

BYRD OUTLINES PLAN FOR FEDERAL DROUGHT RELIEFAsks Government to cut Red Tape and give the Farmer Practical HelpLetter Quoted in Part Asking for Material Assistance

Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the State Drought Committee, has released to the various county committees certain correspondence between himself and the Federal Drought Committee, in which it appears that no real aid may be expected for the farmers except through the Red Cross or a national road building program.

Mr. Byrd states with feeling that he resents the prospects of asking self-respecting farmers to apply for gifts to continue their means of earning a livelihood.

He asks the Administration pointedly to cut out red tape, and to aid in taking care of unemployment, to promote a means of extending credit to worthy farmers who are unable to meet proper banking paper, and to take care of charity which may result from unemployment.

In part Mr. Byrd's letter of October 16 closes as follows:

"We of course know in Virginia that self-help is always the best help. The individual must do mainly for himself, but in disasters of this kind our co-ordinate governmental agencies may render the task of the individual less severe. The people of Virginia with typical American resourcefulness and determination are bravely meeting the situation. We are presented with three major problems created by the drought, combined with depressed business conditions, which apply to industry as well as to agriculture: First, unemployment; second, means of extending credit to worthy farmers who are unable to present bankable paper; and third, the need of charity in the event the unemployment cannot be relieved.

May I suggest the consideration by the National Drought Committee of some comprehensive plan to relieve the conditions existing? I would suggest first, that Congress meeting in December authorize a generous road appropriation to be met by the States, and to be expended on cheaper types of construction, so that employment can be given everywhere throughout the State instead of on a few costly projects. Then I suggest the extension of reasonable credit to worthy farmers to be secured by crop liens, to be paid back next year, without unnecessary restrictions. I suggest that great relief could be given if the federal government would make available in large quantities, at low cost, fertilizer, seed, and feed, during this emergency. What the farmer is suffering from today as much as anything else is the excessive overhead on everything he buys combined with an excessive overhead on everything he sells. He stands all the different elements of risk involved in the production of a crop, yet he receives no more than 35 cents out of a dollar paid for his products by the ultimate consumer. To a less extent what he buys is pyramided by excessive overhead cost. If the federal government in this emergency, would purchase for cash in large quantities, fertilizer, seed, and feed, great reductions in the cost of these necessities of the farmer could be made, and at the same time utilize the existing machinery of distribution."

The Kiwanis met in regular session on Friday evening. Besides routine announcements little was done.

Mr. F. R. Hynson spoke highly of the progress of the Club, stating that he had been visiting other localities and found this to be above par. He also referred to the Christmas work.

The Club accepted the invitation of the Alumni Association on Friday night, October 31.

As the Club was about to disband it was discovered that rain was falling, and with Song Leader Ratcliffe in command the solemn strains of the Doxology saw the members leave with real joy in their hearts.

TESTING OF CHILDREN BEGINS
THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Each year the supervisor administers standard tests to every school child in Prince William County. Miss Clark is beginning the tests this week.

These tests have two great purposes—tostandardize work and to distinguish individual weaknesses so that corrective work can be planned to remedy those weaknesses. This method of determining individual weaknesses establishes a standard for each grade. It gives the teacher a goal for which to strive. Namely, to bring each child in her grade up to the standard grade norm.

This year the tests being administered are the New Stanford Achievement Tests. Frequently tests selected for the different school subjects have little or no relationship with each other. Their norms have been obtained by different methods from different groups. They are usually expressed so differently that it is difficult to compare scores made in one subject with scores made in another, or to obtain an average or composite achievement score. The New Stanford Achievement Test has been devised to avoid these difficulties. The chief feature of this test is that when each individual's score is determined, a permanent record is made for it, so that there will begin with this year's tests a permanent record for each child in each school.

SHOWER FOR MISS MERCHANT

Miss Annie Laura Merchant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Merchant who is to marry Mr. LaFayette Price November 5, was pleasantly surprised with a miscellaneous shower given by the members of Winodanap Chapter 106 O. E. S. after the meeting Tuesday evening.

The color scheme was in orange and white autumn leaves, black cats, owls, and witches appropriate to the Halloween season added to the decorations. A huge pumpkin contained the many beautiful gifts for the bride-to-be. A three tiered wedding cake surmounted by a tiny bride and groom formed the centerpiece for the table.

This is the second shower given recently for Miss Merchant.

IN MEMORIAM

Margaret Roberta Barbour, daughter of Robert Williams and Lucy Ann Thornton, was born on the Williams plantation near Bristol nearly ninety years ago and died October 7, 1930 at the home of her grandniece, Mrs. P. L. Proffitt in Manassas. She was the widow of Dr. Clement Clay Barbour who died in 1894.

Mrs. Barbour descended from many colonial families. Her people were prominently identified with the colonial period, the Revolutionary War, and the War Between the States.

She was the grandniece of Philip Daw who was clerk of the Court when the court house was moved from Dumfries to Brentsville. Her brother P. D. Williams, was captain of Prince William Cavalry and was killed in the fight at Raccoon ford. His brother-in-law, Lucian A. Davis, was there given command of the company.

Mrs. Barbour was a lady of unusual culture and intelligence. She knew more about Prince William history, probably, than any one else in the county. Her love for her old Brentsville home was intense, and her vivid memories of the old aristocratic residents of her community in her girlhood most interesting. At the time of her death she was putting forth every forth to secure a portrait of the late Gen. Eppa Hunton, C. S. A. for the old court house at Brentsville.

which has been recently restored. Mrs. Barbour was a member of the Keturah Moss Taylor Chapter, D. A. R. at Newport, Kentucky, and a member of the Manassas Chapter, U. D. C. She had been invited to become a member of the Colonial Dames and was deeply interested in the work of that organization.

She was a charter member of the Baptist Church in Manassas and president of the Ladies Aid for over twenty-five years. She taught her Bible class, known as the Margaret Barbour Class, until her death.

Mrs. Barbour's stepson, Mr. C. Aubrey Barbour, was a special favorite of hers and she loved him very devotedly. The grandniece who so tenderly cared for her was another dear favorite with the sweet old gentleman who loved everybody and was interested in the welfare and happiness of the large numbers of relatives and friends who deeply feel their loss.

As these rare and exquisite ladies of the Old South leave us, one by one, quietly and graciously their gentle memory lingers. The heritage they leave us is more valuable than the wealth of the Indies, it is the heritage of a nobility that in some far and beautiful sphere they are praying for their loved ones to remember and deserve.

Mrs. Eli Swavely of Manassas entertained at a delightful reception here on Tuesday night in honor of the State Officers of the Federation of Woman's Clubs who were here to attend the meeting of the clubs of the Fourth District which was held in Clarendon Wednesday. All the members of the Woman's Club as well as their husbands who were able to attend had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Henry S. Eley, State Director, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck, State President and Mrs. Flournoy, vice-president.

Twenty-five members of the Woman's Club made the trip to Clarendon on Wednesday to attend the Fourth District meeting held at the Ashton Heights Club House. The meeting was a most enjoyable one, presided over by Mrs. Eli Swavely. Walter U. Varney, vice-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of Clarendon made the address of welcome to which Mrs. Walter Sanders, President of the Woman's Club of Manassas replied. This was followed by a most inspiring speech by Mrs. Eley, State Director. Five minutes reports of the year's work were given by the Club Presidents after which Miss Helen Norris Cummings of Alexandria spoke on "American Citizenship." A delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the Christian Church of Clarendon. The chief feature of the afternoon session was an address by the State President, Mrs. J. L. B. Buck. Mrs. C. P. Oliver of Clarendon gave a song selection, "The Old Refrain" by Fritz Kreisler.

There were present seventy members from the various clubs and all enjoyed the social contact with the other club members as well as the interesting talks. The members of the Woman's Club were proud to have such a large delegation and proud to have one of our own members, Mrs. Swavely, as Presiding Officer of such a snappy inspiring meeting although it did last all day. No one was bored for even a minute.

HUGE WATER TUNNEL BEING CONSTRUCTED BY FORD

A water tunnel, said to be the largest ever built to serve the needs of a single industrial concern, is nearing completion at the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Mich. It is 2.2 miles long, fifteen feet in diameter inside, and will have a daily capacity of nearly a billion gallons — four times the amount of water consumed by the city of Detroit through the Department of Water Supply.

The tunnel, which will be put into operation early next year, will connect the power house of the Rouge Plant and the old channel of the Rouge river just off West Jefferson Avenue. Hand in hand with its construction, the power house is being enlarged so that it will have four times the steam capacity it had when erected a little more than ten years ago. The remodeling of the power plant in itself is said to be the largest project of its kind ever undertaken without interfering with production.

Construction of the water tunnel was commenced in August, 1, 1929, 500 feet south of Dix Avenue. Since then workmen have been boring their way in four sections sixty feet below the level of the earth, sending the excavated mud to the surface and lining the tube with concrete blocks as the head is pushed forward. Eventually one section will connect with the intake, one with the power house, and two sections will meet near Fort Street. So exacting are the engineering specifications that the connections will not vary more than a small fraction of an inch.

In connecting the Rouge Plant and the old channel of the Rouge River it was necessary that the tunnel pass under main highways, street car tracks, railroads, bridges, a creek and a cemetery. One of the most difficult tasks was that of excavating, or, as it is termed, "pushing the shield," under Bay Creek at point which is crossed by a railroad bridge and where also a large sewer it is under construction by the city of Detroit.

The piles that provide the foundation for the bridge and those driven by the company constructing the sewer formed a network on each side of the creek. It was the task of the Ford engineers to burrow under the creek, sewer and bridge, going between the piles without striking or weakening them. This was accomplished.

In the beginning the tunnel the engineers sank a shaft sixty feet straight down into the earth. They then began excavating the tunnel on a horizontal level. The boring is accomplished by means of a shield — a large steel cylinder fourteen feet long and twenty-one feet in outside diameter with a solid steel shell or skin shield has a bulkhead which is made fast near the front end. There are four openings through which the mud streaks, like toothpaste from a tube as the shield is shoved forward by twenty powerful hydraulic jacks. As the mud is oozed through the shield openings, it is loaded into

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear Daughter, Rosie Bell McCuen who departed this life twelve years ago today October 22, 1918.

Twelve years have passed our Daughter, Since you were called away. How will do I remember That sad and dreary day.

The years may wipe out many things But this they wipe out never; The memory of those happy days When you and I were together.

Keep her, Jesus in Thy keeping Till I reach the shining shore; Then Oh Master, let me have her, To love and cherish as before.

I have only your memory dear daughter, To remember my whole life through. But the sweetness shall linger forever, I treasure the image of you.

By her loving Mother,

Honey and Children

"Honey has so many uses!" exclaimed a mother. "Really it is an every day article. Honey is good for the children. I'm not sure about some of the cheaper grades of candy, but with wholesome honey always on hand I can gratify the little ones' natural craving for sweets. And you get so much for the price! Little Gertie and Jackie just love it when given to them on bread! I've broken many a cold through its use, too. Honey, I should say, is both a food and a medicine. It certainly keeps my children well!"

MANASSAS GIRLS WIN FIRST GAME

On Saturday, October 11, the Manassas High School girls played basket ball with the Nokesville girls at Nokesville. The Manassas girls were victorious with a score of 18-9. This is the first game our girls have played and we think they did well as beginners. The players were as follows:

Manassas—Forwards, Lynn, Beachley; Guards, Burke, Metz; Center, Lloyd; Side center, Lunsford.

Nokesville—Forwards, May, Dunn, Guards, Trenis, Smith; Center, Berryman; Side center, May.

Wells and Smith acting as substitutes for Nokesville.

The Nokesville girls are looking forward to a game with Haymarket soon. Let's give them a yell!

TALKING HONEY

By ARTHUR BRADY
(No. 2)

The ancients "robbed" their bees and took out the honeycomb in chunks (none too cleanly the way they handled it), and crushed honey, wax and all into a sticky mass. And in this way it was eaten.

Up to 70 years ago there was not much improvement in the method of preparing honey for eating. Those who did not care for the wax in comb honey, melted the chunks, and skimmed off the wax as it came to the top, or strained it through cheesecloth or screen wire. Hence we have the term, "strained" honey. Many primitive beekeepers still prepare their honey for market in this manner. Such honey may be excellent in quality if it has not been overheated in the process. Heating honey above 160 degrees, at the highest, injures the flavor, and also darkens its color. Strained honey can be distinguished from the best grades of extracted honey by a cloudiness or murkiness in the finished product that cannot be gotten rid of.

The modern, up-to-date beekeeper of the highest type neither kills his bees nor "robs" them to get the honey. Instead, he has "supers" or top hives that he sets above the regular beehive, and the only honey he takes is what they store in the supers after they have gathered a plenty for themselves and stored for their use in the hive below. Sometimes there isn't any surplus for the beekeeper.

In my next talk I'll tell you what the beekeeper does with his share of the honey before it is offered you to eat.

Dual wheels, along with six truck-type cord tires, are optional equipment at slight extra cost. In addition, the new heavy-duty truck clutch, the 4-speed transmission and the heavier, stronger frame are factors of outstanding importance to the modern truck user.

HOWARD W. SMITH

JAMES LARKIN

The Journal believes that it voices the sentiments of the entire county when it states that in the loss of James Larkin the county has been deprived of a gentleman of the first water and a capable, generous, progressive public official.

Mr. Larkin belonged to Virginia's gentry and departed himself as such. His kindly, quiet presence will long be missed in the streets and offices of our town.

4-H Club Give Achievement Program

All 4-H Club members of the county will meet in Manassas Saturday, November 1, for the county Achievement program. The program will begin at 10:30 o'clock with a parade of club members. Each club is preparing a banner and all the folks are being provided with caps. The parade will be led by music.

After the parade we will meet at the High School Gymnasium where a very interesting program will be put on by club members. Helen Lloyd, Manassas 4-H Club, will preside at the meeting. Officers of all clubs will take part on the morning program.

A picnic lunch will be served on the Athletic Field. Each person is asked to bring lunch and enjoy the social hour together.

The afternoon program will be made up of stunts, contests, and games. Very interesting stunts are being prepared by various clubs. Mr. C. A. Montgomery, State Boys' Club Leader, will be present and take part on the program.

A banner is being offered to the club that makes the best showing in the day's program. Most of the clubs are working for the banner and there promises to be some keen competition. Other prizes will be awarded on that day also.

The School Board is cooperating by providing school buses for the use of Club members on that day.

OCCOQUAN VICTORIOUS OVER HAYMARKET

The second soccer game of the season was played on Friday, October 17, on the Haymarket High School field between the Haymarket and Occoquan High School teams.

The game started out hard and fast with neither side scoring for the first few minutes. Then the Occoquan boys rolled one between the goals for the first score. The hard fighting continued by both teams, but by the good passwork of the forward line and the able defense of the backfield men, the Occoquan team kept the ball within their goal area most of the time.

The game ended with the Occoquan eleven shutting out the Haymarket team entirely and when the whistle blew the final score was 12-0 in favor of the Occoquan team.

Both teams showed good spirit throughout the game, but the Haymarket team proved to be no match for the Occoquan team in either passwork or defensive play.

Lynn, Petellat, Dawson, Pearson, showed for Occoquan, while Lightner, and Herrell were outstanding for Haymarket.

The Occoquan team will play its next game with the Nokesville team at the Occoquan High School on October 3.

It is with profound sorrow that we record the sudden passing away on August 8, 1930, of Mr. George W. Meetze, a faithful charter member of our club; and yet in whose departure we would recognize the over-ruling and all-wise providence of God, and would humbly bow in submission to His will, being assured that He does all things well. Be it

Resolved, first, that we gratefully record our appreciation of his true worth as a man and as a member of our club, who fulfilled the high ideal of our blessed Master who said, "He that is greater among you shall be your servant" (Matt. 23:11).

Resolved, second, that while we deeply feel our loss, which is his gain, we will ever cherish his memory and strive to imitate his noble example of S. Wilfong.

unselfish service to the club and to his fellow-men.

Resolved, third, that we extend our sincere sympathies to his family in their bereavement, and pray that God's grace may be sufficient for them.

Resolved, fourth, that these Resolutions be recorded in our minutes, a copy be sent to his family, and a copy be furnished the Manassas Journal for publication.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear Father Mr. C. T. Gallahan who died two years ago today October 26, 1928. Today recalls sad memories

Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today
Are the ones who loved him best.
I often sit and think of him.
When I am all alone.

For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own
His sun went down in the morning
When all was fair and light
But it shines today in a far away land.

That knows no night
For the valley of death in the morning
Then the hills where on he trod
And the place that he entered his spirit
Was the calm deep peace of God.
The midnight's stars are gleaming
Upon your cold and silent grave.
The one I loved so dearly
And tried so hard to save
Your willing hands are folded
Your face I cannot see
But let this little token tell
I still remember thee.

His loving daughter,
MATTIE SLINGERLAND.

Sixty years of gridiron play, showing steady growth of a collegiate game which has numbered among its devotees many who later attained national fame, are reviewed by an "old-timer" who helped shape the sport's destiny, in a thrilling story appearing in the Magazine Section of The Sunday Star, Washington, D. little cars that are drawn to the shaft two and a fourth inches thick. This is an electric engine and sent to the surface. In turn these cars haul great cement blocks, each weighing, 3420 pounds, to the head of the tunnel.

When the shield has been pushed forward sufficiently, these blocks which are two and a half feet wide and five feet long, are set to form a ring around the circumference of the tunnel. There are ten blocks to a ring with one of them acting as a keystone so that the lining of concrete, which is eighteen inches thick, withstands the pressure of the earth.

When one ring of blocks has been set in place, the shield pushes forward again until sufficient progress has been made to permit the insertion of another ring. On an average, an hour and a half is required to complete one shove forward and a half an hour to set up a ring of the cement blocks. Occasionally, however, it is necessary to take down a part of the bulkhead to remove boulders which are in the line of progress.

After the blocks have been set in place within the tunnel, steel forms are set up and filled with concrete to form a solid inner lining. This lining also is eighteen inches thick so that the circumference of the circle is composed of a three-foot section of concrete. The surface being smooth, will offer the least resistance to the free flow of the water.

Some idea of the tunnel and of the tremendous quantities of water consumed in the Ford plant can be gained by comparing its capacity with the water consumption of some of the larger cities.

At present the Rouge Plant is consuming half a billion gallons of water a day, not including that brought from the City of Detroit for drinking and other purposes. The new tunnel will have a normal capacity by gravity feed of 913,000,000 gallons per day, or 333,464,000,000 gallons a year.

In the fiscal year 1929, the City of Detroit consumed 80,888,841,000 gallons to slake its thirst, flush its streets, sprinkle its lawns, do its manufacturing, accomplish its cooking and put out its fires. Cincinnati required 20,511,000,000 gallons; Washington, D. C., 26,851,000,000 gallons; and Philadelphia 122,590,000,000 gallons. It will be seen therefore that the new Ford tunnel could supply the water consumed through the water departments of all these cities put together and still have some eighty billion gallons to spare.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

Woodbridge and Occoquan

Homo Sapiens' first garments, or rather garment, was not made by a Fifth Ave. Taylor, nor were the styles pipped and hatched in Gay Paree. Adam and Eve working together devised a simple garment consisting of a simple apron made from the leaves of the fig tree and sewed or pinned together with thorns. A very simple garment indeed for those days. I imagine this Adamsonian and Evelonian dress outfit covered about as much of the human form divine as the present day, evening dress for ladies, and even an improvement on our (men's) swallow tailed habiliments.

A goodly number of the sweet young things in Twin City are still wearing nature's adornments from the knee to the trim and shapely ankle. Just the same, Paree didn't set the example or make the style, Twin City didn't either. Mother Eve, way back yonder in the Garden of Eden days wore the very same hose. I wonder if she knew about Rayon! It is said that an average stick of Virginia Pine will make a full size pair of hose for Katrina, as well, as well as furnishing little Johnnie with a sock for Santa Claus.

Hands up! The Daddy Fraternity from the Cro-Magnard tribes who roamed the wilds, to the present day law abiding citizen of Twin City, give three cheers and a salute to Twin City's newest daddy, "Daddy Wayland." It is a girl and Daddy Wayland says, it can't be said, "Dad-Dad."

Now that is just fine an upon each and every occasion Twin City steps in with an arm full of congratulations Good luck to the growing Wayland family!

And Dibble is married. Holy Smoke, how time flies! Just a few days ago Dibble didn't want to brush her teeth, clean her fingernails, polish her shoes, nor mend the hole in the eel of her stocking. And then, all of a sudden—teeth brushed ever so often, fingernails manicured to a queen's taste, nose generously powdered, hair waved and frizzed the very latest over sea style. Miss Elizabeth Burdette!

Here are Twin City's best wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan!

John Riley, manager of the Corbin Thompson Estate has had installed in his up to the minute cow barn a radio. When the cows are eating a well balanced ration, or chewing on a lazy cud, dinner music from the Nations Capitol's finest hotel, the Mayflower, comes pouring in and helps a satisfied and contented bossy to digest and manufacture the fruits of the soil into a rich creamy fluid, full of their life giving vitamins that builds muscle and brain in man; beauty and wholeness in woman; roly polly in baby and last but not least, a blubber for Elder Smooth.

Silence! Rufus Kelly, who resides in Twin City, holds a record. Rufus defies the laws of Nature, and has actually juggled into the aperture between his lips thirty-one bananas, six bottles of pop and one and one-half pounds of ginger-snaps at one setting. His tummy had the appearance of an Alabama coon after swallowing a Georgia watermelon. I my friend Hynson of Manassas can beat Rufus, please somebody let me know.

Kathleen, it is rumored that Raymond has very little appetite and often has a faraway look in his big dreamy eyes. I'll bet it is not caused all together by Indian summer. His sporty roadster holds 'backles' two—what is that march that the church organist plays on certain occasions.

Sulphuric Speaks is back on the highway, looks like a W. W. veteran. His contact at the intersection of South Easy Street and U. S. route number 1, came near putting sulphuric where moth and rust does not corrupt. In the future, Sulphuric, take my advice and dodge the traffic.

The depression has stabbled the barbers of Fredericksburg and a twenty-five cent hair cut is the result. Twin City notifies her sizzor snippers and razor swipers to follow suit.

Scottish Rite Masonry has just closed a wonderful reunion held in the George Washington National Memorial Building, Alexandria. There are sixty thousand members of the craft in Virginia and it is an inspiration to visit these classes. Indeed, it is a thrill to mingle with the Brethren and a pleasure and great joy to see Bodie Clagget eat at the banquet table, to hear Joe Springman's bubbling wit and Henry Pearson's words of wisdom. And who can ever forget Edmund Herr Allen, as the chicken bones pile around his plate and Ed explains seriously the whys and wherefores of his center name. Says E. H. A. "My grandmaw visiting relatives and friends in and grandpaw were Scotch on paw's side of the fence, on maw's side, which was the 'tother side, grand-and grandmaw were German, so my maw an paw compromised by putting 'Herr' twixt my name."

When they named him, "Herr" he wore a dress: Tho' not a she "Herr" was he. They called him "Herr" Still it was him. A puzzle 'e'n to this day 'er, when they say, "Herr," it means "him." If "Herr" is "Herr" Then why isn't "She he And "He" She?

Ed, you figure it out, my head is swimming. Doctor Watson, the needle please.

GEORGE DENT.

One Fare for Food

How distribution costs have been cut

A&P brings food to your table on a straight line from the sources. That is why A&P food costs so little. Its price is not taxed by the expense of roundabout journeys. There are no road-side bills to pay.

The shortest road, unobstructed by half-way houses, is the A&P route to its stores. That is why A&P can pay growers and other producers well, yet charge its customers very low prices.

American statesmen say our big country's hardest problem is how to cut "the high cost of distribution." What they mean is that too much money is spent on the usually long road between the field and the consumer.

A&P has solved this problem for people who buy in its stores by providing direct rapid transit for food at one small fare.

CHILDREN'S CLINIC

Parish Hall, Manassas, Va.

November 3 through November 8

The children's clinic for the diagnoses of tuberculosis in children will be held in Manassas at the Parish Hall during the week of November 3 through November 8.

Dr. C. W. Scott from the State Department of Health will conduct the clinic.

All children who are living intimately with tuberculosis patients should receive examination with tuberculin and x-ray and all children that are sick without known cause.

Since infection with tuberculosis usually occurs in childhood. All children who live in the house with the tuberculosis should be under observation. In this way the trouble may be found soon after infection occurs, and future disease can probably be prevented.

All children whose parents wish to have them examined must come to the clinic Monday, November 3, or Tuesday, November 4 as it takes several days to complete the examination.

Childhood Tuberculosis is not communicable. He is only a danger to himself.

Cure depends upon early diagnosis. Adults will be examined and an x-ray of chest made upon written request from the Family Physician.

This is the first time that this service has been offered to the children in the county and it is hoped that the parents will see to it that their children are examined. No children will be examined without written consent from the parents. Please communicate with Mrs. Haydon, County Nurse.
