

Federal Funds For Drought Relief

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS
MADE AVAILABLE BY SEC. HYDEByrd Notifies Federal Government That Local Organizations
Are Ready

Announcement was made at the office of the Virginia Drought Relief Commission in Richmond on Thursday that the Federal Government has allocated two hundred thousand dollars for drought relief in Virginia from an expended balance of $800,000 left over from last year's appropriations for flood relief. Applications for loans must be made through County Agents on special forms and the loans must have the approval of the local drought committees.

Director of Extension Service C. W. Warburton has telegraphed Chairman Byrd as follows:

"We are allotting $200,000 or as much thereof as necessary to Virginia for loans for purchase of seed and fertilizer for fall pasture crops. Loans should be confined to individuals unable to finance from any other source, interest 5 per cent, notes mature July 1, 1931. Borrower signs note, but gives no lien, therefore loans must be confined to good moral risks. Applications for loans to be approved by your county committees. Loans are for fall pasture crops only as law does not permit financing crops planted now to be harvested next year. Necessary forms are now being printed, should be distributed to extension agents early next week."

It is stated that this money is to be loaned to farmers unable to secure must be executed maturing July 1, 1931, bearing interest at five per cent. The maximum amount available to any one farmer has not been announced.

Local Organizations Ready

Chairman Harry Flood Byrd has sent the following telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde. Mr. Byrd has also renewed his request that all Virginia be designated as designated as drought area. Vice Chairman John R. Hutchinson, Director of the Blacksburg Experiment Station has issued a warning to the effect that the reports to him from County Agents indicate that there will be suffering this winter in the drought areas of Virginia.

"Very glad to advise you that local drought county in Virginia have been effected as requested by President Hoover. Virginia is now prepared to function promptly through the local organizations and cooperate with you in any and all plans of relief adopted by the National Drought Committee. Would appreciate your plans promptly for drought relief as established at this time."

A pamphlet explaining in detail how drought area farmers may avail themselves of the 50 per cent freight rate reduction on animal and poultry feeds, hay, water, straw and live stock shipped from drought sections to new pastures but not to markets has been sent to county relief chairmen and county farm agents by Chairman Byrd.

The reduction, the pamphlet points out, applies to the extent of one-half of the normal rates east of the Mississippi, in car load shipments. The circular states in part:

"Under these reduced freight rates first cutting alfalfa hay and No. 1 timothy are being shipped into the State at approximately $25 to $27 per ton delivered. While the State Drought Committee does not undertake, of course, to act as an agent for orders for hay and feed, yet if you are unable to obtain quotations in line approximately with these prices we will be glad to do what we can to put you in touch with responsible parties who will sell the hay at reasonable prices not in excess of current market. We, of course, have no assurance that the existing prices will not be increased."

A CORRECTION

In printing the annual statement of the county school board last week there was an error in one of the items, namely, in the receipts from other funds, an item of $20 appeared to read 320.

The total figures under this subhead were correct and there appears to have been no other error.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IS WELL ATTENDED

The County Sunday School Convention held its annual meeting with the U. B. School, Manassas, August 31. Pres. Armstrong Austin presiding.

We regret to report that not as many schools were represented as usual though we had a real good meeting about 300 being in attendance. Special music was rendered by the Cannon Branch male quartet. Solo by Miss Gail Bowman, also music by a class of small children.

Recitation by Miss Bowman. Address by State Secretary, Minnie C. Miller. Subject "Enrollment" he stated that only 24 per cent of our County population was on our Sunday Schools. This being the case, there is much work to be done here by our Sunday School people.

Hon. Frank Ball also made an address and used for his subject "A Useful Life." Mr. Ball always has something good to say and his talk was enjoyed by all. Many others took part in the discussions. Officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: Pres. A. Armstrong; 1st Vice President, J. J. Conner; 2nd Vice, Miss May Fountain; Sec. Treas. R. A. Rust; District Officers, Gainesville, R. B. Gossum, Manassas; M. J. Hotire, Brentsville, J. S. Miller; Colles, Mrs. Ed. Herrell, Dumfries, Mrs. D. C. Cline, Occoquan, Mr. G. Wayland. As several schools were not represented we take this opportunity to ask them to send a report and collection for the State work to County Secretary. We wish also to thank the good people of the U. B. Church for their hospitality extended to us while with them.

R. A. Rust, Secretary.

DROUGHT BULLETIN

Names of all committeemen and Red Cross workers in the counties are not quite ready for publication, but local organizations are beginning to function, Chairman Byrd stated yesterday.

The State Committee is making a survey of Virginia's winter needs and will shortly inform Secretary Hyde of the distress of our farmers.

Livestock growers will attend an important meeting in Roanoke next Tuesday to study means of raising funds to provide hay and feeds this winter.

Virginia's corn production this year will be about fourteen bushels to the acre and the lowest yield in the State in fifty years, the Federal Department of Agriculture stated yesterday.

The rainfall in Virginia this year from March to May was 61 per cent of normal, in June 74 per cent, July 38 per cent and August 45 per cent, according to Washington advices. In 1881, when corn production in Virginia was only fifteen bushels to the acre, the rainfall from March to May was 68 per cent of normal, in June 74 per cent, July 74 per cent and in August 27 per cent.

OFFICER SHOT
BY OFFENDERNokesville Community Scene of Shooting Affray

As an aftermath of the Prince William County colored fair, Elton Shepherd is in the Warrenton Hospital with part of his right shoulder shot away and Fred Holmes is in the local jail, charged with doing the shooting.

Shepherd, who was specially deputized to keep order at the fair, arrested Holmes when the latter had an altercation on the grounds Tuesday afternoon.

Holmes is said to have first stopped Shepherd in front of McClelland Harmon's house, and was invited by Shepherd to come on to his house if he wanted to see him.

Statements of those living nearby credit Holmes with returning to the spot about 8:30 and going on to Shepherd's and into his house where Shepherd, his wife, and John Massie were seated at supper. He sat down and ate a sandwich, and apparently apologized and left the room with good feelings.

Some ten minutes later a terrific explosion knocked out the light, and Shepherd, who was sitting by the window, sloughed to the floor. The other occupants of the room thought that the gun had fallen, but on going outside, Massie heard someone mutter "You will, will you," and then break into a run and clear the fence.

Massie bundled Shepherd into his car and hustled to Dr. Lillard, who gave the man first aid, and Mr. Spitzer completed the trip to the Warrenton Hospital, arriving there less than an hour after the actual shooting took place.

Enroute, they are said to have passed Holmes, who apparently made a roundabout trip to his home where he was arrested about three hours later by Sheriff Kerlin and Deputy Partlow.

The shells used were sixteen gauge. From the small hole made in the screen and the direction that the shot took, it is evident that if Shepherd had not reached at that moment for a glass of lemonade, or some thing on the table, he would have been killed almost instantly.

Brentsville Means Cooperation

As we near the beginning of the second session of the Brentsville District High School I cannot help but once more thank the people for their wonderful spirit of cooperation and I cannot ask for more but my only hope is that, that same spirit will be manifested throughout the coming sessions. Unless the Superintendent, members of the board, patrons and teachers work together as they did last year, we cannot hope to make this session more successful than the first.

Since farm conditions are as they are, as a result of the drought, every person ought to be able to enroll their children the first day and keep them in school practically every day. This is intended primarily for the boys. I hope every patron and pupil who has books borrowed from the library will make an honest effort to return them Saturday, 2 p. m. Sept. 6, so that the library will be in readiness for the opening of school.

I want to especially urge every patron who is enrolling a child in school for the first time to take that child to the doctor for vaccination and have the blue card properly filled out for them and then send it to school with them the first day. Every patron can have this done Saturday or Monday if they are truly interested and we will appreciate it. Also please send the child's birth certificate along with the blue card. These things must be attended to by the parents before the child can be properly enrolled for the first time. The birth certificate will be returned at once.

Let us work together for a larger and better school.

C. O. Bittle, Principal.

MRS. T. K. MOYER

On Thursday night August 21, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. S. S. Stultz and took away Mrs. John K. Moyer. She had been a great sufferer with heart trouble for the past year. Mrs. Moyer was 68 years old and had been a member of the Brethren Church since a little girl, which she dearly loved. Mrs. Moyer moved to Nokesville about 20 years ago from Mathias, W. Va., having been born there. She was a daughter of William Snider who helped to fight the Battle of Bull Run. We shall think of Mrs. Moyer as not dead but sleeping though she has quit her stay with us and her soul has returned to the one who gave it. The sweet memories of her life shall hold her near and ever linger in the hearts of those bereft. The Reapers touch the most tender blossoms and they fall but we have in humble submission to him who doeth all things well and breathe the words of our loving Saviour, "not our will be done but Thine." She leaves her husband, Mrs. J. K. Moyer and three children to mourn her loss. Mrs. S. S. Stultz, Nokesville; F. H. May, Bristow, Va., Mrs. Aaron Fitzwater, Bergton, Va., and 15 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren; 1 sister and 1 brother. She was laid to rest in Valley View Cemetery. Rev. M. G. Earley and Davis Nolley conducting the services.

FALSE ALARM

On Tuesday reports were received in Manassas that Fairfax Courthouse was on fire. Citizens hastened to organize an expedition to the historic county seat when more accurate information was received to the effect that the fire was on the old farm at Bull Run. A valuable barn was destroyed but the residence was saved.

FARMER'S NIGHT
SCORES SUCCESSKiwanis Club Makes Community
History in its Annual Get-Together with the Leading Agriculturists of the County

Farmer's Night at the Kiwanis Club went over with a real bang. Professor Pullen deserves credit with one of the most original and entertaining programs gotten up in many months.

There were thirty or forty of the county's most prominent farmers present. A number of them spoke. Our song leader, Mrs. Pattie, started things with "America." Then the high school orchestra followed with a selection. This aggregation had already played delightful music all through the dining hour.

Our genial fellow citizen, Major F. W. Patterson, gave a real word of welcome to the sons of the soil. This was followed by a short address from T. E. Didlake, former president of the Club, in which he explained the purpose and results of "Farmers' Night."

The response came from Robert Rust, of Haymarket, who echoed the good feeling of the visitors.

O. D. Waters, the bard and mental picture painter of the Club crowned Bob Smith on his way to the agricultural pearly gates.

Then good old Wheatley Johnson, the life of any party, put some real inspiration into his remarks as a friend and farmer.

George Wood, of Greenwich, woke everything up with the bones and harp, which he actuated with considerable aggravation to the feet of his audience, including the choral club which had then finished their kitchen duties and appeared on the scene.

Reverend John Kline, of Cannon Branch, assured his audience that he had been instructed to make the important address of the evening, and then he proceeded to show that he could do this and then some. With "Something New," he kept everyone laughing for some quarter hour.

The Kline family, as represented by the four young men of that name, continued with the enlivening work by singing several numbers.

The climax of the evening followed when Professor Pullen exhibited the silver cup won last week at the Marshall Fair. Here again the Kline family shone, as Claron Kline, of the quartette, was the member of the agricultural team from Manassas High, who scored three times perfectly in the district contest. Mr. Kline was called on to rise, and was applauded vigorously. The other two members of the team were not present.

This brought to a close a meeting that was of signal importance in the community life of Manassas and the entire county. President Bob presided over the exercises with his usual affability.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

Woodbridge and Occoquan

Hambone says, "What stump a doctor is getting holt uv a runned-down man whut ain't got no bad habits to quit!" Quite so, quite so.

"The rank is but the guinea stamp, The man's a gowd for a that."

Don't be a snob. If you turn your nose up too high and it rains you will be drowned. Be natural, not flat, but always natural.

Don't think because your luck at birth, That you have any right to overestimate your worth,

For, if you still had your prehensile appendage attached,

A coat of hair and nails well matched: Some enterprising dago would make you dance

To the tune of his hand organ, and around you would prance

Collecting pennies from the plebian class

Instead of trying to act biggity with a dribble of sass.

If you want all men to think well of you, don't forget that you must be honest, upright in your dealings with your fellow man, ashamed to do a wrong knowingly. Able to say, "yes" when occasion demands; otherwise say "no" and mean just what you say. The "yes man" sooner or later, loses cast. You can't go thro life agreeing with every one, and still be a man.

Personality is individuality. Individuality is a distinct person. It is a foregone conclusion that you cannot be a distinct person, and at the same time agree with every Tom, Dick and Harry. The ones who have made their mark in life are the ones that have agreed not to agree with every one, in a great many cases what is termed as the constituted majority.

Hummurabi, the Babylonian king and law giver, was a minority man, a leader of the majority. The majority has long been forgotten yet, Hammurabi lives and breathes a spirit flame upon the pages of history.

Moses the Hebrew law giver, was strictly an individual. To have been a "yes man" would have deprived the world of one of its greatest characters.

Newton stepped aside and let the majority pass, while they passed with an agreeable "yes" to their own idle thoughts. Newton was thinking for generations to come, and laying down basic laws for posterity.

Columbus, walked and talked, reasoned and sailed himself into a niche among the immortals.

Einstein, thought his way thro the armor of the majority. As a thinker he has scaled the mountain tops and left the "yes" folks far down in the valley.

Edison passes the majority by thinking as an individual. He puts his thots into concrete form and teaches the majority to be an individual, even though millions follow the herd.

For the young man or young woman to rise above the rebbles, he or she must be able to distinguish the great gulf that lies between "yes" and "no."

Personality will grow and add to its accomplishments the great wealth of the past, providing you are able to break errors chains and build character founded upon principle. In your race for one of the seats of the mighty, get a strangle hold on your limitations. Beware of snobbery, trickery, deceit and dishonesty. If you fall short of your aspirations remember there is comfort in the knowledge, "I have done my very best."

Here is a pinch of gossip that you girls can tee hee over with your morning's coffee. Heard the other day: First girl, "What do you think of a fellow that makes a girl blush?" Second girl: "I think he's a wonder."

"The drought has helped Peter Custer Wigglesworth to the extent of pulling his belt up three notches. "PC" we were afraid your bay window would pop." What has become of G. C. (Gummy) Russell? Gummy if you see this remember, you promised us some red hot gossip. We understand our old friend, M. Briggs, the poet laureate of Prince William County, is writing an epic on the drought situation. Drop down to see us some times Mr. Briggs, and we will quench our thirst with a gourd of spring water before discussing the "Lady of the Lake."

Rumor, rumors, that Fred Lynn, spent the first morning this month down on the river shore with wide open eyes, looking for that beautiful apparition "September Morn." Gossip does not go into details; probably Fred was disappointed. Who remembers when Scotty Smoot's dad, T. N. T. Hammill, our local news-monger, working under the supervi-for his Occoquan store and Scotty bought a boatload of linen dusters! Along about this time, all country stores kept Jefferson shoes, made from heavy leather and a piece of brass running around the toe. Black strap and old plantation molasses, dispensed from a barrel, twenty to twenty-five cents per gallon. Horse cakes were a delicacy that children were allowed once or twice a year. The country store always bought ginger snaps by the barrel. Rabbits were pickled and sold just the same as mackerel. Most every family corned at least one thousand herring; some families several thousand. Screening houses to keep out flies and mosquitoes was unknown. The baby generally had a piece of mosquito netting over it's crib. An asafetida bag was always worn by the children after passing the teething period. While baby was teething, a mole's foot was hung from a string around the baby's neck. We just know some of our dear old grandmother's remember the sugar rag that was always given to baby when it cried. And that little curl on top of baby's head, that was so much a part of baby, where has it gone? All these things must have gone the way of the high top shoe, tight fitting corset, long skirt and lots of other things too numerous to mention. There was cambric tea and graveyard toast for a weak tummy ache. Barkers almanac was read by the children. Mush and milk for supper in the winter and to bed at 8 p. m. Children were seen and not heard. "Keep quiet," simply meant "shut up." Retrospect makes interesting gossip. And yet we say "Back in the good old days." Wonder if Lindsey Dawson remembers the time he bought a pig at a sale and Tou Pee Davis agreed to take half of said porker? Lindsey told the driver to stop by Davis' store and Tou Pee would divide the shoit. Here is the way Tou Pee made the division: first he cut piggy's tail off, then measured with a tape line from the end of its nose to the place where the tail used to be, then divided the distance. Lindsey cried. Every misfortune is to be open eyes, looking for that beautiful apparition "September Morn." Gossip does not go into details; probably Fred was disappointed. Who remembers when Scotty Smoot's dad, T. N. T. Hammill, our local news-monger, working under the superviion of heavy weight Barnard, reports that John Steele, of the penal institutions, walked out on the bridge at midnight to gaze down into the waters of oblivion. The drought saved John's life. No water, no wings, no celestial harp. We may still hear the wedding bells. Well, well, another well rumor. We have forgotten the lady's name. At any rate a certain lady of Twin City, took a table spoon and tin bucket lid, with these crude tools she sunk a hole in the footstool of the Gods. Plenty of water. The Lord will provide faith and works. Presto!

James Eike, Sr., started out to dig a well. This hole was sunk in North America. Rumor states that it takes two days for one man to get half way down. The bottom has not as yet been reached. Eike says, if he was not afraid of losing his pick he believes he would soon reach the "Fatherland."

We want to check and double check that monkey story before we write it up or drop it down.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell Moore

The Confederate States Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy has adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas our beloved president, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell Moore, has been taken from us, therefore be it resolved:

That we record our appreciation of all that her loyal service has meant to this Chapter and to the United Daughters of the Confederacy as a whole. She was a charter member of this Chapter, and has been president since its organization. She gave the utmost in time and energy to the work, even during her last illness. Mrs. Moore was naturally gifted as a leader, and we know that her loss is irreparable, but we will try to continue the work of the Chapter as a memorial to her own devoted spirit.

That as neighbors and friends we testify to the generous human sympathy, over-flowing cheerfulness and discerning judgment that were among the noble qualities which endeared her to so wide a circle of friends. Her passing has grieved this whole community.

That we extend to her family the deepest sympathy in their loss of a strong and loving spirit, who gave to wifehood and motherhood their richest meaning.

If you do, and haven't a bank account, you've started on the wrong road; for no matter how large a salary you might draw, if you don't save some of it for emergencies and business opportunities, you cannot adjudge your career a financial success.

But there are many moderate-salaried young men who have accounts with us, and who are well on the road to financial success.

Why Don't You Do Likewise?

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER
If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 28, 1930

CALL TO HUMILITY AND SERVICE—Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy. That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate: Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.—1 Tim. 6:17-19.

PRAYER:

"Lord, let love's treasures still be spent, Like Thine upon the poor."

SCHOOL DAYS AGAIN

On Monday the teachers of the county will assemble for their annual institute where Professor Haydon will confer with them on plans and ideas for the coming term. The school board has shown its desire to continue its close affiliation with the teaching body by meeting with them on that day.

And then on Tuesday, the old school bell will ring out merrily for the hundreds of Prince William youngsters who are being wisely trained to meet the issues of the present day as they arise and with ample preparation for the future.

We doubt very much if there is today anywhere in the state of Virginia or anywhere else in the entire country, a body more interested in the real development of our children than our superintendent, our school board and our faculty. They work together, they think together and they get somewhere together.

Mr. William Harrison Lamb, Editor, The Manassas Journal, Manassas, Virginia.

Dear Sir:

A copy of your Manassas Journal came into the U. S. Public Health Service by accident, where I work, and it greatly interested me. If I could get a 6 month's subscription at present I would like to subscribe at once. I am looking for a convenient little Washington, D. C., and within frequent reach of Culpeper, Va., and have just about decided to move down to Manassas early in the Spring (if I can find a suitable bungalow not too far from Manassas Station).

One thing in your Journal impressed me very forcibly and favorably, the "Bible Thought and Prayer," and the little religious corner. I appreciate finding a newspaper that will include something of that kind which is unbiased and sincere.

If there are any good little bungalows, within half a mile of the R. R. Station, for rent or sale, with fairly large lot, or even an acre or two, I would be interested in getting in touch with owner or Agent. Any information you could furnish me would be appreciated very much.

Yours respectfully,

H. W. La Quay

217 Hayes St.,
Carendon, Va.

P. S. Where and how could I obtain a detail map of Manassas and vicinity, not too large, or expensive? Editors note: Manassas will be only too glad to welcome Mr. H. W. La Quay as a resident.

The Leachman Reunion

In the earliest recollections of the writer of this article have been the annual gatherings of the Leachmans at the hospitable home of Mr. Tom Leachman and his wife.

These reunions began many years ago remanding one of Cedric, the Saxon on his baronial hospitality. At their home, Follie-Castle, near Wellington and while Col. Leachman and his lady have passed from our earthly ken, these reunions have been held by the sons and daughters of this estimable couple.

On the 31st, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Leachman were the host and hostess to the Leachmans. Mr. Leachman first marshalled his guests to church to attend the services conducted by the Rev. Hasel. Then they returned to their home on Main Street where a most sumptuous repast was partaken of this included all the viands that this season of the year can boast deliciously prepared and delicately and lavishly served.

This occasion was not unfixed with sorrow on account of the day of yore but joy also was there when they clasped the hand and looked into the eyes of the loved ones still present and the hopes held for the younger generations present on this occasion.

Those present were—Mrs. E. May Dogan; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lynn and children, Nancy, James M., Charles, Mary Bonham; Mrs. R. C. Buck and Lucy M. Buck of Washington; Cary Buck of Portsmouth; Frank Buck of Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Roberta Lynn; Miss Katie Leachman of Washington; Mrs. Thos. R. Leachman; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Carroll; Richard Carroll; Al Conway of Charlottesville; Mrs. Jack Leachman, Dorcus and Barbara Leachman of Bristow; C. Shirley Leachman of Clarendon; Robert C. Leachman and children, Gaynelle and Ann C. of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. F. Hutton Cox; Sarah Shirley; Mrs. Mary J. Cox of Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. J. E. Rice Emmet, Jr.; and Marvin Rice, of Newark, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Leachman and children, Molly, Nancy and Jack of Manassas; Mrs. Mildred L. Smith of Warrenton; Mrs. May L. Smith; Miss Florence S. Lion; Andrew C. Carroll of Washington; J. Burchell Leachman and wife, Mary, Frank and Lorton.

What Your Telephone Dollars Buy

The money you spend for your telephone does not buy the actual instrument. What then, DO you buy?

You buy service—constant, twenty-four hour service. Whether you are calling across the street or across the continent, the service is waiting for you—always ready.

You buy knowledge and experience that have taken years to acquire, and directed toward the single end that you may pick up your telephone and get the one other telephone you want out of more than 29,000,000 throughout the world.

You buy human devotion—loyalty that never wavers no matter what the emergency. The history of the telephone is filled with stories of men and women who have performed far beyond the line of duty, that the service might not falter.

These are the things your telephone dollars bring to you, things that cannot be measured in terms of price.

EASE OF ADJUSTMENT IS FEATURE OF FORD CARS

Keeping a car in first class condition is much easier today than it was even a few years ago and consequently the pleasure of motoring has been increased while the cost of maintenance has been reduced.

In the days when "Get Out and Get Under" was a popular song, the motorist had to be something of a mechanic for service stations were few and mechanical parts were complicated. Adjusting of a carburetor required skill and a kit of tools and changing a tire was hard work.

Today, however, engineering skill has so simplified parts that in a car like the Ford, adjustments may be made by anyone in a few minutes. Every part of the Ford has been designed with the utmost simplicity.

The mixture in the carburetor, for instance, is controlled by a knob on the dash. Without leaving the seat, the driver can enrich the mixture or thin it for long driving by a simple turn of the knob.

Houdaille shock absorbers can be regulated by the turn of a needle valve on each—the work of a few minutes for the entire car. Changing a tire on the drop center rim is quite simple compared with what the job required a few years ago.

Even such things as filing the radiator and attending to the battery have been made simpler. The threaded radiator cap that had to be screwed on and off has given way to one that locks with a twist of the wrist. Instead of lifting up the floor board to get to the battery, one has but to remove a small plate in the floor.

The adjustable driver's seat was a great convenience when it was first introduced, but some of the adjustment devices were a bit difficult for the woman driver to operate. Now, however, the seat adjustment has been so simplified in the closed model Fords, such as the coupe, town sedan, etc., that one can regulate it with the ease of winding a clock. The adjustment is made by turning an inconspicuous knob in front of the seat and this can be done without the driver leaving the car.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement, without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

Cocktail Days

THE typesetter wanted to spell it "daze," but we couldn't let him on account of the Volstead Law. There are lots of cocktails, however, which do not superinduce any daze, and these hot summer days are the days of all others to consume them. The chief ingredients of these innocuous but delicious summer cocktails are fruits. Try some of the following:

Berries, Bananas and Kumquats

Raspberry and Banana Cup: Slice or cube two bananas into eight cocktail glasses. Squeeze eight teaspoons of lemon juice over them at once to prevent discoloring. Then fill the glasses with the contents of a No. 2 can of red raspberries. Serve very cold.

Kumquat Cocktail: Drain well one cup of sliced preserved kumquats

(about 12) and two cups of sliced pineapple (5 or 6 slices) and cut in thin slices, first removing seeds from the kumquats. Arrange in eight glasses. Garnish tops with sliced mint cherries and a sprig of fresh mint. Pour one-fourth cup of mint cherry juice and one-half cup of grapefruit juice (canned or fresh) over this combination, and chill in the ice box for an hour.

Pear, Grape and Plum Cocktail: Drain a No. 1 can of pears and dice. Halve and seed one cup of malaga grapes. Peel four blue plums and stone them, dicing the pulp. Mix lightly together and dispose in eight tall cocktail glasses. Pour over two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup orange juice and the juice from the can of pears, mixed with two tablespoons confectioner's sugar.

Thrilling Western Stampede and Rodeo at Virginia State Fair Richmond

Indians of various tribes, such as the Sioux, Cheyenne, Pawnee and Omaha, will be brought to Richmond for the genuine Western Stampede and Rodeo, which Charles A. Seema, managing director of the Virginia State Fair, stated will be the outstanding entertainment feature this year.

These Indians, in full regalia, will share honors with the many riders and ropers who are coming in hopes of securing a portion of the prize money which will be awarded the winners in the Western events. W. B. "Caddy" Hammer, former Texas cowboy and sportsman and who is said to be recognized widely as one of the most efficient directors of frontier events, will officiate as arena director of the Stampede.

Included in the program will be daring cow boys, broncho riding contests by cow girls, chuck wagon races, weirdly painted and fantastically dressed Indians in native dances, trick and fancy roping by that Director Seema, states will hold the crowd spellbound with its frenzy of excitement.

All events, exhibitions and contests in the Stampede are to take place directly in front of the grand stand twice daily so that every spectator may have an opportunity to see everything that these colorful men and women from the cattle country have to offer in the way of thrills and entertainment.

Farm Fires Are Costly

Farm fires in the United States cost $3,000 lives and a property loss of 150 million dollars every year, says the Yearbook of Agriculture. The principal causes are lightning, defective chimneys and heating apparatus, careless use of fire, combustible roofs, spontaneous ignition, careless use and storage of gasoline and kerosene, and faulty wiring and improper use of electrical appliances. Fire-protection equipment on the farm should include ladders, chemical extinguishers, and either water pails or tanks equipped with pumps.

Oranges Came from Orient

Rome in all her glory knew nothing of oranges, lemons, or other citrus fruits.

The "tree with the golden fruit" was born in the ancient East where Sweet oranges came from China. Without good fertilizer like V-C, they all might as well have stayed where they were.

Farming Takes Management
It takes management to farm successfully these days. Irish potatoes furnish a good example. The man who grows them for market must know his business to make a profit. The low cost potatoes of today are grown by expert farmers who select their seed and who fertilize and cultivate and spray thoroughly. Less than ten acres won't pay, commercially. But even the man who grows a few for his own use is wise if he plants good seed, uses plenty of good V-C fertilizer, and sprays often.

Three Cold Facts

Of vital interest to every citizen

1. The University of North Carolina recently made an investigation of retail food prices in Durham, N. C., a typical American city. It found that chain store grocery prices of advertised goods were 13.79 cents in the dollar lower than prices in other stores.

2. The University of Kentucky announced a few days later that it had made a retail price study of all sorts of food in Lexington, Ky., another typical city. It found food prices in chain store groceries were 14.03 cents in the dollar lower than prices in other stores.

3. The average American family spends for food between $600 and $800 a year, according to estimates of the best known authorities. This means that the average family buying its food at chain stores saves from $84 to $112 a year.

Customers of A&P knew these facts before these impartial investigations were made. It is in the public interest that everyone should know them.
