CHARLOTTESVILLE WOMAN'S COLLEGE LOSES FIGHT IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Location Near Manassas May Be Considered By Authorities.

Handsome Near-by Estate Said To Present Attractive Possibilities.

The General Assembly has rejected the project of locating a College of Liberal Arts for Women at Charlottesville, and affiliated with the University of Virginia. Whether the recommendations of Governor Byrd in 1928 were thought inadvisable to carry out at this time for reasons of finance, or whether the often debated question of co-education were determining factors has not been demonstrated, but in view of the universal sentiment in favor of increased educational facilities, it is the consensus of opinion that the project of a separate college for women has attached so much support that the Commission appointed to study the problem became unwilling to recommend co-ordination of the school with the University of Virginia.

The personnel of the Commission, Judge Don Halsey, Edwin L. Stone, Dr. Beverly Tucker, Miss Adele Clark, Miss Helen Ruth Henderson, Edwin B. Jones and Senator Richard B. Wright, brought an unusual array of talent to bear upon the problem.

Public Hearings In November.
In order that the Legislature might have all available information public hearings were held last November, and many delegations appeared. Apparently so much sentiment became evident adverse to co-education at the University of Virginia that the Commission became convinced that the matter of a separate college in a distinctive community might be the decision of the General Assembly, in which case a most intelligent study of available locations would have to be made.

No Question of Merits of College.

There seems to have been no real opposition to the ideal of a female college of liberal arts. Unfortunately the delegations spent most of their time discussing the need for the school a fact which had been recognized by the appointment of the Commission. In consequence the Commission does not seem to have secured enough data on the co-educational aspect to justify recommendation of the Charlottesville location. In any event a state-wide canvass for a location remote from Charlottesville is said to be in prospect, and it is on this account that Manassas, with its ideal location may have consideration. Prince William County is near enough to the great literary and art treasures of the national capital to make those valuable facilities readily available, and it is far enough to eliminate the disadvantages that metropolitan areas offer in the location of a college. In addition the superb natural advantages of the county have a further appeal. Also it is believed that a definite location may be available which would amply satisfy all necessary conditions.

At any rate much speculation is afoot and it is recognized that the area of Virginia just outside the ultimate region of metropolitan growth of Washington will soon be sought as a location for many educational projects.

DISAGREEMENT ON SALARY INCREASES

Gov. Pollard Deplores Salary
Raises By Senate.

The close of the present session is features by a disagreement between the two houses over the budget. This measure, disposing of more than $101,000,000 during the next biennium, was passed in the house practically as presented, with this one exception. The house declined to grant C. H. Morrisett, state tax commissioner, a salary of $12,000, contenting itself with placing this item at $8,000. The bill then went to the senate.

The senate last Friday, sitting until 6 o'clock, not only advanced the salary of the state tax commissioner back to the $12,000 mark, but, in addition, likewise increased the heads of practically every state department by $1,000, with numerous increases of lesser amount in the cases of subordinate officers. In this shape the budget bill went back to the house.

The house immediately rejected every item of salary increase, and so notified the senate. The upper chamber insisted upon the increases, which means that the bill will go to conference in final effort to have the differences adjusted.

When Governor Pollard was informed of the action of the senate in boosting salaries, he said:

"Some of the salary increases were doubtless justifiable under the circumstances, but many of the increases were voted without regard for the importance of the offices, the ability required to fill them or the size of the tasks to be performed. All things considered the effort to bring about a general salary increase at this time was, I think, ill-advised and is to be deplored."

In connection with the salary raising by the senate it may be mentioned that that body Saturday passed a resolution offered by Senator Smith, of Louisa, creating a commission to study the matter of standardizing salaries of state officials and employees at Richmond. Also, the house about the same time passed a bill offered by Delegate Bear, of Roanoke, requiring hereafter from the director of the budget a separate salary list, so that increases cannot be divided up or concealed in the detailed budget.

The senate passed a bill offered by Senator Barron, of Norfolk, calling upon Governor Pollard to appoint "a suitable person" to represent the interests of the taxpayers of the state in the matter of appropriations. The bill provides that such appointee shall perform all of the duties now in the hands of the budget director, and in addition study the compensation and needs and personnel of all departments of the state at the seat of government, with the object of promoting economy.

The senate also passed a measure offered by Senator Holladay, of Richmond, which makes the Federal anti-trust law, known as the Clayton law, applicable in Virginia. This measure was sponsored by the Virginia Wholesale Grocers' Association.

Both houses are well up with their calendars and adjournment will be had by the end of this week.

REV. SHUMATE TO PREACH.

SUPERVISOR ROBERTSON DISCUSSES GAINESVILLE BOND ELECTION

Believes Much Needed School Improvement Can Be Handled
With Very Little Tax Increase.

Interest in the coming election for a $40,000 bond issue for the Gainesville district is mounting daily. The bond issue which will be voted upon on March 28, is for the purpose of caring for the erection of a new High School at Haymarket in the Gainesville district and for improvements to the colored school at Thoroughfare.

In discussing the matter of the bond issue yesterday Rolfe Robertson, member of the Board of Supervisors from the Gainesville district, spoke at length and made a comprehensive survey of the situation with regard to it.

"In regard to the bond issue, I feel that we can handle it with a very little increase in taxes if it meets with the approval of the people of the Gainesville district," said Mr. Robertson.

"We are now carrying a District road tax of forty cents on the hundred dollars to take care and maintain the district roads. If the people deem it wise we can take twenty cents from the District road tax and place same to the credit of the School Bond Issue thereby only increasing our tax in Gainesville District ten cents, I think we can handle this without any material change in our road program, which I will explain as follows:

"The amount of the gasoline tax has increased considerably in the past year and there will be a further increase this year. As we have one of the largest districts in the County I believe we can get more money than we have here to fore. This of course will help to take care of the decrease in our District road levy. A bill has just passed the House and Senate giving Prince William approximately fourteen miles of new road to be taken in the Highway System of which Gainesville District will benefit very considerably. This will be taken in over a period of four years.

"Now if we can get the John Marshall Highway and the Cross County

Road in this system you can readily see that Gainesville District will be relieved of a considerable amount of road, therefore giving more money to the rest of the roads in said District. I would like for the people of the District to get together and let's see if we can't work this proposition out so there will not be a burden to anyone. We will set a date for the meeting in March and here's hoping that every tax payer will be present. I assure you it will be well advertised.

"In regard to the school as Catharpin I think with the assistance of our Superintendent and School Board that a truck can be put in that neighborhood bringing the High School students to the New High School. I am willing to cooperate with them in giving them money to put this road in condition for the school bus. I think five hundred or one thousand dollars should fix up the worst places and give them a good winter time road. I am in hopes the people of that neighborhood will attend our meeting and will try and work out these problems to the satisfaction of most people concerned."

Meeting Saturday.

There will be a meeting to discuss this proposition in the Parish Hall, Haymarket, at 2 p. m., Saturday, March the 15th.

WOMAN'S CLUB ENTER- TAINS AT NOKESVILLE

Gives Valuable Examples of Teaching Music to Children.

The Music Section of the Woman's Club of Manassas gave the second of its series of concerts at Nokesville Tuesday night in the new public school. The purpose of these concerts besides the entertainment side is to arouse interest in music and more definitely still to have music introduced into the public schools of the county. The program of the concert was practically that which had been given at Haymarket recently.

Mrs. Illingworth, who is directing this chorus, delivered an interest address showing just what the purpose is, the experience of others and plans for carrying out the purpose. She also gave a demonstration with first and second grade children and showed which children gave promise and stated that it is universally known that if music is started at the proper time in the life of the child he will always be able to sing, that otherwise a large number never will.

This concert was very well received and a committee was appointed by the chairman of the meeting to see what can be done by the Brentsville District and form plans to start music in the schools when school opens in September.

Besides this there were interesting reports and recognition of them from various community committees for February of this year.

MANASSAS LOSES TO WARRENTON

High School Boys' and Girls
Teams Take Short End of Basketball Games.

(By BEVERLY MITCHELL.)

A disgruntled band of basketball players shook the dust of Warrenton from their shoes and came home under the cloud of two set-backs last Friday night. The girls' game went to Warrenton 27-14, while the Manassas boys swallowed a 32-24 defeat.

Girls' Game Lively.

The girls' game started at a lively clip with the visiting team holding the victorious Warrenton sextet on an even level for about half of a quarter; at which time the latter team forged ahead. The Manassas girls made several rallies but couldn't seem to hold quite the pace that the leaders set. The score doesn't show the battle that the thirty-two minutes really were.

Fast Pace Set.

The Manassas boys started at a terrific clip, fairly dazzling the big men of Warrenton. Lead by Kline and Captain Dodson, the Orange team piled up a decisive 11-4 margin at the first quarter.

Manassas was unable to hold this lead, however, as Warrenton laid out a grim attack that brought them up within one point at the half.

The last half was too much for the plucky Orange five. The fast ball, bouncing in a bewildering fashion from the wall on one side of the court, was deceiving to the visitors, as the tall Warrenton quintet matched goal with goal. Then came a few minutes when the Green five made several goals in succession. Fight as they would, the Manassas boys couldn't overcome the lead. The final count was 32-24.

Dodson and Kline Star.

Captain Dodson and Kline deserve special attention called to their play. Three times Dodson dribbled the length of the floor, through the entire Warrenton defense to score a basket. The last time the goal was ruled out because the referee had blown his whistle. Kline, scoring six points, many times lead the whole floor up to the basket, then quickly passed to a man in a position to shoot.

Hon. R. Walton Moore Secures Favorable Action.

Battle Park Area Attracts Nation-Wide Attention.

House Bill 149, which provides for a study and survey of the two Bull Run Battlefields, passed the House on March 4th and has already been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Swanson.

Under its terms the Secretary of War is authorized to make a study and survey to form the basis of a plan to properly commemorate the battlefields and other points of historical and military interest.

Old Forts At Centreville.

Favorable action by the Senate will insure the ultimate preservation of the old forts and defenses of Centreville which were built by General Johnston and which were so strategically located and arranged as to play a most important part in the great struggle of that day, affecting the movements and fortunes of major military operations.

Whole South Interested.

Bull Run means to the South what Gettysburg means to the North, with the exception that while Gettysburg, which is adequately memorialized and preserved, represents a turning point of fortune, rather than a decisive victory, Bull Run and Manassas are the scenes of one of the greatest and most spectacular military defeats in the ages.

The South, and those of their own achievements widely taken as one of the most whole some signs that a complete unification of the country has been perfected, and constitutes a national recognition of the righteousness and purity of the cause of the Southern Confederacy.

The evening was one that will long be remembered and a delightful time was enjoyed by all present. Many useful presents were received by the couple.

The trip from Nokesville to Manassas was not uneventful as many cars could not negotiate the mud and some of the guests were forced to return home and get wagons and horses so that they could reach their happy objective.

THINGS OF THE SOIL

The Manassas Journal's Complete Agricultural Service
By DAN VAN GORDER

Questions of lawns, gardens and general farming are discussed in this department each week. Readers of The Manassas Journal are invited to use this new column for the answer to their question and the solution of their problems. Address all inquiries to The Manassas Journal Information Bureau, Van Gorder News Service, Manassas, Virginia.

Opportunities March Brings.

The spirit of "wait 'till tomorrow" should not continue after the first of March, else many duties of lawn, garden, orchards and farm will remain neglected as Spring makes her bow.

Many people are asking this Spring for means of combatting scale and other over-wintering insects on shrubs, fruit trees, vines and other plants. Lime-sulphur or miscible oil spray are recommended for dormant spraying, but lime-sulphur will discolor paints when used near buildings, hence its use is often impractical in lawns or gardens. Kerosene emulsion has proved effective under these circumstances, and can be made at home. It is made as follows: dissolve one-half pound of fish oil soap or laundry soap by boiling in one gallon of water in a large kettle or pan. Remove from the fire and add two gallons of kerosene, stirring vigorously for five minutes until the mixture is cream-like in consistency. This stock mixture may be kept for some time, and should not be diluted until needed. For dormant use, add one and two-thirds to two and one-third gallons of water to each gallon of this stock mixture. When trees, vines or shrubs to be sprayed are in foliage or bloom, use five and two-thirds gallons of water with each gallon of stock. This spray is excellent for combatting all scale insects. It is cheap, easy to make, and has the added advantages over lime-sulphur of being agreeable to apply.

Lime sulphur spray may be made at home by following formula, using proportionate amount of ingredients for smaller quantities: 40 pounds of lime, 80 pounds of sulphur, and 50 gallons of water. Moisten the sulphur and work to a smooth paste. Slake the lime in 10 gallons of hot water. Pour the sulphur paste into the lime during slaking. Boil this mixture for one hour. Allow to settle, then drain off the clear, dark concentrate and store if not needed at once. While boiling add water to keep contents up to the 50 gallon mark. This mixture should have a density of 33 degrees on the Baume scale. At this strength it should be used at the rate of one pint to each gallon of water when diluted. This spray is used extensively for control of San Jose scale and oyster-shell scale, and other dormant purposes.

Rather than raise checks from home production eggs from inferior grade hens, purchase day old chicks from reliable hatcheries where breed is known to be high in quality. There are many accredited hatcheries where the buyer is adequately protected. Don't waste feed, labor and equipment on run-down strains of poultry. If incubator or hen hatching methods are preferred, buy setting eggs from a poultryman who keeps standard bred stock.

Tests show that the mortality rate of young chicks depends largely on the amount of space they have.

Carolina Druggist Pioneered Modern Way to Treat Colds

Developed Valuable Formula While
Seeking Way to Avoid "Dosing"
Children's Colds

While trying to find a treatment for the colds of his own children which would avoid constant "dosing," so disturbing to delicate little stomachs, Lunsford Richardson, a North Carolina pharmacist, developed Vicks VapoRub—the modern external treatment for colds.

Being applied externally, this modern vaporizing ointment cannot disturb the digestion. When rubbed on throat and chest it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages; and, at the same time, it acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

As one enthusiastic mother told another about this better method of treating colds Vicks soon became widely known. In time adults, too, found by actual use that it is equally good for their own colds. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and the fame of Vicks has spread to over 60 countries.

The ever-increasing demand is shown in the familiar Vicks slogan. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," and later raised to "21 Million," the figures have again been changed—as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Where 35 square feet or less of space were allowed each 100 birds, the death rate was 26.3 per cent; 35 to 50 square feet of space, 16.2 per cent; and where an allowance of 50 or more square feet for each 100 chicks was provided, the death rate dropped to 13.1 per cent. Don't crowd the chicks.

Coccidiosis, commonly known as "white diarrhea?" will likely take its toll from the young brood if precautions are not observed. Keep the chicks from chilling. Keep them from contact with soil where poultry has run during the past two years. Wire floors have proved effective against this disease, also other intestinal disorders. Sanitation and better quality stock will swell poultry profits.

Feed the apple trees about two weeks before full bloom. Apply nitrate of soda at the rate of one-fourth pound around trees one to two years old; one-half to one pound around trees three years old. Increase this amount gradually from two to four pounds on trees six to ten years of age; five to ten pounds on trees 10 to 30 years old. The amount of fertilizer, of course, must depend on the soil fertility and the needs of the individual tree. But feeding apple trees in the Spring pays big dividends in increased yields.

Prune peach trees while in full bloom. Then can be determined how much growth to remove to suit the probable demands on the tree from the new crop. Also amount of sunlight to let in can be determined. The less bloom, the more new growth should be removed. Spread of brown rot can be retarded by letting in plenty of sunlight.

300,000 more dairy cows are needed each year in the United States to feed the increase of population. The average consumption of dairy products has increased materially in the past 10 years. It is now 55.3 gallons of milk, 17.52 pounds of butter, 4.14 pounds of cheese, and 2.85 gallons of ice cream for each man, woman and child. No serious danger of over production.

There were 203 cows for each 1000 people in 1929; 189 cows per 1000 people in 1928. Brighter prospects ahead for the up-to-the-minute dairyman. Better breeding, better feeding, and more legumes make a good slogan the 1930 dairy.

Prepare farm and home statistic of all crops and farm animals for the census taker. He will be around in a few days. The more intelligently you answer his questions, the more accurate and valuable will be the results of our national food producing industry survey when the final totals are compiled.

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

A SOLEMN WARNING—Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.—Romans 6:12.

PRAYER:

Keep me, Lord, keep even me.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I regretfully announce that I have sold The Manassas Journal effective last Monday. Upon the advice of physicians I am required to take a long rest and complete rest could only be obtained by dropping all active work.

I have had high ambitions for The Journal and was slowly realizing them. My successors, Messrs. W. H. Lamb and R. D. Wharton, are experienced newspaper men and are well known to most of the people of Prince William County, and on assuming ownership on March 1, made plans to continue the policies of The Journal for the advancement of Prince William County.

F. W. PATTERSON.

UNCERTAINTIES OF AVIATION.

Although tremendous strides have been made toward making air-travel safe, the newspapers almost daily inform a callous world of another crash and more deaths. The latest is that of Captain Lyman Patterson, well-known in Virginia, where he was widely loved as a man and profoundly respected for his long record of safe flying.

As a skillful pilot, he was probably unsurpassed in the Eastern section of the country. Belonging to the old school of flying, he was trained in the army in 1917, and before reaching his majority was an instructor at an army field in Texas. He continued to fly after leaving the service and rolled up the astonishing total of some 3,000 hours in the air with but one minor accident in which he escaped unscathed, marring his record. He died February 22, after crashing at Logan Field, Baltimore.

A new monoplane he was testing Friday developed motor trouble; suddenly, ominously, without warning, the motor was heard to die; it caught on and died again; the plane, from a height of 200 feet, came crashing to the ground. The toll: The beloved and renowned Captain Patterson, dead; three others critically injured.

Aviation and Virginia have lost a noble and enthusiastic friend.—Richmond Times-Dispatch, February 23, 1930.

WALTER B. CLARKSON.

Prince William County may well be proud of the record of its sons in the field of commerce, law, science and art. Whenever our boys go they have reflected great honor upon their native State and County.

It is, however, with especial pride that we note the achievements of the Clarkson boys of Haymarket. For many years they have been forging ahead and now Mr. Walter B. Clarkson has achieved the distinction and the Vice-Presidency of the C. & P. Telephone Company of Maryland, District of Columbia and Virginia.

This newspaper joins his other numerous friends in extending hearty congratulations and wishes for greater achievements in the years to come.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

Mr. Editor: It is probable that an agency for help and uplift quietly at work in our midst has been overlooked by many. We refer to the "Community" or union prayer meetings held every Wednesday night in the Sunday School room of the Presbyterian Church.

These meetings are usually led and the message given by some minister of the town, but occasionally by a layman. Once indeed, by a very young layman. The meetings vary from time to time, no two being exactly alike.

Sometimes we are edified by a scholarly exposition of Hebrews. Again we are thrilled by a description of the good soldier whose battleground is his own soul. Yet again the discouraged are heartened and encouraged by thoughts on just the three words, "And they prayed".

The spirit of Christian fellowship and good will is very marked in these little gatherings. We feel sure any of the ministers would be glad to talk with, and counsel and advise any who are troubled or perplexed in their Christian Warfare.

MAKES A DIFFERENCE And HOW!

THE difference between crops that make a poor yield and crops that make a good yield, often is only a matter of a few pounds of Chilean Nitrate of Soda. This amazing nitrogen fertilizer makes more fruit every time... better quality, too.

Chilean Nitrate starts working as soon as applied. Its life-giving nitrogen is immediately available. It will accomplish wonders on every crop you grow—grain, fruit, truck and corn. The fact that Chilean Nitrate contains iodine, too, is being given increasing importance by fertilizer authorities.

Chilean Nitrate is the natural nitrate fertilizer—not synthetic—not artificial. It costs very little to use Chilean Nitrate fertilizer. It pays you back many times over.

COLLEGE SPORTS THRIVE IN THE OLD DOMINION

Southern Conference tournaments in basketball and boxing claimed the major interest of Old Dominion sports followers last week. At Charlottesville, twelve boxing teams gathered for a series of elimination bouts to determine a conference champion, in what was probably the largest collegiate affair of its kind ever staged in the world. At the close of more than 150 rounds of spirited boxing, V. M. I. and Florida each boasted three unbeaten men in seven entries, North Carolina and Tulane two, while Virginia, V. P. I., Duke and Georgia each pinned their hopes on one fighter. Washington and Lee, Sewanee, L. B. U., and Clemson failed to place in the semi-finals.

Virginia's hopes of capturing a basketball crown were blasted early in the Southern Conference cage tourney at Atlanta. V. M. I. bowed to Tennessee in their first engagement, while W. & L. managed to nose out Mississippi after an extra period of play but slumped disastrously in the quarter-finals to crumple before the same volunteers that eliminated the Keydets.

William and Mary gained their second Virginia Conference championship of the 1929-30 season by winning over Randolph-Macon, Lynchburg and Hampden-Sydney in a row last week. The Indians have dropped only one circuit contest in twelve played and boast victories over every Old Dominion cage team with the exception of W. & L., and V. P. I. Randolph-Macon tossers, with only two losses in twelve games, are holding second position in the State collegiate loop.

V. M. I. grapplers won an easy decision over V. P. I. on Saturday to close their second consecutive season with an unblemished record.

Buchanan High quint battled their way successfully to the top of the State Class B ranks at V. P. I. last week, defeating Rocky Mount for the 1930 title. This victory was the twenty-first straight triumph for the Buchanan alds.
