TRAIN TAKES TOLL AT R. R. CROSSING

Hurrying Across Tracks At Nokesville, Vincent Smith, Colored, Instantly Killed.

The life of Vincent Smith, colored, of Greensville, Fauquier County, was snuffed out early yesterday morning when a north bound C. & O. train struck the automobile in which he was driving, as Smith dashed into the tracks without noticing the approaching train.

Smith, who was employed by J. K. Brown, at Bristow, only a short time before the accident had left there in his auto for a hurried visit to his mother in Greensville, who is ill and for whom he had some medicine. In his anxiety not to be away from his employment too long it is believed that he took advantage of the early morning hour, 6:30 o'clock, freedom from traffic and in his haste failed to see the oncoming train as he neared the crossing at Nokesville. The deceased was highly thought of by his employer who described him as an exceptional worker and a splendid character.

D. M. CHICHESTER ASKS SECOND TERM

Popular Member of House of Delegates Announces Candidacy For Re-election.

HAS MADE SPLENDID RECORD FOR DISTRICT

Won 17 Out of 18 Precincts In Prince William And Recorded Large Majority In Stafford.

Dan M. Chichester, member of the House of Delegates from the legislative District composed of Prince William and Stafford Counties, yesterday announced himself as a candidate for reelection subject to the Democratic primary on August 4.

The announcement will be well received by Democrats and many Republicans of both counties, according to statement of party leaders yesterday who declared that Mr. Chichester who received one of the largest majorities ever given a Democratic candidate in 1927, is more popular now than then, and the work accomplished by him in the House of Delegates will make him a stronger candidate than before.

Dan M. Chichester is one of the youngest members of the general assembly. He is a successful farmer and breeder of registered Guernsey cattle; vice president of the People's Bank of Stafford; a director of the Virginia State Dairymen's Association, and president of the Rappahannock Valley Cow Testing Association. He served in the army during the World War.

Mr. Chichester has been active in the present legislature and has accomplished much for his counties as a member of the Roads and Internal Navigation committee; the committee on Special, Private and Local Legislation; committee on Public Property as well as on the committee on Officers and Offices at the Capitol.

He was a member of the committee that drafted the bill providing for the addition of 1,500 miles of road to the State Highway System, about 16 miles of which was allocated to Prince William County.

He was also active in behalf of the "Cross-County Road" in Prince William and the "walk-way" on the county bridge at Falmouth and in addition to this found time to become a patron of a number of special bills providing for the local needs of the people in various parts of the District.

It is not believed that Mr. Chichester will have any opposition in the Democratic primary, but there are strong rumors of Republican opposition in the fall election.

By a special process, all of the white paint in this edifice has been cleaned, and the ceiling, a pea green, has been repainted. BATTLE MARKERS
PLACED AT MANASSAS

Markers Give Brief Account of First And Second Battles In '61 And '62.

Colonel Bryan Conrad and M. F. Pleasants, of the history division of the state conservation commission, directed the actual placing of about 15 markers on battlefields about Manassas, it was learned yesterday from Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, director of the history division.

Dr. Eckenrode, under whose supervision the markers have been placed, said that they would contribute much to the outstanding of tourists of the significant events which occurred in or near Manassas during the War Between the States. The markers will give a brief account of the first and second battles of Manassas and of the Battle of Groveton. The first Battle of Manassas, which occurred in July, 1861, was the first of importance in the War Between the States. For a time it caused considerable consternation in Washington, since it was fought not far from the gates of the seat of the federal government and resulted somewhat badly for its soldiers.

Second Manassas occurred in August, 1862, after Jackson left Lee on the Rappahannock River and went around Pope's army to Manassas Junction, where he destroyed Pope's supplies.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Child Health Day was observed throughout the country yesterday. The movement was sponsored by the Child Health Association, and was the subject of the first proclamation issued by President Hoover. Communities all over the Nation are awakening to the influence of playgrounds on children and are adding to their parks and recreation centers. Childhood is the age of play. Every normal child finds growth and vigor in the wholesome activities of the playground. The necessity for outdoor games and sports has become so fully recognized that those children without play facilities are today counted as victims of public mistreatment. The recreation phase of Child Health Day, while it is being especially emphasized this year, will by no means monopolize the attention of the thousands of homes, schools and institutions that are observing the occasion. General health and medical care will receive due consideration. Child Health Day will be observed in Prince William County on Friday, May 10, with a health pageant given by the five-point children of all the schools of the county. The celebration will be held at the Manassas High School and elaborate preparations are being made for the pleasure and comfort of the host of children and visitors expected to attend.

THE TAX-REDUCING FAIRY TALE.

Just how the people can be fooled year after year by fairy tales of tax reduction which will be secured by creating a new tax is hard to understand. Following are a few illustrations of "new taxes" which did not reduce any old taxes. We just pay the new tax plus increased general taxes. Ten years ago Oregon passed the first gasoline tax. Today every state in the union including Oregon has a greatly increased gas tax which is estimated will collect $450,000,000 "special taxes" from motor car owners in 1929. Already a large part of this revenue is diverted to other than highway purposes, but all other taxes climb. Taxes upon insurance companies originally intended to cover only cost of insurance supervision, have now been increased to a point where the money thus raised is used for everything under the sun, and only four per cent of it goes to supervise insurance, says the Boston Standard. Many of our "tax reducing politicians" are suggesting a state income tax as a "tax reducer". Also taxes of various kinds of so-called intangible property—money in the bank, mortgages, bonds, stocks—over and above all taxes which such property now pays or has paid while it was being saved. We have license taxes of too many kinds to enumerate, inheritance taxes which take a large part of some person's savings of a lifetime, federal income taxes, state, city, county, school district, road district and innumerable other taxes. Don't let anybody tell you that a "new tax" will "reduce" any old tax which you now pay.

Every new tax makes added public employees who eat up the revenue produced by new taxes.

LIGHT'S GOLDEN JUBILEE.

From June 1 to October 21, the Golden Jubilee, the international celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the incandescent lamp will be held at Atlantic City. In the words of Preston Arkwright, president of National Electric Light Association, such a confederation has never been held before and probably never will be held again. On the last night, to be called the "Night of Light", the first international radio-broadcasting program is to be held with such distinguished men as President Hoover, Ford, Lindbergh and many foreign notables, paying their respects to Thomas Edison. All important organizations within the electric industry and many outside bodies will cooperate. Unique electrical decorations will be used. This is a fitting honor for Thomas Edison, who, by the invention of the incandescent light changed the whole development of domestic and business life. Henry Ford has made a five-million-dollar gift for a technical school and museum to house the Edison collection. Thus the achievements that are to be heralded during the Golden Jubilee will be tangibly preserved, from their modest beginnings to the efficient devices of today. Not only the electric industry, but the entire world, applauds the inventive genius that made the electric light possible.

Press Comment

Restraint of Trade.
Washington Evening Star—The plan to put radio on railway trains warrants an immediate protest from all large pictorial advertisers. With attention riveted on song and story, passengers cannot be expected to give proper consideration to the big signboards along the right of way.

Star Falls Off Ladder.
New Bedford Evening Standard—Reading that one of the lesser celluloid stars got hurt in her home at Hollywood by falling off a ladder, some one has inquired what she was doing on it. Like an ambitious girl, of course, she was trying to climb to the top.

Are Those the Reasons?
Houston Post-Dispatch—Mr. Hoover sees no reason for turning Dr. Cook loose. Both the North Pole and the South Pole have been discovered, and nobody really needs any fake oil stock.

You Can't Win.
New York World—Those of us who saw in prohibition a diminution of speeches had a short-lived joy. We thought that, what with no liquor, there would be fewer banquets, and therefore fewer speeches. Now the silent screen is said to be doomed, and there will be nothing but talkies. You can't win.

"Come Back Tomorrow."
Newcastle Courier—The officials in the police prosecutor's office at Detroit have made an interesting discovery about human nature. When a person comes in to swear out a warrant against a neighbor for some petty offense, they tell him to "come back tomorrow," and they have found that in the vast majority of cases he does not come back at all. In other words, people do revengeful things on impulse that they do not do on second thought. When they have suffered some wrong their first impulse is to get even so they hurry to the prosecutor, but when they are given 24 hours in which to ponder the matter, they usually decide that revenge isn't really worth having. So the warrants go unissued. Somehow that discovery strikes us as a rather encouraging and significant commentary on human nature.

Spoil Sport.
Newark Advocate—Somebody's always taking the joy out of life, and now a Russian scientist is telling it all around that the size of a fish may be known to the last ounce by merely looking at one of its scales.

TOWN TO FIGHT DIRT, FLIES AND MOSQUITOES

Town Manager Announces Clean-up Plans To Become Effective May 8.

"Acting upon the excellent editorial in your issue of April 18th, it is desired to ask the co-operation of the good people of Manassas in a concerted effort to clean up and put all premises in as sanitary condition as may be possible before the beginning of the hot weather and the fly and mosquito season."

With the above object in view it is requested that all piled where the town truck can readily obtain access to the pile.

Beginning Wednesday, May 8th, we will endeavor to devote at least one day each week to the removal of rubbish which has been piled as above requested.

In order to save time for the truck and crew, it is requested that property owners notify the Town Manager or the Town Clerk when their rubbish is ready for removal and in this way avoid the loss of time which would be incurred by having the truck go from house to house and not find the rubbish ready or accessible."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR MAY 5, 1929.

The International Sunday School Lesson for May 5 is, "What Hilkiah Found in the Temple"—II Chronicles 34:1-33.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Mysterious crypts and tunnels and cisterns form a network under the surface of the temple area in Jerusalem; but the Moslems will not permit them to be explored. Many imaginations have been fired by the possibility of discovering their priceless treasures—such as the Ark of the Covenant, the secreted jewels and gold of palace and temple, and still more precious records of the days when Israel was a nation. Sometime, and perhaps sooner than we expect, all these subterranean passages in the Dome of the Rock will be explored, and their long-hidden wonders brought to light.

Nothing will be found, however, more important or sensational than was discovered by Hilkiah the priest, on this identical spot, amidst the rubbish of Solomon's temple, which had been allowed to fall into disrepair. During the reforms and reconstructions of good King Josiah, Hilkiah discovered a copy of the long-neglected Law of Jehovah; and when this was shown to the king, and read to the people, a great revival swept the capital and the country.

In a Time of Slump. Many students find an analogy between the times upon which King Josiah came and those which our world has of late been experiencing. The Hebrew nation had turned from the pursuit of ideals to the worship of materialism. Money and pleasure and personal safety had become the engrossing popular interests. Old fashioned religion had slumped. All the sensual gods of the heathen were in favor. The common level of life was that of the neighboring pagan nations. The prophets were having a hard time of it, Jeremiah especially. Old Israel's true life was in the doldrums. The prevailing standards were frankly heathen.

Nations do sag in that fashion, even as do individuals. The finer things of life—high thinking, self-restraint, sincere worship of God, sweet domesticity—seem at times to go under a cloud. The crass and the noisy, the lawless and the self-indulgent, the starkly fleshly and material, seem to claim preeminence. Their ideas and their doings occupy the public mind. Old standards are forgotten. The experience of the race counts for naught; and the test of the ages are laughed at. Practical paganism holds the throne.

Of course, always there remain faithful souls who do not bend the knee in idolatry. But they seem helpless in the madness of the present. Only when such an occasion arises as led King Josiah to call the nation back to its old allegiance, does the revelation come—that the number of loyal hearts is legion; and that even the materially-minded mob is hungry for something besides husks. The best human ally of righteousness is the deep consciousness in every breast that man was intended for something better than the life of the brute creation. The divine spark cannot be wholly smothered by the grossness of sense-gratification.

Breaking With The Past.

It is a dangerous thing for any people to go back upon its own ancient heritage. We are witnessing in large parts of Asia today the inconsiderate and hasty breaking away from the immemorial usages of the East, in order to adopt those of the West; and the results are by no means all good. Asia has a great past, with traditions which merit conserving. Likewise the United States and Canada possess unique inheritance, which the infiltration of alien ideals has menaced. The things which have made us distinctive are not to be lightly cast aside.

That was the mistake of the Jews. They wanted to be modern and progressive and liberal, and in step with the fashions of their neighbors, so they gradually came to disregard the Law, and the usages which made them "peculiar." Jehovah had placed that badge, "Peculiar People," upon them as a decoration. The people learned to regard it as a sign of inferiority, and sought to cover it up by the "fashionable" ways of the world about them. Thus it came to pass that they had put their Bible on the shelf. They were even worse than the modern Christians to whom the Bible is merely an ornament on the parlor table. Soon the Law given to Moses was completely lost sight of. Books—or, rather scrolls—were not a common possession and when the official temple copies fell into disuse, the Law itself was lost, hidden under the rubbish of indifference and neglect.

The Great Discovery.

Then, of a sudden, under the favoring conditions created by the advent of a new and well-intentioned ruler, the Book of the Law was found by Hilkiah, the priest, while repairs were being made in the temple. A sensation ensued. The old words were read as if they were new. God's record will for Israel came to king and people with the freshness of an overpowering discovery. So, all the while that the nation had been staggering and stumbling along beneath its ever-growing load of foolish selfishness, the clear counsels of Jehovah had been at hand, but neglected. Now, for restoration and revival, it needed only that the people should hear and heed the Law.

Impressive beyond man's power to exaggerate is the parallel with today. Despite unprecedented prosperity, there is an epidemic of unhappiness abroad. Even the craziest of the advocates of a new regime of selfishness, of lawlessness and of sensuality will hardly contend that these modern vogues have enhanced happiness. Nobody will claim that the divorce court, the filthy play and novel, the boot-legger, the night-club and "flaming youth" at all symbolize happiness. They may stand for unrestraint and "personal liberty" and "self-expression," but they certainly do not signify contentment, and that highest attainment of the mortal spirit, peace of heart. Just as Judah's orgy of paganism had palsied the nation's life, and heaped up its miseries, so today's pursuit of jazzism has brought no abiding satisfactions, but only deep distress.

As Josiah sensationally discovered, the way to restoration and to safety and to happiness lay in a reenthronement of the explicit Law of Jehovah. Once let our times find anew the Bible, with its clear and unmistakable remedies for what now ails us, and we, too, shall return to simplicity and sincerity and spiritual serenity. All social problems are matters of adjustment; and, first of all, of adjustment with the Eternal. We shall not do right until we get right. Proper relations with man wait upon relations with God. Not in the multitude of new philosophies and cults, but in forthright obedience to the categorical commands of our Creator shall we find peace.

Out of Hilkiah's discovery of the Book of the Law grew a mighty and purifying national consciousness and religious revival. Wholesale reforms followed as a matter of course. When the people began to serve the Lord their God, they began also to serve their own highest welfare.

Well, Which?

New Orleans Times-Picayune—In London a night club hostess with two daughters married into the peerage was doing time in the hoosgow while "Tex" and "Helen" were turned loose by a jury of their peers over in little old New York. Which should be called the land of democracy?

Too Much Competition.

Richmond Times-Dispatch—A contemporary cynic remarked the other day that there would be no such thing as getting former Presidents to serve as senators-at-large on a salary of $25,000 each so long as Uncle Sam has to compete in the service field with life insurance companies and magazines.

It Hurts.

Atchison Globe—No man in the United States should own a car while owing a shoe or apparel bill. And that's a fact, whether or not it hurts your feelings.

Won't Be as Easy.

Richmond Times-Dispatch—Now that the Mayflower is dismantled, it will be difficult, no doubt, for President Hoover to induce the patriots in public life to attend his week-end conferences.

A FEW RULES ON CARE OF MEAT IN SUMMER

With the advent of summer the housewife should keep in mind a few simple precautions in caring for the family supply of meat, and particularly that which is purchased on Saturday to use over the week-end. The meat is in good condition when it arrives from the market and the housewife can maintain it in this condition if she will follow these few rules laid down by the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

As soon as the meat arrives home, it should be unwrapped and placed in a clean refrigerator. The reason is this: When the meat is wrapped up at the shop a certain amount of air is enclosed in the paper. This air is the same temperature as the air of the shop. If the paper is not removed the cold air of the refrigerator is prevented from reaching the meat. Consequently the surface of the meat spoils.

Meat, as well as every other food, should be protected from contamination.

After meat is cooked there is frequently a large piece left over and it sometimes happens that the housewife puts this into the refrigerator while it is still warm. This is not a good practice because the warm meat heats

The Old Adage and the New "Ad-Age"

The old adage reads: "If a man write a better book or make a mousetrap better than his neighbor, though he build his house in the midst of the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

The new "ad-age" proves that this is not altogether true—having demonstrated absolutely that an article of less merit intelligently and persistently advertised will bring speedy and certain sales while the really superior article without newspaper publicity, will be forgotten and uncalled for. The reason for this is plain.

The public has been trained to respond to the appeal of the advertiser and estimate the merit of an article through the prestige and confidence established in the past by persistent and reliable advertising methods.

Twenty years ago any one predicting the colossal aggregate of business obtained by the mail-order houses through advertising would have been called an idle dreamer.

Not only are the sales of catalog houses amazing, but it is established that fully 50 per cent or one-half of this business was promoted and secured simply by alluring descriptive suggestions—creating the desire and chandise he had no previous intention of buying and of which he had no knowledge.

When the merchant stops to consider that this stupendous business was obtained purely and simply by advertising alone—without the advantage of personal contact, at a cost per family of approximately $3.00 a year to the catalog house as against 9 cents spent by the local merchant to keep it at home, he must realize that to combat successfully the big mail-order house he must use the same weapons—intelligent and persistent advertising in the local newspaper covering his trade territory.

TYPHOID FEVER IS

EXPENSIVE LUXURY

Richmond, April 25.—On February 8, this year, Governor Roosevelt signed a bill which permits a New York town of about 20,000 inhabitants to issue $350,000 of bonds to pay the damages and costs growing out of a typhoid epidemic in the town last summer. Adding $17,500 to the per capita bonded debt of a city is a high price to pay for neglect.

This is the basis for an argument that Dr. Ennion G. Williams, State Health Commissioner, is using with the governing authorities of incorporated towns in the State. The General Assembly, of 1924, passed an act which gives town authorities the right to quarantine their own area and all territory within a half-mile radius of the town. As Dr. Williams tells the town mayors, that the right to quarantine implies the duty to quarantine, and that failure to perform this duty may subject the town to suits for damages in the event that typhoid fever or other filth-borne disease occurs as the result for failure to quarantine.

Herrell Pitches Tight Game As His Team Makes Good
Early Start.

The Haymarket High School team made a good showing on Friday when they trotted out on the field in new base ball suits worn for the first time, and made possible through the faculty and student body of the school.

Haymarket got a good start in the first inning by putting four runs across the plate, but in the third inning Occoquan tied the score by also getting four runs. Haymarket chalked up four more runs which proved not enough as Occoquan batted around to 8. The score remained tied through the eighth inning each team getting one run, but in the closing inning Haymarket broke the tie to win the game by 10 to 9.

Both teams played a good game. Charles of Occoquan getting two doubles and Harrover and Lightner got three hits, each one getting a two-baser. Herrell pitched a wonderful game, and struck out nine men.

Equipped

WHEN a Nash "400" leaves the factory it has been furnished with all items of equipment, including chromium-nickel bumpers, front and rear, hydraulic shock absorbers, tire lock and tire cover. There is no extra charge made thereafter for these items.

So, when you see, in a motor car advertisement, a price quoted, and under it the words "All prices f. o. b. factory," you should make a mental note to ask the salesman for that car how much extra, over and above the f. o. b. price, it will cost you to have a fully equipped car such as the Nash "400." Some dealers (not Nash dealers) charge as much as $50 or $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Investigation will show you conclusively that the Nash way of building and selling a motor car saves you money. You will find cars of competitive makes actually costing considerably more than a Nash "400" when delivered, fully equipped, nothing more to buy!

Another Record!

New Six Cylinder
CHEVROLETS
since Jan. 1st

Sweeping constantly ahead to greater and greater heights of popularity... making and breaking new records of success with impressive regularity... the new Chevrolet Six has established one of the most remarkable records in automotive history—more than 500,000 on the road since January 1st!

Not only does this brilliant accomplishment surpass the greatest record that Chevrolet has ever achieved in the past—but it brings to Chevrolet the significant honor of having built in only four months a greater number of six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer has ever produced in an entire year!

Even with such a record to focus attention upon the outstanding value of the Chevrolet Six—many people still do not appreciate what "a Six in the price range of the four" actually means!

To such persons, consideration of the features responsible for this tremendous popularity will prove a revelation. So read the adjoining column carefully—and then come in and ask for a ride in this sensational six-cylinder car.

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Outstanding Features of the New Chevrolet Six that have created this Tremendous Popularity—

6-Cylinder Smoothness

Due to the finer inherent balance of its six-cylinder motor—the new Chevrolet Six provides that smooth, quiet, flexible performance which is characteristic of the truly fine automobile. At every speed, the power is delivered easily, freely and without annoying vibration.

6-Cylinder Getaway

In sheer brilliance of performance, as well as in smoothness and quietness of operation, the new Chevrolet Six is a revelation. Acceleration is remarkably fast. And a new non-detonating cylinder head eliminates every trace of "lugging."

6-Cylinder Speed

The new Chevrolet Six has speed in abundance—but even more important than its speed is the smooth, quiet, restful comfort you experience at every point on the speedometer. You can open the throttle wide with a feeling of complete security.

Better Than 20 Miles Per Gallon

The marvelous performance of the Chevrolet Six would be exceptional in any car. But in the new Chevrolet Six it is actually sensational—for here it is combined with an economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Exceptional Riding Comfort

Another vital factor that has influenced over a half-million people in their selection of the new Chevrolet Six is its marvelous riding comfort. It travels smoothly over rough roads—and its balance on turns and corners is exceptional.

Beautiful Fisher Bodies

Longer, lower and roomier—finished in attractive, long-lasting colors—and upholstered in rich, deep-tufted fabrics—the new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six introduce into the low-price field an entirely new measure of style and distinction.

Proved Dependability

Tested for more than a million miles on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground—the new Chevrolet Six went into the hands of its owners thoroughly proved in every detail. And now reports of its performance on the highways of the nation pay glowing tribute to its endurance and dependability.

Amazing Low Prices

An achievement that surpasses even the brilliant performance qualities of this sensational six-cylinder car are the prices at which it is offered. Study these prices, and compare them with any other car and you will recognize the remarkable value represented in this Six in the price range of the four!

REDUCING LOSSES FROM INSECTS.

The season of injurious insect activity is here. Between now and the end of the harvest period this fall insects and plant diseases will destroy approximately 50 per cent of the crops that are planted this spring. Regrettable as this loss is, the more important fact is found in the possibilities that the major portion is preventable through personal and community combat against these plant enemies.

With the wider distribution of food products over the world and the marked reduction of bird life there has come a large number of new insects and diseases to attack food crops. While there are several pests that are controlled by one certain process, yet the wide variety of crops and the hundreds of pests prevalent during growing season, render a wide range of knowledge necessary to grow successfully and profitably the ordinary garden and field crops.

While detailed information on methods of control cannot be given in limited space, the following outstanding insects and diseases are listed according to the crops they attack:

ASPARAGUS—Asparagus beetle. Only serious pest of crop. Controlled with arsenate of lead spray.

BEANS—Rust and bacterial wilt are seed-borne diseases. Disease-free seed is important. Mexican-bean beetle most serious pest. Spray or dust with calcium arsenate. Weevils damage dry beans in storage. Fumigation will destroy weevil.

CABBAGE—Healthy plants essential. Aphids controlled with nicotine sulphate spray. Cabbage worms controlled with arsenate of lead spray. Cut worms may be killed with poisoned bran bait. Club root is evidence of diseased soil. Lime applications are recommended.

CELERY—Both early and late blight may be controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture.

CUCUMBERS—Cucumber beetles are the most destructive pest. Calcium arsenate dust is most effective remedy. The same insect destroys watermelons and cantaloupes. Bacterial wilt may be controlled by Bordeaux sprays.

ONIONS—Most losses in onion crop result after harvesting from rot. Few insects or diseases attack crop.

POTATOES—Many potato diseases are transmitted through use of diseased seed. Use of certified seed of known purity is urgent. A systematic spraying schedule with Bordeaux mixture is essential for production of maximum potato yields. Not only are beetles controlled by this spray program, but blight and many other potato ailments.

RHUBARB—This plant is attacked by few diseases and insects. Root or crown rots are controlled by Bordeaux mixture sprays as soon as evidence of disease appears.

SQUASHES AND PUMPKINS—The most destructive pest of these two plants is the squash vine borer. This pest can be avoided by proper sanitation practices, but after it appears the only direct remedy is to remove the borer from the vine with a knife or sharp wire. Spraying with nicotine sulphate solution often destroys eggs before hatching. Squash bugs sometimes inflict heavy damages. Boards placed near hills at night will harbor bugs which can be killed in the morning.

SWEET CORN—Corn-riper aphid necessitates health of stalk to withstand injury. Early plowing of ground will aid control. Ear worms may be controlled by spraying silks with arsenate of lead. Selection of good seed from standing stalk is essential.

TOMATOES—Healthy plants are important. Early blight, late blight, Septoria leaf spot and several forms of rot are controlled by applications of Bordeaux mixture. The same spray with arsenate of lead added will control worms. Wilt diseases are generally evidences of infected soil.

Change of crop to another are only means of avoiding Fusarium wilt. Blossom-end rot is believed to be caused by lack of moisture in soil. Cultivation methods will aid conservation of soil moisture. Misting of vines is often advisable.

Insects and diseases are illy prevalent throughout an entire community. Control of such pests an individual is much more difficult to accomplish if crops are continually exposed to attack from surrounding fields and gardens. Concerted measures by all the growers a given community are necessary.

There is a tendency for gardeners and farmers to experiment in methods of insect control. It is a fact that insect eradication is a life field for rumors of "what will it do." But the fact remains that there are very few specific methods of insect control, and each separate crop often requires a separate method in varying strengths for successful war on insects and diseases.

The best advice is: Don't experiment. Systematic preventive measures are excellent, but after the insect has arrived and begun its work of destruction, immediate and effective eradication means must be adopted. This requires a complete knowledge of the insect and the remedy to protect the plant.

Reduction of the American crop insect's annual toll bill is worth the immediate and concerted attention of every food producer and every food consumer, for we all help pay that bill.

EASE OF BUYING

FOR INSTANCE, in this city your first payment, with your present car included, may be as low as $266, and your monthly payments $49.05.

Your present car will probably cover the entire first payment. The E. M. C. Purchase Plan offers the lowest terms available on the balance.

EASE OF OWNING

On our own streets Essex the Challenger, under competent observation, averaged 23 miles per gallon. The average owner in this city can expect 18 to 20 miles and upward. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering millions of miles of operation, are lowest of any car ever tested.

ESSEX challenges the performance, the style, the luxurious roomy comfort of any car at any price, on the basis that no other gives you back so much for every dollar you put in.

That is why the big buying swing is to Essex. That is why motorists by thousands are switching from past favorites, and trading in their old cars for the big values Essex the Challenger gives. Essex challenges:

IN SPEED—challenging anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. IN FAST GETAWAY—any car regardless of size or price. IN RELIABILITY—60 miles an hour for hour after hour.

Essex offers a completeness of fine car equipment formerly identified only with costly cars, and available, when at all, only as "extras," at extra cost on cars of Essex price.

Check these items when you buy—they represent easily above $100 additional value in Essex.

Wide Choice of Colors at No Extra Cost.

The variety is so great you have almost individual distinction

Standard Equipment Includes: 4 hydraulic shock absorbers—electric gauge for gas and oil—radiator shutters—saddle lamps—windshield wiper—glare proof rear view mirror—electro-lock—controls on steering wheel—all bright parts chromium-plated.

MANASSAS PIRATES BEAT WEST-ENDERS

A tight ball game resulted when the Pirates matched their skill with the West Enders on Saturday and while Browne, pitching for the Pirates, held his opponents to three hits, the blows came at a time when they meant most and this, with untimely errors by his teammates, enabled the West Enders to compile a total of 10 runs on three hits, while the Pirates were chalking up 12 runs on 9 hits.
