

SENATOR BALL SPEAKS HERE

Addressed Meeting at Manassas High School last Thursday

Following are extracts from Mr. Ball's remarks:

"I consider it the sacred duty of every candidate for any office representing the people of the State of Virginia, to declare his views on the important questions and issues of the race.

"I believe this is, even more important in this campaign for the Congressional nomination when so many vital issues are before the people. We are at a decisive time in the history of the Eighth District when we are about to select a representative to succeed the Hon. R. Walton Moore, who has ably represented us, and our choice must be governed by these principles which we, as Virginians, live by. How can we select a candidate in accordance with those principles unless we know exactly how he stands and what he proposes to do if he is elected?"

"In my own case I have made a frank and clear statement of my position on every vital question of the day. I have done so in every campaign in which I have been a candidate and I mean to continue doing so, so long as I am in the political field.

"I am dry, personally and politically, publicly and privately. I do not drink, now, nor have I in the past. I believe conditions under prohibition are a vast improvement over the old days of the licensed saloon and I am opposed to taking any backward step. I believe in a fair and impartial enforcement of all laws, treating both rich and poor alike and in cultivating in my own mind and in that of my country."

"The interest of the farmer should be placed in the front ranks of domestic questions. The farmers' industry is the basic industry of the world. He asks no charity. He is fed-up on false promises. He seeks only a fair deal, a decent return on his labor and investment, a chance to market his product on even terms with the producers in other lines. I believe in developing co-operative marketing associations controlled by real farmers and my record in the Virginia legislature will show that I have supported co-operative legislation before ever becoming a candidate for Congress.

"I advocate larger Federal appropriations for roads; lowering of Federal taxes on incomes and inheritances; restriction of immigration and the cutting of red tape to a minimum in Federal relation with war veterans."

KLINE-RAMEY

A very pretty wedding and one of unusual interest to this community was solemnized last Tuesday evening, June 24th, at the Cannon Branch Church of the Brethren, when Mr. John M. Kline, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kline, and Miss Thelma S. Ramey, who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Harley, were united in marriage. Rev. Sam A. Harley, of Brownsville, Md., performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated with spruce, pine, fern, and roses. The altar was banked with pine, and formed a beautiful background for the entire scheme of decoration. Just in front of the altar there was a rustic archway decked in fern and roses and lighted by the mellow glow of a score of candles, placed on top of the archway.

Each window was very prettily decorated with fern and candles. Potted ferns and large bowls of roses and larkspur, completed the decoration.

At a few minutes before 8 o'clock, Miss Bessie Driver, of Vienna, was escorted to the piano. She was dressed in transparent black velvet and carried a small bouquet of gardenias. Mr. William Kline, a brother of the groom, sang "Because," and "O Promise Me."

The procession entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin "Wedding March," and was led by the ushers, Messrs. Early Beahm, of Roanoke; Russell Miller of Oakton; Claron Kline, a brother of the groom and Arthur McDaniel, of Denton, Md.

Following these came the bridesmaids, Misses Alice Breeden, of Manassas; Cleo Driver, of Vienna; Anna Blough, and Etta May Hottle. They were gowned in orchid and yellow georgette, and carried bouquets of fern and larkspur. These were followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. Oren Kline, a sister of the bride, who was very becomingly attired in white, and carried a bouquet of fern and larkspur. Little Miss Wilma Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Kline, and a niece of the groom, was flower girl, and came next in the procession. She was dressed in white organdy and carried a basket of rose petals, which she strewed in the path of the bride.

Miss Elizabeth Harley of Chester, was maid of honor. She was dressed in pink georgette and carried a bouquet of fern and larkspur. She accompanied the bride to the altar.

The bride entered the church with her maid of honor. She was charmingly and beautifully gowned in white satin. She wore the bride's veil with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of pink bride's roses. She was met at the altar by the groom who entered with his best man, Mr. Leslie Kline, a brother of the groom.

After the ceremony the entire procession receded from the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

REPORT MADE TO KIWANIS

Work of County Nurse Lauded by local organization. Chairman Johnson Gives Club Detailed Figures

One of the most simple and impressive meetings of the Kiwanis Club was held at the regular time last Friday evening.

The guest of the evening was our county nurse, Mrs. Ruby Ryman Haydon. For months past, Mrs. Haydon has been going into many homes of the county seeking to find children needing attention and to classify those unable to assist themselves. It has been a work of mercy and of the greatest diplomacy.

The project was fostered originally by the Club on which has fallen practically all of the expense connected with the work to date. Some funds have been contributed by civic and school associations who have realized the general scope of the work.

Last Friday night marked achievement. There were few dry eyes in the audience when our post laureate, O. D. Waters drew from the boards to assist him in visualizing the picture of the work as found by Mrs. Haydon and her accomplishments therein.

The heartiest applause greeted Dr. Johnson's brief but complete statement of the facts connected with the successful treatment in Washington of hospitals of over fifty children. Equal enthusiasm greeted President Hutchison's address, the remarks of F. R. Hynson, Dr. Eli Swavelly, all of whom have given most freely of their energy for months past.

Mrs. Haydon's remarks were illustrative but a typical modesty which has characterized most of her work showed itself in the brevity of her address.

The results of this health campaign have been so successful that surely all Prince William County will rally to give the assistance that is so much needed in pushing this work still further, and in giving a helping hand to underprivileged children who need the same so much.

This lawn party is to start a fund for a District Gymnasium which will also have a room for Agriculture work. This building is badly needed by the school. Both the agriculture and basketball boys were in real need of such a building last year. It is hoped every patron and friend of the school will help us make this entertainment a real success. What other schools have done Brentsville District School can do. If we do our part we can get $1,000 State aid. Let's go!
