MANASSAS MILLING COMPANY EXPANDS

Huntun Tiffany, Treasurer of Corporation, Takes Up Residence In Manassas.

RIVERTON MILLS TAKEN OVER BY CORPORATION

President B. Lynn Robertson, Organized Manassas Mill Fourteen Years Ago. Is Manassas' Biggest Industry.

One of the most progressive flour and feed manufacturers in Northern Virginia, the Manassas Milling Corporation is located in Manassas and is the outstanding industry of the town. This business, one of the busiest of its kind in this section was founded 14 years ago by B. Lynn Robertson, and during the past year the business was incorporated, and its former name changed from the Manassas Feed and Milling Company to the Manassas Milling Corporation. The corporation recently took over the management of the Riverton Mills located at Riverton, Va., giving the combined capacity of the firm a daily production of 375 barrels of bread meal, and 100,000 lbs. of mixed horse, hog and dairy and poultry feeds.

Their famous flour, known as the White Rose Brand, is well known over the entire State, as well as a number of the other Southern States. This brand is in great demand by housewives of the old south who find it to be suitable in the preparing of recipes calling for the old-fashioned table delicacies, which has made Southern cooking famous the country over. Only the choicest wheat goes into the manufacture of this flour, and all the flavor and nutritious value of the grain is maintained in the process of manufacture, which is done with modern machinery, under the supervision of experienced men.

The feeds are put up under the brands of North Star and Bull Run, and their superiority as stock feeds is vouched for by thousands of stock raisers throughout the South. While the business was started on a very limited capital, the quality of its products has caused it to have made remarkable growth during the past several years, and it has now reached the stage, where it has become a business that every one should be proud to own, and the company is looking forward to a very much increased business during this and succeeding years. Much of the success of the company has been due to the progressive and energetic founder, B. Lynn Robertson, who now heads the organization as its president. Mr. Robertson's motto has always been "that if higher quality were possible, it would be made in the plants of the Manassas Milling Corporation." Other officers of the company are Huntun Tiffany, treasurer and Thomas H. Lion, secretary. The directors of the firm are B. Lynn Robertson, Thomas H. Lion, E. R. Camner, M. J. O'Connell, P. W. Robertson, A. F. Stoeger, and W. Holmes Robertson.

Mr. Huntun Tiffany, who though treasurer of the corporation for a year, has only recently moved to headquarters here. He is well known throughout Northern Virginia and for several years was an officer of the W. S. Jenkins Grain Co., of Leesburg, and for seven years was associated with the Gilbert-Davis Coal Co., at Morgantown, W. Va. Mr. Tiffany will make his permanent residence here.

FARMERS WILL HAVE MEETINGS NEXT MONDAY

Catharpin and Independent Hill Committees To Have Soil Study and Demonstration.

The farmers of Catharpin community will meet at the Catharpin School Monday evening, January 27, at 7:45 o'clock. There will be a meeting at the same hour at the hall in Independent Hill Tuesday evening, January 28.

There will be talks on soil improvement by a soils specialist at each of the meetings. The demonstrations to be conducted in these communities will also be discussed. Walter Sanders, Jr., is chairman of the Catharpin agricultural committee, while E. M. Briggs is chairman of the Independent Hill group. All farmers and interested persons are cordially invited to attend the meeting nearest them.

CORN AND GRAIN SHOW NEXT MONTH

February 15th Set As Date For County Exhibit To Be Held In Manassas Gymnasium.

The County Corn and Grain Show will be held at the High School Gymnasium in Manassas, Saturday, February 15. In the corn show there are five classes in which exhibits may be made, namely, ten ears of yellow, ten ears of white, ten ears of ensilage, a shelling class of ten ears and a utility class of ten ears. Any variety of corn may be entered in the shelling and utility classes. The premium list is not yet complete but it is known that an engraved silver vase will be offered for the best ten ears of any variety.

Utility Class Stressed.

Exhibits may be sent in at any time before the show to the county agents office or the agricultural department at the high school in the general classes, but all exhibits in the utility class must necessarily be at the county agent's office not later than February 4th, since this corn has to be germinated and judged before the show.

The utility or germinating class is being stressed because of the general poor maturity due to the unfavorable growing season. It will be of much value to farmers to send in one, two or three ten-ear entries of the best of the corn that they have selected for seed and have its germinating qualities determined. Exhibits may also be made of the small grains, clover and grass, most commonly grown in the county.

Prof. T. B. Hutchison and James Godkin will act as judges and take part in a "Better Seeds" program to be given at the show.

MOORE TO RETIRE FROM HOUSE POST

Despite Friends' Appeal 8th District Member Will Not Seek Re-Election.

Positive declaration that he will not seek re-election was made Friday by Representative R. Walton Moore of Virginia, replying to an inquiry by newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Moore said: "Notwithstanding the numberless appeals to me to reconsider, which I deeply appreciate, I feel that I should adhere to the tentative conclusion reached several months ago, for the reason then stated, when I announced probably that I would not again be a candidate, and thus I will not offer for re-election."

"I shall always be most grateful to the people of our district, who have honored me steadily for years with their confidence and support. It is hardly necessary now for me to assure them that while I remain here I shall be as anxious to do whatever is possible to further the public interests as if I were beginning my term of service, instead of nearing its end."

ELECTION CHANGES URGED IN BILL JUST PREPARED

Would Appoint Commission of Eight Members To Study Elections Laws of Va.

A commission of eight members, including three assemblymen, to study the advisability of changes in the election laws of Virginia, as recommended by Governor John Garland Pollard in his inaugural address, is provided for in a bill prepared yesterday for introduction by Delegate Farrar Verser, of Crew.

The commission would hold hearings in various sections of Virginia and report not later than December 1, 1931. One member would be chosen by the president of the senate, two by the speaker of the house, and four by the governor, with Assistant Attorney-General Leon M. Bazile as the eighth member.

The governor recommended in his inaugural address that steps be taken to prevent payment of poll taxes by the two major parties, to reduce the amount of money expended in campaigns, and to make primaries compulsory in state-wide contests for both parties. He charged that Republicans are now participating in Democratic primaries.

STRATFORD HALL DRIVE NEARS END

Local Committee Anxious To Wind Up Campaign This Week. Give Something to Save Stratford.

In order that Virginia may do her full share in perpetuating the memory of her illustrious son, Robert E. Lee, people throughout the state have been called upon to contribute to a fund which the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, Inc., is raising to complete the purchase of Stratford Hall, General Lee's birthplace.

The Prince William County campaign, which is under the direction of a committee, whose chairman is Mrs. C. M. Larkin, of Manassas, began its campaign of solicitation on January 14, and is still functioning. Thus far the response has not been encouraging but as a few days of the campaign still remain the committee is hoping that those who have not contributed will come forward and do their part in the nation-wide drive for $240,000 needed to purchase Stratford Hall proper, the outbuildings and the estate of more than 1,100 acres in Westmoreland County, bordering on the Potomac River.

The Robert E. Lee Memorial, Inc., of which Mrs. Charles D. Lanier, of Greenwich, Conn., is president, has the hearty support of leading men and women and organizations throughout the thirty states which are carrying on the campaign for funds, and it is hoped that Virginians and the people of Manassas and Prince William will not prove backward in their contributions to the cause represented by the Foundation.

Contributions may be given to Mrs. C. M. Larkin, chairman; Mrs. Stuart Pattie, Mrs. Howard Jamison, Mrs. R. L. Byrd and Miss Sarah Donohoe.

The Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, had previously contributed to the fund of the State organization, and the following contributions have been received by the local committee:

Dr. E. H. Marsteller	$1.00
A. A. Hooff	1.00
Maj. F. W. Patterson	1.00
Dr. Stewart McBryde	1.00
William Hill Brown	1.00
Richard S. Hynson	1.00
J. L. Bushong	1.00
T. E. Didlake	1.00
Woman's Club, Manassas	25.00
G. Raymond Ratcliffe	1.00
E. H. Hibbs	1.00
B. Lynn Robertson	1.00
Miss Sarah Donohoe	1.00
Mrs. Douglas Lion	1.00
Total	$38.00

MADAME DE VOGEL HERE NEXT WEEK

Noted Artist Will Sing Under Auspices of Woman's Club of Manassas On Thursday.

Madame Catherine de Vogel, who will sing in the High School auditorium on Thursday evening, January 30, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Manassas, had a colorful career during the World War. Just as she had reached the point of becoming universally known as a great artist the war called her back to her own country.

During the war, learning that music was a great distraction for the soldiers she accepted an invitation to sing for the boys and often in storm and hail she went to the forts, the camps and frontiers to cheer up the brave men and to do her bit in making them forget for the moment the hardships and horrors of the conflict.

After the war Madame de Vogel toured for nine months in Java, Sumatra, Celebes, Borneo, Banka and Biliton, giving 176 recitals singing folk songs with their beautiful melodies and characteristic moods. A tour of America in 1925 so established her in the hearts of her hearers that she has returned for another tour and sponsored by the Woman's Club will be heard here next Thursday.

The proceeds of the recital will be given to the Board of Education for the purpose of introducing music to all of the public school children in Manassas.

CHICHESTER GETS COMMITTEE JOBS

Representative In House of Delegates Named On Many Important Committees.

Dan M. Chichester, representative in the House of Delegates from Prince William and Stafford Counties, has been appointed chairman of the committee on Public Property and vice-chairman of the committee on Special, Private and Local Legislation.

The committee assignments received by Mr. Chichester are as follows:

Roads and Internal Navigation, Public Property, Special, Private and Local Legislation, Insurance and Banking.

He served as a member of the committees on Roads and Internal Navigation, Public Property, and Special, Private and Local Legislation at the last session of the General Assembly, but his assignment to the Insurance and Banking Committee, which is one of the most active and important in the House, is a new one.

It was as a member of the Roads Committee that Mr. Chichester used his influence in behalf of the Cross-Country Road, that was finally taken into the state system by the State Highway Commission and located from Manassas to Dumfries by way of Independent Hill.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION CLASS ENDS SEMESTER

Class in English Literature Will Close First Semester On Tuesday, January 23.

The University Extension Class in English literature will close its first semester on Tuesday, January 23. At that time the members of the class will be given an opportunity to decide whether the class is desired for the second semester. Classes may be arranged in English or other University subjects as the members may desire.

All persons interested in an extension class for the second semester are requested to meet with Professor Miller at Parish Hall on Tuesday, January 23, at 5:30 p. m.

The local University Extension Class was organized in Manassas in October and many of the teachers in the schools here and in other parts of the county as well as several citizens interested in the course joined and have just completed a most interesting first semester.

AGED CITIZEN DIES AT HOME NEAR CANOVA

Richard C. Cooper, Aged 84 Years, Was Well Known In Prince William County.

Mr. Richard C. Cooper, of near Canova, died on Tuesday, January 14, following an illness of several days, in his eighty-fourth year. Funeral services were conducted from the house by Rev. J. Murray Taylor, and interment was in the family burying ground near Canova, where his father and mother are buried.

Mr. Cooper was a bachelor and lived with his sister, Miss Laura A. Cooper. He was born at Sinclair Mill Farm, this county, on October 12, 1846, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooper. The deceased lived on the old farm until December, 1923, when his house was lost by fire, and he moved to the Wallace Wheaton place. Later, so that he might be near the old farm, he moved to Mrs. Will Breed's farm, and it was there that he died.

He was a man of exceptionally sunny disposition, a good neighbor and was best known to those who knew him as "Uncle Dick". He was particularly fond of children and all of them were his friends.

Surviving are one brother, Mr. James A. Cooper, of Bradley Church, this county, and the sister, Miss Laura A. Cooper, with whom he made his home.

JUDGE SNOW REAPPOINTED.

One of the last official acts of ex-Governor Harry F. Byrd was the reappointment of William S. Snow to the Commission on Game and Inland Fisheries.

COUNTY TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE ON FRIDAY

Organization of Work For Second Semester Will Be Discussed. O. L. Emerick, Superintendent of Loudoun Schools To Speak.

The teachers of Prince William County schools will meet in the High School tomorrow, Friday, at 10 a. m. The morning session will be devoted to the County Teachers' Association, and O. L. Emerick, superintendent of schools in Loudoun County, who is president of the District H. Teachers' Association, will be the principal speaker.

The afternoon session will be devoted entirely to the educational problems of Prince William, according to announcement yesterday by Richard C. Haydon, county superintendent of schools. The chief matter for discussion will be the work for the second semester and the outline presented by Mr. Haydon will be discussed and a definite program decided upon.

LAST HONOR PAID BISHOP TUCKER

Fifty-four Episcopal Clergymen Attend Rites In Norfolk For Churchman.

A large assembly of churchmen and laymen from all parts of Virginia and North Carolina gathered at old St. Paul's Church, Norfolk, on Monday to pay last tribute to the Right Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, D. D., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, who died in a Norfolk hospital Thursday night, January 16.

Fifty-four Episcopal clergymen, among them four visiting bishops and seven negro ministers, participated in the funeral services, which, despite the presence of such an assemblage of the dignitaries, were simple and brief. A large number of men and women from Richmond attended the services.

Eight Veterans In Group.

Attending the ceremony, too, were eight aged men who had worn the gray of the Confederate Army with him. This little group of veterans, one lone squad of them, gathered about him in his last hours. Eleven of his thirteen children also were present. Two sons, missionaries in China, were unable to attend.

The Right Rev. Arthur C. Thomson, who succeeds Bishop Tucker as head of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, assisted by Suffragan Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd of New York, and Rev. R. H. Covington, D. D., rector of the church, conducted the services. With them were the Right Rev. William Loyall Gravatt, Bishop of West Virginia; the Right Rev. Robert C. Jett, Bishop of Southwest Virginia, and the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington.

Taking Body to Charles Town. Immediately after the services, the body was taken to the Washington steamer, to be carried to Washington, and from Washington, by rail, to Charles Town, W. Va., where it was laid beside the body of Mrs. Tucker, who died several years ago.

SMITH HAS OPEN MIND ON LEAVING THE BENCH

Judge Who Announced Candidacy For Congressional Post Not Decided On Quitting Bench.

The possibility of Judge Howard W. Smith, who recently announced his candidacy for Congress from the eighth congressional district, to succeed the honorable R. Walton Moore, who is to retire at the end of his present term, resigning from the bench of the sixteenth judicial circuit, has been the subject of much speculation by North Virginia party leaders.

Judge Smith, when interviewed yesterday, stated, however, that inasmuch as the active campaign is some months off he had given the matter of his resignation no serious consideration up to this time.

Asked concerning his reaction to the candidacy of State Senator Frank L. Ball, Judge Smith said that he was not surprised. Concerning the question of possible other candidates, the judge said that he expected a number would enter the race.

KIWANIS FETE IS A GALA AFFAIR

Ladies' Night Proves Feature Entertainment of the Year. Notables Present.

The Kiwanis Club ladies' night which was given last Friday proved one of the best in the history of the local organization. From the moment Robert A. Hutchison, president, welcomed the guests to the close of the dinner and entertainment there was not a dull moment.

Following brief remarks by Mr. Hutchison, James R. Edmunds, president of Washington Kiwanis; E. H. Hoffman, past president, and E. G. Carter, president of Alexandria Kiwanis, were introduced. T. E. Didlake, retiring president of the local club was presented with a handsome silver piece by club members, the presentation being made by Dr. C. E. C. Johnson.

Lively Entertainment.

Fred R. Hynson, chairman of the entertainment committee, did himself proud in entertainment offered, while the ladies of the Methodist Church outdid themselves in the sumptuous repast set before the diners. Those on the program were: G. Raymond Ratcliffe, who led the singing, and early in the evening had to take a black eye while endeavoring to throw an itinerant organ grinder out of the hall. Carter Brothers furnished the instrumental program; Harry Angelico sang a number of songs in character. Mr. Neill Gill gave a reading; Don Domingo Caine sang delightfully as did Mrs. Stuart Pattie, and Mr. E. S. Illingworth directed a one-act play entitled "The Gathering of the Nuts".

Many Guests.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Alpaugh, Andrew Jackson Brehm, D. J. Arrington and Miss Lucy Arrington, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. M. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Boatwright, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. HUDGINS AND GREGORY GET NEW JUDGESHIPS

General Assembly Names Them For New Judgeships On Supreme Court of Appeals.

Judge E. W. Hudgins, of Chase City, and Herbert B. Gregory, of Roanoke, were nominated for the two new judgeships on the Virginia supreme court of appeals early Friday by the joint Democratic caucus of the general assembly, after one of the most spirited sessions in history.

Judge Hudgins, who now presides over the 34th judicial circuit, was nominated on the eleventh ballot at one o'clock a. m., with 68 votes, five above the necessary majority.

Judge Gregory, who is judge of the law and chancery court of Roanoke, received a majority of the votes cast on the fourteenth ballot.

NEWS OF WEEK IN OLD VIRGINIA

Would Aid Farmers.

Richmond, Jan. 23.—A bill that is designed to relieve the property owners of the State of the additional penalty imposed on June 15 of each year for delinquent taxes for the preceding year is to be introduced in the House of Delegates within the next few days by Wilbur C. Hall, chairman of the finance committee.

The bill, Hall explained, has been drafted primarily for the purpose of protecting the farmer. Under the present law taxes become delinquent on December 5, at which time a penalty of 5 per cent is added. The farmer, he pointed out, markets no crops between that date and June 15, when an additional penalty of 5 per cent is added and an interest charge of 6 per cent yearly imposed.

Under the proposed regulation the December 5 penalty would remain effective, but the second penalty would not be imposed until after August 15, when the farmer will have had an opportunity to dispose of at least a part of his crops.

Luray Has Building Program.

Luray, Jan. 22.—An unofficial survey of the building activities of Luray, Va., indicates that approximately $500,000 will be spent in 1930 for buildings now under construction and those to be commenced in the early spring.

A large brick building on West Main street is progressing nicely and excavation is being pushed for the new fireproof High School Building, which must be completed in time for opening of schools next fall, and all will cost approximately $200,000.

New Chamber Secretary.

Fairfax, Jan. 23.—C. C. Carr, elected secretary of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, at the meeting of the Board of Directors, took charge last Wednesday when Mrs. Clarke, the former secretary of the Chamber, took up her new duties as secretary for the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce at Clarendon. Mr. Carr is well qualified to carry on the work of the Chamber of Commerce, having been active in county affairs for several years past.

Peanut Plant Destroyed.

Suffolk, Jan. 22.—Fire of undetermined origin which broke out here on the top floor of a four-story building of the group composing the plant of the Suffolk Peanut Company, destroyed the building and the machinery. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Hillman Heads Va. Council.

Richmond, Jan. 23.—Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry College, was elected president of the Virginia Council of Religious Education yesterday at its afternoon session at the John Marshall Hotel.

Other officers elected were E. C. Carruthers, bursar of the University of Virginia, chairman of the executive committee; Fred D. Maphis, banker, Strasburg, chairman of the finance committee, and A. L. Bennett, superintendent of schools of Albemarle County, chairman of the educational committee.

Mrs. Lucy Williams Dies.

Aldie, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Lucy J. Williams, aged 71 years, died on Monday, Jan. 13, at her home near Aldie, this county. She was the widow of Mr. Albert W. Williams and was a native of Montgomery county, Va. She was beloved by all who knew her and was a consistent member of the Baptist church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Bessie Gilbert, a son, Mr. Frank B.

Standardsville Post Office Burns.

Charlottesville, Jan. 23.—Flames originating in the Blakey Mercantile Company building at Standardsville, county seat of Greene, last week wiped out a large section of the town's business section, causing an estimated loss of more than $40,000 and including in its devastating wake the post-office building and the Spottswood Hotel and filling station.

Several hours' labor by bucket brigade saved the store and home of L. M. Marshall, adjoining the hotel. Stores and homes immediately across the street from the burning buildings were damaged.

Highway Tree Planting.

Lynchburg, Jan. 22.—Officers of the Staunton River Garden Club, of Atavista, and of the three Lynchburg garden clubs, discuss plans for tree planting along 19 miles of the State highway between Lynchburg and Atavista.

H. M. Sears, supervisor of the Natural Bridge Federal forests, outlined to the officers the plan proposed for planting.

The State Highway Department has promised to care for the trees after they are planted, it was said.

Fairfax Farm Loan Board.

Fairfax, Jan. 22.—The annual meeting of the Federal Farm Loan Board was held last week and officers for the coming year elected were: F. W. Huddleston, president; C. O. Schaub, vice president; John W. Rust, secretary and treasurer. The board of directors for 1930 consists of E. E. Neff, J. W. Pobst, F. W. Huddleston, H. B. Derr, C. O. Schaub, Fairfax; W. B. Doak, Clifton; W. M. McNair, Herndon; J. W. Kearns, Falls Church, and

INDUSTRY MAKES GREAT STRIDES

Industrial Development of Virginia From 1926 to 1930 Has Been Phenomenal.

The industrial development of Virginia during the administration of the past four years, 1926-1929, inclusive, has been phenomenal in growth and remarkable in diversity and in the size of plants, as well as in the huge sums of money expended in their construction. Such development presages a healthy and prosperous year for 1930, both for capital and for labor.

In his annual report, Commissioner of Labor John Hopkins Hall, jr., reveals the following interesting facts and figures:

The number of plants operating in Virginia increased during 1928 from 3,680 to 3,886, or upwards of 200.

Capital invested in industry increased during the same period from $733,482,337 to $778,380,913, or approximately $45,000,000.

The value of the industrial output in Virginia increased during 1928 from $782,425,841 to $818,714,018, or more than $36,000,000.

Salaries and wages in the State increased during the same time from $141,614,283 to $147,761,140, or $6,146,857, the number of employees increasing at the same time by more than 6,000.

Output To Reach Billion.

The estimated value of output in Virginia during the past year is placed by the Commissioner of Labor at $900,000,000. He estimates that this output during the year 1930 will reach in value not less than $1,000,000,000, and looks for a corresponding increase in both the number of employees in plants and also of salaries.

Franklin Williams, Vienna. The loan committee consists of C. O. Schaub, J. W. Kerns, and J. W. Pobst, with H. B. Derr and W. M. McNair, alternates.

Looking to the future Commissioner Hall says:

"Virginia's remarkable industrial growth during the past year foreshadows even greater prosperity for the year 1930. Shipbuilding at Newport News, Norfolk and Portsmouth shows over $100,000,000 in contracts. Dodge Boat and Plane Corporation at Newport News will construct a $1,000,000 plant, manufacturing speed boats and seaplanes, and employing 2,000 men. Furniture factories are being expanded for increased production and employment. Coal and iron mines production continues to be adversely affected by the Lake Cargo Decision, but maintains a fair output. Rayon and artificial silk expansion at Roanoke, together with new factories completed at Richmond, Waynesboro and Covington will aggregate $20,000,000, and employ 5,000 or more additional persons. This will more than offset the depression in cotton textiles. Several new woolen factories are being completed. New chemical plants at Richmond, Hopewell and Fredericksburg will be in production in 1930, including paper, pulp, nitrogen and celephane. Dairy, canning and food products also show increased output. Truck farming shows a substantial improvement in supply and demand. Government contracts for public buildings and other projects throughout the State, notably at Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Roanoke, with an expenditure of $2,000,000 at Quantico and $1,000,000 at Hampton Roads, will tend to stabilize building and construction work.

The restoration of Williamsburg by John D. Rockefeller, jr., involving the expenditure of more than $5,000,000 will continue. The State Highway system will expend $12,000,000 on improvements in 1930. Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk and Western Railroads have announced appropriations for a large number of new cars and engines. Public Service and Utilities such as telephone, power and transportation lines are being extended to meet increased demand. Stability for labor and industry is indicated for the coming year with labor supply adequate.

Your Children ... is their food safe?

YOU, as a conscientious mother, buy the best food for your children, prepare it with scrupulous care and cook it correctly. But even the best food becomes unsafe to eat unless it is kept at the proper degree of cold, which medical authorities agree should be 50 degrees or less—always.

There is one refrigerator that assures you of scientifically perfect refrigeration at all times—the General Electric. It has a simple mechanism which you never need to oil, mounted on top of the cabinet and hermetically sealed. It has an accessible freezing regulator. It has the only all-steel, warp-proof cabinet. We shall be glad to help you select the model suited to your need.

This record stands alone

There are now more than 300,000 homes enjoying the convenience, economy and protection of General Electric Refrigerators—and not one owner has ever had to spend a single dollar for repairs or service.

Now, with the development of the Hydrator, Frigidaire offers a new service to users... a special compartment for vegetables and foods that need added moisture.

You can put even wilted celery in the Hydrator and make it crisp and fresh again. You can make lettuce tender and brittle. You can quickly restore the firmness of radishes, tomatoes and other vegetables.

Today every household Frigidaire is equipped with the Hydrator. It is part of the surplus value offered by Frigidaire. So, too, is the famous "Cold Control" which enables you to speed the freezing of ice cubes and desserts. And to make Frigidaire still more practical and more strikingly beautiful, every household cabinet is now rust-proof Porcelain-on-steel inside and out. See a complete demonstration at our showroom—now.

The Manassas Journal's Complete Agricultural Service

By DAN VAN GORDER

Questions of lawns, gardens and general farming are discussed in this department each week. Readers of The Manassas Journal are invited to use this new column for the answer to their question and the solution of their problems. Address all inquiries to The Manassas Journal Information Bureau, Van Gorder News Service, Manassas, Virginia.

FOR PLEASURE AND PROFIT.

As Spring brings its multiplicity of activities we often have a tendency to lose caution in the labyrinth of duties and fail to exercise proper care in surrounding plants and planting methods with protection against insects and disease. The pencil should play an important part in Spring preparations as the plow or hoe. Many times the total absence of the pencil renders much of the labor of plow and of hoe futile.

Poultry activities occupy some of the first attention of late Winter and early Spring. Among the most dangerous ailments of young chicks is coccidiosis, a disease of the intestines, caused by a small organism that is transmitted from diseased birds to healthy ones through contaminated food, water or soil. Chicks affected are usually dull and sleepy for a day or two, with loss of weight and diarrhea marking the progress of the disease. It usually runs a rapid course, the losses among young birds often amounting to 75 per cent of the brood. The following treatment given to the birds in their drinking receptacles will give beneficial results. It should be mixed by a reliable druggist and always kept in glass, glazed or enamel vessels.

Corrosive sublimate, 6 grains; Citric acid, 3 grains; Calcium sulphocarbonate, 7.5 grains; Sodium sulphocarbonate, 7.5 grains; Zinc sulphocarbonate, 15 grains; Water, 1 gallon.

This is harmless to poultry, but should be kept out of reach of children and animals. Feeding sour buttermilk has been found a beneficial means of treating coccidiosis, but should not be used in connection with the above suggested medicated treatment. Many poultrymen recommend one-third teaspoonful of permanganate of potash and crude catechu to each gallon of drinking water. Sanitation in preventing infection is the most effective means of controlling this disease.

Too much should not be taken for granted in growing cabbage. This crop is not as easily grown or as free from disease as many think. Several diseases are transmitted through contamination of soil and seed. Sterilization of seed beds and seed will afford protection against those diseases and thereby reward the grower with better crops. Seed beds may be sterilized by soaking them with boiling water, using one gallon to every 256 cubic inches of soil. Let the earth dry before sowing the seed. The formaldehyde treatment is also effective. This requires one quart of formaldehyde or formalin to 13 gallons of water. Use about one-half gallon of this solution to each square foot of soil. Keep the bed covered with heavy burlap or canvas for three days before sowing the seed. The seed should also be treated before sowing to insure freedom from transmission of disease. Put the seed in a loose cloth bag and soak for three minutes in a quart of water in which two tablets of corrosive sublimate have been dissolved. Rinse the seed free from this solution immediately and dry thoroughly before sowing.

Shade trees should receive a thorough inspection before Spring. The natural home of the tree in the dense forest where the protection and influence of neighboring trees and the moist, humus laden soil aided in its sustenance, has made the shade tree subject to numerous insect ravages and diseases since moving it out into the hardened soils along the city streets or in lawns, where there is often a deficiency of plant food and moisture. Here they demand care and aid to withstand their new environment. A fine tree is a valuable asset to the home, a necessary adjunct to the comfort and pleasures of every citizen. Efforts and money expended to improve them are well repaid in the results that usually follow.

All broken limbs should be removed. In pruning all limbs should be cut close to the parent trunk or branch. Do not leave a stub. They are ALWAYS fatal. All tree wounds should be given a disinfectant and a coating of heavy white lead paint or other suitable material to keep out rot producing fungi. A thorough application of a dormant spray of lime-sulphur or miscible oil is a good investment for shade tree health. In case of a dangerous rotted area in trunk or branch, it is generally advisable to call a tree surgeon. But he should be reliable. His services are needed as much as those of a dentist in aiding the human teeth to remain sound.

As a nation we are failing to provide proper care for our valuable shade tree heritage or look far enough into the future to see the possibilities of a shadeless nation. The ravages of many lately arrived insect pests and diseases, mutilation by public utility companies, disregard of sanitation and protective measures by owners, decrease of insect-destroying birds, lack of proper appreciation of shade trees by the general public, all are tending toward decadence in many communities, in fact, in a majority of communities.

Nature requires man's help and interest in maintaining shade tree health. And she rewards bountifully.

HYNISON IN ROANOKE.

F. R. Hynson, of Hynson & Bradford, local Frigidaire dealers, is attending the annual Frigidaire regional convention in session in Roanoke, today. Hundreds of dealers and salesmen from this section of the United States attended this big annual meeting, when plans for 1930 business will be outlined by factory officials.

"The year just closed was the most successful in the corporation's history," Mr. Hynson said, "and the entire organization is optimistic as to business in 1930. Frigidaire's leadership in the automatic refrigeration industry was maintained in 1929, and plans have been laid to meet the fast increasing demand for Frigidaire products which the past year has brought."

There are now 1,300,000 Frigidaires in use, more than all other makes of electric refrigerators combined, according to word received from the factory at Dayton, Ohio, by Hynson & Bradford, local dealers.

Frigidaire business in 1929 showed an increase of twenty-five per cent over the preceding year, according to an optimistic message to dealers everywhere from E. G. Biechler, president and general manager, which contained the above announcement.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1930.

VIRGINIA LEADS THE WAY.

In 1928, the state of Virginia appointed a commission to prepare a program for the relief of agriculture in that state. The report of this commission has just been made public.

One of its chief recommendations is for the extension of construction activity upon farm-to-market roads as feeders for the state highway system.

Practically all states are beginning to realize the necessity for good roads in the farming sections to enable the farmer to transport his produce when market conditions are most favorable instead of when the roads are passable, and to alleviate the social isolation which used to be synonymous with living on a farm.

While main through highways are of course indispensable, lower cost hard surfaced roads reaching all farms (so-called farm-to-market roads), are equally necessary to an efficient highway system.

SPARROWS AND THEIR BERRIES.

Have you ever been awakened in the morning by the noise of a hundred chirping sparrows breakfasting off the red berries on a mountain ash tree?

The noise is cheerful, if not musical, and they seem to be holding a thanksgiving service out of pure enjoyment and passing a vote of thanks.

They are not worrying about future supplies of berries and seem utterly oblivious of where the berries came from or how nature supplied them.

They remind us of professional political agitators who hold noisy meetings, discuss industries and condemn private enterprise.

Such agitators have as little conception of the sources from which employment and daily bread and butter flow, as have the sparrows of their supply of berries.

Nature supplies the sparrows with the berries just as stored capital and experienced brains plan industries and make employment possible.

The berries must grow and ripen in spite of the elements and the handicaps with which they have to contend.

Industries must grow and furnish employment in spite of the political handicaps with which they constantly have to contend.

The sparrows and the agitators enjoy making the big noise and eating the berries which they do not provide.

It takes more brains to raise berries than to eat them.

THE McNARY RESOLUTION.

Introduction of a resolution by Senator McNary authorizing the President to appoint a fact-finding committee to investigate the demand and supply of agricultural labor is a practical step in dealing with the common labor problem in the United States.

With attempts being made to abolish the common labor supply by extending the quota provision of the Immigration Law to Mexico, and industry in general, including agriculture, distressed during most of the cropping season by shortage of common labor, the common labor situation is a problem of first importance.

It is but logical and judicious that an impartial committee be appointed to investigate the facts and determine the course to be pursued in dealing with the immigration problem.

Either the quota provision of the Immigration Act should be extended to Mexico or it should not, and the best way to determine it is by an impartial survey of the facts. The issue is far too vital to industry to permit of arbitrary or precipitous action. It may involve not only the general welfare but the very existence of much western industry.

THE GOVERNOR IS RIGHT.

To deter people from committing crimes, certainty of suitable punishment is more effective "than all the moral suasion and psychopathic treatment that penologists can prescribe", in the belief of Governor Theodore Christianson, of Minnesota.

If, by example, the so-called potential criminal element could be rid of the idea that escape from punishment was 90 per cent certain through pardon, parole and legal red tape generally, it is safe to say that a 75 per cent reduction in crime would be noticeable almost overnight.

As long as laws are not enforced and punishment is considered only as a hazy probability, crime will continue to flourish as one of the biggest industries in the country today, costing legitimate business and law-abiding individuals millions of dollars annually, to say nothing of a countless number of human lives.

And the best remedy that many law-makers can suggest is "more laws" for the criminals to "obey". What a joke. They merely restrict law-abiding citizens.

CONSEQUENCES OR BENEFITS?

The tariff is one of the factors that make the wheels of industry go 'round.

It is our bulwark against foreign domination of the American market. It is the protection afforded our workers, manufacturers and farmers against low-wage-scale, poor-living-condition competition which, if allowed free play, would prove ruinous to our prosperity and our hopes of progress.

It should not exclude foreign goods, however. It should be an equalizer, assuring fair and equitable competition to all in the domestic market.

Press Comment

Mighty Urge.

Dayton News—Senator Borah says open saloons are being operated all over the country, and a good many fellows who aren't dries are urging him to publish the list of addresses.

The International Sunday School Lesson for January 26 is "Standards of the Kingdom"—Matthew 5:3-9, 17-20, 27-28, 43-48.

Atlanta preachers recently registered public disagreement with an address by Dr. Will Durant, in which this popularizer of philosophy declared that there are no fixed standards of morality, and that each new generation must discover and practice its own code of life. Durant, as every student of contemporary literature knows, is merely an echo of other men's thoughts; and in Atlanta he was simply rehearsing the popular newest notions of self-expression and preachers were right to record their dissent and indignation. However, because this is a Christian Country, anybody has liberty to express any sort of opinion, no matter how foolish; and, equally, sound-think persons have a right and a duty to make public their disagreements with false and hurtful teachings. It would be well if preachers and Christian teachers all over the land were more vigorous and outspoken in showing the philosophical superficiality and social hurtfulness of this new cult of "freedom" which is being parroted on all sides by writers and speakers who are more desirous of being "up to date" than being sensible or serviceable. Our present Lesson upon "Standards of the Kingdom", forces the subject to the fore.

Vogue of "Do-As-You-Pleaseism"

I find educated laymen more alert to the shallowness and ultimate harm of the current philosophical vogue than are the educators of the clergy. Beneath the prevailing patter about the divinity of personality, they perceive that do-as-you-pleaseism—for that is what the whole trend means, when stripped of its professional jargon—lies nothing but disaster for the individual and for society.

If there is no authority higher than the wishes and nature of the individual, then the gunman, the swindler, the rake, the divorcee, the exploiter and the suicide must be given a clear track. A generation of youth, trained to scoff at law, human or divine, when its own impulses are crossed, is an excellent preparation for the collapse of civilization. The trail that these moderns think they are blazing leads straight back into the jungle. A standardsless society is nothing less than reversion to primitive individualism, a nullification of the progress of the centuries.

Christianity is openly at war with this new heathenism. Christianity is a religion of standards, of law, of authority. Within the limit of the clear teachings of the Bible there is room for the noblest expression of personality; but no life that would truly live and be effective, may transgress those limits. Over against the childish impulses of "I feel" and "I want" and "I don't want", this Book clearly sets the inexorable "Thus saith the Lord". On Mount Sinai was laid down the unshakable, universal, perpetual Moral Law; on the Mount of Beatitudes was expounded the supplemental Spiritual Law. These two codes have stood the test of the ages: they will still remain the measure of human capability long centuries after our present spasm of fleshly revolt has been forgotten.

The End Tests All.

Anybody who follows to the limit the modern fleshly philosophy is likely to end in the divorce court or the police court or a suicide grave. But whoever comes after Jesus, and seeks to translate His words into real life, is certain to grow in mental and moral stature, and into the beauty of holiness and into the strength of brotherliness, and into the happiness.

Maybe It's a New Racket.

New Yorker—All in all, we guess, the most interesting bit of information we have picked up in weeks is this: Mr. Al Capone, from his cell in the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia, has entered his subscription to the magazine, Country Life.

Gloomy Outlook.

Boston Globe—Leaders of the Democratic insurgent coalition in the Senate and the regular Republicans agree that the tariff bill will be kept before the Senate until it is passed; another sign that it will be a long, hard winter.

Human Nature Unchanged.

Toledo Blade—Far as our observation goes little girls are as fond of dolls as they were before the birth control advocates opened their campaign.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FOR JANUARY 26, 1930.

of personal peace. Twenty centuries of Christians amply attest this.

After all, say our noisy moderns, a man is really, when resolved, into his elements, only about ninety-seven cents' worth of chemicals; and his physical reactions are the important thing about him. On the other hand Jesus declares that a man is a living spirit, and a son of God, with vast possibilities of developing into his Father's likeness.

St. Augustine remarked that God deals with us not as we are, but as we are becoming—a phrase that will repay pondering. Jesus was like the sculptor who sees the statue in the block of marble; He saw the hero in the coward, the leader in the follower, the saint in the sinner. Thus the Master forever meets man on the level of highest understanding and sympathy and expectation. He seemed as has been said, to love the words "lost", "least", "last"; for He envisioned them as found, finest, and first.

Herein is the great difference between Christ's attitude toward personality and that of the prophets of despair. He perceived the essential possibility in every one of us. His emphasis was upon what is truly real and significant. In some homely lines upon the modern "debunking" tendency in literature, Berton Braley has gone to the heart of the matter:

"Although, as through the world he plodded,
It's said that Homer sometimes nodded,
Note this about that poet-roamer—
It wasn't nodding made him Homer!

"It's true that Alexander drank
And was at times a sot, a tank,
But set this also down, with candor,
It wasn't drink made Alexander!

"Caesar had weaknesses galore,
He reveled and he drank and swore:
He had his foibles such as there are,
But—weaknesses did not make Caesar!

"Washington, too, its plain to see,
Had all the faults of you and me:
But when all this is said and done,
They didn't make him Washington!

"So let 'debunkers' do their worst—
When all their stories are rehearsed,
They only serve to prove afresh
The Spirit's mightier than the flesh!"

A Little Hill Looms Large.

One of the high spots of history is the scene of the setting forth, by Jesus, of His standards. His philosophy, His law, Tradition, dating back to the crusades, says that the place of the Sermon on the Mount was Kurn Hattin, back of Tiberias, on the western shore of the Lake. Far more probable is a hillside at the upper end of the Lake, between the two cities of Bethesda and Capernaum. One such eminence, surmounted by what the Arabs call "trees of blessing", fulfills all the conditions of the record. In any case, the little hill where Jesus laid down the platform of His kingdom is higher in history and in significance than the Himalayas.

There were spoken the Beatitudes, which every well-trained child knows by heart: "Blessed are the poor in spirit," "the mourners," "the meek," "the peacemakers," "the persecuted for righteousness sake."

That word "blessed" has been so long man-handled that the modern meaning has almost been defaced. "Happy" is not quite big enough; "fortunate and favored" is a bit vague; so is "approved and advantaged". The idea is that the possessor of the qualities named is praised by Jesus as having met His standard. Indeed, there is a profound sense in which these virtues are their own reward: what more can one ask than to be well-pleasing unto Him?

Revolutionary beyond all other philosophies are these ideals of Jesus. Be it observed that they all deal with individual qualities: they are the Master's estimate of personality, but personality with standards. Our day's blunder of considering men in the mass and as classes, never touched the Great Teacher. All tributes to Him as that sort of "reformer" are mistaken. He had no vast schemes for social reconstruction; but only for the redemption and transformation of human lives, one by one. The standards of Jesus are all personal.

A Difference

The railway supervisor of a Western line received the following note from one of his foremen—

"I am sending in the accident report on Casey's foot when he struck it with the spike maul. Now, under 'Remarks,' do you want mine or do you want Casey's?"—Everybody's.

MAN POWER IN INDUSTRY.

Today when youth is generally given the preference in industry, the attitude of the Chevrolet Motor Company toward older men and veteran employees presents an interesting view of some of the policies which have contributed to the growth and development of the Chevrolet manufacturing organization.

Commenting on the status of the veteran in industry, Charles F. Barth, vice president and general manufacturing manager, declares that "age is no barrier to employment and promotion with Chevrolet. We have drawn no age lines in our organization. If a man is physically fit and disposed to do the work in mind for him he will receive favorable consideration, regardless of his age."

In its Flint plants alone, Chevrolet is now employing 324 men over 50 years of age. Of these 131 are between the ages of 50 and 55; 98 are between the ages of 55 and 60 and 95 are more than 60 years of age. Sentiment plays but a small part in the things, despite the company's interest in older men, Mr. Barth explains. The company is perhaps, "hardheaded" in its evaluation of their worth. We have no ribbons or buttons for our old timers. Each man is put on his own mettle and made to feel the responsibility we place in him. We appeal to and rely on the man in men.

SOIL SOILS IMPROVED.

Korean lespezeza has a place as a soil improver in Prince William County on soils that are sour or are too thin to grow clover satisfactorily. It is an improved variety of common lespezeza (Japan clover) which was first brought to this country from Korea in 1921 by the Department of Agriculture. Korean lespezeza is an annual leguminous plant making a growth of four to six inches on poor soil and 12 to 20 inches on good soil. On poor soil it makes enough growth for grazing but usually not enough for hay. Where its growth is more luxuriant it may be cut for hay. In this latitude, if seeded in May or June it ripens seed and dies in late August or early September. While it will not live over winter, it will continue to reseed itself indefinitely unless destroyed by cultivation.

It is recommended that the seed be sown at the rate of ten to fifteen pounds to the acre, preferably in March or April. The quotations on this seed vary from thirty to forty cents per pound.

Korean is a wonderful seed crop. Mr. J. S. Hastings, in Halifax county, sowed about 300 pounds of Korean seed on 30 acres of small grain last spring and after harvesting the small grain, he harvested about 850 bushels of seed that fall. The seed weighs 25 pounds per bushel. However, it would not be wise for many growers to go in for production of seed as it is possible that there will be an overproduction.

It is not necessary to lime or inoculate to have success with Korean lespezeza, but it will do better with lime than without it. It is not expected to take the place of clover. Where red, alsike, white or sweet clover do well, there is no place for lespezeza. It will help to bring poor soils up to a state of fertility, where clover can be grown satisfactorily.

Coaxing a Fire

Husband—You accuse me of rockless extravagance. When did I ever make a useless purchase?

Wife—What about that fire extinguisher you bought a year ago? We've never used it once.—Herst, (England) Observer.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad and loving remembrance of my dear sister, Beulah Houghton, who departed this life one week ago today, January 18, 1930. She was the youngest daughter of the late Elder W. S. Athey and was loved by all who knew her with a smile and pleasant word for every one she met, and always looked on the bright side of life.

God alone, knows how we miss you, Tears in silence often flow; For memory keeps you ever near us, Though you died one week ago.

God has given, God has taken, Dear Beulah we must bear the pain, For we hope some day to meet you, Where we'll never part again.

Oh, how sad to see you Beulah, In that cold earth, laid away,— And we know we cannot see you, Until that final Judgment Day.

We must follow you, dear Beulah, We must cross the Mystic Sea; When our days on earth are ended May we meet in heaven with thee.

Written by her loving sister,
IDA ATHEY BRAWNER.

SUDLEY BIBLE CLASS HAS INTERESTING MEETING

(Contributed.)

The Wesley Bible Class of Sudley Church held its regular monthly meeting on January 2, at 2 o'clock. The hymn, "It Is Glory Just to Walk With Him", was sung. The Twenty-third Psalm was read responsively, and a prayer by the Pastor, preceded the business. Of this session, there is one thing we should like to record; upon the recent death of Mr. Alfred Cather in Atlantic City, the Bible Class sent money for the purchase of flowers for his grave. After consulting each other, his sisters refused to buy the wreath, and asked that the money be used toward the Christmas treat for the children of Sudley, as they felt that this would have been their brother's wish. Mr. Cather was a brother of Mrs. J. D. Wheeler, Mrs. Samuel Swart and Mrs. Hamilton Swart, and was one of the boys whose sunny disposition helped to make "Old Sudley" a place of beautiful memories.

Delightful Program.

A duet, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord", was beautifully sung by Mr. Charles R. McDonald and Rev. Chas.

F. Phillips. The president then announced that as this seemed to be a season of the year when everyone around had been showering good wishes upon friends, the Bible Class had decided that it, too, would keep abreast of the times by showing its affection for its oldest and most beloved member, who soon will have completed 83 years of active service in Sudley community.

For this special occasion, the following poem was written by Mrs. William Henry Dogan and read by Mrs. Charles Craig Lynn, being dedicated to Mrs. Mary Eleanor Wilkins, who all her life has been doing "something for somebody."

"Sis"

Her name is Mary Eleanor,
But most folks call her "Sis".
You may not know about her
So I will tell you this.

She's kind and good and faithful, too,
With quite a bit of "sass"
To give her august teacher
When he tries to quiz the class.

A charter member of our bunch,
Been known through all the years.
For work and fun and piety—
That's why we say "Three Cheers!"

Of all these virtues she's convicted
By Sudley folks surrounding,
And they, the jury, are agreed
The penalty be a "pounding".

COMMUNITY IS SADDENED BY DEATH OF MRS CARTER

Popular Young Matron Died In Warrenton Hospital Last Week. Funeral At Haymarket.

By B. M.

The entire community of Haymarket was shocked and distressed by the sudden illness and death of one of the most beloved and popular young matrons, Mrs. Frances Grinnan Carter, wife of Charles Edward Carter of the "Bungalow". Mrs. Carter's death occurred at the Warrenton Hospital, Saturday morning, January 13, after an illness of about a week's duration. The funeral took place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Haymarket, on Sunday afternoon. The service was read by the rector, Rev. W. F. Carpenter, "Oh Love that Will Not Let Me Go" and other hymns being sung by the choir of the church. In the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends she was laid to rest in the church yard.

Mrs. Carter was the only daughter of the late Rev. Andrew Grinnan, a former rector of St. Paul's Church. She was a graduate of Stuart Hall, Staunton, and of Wellesley College. For several years prior to her marriage she had lived in New York and Richmond. In June, 1928, her marriage took place at the Grinnan family home "Brampton", Woodberry Forest.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a little two-year-old daughter, Anne Cosnor; a brother, Dr. Andrew Grinnan, of New York and a large family connection.

CATHARPIN

Mr. F. H. Sanders, who has been confined to his home for a few days by illness, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith entertained during the week-end their daughters, Misses Mildred and Roberta Smith, of Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. and Mrs. William Towers, Jr., and Mr. Edward Smith, of Washington; Messrs. Roy Patton, Samuel Haislip and Richard Buck, of Plainsboro, New Jersey.

A little daughter was recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sowers at their home in Charlotte, North Carolina. Mrs. Sowers was formerly Miss Louise Ellison, of Catharpin.

Mr. J. Morris Polen was a Manassas visitor on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. McDonald have recovered from their recent indisposition.

Mr. Cary Smith is among those who have recently been ill with chicken-pox.

News has reached us of the birth of a little daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Swift at their home in Oakland, Calif., where they are spending the winter. Mrs. Swift, who will be remembered as Miss Carrie Fetter, is well known here.

Misses Loriece and Hazel Carter, of Manassas, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie on Sunday.

SPEEDY RELIEF FOR SORE THROAT

This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling.

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c, and $1.00. Sold by Cocks Pharmacy, Manassas—Adv.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear mother, Lollie V. Garrison, who departed this life one year ago today, January 19, 1929, at Dumfries, Va.

Before our eyes you faded,
Growing weaker every day,
Patiently bearing your suffering,
Until God took you away.

Loving and kind in all your ways,
Upright and just to the end,
Sincere and faithful in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory you left behind.

Her loving daughter,
ELMA V. GARRISON.

Still More Millions
Treat Colds Direct

Round-About Method of "Dosing"
Gives Way To Modern
Vaporizing Salve

More and more people each year are giving up the slow, indirect way of treating colds by "dosing" with internal medicines, and are adopting the modern direct treatment—Vicks VapoRub.

Vicks goes direct to the affected parts and checks the cold in two ways—its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages; at the same time it acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster, "drawing out" tightness and soreness.

Vicks is especially appreciated by mothers because it is just rubbed on, and therefore, cannot upset children's delicate stomachs as "dosing" is apt to do. Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

To keep pace with the ever-growing demand, the famous slogan, "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," was raised to "21 Million" a short time ago. This figure too has been outgrown, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

A CALL TO ARMS!

To the farmers of America:

The fight is now on for real Farm Relief.

The question has been stripped of all camouflage, and the issue is now squarely before Congress, and the President.

The fate of American agriculture is now at stake, and may be determined within the next sixty days.

Within that time Congress, and the President, will decide whether we are to carry out the promises made by both major political parties in the last campaign to put agriculture on equality with industry or whether we are to shut the door of hope in the farmer's face and leave him to endure indefinitely the economic disadvantages from which he is now suffering.

The Senate has performed a great duty.

It has written into the tariff bill the debenture amendment, which, if accepted by the House and the President, will come nearer placing agriculture on equality with industry than it has been for more than sixty years.

This debenture amendment would give agriculture the benefit of the tariff. It would raise the price of wheat 21 cents a bushel, that of corn 12½ cents a bushel, and that of cotton 2 cents a pound, above the world price.

It is the only possible way to give the producers of those commodities the benefit of the tariff. It is the only way to make the tariff on them effective.

For instance, we have a tariff now of forty-two cents a bushel on wheat. If the tariff were effective, wheat would be 42 cents a bushel higher in this country than in Canada or Great Britain.

But the market reports show May wheat selling at $1.27 a bushel in Kansas City, $1.45 in Winnipeg, Canada, and $1.48 in Liverpool, England. Thus, instead of wheat being 42 cents a bushel higher in the United States, as it would be if the tariff on it were effective, it is 18 cents a bushel lower.

in Kansas City than in Winnipeg and 21 cents lower than in Liverpool. And even at Minneapolis and Chicago it was selling on the same day at $1.34, or 11 cents under Winnipeg, just across the line, and 12 cents under Liverpool.

The tariff commission made a thorough investigation last year of the cost of raising wheat in this country and in Canada, and reported to the president that it costs 42 cents a bushel more to raise wheat in the United States than it does in Canada; hence the tariff on wheat was raised to 42 cents,—on paper.

Now, if it costs 42 cents a bushel more to raise wheat in Kansas than it does in Canada, as the investigation showed it does, and wheat is 18 cents a bushel higher in Canada than it is in Kansas, then the Canadian farmer is making 60 cents a bushel more profit on his wheat than is the farmer in Kansas.

The farmer is not asking for a bounty. All he wants is justice—equality with industry under the tariff, so long as we have the present tariff law.

The debenture would make that tariff effective on agriculture and would give to the growers of wheat, corn, and cotton the benefits of the tariff now enjoyed by industry.

Local Boys Show Good Passing Game But Couldn't Quite Catch Up.

By Beverly Mitchell.

Friday night before an estimated crowd of more than 1,000, Manassas received a 28-18 set back at the hands of Washington-Lee High School. The big, heavy set Ballston Five was ahead from the first score. As this was the first league game, the title hope of the locals has taken a darker tinge. In spite of the score, 28-18, there was one bright spot in the game. This was that Manassas out-passed, and out-scored the Generals 18-12 in the last half.

Ballston Boys Rush.

The Orange second team started the hostilities at Ballston and kept the big fellows at bay for about three or four minutes (almost half a quarter). The inevitable happened at last as the Generals put the ball cleanly into the cords. The regulars were then rushed to the firing line, but were unable to stop the scoring streak of the gray-suited boys, who rolled up a 16-5 lead at the half.

The last two quarters were much closer. From the first whistle to the last the five men standing for Manassas fought to overcome the huge lead, but for every goal or free toss they scored, Washington-Lee matched one with it. One foul toss was the deciding margin in this half. The Ballston rooters recognized the grim fight Manassas was putting up and cheered lustily when their visitors broke through to score.

Still Champion Possibilities. The repulse wasn't hard to take when the size and experience of the Generals was compared with that of the light, new five of Manassas.

When our old rival, Warrenton, mixes up with the high school cagers on February first, a vastly improved team will represent Manassas. A victory should come here. With George Mason and Fredericksburg in addition to Warrenton yet to be played, the defeat suffered at Ballston may not prove so costly. M. H. S. may yet be the Northern Virginia champions.

JOHN WEIR WILLCOXON IS BURIED IN MANASSAS

John Weir Willcoxon, sr., died on January 14, 1930, in San Antonio, Texas, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Keller. On Friday morning, January 17th, his body reached Manassas, and in the afternoon, after appropriate services at the Baptist Church, of which he was a member, was laid to rest in the family burial plot in Manassas Cemetery.

The following named pallbearers were in attendance at the church and the grave: Albert Weir, Norman Weir, Otis L. Turner, L. Ledman, James Buckett, sr., Francis M. Lewis. Mr. Willcoxon was born December 22, 1859, at Locust Grove, Prince William County, Va. He was the son of Josiah and Julia Weir Willcoxon and brother of Mrs. Hattie B. Lewis and Mrs. Fannie E. Weir.

He was educated at Bethel Military Academy, Fauquier County, Va., and William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va. On December 26, 1882, he was united in marriage with Miss Ida E. Marders who died in 1894.

Surviving him are three sons and three daughters and one grandson, as follows: J. Lovell Willcoxon, Alexandria; R. Mitchell Willcoxon, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Albert Keller and Miss Frances W. Willcoxon, of San Antonio, Texas; J. W. Willcoxon, jr., of Richmond, Va.; Miss Kate N. Willcoxon, of Manassas, and J. Lovell Willcoxon, jr.

In the passing of John Weir Willcoxon the town of Manassas sustains the loss of a vital factor in community welfare. His respect for law and order commended him to the confidence and esteem of all who cherish a regard for the best things in the conduct of public and personal affairs.

Unwaveringly impartial and honorable in his dealings with his fellow citizens, unyielding and yet charitable in his convictions of right and duty, he went his way and gained the imperishable reward of a "good name".

1929 RECORD YEAR FOR CLOVER YIELD

Virginia harvested an all-time record-breaking crop of red clover seed during 1929, according to G. T. French, chief botanist of the State Department of Agriculture, who is now supervising the testing of samples received from farmers of the clover producing sections. The 1929 crop is estimated at approximately 25,000 bushels, representing three times the normal yield.

Good weather condition are attributed as the cause of the record yield, principally due to the dry spell which existed during July and August which tended to make the clover go to seed rather than to stalk as is the case during the wet periods.

The samples tested so far were found to be weedy and contained a little more dodder seed than usual and some buckhorn. Dodder seed is considered quite dangerous as it is hard to segregate, but buckhorn is easily removed.

"Farmers should be sure to clean the dodder from the clover seed before sowing," Mr. French said, "or otherwise they will find their fields overrun with weeds."

Red clover seed, while produced in nearly all counties of the State, is principally raised in the Valley regions with Augusta, Rockingham and Shenandoah Counties reputed to be most adapted in the volume and quality produced.

DR. ROBERT H. TUCKER ACTING PRESIDENT W. & L.

Lexington, Va., Jan. 23.—Dr. Robert H. Tucker, professor of economics at Washington and Lee University, was elected acting president of the university here, succeeding Dr. Henry Louis Smith, who retired January 1. The election was by the board of trustees, who announced that Dr. Tucker will serve until a permanent president has been selected. Eleven trustees attended today's meeting, which was devoted almost exclusively to discussion on filling the president's office. The trustees will meet again February 21.

Dr. Tucker, their temporary selection, came to Washington and Lee in 1919. He is chairman of the committee on taxation of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and a member of the advisory council of the Stable Money Association.

His administrative experience includes service as dean of the college of science and literature at Oklahoma A. and M. College, from 1906 to 1908. He is now a member of the Washington and Lee faculty executive committee.

The board of trustees added Judge

Charles J. McDermott, of New York, one of their own number, to the committee named to secure a new executive. Dr. William G. Bean, professor of history, was named to head the history department of the university, to succeed Dr. Franklin L. Riley, deceased.

VIRGINIA BOXER FREED.

Harrisonburg, Jan. 23.—Raymond L. Litton, New Market middleweight boxer, was acquitted of a charge of operating a moonshine still by a jury here yesterday in circuit court.

Litton was charged with running the still, which was caught in full operation at the home of his sister-in-law near here, last December.

Two-thirds of the plate glass produced each year is used by the automotive industry.

Airing the Subject

AN interesting manifestation of modern life is that a housewife in Seattle, another in Chicago, and still a third in Boston or San Antonio, Tex., may at this very moment all be trying but simultaneously and for the first time a tempting recipe which has come to each of them through the air. They've all been reading for a long time of the appetizing qualities of many foods on bill boards and car cards, and in newspaper and magazine advertising. Now they'll have to close their ears as well as their eyes if any of them are foolish enough to want to avoid this ubiquitous subject.

Tied Up Tight

One of the very large packers of canned foods has inaugurated a radio campaign of talks twice a week over one of the largest transcontinental radio chains to tie up with its other advertising. This effort to air the subject is being effectively supported by full-color, full-page advertisements in the leading national magazines and free distribution to retail grocers of a unique window poster to tie up with this national advertising as well as with their local newspaper advertising.

Around the World

Listeners-in on their hour on the radio each Thursday evening are being taken on a trip around the world with many calls at ports of importance in food production and distribution. On the following Friday morning a home economics expert gives interesting chats on foods, and supplies tempting recipes which she talks off slowly so as to enable listening housewives to take them down.
