CHRISTMAS SEALS PLACED IN COUNTY

Prince William County Branch of Virginia Tuberculosis Association Send Seals To Citizens.

COMMITTEE URGES USE OF THE LITTLE STICKERS

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, County Chairman, Urges Cooperation of All Citizens With District Chairmen.

The annual Christmas seals of the Prince William County branch of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association have been placed on sale in the county. Many citizens in Manassas and throughout the county yesterday received packages containing 100 or more of the seals. The price per 100 is $1. These seals may be used on letters and packages sent out during the Christmas period, and every stick or one uses assists in carrying forward the fight against tuberculosis in Prince William.

What the Seals Do.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, Prince William County chairman, has issued the following regarding the work being done by the county organization:

"Dear Fellow Citizen:

"Do you know the tidings brought by the Bellman on the Christmas Seal?"

"He tells of health for sufferers from tuberculosis, protection for those with whom they associate, sanatorium treatment for those who cannot otherwise have this boon and warm blankets and nourishing food for those who are ill in their comfortless homes."

"During 1928-29 there were twelve sent to the sanatorium from Prince William County; seven returned, five of whom were cured and two are arrested cases under observation of doctors and the county nurse; three are still at the sanatorium, while there were two deaths. Five cases should be sent in the near future."

"Christmas Seals provide the services of a Public Health Nurse, a summer camp for underweight children, a hot lunch for the school child, a free chest examination or other weapons for the good people who need your help."

"We hope you will buy liberally of these little stickers at Christmas time. We may have sent you too many seals, or too few. You must be the judge. They are $1.00 a sheet, or a penny apiece. If you do not wish to take all of them, please return any you do not care to keep with your remittance as we must account for each one."

District Chairmen.

In order that the work of placing the Bellman Seals in circulation may be expedited chairmen have been appointed in each Magisterial district to take care of local placements. They are:

Manassas District, J. P. Lyon; Brentsville District—Mrs. Benjamin Brown; Gainesville District—Miss Mamie Heineken; Coles District—Mrs. James Russell; Occoquan District—Mrs. Egbert Thompson, and Dumfries District—Mrs. J. F. McIner.

STILLS SEIZED WORTH $1,495,954

Illicit Liquor Venders Lose Huge Sums When Paraphernalia Is Destroyed.

The effort to enforce prohibition in Virginia cost alleged illicit liquor manufacturers and vendors about one million and a half dollars during the year ended June 30 last, according to the annual report of the Prohibition Department which was forwarded to Governor Byrd yesterday.

This figure is based upon the estimates of the value of illicit whisky plants, mash tubs and barrels, hose pipe lines and other paraphernalia which were destroyed by dry agents wherever found. In each case these officials report the discovery of a still to the headquarters in Richmond, and give a statement of what they consider its value. Their estimates totaled $1,495,954.39 during the past fiscal year.

There were 17,127 convictions during the year in prohibition cases in a total of 21,706 prosecutions, the report stated; 2,759 illicit whisky stills were captured with a total of 67,194 gallons of the contraband liquor and 1,254 automobiles were seized. The report did not show how many of these machines were returned by the courts to their owners nor how many were ordered sold by the courts of the jurisdictions in which they were seized.

In her program of "Songs of Many Nations", the artist will sing two groups. HAYDONS OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Haydon Mark Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary With Family Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Haydon celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Sunday, December 1st, to which were bidden all of the numerous family, near relatives and a few friends.

The hours were from two until five, but before that time the front was lined with cars and the house running over with laughter and good cheer. The weather even added sunshine to the occasion, although winter had prevailed the two days previous.

The presents were numerous and beautiful, and included many yellow birds from Uncle Sam's mints that came singly and in pairs.

Three-Story Cake.

The dining room, decorated in yellow "mums", showed lavish hospitality in the rich and bountiful dinner provided for all. The most notable feature of the table being a forty-pound turkey, beautifully browned, and a wedding cake three stories high and yellow as gold.

Mr. Will Haydon and Edith Hayes came to this country from England boy and girl, their respective parents buying homes near Warrenton. As young folks they met, they were married in 1879 by Rev. John S. Linsay of the Episcopal Church. Thirty-four years ago they moved to this neighborhood where they still live.

Sons and Daughters.

From this marriage came six stalwart sons and four fine daughters, and during fifty years death has knocked only once at their door taking away Lucy (Queen Bee), their youngest daughter, just budding into womanhood.

There were present: William H. Haydon, of New York City; Frank, of Washington; Marshall, Richard C. and Victor, of Manassas, and Percy, of Fort Des Moines; Edith, of Washington, and Mrs. Cyrel Wade Dalton and Mrs. Wheatly Johnson, of Manassas.

Mrs. Swavely was recently appointed chairman for the Fourth District of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and it is believed that her duties will make it impossible for her to serve another term as president of the local club.

Mr. Domingo Caino, of the Swavely School faculty, will give a lecture on "Some Phases of Art" following the business meeting after which the hostesses will serve refreshments.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM BUILDINGS

Outbuildings On Farm of J. N. House, Near Greenwich, Razed By Fire On Saturday Morning.

Fire on Saturday morning destroyed several barns and outbuildings, two silos and a quantity of hay, feed and stores, on the farm of J. N. House, near Greenwich.

A telephone call to the local fire department sent the volunteer company in its new combination engine scurrying to the scene of the blaze about six miles distant. With a high wind blowing and the morning bitterly cold, combined with the lack of water, the conflagration had made such progress that it was impossible to save the building already enveloped in flames, so the firemen and neighbors turned their attention to preventing the spread of the blaze to other barns and to the residence.

This was the first real test that the Manassas Fire Department has had since the arrival of the new and modern equipment, and the members were loud in their praise of the new engine.

The Warrenton Fire Department responded to the call, but the apparatus was held up about two miles outside of Warrenton due to the breaking of a connecting rod.

NEWS OF WEEK
IN OLD VIRGINIA

Virginia Law Review.

Charlottesville, Dec. 4.—The editorial board of the Virginia Law Review has announced the election of the following members to the board: A. F. Burgess, of Greer, S. C.; Norman W. Harris, of Decatur, Ala.; F. L. Hoback, of Norfolk, Va.; W. M. Hobson, of Richmond, Va.; B. N. Nightingale, of Jacksonville, Fla.; P. E. Sackett, of Lynchburg, Va., and H. A. Wise, of Sackets Harbor, N. Y.

New Industry In Leesburg.

Leesburg, Dec. 4.—Machinery for the Coca-Cola manufacturing and bottling plant is being installed in the large tiling plant to be operated in Leesburg garage building of Mr. J. G. Everhart on King Street near the railroad station.

The plant here will be a unit of the Richmond Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., which has branches in several large cities and in a number of towns in Virginia.

Apples Now Moving.

Winchester, Dec. 5.—Barreled apples are being withdrawn from three Winchester cold storages at the rate of about 35 carloads a day at present, it was learned today, and the withdrawals must be increased to at least 40 carloads daily until the middle of March, if the storage plants are to be cleaned out before warm weather sets in again, it was said. Owners of the fruit whether growers or American or English dealers, usually make every effort to clean up on stocks before the middle of March. A month ago the Winchester storage contained approximately 750,000 barrels of apples, and about 600,000 barrels are at present on hand. Dealers report a fairly active demand for apples of the best quality. The foreign market has declined to some extent. Increased demand is expected, however, when weather becomes colder and with the approach of Christmas holidays.

Campaign Against Rats.

Williamsburg, Dec. 4.—The process of demolishing and repairing old buildings by the restoration people, has driven from their former haunts, the rats. The troublesome rodents are causing great annoyance to householders. Citizens are planning a concerted campaign with the hope of exterminating the pests.

Few Tuberculosis Cattle.

Richmond, Dec. 5.—There are only a few tubercular cattle in the State of Virginia, a survey shows. A series of tests made in Virginia of Federal State cattle inspectors in October covering 13,371 head of cattle in 2,509 separate herds disclosed that only 20 cows, one one-tenth of one per cent reacted to the tests.

The report states that 41,040 herds with 162,364 head of cattle have been once tested free of the disease, and that the State has 949 herds with 29,389 heads of cattle full accredited. The herds are placed on the accredited list after twice testing free.

Big Charlottesville Raid.

Charlottesville, Dec. 5.—One of the biggest raids ever made in this city was staged Saturday when police swooped down on a house on the Fry's Spring Road, near Overhills, captured two men, seized a large and varied assortment of alleged liquors, obtained a "customers' list", said by Chief of Police Maurice Creaver to contain the names of some of the most prominent people in this section.

The raid yielded 83 pints of alleged Holloway's London dry gin, 92 quarts of ordinary gin, eight quarts of alleged Piccadilly Scotch, 92 quarts and 11 gallon jars of alleged whisky. Classified under "whisky" was a number of "fifths" of alleged B and C Sauterne.

Robbers In Yorktown.

Yorktown, Dec. 4.—In the past three weeks, six robberies have occurred in Yorktown, the last one early Wednesday morning, when J. C. Tignor's store was broken in and $5 in small change and a check taken from the money drawer.

The robber entered by forcing open a side back door, and the thieves must have been on friendly terms with the watch dog who guards the store, for he gave no alarm. Strange that the merchandise was left undisturbed when the loot in money was so small.

Masonic Home Plans.

Lynchburg, Dec. 5.—The first unit for the proposed Masonic home for aged and indigent members, is to be erected here early next year, according to a statement made by John T. Cochran of The Plains, grand master of the state, while making an official visit to Marshall Lodge here. The first unit will mark the start of the plan to spend half a million dollars on the home.

Mr. Cochran told local Masons that $175,000 now is in hand for the project, and that $100,000 is available in pledges.

Unique Deficit Remedy.

Danville, Dec. 4.—A novel suggestion as to how to rescue the Community Chest from a $13,000 deficit was suggested today by a Danville citizen who desired to be nameless until his plan has matured further.

His plan is that a local league should be formed. The members instead of making a heavy investment for flowers to be sent to the homes of persons bereaved by death should invest simply a proportion of the amount and send the rest to the Community Chest by way of a check.

In return an engraved card would be sent to the bereaved family pointing out that the sum donated to the Chest was in the nature of a memorial to the deceased.

Fire Destroys Plant.

Suffolk, Dec. 4.—Fire of undetermined origin Monday practically wiped out the plant of the King Overall Company, located on Factory Street here, entailing a loss exceeding $30,000, which was only partially covered by insurance.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of my dear son, Albert W. E. Cornwell, who departed this life two years ago today, December 3rd, 1927.

The third of December once more is here,
The saddest day of all the year.
For that's the day the message came
That my dear son was killed by the train.

The blow was great and the shock severe,
His end was so near, but we never know
The minute or hour,
For all our lives are in God's power.

No sweeter child, no dearer son,
Could ever there be than this dear son.
Mother was first in the morning,
Always last at night.

Oh, what would I give to hear his voice say "Goodnight".
Dearest Albert, how I miss you,
Since from earth you passed away.

And my heart is sadly aching,
As I think of you each day.
Gone from me forever,
The face I loved so well.

How I miss you, Albert,
No one on earth can tell.
Never shall I cease to love you,
Never shall your memory fade;

Sweetest thoughts forever linger
Around the spot where you are laid.
His loving mother,

THINGS OF THE SOIL

The Manassas Journal's Complete Agricultural Service
By DAN VAN GORDER

Questions of lawns, gardens and general farming are discussed in this department each week. Readers of The Manassas Journal are invited to use this new column for the answer to their question and the solution of their problems. Address all inquiries to The Manassas Journal Information Bureau, Van Gorder News Service, Manassas, Virginia.

AMONG SHRUBS AND FLOWERS.

A check up of the past season's successes and failures in growing shrubs and flowers brings to view ever increasing problems, judging from inquiries coming from newspaper readers. Some of these difficulties are purely local in nature but most of them are usually due to faulty planting and care, often neglect. Because of the differences in soil types, climate, and other influencing factors it is always difficult to lay down a hard and fast rule for bringing success to the grower of all blooming and ornamental plants. But there are certain fundamental practices that must be followed if the lawn and flower garden are to reach anywhere near the maximum of their beauty and attractiveness.

Many Readers inquire about the difficulties with Wandering Jew, which is perhaps the easiest of plants to grow. There are several varieties of this plant, but all of them can be grown in almost any type of soil, such as leaf mold, loam, sand, peat, or even heavier materials. All that is necessary is to break off a piece of the vine and stick it in the soil. It can even be grown in water. When the plant or any part of it shows signs of dying, look for evidences of a break in the vine or a wound between the dying portion and the surface of the soil. If discovered, break off at the abrasion and plant the portion. Sunlight is appreciated, but Wandering Jew will survive much neglect, and also will respond readily to care. Keep it well watered. There are green and white and pure varieties.

Some growers are having trouble with Wisteria, difficulties in developing blooms predominating. This is usually caused, where the plant is healthy, to too many roots, the plant receiving too much nourishment and producing a too heavy top growth. By severing the ends of the roots about 18 inches from the main stalk, the plant will have a tendency to stop so much top growth and go into bloom. Where the top growth becomes too heavy, which is usually found where blooms are reluctant to develop, the top should be pruned back severely, more pruning exercised on older plants. It is desirable that the owner of Wisteria keep confidence and not become discouraged. It often requires two or three years to bring this beautiful plant into full bloom, and then it well repays the years of labor. Keep it pruned so that the bloom-bearing shoots can hang down over the trellis or support. Frosts in late spring are destructive because of the habit of the plant blooming before heavy protective foliage appears. The plants will thrive better in protected nooks.

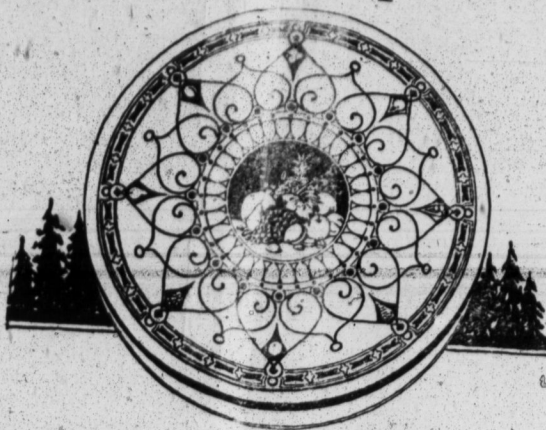

Lilacs, those delightful blooming shrubs known almost wherever man has joined with nature in bringing forth blooms, even in regions where they cannot be grown, are often the source of anxiety because of their habits of slow growth. The common lilac usually requires from three to four years to become firmly established and of sufficient growth to produce blooms. But growers have developed several hybrids, especially the French hybrids as well as the Chinese lilacs, which will bloom the second year after planting, and sometimes the first year. When lilacs are kept healthy by necessary pruning and protection against mildew and other retarding diseases and insects, they make a nice addition to the border even without their blooms. The Japanese Tree lilac, the Himalayan lilac, and the Hungarian are prominent among these later blooming varieties. Azaleas and rhododendrons give the amateur much trouble. Even experienced growers often fail with these shrubs. The principal fault is usually found in attempting to grow them in alkaline soil. Both demand acid soils, and if the planting area does not provide this it must be brought in or produced for them. Azaleas can be grown from seed. They should be planted in a compost made of one-third sand and the remainder of decayed oak leaves, well screened. Water from the under side of the seed flats should be provided. Rhododendrons may be propagated by "layering." Where the shrub is growing the lower branches may be bent over and pegged to the ground and the branch imbedded in about an inch of soil at a point where a slit is cut in the under surface about an inch long and a quarter of an inch wide. Imbed this in soil of a sandy type in which about 40 per cent peat content has been thoroughly mixed. Keep the layer well watered. The branch will take root and be ready to reset in two years. Rhododendrons thrive in shade, and also require shelter. Most trouble in growing them comes from attempting to force them to like alkaline soils.

Gladiolus came in for its share of complaints the past season. These objections and inquiries indicate that much of the trouble came from fertilization and watering mistakes. These beautiful blooming plants are not neighborly with strangers. They like to be left to themselves. Artificial fertilizers must not be added in direct contact with the corms when planting. It is preferable to use a soil that has been heavily fertilized some years before, or better a soil that has a rich supply of humus in it from green manure crops plowed under. Weeds are antagonistic enemies of the gladiolus. The growth must be stimulated by careful and diligent cultivation. It will not permit crowding, especially with other flowers. Healthy bulbs, planted properly and cultivated carefully, will not often disappoint the grower with a deficient crop of blooms. Many difficulties in gladioli growing come from too much watering. With the many varieties and colors, and the long blooming period possible with these flowers, every lawn and garden should have its share of the gladiolus.

Christmas Goodies That Will Keep

No matter how determined the effort, it is never possible for the children to eat all the goodies with which they are surrounded at Christmas time. So it is an excellent plan to get at least half of your cake and candies in tin containers which will keep them fresh for a long time. Handsome boxes, beautifully decorated, containing fruit cake, chocolate, glacé fruits, hard candies, nuts, all ready to eat or to be doled out cake or candy has definitely, can now be obtained anywhere.

The Containers Count

The contents of these tin boxes aren't the only things that count for very few of the containers themselves are ever thrown away. Long after the last piece of carefully doled out cake or candy has disappeared down an eager youngster's throat the big round fruit cake boxes, the rectangular cookie boxes, the tall containers for hard candies are all in use brightening the kitchen and pantry shelves, or serving as a sewing, a manicure, or a hamper box, or to keep cigarettes dry out on the porch.

These boxes are so finely made and decorated that they keep as fresh looking for years as their contents keep fresh until they're consumed. Many grocery stores and chain stores handle these tin containers of Christmas goodies, and one grocer said of the fruit cake boxes:

"The combination of fruit cake and that bright red box comes as close to eating your cake and keeping it as anything I have ever seen. No one ever throws the boxes away."

NAIL IN HIS THROAT STICKS FOR TWO YEARS

Petersburg, Va., Dec. 4.—For two years Percy Hayden, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hayden, of Colonial Heights, just across the Appomattox River from Petersburg, has carried a 1½-inch nail in his bronchial tube near one of his lungs and been none the wiser.

Recently he began coughing. Physicians were unable to give him any relief. Finally they X-rayed the lad to ascertain the cause of the cough and the nail was discovered.

Subsequently Percy was taken to a Philadelphia hospital, where an operation was performed and the nail removed.

With the nail in his bronchial tube Percy has attended school, romped and played games with his friends.

CHRISTMAS SEALS.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson is again the chairman of the Prince William County Branch of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association in its campaign to raise funds for the war upon tuberculosis by the sale of Christmas seals. There is need for generous purchase of the seals. In 1928-29 this county sent twelve cases to the sanitarium; seven returned, five pronounced cured and two classed as arrested cases, with the latter under observation of doctors and the county nurse. Three are still at the sanitarium, while there were two deaths. Five cases in the county should be sent to the sanitarium in the near future.

The splendid work being done in Prince William must go on and one way to prepare for the coming campaign is to aid liberally the association that is enlisted for the duration of the contest. The watchword is "Christmas-seal your Christmas mail".

THE CHANGING AGRICULTURAL CIVILIZATION.

The greatest industrial movement now underway is probably farm electrification on a nationwide basis. A comparatively few years ago farm electrification was an attractive theory. Experimental farms were set up. Problems of cost and upkeep were solved. Intensive tests were conducted to show the progressive farmer that with electricity he could do his work more efficiently, in less time and at a lower cost.

Now there are over half a million electrified farms in the United States, an advance of 200 per cent in five years. The rate of increase steadily gains. In zones within reach of central power station service lines are being built as fast as circumstances permit. In other more isolated areas a vast number of individual power plants are coming into use.

In the beginning farm electrification was only considered in terms of light. It has been found, however, that lighting is but one of the potentialities—the greatest field for farm power lies in its application to machinery. According to a recent survey, a steadily increasing number of farms are using great quantities of power—from three to 20 thousand kilowatt hours a year.

Good roads and the automobile have given the farmer physical contact with the outside world. The radio and telephone has given him communication. Electricity is the one other agency needed to raise farm life to standards of modern urban life.

The great agricultural revolution has started. We are approaching a new era in the development of rural civilization with the farm and farm home on a higher social and commercial level than it has ever been before.

THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE.

Stock market quotations have ceased, at least for the present, to have any meaning or value in measuring the worth of a corporate stock, according to Richard H. Scott, president of the Reo Motor Car Company. He says that until the market value of securities is predicated upon a saner and more intelligent study of the actual worth of securities, it will continue to be a hazardous guide and counselor for persons of moderate means.

The public has been advised time and again by industrial and financial leaders to use caution in their investments, to get advice from legitimate banking and brokerage houses, to refrain from trading on narrow margins and to steer clear of "tips" and "can't lose" market advice. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with American industry and it is certainly essential that its securities be purchased by the public. But it is not necessary to buy securities without rhyme or reason as one would play a roulette wheel.

PROTECT THE NINETY PER CENT.

Our ever-increasing automobile accident record is one of America's greatest problems.

Last year 27,500 people were killed in auto accidents, of whom 16,000 were pedestrians. During last August the average daily toll was 91 lives a day—the highest in our history.

It is said that 90 per cent of accidents are caused by less than 10 per cent of drivers. Until we strengthen and enforce our laws, to protect the competent driver by excluding the reckless from the highways, our terrible annual toll of automobile deaths must continue to increase.

How much longer shall the careless, reckless or incompetent driver be allowed free use of the public highways, a menace to the lives and property of every other motorist?

SOCIALISM OR ASSASSINATION.

Tales of a new Red terror are leaking out of Russia in spite of strict censorship by Soviet government, according to Eugene J. Young, in the San Francisco Chronicle. In one week dispatches list the execution of 100 people on charges of "counter revolution". Most of these were peasants who, by their enterprise, had gathered some of the world's goods and were unwilling to surrender their property to the state. Others were priests and persons who had tried to trade outside of state co-operatives.

One dispatch lists the shooting of 15 peasants without trial in one district, and the shooting of a priest and five peasants in another for agitating against the Soviet rural policy.

It is said that demonstrations against the government have steadily gained force. Many peasants are attempting to assert individual rights. As a consequence, affairs of the Soviet have reached a crisis and opposition to the Stalin regime is to be crushed with death.

Thus goes the greatest Socialistic experiment in world history. This was to be the perfect state, fair to all, where all would be happy and prosperous. Apparently happiness and prosperity must be maintained by legal murder of Russian citizens under a governmental policy of "socialism or assassination."

All Excused.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR DECEMBER 8, 1929.

The International Sunday School Lesson for December 8 is "Some Social Teachings of the Bible: Helping Neighbors in Need"—Matthew 25:31-46.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

Two suburbs known to me are situated side by side; yet the real estate values of one are nearly double those of the other.

What makes the difference? Simply neighbors. Natural advantages and transportation facilities are identical: yet one kind of folk dominates in one community and another kind of folk in the other. Good neighbors have a tangible real estate value. It is less the kind of house in which one lives that counts than the kind of folks amidst whom one lives. I know a public spirited man, with a rather wide reputation, who was once offered a house and lot free if he would move into a certain town.

One ancient Latin proverb says "It is a disaster to live near a bad neighbor." Another old aphorism stresses somewhat the converse of this truth: "All is well with him who is beloved of his neighbors."

"Neighborliness" is one of the fine and fundamental qualities of plain people. A London social worker offers the deliberate opinion that the money value and practical usefulness of the neighborly offices extended one to another by London's poor is greater in the aggregate than all the combined work of the city's organized social agencies. No welfare institution has ever been devised that can equal simple neighborliness on the part of good people.

A Religion of Neighborliness. What shall we say of a man who spends much of his time making speeches and attending conferences in behalf of world welfare, yet who dumps his household rubbish in his neighbor's garden; and whose influence does not weigh an ounce in his own immediate neighborhood?

It is an acid test of character and religion, is this one of neighborliness. "The light that shines farthest, shines brightest at home." In the Bible's definitions of Christianity we have "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." "Love thy neighbor as thyself," was Christ's definition of the second greatest commandment.

Recently there died in Binghamton, N. Y., a physician, Dr. John S. Kelley. He was a general practitioner, and he sometimes lamented to his family that he had not made money. But for his funeral the public schools and the parochial schools of the city closed down, and the great First Congregational Church was crowded with people of high and low degree, while the chancel was banked with flowers. Dr. Kelley had such a funeral as a million dollars could not buy—because he had been a good neighbor, and a ministering friend to multitudes of men, women and children.

That was the Master's definition of neighborliness, as pictured in the Parable of the Good Samaritan. The helper is the only true neighbor.

The Car With the Creaks. Not all needs are material. The recent crash of the stock market has left a trail of stunned and bruised spirits across the land. Adversity in many forms has come to a multitude of people; so that some have been driven to the extremity of self-murder.

This is a day in which it is easy to be a complacent pharisee, thanking God that we did not gamble in stocks and so have escaped disaster. But it is also a day for Christian compassion and sympathy and service. It is a time for large drafts to be made upon the bank of neighborliness. Practical help and friendly fellowship are called for. In the proving of the reality of religion by its brotherliness, men may learn what are the real rewards of life.

One day, in a street car, where a creaking door annoyed the passengers, a man, evidently a mechanic, took a small vessel of oil out of his pocket and lubricated away the noise. With a rather apologetic smile to his fellow passengers, he explained, "A man meets so many rusty hinges as he goes about that I always carry a little bit of oil with me." There's a philosophy for you! The real neighbor is the one who goes about making life easier and pleasanter for his fellow men.

Like the Other Carpenter.

Dr. Grenfell tells the story of a boy down in Berea College, Ky., who heard from a fellow student the story of the needs of the Labrador folk. Most poignant of all to him was the news that there was nobody in Labrador who could make wooden hand-looms.

So the practical-minded Berea youth worked and paid his own way up to the far north, until he came to the land where the fisher-folk were not mechanically skillful. There he set about making wooden looms, and teaching others to make them, until a native weaving industry was established which continues to this day.

Is it any wonder that Dr. Grenfell likened this Berea to that other Carpenter, of the little inland town of Nazareth? Real neighborliness consists in sharing what we have, doing what we can. It is all right, and quite necessary, to contribute to benevolent organizations; but this is no adequate substitute for personal ministry. The Good Samaritan attended in person to the needs of the man he helped. Real neighborly service comes out of the neighbor's own hands and heart: it is not a thing that may be hired.

"Who gives himself with his alms feeds three—Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

Power To Keep On Going.

Before one can do, one must be. Muscles, as well as good will, are needed for the lifting of loads. Character is a prerequisite of conduct. Ere a man can fill the role of neighbor, he must have a neighbor's heart. That is why Jesus put love of God before love of neighbor: it needs the enabling of the Divine relationship to make possible the human.

Before there can be brotherhood there must be Fatherhood. Democracy—which is but the political name for neighborliness—springs from Theocracy. The greater loyalty begets the lesser. Therein lies the explanation of why the friends of Christ make any community a good place in which to live.

Anybody, under the impulse and glow of a fine address or a stirring book or an inspiring meeting, can start out to be a friend of man and a good neighbor. But when he meets with ingratitude and lack of appreciation and misunderstanding and open criticism, then he is likely to stop short, in cynicism and bitterness. How many sour spirits there are who declare that they will never again bother to do public service for their neighborhood!

Right here enters the glorious truth taught in our Lesson text. We need never grow tired in our neighborliness and ministry, however coldly they may be received; for the animating purpose is to please and serve the Master. "The Master praises—what are men?" "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me." Not the applause of men, but the approval of Christ, is the Christian's goal and reward.

The master motive for neighborliness is the motive of the Master. For His dear sake, Christians, keep on tirelessly, undaunted, unrebuffed, undisciplined, when otherwise they would have grown tired and resentful. Here is the adequate dynamic for neighborliness: the serving and pleasing of our Lord, that best Friend of man, whose inspired biography is at once the greatest and the shortest—"He went about doing good."

Wigmore's Career Inspires.

Chicago Daily News.—There is inspiration for younger deans of law schools and professors of law in the glowing tributes paid the other evening to John H. Wigmore, retired dean of Northwestern University Law School, by eminent representatives of the American bench and bar. Mr. Wigmore has devoted his life to the study, exposition and interpretation of law from the points of view of history, philosophy and the social sciences. To him law is much more than a set of rules, and a case at law is not something to be disposed of merely by a study of precedents.

His conception of law as an instrument of essential justice used in the light of what a great British judge called "the artificial perfection of reason" is not only profound but thoroughly rational and progressive. He has emphasized principles and has traced the origin of basic legal doctrines to conditions of life and deep-rooted tribal and national necessities. His philosophy of law is dynamic, evolutionary and vital.

Great occupants of the bench now administering justice or writing vigorous dissenting opinions that will serve as the foundation for the law of tomorrow acknowledge gratefully their debt to Mr. Wigmore's books or lectures. He has worked, too, for the revision of criminal and procedural codes and for a rational and effective administration of justice. If he and others like him had more pupils in the various State Legislatures the sound law-reform bills which are butchered year after year by selfish, timid or short-sighted lawyer-legislators would receive sympathetic and enlightened treatment.

Save The Taxpayer.

Washington Post.—Secretary Lamont guesses that the loss arising from traffic congestion comes to about $2,000,000,000 a year, an amount equal to the total spent for highway maintenance and construction. By destroying all the highways we could save the taxpayer $4,000,000,000 annually.

Move Some Here.

Washington Evening Star.—Road improvement means more work, which means more money to be expended by the public, with the certain result that business will be active. Money must keep moving. It needs the exercise.

Why Not At Home?

Kalamazoo Gazette.—A pillow that prevents snoring has just been invented, says a report. This device ought to be quite popular at grand opera festivals.

We'd Kick.

Detroit News.—"Five regulars on one Middle Western football eleven have recently married." The play now stands first down on the furniture with 24 payments to go.

Prison Reform.

Springfield Union.—Perhaps we are hopeless pessimists, but it seems to us that making the prisons more homelike and comfortable isn't going to solve the overcrowding problem.

Easier Ways.

Boston Transcript.—A plumber in Bavaria made gold out of a piece of lead pipe, so the story goes. Plumbers in this vicinity find working by the hour an easier method.

Topsy-Turvy Painting.

Terre Haute Star.—That painting which won second prize while hanging on its side might have taken first place if hung upside down.

Sure Mike!

Two Irishmen fresh from Ireland had just landed in New York and engaged a room in the top story of a hotel. Mike, being very tired, threw himself on the bed and was soon fast asleep. The sights were so new and strange to Pat that he sat at the window looking out. Soon an alarm of fire was rung in, and a fire engine rushed by, throwing up sparks of fire and clouds of smoke. This greatly excited Pat, who called to his comrade to get up and come to the window; but Mike was fast asleep. Another engine soon followed the first; spouting smoke and fire like the former.

This was too much for poor Pat, who rushed excitedly to the bedside, and shaking his friend, called loudly, "Mike, Mike, wake up! They are moving hell and two loads have gone by already."—Exchange.

Sporting Offer.

During a grouse hunt two sportsmen were potting the birds from butts situated very close together.

Suddenly a red face showed over the top of one butt, and the occupant said, "Curse you, sir, you almost hit my wife just now!"

"Yes," said Marian, "she was furious about the way her marriage was reported."

"Why, did it allude to her age?" asked Grace.

"Indirectly. It stated that Miss Brown and Mr. Wallace were married,

MISS WILKINS MARRIES WILBUR FRANK THORNTON

The marriage of Miss Fleta Fairbanks Wilkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson Wilkins, of Nokesville, and Wilbur Frank Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thornton, of Parkersburg, W. Va., took place on Saturday afternoon, November 30, at Park Place Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Sparks W. Melton, pastor of Freeman Street Baptist Church. The church was decorated with palms, ferns, chrysanthemums and cathedral candles. Just before the ceremony Miss Julia Brown sang "I Love You Truly," and the wedding march was played by Miss Eugenia Folliard.

The bride entered the church with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory duchesse satin fashioned on long graceful lines, with a close-fitting skirt. Long tight-fitting sleeves extended well over the hand and the full-gathered skirt fell in a short train. Her veil of ivory tulle was arranged in a tight-fitting cap with a spray of orange blossoms and clusters of orange blossoms on each side. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, and her only ornament was a crystal and pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. John Bernard Hagin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of orchid satin made princess style with large bow of green taffeta marking the hipline. She wore orchid satin shoes and an orchid tulle turban and carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers. Mrs. Hubert C. Jordan and Miss Mittie McArthur were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of satin and fashioned after that of the maid of honor, Mrs. Jordan wearing green and Miss McArthur apricot. The circular skirts hung long in the back from a fitted bodice, and large bows of contrasting color taffeta marked the hipline. They also wore satin slippers and tulle turbans to match their gowns, and carried arm bouquets of mixed flowers.

The bridegroom had as his best man John Bernard Hagin. Edgar Sanderlin was master of ceremonies, and the ushers were Hubert C. Jordan, William Etheridge, Thomas C. Fowlkes and Edwin Robbins.

Mrs. Wilkins, mother of the bride, wore a gown of black chiffon and lace with a small black velvet and soliel hat. Her flowers were a corsage of bronze Pernet roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's traveling costume was bottle green trimmed with badger, with hat and accessories to match. After a Northern wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Thornton will be at home at 1344 Magnolia avenue, Norfolk.

Following the rehearsal Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hagin entertained at a small reception at their home in the Naval Base in honor of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Outweighed And Outplayed, Visitors Stage a Plucky And Sporty Game.

On Thanksgiving Day Swavely brought its football season to a close by defeating Warrenton High School to the tune of a 55-0 score.

The High School team, outclassed in every way, put forth their best efforts, but found it impossible to hold their opponents.

Scoring Is Fast.

Shop at Your Druggist's This Holiday Season

BUYING holiday gifts at the nearby drug store is getting more popular every year. The big reason, of course, is the obvious convenience and the avoidance of the crush and delay at the big downtown stores. If you have not investigated lately, you may be surprised at the fine selection of gifts you may buy at your neighborhood druggist's.

Certainly it is a natural inclination to buy of someone you know, someone who has performed many friendly services for you—your Neighborhood Druggist. To him you have often gone in time of need, for "first aid" or the filling of a prescription.

Has it occurred to you that your neighborhood druggist cannot maintain a well equipped prescription pharmacy on professional services alone? Therefore he carries a stock of household goods—many very suitable for holiday gifts. "Shop at your druggist's." You'll find it a convenience, and you will help him to maintain an efficient pharmacy, ready to serve you when you and the Doctor most need him.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving remembrance of our dear baby, Charles Edward Bell, who left us so sad one year ago today, December 3, 1928.

Just a line of sweet remembrance,
Full of memory, fond and true;
Just a token of love devotion
That our hearts still grieve for you.

Your little form is at rest,
Your cry forever still.
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

Keep him, Jesus, in Thy keeping,
'Till we reach the shining shore.
Then, Savior, let us have him,
To love him as we did before.

The link that God had given were broken,
Our hearts bore the bitter pain;
For the love of one so precious,
Which never can remain.

God gave us that tiny treasure,
Like a flower so soft and sweet.
Some day we hope to join our baby,
To rest at Jesus' feet.

MRS. R. L. BELL, Mother.

You left behind some broken hearts,
Who loved you so sincere,
Who never did and never will,
Forget you, brother dear.
Little sisters, Dorothy, Anna, Ray.

BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN 4-H CLUB ENROLLMENT

This year has been a big 4-H club year in Virginia, says C. A. Montgomery, state boys' club agent, Virginia extension division. The enrollment last year was greater than in any previous year in the history of 4-H club work in the state. A comparison of the membership this year with that of last, shows a big increase one year over another. The enrollment of boys and girls by county farm and home demonstration agents of these two years is:

	1929	1928
Men agents	10,087	8,220
Women agents	8,948	7,325

Total 19,035 15,545
This is about a 22½ per cent increase. Requests were sent out the first of this year from the Washington office to all the states to increase their 4-H club enrollments at least 10 per cent. Virginia a little more than doubled that amount of increase. Many club members carry two or pig, canning and room improvement, etc. The 19,035 boys and girls enrolled this year are conducting a total of 22,730 farm or home demonstration projects.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad, but loving remembrance, of my loving brother, Brown Ennis, who departed this life December 3, 1927.

Today my heart is heavy,
My thoughts are all of thee;
How I miss thee, none but God
In heaven can see.

Just when his life was brightest,
Just when his hopes were best;
He was taken from this world
To a home of Eternal rest.

Honest and upright in all of his ways;
A devoted brother to the end of his days.

A better brother you'd never find;
What a wonderful memory he left behind.

A devoted sister, Virgie Cornwell.

In my heart your memory lingers,
Tenderly, fond and true;

There is not a day, dear uncle,
That I do not think of you.

A little pet nephew, Franklin.

Enrolled with the Nursing Service of the American Red Cross at Washington are 49,000 nurses, qualified under the society's regulations, who may be summoned to service in time of disaster or other emergency. From the Red Cross enrollment were assigned 20,000 nurses in the World War. These Red Cross nurses are the standing reserve of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps of the United States, and are also called upon for service in other governmental health services.

MANASSAS HIGH MYTHICAL CHAMPS

Soccer Team's Record For Season Places It In Outstanding Position.

(By Beverly Mitchell.)

There is no doubt that the two outstanding soccer teams in the county, among secondary schools, are Occoquan High and Manassas High. Both teams have had remarkably good records for the recent soccer season.

These two teams have met twice—at Manassas and at Occoquan—and split the games 2-0, 6-4, respectively. The first contest was a hard fought affair with the winners having a slight advantage all through the game. They kept the score clean, however, while at Occoquan the same margin decided, but Manassas had scored four points.

Conceding, then, a very slight edge to M. H. S. in the games, recalling the utter route of the strong College Heights combination, and lastly the wonderful showing made against the powerful Rockville, Md., eleven, it is the opinion of the writer that the crack little Manassas High School team may easily be considered as the Soccer Champions of Prince William County.

The regulars on the champions were as follows:

Forward line: Captain Ambrose, Brawner, T. Kite, Waters, Gilroy with Saunders playing center half. The backfield is Dodson, Hopkins, half backs R. Athey, W. Kite, full backs, and Monroe, goal keeper. Captain Ambrose, Saunders and Dodson have played well all season, while the work of Monroe as goal keeper has put him also into a star's status.

WILD GAME LIFE PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR

Many Birds From Mexico Are Among Those Reported In Abundance.

Richmond, Dec. 4.—Indications from all sections of the State, point to a good supply of game animals and birds in Virginia, according to State Game Department. Mexican quail brought into Virginia last year and liberated in the fields and woods are said to have done remarkably well. These seem to have thrived better in Tidewater Virginia than in western sections of the State. A desire is already being expressed from game wardens and from sportsmen that more birds be shipped into their territory. Sportsmen have reported many birds killed with small aluminum bands about their legs, the same indicating that they were imported from Mexico. Others have reported bagging birds which were evidently a cross between the Mexican and the Virginia, or native, partridge.

Fair Number Turkeys.

Reports received on wild turkeys would indicate a fair number of these in nearly every county of the State, while in some sections they are to be found in abundance. The game department last spring imported 150 of these birds which they liberated in certain counties where turkeys were scarce, and in such counties a closed season was indefinitely declared. These counties were: Albemarle, Franklin, Giles, Henry, Lee, Lancaster, Northumberland, Pulaski, Richmond, Roanoke, Russell, Scott, Smyth, Tazewell, Washington, Westmoreland and Wise. Turkey shooting is also closed in James City County.

With regard to migratory fowl, such as duck and geese, reports have been meager. On account of the mild weather so far the ducks have not come down from the north, and they are not expected in any quantity until winter weather drives them south.

Rabbits are very abundant in all sections and there is reported a slight increase in deer. Three bear are reported as having been killed in Rockbridge county. The Game Department looks for good shooting throughout the entire season.

The Brentsville Community organization will hold its regular meeting December 10, at 8 p. m., in the Brentsville District High School, Nokesville.

GOLDEN WEDDING SUNDAY.

There were only two present who witnessed the marriage, Miss Jennie Haydon and Miss Nina Hayes.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hayes, of Warrenton, Janie and Adan Haydon, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Roe, of Maryland; Dudley Roe, Jr., of University of Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baden and Miss Anna Baden, of Maryland; Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes, of Sudlersville, Md.; Mr. James Metcalf and James, Jr., of Chesterton, Md.; Miss Frances Haydon, of Clarendon, Va.; Capt. and Mrs. Percy Haydon, of Fort Des Moines; Miss Mamie Lynn, of Chestertown; Mrs. Denton, of Cherrydale; Rev. and Mrs. A. Stuart Gibson, Mrs. R. C. Haydon and R. C., Jr., Mr. Cyrel Wade Dalton, Master Edward and Miss Nina Dalton, Miss Ruby Ryman, Mrs. Wheatly Johnson and children, Marshall, Lucy, Joseph, Edith and Billy, Miss Emily Johnson and Mrs. Frank Dogan. Ten grandchildren have blessed this home.

Rev. A. Stuart Gibson read to the assembled family the following most appropriate poem, written by Miss Lucy Buck, of Front Royal, Va.:

Their Golden Wedding.

Fifty years have fled o'er you,
With their shadow and their sheen;
With the drifting snows of winter
And the summer bright between.
Since the bright day dawned upon you,
Hailing you first man and wife,
When the future lay before you
With all golden promise ripe.
Now once more there gather 'round
you,
Loving friends, the tried and true;
While the vows so long since uttered,
Are in heart renewed by you.
And we faint would render homage,
Due your second bridal eve;
Some fit token of our feelings
In your blended keeping leave.
But what offerings can we bring you?
Jewels for you, Matron bride?
Ah! You well may deem them baubles
And with Roman mother's pride
Pointing to your loving children,
In the words of truth declare—
"These the ornaments I cherish,
These the richest gems I wear!"
Gold and silver—husband, father?
In your heart and in your hair;
More than all the priceless metals
Of earth's countless mines you wear.
Silver grown with care for others,
Now with weary toil and smart;
Gold, the true unselfish instincts
Of an earnest manly heart?
Worthless, all the gifts we'd bring
you,
When compared with wealth like this—
Blessings from the hearts that love
you;
Ever bring the truest bliss.
So we can but gather 'round you;
Those you cherish, those you love;
And invoke God's smile upon you—
Praying that your lives may prove
Like the sun's course in the heavens,
Brightening as the days roll on,
Closing in the light that gathers
Brightest at the set of sun.

WOMEN KNIT AND SEW
FOR RED CROSS RELIEF

Volunteers Aid Through Motor and Canteen Corps—Send Gifts to Service Men.

Recalling the days of the World War, many women still make pajamas and other hospital garments, many knit sweaters, and more than 2,500,000 surgical dressings were rolled by volunteer workers for the American Red Cross Chapters all over the nation, in the year just closed.

The hospital garments are given to veterans and the surgical dressings go to civilian or Veterans' Bureau hospitals, or wherever needed. Many Chapters also maintain well stocked closets of surgical dressings and garments, in order to be prepared should a disaster strike their communities.

Volunteer workers make children's clothing and layettes which are distributed in time of major catastrophes. The Motor Corps of Red Cross women and the Canteen Service, also first created during the World War, still are maintained by many Red Cross Chapters. Last year the various Motor Corps, some with ambulances, answered about 30,000 calls, and the Canteens served more than 30,000 persons. They were especially active where floods or forest fires or other catastrophes called for feeding refugees or firemen engaged in active work fighting disaster.

Another activity of women volunteers is that of filling Christmas bags—small cretonne ditty bags—to send to soldiers and sailors who are stationed at posts or ports abroad. More than 40,000 of these are sent each year for distribution to the Americans at Christmas time.

Methodist Church Seems Most Popular With Baptist Second Choice.

Blacksburg, Dec. 4.—In a recent survey taken of the different religious denominations of the students enrolled in the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, it was found that the Methodist denomination was the most popular with the students; showing 424 members. Other religious sects which are represented in the school are Baptist, 356; Presbyterian, 255; Episcopalian, 165; Christian, 58; Lutheran, 45; Catholic, 43; Hebrew, 20; Congregational, 7; Brethren, 5; Christian Science, 3; Unitarian, 3, and Reform, Disciples, Friends, United Brethren and Greek Orthodox, one each.

In the same survey, it was found that of the 1,389 students included in the report, 1,206 are native Virginians representing 86 per cent of the total enrollment of the school.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Brown Ennis, who was killed two years ago today, December 3, 1927.

The month of December again is here
To us the saddest of all the year;
For just two years ago today,
Our dear son was taken away.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We little thought your death so near.
But your spirit has fled, your sufferings are o'er,
At the fireside you will join us no more.

When manhood days were drawing on
The boy we loved so well,
Was taken from among us
To his home in heaven to dwell.

The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay;
But love for you who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.

Our hearts still ache for you, dear Brownie,
As the day you went away.
Your place will always be empty,
Till we meet again some day.
By the Family.

NAVY TO RECRUIT MEN
IN THE RICHMOND DISTRICT

The Navy Department has authorized the immediate enlistment of twenty-five men in the Richmond Recruiting District. These men are desired for the crews of new cruisers to be commissioned in the Spring of 1930, three of them to be commissioned on June 13, 1930, being the U. S. S. Northampton, U. S. S. Chester and U. S. S. Houston.

It has been the policy of the Navy Department to send these newly commissioned vessels on what is termed "shake-down" cruises to foreign ports, prior to their taking their places in the fleet. Men-enlisting now will have completed their training at the Naval Training Station, Hampton Roads, as well as have graduated from the trade schools maintained at that station, prior to the commissioning of these vessels.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear nephew, Albert Cornwell, who departed this life December 3, 1927.

He is gone, but not forgotten;
His friends of him were fond.
And tho' he sleeps in a grave so deep,
He is in the great beyond.

In the great beyond, where we all must go,
It may be soon or late
And my dear nephew I hope to meet,
Within the golden gate.

'Tis only a step that divides us,
From glories no mortal has seen;
We shall find him when death's grim fingers,
Shall lift the veil between.

Sleep on, dear Albert,
Peacefully at rest:
While you were loved so much by all,
God loved you best.

TOMATOES ARE A CHEERY RED

RIPENED tomatoes are the ones which have most vitamins according to "Hygeia," published by the American Medical Association, and vine ripened tomatoes are the only kind which are processed in cans. Tomatoes are often prescribed by physicians for their vitamin C content, and the Journal of the American Medical Association recommends that any products used for their vitamin content should be in as near a naturally ripened condition as possible.

Some Decorative Dishes

Ripe tomatoes are a cheery red, and that is one of the best of colors for the coming festive holiday season. When you set the table for Christmas and New Years dinners and all the parties that come along at this time of year, a note of red in your food as well as in your flowers gives an added touch of gaiety and cheer. So, just to enable you to decorate your table, and not counting how good they all are to eat, we're giving you a few tomato recipes appropriate for this time of the year.

Tomato Aspic is a decorative dish for your table. First drain a large can of tomatoes in a colander, and save the pulp portion for stewed tomatoes. Heat the juice to boiling, and add one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of sugar, two drops of Worcestershire sauce and one-half a bouillon cube. Meanwhile soak one and a half tablespoons of gelatin in two tablespoons of cold water. Dissolve this in the boiling liquid, strain, and pour into individual molds wet with cold water. Chill, turn out on lettuce leaves, and garnish with mayonnaise. This serves six.

Tomato Timbales: Bring to the boiling point two and a half cups of canned tomatoes seasoned with one and one-fourth teaspoons of salt and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. Add three-fourths of a cup of bread crumbs and four slightly beaten eggs. Pour into buttered custard cups or ramekins and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven (350°) for 30 to 40 minutes or until set. Turn out molds and serve surrounded with creamed peas. This makes eight individual molds.

Rarebits for Cold Weather

Tomato Rarebit with Eggs: Stew three cups of canned tomatoes, one-fourth teaspoon of soda, one and a half teaspoons of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper five minutes. Press through a sieve. Add three tablespoons of flour and three tablespoons of cold water, smoothed together, and stir until it thickens. Add one and one-half cups of grated cheese and stir till melted. Slice eight hard-cooked eggs over buttered toast, and pour over the sauce. This serves eight.

Mexican Rarebits: Sauté one large chopped green pepper in three tablespoons of butter until tender but not brown. Add three cups of grated cheese, and cook in top of double boiler until melted, stirring constantly. Add two slightly beaten eggs, three-fourths teaspoon of salt and a few grains of cayenne, and stir rapidly. Add one cup of canned tomatoes and two cups of red kidney beans. Serve on toast. This, too, serves eight.*

TAX OFFICIALS CALLED MEETING

Commissioners of Revenue of State, Counties and Cities Will Confer in Richmond.

Richmond, Dec. 4.—The third annual official meeting of the commissioners of the revenue of the counties and cities of Virginia has been called by C. H. Morrisett, State Tax Commissioner, to be held in the State Capitol Building in Richmond, beginning at 10 a. m., December 13, and continuing through the morning of December 14. The meeting will be presided over by the State Tax Commissioner. The object of the meeting is to discuss the proper and efficient administration of the tax laws for 1930.

The first annual official meeting of the commissioners of the revenue was called by the State Tax Commissioner in December, 1927. This meeting resulted in improvement in the administration of the tax laws, and the second annual official meeting was held in December, 1928.

At these meetings the tax laws and perplexing questions of tax administration are discussed and uniform rules are laid down for the government of all of the commissioners of the revenue in the State. The State Tax Commissioner is of the opinion that the increased efficiency which has been evident in the work of the commissioners of the revenue in recent years is due in large measure to the success of these annual meetings.

FAIRFAX REPUBLICANS PLAN REORGANIZATION

Fairfax, Dec. 4.—The December meeting of the Fairfax County Republican Club was omitted this week. The gathering of the Republican county committeemen at the home of Delegate-elect L. L. Freeman of Vienna, Saturday, took the place of the club meeting, according to the president.

The committeemen Saturday decided to reorganize the membership by replacing those committeemen who did not function actively during the past campaign. Final action on suggested changes at several precincts was deferred pending consultation with Dr. F. M. Brooks, county chairman, who is expected to be well enough to leave Alexandria Hospital on Wednesday. The 20 or more committeemen in attendance adopted a resolution addressed to Dr. Brooks expressing their sympathy in his illness and their appreciation for his services.

LABOR HEAD URGES SUPPORT OF RED CROSS

"Invariably it is the masses of the people which suffer most when disasters occur," stated William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently.

"Because they suffer most and because of their helplessness, the ministrations of the Red Cross organization take on added significance and importance. No doubt many lives among these particular groups are saved through the prompt service which this organization gives."

"Because the American Federation of Labor appreciates this fact, we have supplemented the appeal of the American Red Cross at each Roll Call period for memberships from the great mass of working men and women and their families."

"The continued service of the American Federation of Labor in this most humane and unselfish work will be most cheerfully rendered."

Mr. Green is a member of the Board of Incorporators of the American Red Cross.

The names of the winners, as announced in the December 1 issue of The Southern Planter are as follows:

Mrs. George Eason, Norfolk county, Virginia.

Mrs. J. William Kelbaugh, Carroll county, Maryland.

Mrs. J. C. Lang, Harrison county, West Virginia.

Mrs. N. F. Parham, Henderson county, North Carolina.

There was one prize awarded in each state. Each winner received $50 in money and an Award of Merit.

More than two thousand farm women entered the contest. The competition was keen and in many cases it was difficult to choose the winner.

The contest not only helped the members to improve their own yards but "the influence of their work spread throughout their counties," two home demonstration agents declared.

RAISE YOUR HEIFER CALVES.

How to Do It Cheaply.

During the last few years the New Jersey agricultural experiment station has developed a plan for calf raising known as the New Jersey dry feed calf mixture. This plan has proven to be practical and economical since it limits the amount of whole milk needed to raise the dairy calf.

The Ration.

The dry feed ration consists of the following mixture:

100 pounds of yellow corn meal.
100 pounds ground oats.
50 pounds of wheat bran.
50 pounds of linseed oil meal.
50 pounds of soluble blood flour.
12 pounds of mineral mixture composed of equal parts of pulverized steam bone meal, limestone, salt).
