increasing resistance to the disease:

What To Eat and Drink.

1. The use of whole milk and other dairy products, especially butter. Children should drink about four glasses of milk daily and adults not less than two glasses. It should be taken either as a beverage or included in other foods.

2. From four to six glasses of water daily taken between meals as well as at meal time.

3. Inclusion in the daily diet of plenty of green leafy vegetables, such as spinach, turnip greens, cabbage, kale and lettuce. Essential also are such vegetables as carrots, string beans, tomatoes (canned or fresh), peas, squash and turnips. At least one raw vegetable is desirable daily for adults and for children who have reached their eighth year. Raw vegetables should be fed cautiously to children under eight years of age. A little minced raw vegetables, such as carrots and lettuce, may be used sparingly unless the physician advises otherwise.

Should Avoid Overeating.

4. The use daily of fresh fruits, such as oranges, apples, peaches and bananas. Raw fruits, except in the form of fruit juices, should be introduced cautiously in the diet of children under seven years of age.

5. Bread and cereal, especially whole grain products, should be used regularly.

6. The regular use of eggs, soft boiled, poached, coddled, or as a part of other food dishes.

7. Meat and fish should be eaten not more than once a day, and should be used with care in feeding children under eight years of age.

8. Butter, cream and bacon fat may be used in moderation in the diet of children and adults.

9. Sweets may also be used in moderation in the diet of children and adults. Sweets should always be eaten immediately after meals. The simple form of sweets only, such as plain cookies, sponge cake, egg custard, etc., should be given children.

10. Overeating should be avoided and all the well known rules of hygienic living should be observed in order to make the best use of the food eaten.

NEW ARREST IS MADE IN TETER MURDER CASE

Sutton, Va., Jan. 16.—Mystery that for ten months has shrouded the murder of Alva Teter, 21, mountaineer, appeared near solution today when Dewey McPherson, deputy sheriff, announced the arrest of Charles Alkire, 21, of Clover Fork Creek. It is understood that new evidence has been unearthed and that a sensation will develop when the trial starts.

Alkire is now regarded as a key witness, although he had previously been detained and then released for lack of evidence. Owen Van Kirk, now in the Bratton County Jail, charged with murdering Teter at the abandoned Bennett house, on Cunningham Fork, and throwing his mutilated body down a well, declares Alkire was at the house on the night Teter disappeared. Van Kirk's trial has twice been continued.

This age isn't more wicked than the age of our fathers—it just fails to pull down the shades.—Washington Post.

PRINCE WILLIAM TOWN SERGEANT WINS MORE PRIZES

County Boys Take First Place In Special Demonstrations With Crops.

Prince William County 4-H Club boys won first prize for the most completions of demonstrations where an application of 100 or more pounds of nitrate of soda was applied to one acre of corn. The prize of $50 is presented by the Chilean Nitrate and Soda Educational Bureau. In determining the winners the results of the acre of corn to which nitrate of soda was applied are checked with the results of an acre of the same fertility and getting the same treatment save for the application of the nitrate of soda. The prize money which the boys received will be used to pay the expenses of a corn judging team which will compete at the State Corn and Grain Show at Leesburg, next Thursday and Friday.

Polen and Tyler Get Prizes.

Hervin Polen, of Catharpin, won sixth place in the State and $12 in premium money, with an increase of 151.42 per cent in yield due to the application of 200 pounds of nitrate of soda.

Thomas Tyler, of Haymarket, placed ninth in the State and received $5 in premium money, his increase being 147.5 per cent in yield per acre due to application of 200 pounds of nitrate of soda.

Another Contest This Year.

The Nitrate of Soda Education Bureau has announced that it will conduct a contest this year, and the crops to be included will be corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, hay, tobacco and cotton. Eleven cash prizes will be offered, ranging from $50 for first prize to $10 for eleventh prize.

Any boy or girl of club age may enter this contest by applying to Mr. T. T. Curtis, county agent for Prince William with headquarters in Manassas.

HYNSON'S STORE ROBBER CAPTURED

Robber Breaks Into Store But Is Caught By Members of Family Who Respond to Alarm.

Another attempt to rob the Hynson Department Store here was made early Sunday morning, but was frustrated by the prompt response of members of the Hynson family to the burglar alarm which is connected with their home.

The burglar, unaware that his presence in the store was known, was working leisurely in gathering up many of the more expensive silk dresses and packing them in a large suit case. Hearing the arrival of R. S. Hynson and his son Bruce, the robber was unable to escape through the back door which he entered after breaking the lock with an axe, so concealed himself behind one of the counters. Others arrived shortly to assist in a search for the hold-up man, among them being J. H. Burke, whose store is next to that of the Hynson establishment, John Hynson, who hurried there from his home on Grant avenue; Thomas Carter, former town officer; Officer Jarmanns and Constable M. A. Lynch, W. F. Coker, town manager, and Mayor Harry P. Davis. After a thorough search of the premises and with men standing guard at the doors, John Hynson discovered the robber and pounced upon him pending the arrival of the officers who were nearby.

The robber, a colored man, gave his name as Ernest Campbell, his age as 44 and his residence as Charlotte, N. C. Upon being questioned he admitted that he had served jail sentences in a number of places, and local authorities are now in communication with officials in several towns looking into his record. He is being held in the County Jail pending the February term of Court.

This is the thirteenth attempt at robbery in the Hynson store, extending over a considerable period of years, and Mr. Hynson boasts the proud record of having caught the culprits and recovered all goods taken in every case but one. In the latter case the goods were left behind by the robber who left a trail of blood behind him as he jumped through a window after being shot. This man has never been heard of and it is believed that he died from wounds and was buried by friends.

TOWN SERGEANT DIES SUDDENLY

Is Stricken With Heart Attack While Making Tour of Town In Early Morning.

Town Sergeant Robert A. Wilson died suddenly on Saturday morning while making a periodical patrol of the town. Sergeant Wilson was talking with several men who were returning from a night hunting trip, who stopped him in front of the Central Mutual Telephone Company building on Centre street, and while conversing with them was stricken with a heart attack which caused his death a few minutes after the arrival of a physician.

Sergeant Wilson, who was 57 years old, and born in Morsfield, W. Va., was one of the most beloved of all the town officials and citizens, and the announcement of his demise came as a distinct shock to the community as well as to his large group of friends throughout the county. He will be remembered as a faithful officer, considerate and just by all who came in contact with him, while his intimate friends will remember him for his winning smile, his deeds of kindness and his sterling character. He had only recently returned to duty following a serious illness and it is believed that his anxiety to carry on as usual before he had regained full strength had much to do with his fatal attack.

With high county and town officials in attendance the funeral was held on Monday, January 14, in Manassas Baptist Church, in the presence of a large group of his friends, with Rev. Hiram D. Anderson, pastor, officiating, burial was in Manassas Cemetery. The pallbearers were Dr. George Berger Coker, C. A. Sinclair, County Treasurer; J. H. Burke, William F. Coker, Town Manager; D. J. Arrington, Chairman of the County School Board, and Edgar G. Parrish, member of the town council.

Surviving Mr. Wilson, are the widow, Mrs. Laura P. Wilson, and the following sons and daughters: Russell F. Wilson, Cumberland, Md.; Roy G. and William R. Wilson, Manassas; Maynard D. Wilson, Du Pont, Wash.; Mrs. John W. Sutphin, Miss Emma Lee Wilson, Miss Betty Wilson, all of Manassas, and Mrs. J. W. Moore, Washington, and Mrs. Berkley Shippe, Markham, Va.

MRS. MARY LOUISE HALL RITES LAST SATURDAY

Wife of Rev. T. A. Hall, Retired Minister, Died on January 10th.

Mrs. Mary Louise Hall, wife of Rev. T. A. Hall, local retired clergyman, died on last Thursday, following an attack of influenza and pneumonia. The funeral was held on Saturday the service being conducted in the Manassas Baptist Church, while burial was in the Manassas Cemetery.

Mrs. Hall was born October 19, 1866, near Manassas, the daughter of John Henry Butler and Susan Francis Pickett Butler. She had a large circle of friends in Manassas and Prince William County as well as in other sections of the country where she had lived during the active ministry of Mr. Hall, all of whom will mourn her loss.

PLAN TO REVIVE ANTI-SMITHITES

Small Group Meet In Alexandria To Discuss Reorganization.

VOTE TO CONSIDER INDEPENDENT GROUP

W. S. Athey On Committee On Plans For Organization.

About 50 men and women of the anti-Smith group, who voted against the National Democratic Party's presidential candidate in November, met at the George Mason Hotel, in Alexandria last Thursday evening for discussion of whether there should be formed an organization in the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia for taking concerted action in future political controversies, county, State and national.

Frank Lyon, of Fairfax County, who spoke in Manassas during the late campaign at a meeting held under the auspices of the anti-Smith organization, was chairman, and Miss Evelyn Bell, of the same county, was secretary of the meeting.

Independent Body To Be Considered.

When called upon, many of those present expressed themselves as being in favor of maintaining an independent organization so that they would be free to cast their votes for candidates favored by the new organization. The following resolution was passed: "Resolved that a committee of 12 be appointed, three each from Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William Counties and from Alexandria City, to meet with like committees from other counties in the eighth district, to consider the organization of an independent body of electors to be designated the Independent Democratic party or such other appropriate name as may be deemed advisable by the general committee thus created."

The full committee was not completed, but W. S. Athey, Manassas; John P. Lyons, and W. Thomas French, of Arlington County; C. H. Brown, of Alexandria, and Joseph E. Berry and Frank Lyon, of Fairfax County, have been named.

ESSAY HONORS TO SCHOOL BOYS

Contest Leading To State And National Finals Won By Haymarket and Swalely Boys.

Franklin Bodine, of the Haymarket High School, and John Allen, of Swalely School, Manassas, have been selected as the prize winners in the county essay contest, open to students in the High Schools or schools of High School rating in Prince William County, according to announcement yesterday by Mrs. A. A. Hooff, chairman of the committee of the Woman's Club of Manassas, which had charge of the contest in Prince William.

Will Enter State Contest.

These essay winners will now be entered in the contest open to winners from the counties in the state, and from this contest will be selected the papers to be entered in the national essay contest which is being conducted by the American citizenship department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A prize of $500 has been presented by Mr. John Hays Hammond for the national winner, a prize will be given to the winner of the state contest, while the Woman's Club of Manassas and a donor, whose name is withheld by request, have presented a cash prize of $10 and $5, respectively, for the winners of the County contest.

Excellent Papers Submitted.

The papers of the county entrants were judged by the teachers of the department of English in the Washington and Lee High School, Ballston, Va., who in making their report, said that the papers submitted were generally excellent, and that the margin between the papers of Mr. Bodine and Mr. Allen was very close. The subject on which they wrote and on which all national contestants will be judged was "Why Should I Vote?"

The essay committee of the Woman's Club who had the county contest in charge were, in addition to Mrs. Hooff, chairman; Mrs. C. M. Larkin and Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
FOR JANUARY 20, 1929.

The International Sunday School Lesson for January 20, 1929, is "Christ the Saviour"—Luke 15:3-7; Romans 5:6-10.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Once, during the war, while traveling through an uninhabited region of the Caucasus Mountains, I saw a small oblong opening cut into the rocky face of a high cliff. These man-made caves in desert places hold a peculiar allure for me, and whenever possible I have explored them. This particular chamber, I found, upon climbing up to it, had been toilsomely chiselled out of the solid granite. It measured perhaps six feet each way, and the only deviation from its squareness was that a small shelf of rock had been left on one side, for the hermit's couch. I could not doubt that this shelter had been cut, long centuries ago, by a Christian recluse, because, deeply incised in the center of the rear wall, was a cross.

That symbol confronts the traveler everywhere in the East, even in the regions where Christianity was long ago driven out. The cross is found on forgotten graves. Ruined churches show it. From the ground beside the half-demolished "Double Church" of old Ephesus, in which the great Church Councils were held, I brought home, nearly twenty years ago, a block of marble containing a cross; and it is now the baptismal font of the First Presbyterian Church in Atlanta. In Japan the Catholics keep a feast called "the Discovery of the Christians", for, after generations in which the cross was forbidden on pain of death, it was found, when religious liberty came, that many families had been secretly treasuring the cross and the forbidden faith. Only the other day in the Syrian quarter of New York City, I saw an oriental with a cross tattooed on his hand, as one so often sees it in the East—an ineradicable profession of faith, in the presence of an overwhelming Islam.

So the tale might run endlessly. The cross is the accepted symbol of Christianity, even as the Apostle Paul wrote. Both the mind and the heart of mankind have perceived throughout the ages that the cross signifies the central truth of the religion of Jesus. And the cross is distinctive of Christianity; no other religion has it. It is this sign of salvation that best gathers up the truth embodied in the word and in the life and in the death of the Son of God. Take away the cross from Christianity, and you have left a mere philosophy—nothing that is adequate for the surcease of the sin-conscious spirit of mortal. Christianity is Christianity because it presents a crucified Saviour. The cross is truly "the tree of life."

Shadows of the Cross.

Sentiment loves the legend, represented by a familiar painting, of the boy Jesus, stretching Himself in Joseph's carpenter shop in Nazareth, while his mother looks affrighted at the shadow of the cross which is thus thrown behind Him. The shadow of the cross is older than that. It was majestically portrayed by the Prophet Isaiah, who foresaw a suffering Servant: "Surely He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."

That shadow earlier fell athwart the sands of Sinai when Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness. It followed the angelic brightness of Christmas; for the message to Mary was, "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins." All through His public ministry, from the day when John the Baptist pointed to Him as "the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world," Jesus walked under the shadow of the cross. He, the Good Shepherd, knew Himself to be, in sublime paradox, the Lamb slain from before the foundation of the world.

In pregnant phrases, great Paul gathered up this central truth of all revelation, in his letter to the Christians at Rome: "For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly. For scarcely for a righteous man will one die; yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die. But God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were sinners, Christ died for us."

A Truth For the Times.

These are not days of deep thought. The superficial and the material so crowd men's minds that they do not dig down to the fundamentals of spiritual logic and experience. Amazingly thin is the religious teaching with which multitudes seem satisfied. Among Christians who are eager to be modern and popular, there is a turning from the rugged cross to vague theories of social amelioration; unmindful of the truth, writ large upon the face of the ages, that mankind needs salvation first, and that social betterment follows.

No motive less powerful than the cross can transform human nature into unselfishness. In vain does society strive to lift itself by its own bootstraps. But the magnetism of the cross is in the words of Jesus: "If I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me." The world needs a Saviour more than it needs a teacher or a leader or an organizer.

Because of its very vastness, the Atonement—the at-one-ment of God and man—is a mystery. One has wisely written, "To understand fully the Atonement were to understand these three things and their ultimate relation to each other—the greatest thing in God; which is His love; the strongest thing in the universe, which is law; and the darkest thing in man, which is sin." Above the altar in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, stands the figure of the crucified Saviour, inscribed, "Sic Deus dilexit mundum." "This is how God loved the world." It has been said, in contemplation of the cross, "There is no sacrifice that God has not made for man."

Where the eye of knowledge is dazzled and blinded, though, the eye of faith may see clearly. A poet has phrased the heart's instinctive response to the truth of the cross:—

"Under an Eastern sky,
Amidst a rabble's cry,
A Man went forth to die
For me.

"Thorn-crowned His blessed head,
Blood-stained His every tread:
Cross-laden, on He sped
For me.

"Pierced glow His hands and feet;
Three hours o'er Him beat
Fierce rays of noontide heat
For me.

"Thus wert Thou made all mine;
Lord, make me wholly Thine;
Grant grace and strength divine
To me.

When Hearts Are Broken.

If a traveller recounts the many-sided significance of the cross in the ancient East, he also recalls present expressions of the passionate devotion of living Christians to the crucified Christ. How the scroll of memory unrolls—soldiers partaking of the Lord's Supper at dawn, as they knelt in the mud; rapt missionaries in the Anglican Church in far Isfahan, Persia; boys in a famous American private school; Russian peasant women in the gloomy cathedral at Kherson; ecstatic pilgrims in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Jerusalem; Christians of many names receiving the sacrament from the hands of a saintly bishop at a memorable service in Little Rock—the tale of such rich experience is too long to tell.

For the broken heart of Christ breaks man's proud heart. Haughty wills are humbled by the spectacle of a Saviour slain. Rousseau is reported to have said "If the death of Socrates was the death of a man, then the death of Jesus was the death of a God". In familiar lines Richard Watson Gilder has given us the soliloquy of a pagan centurion, witnessing the Crucifixion:—

"If Jesus Christ is a man—
And only a man—I say
That of all mankind I cleave to Him.
And to Him will I cleave away.

"If Jesus Christ is a God—
And the only God—I swear
I will follow Him through heaven and hell,
The earth, the sea and the air!"

NEW DOG TAX LAW
GOES INTO EFFECT SOON

One of the laws passed by the State legislature last winter was one changing the date for the payment of dog taxes from May 1 to February 1. Formerly this tax could be paid to the treasurers of incorporated towns, but under the new law, it must be paid to the office of the County treasurer. The law provides a penalty for failure to pay tax by February 1 while a fine of $2.50 may be levied for failure to put tag on dog. The taxes remain the same, according to C. L. Reading, game warden, who says the tax is $1 for a male or unsexed female, and $3 for a female.

AGRICULTURAL FUTURE WITH ELECTRICITY GREAT

Agricultural America Is Coming
Reality. Big Changes
In 1929.

A word picture of the agricultural America of the future, with electricity taking up the slack in farm management, has been brought back by Fred R. Hynson, local Delco-Light dealer, from the regional sales convention of his company which was held at New York City.

"It was demonstrated at the convention that this idea of a completely electrified agricultural America is not a visionary dream—it is a coming reality and will be brought much closer to actual existence during 1929," the local dealer says.

One of the high points of the convention session was the announcement by H. W. Arnold, general manager, that the Delco-Light Company has passed the 325,000 mark in production of individual farm electric plants. Twenty-five thousand Delco-Light plants have been made in the past twelve months. The previous 25,000 production was attained in fifteen months, giving evidence of the growing demand for farm electricity.

Dr. W. O. Bailey has rented the offices in the rear of the Warren Green formerly used by Dr. Sprague. The directors' meeting of the Peoples National Bank will be held on Friday, January 18th.

Mr. Green Carter left Thursday to spend the winter in Florida. Mr. Carter's real estate business will continue as usual with the office in charge of Mr. Ian Montgomery and Miss Frances Will.

Miss Ella Marshall, of Fredericksburg, for some time connected with the Fauquier Hospital as night superintendent, has been chosen assistant superintendent of the Loudoun Hospital, Leesburg, Va.

Mrs. E. S. Blackwell and Mrs. McClung went to Washington Friday morning on account of the death of Mr. B. A. Leavell.

Mrs. Kay Ingalls, who has occupied Mrs. Randolph's house on Culpeper street for several months, entertained a house party there over the weekend. Mrs. Ingalls left Monday and will sail next week for England for a season's hunting.

NEWS OF WEEK
IN OLD VIRGINIA

Library Funds Cut.

Danville, Jan. 16—The Danville Public Library will be unable this year to buy any new books or to provide replacements. The City Council has voted down an extra appropriation of $3,000.

Peanut Growers Assisted.

Richmond, Jan. 16—Virginia, already a leader in grade inspection service for various agricultural products, now has provisions completed for a similar type of service for peanuts, according to J. H. Meek, director of the division of markets, state agricultural department.

The new service for peanut growers, cleaners, shellers and warehousemen is said to be the first of the kind ever undertaken by a state. Arrange for having the inspection made are being managed by N. Broome, representing the state department of markets and the United States department of agriculture. Mr. Broome is working at Franklin, Va.

New Paper In Buckingham.

Ransom, Jan. 17—The first copy of a new county paper appeared last week for the first time. The "sheet" is called "Buckingham News," and is published by L. H. Shrader, of Apperly, Va. Claude Wood is editor, and Floyd Myers business manager, the last two of Dillwyn, Va.

Aerial Guide Beacons.

Newport News, Jan. 16—Two giant aerial guide beacons, one stationary to point the route to Langley Field, and the other of the revolving type, are to be put into operation at once atop the main tower of the Newport News-James river bridge near his city, Conrad H. Little, general superintendent of the bridge system, announced recently.

New Charlottesville Pastor.

Charlottesville, Jan. 16—Dr. Henry Alford Porter, one of the outstanding ministers of the Baptist Church in America, and for the last five years pastor of the Third Baptist Church, St. Louis, Mo., tonight wired his acceptance of a call to First Baptist Church, this city. He will come here March 1.

Dr. Porter, a native of Canada, was educated at McMaster University, Toronto, and graduated from Rochester Seminary. He has held charges in Atlanta, Dallas and other cities.

School Bonds Favored.

Luray, Jan. 16—The Page County Board of Supervisors last week approved the county school board's recent proposal of a bond issue for a new school building. Judge Hiram W. Bertram, of Page County Circuit Court, will be asked to authorize an election on a $150,000 bond issue.

Culpeper Boy Travels.

Culpeper, Jan. 16—Mr. William Williams, lately located in New York, spent several days in Culpeper last week with his mother, Mrs. C. B. Williams and family, before leaving for the Philippines where he will be located with a well known oil company. Mr. Williams left New York on Monday for Seattle, Wash., to sail at an early date for his post in the Orient. He will have headquarters at Manila where his brother, Capt. Alpheus D. Williams, is located.

Record Chicken Hatch.

Charlottesville, Jan. 17—What is claimed to be the outstanding chicken hatch by a hen for the United States for 1928 was accomplished by a biddy owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Graves, of Madison county.

Mr. Graves set a hen in an old fish barrel. He placed under her all the eggs he thought she could cover. Several other hens got into the barrel and laid a large number of eggs. Mr. Graves hasn't any idea how many. He does know, however, that before the hen quit setting, he took 116 chicks from the nest and threw away a half bushel of spoiled eggs.

O. F. A. Celebrated Anniversary.

Fairfax, Jan. 17—Fairfax Council, No. 26, Order Fraternal Americans, was organized January 15, 1904, and observed its twenty-fifth anniversary last night. A committee consisting of Hamilton M. Gibson, Samuel W. Sisson and W. Thomas Carter was appointed to make arrangements for the anniversary celebration.

The observance began with a supper served to the members of the Council and their ladies' auxiliary, Providence Council, No. 9, Daughters of America, in the Town Hall, from 6 to 7:15 p. m.

Treasured Coffin Used.

Luray, Jan. 16—The coffin which he has jealously guarded for 20 years was used by its owner, F. L. Weakley, buried Saturday, January 5, 12 miles east of Luray. Mr. Weakley, 90 years old, purchased the coffin at Stanley, this county, hauling it to his home on top of the Blue Ridge, a distance of 10 miles. Every day for the last 20 years Mr. Weakley had viewed his coffin, and once each week he brushed the dust from the casket. The coffin cost Mr. Weakley $70. When purchased a silver plate on the casket said "At Rest". This Mr. Weakley substituted for another plate bearing the following inscription: "A Straight Man."

Mr. Weakley was a distinguished soldier in the Federal Army, deserting the Confederate forces. He was known as "the giant of the Blue Ridge," and for the last half-century was a guide for trout fishermen in the mountains of this region.

New President Poultry Association.

Charlottesville, Jan. 16—The fourth annual convention of the Virginia Poultry Federation elected the following officers: President, W. R. Wright, Richmond; vice president, H. C. Adams, Lynchburg; secretary-treasurer, Harry L. Moore, Blacksburg. The place of the next meeting was left to the executive committee.

JAMES C. WISE WAS PROMINENT CITIZEN

Death of This Well-Known Citizen Casts Gloom Over Haymarket Section.

Mr. Wise was found dead in bed on Christmas Eve when friends and neighbors, wondering for a day or two at his absence, sought him at his home. Heart disease was given as the cause, and death, apparently without a struggle, had come while he slept.

His only sister, Miss Mary Wise, who was visiting friends in North Carolina, was at once notified. The funeral took place shortly after her arrival. Rev. Mr. Carpenter, of St.

Paul's Episcopal Church, conducted the last rites at the family home in Haymarket. The burial took place at Woolsey.

Born in Alexandria, Va., James C. Wise was the son of George S. and Sarah Newton Wise and closely related to the late Governor Wise and several distinguished Virginia jurists and legislators of the Wise and Newton families.

He had resided in Prince William County for more than thirty years; first at the family residence near Woolsey, and later in Haymarket where he was prominently identified with all social, civic and political affairs. His death is deplored by a wide circle of friends.

CHARLES H. DEAR ENDS
AN EVENTFUL CAREER

Was One of the Last Survivors of Colonel John Mosby's Command.

Captain Charles H. Dear, Confederate veteran, one of the last survivors of Col. John Mosby's famous Confederate cavalry, died Saturday, says the Fauquier Democrat, at his home in Rappahannock county. He was 84.

Captain Dear was born in Washington, Va., July 29, 1846, and, at the outbreak of the war was a student at V. M. I. He was one of the first young Virginians to join Mosby's troops in the struggle against the North. Mosby, in his writings, made frequent references to him as his most daring and gallant scout. He was one of twenty-four men with Mosby who captured General Stanton at Fairfax. Stanton was asleep with his army of 18,000 men at the time.

Captain Dear participated in the famous "Greenback raid," capturing Sheridan's paymaster, Major Ruggles, and the Baltimore and Ohio pay train with $160,000 in gold. He was one of the first to enter the train and engaged with Major Ruggles in a pistol duel, killing the Federal officer.

Bristow Community League.

The Bristow Community League will hold its monthly meeting at Bristow School, on Friday, January 18, at 7:30 p. m.

There will be a special program given by the children and refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the League.

Dance Spun At Nokesville.

The Merry-maker Club, organized by some of the younger set in and around Nokesville, will give its initial dance at Woodman Hall, Nokesville, on Friday, January 25, with dancing from 9:30 p. m. until 1:30 a. m.

Ladies of the community will act as chaperones, while the music will be furnished by "Charmie Sinclair and His Virginians."

375,000

Jars of Vicks
daily

Compared with 1918, this epidemic, so far, is mild; and yet, in spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks Laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency demand for more and more Vicks VapoRub. Over 375,000 jars are now being produced daily.

approved method of using Vicks for FLU

1. AS A PREVENTIVE

Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.

2. IF A COLD STARTS

If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot, wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-covering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds, attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks.

Heed even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

ENFORCEMENT, NOT MORE

LAWS.

A twentieth amendment to the Federal Constitution as a means of combatting the evil it is organized to suppress is the remedy which the World Conference on Narcotics Education insists is necessary. It does not appear, however, that passage of a Federal amendment would greatly facilitate detection of higher-ups who could now be heavily punished if convicted. The problem is not constitutional but administrative. The Federal government and states, operating under present laws, can handle the situation, provided they will arise to its gravity, as well as they could if an amendment were passed.

The drug habit is abhorrent to all normally minded persons but an amendment to the constitution on top of our present drastic legislation on the subject, will not secure enforcement. The program of the conference for a model narcotic control law to be submitted to all legislatures, is practical and should have hearty and unqualified support.

We have a prohibition amendment to our constitution, but that does not mean law enforcement. There have been attempts to enact anti-pistol-owning laws as a means of crime prevention, but such laws merely dodge the issue which is proper enforcement of our present statutes. Naturally, more laws mean more law breakers and in the past the multiplicity of laws has meant more loopholes by which criminals escape punishment.

Fewer laws, more specific in character, with strict enforcement and certainty of serving sentences once conviction has been secured, would, in the opinion of many persons experienced in criminal matters, be the best remedy for crime.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE BRINGS DISASTER

We have heard many tales of the serious consequences wrought through the near proximity of gasoline and lighted cigarettes, but when a horse's tail enters the train of incidents, the effect apparently is overwhelming, judging from the story received from Evanston, Illinois.

There, a milk truck driver, smoking a cigarette, parked in the dairy yard to refill the gasoline tank. Fuel overflowed on the ground at the moment he flicked ashes from his cigarette. Instantly, the gasoline flared up and ignited his coat, which, in hastily removing, he threw on the tail of one of 12 horses in a nearby barn. This annoyed the animal so that he switched his burning tail, tossing the flaming coat onto a pile of hay.

Result: A policeman managed to lead out the frightened horses, but the fire loss included the barn, five trucks and some wagons; damage, $10,000. The National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that careless use of matches—and smoking—caused fire losses of over $29,000,000 in 1927, while petroleum and its products resulted in losses of more than $12,500,000. It is well to treat these products with due care.

THE ELECTRIC YEAR.

Nineteen-twenty-eight was a year of marked progress and achievement for the electric industry. In all phases of operation it further improved the efficiency and economy of its service to the public.

Wherever possible, refinancing was carried out at lower interest costs, resulting in large savings, that have, in general, been passed on to the customers by reduced rates throughout the nation.

Much additional area was added to that served by electric utilities, and many more communities now have the advantage of adequate electric power. A number of important construction projects were executed to the further enhancement of service.

In the new and outstanding field of farm electrification, great progress was made. Scientific research, carried on over a period of years, has definitely established that if electricity be properly employed in agriculture, it will more than pay for itself in comfort, efficiency, speed, certainty of operation, economy and labor saving. As rapidly as is practical, new farm areas are being given electric service.

The outlook for the future is encouraging. The industry's great past triumphs are but a beginning; there are vast potentialities for electric power yet to be exhausted. In the farm, the home and in industry new uses are appearing almost daily. At the root of our industrial expansion is the tireless hand of electricity. Without it, our great modern civilization could never have developed.

FEED THE BIRDS.

All humane persons and lovers of bird life are urged to begin at once to feed the birds as the season of the year is here when it is impossible for them to pick a living from the bare ground. Crumbs and refuse from the table, which would find its way to the garbage can anyway, can be utilized for the purpose of sustaining the life of the birds now that they are unable to pick their own food.

Feed the birds now and they will repay you next spring with their glad songs of appreciation that they and you are alive to witness the re-awakening of the earth again.

FEDERAL VS. STATE ENFORCEMENT.

The Culpeper Star says: "From a statement last week in the Richmond and other Virginia daily papers, in which prohibition enforcement needs are stressed by Rev. David Hepburn, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, a comparison of the manner in which the Eighteenth Amendment was enforced last year by the Federal forces, under Captain R. Q. Merrick, and Virginia agents, under Attorney-General John R. Saunders, reveals a situation from which Andy Mellon's department—under a Republican administration—can doubtless secure small satisfaction.

"Federal enforcement work, in Virginia, under Captain R. Q. Merrick: From December 1, 1927, to December 1, 1928, there were 304 arrests, 1,380 stills captured, 36,317 gallons of liquor confiscated, 747,358 gallons of mash or beer destroyed, 85 automobiles confiscated, valued at $40,263.00. The value of property seized and destroyed was estimated at $605,227.45.

"Work of the Law Enforcement Department of Virginia, under Attorney-General John R. Saunders: Arrests made, 3,196; stills captured, 2,143; mash destroyed, 2,008,870 gallons; liquor seized, 36,729 gallons; automobiles, 397. The value of property destroyed was estimated at $915,620.75."

Shifting tax burdens from one class of property or one class of citizens to another brings no real tax relief—it generally means a greater total of taxes.

SANDWICHES MAY BE FOUNDATION FOR LUNCH

Children always like sandwiches and so they may well be made the foundation of the school day luncheon whether it must be taken to school or whether it is eaten at home. In many schools when one hot dish is prepared for the children who cannot go home, this dish is often a nourishing soup. Nothing makes a more satisfactory noonday meal than a bowl of cream soup made with milk, and appetizing sandwiches. The home luncheon also may well consist of the same; cream of corn soup, cream of potato and carrot soup, or any other soup with real food value, sandwiches, and a dish of fruit form a nourishing

Bringing in Customers and Promoting Sales

Merchandise well displayed in your windows will bring in customers from the street. Merchandise well displayed in your home newspaper will bring in customers from every section of your trade territory. This has been proven over and over again by the big, successful merchants of the country.

Big, successful merchants, invariably, are men who realize the great purchasing power of their trade territory, and who go after this business—just as persistently as the mail-order houses, by representing interesting merchandise offerings regularly through the local newspaper.

The great majority of these merchants have a certain appropriation or fixed amount to invest in this sales promotion work each year. The big city stores invest from 5 per cent to 7 per cent of the previous year's gross sales in their promotion work or advertising.

The successful merchant of the smaller cities and towns invest from 3 to 4 per cent of the previous year's gross sales in presenting their merchandise offerings regularly to the people of their community.

This method of regulating advertising expenditures has absolutely proven itself and is bound to produce an increase in sales each year with a merchant who adopts it.

The increase doesn't necessarily show the first week or the first month after the advertising starts; but it does show and show big after the advertising has been carried regularly and persistently throughout the entire year.

If this 3 per cent or 4 per cent were spent all at one time it would not produce the desired results, but continued over the entire year—every day or every other day or every week, it is the surest, safest and speediest method in the world for bringing in customers and promoting sales.

well-balanced meal.

Meat is a favorite sandwich filling and it has the added advantage of furnishing a protein of high quality which is so necessary in the diet of the growing child.

Thin slices of roast pork or lamb, or of roast or boiled beef or ham are always acceptable. These meats placed between thin slices of whole wheat or white bread will stimulate an appetite, which is perhaps not over-insistent in the child who wants to get out of doors to play.

Or these same meats may be minced and moistened with a little milk or mayonnaise and used as a spread.

A double deck sandwich may have the filling for one layer of sliced minced meat and the other of finely chopped vegetables. Chopped carrots and celery moistened with mayonnaise make a good vegetable filling.

Variety and daintiness should be the watchwords of the one who puts up the school luncheon. You may be sure your child is not eating his lunch if the sandwiches are always the same. If you used sliced cold meat one day, mince it and add some seasoning which will make it different.

Ag apple or an orange should appear in every lunch box. They are needed for their minerals and their vitamins.

WALLACE LYNN WINS HIGH HONORS

Manassas Boy Wins Scholastic Honors At Hargrave And Wins Four Athletic Letters.

Those who saw Wallace Lynn play basketball, football, baseball and take part in track meets prior to his enrollment at Hargrave Military Academy predicted a great athletic future for him, while others there were who opined that he would also shine scholastically. Those who pinned their faith in him on each count appear to have been right and his accomplishments have brought fame to Manassas and Prince William County.

Wallace Lynn has made good with a big G. He is an officer of the student government, membership in which is limited to honor students in the school; is first sergeant of one of the companies; he has won his letter in four branches of athletics and is looked up to as a four-letter man, and, according to reports in "Latest Happenings at Hargrave Military Academy," he is one of the most versatile students in the school.

In writing of his athletic prowess, the article in part says, in speaking of basketball candidates:

A CHUCKLE OR TWO

Helpful Wife.

The young doctor sat wearily down in his easy chair, and asked: "Has my darling been lonely?" "Oh, no, at least, not very. I've found something to do with my time." "Oh, what is it?"

"I'm organizing a class! A lot of women are in it, and we're teaching each other to cook."

"What do you do with the things you cook?"

"We send them to the neighbors." "Dear little woman," he said, kissing her, "always thinking of your husband's practice."

It Couldn't Be.

The wife of a famous English bishop, whom we shall call John Smith, was recently very ill, and required a serious operation. As she recovered from the anesthetic, she was heard to murmur: "Am I in heaven? Am I in heaven? No, there's John."—Christian Register.

Used To It.

Attorney (to woman witness after cross-examination)—I hope I haven't troubled you with all these questions. Witness—Not at all—I have a small boy of six at home.—Le Moustique, Charlene.

Wife's Way.

"Does your wife have her own way in the house?"

"I'll say she does. Why, she even writes up her diary a week ahead of time."—Tawney Kat.

So Elusive.

Bachelor (dreamily)—Sometimes I yearn for the peace and comfort of married life.

Married Friend—I do, that all the time.

Cutting Down the Conversation. "Why do you dance so often with my friend, Fiddlebrane?"

"He likes to talk," answered Miss Cayenne. "I like music and I can't hear the band play unless I can keep his mind on his feet."

Precaution.

The family was seated at the table enjoying dessert. "I think I'll take my tomorrow's share now," said father jokingly, as he helped himself to a second slice of cake.

Jean, an only child, glanced covetously at the one remaining piece on the plate.

"I'll take my piece now, too," she said quickly, "before father gets his day-after-tomorrow's share."

Compromise.

A village bachelor, who had long been the object of many a spinster's ambitions, finally succumbed to the charms of a very willing widow; but on his wedding morning he failed to turn up.

The next day he called at his bride-to-be's house, looking rather sheepish. "Jack, dear," screamed the widow, who was well-nigh frantic with anxiety, "why didn't you come for me yesterday at noon?"

"We-e-ll," drawled the bachelor slowly, "I intended to, but it looked too much like rain to me."

An Object Before Him.

Henry—You will never get the dog to mind you, my dear.

The Mrs.—I will with patience. You were just as troublesome yourself at first.

Up To Dine.

"Come up to dinner, Joe, if you can stand a simple meal."

"You mean if I don't mind taking pot luck."

"Well—er—better say can luck. My wife belongs to an afternoon bridge club."—Boston Transcript.

Not Fit To Drive.

The taxi suddenly came to a halt in the middle of the street.

"What is the matter?" called the man from the back seat.

"I thought the young lady said stop," answered the chauffeur.

"Well, she wasn't speaking to you, was she?"

CAPITAL DISTRICT KIWANIS MEETS

Trustees Met In Alexandria On Monday. Robert A. Hutchison Represented Local Club.

The mid-winter meeting of the trustees and executive committee of Capital District Kiwanis International, in which district the Kiwanis Club of Manassas falls, was held on Monday in Alexandria at the George Mason Hotel. At the same time and place the annual conference of club presidents and secretaries was convened. The general sessions were presided over by District Governor Harry F. Kimball, of Washington, and more than 150 Kiwanians were in attendance, the local organization being represented by Robert A. Hutchison, vice-president, and E. G. Sigman, secretary.

Preceding the general session the new governor was installed by immediate past governor Robert W. Kime. Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock, presided over by Elliott F. Hoffman, president of the Alexandria Club, and following this there were various joint meetings and conferences throughout the afternoon.

A report of this mid-winter meeting will be given members of the local organization by vice-president R. A. Hutchison, at the regular meeting on Friday evening, according to an announcement today by T. E. Didlake, president.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Manassas Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. Emma Herron Tuesday, January 22, at 2:30 p. m.

This will be the annual meeting at which the election of officers for the ensuing year will take place, and a full attendance is urged in the notice given by Mrs. Frank Peters, secretary.

RICHMOND FEDERAL BANK SHOWS GAINS

Volume of 1928 Business Record
For Institution; Profits
$748,276.

Richmond, Jan. 17—George J. Seay, governor of the Federal Bank of Richmond, announced that the volume of business of the bank in 1928 was the heaviest in the institution's history, exceeding the 1927 volume in all major departments.

The balance of net profits, after payment of dividends from the year's operation was $748,276.55, of which $74,827.65 was carried to surplus and $673,448.90 was paid to the Government as franchise tax, he said.

Mr. Seay said that the total gross earnings of the bank were $2,857,- 648.38, compared with $2,086,302.69 in 1927, and net earnings were $1,- 455,256.04, as against $706,002.22 last year. Net profit for the year after reserves, depreciation and miscellaneous charges amounted to $1,118,- 959.53, as compared with $497,710 the preceding year.

Managing poultry for profit isn't the easiest thing in the world, but it is a possibility on most every farm if proper methods are used. Good stock is the first essential to a profitable farm flock.

SURE WAY TO STOP COUGHING

This Prescription Relieves Almost Instantly.

Coughing is usually due to causes which patent medicines and cough syrups do not reach. However, Thoxine, a famous doctor's prescription relieves coughing with the very first swallow. It works on an entirely different theory, has a double action, relieves the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause.

Unlike most cough medicines, Thoxine contains no chloroform, dope, or other harmful drugs. Safe for the whole family. Also excellent for sore throat. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c, and $1.00. Sold by Coker Pharmacy and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

Commissioner's Sale of valuable real estate near Manassas, Virginia.

By virtue of a certain decree of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Va., entered in vacation in the cause of W. S. Mundy, et al., v. W. Edgar Leedy, et al., on the 12th day of January, 1929, the undersigned Commissioners, thereby appointed, will offer for sale, at public auction, in front of the Peoples National Bank of Manassas, in the Town of Manassas, Prince William County, Va., on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1929, at 11 o'clock A. M., of that day, a certain tract or parcel of land together with the buildings and other improvements thereon, situate on the Centerville Road just without the corporate limits of the Town of Manassas, in Manassas Magisterial District, Prince William County, Va., containing eight (8) acres, three (3) roads and thirty (30) poles, being the same property that was conveyed to the late J. W. Leedy by O. K. Brown, et al., by deed bearing date of November 1, 1918, and of record among the land records of said County in Deed Book 71, page 427, and being the same property on which the said J. W. Leedy, resided at the time of his death. The above-described property is exceptionally well located and will make a most desirable home. The dwelling is wired for electricity and all buildings are in good condition.

TERMS OF SALE: The said real estate will be sold for one-third cash, one-third in one year, and one-third in two years, the deferred payments to be evidenced by the interest-bearing notes of the purchaser to be executed on the day of sale and title to be withheld until the whole of the purchase money is paid. The property to be kept insured by the purchaser, in the meantime, to the full extent of its insurable value as additional security for the deferred payments, with the right on the part of the purchaser to pay all cash, if he so elects.

THOMAS H. LION,
C. A. SINCLAIR,
FRANK S. TAVENNER, Jr.,
L. W. GRAVES, Jr.,
T. E. DILLAKE,
Commissioners of Sale.

I, George G. Tyler, Clerk of the Circuit Court aforesaid, do certify that bond with approved security has been executed in my office as directed by the aforesaid decree.

GEO. G. TYLER,
35-4t. Clerk.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

Under and by virtue of a deed of trust executed by Thos. E. Williams and Minnie Williams, his wife, on the 5th day of December, 1925, and recorded among the land records of Prince William County, Virginia, in deed book 81, page 374, to secure the payment of two certain notes fully described in said deed of trust, default having been made in the payment of the said notes so secured, the undersigned trustee shall, at the request of the holder of the said notes, offer for sale at public auction, in front of the Peoples National Bank Building, Manassas, Virginia, at 11 o'clock A. M., Saturday, February 2, 1929, the following described land, to wit:

That certain tract, lot or parcel of land lying and being situated in Cotes Magisterial District, Prince William County, Virginia, facing on the Bellair Mills Road, and adjoining the lands of W. B. Lynn, Thos. E. Williams, French Carney and the Murphy land, and containing 25 acres, it being a portion of the tract of land conveyed to said Thos. E. CARD OF THANKS.

The family of R. A. Wilson wish to express their sincere thanks to their friends and neighbors for their help and expression of sympathy in their late bereavement.

In Memoriam.

In loving remembrance of our dear father, Mr. C. T. Gallahan, of Dumfries, who departed this life October 28, 1928.

A loving father, so good and kind,
No friend on earth like him we'll find;
Sad was the home on that unhappy day,
When God called our dear father away.

Dear is the grave where he is laid,
Sweet his memory that will never fade.
Part of our lives lies buried deep
Under the sod where our father sleeps.

By his loving daughters,
MRS. MARY E. WISE,
MRS. MATTIE SLINGERLAND.

The Voice To Heed.

Now through the New Year's opening door,

There comes the Master's loving voice,

"Deny thyself, take up thy cross,
And follow Me," make Me thy choice;

Come follow, follow Me."

And now how shall we answer Him?

Your heart must answer, so must mine;

We cannot hush that pleading voice,
"With its command from man, divine,"

"Come follow, follow Me."

"Fear not," comes also from those lips,

"For I have overcome the world,"

And naught can snatch you from my hand,

"Though 'gainst you fiery darts be hurled,

While you are following me.

"And rich will be your recompense,"

The precious fish brought to the shore,

Eternal life for you, for them,

Joys here and now and evermore.

If you will follow me."

F. B. Stone.

MRS. S. W. BURDGE BURIED.

(Contributed.)

Mrs. S. W. Burdge died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walker Merchant, on December 26, 1928.

Mrs. Burdge was born on September 9, 1841, and was the daughter of Rev. Levi Hazen, of the Methodist Church. She was an active member of the W. C. T. U., having once served as president of that organization. She was an active member of the United Brethren Church. Her presence and works among us will be missed in the town of Manassas.

Mrs. Burdge is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Walker Merchant; grandchildren and great grandchildren. Funeral services were held at the United Brethren Church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Lee E. Sheaffer, assisted by Rev. George Hasel, pastor of the M. E. Church, South.

In Memoriam.

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear father, W. H. Fletcher, who departed this life fourteen years ago January 14, 1914.

No one knows the thought of sorrow
For those whom we love so well,
Only those who have lost can tell.
Broken hearts were caused, dear father,

Many tears were shed in vain.
When your life was so quickly taken,
And we did all we could to save you.

You are missed so much, dear father,
Since you joined the many dead,
But all are traveling on life's journey,
And you are just one step ahead.
May those that are left behind you,
Seek a share in that bright home,
That is beyond the resurrection,
When He is on His throne.

By his loving daughter,
DAISIE FALLS.

The Manassas Journal's Complete Agricultural Service
By DAN VAN GORDER

Questions of lawns, gardens and general farming are discussed in this department each week. Readers of The Manassas Journal are invited to use this new column for the answer to their question and the solution of their problems. Address all inquiries to The Manassas Journal Information Bureau, Van Gorder News Service, Manassas, Virginia.

VEGETABLE SPRINKLING SYSTEMS.

The lack of proper rainfall at needed intervals during the growing season is one of the major problems of the truck gardener. Many crops are seriously impaired because of deficient moisture at a certain time in its growth, which supplied would represent the difference between a profitable crop and a distant loss perhaps. It is probably that the removal of the once dense forests has caused a depreciation in our annual rainfall or at least, has interfered with the more even distribution of the precipitation during the growing season. Certain it is that crop producers, especially those growing vegetable and small fruit crops, are almost annually faced with the necessity of supplying artificial rainfall to the growing plants, or seeing the yields materially reduced.

Outside the ditch irrigation regions of the far west, there have been many experiments made with the various methods of irrigation. The lack of sufficient water supplies makes the ditch method impractical in many regions. To date the overhead sprinkling system has proved the most economical to install, the cheapest to operate and the most effective for substituting for natural rainfall.

New Jersey is leading the states in installation of sprinkling irrigation systems. A survey recently conducted by the state experiment station revealed sprinkling systems of one acre or more on 346 farms, and these, 261 had permanent systems installed on 35 to 40 farms of that state. The average acreage per farm under irrigation is about eight acres. The area however, runs as high as 242 acres on one farm. Eighty-seven of the farms have 100 per cent irrigation of their acreage.

According to surveys made of various regions where irrigation sprinkling systems have been installed, lettuce proved the leading crop grown, with spinach, celery, beets, carrots, string beans, cabbage, onions, radishes and cauliflower following in order.

The overhead system is highly recommended because of the cheaper installation costs and the simplicity with which it operates. Then, too, by suspending the pipe lines from posts little space is required by the entire system, cultivation being possible over the entire area under irrigation.

The average irrigation from the systems now in use ranged from 7 to 100 times each season. This indicates how valuable an aid these systems are to crop production. These artificial rainfalls, of course, are determined by the specific crop and the amount of natural rainfall. Like greenhouse production in comparison with outside growing, the artificial systems require some experimenting in each locality, depending on the soil types and various other conditions, to reach the stage of maximum use without injuring the crops by over irrigation.

Statistics taken from a wide range of installed watering plants, it is estimated that total costs per acre for installing these systems are near $354. These figures also indicate that where the owner does his own work of installation, the cost may be reduced to $300 an acre. The annual operating expenses were found to be about $25 an acre, with repair bills totalling around $3.50 an acre each year.

A six-horse power gasoline engine will operate a pump delivering 60 gallons of water per minute, which will provide sufficient irrigation for one acre.

To be profitable, the acreage under irrigation must be subjected to intensive cultivation. This requires continual cropping during the entire season, fitting each seasonal crop into the program in such a manner as to utilize the space during the entire season.

Many growers hesitate to embark on the artificial watering system, installation, fearing the increase in produce will not meet the costs incurred. Where vegetables are grown for commercial purposes on areas of one acre or more, and in regions where crops are usually restricted because of deficient rainfall at certain times during the summer, the installation of an overhead irrigation system will pay for itself in one season and leave a neat profit besides. Not only are yields higher, but the quality of the products is raised materially.

Two requisites are needed in determining the merits, or rather the practicability of installing a sprinkling system. (1) Soil should be rich enough to maintain the added demand for heavier cultivation and cropping that will follow. (2) Marketing demands, whether local or shipped, should be substantial and permanent enough to justify plans for the future.

Two sources of water supply may be used, flowing water from nearby streams, or from wells. This consideration is important.

Barring crop destruction from storms and natural causes, irrigation systems afford the grower almost complete insurance against crop failures from droughts, a problem of no little value where the activities of the farm are almost exclusively centered in the growing of vegetables and small fruits.

Forced crops and boosted yields from artificial watering of crops are sufficient rewards to lure any commercial vegetable grower into an investigation of the costs and probable returns from an irrigation plant for independence over Nature's supply of rainfall.

Questions Answered.

Q. Is it safe to use seed corn that has been exposed to freezing temperatures since storing? Do you advise purchase of new seed corn each year or saving from own crop?—L. F. Tiffin, Ohio.

A. Seed corn properly dried before storage will not be injured by low temperatures. In fact, tests have shown that corn with a moisture content of 10 to 14 per cent will withstand a temperature of 190 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, while improperly dried corn with higher moisture content will be rendered unfit for seed purposes by a temperature of freezing. Purchase of new, certified seed will prove highly profitable if home grown seed is poor quality. Selection from the standing stalk is the only safe method for the corn grower. Otherwise, buy seed of known quality.

Q. Will the use of a milking machine increase milk production? We have heard many conflicting reports for and against the use of machines.—Dairyman, Red Key, Ind.

A. Leading dairymen are almost unanimous in claims that the use of milking machines increases milk production excepting with rare individual cows. Milking machines are profitable and practical. Where the herd is large enough to afford their adoption, dairymen will find decreased labor costs and increased efficiency and milk quantity sufficient to pay for the machines and leave a neat profit besides.

CHEVROLET OUTPUT GROWS.

Chevrolet Motor Company has established as its 1929 production quota 1,250,000 passenger car and truck units, according to James E. Bradford, of Hynson & Bradford, who has just returned from Washington, where he was in conference with factory and zone sales executives.

Mr. Bradford was enthusiastic in his comment on the meeting which drew into Washington 500 dealers from Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

At the afternoon meeting Mr. Bradford said M. D. Douglas, Assistant General Sales Manager, made the unqualified prediction that not only would Chevrolet build 1,250,000 automobiles during the present year, but that the cars would be sold as quickly as they were produced. Last year, according to Mr. Bradford, Chevrolet sustained its position as the world's largest automobile manufacturer with a production of 1,200,000 automobiles.

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

represents 4 years of Development and over a Million miles of Testing

Never has a new motor car come to the public more thoroughly proved in every detail than The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History.

Years ago, the Chevrolet Motor Company designed and built its first experimental six-cylinder motor. This far-sighted step was taken because Chevrolet engineers knew that the six-cylinder motor is inherently the most perfectly balanced motor—the ideal power plant to meet the growing public demand for greater reserve power, faster getaway and, above all—smooth, quiet performance.

During the last four years, over a hundred six-cylinder motors—representing every conceivable type—were built by Chevrolet engineers and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground. This constituted one of the greatest series of tests ever conducted with any automobile. From time to time, the experimental models were torn down for inspection, redesigning and further testing—until the present motor was developed and pronounced correct.

While the new six-cylinder motor was in process of development, other Chevrolet engineers were perfecting other parts of the chassis. And another great automotive organization—the Fisher Body Corporation—was devoting its gigantic resources to the creation of the finest, sturdiest and most beautiful bodies ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

As a result, the Outstanding Chevrolet offers an order of well-balanced excellence that is extraordinary in the low-price field. From every standpoint—power, speed, smoothness, acceleration and quietness—its performance is truly amazing. Its handling ease and roadability are exceptional. Its economy of operation is so great that it delivers better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline. And its outstanding beauty, smartness and luxury are exciting widespread admiration.

You owe it to yourself to see and inspect this remarkable car. Come in today!

STATE CHAMBER DIRECTORS MEET

Annual Meeting To Be Held In Roanoke February 7. Program To Be Fixed.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 17.—Directors of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce have set February 7 as the date for the annual meeting of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce in Roanoke, and Lawson H. Cooke, general secretary of the Virginia Chamber is mailing notices of the meeting to the more than 2,000 members.

Reports of the officers of the organization, the election of a percentage of the directorate, and determination of a program for the coming year are among the regular features. Directors whose terms expire at this meeting include Louis T. Dobie, of Norfolk, representing the second Congressional District; G. Cleveland Wright, of Petersburg, Fourth Congressional District; Junius P. Fishburn, of the sixth district, and president of the organization; C. Page Waller, Jr., of Alexandria, eighth district; C. S. Andersen, of Hot Springs, tenth district, and the following directors at large: Richard Crane, of Westover; E. A. Hults, of Saltville; H. B. McCormac, of Winchester; Hollis Knecht, of Charlottesville; Thomas P. Thompson, of Norfolk; Bradford H. Walker, of Richmond, and Julien H. Hill, of the same city.

TONNAGE INCREASES AT HAMPTON ROADS

Increase In Collection Due To Increased Importation of Many Products.

Hampton Roads, Virginia, Jan. 16.—December, 1928, saw substantial pegs of progress driven into the record of the port of Hampton Roads according to a review of the month made by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

The closing of the books for the past year disclosed that collections at the Norfolk custom house for tonnage tax and dutiable imports had reached the unprecedented total of $2,443,155 for 1928, an increase of $1,247,942 over 1927, or more than double. Newport News, the other port that makes up Hampton Roads, also showed an increase, the figures for 1928 being $314,770.12; against $117,840.28 for the previous year. The total collections for the entire State of Virginia for the year aggregated $5,592,049.20 against $3,678,391.18 for 1927. The increase in collections at Hampton Roads this year was due to the increased importation of pig aluminum, sugar and other foreign products unloaded from ships here and distributed to other parts of the country. The collections on tonnage tax imposed on vessels also showed an increase, but the amounts collected from this source were not as great as those from dutiable import and large importations of raw material from foreign shores.

The value of imports, to which those interested in Hampton Roads point with great pride, reached the unprecedented total for Newport News and Norfolk, of $32,288,297. Norfolk's imports increased in value approximately $10,000,000 to $29,067,388. Newport News' imports fell off slightly, but exports for that place showed a good increase, while Norfolk's fell off about the same amount. Exports still are valued at more than five times the imports through Hampton Roads.

STATE ARRESTS IN DRY WAR GAIN

Property Seized In 1928 Valued
At $915,620, An Increase
Of $67,101.

Richmond, Jan. 16.—Gains in arrests and amounts of property and liquor seized were made in prohibition law enforcement work in Virginia in 1928, as compared to 1927, according to records of the State prohibition enforcement offices.

Last year there were 3,196 arrests as compared with 2,768 for the preceding year, an increase of 428. The number of stills seized increased from 1,742 in 1927 to 2,150 in 1928, an increase of 408.

Liquor taken by State inspectors in 1928 amounted to 36,729 gallons, as compared to 35,556 gallons the preceding year, an increase of 1,173 gallons.

Property confiscated in 1928 was valued at $915,620.75, as compared to $847,518.90 for the preceding year. This was an increase of $67,101.85. There were 400 cars captured in 1928, as compared to 343 in 1927. The amount of mash or beer destroyed last year was 2,008,870 gallons, as compared to 1,727,988 reported for the preceding year. State inspectors last year also confiscated 10 horses, 5 wagons and 2 boats. Last year was declared by officials of the State department to be probably the most successful year in prohibition administration in Virginia.

IMPORTANT MEETING FRIDAY.

All members of the Fire Department of Manassas are asked to meet with Chief Jesse Crosby and the town manager, at the latter's office in the Fire House, tomorrow, Friday, January 18, at 7:30 p. m.

A discussion of the reorganization of the department will come up and the purchase of new and modern fire fighting equipment will be considered.
