MISSION HOLDS MUCH INTEREST

Capital City Priest Continues Sermons Until This Sunday

All Saints' Catholic Church in Manassas this week has been the scene of impressive service held in connection with the Mission that opened there on Sunday last.

The Masses, every day, at 6 and at 7:00 a. m., have been well attended as have the devotions, each evening at half past seven that include the Rosary, a sermon, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The general public is invited to all the Mission services. The evening sermons, many of them explaining the doctrine of Catholic belief, are preached by the Benedictine missionary, Rev. Father Ducey, who recently returned to Washington from Scotland where, for two years, he was stationed at one of the ancient abbeys of his Order.

Tomorrow evening the main discourse will be "The Great Commandment," and on Saturday evening, "The Risen Christ." The final sermon and benediction will be given on Sunday afternoon at 4. Father Ducey has attracted a large crowd and his sermons and Question Box have developed much interest. Some of the leading topics have been the Papal decisions on the marriage of Vanderbilt-Marburo, and O'Brien-Marconi. Also the uses of candles, the veneration of images, and the Mother of Christ, and the divine institution of confession.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(OCOQUAN AND WOODBRIDGE)

Good morning, friends! Ah what a morning! A little dry, but real autumn. Just the weather for a schooner full of ozone. Fill your lungs to overflowing with this life giving draught. At this season of the year old Virginia appears at her best. The hills and the lowlands call to you for a rendezvous with Nature. A walk thru the woods will do you good. To sit around the house, or simply to walk out in the fields and grieve over the lack of rain aggravates matters and causes a body to feel dull and morbid.

Here in Ocoquan Creek where the waters of Bull Run enter the mixing pot, black bass, spot, blue fish and several other different kind are lying in wait for a juicy looking bait to tempt their fastidious appetites. If you have the blood of an Isaac Walton coursing thru your veins get your fishing tackle ready and forget the grind of day by day life. Spend a day on the stream, and with baited hook watch the cork as it disappears beneath the surface of a ripple; catch the peppy sound of the silken line as it whirrs and snaps through the water; watch with fast beating heart, eyes popped and excitement running to fever heat as a big mouth bass skims the top of the waves to free himself from the hook with quick thinking and old man 'Walton' action a prize is landed. When a big fellow happens to break his Holt and slips like greased lightning back into the deep he is always the largest, in fact, he is about this big and weighs at least this ??? much.

By the way folks, Doc Hornbaker shows that he has had a wonderful summer. He is just as brown as a Mongolian monkey and steps with the pep of a supple jack. Old Sol has thrown his ultra violet rays with darkening power upon his dome and colored the place where the hair ought to be a beautiful russet brown. Sorry he is unable to part the sunny rays.

Oh yes, the Doc bought a boat the other day, a real honest to goodness boat fifty feet long. He is fitting it out as a pleasure launch. With a forty horse power motor, berths for ten, baths, observation, saloon forward, dining room and smokes after-noon. Doc, don't forget your many friends in and out of Twin City.

Old Brother Webster says, "Gossip is news told in a new way." Well, that being a fact we have to tell you that Double A. Davis reports that he is very fond of clabber and black strap molasses. A fine combination Double A. Davis, we hardly think that we could turn down such a dish. You know the patches that were part of roust about Terrell's pants? Well, they need renewing. A word to the wise is sufficient. The days of Adam and the fig leaf for man at least is no more.

Rumor tells us that "Dibbie" is about to join the married ladies society. Good luck child, may your burdens be light and a joy forever.

One of our old bachelors has been dethroned. Every gosh darned ivory has been yanked out. Now Monley, my boy, take our advice and pay a little more attention to the girls, they are sweet and loveable and if over twenty-five they seldom say, "No" tee hee.

Jumping Jupiter, did you know we had a little frost this morning, 6th. Yes, sicee, and that reminds us of J. W. R. and his autumn poem, "The Frost Is on the Pumpkin and the Corn is in the Shock." The only thing wrong about that how is—we have not the pumpkin and we have not the corn.

Just a thought, who remembers when we country folks had two monstrous pigs in the pen growing into hogs that we later on called "Jockies" or "lard porkers." These porkers were butchered before Thanksgiving and whee, at the lard, several cans. Can you still taste the cracklings? Yes my dear, we had crackling bread fit for a king, and chittlings, were they good? Cleaned nicely, linked and dipped in a rich batter, fried to a golden brown, yummm! yummm!

It was said that a Virginia gentleman kept his porker chittlings in soak for only three days, longer soaking would destroy the rare flavor and zesty twang. The plebian class demanded nine days soaking and a change of water each day.

Good old country sausage, spare rib and a 'possum now and then with a'eeet 'tatters; corn husking, sweet cider and a barn dance! Lower the bucket kitty is in the well.

Mark Twain, whose scintillating with frequently manifested a deep and sober significance, wrote a humorous story entitled "Journalism in Tennessee," in which a typical country editor made the statement, "Journalism is to disseminate truth."

Twin City Gossip column on the 25th mentioned the Manassas Milling Co., as buying at an advance of 100 per cent. This information was handed me by Lindsey Dawson. If there is an error in figures as quoted we are glad to make corrections.

There's a hollyhock down by the gate
All aflame in the warm summer air,
And the fair hand is withered with age
That so carefully planted it there.
When she's gone from the old family circle,
To the quiet repose of the tomb
There'll be beautiful memories of mother
When the hollyhocks burst into bloom.

There are wonderful flowers of the spirit;
Lovely blossoms with petals of gold
That will bloom in our memories forever,
When the baubles of life are grown old.
We'll remember her singing at twilight,
Rock of Ages and Never Alone;
Of the temple not builded with hands
And angels around the white throne.

And she planted the red rose of courage
In our hearts with an infinite care,
With the daisies of kindness and mercy,
And the blue bells of penitent prayer.
Though our lives may be tumbled and twisted
I am sure that in gladness or gloom,
There'll be wonderful memories of mother
When the hollyhocks burst into bloom.

English Musical Comedy Actress Gives Recipes for Coffee Desserts

Miss Lillian Bond, petite English star of "Follow Thru," some of whose favorite coffee recipes are given below.

COFFEE is not only America's favorite drink, but—surprisingly enough—it is also the favorite recipe flavoring of an English actress. The actress is Miss Lillian Bond, star of the musical success "Follow Thru," who is herself an excellent cook and has collected more than one hundred recipes for delicious desserts and drinks in which coffee is a principal ingredient.

Miss Bond has found hot coffee of enormous benefit to her in the exacting life of the theatre. Often she must act a role when she is tired and feeling quite unlike the gay, lively person who must appear behind the footlights—then a cup of fragrant coffee gives her the proper physical and mental stimulation to play her part.

When she makes her own coffee, this petite young Englishwoman is careful always to get the proper proportions—a heaping tablespoonful of coffee to a cup of water. She believes that the time of infusion should be as short as possible so that there will be no bitterness and that, to be at its best, the coffee should be served hot and freshly made.

But Miss Bond has many delightful uses for coffee beside the customary beverage. Here are a few of her prize recipes:

WALNUT MOCHA CAKE—

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup coffee (cold)
1 1/2 cup flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
Whites of 3 eggs
1/2 cup broken walnut meats
Cream the butter, then gradually add sugar, coffee, flour mixed and sifted with baking powder, nuts and egg whites beaten stiff. Bake 40 minutes.

COFFEE FUDGE ICING—

4 ounces chocolate
1/2 pound butter
1/2 cup coffee (cold)
Add enough sugar to make it the right consistency to spread.

COFFEE JELLY—

1 envelope sparkling gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups clear strong coffee
1/2 cup sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
Soak gelatine in the cold water 5 minutes and dissolve in the hot coffee. Add lemon juice and sugar, stir until dissolved. Turn into a mold, first dipped in cold water, and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

COFFEE CREAM PUNCH—

To 2 quarts boiling coffee add 1/2 cup granulated sugar and 4 teaspoons maple extract. Allow to cool, then add 1/2 cup cream. Stir well, pour over crushed ice and top with whipped cream.

EASY LESSONS IN DRAWING

Take a soft pencil and try drawing this frog. Make the ovals in the same free-hand manner that you do when writing. Start with the simplest shapes first, then add the construction lines and leave the detail until last. After the drawing has been penciled you may finish either with pen or brush. When the ink has dried, erase all the pencil lines. You may then color the drawing by using crayons or water colors.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement, without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

She spends his earnings wisely

MAN earns and woman spends. For many years this has been the popular plan in the American home. And in most cases it is a very good arrangement.

Too seldom, however, does the wife-and-mother receive due credit for her part in the enterprise. Earning a comfortable income today is a mighty fine accomplishment—"a man's job," sure enough. But the wise investment of the family funds is also far from child's play. This most often is Mother's task, and she deserves a medal for her able handling of it.

Women as a rule are good buyers, because they study their problems. They budget their resources, adjust their purchasing schedule to the budget, and buy carefully.

The best help they get in marketing comes from the ads in their home newspaper. They find that intelligent study of ads means economy of money and time.

The woman in your home knows how true this is!

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

This is Fire Prevention Week. Why?

One would naturally reach the conclusion that none of us want fire, and will do what we can to prevent it.

But do we? Are not the great majority of fires preventable at their point of origin if a reasonable amount of caution had been exercised?

It is because there are always times when the best of us get careless that the business interests of this country have fixed on a period for instruction, demonstration and general education along these lines.

In passing, we might remark that it is also a period when we should bear in mind our fire-fighting bodies who do make it their business to aid us in distress when the calamity of fire is upon us. Their daily, unselfish devotion in a self-imposed task is worthy of respect and admiration at all times but none more fitting than during FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR FEED PURCHASERS

As the roll was called each club members reported on his project activities for the year. Virginia Mills, acting secretary for Bethel Club, gave the summary report of club and community activities for the year in Bethel Club. Burnette Brooks, secretary of Ocoquan club gave similar report for Ocoquan club. Reports were given no State Short Course by Oliver Davis and Beatrice Gordon. Janet Russell told in a most interesting manner of her experience at Camp Vail. The group was then invited to follow the leader to the camp fire. There sticks, weiners, rolls, nut-mallows and all that go with them were dispensed and all present enjoyed roasting them around the big camp fire. Contests, games, songs, and challenges were enjoyed for an hour or more and the program was ended with club pledge. Following that cheering was given for leaders, parents, and teachers.

All teachers of the district were present as well as thirty or forty parents and friends.

Race Suicide Seems Unknown in Nebraska

Schuyler, Neb.—A recent dispute arising over the largest family in the state revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feldhacker, of Hartington, are parents of 16 living children. Then it was found that in the John P. Kucera family of near Linwood, there are 17 living children. The J. L. Longacre family, of Schuyler, also made a bid for the title, having 12 boys and four girls living and two children dead.

Frank Vitamvas of near Linwood, however, believed himself the title holder. He is father of 19 children and stepfather of four. By his first wife, Vitamvas had 12 children. Later he was married to a Mrs. Davis, the mother of four children. To the second union seven children have been born.

BOYS ALMOST CAUGHT IN TRAP OF PRIMITIVE TIMES

Narrowly Escape Entombment With Dinosaurs and Other Prehistoric Animals.

Los Angeles.—Three Los Angeles schoolboys, chasing a squirrel across the abandoned La Brea oil fields in the center of the city recently, narrowly escaped entombment with the dinosaurs, saber-toothed tigers and primeval men whose skeletons fill the prehistoric soft tar bogs adjoining.

Billy Newman, fifteen, leader of the chase, stumbled into the tar bog and screamed for his companions' aid as he sank into the sticky substance that had been swallowing struggling men and beasts for millions of years. Jack Stuhair, fourteen, and William Marshall, twelve, ran to his assistance and were entrapped too.

Three men, answering their terrified screams, narrowly escaped the treacherous tar. Realizing the hopelessness of ordinary rescue methods, they called the fire department. Before the ropes and ladders arrived the boys had sunk to their armpits in the dark pool.

Ladders were placed across the bog, and a fireman, B. B. Mansfield, waded out. Before he had reached the frightened boys he had sunk to his chin. He managed to grab them, nevertheless, and with the aid of the other firemen extricated them one by one. They were taken to the Emergency hospital unharmed except for the coating of tar and the effects of shock.

The La Brea fossil beds or tar bogs are a series of crater-like pits filled with oil-soaked sand and earth from which scientists have gathered from time to time the fossils of ancient animals and human skulls. From these skeletons scientists have been able to reconstruct phases of primitive history.

In 1890 oil was discovered on adjacent lands and developed. Every productive pit contained masses of bones. One pit had 208 saber-tooth tigers, seventeen elephants and a number of mastodons and wolves. The oil, thickened through evaporation, had formed traps for animals which sought to drink the surface water and perished in the mire.

Indiana Farm Reveals Mound Builder Bones

Winchester, Ind.—Prof. Frank M. Setzel of the University of Chicago, who has had a force of men excavating a mound on the A. E. Fudge farm, northwest of here, has unearthed two skulls and other bones of what are supposed to have been members of the race of mound builders. They also found two leather pouches containing copper bracelets and a quantity of ochre.

"The leg and arm bones appeared to have been buried under the skulls and thrown in promiscuously," Professor Setzel said. Before this find, Professor Setzel had uncovered beds of ochre and charcoal and found a broken spear point, a gadget used in burial ceremony, and a sandstone having the appearance of a whetstone. The skeletons were found at a depth of eight feet.

This mound is the center of what was called "The Old Fort," which comprised about thirty acres, walled around with ridges of dirt which fifty years ago were about twelve to fifteen feet high and having an opening on the west side. Professor Setzel is working under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution and the Indiana Historical society.

Maine Ferry Still Runs After 100 Years' Service

Bucksport, Maine.—Originally chartered when the state of Maine was part of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Bucksport ferry still runs after 100 years of use. There are none of your modern streamline effects on this old barge which was built less for speed than service. Service is obtained by blowing a fog-horn which tells the drowsy skipper that some one is in the mood for a ferry ride.

FRESHEST GROCERIES

Not to be found in old packages

FOOD and other groceries in A&P stores are always fresh because they are sold quickly. New supplies, therefore, are constantly coming into these stores. Nothing stays on A&P shelves long enough to become stale.

For this reason you find in A&P stores only the latest packages put out by the manufacturers. Sometimes these packages are smaller than the old ones. Sometimes they are larger. But the manufacturers often leave the prices of their packages unchanged on account of varying costs.

(This is why sometimes you get a smaller or a larger package in A&P stores than you get in other stores which sell the same goods. Old packages are never to be found where sales are rapid.)
