

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT
OF DISTRICT HOME DIESBenj. E. Guthrie Expires Sudddenly of Heart Attack

On Monday, January 12, at 8 p. m. Mr. Benjamin E. Guthrie, Assistant Superintendent of the District Home, near Manassas, died suddenly of heart disease. The immediate cause of his death was excitement incident to the arrest and trial of a negro named Randolph Massie, of Washington, who is alleged to have been disorderly and to have used violence and to have attempted to strike Mrs. Ayleen R. Guthrie, Superintendent of the District Home, which serves several counties of northern Virginia and the city of Alexandria.

Mr. Guthrie was born August 26, 1871 near Shelbyville, Kentucky, and was 58 years of age. He was the last surviving child of Benjamin Franklin Guthrie and Virginia Thomas Guthrie, of Shelbyville, Ky., who were of an old and prominent family of that state.

Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie were married in Louisville, Ky., in 1910 and came to Virginia 13 years ago. They came to Manassas from Richmond where Mrs. Guthrie had served as superintendent of the Memorial and St. Luke's hospitals. Their residence in Prince William began 13 months ago, when they took charge of the District Home.

Due to a health condition of Mr. Guthrie, they had purchased a farm in Lancaster County where they had lived for a while, but the salt water climate proving unsatisfactory, they decided to come to Manassas. Mr. Guthrie leaves only his wife, there being no children.

During the progress of the court trial in the District Home last Monday night, Mrs. Guthrie heard her husband fall in his room near the reception hall where the proceedings were in progress. She rushed to his aid, followed by Dr. Marshall, who was in the home at the time and able to render first aid. Nothing could be done, however, as he only breathed a few times and expired.

A number of Manassas business men were present and they also rendered all possible assistance, several calling their wives on the phone to come and be of whatever aid they could be to Mrs. Guthrie, who had nearly collapsed. Her mother, Dr. Minnie Robbins and her sister, Mrs. Etta Gumbly, of Baltimore were notified by telephone and arrived in a few hours. They took charge of the home and will remain there until the return of Mrs. Guthrie from Kentucky where she has gone with the remains. Burial is at Shelbyville, Ky., at "Woodlawn," their ancestral home, where his parents and many relatives are buried. Previous to the departure a short service was held in the funeral home of Dellinger at Cross at Manassas at 3 p. m., on Tuesday, January 13, which was attended by quite a number of friends.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie had not resided here long they had endeared themselves to a wide circle of friends and they were particularly beloved by the inmates of the District Home, both white and colored and their loss was evidenced by many expressions of the deepest sorrow. Mr. Guthrie had always conducted a semi-weekly devotional service which they so much enjoyed.

Mrs. Guthrie has been especially active in Church work all of her life. She is of the Methodist faith and an enthusiastic and tireless social worker, interesting herself here in Red Cross and other charities.

In recognition of this the county organizations sent a beautiful tribute, which was telegraphed together with quite a number of similar expressions of sympathy from friends here, including a large floral piece from the merchants and business men of Manassas.

KIWANIS CLUB
APPRECIATEDSecretary F. R. Hynson Receives Heartfelt Thanks

Mr. Secretary,
Dear Sir:

"Thru the generosity of the members of the club of which you are Secretary, my children and myself were enabled to enjoy, more fully, a time of the year (Christmas) when everyone is supposed to be happy and carefree. From my neglect in not writing sooner and showing a proper appreciation of my thanks for your kindness, you may have thought I was not thankful, but that was not the reason. Mr. Secretary, two cents may not be and is not a big sum of money to expend for a stamp, but since Christmas until the present it has represented the difference to me between having enough money to buy a can of milk or a loaf of bread for my children, so please accept my apologies for not writing sooner and thanking the Kiwanis Club of Manassas for their kindness to us at Christmas. The greatest Giver of all times said 'It is more blessed to give than to receive' so I know that you have all experienced more pleasure already in your own hearts than these few words will convey to you, but still I would not be doing the upright thing if I did not take this, my first opportunity of thanking you one and all."

Very sincerely

There is a town ordinance forbidding such soliciting. Please tell your callers about it.

Area Westward

The McCoy Transportation Company, of Manassas, has filed application with the Corporation Commission at Richmond requesting intra-state service between Richmond and Alexandria, destination Washington over Jefferson Davis Highway, U. S. Route 1.

The McCoy system has now an inter-state service between Baltimore and Richmond, but may not under the existing authorization accept freight from points between Alexandria and Richmond for delivery to points now exclusively served by the McCoy Transportation Company from Alexandria westward to Winchester, Manassas, Warrenton, Luray and Culpeper. This restriction now makes it possible for the wholesale firms of Washington and Baltimore to dom-

MANASSAS HIGH TAKES THREE

In the presence of a large audience the Manassas High School teams added three more scalps to its trophies. It would be appropriate to report the games in these famous words, "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

The first game was played between the Calverton and the Manassas boys in a fast game, which was a little rough. At the final whistle the Manassas team was on top with a score of 14 to 6.

The second game was between the girls from Calverton and Manassas High Schools, in which the Calverton played a fine game but they were not able to overcome the fine teamwork of the Manassas girls. The girls made an excellent showing, with Beachley as the outstanding player. The score was 31 to 12.

The final game was played between the Clifton and Manassas High School boys' teams. This game was very fast and good sportsmanship was shown by the members of both teams. Manassas again held the upper hand with a score of 27 to 14.

The Manassas High School team has shown a marked improvement in endurance and shooting ability. Gilroy and Vetter have an equal hold on the position of outstanding star, while W. Kite, Leith and Smith have made worthy showings of playing ability. Mohler starred for Clifton.

If you desire to see really good basketball, our team can furnish it on Tuesday, January 20, when Manassas plays Alexandria at the High School Gymnasium. If you have not seen the High School team play, then this game to see, for it will be one of the outstanding games of the season.

MASSIE APPEALS
TO UPPER COURTColored "Social Worker" Arrested at District Home

Randolph Massie, colored appointed social worker, of Washington, has appealed the judgment of the magistrate's court which sentenced him thirty days in jail and $100 fine and required him to give bond to keep the peace.

The trial was held at the District Home on Monday evening at 7:30 and was climaxed by the death of Mr. B. R. Guthrie, whose wife is superintendent of the Home and who had preferred the charges which had caused the negro's arrest and trial.

The incident appears to have been an outgrowth of Massie's complaining of the treatment of the colored inmates and the discourtesies he charges his wife had received at a former visit to the Home. It was testified that he came to the Home in an ugly mood and became very abusive in his language and manner, so much so that Mrs. Guthrie was compelled to request him to leave.

He seems to have incensed the Negro still further and, it was testified, he became very loud and demonstrative, finally threatening to strike Mrs. Guthrie. Being apprehensive of the condition of her husband, she endeavored to get Massie out of the building and failing, she called the Secretary of the Board, Mr. L. Ledman, who immediately notified Deputy Sheriff Partlow who arrived within a short time and placed him under arrest. J. C. Parish, Judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court and Acting Police Justice, issued a warrant and required him to post bond for appearance and trial Monday night.

Mr. H. Thornton Davies, local attorney, represented Massie and noted an appeal from the sentence imposed by the three justices. Judge Parish having called in Justices Wilson Payne and Thomas H. Cobb to be associated with him on account of the wide public interest manifested in the affair.

The case is scheduled to be heard at the February term of the Circuit Court at Manassas, presided over by Judge Walter T. McCarthy.

MEETING OF
WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held at the High School on Wednesday, January 14. Reports were read from the various committees. One of the interesting ones was the report of the Charities Committee which told of the Christmas baskets sent out to the poor families in the county. Another was the report of the Committee for serving hot lunches to school children who, otherwise have insufficient or no lunch. These lunches are prepared by the classes in Domestic Science under the personal direction of Miss Lulu Metz. Hot soup, hot cocoa and sometimes sandwiches are served. Up until the close of school for the Christmas holidays lunches were served to 182 children, or an average of 26 per day, but this number is now being increased. Contributions to assist the club in this work have been received from several individuals and also from Kiwanis and the Order of Eastern Star. Any member of the club who can, is urged to assist in serving these lunches and communicate with Mrs. George Hasel, chairman of the children's Luncheon Committee.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, the State President. She said, in part, that the first clubwoman was Mrs. Anne Hutchinson of Boston, who was listed as a bold woman with bright wit. She gathered together a troop of women to meet once a week at her house. These meetings were disapproved of by the men who eventually succeeded in banishing her from Boston. From this small beginning there are now almost 3,000,000 club women all over the world, engaged in 125 different activities. Mrs. Buck emphasized the three R's, naming them as Responsibility, Reliability, and Religion. She said our lives should resemble a triangle with the longest side representing our home life which has first importance and the base line standing for religion upon which the other two phases of our life should be founded, with the third side standing for our club life, our contact with other women and other activities outside our home and religion. Her speech closed with a poem:

A Club Woman

With courage to tackle the hardest thing,
With feet that climb and hands that cling,
And a heart that never forgets to sing,
With a spirit that helps when another is down,
That knows how to scatter the darkest frown,
That loves her neighbor and loves her town.

After Mrs. Buck's interesting speech, the club adjourned for a social hour.

BRENTSVILLE DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

After an extended and much regretted vacation pupils and teachers have returned to school ready to get down to work, realizing that much must be done in order to finish required work and review prior to examinations.

The play "Kicked Out of College" given by the Dramatic Club of B. D. H. S. December 23 and January 9, in the High School auditorium, was a great success from start to finish.

Many reported it to be one of the best they have had the pleasure of seeing. The play, a comedy, was delightfully rendered in three acts, the audiences being entertained in the interludes with music by the Carter Brothers of Buckhall and the Greenwich Melody Boys. We are now proud to say, that with money cleared from the play and help from the School Board, we possess an encyclopaedia Britannica. Many thanks to those who made it possible.

Among the cases listed is that of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, fugitive, exile for 10 years, whom the Government feels sure it will get, as well as Blackmer and O'Neill "perennially missing" witnesses of the famous Teapot Dome trial.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(Woodbridge and Occoquan)

In the last issue of the Journal our first and original editor failed to send us a letter with Twin City gossip, either apropos. He failed to have enough type, or cut the copy just enough to leave out a very important paragraph.

Since writing the above I have the information that my good old friend, Admiral Reamy, treasurer of Stafford for 25 years has decided against the wishes of all Staffordians and says: "No, I will not be a candidate. I retire to private life." Mr. Chichester aspires to the Treasurership of Stafford.

Well, Stafford has had a hard season and a close call. The professional politicians and drought has caused our sister county to break out with an aggravated case of muddles.

September 30, 1930, Twin City Gossip wrote an article for the Journal readers, setting forth a new idea, containing a radical departure from the present form of state and county government. It is not often that a small county paper is ready beyond the boundary lines, but this article happened to catch the eye of my friend, O. Max Gardner, Governor of our sister state North Carolina.

Gov. Gardner in his message to the General Assembly of that State Friday outlined one of the most drastic and revolutionary programs ever proposed by a governor. All of his messages are interesting, one stands out prominently and used my idea in the consolidation of counties. He even went further and added: "Compulsory in some cases."

When I wrote the article that caught the Governor's eye, I said: "Cal Coolidge and Will Rogers have their ideas copyrighted. Twin City says: 'Here you are, take a double dose and enjoy an aggravated case of thinker's colic.'"

By the way, I notice my good friend George Sutter, of Triangle, is no longer known by that name. He now sports the cognomen of G. Edward Sutter, for better or worse.

I suppose you folks have noticed George Washington Herring going to and fro wearing a twix and between overcoat? Well, there is a story that goes along with this apparently idiosyncrasy of Bro. Herring's. A little before Christmas Geo. visited a haberdasher of Jewish persuasion and closed a deal for one full length overcoat. The coat of course fits like paper on a wall. Later, weather cold, Geo. cold-overcoat on—stove red hot—Geo. backs up—stove stands still—Geo. too close—overcoat catches fire—Geo. and half of overcoat saved, hence, the short long overcoat, tail burned to ashes. The above is a very good reason why every man should have an eye in the back of his head.

Geo. Waters of Dumfries, rumors that if he continues to take on avoirdupois he will have to discard his vest and wear a corselette. Evidently the depression has failed to catch up with George.

Doc. Hornbaker is still showing the latest Hollywood's at the Lyric.

When you visit Daddy Wayland's store you will have to cut your own pork chops. Dad will be playing with the baby.

Rumors have been noted that Nodie Claggett's left foot is 90 per cent flat. Turn and for end Nodie, probably the lower end needs a rest.

Jiggs Embury of the Highway Department notes that he knows three hundred and eleven old fashioned fiddle tunes. Jiggs, why don't you try the wild air waves so your talent can be appreciated.

Bombardier Wells, owner and General Manager of the Wells Service Station says that hard times has forced him to dispense with three of his private secretaries. The nail kegs are now being occupied by general loafers.

Uncle Nick wants to know from the Journal readers if it is against the law for a potential candidate to give to real he-voters a chew of field grown, home spun tobacco. He says, being a candidate for Sheriff he does not want to interfere with any known or unknown laws, or unduly influence a weak Jeffersonian Democratic Voter.

WATERFALL

We are sorry to be late with our New Year's letter, but with the long holiday season. The New Year crept in, and well advanced before its presence was fully realized. Owing to the general depression, and the sad afflictions in the community during the past year Christmas passed very quietly. Yet we rejoiced in the horde of loving Christmas messages. The home coming of many loved ones and the peace and tranquility that pervades our little hamlet.

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a precious heritage to them in after years.

GUARD THE TONGUE

Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.—Psalm 34:13, 14.

PRAYER—Help us, Lord, that not being overcome, we may overcome evil with good.

ORGANIZED CHARITY

Prince William County is beginning already to feel the need of organized relief for the needy. Professional beggars and mountebanks are ever on the alert for opportunity of imposing upon the kind charity of the unsuspecting. The present hard times offers more than usual returns. The average citizen does not have the time nor facilities for investigating the merits of these claimants for alms, and it will be better all round if the request of the local committee is strictly followed and all solicitors and beggars be kindly referred to the Town Manager or the Red Cross.

Centennial Celebrations

The coming year will be a remarkable one with respect to hundredth and two hundredth anniversaries of events important to Virginians. Next year will witness the great national celebration of the Washington Bi-Centennial. The One Hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown is rapidly being organized and a centennial for Prince William County must not be overlooked. These celebrations renew our faith in the ideals of our ancestors and they serve to advertise the material advantages of our splendid locality to the rest of the world. We need new enterprises, industrial development and larger means of local employment. Attention to these matters will play an important part in our future prosperity.

The Future of Farming

Approximately one-fourth of the population of the United States is engaged in agriculture, and yet that is the only important business which is not organized for its own protection. No successful national organization regulates marketing or prevents over-production, and in many sections the transition from self-sufficiency to commercial farming has been slow. Hence the farmer's income has not kept pace with prices of manufactured articles with the result that the farmers who can are moving to the cities and those who remain have been unable to maintain modern standards of living.

A new book, "The Place of Agriculture in American Life" by Wilson Gee, an eminent student of country life, has been stamped by critics as "the best brief and yet adequate statement of the farmers' problems." It throws light upon such subjects as depopulation, over-production and individual marketing, and summarizes convincingly the contribution of the rural community and its importance in the future of our country.

Readers of the Journal may arrange to borrow this book by sending this notice or a postal card request to the Extension Department, University, Virginia.

Kentucky Rifles Wanted

The State Chamber of Commerce is anxious to locate about twenty long barreled rifles used prior to the Revolution. No doubt there are a number of these in the county. Anyone desiring to sell such should communicate with the State Chamber of Commerce or advise the Journal. Revolutionary cannon are also being sought, but it is believed that Prince William County's supply of heavy artillery is rather meagre.

THE INFLUENCE OF FEAR ON HEALTH

It is well known that fear has a potent maleficent influence upon the health, which means that the mind affects the body adversely or otherwise, and conversely, suggestion may play the most important role in effecting a cure of improvement. At the church congress held recently in Newport, Wales, a good deal of the time was taken up by a discussion of faith healing, mental suggestion and so on, in which both clergymen and medical men joined.

Dr. William Brown, of Oxford, read a paper on psychoanalysis and psychotherapy in which he laid stress on the part played by fear as a cause of ill health, and the creative power of suggestion.

He pointed out that a simple elementary view at the present day was that a great deal of sickness was due to the idea of being sick becoming implanted in the mind, influencing the imagination and arousing feelings of fear and despondency, and so realizing itself. Thus the patient became sick through bad suggestion and could be cured by therapeutic suggestion, by good suggestion, either from without by another person or by himself.

Dr. Brown insisted that remarkable effects might be obtained by the power of suggestion in special cases, not only in cases of a leading musician who had lost the power of concentration and all power to compose. Under the influence of suggestion he recovered his power to compose and eventually was cured completely. According to the speaker, the method is one way of removing unnecessary inhibitions. At the other end of the scale it works in improving memory and the power of concentration and may help a certain type of child who is backward in its lessons.

DIGGING

Hard work means nothing to a hen. She just keeps on digging worms and laying eggs regardless of what the business prognostications say about the outlook for this or any other year.

If the ground is hard, she scratches harder.

If it's dry, she digs deeper.

If it's wet, she digs where it's dry.

If she strikes a rock, she works around it.

If she gets a few more hours of daylight, she gives us a few more eggs.

Did you ever hear one cackle because work was hard?

Not in your life: They save their breath for digging and their cackle for eggs.

But she always digs up worms and turns them into hard-shelled profit as well as tender, profitable broilers. Did you ever hear of one starving hen?

Did you ever hear of one starving to death waiting for worms to dig themselves to the surface.

Success means digging,—are you?

—Front Royal Record.

AN APPRECIATION

A little plant grew in a quiet nook in a garden fair. It bloomed and bloomed and shed its fragrance on all who passed along the way. But, by and by a scorching sun fell on its graceful form and its leaves began to wither. The lovely plant said to itself, "I am no good, no one cares for me. Why should I live?" But it still gave forth its sweet perfume, until, one evening, at the sun set hour, a cold wind struck it with chilling force, and it languished and drooped and died. Not so with dear Miss Kate Bridwell. The heat of sorrow fell on her frail form and the chilling winds of great affliction beat upon her, but with wonderful courage, she braved the all adversities and great physical suffering, and went on, doing her duty day by day, and winning more the respect and love of all who knew her, until the Saviour seeing His child could bear no more, called her home to rest, and service where pain and sorrow are no more. She is not dead—no, she lives, not only in the presence of the Saviour, but in the hearts of her friends who will long hold her in loving remembrance.

Better Speech Results in Better Telephone Service

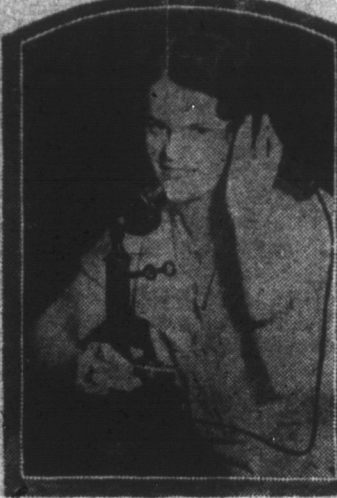

Modern communication is undoubtedly responsible for better speech. With more than 600 licensed broadcasting stations, a radio set for every seven families, and sound pictures affording entertainment for millions of people weekly, the technique of speaking as revealed by radio announcer, political orator, occasional speaker, or screen actor is open to an analysis that is severely critical, says William P. Banning, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. In the Bell Telephone Quarterly.

"Listeners in millions of homes, school rooms, and theatres, with daily opportunity for contrasting methods as well as messages," Mr. Banning says, "are constantly changing their standards. Speakers have become aware that the human voice is on trial everywhere."

Speech itself has in this way been advertised in an inescapable way, he states, by its newer transmission agencies and a tremendous impetus has been given to the activities that are promoting better speech.

To the telephone companies comprising the Bell System, Mr. Banning says, the speech habits of telephone users have always been a matter of specialized interest. The reason for this is the fundamental one that better speech means better telephone service. A familiar expression of this interest is the educational effort that calls attention to the value of distinct enunciation and explains how telephone facilities can best be used.

From the standpoint of the number of words which the telephone user should be able to enunciate properly in order to carry on effective conversation, the task is not a large one. Recent investigations of the words used in telephone conversations show, according to Mr. Banning, that in 500 conversations in which about 30,000 words were noted, only 2,200, or less than 2 per cent, were different words. Fifty words account for 50 per cent of the total words in these conversations and 700 words account for 95 per cent. Proper pronunciation, therefore, of relatively few words, he says, would go a long way towards improving the effectiveness of speech.

It is from the standpoint of the user that telephone service is improved by better speech, and this standpoint is the one by which the telephone companies must and do measure the success of their efforts. This is because of the unique and important characteristic that differentiates telephone service from other public services, namely, that it is a personal service, placing at an individual's request a private communication channel for exclusive use between distances that may be a few feet or thousands of miles apart.

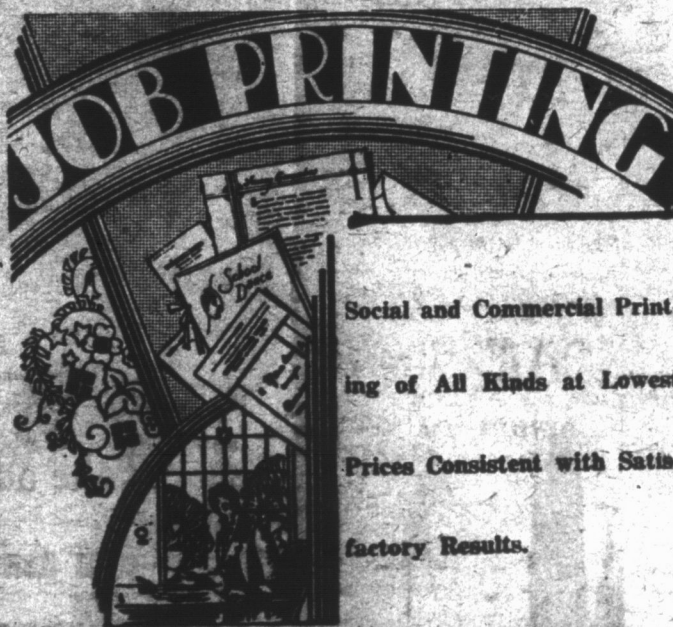

Mr. John Maley, who lived at Buckley's Corner, died suddenly and was buried Sunday, January 4.

The freshmen served lunch Thursday clearing $5. Their class project is furnishing the school magazine table. The juniors will serve lunch next Tuesday and the seniors Thursday. The sophomores will give a game social Friday night in the school auditorium, under direction of Vivian Hart, class president, to raise funds to buy wall maps for the school.

The School will give a play Friday evening, January 16.

On Tuesday, January 6, Miss Mary Detwiler entertained a birthday party Games and delightful refreshments were features of the evening.

Mr. H. B. Franklin, of Alexandria, entertained in honor of the birthday of his mother, Mrs. James Franklin, of Clifton. Mr. L. G. Franklin, Miss Eva Franklin and Mr. M. N. Edwards were among those present.

BUSINESS IN PRINCE WILLIAM IS SOUND

First Quarterly Calls from Every Institution Indicate Substantial Gains that are Remarkable

Reports of the various financial institutions in Prince William County show a very healthy condition despite the discouraging season of 1929.

The various statements appear on this page and should be studied by all interested in our financial system.

The Peoples National Bank closed a most successful year, according to Cashier Ratcliffe, who stated that the usual 5 per cent semi-annual dividend had been declared.

Cashier Davis, at the National Bank, was quite optimistic over the showing that this institution had made for 1929.

Secretary Johnson, of the Farm Loan Association, stated that although three foreclosures had been necessary in 1929, the condition of the local body was firmer than in 1928.

Quantico National is celebrating its 7th anniversary with a statement that is truly remarkable for growth.

All of the other banks show good, sound statements, indicating that business all over Prince William must be holding its own.

Our Banks in Good Condition (Editorial)

For the first time in a number of months, the published reports of every banking institution in the county appear simultaneously. For the purposes of relative study this is valuable, especially so after the bad farming year that Prince William endured in 1929.

Banking officials are quite enthused over the fact that they have been able to do so well, and it should be a matter of pride for the whole county to have business on such a sound basis.

The banking institutions represented on this page are the Peoples National Bank of Manassas, the National Bank of Manassas, the First National Bank, of Quantico, the Bank of Nokesville, and the Bank of Haymarket.
