Agricultural Team Makes Unusually High Scores at Marshall

The annual district stock judging and grain contest held yesterday at the Fauquier County Fair was the scene of a great victory for the local agricultural school. Professor Pullen took two teams to the contest. The one from Manassas was composed of Claron Kline, Maynard Allen and Arthur Carter; from Nokesville, Herman Swank, Elvin Moss and Ivan Fountain.

Kline rang a perfect score three times, once on corn, once on wheat and once on poultry. Carter registered perfect in two classes of corn. Each made a score of 510. The Club score was 1395 out of a possible 1500. Lincoln made next with a score of 1155. There were seven schools represented.

The silver loving cup won by the team will be on exhibition for the first time tomorrow night at the Kiwanis at the Parish Hall when the team will be a guest of the Club at Farmers Night.

MINATURE GOLF AT MANASSAS

The widespread popularity of miniature golf was attested in Manassas when the opening of the new Prince William Golf Course on the lawn of the Prince William Hotel attracted large gatherings. Young and old enjoyed the sport until late every evening and the indications are that miniature golf will be a permanent means of enjoyment and sociability here.

DROUGHT RELIEF COMMISSION
ADVISES AGAINST HASTY BUYING

One of the most serious conditions confronting the livestock farmers of Virginia at present is the rapidly rising prices of hay and other feed stuffs.

When it became generally known throughout the country that a considerable section of the United States had been seriously affected by dry weather, the farmers in these sections who own livestock became alarmed in regard to their winter feed supplies. They immediately began sending out inquiries in regard to feed prices to farmers' cooperatives and feed dealers in the surplus feed producing sections. This condition has caused a bull market in all livestock feeds, especially hay, and from the best information available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, feed manufacturers and hay dealers, such livestock feeds are now selling for considerably more than the situation justifies.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that the hay crop this year was estimated August 1st at 83,460,000 tons of tame hay and 11,898,000 tons of wild hay, a total of 95,358,000 tons compared with a five year average of 107,623,000 tons. This is a considerable shortage but not enough to occasion panic. There is a considerable surplus of hay in some of the Western states and, with reduced freight rates, our farmers should be able to get hay that they need at fairly reasonable prices if they do not become panicky. The Commission, of course, realizes that there are some farmers who must have hay immediately, and these farmers will have to buy enough for immediate use at current prices, but farmers have enough hay and other roughages to last them three or four months will probably profit by getting all facts both as to supplies and railroad rates before buying their full winter's needs. Of course, where hay can be bought at reasonable prices, it should be bought at once.

The rise in hay prices seems to be accompanied by a rise in prices of mixed feeds for cattle and other forms of livestock. On account of the shortage of corn there may be some justification for a rise in feed prices but, with a bumper crop of wheat, a bumper crop of cotton, and good crops of oats and barley, there should be ample stocks of grains and mixed feeds to meet all the needs of the farmers of this country at fair prices. Many farmers who do not have corn can help meet the situation by substituting wheat for corn in their grain rations. According to the best information that the Commission has to date, we do not believe farmers should be stampeded into contracting for feeds at high prices. From what can be learned, very few feed companies of any size in this country are buying heavily on the present markets. This is an indication that they think prices are high.

The Virginia Drought Relief Commission is, of course, not in the price predicting business, but from what has been learned of the situation to date, we believe it would pay our farmers to get all the facts in regard to the national situation before buying. The Commission is gathering such acts as rapidly as possible, and will be glad to pass them on the farmers upon request.

The Commission would also urge the farmers in the drought-stricken areas of this state to take the best possible care of existing supplies of straw, hay and other roughages, and to get from the county agents and the Experiment Station information as to using such roughages to the best possible advantage. Rye, crimson clover, vetch, barley, wheat and other such crops should be planted as soon as it is possible to prepare the soil so as to have an available supply of winter and early spring grazing.

REDUCED FREIGHT RATES ON FEEDS SHIPPED INTO COUNTY
NOW IN EFFECT

Anyone desiring to obtain a permit authorizing the movement of feeds at reduced rates must first obtain approval certificate from the county agricultural agent who will make an investigation of each application. The local railroad agent, upon receipt of his application, will transmit the same to the transportation officer of his railroad requesting permit for such movement, such permit to specify the commodity to be shipped, the shipping point, destination, and name of the consignee and consignor, and the time limit in which the shipments are to move. The transportation officer will issue the permit to the originating carriers and at the same time will furnish a copy of the permit to the District Manager of the Car Service Division of the Railway Association having jurisdiction in the territory in which the feeds are received for the purpose of supervising and pooling arrangements.

The county agent is authorized by the Department of Agriculture to approve applications for reduced rates when the benefit of such reduced rates accrues to the farmer-consumer of hay and feed. The dealer in applying for the reduced rate on shipments signs an agreement that all savings will be passed on to the farmer purchaser.

The reduced rate does not apply to feed shipped under milling in transit rates or similar shipping arrangements.

The reduced rates will also apply to livestock shipped from drought areas to points where feed is available.

PUBLIC SERVICE
ANNOUNCEMENT

Electric Company Advocates
Change of Policy and Asks
Cooperation

Recently the Virginia Public Service Company announced a reduction in the rates charged for electric service resulting in a decrease of approximately $500,000.00 a year in their income. In making such a large reduction in their income, this company will necessarily have to offset such reduction by reducing expenses and making other economies, yet at the same time maintaining the splendid service rendered.

One of the items of expense that is to be reduced, is the expense incurred in the collection of delinquent electric accounts which in the past has become a very expensive part of their operation.

Beginning with August 28, the Virginia Public Service Company is going to send out only a single reminder of the unpaid electric bill. This practice is in conformity with regulations on file with the State Corporation Commission, and not wishing to cause any inconvenience to any of their customers, they are requesting those receiving such notice to be prompt in attending to the payment, as under the new method of collection, any unpaid bill for electric service will mean a prompt discontinuance of service.

In today's issue of this paper there appears an advertisement calling the attention of their customers to this change.

In speaking of this change in policy, one of the officials stated that in the past the collection of delinquent electric bills had become a very expensive item. He stated further that considering only one or two accounts, the matter did not become expensive, but that where a large number of customers did not pay their bills within the time limit, and a second notice costing another 3c was mailed, the expenses mounted very rapidly, and it was deemed advisable to eliminate this second notice. Where it is necessary to disconnect the customer, a charge of $1.50 is made to cover this expense.

Having made the reduction in rates, the company feels that with the aid and cooperation of its large number of customers, by remitting promptly for electric service, a large source of expense can be eliminated, thereby benefiting both the customer and the company.

WHY FALL GARDENS?

Why must we? Pellagra, which kills more people in the State of North Carolina annually than all other communicable diseases combined, except tuberculosis, will sweep north this winter unless preventative steps are taken. Already an alarmingly increasing amount is found in southeastern Virginia.

How are we to keep pellagra from spreading in Northern Virginia? No one thing aids in the prevention or cure of pellagra as much as green and leafy vegetables. The summer garden, which has been short, the amount of the summer with his sister, Mrs. John Crouch of near Buckhall.

to that disease is already low for the season of year. Unless fall vegetables are produced Prince William County is going to know this disease.

It is not too late to plant many of the vegetables if they are put in within the next few days. Practically all the green crops can be planted: endive, kale, lettuce, spinach, swiss chard, turnip, and callands. A number of the root crops will also produce; among them are: onions, radishes, rutabagas, beets, carrots, turnips. For your fall planting get just as good seed as you can; plant as soon as you can, and don't be afraid to try one more thing in the ground or one new and heretofore unliked vegetable on the table.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad, but loving remembrance of our devoted sister, aunt, and mother, Richardetta Courm, who entered eternal rest, August 23, 1929. A precious one from us has gone, a voice we loved is stilled. A place is vacant in our home, which never can be filled. When evening shades are falling, and we are all alone, In our hearts there comes a longing, if she could only come back home.

The Word of God
My word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.—Psalm 119:105

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

GOD'S GIFTS GOOD—For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving: For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.—1 Tim. 4:4, 5.

PRAYER:
"May every heart confess Thy name, and ever Thee adore."

PROFITTEERING

The stock buyers are with us as usual, bidding only for the cream of our herds and offering only a fraction of what they are worth. The matter is accentuated this season because of the depression in agricultural production. A good deal of this is psychological because most of us will either be able to pull through by culling instead of selling the best and by waiting just a little to buy outside feed at almost normal prices.

Every effort is being made to prevent excitement and undue inflation of prices. No farmer need be victimized if he will use his head and hold tight.

EMERGENCY FEED CROPS FOR DROUGHT STRICKEN FARMERS

The Commission on Drought Relief has received so many inquiries as to what farmers can do to meet the feed shortage that the chairman has requested Director John R. Hutcheson, member of the committee, to prepare a special statement on this subject. Mr. Hutcheson has consulted the members of the agronomy department of the Virginia Experiment Station, and makes the following statement: "Owing to the lateness of the season, there is little hope that any crop may be seeded after this date with the certainty that a crop of forage may be harvested before frost. If we were assured that we would have an abundance of rain and that frost would not come earlier than the average frost date, we might still sow such crops as millet, buckwheat, and early soy-beans, but August and September are normally months of light rainfall and nothing but a very unusual season will assure sufficient growth of the above mentioned crops before frost to justify seeding them. For this reason it is thought that the best hope for shortening the feeding season is to sow cereals and wintering late in the fall and again in the spring before pastures are ready. The following crops are suggested.

Abruzzi Rye—Abruzzi rye sown during the last week of August or the first half of September will be ready for grazing by November first and may be grazed until hard freezing weather comes. Under normal season 30 to 40 days of grazing may be expected from this variety of rye after November first. The rye will be ready for grazing again at least thirty days before permanent pastures have made sufficient spring growth to afford a full feed.

Abruzzi is recommended in preference to other varieties of rye, because spring growth than other varieties. It gives more late fall and early Rye may be seeded any time up to November first but, of course, the earlier it is seeded the more fall pasturage it will give. One and one-half bushels of rye seed to the acre is recommended where pasturage is the chief object. The fertilizer requirements of rye are the same as those for wheat. Where the maximum amount of fall grazing is desired, 300 pounds of complete fertilizer to the acre, such as 4-12-4 is recommended for all except extremely fertile soils. On very fertile soils, 300 pounds of 16 per cent superphosphate is suggested.

Barley—Barley seeded during September will afford considerable winter grazing though less than Abruzzi rye, and will produce an early grain which may be used as a substitute for corn next summer. If barley is sown for grain alone, do not sow until September 15, but if it is to be grazed as soon as ready sow any time during the month.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement, without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

Cheerup, cheerup, cheerup!
Cheerily, cheerily, cheerily!
Take the bitter with the sweet.
If you can't get sirloin,
Take a cheaper cut of meat.

Advice is cheap and should be cheaper. Even when it is free, if we take it, we find it in most cases costly.

A report from the American Research Foundation states that a family of four can eat well for $13.92 a week. It took five years of hard labor for the A. R. F. to find out the above lie. No, they don't live well, they simply exist. With oranges $1.20 a dozen, breakfast bacon $.60 a lb., peaches 10c for three and bread 10c for 16 ozs. O Yes, just hand out the crumbs and we won't starve, but if the drought dries our water supply we may get a little thirsty.

The little farmers are the ones that will feel the pinch of crop shortage more than any other rural liver. The hand to mouth folks. The family that is trying to wrest from the breast of Mother Earth the vitamins that keep the mouth on speaking terms with the tummy are liable to have to go in for long distance communication. God must love the poor folks, the poor little hand to mouth farmers for, he made so many of them. Or, are we to blame, and in our ignorance trying to shift the responsibility? Long term notes at the bank and one-half freight rates, car load lot, does not help the little fellow much.

S. Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians, speaks very highly of charity: "Faith, hope, Charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

The old horse is looked after; homes are founded for stray cats. There is a society for the prevention of cruelty to dumb animals, but when it comes to God's elect, the great human race created, or evolved in his image, silence reigns.

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." Civilization of the world in general, and more especially the enlightenment of the Anglo-Saxon race should work out a simplified form of relief for the old and dependent. A nation cannot be graded by the number of millionaires it boasts of, but by the needy and dependent. Ten millionaires and ten millions of paupers are concrete evidence that there is something wrong with our economic and political institutions.

Talking about charity, reminds us that it is our duty and a pleasure to thank the poor old soul that brought us a great big basket of grapes the other day. Appreciation percolated thru our whole family. When this dear old motherly soul gave us the grapes, she said: "With Smith as our next congressman, I am afraid to squeeze a cup of juice that cheers." Hence, our gain.

The old school Baptist have just closed a very interesting aggregation, convocation, gathering or meeting of several days duration. This meeting was held on the starboard rim of Twin City, and was attended by hard shell parsons and followers from all four corners. This particular denomination of Baptist, we understand, represents the original armor plate—the Monitor and Merrimack of deep water denominationalism. While ruminating about cast steel Baptists, etc., reminds us of an actual happening several years ago. Here is the story as told to me by a rollicking roaring son of the sea, and during one of his thoughtful moments, decided to be baptized. He lived on the banks of Aquia Creek. An old fellow by the name of Ball called on Prescher John to do the honors. The Rev. John was on hand with Ball for the great event. Quite a crowd had gathered. John took Ball out in the stream and made an attempt to put him under the water. Ball stood his grounds. Another attempt was made, no success. Then the Rev. John tried putting his foot behind candidate Ball, thinking in this way he could break the tension and get Ball under water. Nothing doing, but at this stage we hear from Ball. The baptismal candidate drawled: "Look here Parsun John, ef yur come here for a rattle, I'll be damned ef the whole family of Johns can throw me."

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Burdette, have taken apartments by the Wigglesworth Building, on Railroad Ave. The radio has been installed, auto stands ready to move forward, can opener occupies an important place in the kitchen. Other incidentals of less importance, will be added as time moves on. Thrice welcome in our midst. Eggy Thompson contracted with Jimmy Dowell to sink a hole in this earthly sphere for the specific purpose of finding water. Forty feet down Jimmy comes in contact with a petrified forest. No water in sight. Jimmy, the contractor is of a dark complexion—Jimmy is afraid of a "Hard Forest."

We have just found out the nickname of one of our dear pretty little girls. "He calls her 'Gin'." Now just that just darling toe heel! Twin City is full of romance. By the way, we want to thank Joe Hinton for reading "Twin City Gossip." Joe, you just keep right on reading and when you think you have found something in "Twin City Gossip" let us know and we will give you your reward.

In reading our great dailies that flood the streets of Twin City, we can't help but notice the flaring headlines, front page gossip, about the Right Rev. Aimee McPherson and Maw McPherson, of Angelus Temple and Aimee kidnapping fame. The papers are busy broadcasting the latest fistic battle between these two devoted female boxers. A punch to the snoot floored "maw" to the count of we would have him sign Aimee up at snooty punch that can flatten the proboscis of an African elephant. If Tex Rickard was still in the land of living we would have him sign Aimee up at and kicking the devil around for these once. O Weel, she has been punching many years. Practice makes perfect. We notice that the railroads in the drought sections are taking the cow catchers off their engines. One railroad official claims that cows are not worth catching at two cents per pound.

Attention: Twin City Methodist Sunday School migrated to Davis Beach, on Ocoquan Bay, yesterday for their annual picnic. Every Jack and Jill reports having a fine time. Swimming, bathing, crabbing, fishing, boating and surf-riding. Surf-riding twenty-five miles per hour. Fun ga-Ocoquan Bay is the mermaid's bath tub. O for an eye full of beautiful water nymphs. See-saws, swings and sand toes for the little ones. Plenty to eat, shade and a nap for the old folks. Don't forget age up or down dose not bar any one from attending. Good attendance, plus interest, minus lethargy fills the Sunday School with happy faces, builds up church attendance and gives a community standing that cannot be attained in any other manner.

"That friendship where men's affections are cemented by an equal and by a common love of goodness, cannot either hope or fear, or any private interest, can ever dissolve."

Why A & P prices for good food are low

A & P has millions of customers all over the country, and more customers are coming to A & P stores every day because they find there the good food they want at prices they know to be as low as is possible to a going business.

There is no secret about this. Like everyone else in business, A & P buys goods to sell them at a profit. A & P's unusual success is due to two facts:

(1) A & P buys the best wherever the best can be bought at greatest advantage to A & P customers; (2) A & P sells the best for only a little more than the best costs—plus selling expense. It can do both these things because so many people buy in its stores.

These people know that A & P passes on to them all the saving when prices fall at the sources of supply, retaining, under all conditions, no more than its regular profit—2½ cents in the dollar.

Try ORANGE AMERICAN GAS At No Extra Cost

The proof of the pudding is in the eating—and the proof of this better regular gasoline is in the tank of your car.

We sought a regular gasoline that would be as far superior to other products in its price class as Amoco-Gas is to other motor fuels. Orange American Gas is the result and it has made good because it's made better.

A new crude, a new refinery and a new process combine to produce a gas that gives a new idea of how good regular gas can be.
