

MUSIC LOVERS
SHOULD COMEWoman's Club Putting Finishing
Touches on Splendid Program

For the music lovers of Manassas there is a treat in store. For on Friday the 24th, the Music Section of the Woman's Club will give in the High School Auditorium its long expected concert; and not they alone but they will be reinforced by outside talent.

It will be remembered that at the it was decided to employ a competent person, who is to teach music to the children of the public schools. The ladies are using this concert as one of the means to fulfill their promise to supply funds for the salary of this teacher.

Miss Mary Apple, noted contralto of Washington, who as a friend of the Swavely School, has sung here before, will this time be the principal attraction and will appear several times on the program.

Miss Benson will dance the Swan by Saint Saens. A number of the young ladies of the town will dance a minuet to the music of Weckert's Menuet d'audet from "Bergerettes," which at the same time will be sung by the ladies.

The chorus consisting of twenty-two under the capable direction of Mrs. Illingworth will sing two groups of four songs each. First, The Linden Tree, Daddy's Sweetheart, Rain, and Since First I Met Thee, afterwards, Absence, After the Rain, The Clock, and I Bring You Heartsease; finally in Kipling's Recessional with the help of Miss Apple and some of the best voices from the Swavely School.

Mrs. Stewart Patten will sing Robert Eden's "What's in the Air Today?" Mrs. Hatcher and Mrs. John Hynson's duet "I Would that My Love" will be well worth hearing. Mrs. Wm. Leachman will be the accompanist all through the program, and she will add as a piano solo Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois."

A large audience is indicated by the way tickets are being sold.

ALLEN STARS IN COUNTY MEETNokesville Youngster Almost Wins
Banned Single Handed

The graded school track meet held Saturday afternoon held much interest. While there were not a great many entries, the races were close and hard fought. The girls' flat races showed that some of them were just as good runners as the boys and they certainly put in plenty of pep.

The individual star of the meet was Billy Allen, of Nokesville, who showed an astounding amount of grit. After cleaning up all the high jumps, he went into the unlimited class and lost to Robert Rollins of Haymarket, by a narrow margin. In point winning, however, he bested Rollins, having a total of 31.

Briefly, the schools ranked as follows: Nokesville, 46; Haymarket, 44; Bennett, 34; Occoquan, 29; Bethel, 26; Catharpin, 18; Gold Ridge, 6; Aden, 4.

FOR LATER PUBLICATION

Force of circumstances makes us postpone two articles that we had fully intended should be given to the people of the county. One is a series of excerpts made from a talk given by Hon. Harry F. Davis, at the Kiwanis dinner last Friday, and the other is a list of the awards at the annual exhibit of the county schools last Friday. We expect to give these next week.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to extend our deepest and most sincere thanks to the dear friends who were so kind to us during our recent sorrow which took from us our beloved husband and father, Lee Colbert; also for the beautiful floral tributes from the railroad employees and others.

HARRY FLOOD BYRD

HARRY F. BYRD REPLIES TO RESEARCH BUREAU CHARGESReveals Connection of Westmoreland Davis with Attack on State Reorganization.

Former Governor Harry F. Byrd in a statement here tonight replied to charges of extravagance laid to his administration by the Virginia Bureau of Research which declared that economy under the Byrd governmental reorganization was "a myth."

Admitting that the cost of state operation for the year ending February 28, 1929 was $2,281,479 more than for the year ending February 28, 1927, former Governor Byrd declared that more than $2,000,000 of this amount was spent on schools and over $600,000 additional for Confederate pensions, criminal expenses and state hospitals.

Former Governor Westmoreland Davis, president of the Virginia Bureau of Research, was pointed to by Byrd as being responsible for the organization's charges. Upon its face the Virginia Bureau of Research looks like an independent, fact-finding organization, Byrd said in tonight's statement. "But closer examination reveals the familiar features of my constant critic from the neighboring County of Loudoun, Hon. Westmoreland Davis.

"It is Mr. Davis who has breathed the breath of financial life into the thirty veins of this bureau of research. Without Mr. Davis there would be no bureau and with Mr. Davis it is not surprising that we have such remarkable research.

"Had Mr. Davis attacked the State reorganization in his own name it would not have been worth while to make this reply, but when he attacks behind the mask of a body indicated as a bureau of independent research we should remove the mask and permit the people to see who is behind it and its remarkable methods of attack.

"I hope the bureau of research has not been an expensive body, for its explorations, now solemnly revealed, have revealed nothing new. The charges of extravagance in State administration were made with equal ingenuity and deceptive dexterity by my good Republican friend, Colonel Henry W. Anderson. In the last campaign for Governor the issue was thoroughly discussed and the verdict rendered.

"My neighbor in Loudoun could save the expense of his Bureau of Research by relying on the sapping and mining operations against the Democratic party by Col. Anderson."

The two million dollars which the statement declared was used during the year ending February 28, 1929, for educational purposes, "was made possible by the prosperous condition of the State Treasury, aided and promoted by the very reorganization and reforms that Mr. Davis has attacked," former Governor Byrd added. "In the same period," he said,

SPELLING AND READING
CONTESTS AT MANASSASPrince William Scholars Complete for Honors

The county contests for the best readers, spellers and story tellers in the graded schools took place at the Manassas High auditorium on Friday night. It was quite exciting and the announcements by Professor Haydon were made in an atmosphere charged with tenseness.

The reading was uniformly good but the story telling was the real feature of the evening. Little Gertrude Shirley, of Nokesville, was irresistible in her quaint way of telling about Sambo in the Forest. Little Miss Virginia Hurst was probably the best in reading group.

The spelling contest developed the fact that we have some very good fast thinking youngsters in the schools. The strain on them told a little and they finally waxed careless, the first to go misunderstanding "mourn" for "morn" and the prize going to Thomas Seelman, of Occoquan when his last competitor tried to put the "o" before "i" in "violin."

The winners are as follows:

First grade Reading—Louise Mills, Bethel.

Second grade Reading—Mary Sanford, Occoquan.

Third grade Reading—Shirley Hynson, Bennett.

Fourth grade Reading—Elizabeth Davies, Bennett.

Fifth grade Reading—Ellen Anderson, Quantico.

Sixth grade Reading—Virginia Hurst, Bennett.

Primary Story Telling—Gertrude Shirley, Nokesville.

Grammar Grade Story Telling—Virginia Newman, Bennett.

While the judges, who were Miss Edith Thompson, rural supervisor for Fairfax County and two of her teachers, were deciding the winners, Professor Haydon presented the health banners. Greenwich was preeminently the best in this group, winning the state banner and the county banner. Nokesville won in the graded class and Woodbine for the one room class. Rev. Dr. Cooke, pastor at Greenwich received the banners on behalf of the school, and made a brief address.

Athletic banners for the county baseball league were awarded to Manassas High and for the graded school track meet to Nokesville.

The musical program included a number by the Manassas High orchestra, two solos by John Clark, youthful radio singer of Haymarket, and a charming violin solo by Miss Mary Frances Ertle, of Nokesville, with Miss Elizabeth Morris at the piano.

BRISTOW MEN ARE FINED

At a hearing before Justice S. H. Haislip on Monday morning, Wilbur Hooe and Leroy Patton were each fined ten dollars and costs for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on Sunday afternoon on the public highway near Bristow. Lester Southern, of Washington, paid the fine and costs.

From report it appears that the two boys and Miss Lillian Crabill, of Manassas, were occupants of a car driven by Mr. Southern. The boys, it is stated, attempted to drag Miss Crabill from the car and a heathly row developed.

A crowd soon gathered and some one sent for Sheriff Kerlin. He and Constable Lynch arrived shortly and found the young men still in a very unruly state of mind. In fact, they had to use considerable force on them to take them into jail where they reposed until Monday morning.

TEMPLE SCHOOL

The Temple School will give its annual programme on Saturday evening, May 31, at 7:45 p. m., at the High School Auditorium. The programme will consist of a short play entitled, "The Enchanted Garden," given by the younger students of the school.

The voice, and violin department under the direction of Mr. Kaspar, and the dancing department under the direction of Miss Bouldin will be presented.

BOARD IS HOST
TO TEACHERSENJOYABLE GET-TOGETHER
MEETING HELD LAST SATURDAY

The county school board and the division superintendent, Professor R. C. Haydon, introduced a pleasant feature to the teaching corps of the county. In place of a rather perfunctory meeting, the Board was the guest of the teachers at the annual exhibit and they in turn gave the teachers a delightful luncheon.

In the brief business session before noon, Professor Haydon went to some length to explain the policies of the Board in his county, especially with regard to improvement of instruction. After introducing the Board members, Mr. Haydon called on Miss Clark, rural supervisor, Mrs. Haydon, county nurse, and Miss Pitts, home demonstration agent, all of whom expressed keen appreciation of the way in which the teachers had worked with them.

Responses were made by Professor Bittle, of Brentsville District High, Miss Hindle, of Haymarket High, and Miss Vaughn, of Occoquan District High.

A CORRECTION.

Last week in our locals our operator very carelessly used the word "donation" for "quotation" in reference to a Mothers' Day meeting of the Bethlehem Club. In proof reading, these sort of errors are hard to catch up, and we apologize to the hostess for this sort of an error.

Telephones Increase; Complaints Decrease

Increasing the number of telephones and at the same time decreasing the number of troubles on telephones and making other improvements in the service were among the accomplishments of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies last year.

Telephones operated by these companies in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia have been increased more than 32,000 in the past year, and there are now about 629,800 in service. Last year a subscriber's line or telephone equipment was in trouble on an average of only once in 23.7 months as compared to 21.3 months previously reported.

Reports show that telephone calls made in the territory of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies last year which failed of completion on the first attempt, due largely to busy reports and don't answers, were reduced by 2.8 per cent over the previous year. This resulted in greater satisfaction to telephone users on about 4,750,000 calls. Also, during the past year the average length of time for handling out-of-town calls was materially reduced and voice transmission on such calls was materially improved.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

THE EPISTLE OF CHRIST—Ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, but in fleshy tables of the heart.—2 Cor. 3:3.

PRAYER:

We are longing to be more perfectly the light of the world, Lord.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

In beginning the thirty-sixth volume of the Manassas Journal, the present owners desire to state that they feel it a favored privilege to have in their charge one of the older papers in the State and one of the most prominent, both in point of circulation and in the goodwill which its lists reflect.

It is our desire to add one step to the growth of this paper beyond the ordinary improvement of mechanical production, and that is some sort of a get-together for our correspondents late in August or early in September.

In making this announcement, we would appreciate it if each correspondent would file his or her name with the next set of notes that we may make an accurate list. We shall also welcome suggestions in making plans for such an event.

TOWN PROGRESS

We believe that the greatest defect in our system of government, national, state and local, is the lack of interest on the part of the individual taxpayer and voter. Vital matters touching upon the welfare of every citizen are almost daily under consideration by public officials who experience the greatest difficulty in getting any reaction or expression from the public.

Virginia law requires publication of tax budgets and public hearings, but only a handful of citizens respond on these occasions. One of the most important meetings of the Town Council of Manassas of the year was held a few weeks ago and matters touching the welfare of every business enterprise in the town were acted upon without the slightest manifestation of public interest.

We are making notable progress in many directions. Every citizen of Prince William should be proud of the County and of its metropolis, Manassas. To attain the greatest success, however, it is essential that all cooperate in accomplishment of the desired ends. "Pull for Prince William, or Pull Out" would be a constructive slogan. We publish Mr. Cocke's interesting letter with great pleasure and assure the Town and the public of our sincere cooperation.

May 17, 1930.

Editor of "The Manassas Journal," Manassas, Virginia.

Dear Sir: I was much impressed with the article published in your issue of the 15th inst., relative to the policy of Mr. Harrahan, City Manager of Portsmouth, Virginia, in keeping the taxpayers of that city informed as the collection and disbursement of the municipal revenues and the results obtained from the expenditure of the same.

In Manassas all records of the above nature are posted and kept up-to-date in the offices of the Treasurer and the Town Manager and these records are open to the inspection of the public. However, very few persons can spare the time to dig into the figures and thoroughly digest them.

Therefore, it occurs to me that this information might be carried to the taxpayers of the town through your columns, provided you could spare the space for this purpose.

With the above object in view, I would suggest a series of articles, each one dealing with a separate utility such as streets, electric current, water, sewers, fire department, police department, etc.

If this could be arranged the Treasurer and myself will be glad to assemble the data from the records. It is also hoped that you could spare the time to mould the figures and facts into reading matter which would be interesting as well as instructive.

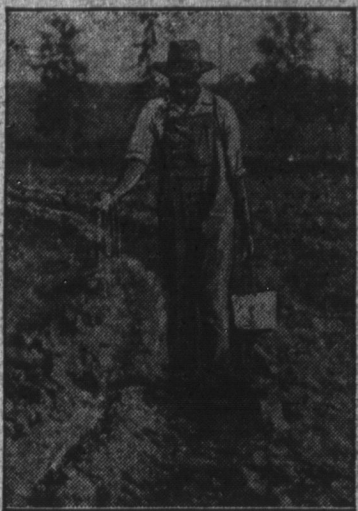

Hoping that you will give this suggestion consideration, I am with warmest regards,

Very truly yours,
Wm. F. Cocke, Town Manager.

You should not fail to attend the Dollar Day Sale of Special merchandise at J. H. Steele Co., Manassas, on May 30 and 31. Many exceptional values will be available.—Adv.

Noted Planter Tells How He Side-Dresses Cotton

Every acre of cotton from East Texas to the Carolinas which did not receive 200 to 400 pounds of nitrogen-fertilizer at planting will make a larger yield if it is side-dressed during the early growing season, says B. L. Moss, well-known farmer and agricultural writer of Soso, Miss.

Side-dressing cotton on Moss farm, Soso, Miss.

On his own farm, where as many as 750 acres are planted in Cotton, Moss side-dresses with 200 pounds of Chilean nitrate of soda, in addition to using about 100 pounds at planting time.

"The safest rule to follow in side-dressing," declares Mr. Moss, "is to make the application any time after the cotton is chopped out and put in a clean state of cultivation, but not later than the time the first blooms appear."

He scatters the material in a shallow furrow alongside the cotton row, on one side only, and lightly covers it by running a broad-sweep or heel-sweep once to each middle. The application is made by hand, and the nitrate dropped from 2 to 4 inches away from the plants. Following this system one man can side-dress about 3 acres a day.

FAYMAN SCHOOL.

The closing exercises of Fayman School will be given on Wednesday evening, May 28th, beginning at 7:45. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Come and bring your friends.

Telephone Research Department Expands

New Building Under Construction Will Provide Increased Laboratory Facilities

The Bell Telephone Laboratories, where research and development is carried on for the Bell System Companies, is undoubtedly one of the best equipped institutions of its kind in the world. In this building, located at 463 West Street, New York City one will find more than 5,400 scientists, engineers and assistants engaged in problems designed to produce new and improved equipment for telephony and telegraphy.

Increased research and development activities in the telephone industry have necessitated an enlargement of the laboratory facilities and the construction of an additional and more modern building is now under way.

Among the interesting sections of the Laboratories are the sound-proof rooms required for research and development work on telephone instruments, acoustics and audition.

Besides preventing the entry of sound, these rooms have specially treated interiors to eliminate reverberation. They have special ventilating systems to admit fresh air without allowing noise to enter. There are now thirteen such rooms, which vary in size from booths in which one or two persons can work to larger rooms thirty by thirty feet square.

These sound-proof rooms are used in tests on various kinds of telephone transmitters and receivers and in studies of speech and hearing.

BY EDWIN F. HILL

Using the telephone is such a convenience that people everywhere are talking more and more. Telephone users in the United States are now making 83,350,000 calls daily from more than 20,000,000 telephones. During the five years ending December 31, 1929, telephones in this country had increased 26 per cent. In the same period of time, telephone calls increased 32 per cent. This means that the use of the telephone is increasing three times as rapidly as the number of telephones.

When Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, said to his assistant, "Mr. Watson, please come here, I want you," he started something. That was fifty-four years ago when there were only two telephones in the world. Now people talk almost everywhere.

Dr. Bell, even at that early date, had the vision to foresee the use of the telephone as an aid to the business and social affairs of all people.

Universal use of the telephone today not only in the United States, but in foreign countries on both sides of the Atlantic emphasizes the value of this means of person to person communication. Today it has come to be generally understood that almost anyone anywhere is only as far away as the nearest telephone.

Sleeveless

Then smart shops are full of them—adorable gowns with no sleeves at all. Once in a while Dame Fashion does relent and give the Fair Sex something that is comfortable as well as smart. How good these sleeveless gowns will feel when the thermometer is creeping upward to ninety in the shade! Nevertheless, many women are hesitating to wear them. Last year's sun-tan left the arms all fuzzy, and the fastidious woman hesitates to expose them to sight. The New York debutantes have solved the problem for themselves, and others are fast following suit. They simply slip their arms free of hair and then enjoy the comfort of sleeveless frocks throughout the summer months.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement, without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Dowell's Pharmacy—Adv.

Foods You Can't Forget

WE'VE all encountered them—delicious dinners with one dish especially the recipe for which you just can't help begging from your hostess. These are the foods that you can't forget, and a file of such recipes, accumulated from time to time, will go far toward making you a famous hostess.

Here are two such recipes picked up recently by a man with a reputation as an epicure.

Stuffed Cherry Sates: Remove the seeds from one pound of one No. 1 can of Royal Anne cherries, and stuff them with the following filling. Mix together thoroughly one cake of cream cheese, one-third cup of crushed pecans, three tablespoons mayonnaise, a dash of cayenne pepper, and salt to taste. Serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing. This will serve seven persons.

A Succulent Stuffing

Chicken Dressing: First of all be sure to brown your bread crumbs in the oven before mixing them with the other ingredients. Then moisten with about one-quarter cup of chicken broth and mix together one quart of the browned bread crumbs, one-quarter cup butter, one cup celery, one cup chestnuts broken in pieces, and salt and pepper to taste. You'll find this far better than the ordinary chicken dressing, and it will make many of your guests wonder how you manage to make your roast chicken taste so good.

Dixie's Corn Yields Rival Nation's Best

The Corn Belt, long famed for its economical corn production, is in danger of losing some of its laurels.

For instance, a Dixie farmer, W. Y. Thrash, of Walnut Grove, Miss., might well contest the honor of producing the highest yield of corn during 1929. In an official contest his average yield on a 2-acre field was 180.52 bushels of shelled corn an acre. In making this exceptional record, Thrash made liberal use of fertilizers. He side-dressed twice with Chilean nitrate of soda during the season, using 200 pounds an acre at each application.

A striking illustration in economic crop production was furnished by another southern grower, Paul Simmons, 18-year-old boy of Plant City, Fla., who won the 4-H Club corn contest of that state. He produced corn at a net cost of 18 cents a bushel. His yield on a one-acre plot was 111 bushels. The only fertilizer young Simmons used was 200 pounds of Chilean nitrate, which was applied as a side-dressing when the corn was knee-high.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cunningham and children and Mr. and Mrs. McDaniels and children, of Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cunningham of Arcola, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Cunningham.

Introduction to United States in 1830 Marked First Use of Commercial Fertilizer.

THE first hundred years in the use of commercial fertilizers can now be recorded in the agricultural history of the United States.

The practice of using commercial nitrogen as a fertilizer was started in 1830 when the first shipment of nitrate of soda was brought to this country. Up to that time only lime and marl of the inorganic substances now commonly used for agricultural purposes were known to the early farmers. Used continuously since that time, nitrate of soda, or Chilean nitrate, as farmers commonly call it, is now recognized as the oldest of the present-day commercial fertilizers.

Although nitrate of soda has become a commonplace article on farms throughout the country, it is not generally known that one of the romances of modern civilization is woven around this fertilizer. It is a product of a barren desert, high in the Andes Mountains of northern Chile. There is no rain or vegetation in the entire nitrate zone, which occupies a region nearly as large as the combined area of New York and Pennsylvania. Not a blade of grass springs from the soil, beneath which is one of the most important fertilizing compounds known to Nature.

The nitrate ore is found at various depths below the surface, the average being about three feet. It varies in richness from 5 to 70 per cent sodium nitrate. Open-cut mining is practiced in removing the ore, after which it is transported to a refining plant erected near by on the desert. The refining of the ore is an extremely technical process. The objective of the operations, however, is to remove the impurities from the ore and to concentrate the sodium nitrate so that when ready for shipment the fertilizer contains 96 to 99 per cent sodium nitrate and analyzes 15.5 per cent nitrogen. Iodine, which is also present in the ore, is a by-product of the refining process. Small quantities of this element are found in the fertilizer, as are also traces of boron and magnesium.

Conservative estimates by geologists and engineers in Chile indicate that the deposits are of sufficient size to supply the needs of the world for generations to come.

Red Letter Events Found in American Agriculture

1830—Nitrate of soda introduced into United States. In point of service, nitrate from Chile is exceeded only by lime and marl of the inorganic substances now used for farm purposes.

1842—Laves in England took out patent for making superphosphate. Since that time phosphate deposits have been discovered in our southern states and in Africa.

1860—Potash from German mines first utilized for farm purposes.
