

TELLS PURPOSES OFF F. F. A.'S

President Arthur Carter Gives
Outlines of the F. F. A.
Organization

The purpose of this organization are:

1. To promote vocational agriculture in the high schools of America by developing the pride of Future Farmers in vocational agriculture, encouraging members to improve the quality of their work in vocational agriculture and the like. The publication of new stories of chapter activities and the staging of Future Farmers exhibits and window displays are legitimate means of promoting this organization.

2. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.

To create and nurture a love of country life. Such things as the beautification of home and school grounds, woodland hikes and the study of natural phenomena make for increased appreciation of the country and country life.

4. To provide recreational and educational entertainment for Future Farmers of America. The old saying that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, holds good for Future Farmers. Therefore, some provisions should be made whereby chapters can stage rather and son banquets, go on vacation tours, hold summer camps, picnics and other recreational activities. Local and state judging contests, agricultural plays, minstrels, public speaking contests and other similar kinds of entertainment are a welcome break in the monotony of school life.

5. To promote thrift by membership through the establishment of accounts, and investments in rural enterprises.

6. To afford a medium of co-operation and selling. Future Farmers should avail themselves of the opportunity to cooperate in the purchase of pure seed, fertilizers, feed and the like, as well as the buy and sell co-operatively the farm products which are a result of their supervised practice work.

7. To establish the confidence of the farm boy in himself and his work. This organization allows members to advance from grade to grade upon the basis of their achievement. Ample opportunity is given them to measure their agricultural skills and make decisions for themselves. Suitable awards are for those who prove themselves unusually capable.

8. To promote scholarship. High standards of classroom and supervised practice work are required of Future Farmers who desire advancement in the organization.

9. To develop local leadership. Future Farmers are given ample opportunity to exercise whatever powers of leadership they possess. They are allowed to assume responsibility in order that they may be able to carry the burdens of leadership that fall upon the shoulders of local leaders in every community.

A Harvest Supper was given by the organization at the Parish Hall on Friday following Thanksgiving which was attended by the members and a host of their friends.

The outlook for the grange is very promising and a considerable number of applications for membership are now on file. A program of activities for the coming year are being planned which should mean much to the community from a civic, social, and educational standpoint.

MANASSAS LOSES TO JEFFERSONTON

Hard Fast Playing Was Feature of Both Games.

On Saturday, December 13, the basketball fans of Manassas, were given a real treat when Manassas High School met Jeffersonton in a double header.

The first game was between the girls' teams, in which the Manassas girls played a splendid game and overcame the stiff resistance of the Jeffersonton High School girls, to win with a score of 19 to 7.

The line-up was as follows:

Manassas	Jeffersonton
Neill	R. F.
Sowers	L. F.
Bevans	J. J.
Lunsford	C. E.
Hottle	R. J.
Meetez	L. A.

Substitutions — Manassas: Hatcher for Neill, Lynn for Sowers, Lloyd for Hottle, and Ritter for Meetez. Jeffersonton: Barron for E. Ney, and Thayer for A. Rosenberg.

The second game was fought hard by both teams, with Jeffersonton team composed of more experienced men, with only one high school boy, since it was impossible for the other high school boys to play, won by a score of 25 to 14.

Even though the Manassas boys were beaten, they showed a wonderful spirit and fought until the last whistle with a desperate attempt to rally and win the game. Even though they failed in this, it shows that Manassas High School has a team that will fight to the end.

The line-up was as follows:

Manassas	Jeffersonton
Leith	R. F.
T. Kite	L. F.
Smith	C.
W. Kite	R. G.
Vetter	L. G.

Substitutions — Manassas: Gilroy for T. Kite, T. Kite for Leith. Jeffersonton: None.

The highest number of points were made by Rosenberg 14 and Vetter 7.

There will be some games in the near future, which you cannot afford to miss if you enjoy really good basketball games.

The Oyster Supper given by the Modern Woodmen on Friday night last was quite a success even though the crowd was small. $20 was cleared. The Woman's Club planted two beautiful cedar trees in the school yard on Monday last to be used as a community Christmas tree.

The first community tree ever held here will be on Christmas eve under the auspices of the Woman's Club. A good program will be given and it is hoped the whole District will attend.

The Agriculture boys are holding a father and son banquet in the School Auditorium on the night of the 18th. The Woman's Club will serve the banquet.

A splendid play will be given on Tuesday night the 23 by the High School boys and girls. It is hoped everybody in the District will come and have a jolly time listening to the play, "Kicked out of College."

Many from Nokesville attended the services held at the United Brethren Church in Aden on Sunday morning last. The O. F. A. and Modern Woodmen hold this memorial service each year.

SCHOOL GIVES PRETTY PLAY

Colorful Operetta Presented by Pupils of Bennett School

"The Cross Patch Fairies," an operetta given by the pupils of the Bennett Graded School, under the direction of Miss Virginia N. Speiden instructor in Public School Music, attracted quite a crowd to the Manassas High School auditorium last Friday evening.

The very clever plot, that of the dream of a "Topsy-Turvy Christmas" brought about by the impulsive wishes of a little cross girl, should warn all little girls and boys that it is the best policy to "Smile, smile," especially "Jes" before Christmas.

The songs, which were very catching and pretty, were well-rendered, according to the applause that the enthusiastic crowd gave, complimenting the singers and their instructor, who had evidently worked painstakingly. The attractive stage settings and lighting devices, which contributed greatly to the success of the performance, were arranged by the Bennett School teachers through the co-operation of patrons in town. While the appropriate and colorful costumes bore evidence to the work of mothers and friends of the school.

The entertaining dances between acts were furnished through the courtesy of the Temple School.

Some of the leading roles were as follows: Santa Claus, Billy Jamieson; Mrs. Santa, Elizabeth Davies; Carol, the Crosspatch, Jessie Mae Conner; Sister Sue, Helen Suthard; Her small cousins, Althea Hooft, Jane Marshall, J. D. Anderson, John Broadus, Jr.; Captain Splinters, Bobby Byrd. Famous characters of Picture Book Land were played by Dickie Haydon, Pearl Corum, Lucy Johnson, Molly Leachman, Bobby Lion, Billy Blakemore, Joe Lyon, William Knox, Cora Lee Cockrell, Lucy Morris. The Crosspatch Fairies were Virginia Wolfe, Shirley Hynson, Jean Akers, Thelma Moore, Jessie Mae Ritter, who presented such a contrast in their weird make-up and patched costumes to the Sunny Smile Fairies in silvery costumes, played by Nancy Leachman, Mary Mason Davis, Virginia Pullen, Marie Bauserman, Lelia Dowell, and Vivian Cornwell. Santa's helpers, the Merry Elves, were Caton Merchant, Tommy Athey, Marvin Gillum, Robert Robinson; while the bold soldiers of the Toyland Brigade were Samuel Hottle, Kenneth Lyons, Douglas Morris, Frankie Dorgan, Robert Whetzel, Howard Cooksey.

This, the first public presentation by pupils under Miss Speiden's instruction, very creditably testifies to the quality of work she is doing in the schools of Manassas, for which the school and its patrons are deeply appreciative.

PRINCE WILLIAM LEADS STATE

Dairy Herd Improvement Association
First among all Associations of State in Butter
Fat Production

The Prince William County Dairy Herd Improvement Association stood highest in butter fat production in November among the 20 herd improvement associations in Virginia, according to a report just received from W. P. Sadler, Extension Dairyman, in charge of dairy herd improvement work in the state.

The herd of Harley and Kline stood first among all herds on test in the state with a production of 1178 pounds milk and 42.9 pounds butter fat per cow for the month of November.

This is a very creditable accomplishment for both the local association and the Harley and Kline Dairy when it is taken into consideration that there are 12,083 cows on test in the counties having dairy herd improvement associations, namely Albemarle, Chesterfield, Augusta, Botetourt, Culpeper, Fauquier, Fairfax, Stafford, Spotsylvania, Henrico, Loudoun, Orange, Pulaski, Montgomery, Roanoke, Rockingham, Washington, Smyth and the Peninsula Counties.

MANASSAS TO HAVE SCHOOL BAND

Swinging into line with the School Band movement, the Manassas School has passed out a questionnaire to determine how many boys, girls and parents are interested in a School Band.

Through the efforts of Miss Speiden Music Supervisor, it has been possible to secure the assistance of Mr. Baxter of Washington, experienced in school band work, in the project.

These questionnaire cards are to be returned by the pupils after the parents have read them. There is no obligation attached to the handling in of the questionnaire card. It is simply a means of making a survey of the band possibility in our school.

Arrangements have been made, if there is sufficient interest shown, to secure the Trial Band Plan, which for a nominal charge, gives every boy and girl the private and unrestricted use of a new instrument, (whichever one he or she desires to play in the band), a series of eight lessons under competent instruction, band rehearsals, and the music is furnished. By this plan parents can learn definitely whether or not their boys and girls can make a success of the playing of the instrument before making final decision to enroll them in the Manassas School Band.

The Trial Plan has been used to great advantage in Alexandria, where George Mason, Mt. Vernon Schools organized a school band. Silver Spring and Rockville, Md., have enjoyed the same success in securing school bands through the use of the same plan.

The feature of the School Band Plan is that after the Trial eight lessons are over, the band continues with the same instructor and every boy and girl is enabled to secure a complete and thorough musical education and band membership at a small fraction of the cost of what it would be if attempted individually by any parent.

Not only will these plans give Manassas a standard School Band, but it will be a decided civic asset, and the cultural and educational advantages it offers our boys and girls cannot be over-estimated.

It is requested by the school that questionnaire cards be returned promptly so that an evening meeting can be called, to which parents and pupils will be invited to talk over the plans for the Band and where all questions will be answered and discussed.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PROPOSED DAIRY FESTIVAL OFFERED BY U. S. D. A. OFFICE OF EXHIBITS

At meetings at the Manassas Town Hall on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of last week, tentative plans drawn up by the Office of Exhibits of the United States Department of Agriculture were presented and many ideas added to those already in the minds of those interested in holding an annual dairy festival in Manassas.

As a general proposition it would seem that the dairy festival project has possibilities for success. While it may lack the sentimental appeal and beauty of apple blossoms and great orchards of trees in bloom which are associated with the Winchester festival, it will have in its favor a great many facts which can be developed to show very practical reasons why the dairy industry should be developed in this territory.

It is believed that a certain of history of dairying in this locality could be introduced in a parade. It is also believed that the general history of the region could be presented at the same time by means of a pageant put on either by school children or adults.

The latter event has promise of success because of the wealth of historical incidents which have taken place in the territory.

From a strictly practical standpoint the development of a market for the surplus of excellent dairy stock produced by our farmers and dairymen would perhaps be the greatest benefit to be obtained from the staging of an annual dairy festival as has been proposed by far sighted men of the town and county. Possibly there might be some way of awarding prizes or certificates to dairymen for meritorious work along certain lines, such as the greatest improvement in (1) quality of milk or in sanitary conditions on his farm; (2) for the highest milk and butter fat producing cows in the region; (3) for any other unusual development or contribution to dairying in the territory.

It would be possible to obtain military bands from nearby bases and camps to add interest to the parade and occasion.

Possibly the climax of the day's activities might be the crowning of various queens and the selection of the queen of all by some prominent official or group of officials. Inasmuch as the Governor of the State performs a similar service at Winchester, it might be possible to persuade him to do the same at Manassas.

As a publicity feature and general attraction it might be well to serve a symbolical dish, strawberries and cream, provided of course, that strawberries are in season at the time, or can be obtained. This might be particularly apropos due to the fact that this a milk marketing section selling milk or cream rather than the manufactured dairy products.

Another important factor with is important to consider, keeping present conditions that have arisen from the drought in mind, is that a number of parades have been held in Washington during the last few years, and certain dairy companies, as well as the Washington Dairy Council, had floats in these parades, and undoubtedly some of the material used in the floats is still in existence. This could probably be borrowed for the preparation of similar floats at little expense.

The Haymarket High School basketball team, although defeated by the Warrenton High School Giants by a score of 16-14, played a wonderful game and were cheered continually by the large crowd which witnessed the contest in the Warrenton gymnasium on last Friday night.

Although outwheeled, the boys in Scarlet forced their opponents to use all of their reserved force in order to give the regular players rest.

The Haymarket boys held Warrenton scoreless the last quarter and Garrison made things look brighter by making six points in the last few minutes of play.

Haymarket is looking forward to another victory over Nokesville on Tuesday when they play on their home court at 8:15 p. m.

Cute Pillows for Youngsters

Here is a Christmas gift-idea for youngsters—pillows made of sateen or percale, appliqued with animal or birds cut out of gingham as pictured. Being washable, mothers will welcome them in the nursery. Santa Claus specially recommends this type for "pillow fights."

Made-of-Ribbon Gifts

Basket-woven ribbon fancywork is again in fashion. There's going to be many a "Merry Christmas" card tied to everything from sachets to handkerchiefs and glove cases, pillows, dresser mats, and even large cases to hold the "nightie" made of ribbon, as the picture shows. Nothing so expresses heart-to-heart sentiment as the "I-made-it-myself" gift.

THE FARM INVENTORY

The local Agricultural Instructor, J. Powers Pullen and County Agent Cox are co-operating with W. J. Nichols, Jr., Farm Management demonstrator, V. P. I. Blacksburg, in getting farmers in County to take a farm inventory.

The time for taking inventories is fast approaching and we hope that many farmers in county will take advantage of this opportunity to take an inventory of their farm business. Mr. Pullen and Mr. Cox will be glad to give any farmer in the County, inventory bulletin and instructions in making out his inventory.

Why an Inventory

Virginia farmers, as you know, have just experienced a bad year. Their incomes have been seriously reduced by the drought and low farm commodity prices. On account of decreased incomes, many farmers will find it reduction credit. Bankers as a rule are interested in securing a credit statement from their borrowers and patrons. They will consider a farmer a better credit risk if he is business like and files a credit statement. We believe that farmers should also be urged to take inventories at the beginning of the year. An inventory will show the farmer how much he is getting ahead financially and a credit statement will improve his credit rating at the bank.

What an Inventory is

A farm inventory is a list of what the farmer owes and what he owns, together with the value of each item. For the time spent, an annual inventory will tell a farmer more about his business than any other financial record.

Value of a Farm Inventory

By taking one inventory, a farmer can find out how much he is worth above his debts on his net worth. Another inventory taken a year later will show him his gain or loss for the year. A farm inventory is a most valuable aid in adjusting insurance claims in case of fire. It also provides a valuable list of property to be used in case of the necessity for selling an estate.

A farm inventory helps to establish credit relations between the farmer and banker or other loan agencies. Many banks require a financial statement before granting credit. Most bankers consider a person a better credit risk if he has taken an inventory of his business and prepared and filed a credit statement with his banker.

When to Take the Inventory

There is no set date for taking the farm inventory. However, the best time is usually between January 1 and March 1 when stocks on hand are the lowest and before the season's work in the field begins.

Valuing Farm Property

There is no fixed rate of depreciation on farm property. A good general rule in taking an inventory is to property at what you would be will-value the different time of farm ing to pay for them at a fair sale.

See your local agricultural instruction or county agent and make plans to take your farm inventory during the first of the year.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

FEAR GOD—Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come; and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.—Rev. 14:7.

PRAYER:
"Lord on Thee our souls depend
In compassion now descend."

CHRISTMAS

"Apple Cider, Cinnamon Beer, Christmas Comes But Once A Year"

Yes, dear friends, Christmas comes but once a year, as is expressed by this little rhyme which our fathers and mothers sang around the festive boards in old Virginia when they were little boys and girls.

The old year with all of its joy, with all of its sadness, with things accomplished, and with things left undone, is about to pass and another year with fresh opportunities and new hopes will soon be upon us.

From times immemorial this season was given over to making merry. Its history passes into unrecorded times when our English ancestors gathered around the Yule Log. It has been the time through the ages when man takes stock of himself as well as his business and wonders if he has given of himself even as he has been given to.

As we approach the day which the Christian world celebrates as the natal day of the Infant Jesus, may we all pause, not in a sense of hysteria but in calmness view our many blessings and give thanks for what we have, and in the Name of Him who gave Himself, may this season bring a new realization of what we owe humanity and a desire to draw civilization closer together in the divine inspiration of love for our neighbors around the whole wide world!

Stage Coach Book-Ends

From all indications Santa is going to make a specialty of giving stagecoach book-ends this Christmas. They are too clever for words, these book-ends, which stand a decorative little coach at each end of a row of books, for the stagecoach, be it of royal lineage like the one pictured or of thoroughly American pioneer descent, is taking the place of the at-one-time favorite ship as a decorative feature in the home.

SOCIAL ITEMS

The effort on the part of the Woman's Club to establish the old English custom of an Assembly Ball at Christmas should meet with warm response. In the country districts of England and many parts of Virginia this delightful yearly social event is looked forward to by the County gentry as a gathering of good-will and general rejoicing. The decorations, refreshments, and hospitality committees assure us that no element of olden Virginia Christmastide will be omitted. The committees will be published next week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Didlake entertained at a very beautifully appointed dinner party at Mrs. J. T. Leachman's home Cedar Grove Tea House last Tuesday evening. The decorations were carried out in Christmas colors with massed cut flowers. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe, Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Swavely, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lyon entertained very enjoyably at cards on Wednesday evening. The guests were Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ratcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Didlake, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bradford, Mrs. Margaret Lewis, and Miss Kate Lewis.

Miss Rose Ratcliffe is home for the holidays from Penn Hall College, Mr. Jack Ratcliffe is also at home on his Christmas vacation from Lafayette College. He made the trip in a passenger plane.

Miss Mollie Rixey has returned from a visit to Richmond.

Mrs. D. R. Gorrell has returned from a visit to her sister in Baltimore.

Bee's Jolly Way of Sharing Christmas

by Florence Harris Wells

BEE JOHNSON was going to be all alone for Christmas, but she had made up her mind she would not let it "get her," as she put it. She had a good position, a dear little apartment and lots of friends to give to and to get presents from.

"I have a lot to be thankful for, even if I am an orphan with no relatives within a Christmas day's distance," Bee had said to one of her friends in reply to her Christmas invitation. "No, I don't want to share any family group. Still, if there was only some one I knew situated as I am, I'd invite them in. I shall buy a little tree anyway, trim it, put my presents on it and be my own Santa Claus."

"Yes, we'll have it there, Miss Johnson, as soon as you are," the girl at the florist's assured her.

And it was, and with it a lovely potted poinsettia with not a line to designate the sender. Bee looked at the tag:

"It's 'Bee Johnson, Monroe Apartments' all right. I'll call the shop."

But the girl at the other end of the line did not enlighten her much.

"Oh, yes, Miss Johnson. It was a dark young man. Yes, I know he said B. Johnson. I thought he was your brother or something."

Bee hung up the receiver. "Brother or something" was good. Naturally it would be a "brother or something" that would send a girl a potted poinsettia. Bee's phone startled her.

"Yes, I'm Miss Johnson. Poinsettia? Yes, indeed. All right."

Bee hung up the receiver to answer the door. There was a humorous, expectant light in her hazel eyes. She met the same look in the eyes of the man who faced her.

"Funny mixup, isn't it? Both of us Johnsons on the same floor? There are more of us, you know, than any other clan except Smiths."

"That's what they say," Bee agreed.

"But are you B. double E. H. too?"

"No, I'm B. Short for Bartholomew."

She liked his very grin.

"I came here a week ago from the West. Got the poinsettia to cheer me up. Get your tree for the same purpose?" His honest brown eyes were eager. He still stood in the doorway. Bee hesitated only a moment.

"Do come in. We'll share them together."

"This is something like it," he beamed as he looked around the cozy apartment. "There's something in a name after all."

NEWNESS OF THE OLD

THERE'S nothing new about a Christmas tree. But that only makes it the lovelier.

There is nothing new about children's delight in Santa Claus. But that does not take away from the charm of their belief.

There is nothing new about wreaths hanging in windows. But that does not make them any less a welcome sight.

There is nothing new about children hanging up their stockings. But that does not take away from the appeal of those limp, empty stockings, hanging up so expectantly.

There is nothing new about members of a family being together for Christmas. But that does not take away from its deep joyousness.

There is nothing new about Christmas wishes and greetings. But that does not make them any less cheery.

There is nothing new about giving Christmas presents. But that does not make them any less interesting.

There is nothing new about tinsel and decorations and red ribbon and silver string. But that does not make them any less gay and decorative.

There is nothing new about Christmas. But there is no day like it in all the year.

BIGGER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

*Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart
—a masterpiece of Fisher styling*

In the entire field of modern coachcraft no symbol has come to mean more to the buyer of a motor car than Body by Fisher. And never has Fisher's superiority been more strikingly exemplified than in the beautiful new bodies of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!

Working with the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher designers have been able to achieve in the new Chevrolet a degree of smartness, comfort and impressiveness hitherto considered exclusive to cars far higher in price.

Inside and out, scores of refinements stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar are artistically grouped to create an unusually attractive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back in a graceful, unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new colors lend a new individuality. Interiors, too, are exceptional in every way. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is tailored with exceptional smartness. Seats are wider and deeper and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision for both driver and passengers. And beautiful new hardware, of modern design, lends a final note of charm.

Many mechanical improvements have also been provided in the chassis of this Bigger and Better Six. Among these are a stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a smoother transmission; and engine refinements which make the new Chevrolet a car you will be happy to drive—as well as proud to own.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display in our showrooms. See it. Drive it! Learn for yourself that it is the Great American Value!

Deserving case. $10.00 worth of food selected by Mrs. Guthrie, mattresses, rugs, and furniture given by different citizens, gathered at Ford Garage from where a truck carried them to home of sufferers. Clothing, new, to the amount of some twenty odd dollars contributed by local merchant, member of committee, used suit and shoes for relief of this case. Case D—$4.00 in groceries given to family quarantined from diphtheria. Worker, sole support of family, had to stay home as nurse.

In all cases where groceries and materials were bought the local merchants cheerfully co-operated and contributed to the bill. Two individual contributions of $1.00 each have been given unsolicited, for food in different cases. Recommended that the Supervisors of the Poor Fund of the County consult with County Nurse as to list of applicants for help from County.

The County Nurse has given out by actual count 219 garments—used clothes, contributed by individual citizens to whom the Committee wishes to give its thanks for cordial aid.

Two organizations have offered an emergency fund for the committee's use. The committee most needs such funds as its means are limited and the demand increases every day with the prospect of a long and hard winter before us. All cases are carefully investigated and funds are paid out on advice of the County Nurse and the Chairman of the Committee after consultation with an officer of the organization contributing.

Santa Will Provide an Up-to-Date Christmas

SANTA CLAUS is a decidedly progressive old chap. He keeps strictly abreast of the times, and in his work employs only modern-day methods. Once he went plodding over the fields in a sleigh no faster than reindeers could gallop. It took him a long time, but he managed to make the rounds.

Then came the automobile. Santa got a big red one and hitched trailers on behind. He could get around faster. He carried bigger loads, got to more homes and made more children happy. When airplanes flew over the North pole Santa got another idea. He believed that planes would be better for his long trips and for skipping from housetop to housetop. He is hardly built for an air pilot, but nobody flies faster nor farther than plump, old Santa.

He does not fancy zeppelins, but he is sure that in another year or two he may be able to broadcast Christmas to the children by radio. As soon as carriers are invented to fly through the air, directed and landed by radio energy, old Santa will sit on his mountain of northern ice and broadcast an up-to-date Christmas to all the world.—William L. Gaston.

(OCOQUAN AND WOODBRIDGE)

This is Station "TCVA" bringing to you a presentation by a direct typographical transcription made possible by the Manassas Journal. Today we will turn back the pages of history and drink from the fountains of the past. We do not have to go to the Valley of the Nile to look up the ancient ruins of a great civilization. It is true, the great pyramids, the silent and mysterious sphinx, and other visible signs attested the grandeur of that day. Greece and Rome have left us the history of their civilization. From the Great Wall, now fallen into decay, we can read the past glories of China. We leave all this and take a trip with Columbus across the deep blue sea toward the setting sun, and while we are sailing along in the centuries of the past we lay the foundations for new thoughts. Strange worlds to conquer and unknown heights to climb. It is 1492, the voyage has been long, tiresome, dangerous, filled with disappointment and encased in superstition. Columbus proves himself a master, with prayers and curses, knout and belaying pin, his sailors are forced on and on. A cry goes out, Land! After long days on the briny deep, land, what a relief! Strange sights—strange people and an unknown world lay at our feet.

Time passes, days and nights are folded into the past, and the great shadow of forgetfulness obstructs our vision. We tiptoe over the past, peeping here and there to view only for a moment the thoughts and actions of centuries long gone. America traces the lines of a new continent and acquaints an old world with the outlines of a new world. Hence, the name "America."

In 1585 we see Sir Richard Grennall on April 9, set sail from Plymouth for the western world, by orders of Sir Walter Raleigh. They return to Plymouth September 18, 1585 loaded with 300 tons of the products of the new world. About 108 men under the command of Master Ralph Layne were left.

Here we will pause and allow Ralph Layne to tell the story: "We made Roanoke our habitation until 18th of June, 1586. The utmost discovery southward was scotian, as we esteemed 80 leagues from Roanoke. We encountered several different tribes of savages. At one time we had nothing to eat except dog meat. About this time Captain Stafford who was sent to me brought me a letter from Sir Francis Drake. Hereupon calling my company, together we were all glad of the General's kind offer to return us to England. (In regard to all those former miseries, and no hope of return of Sir Richard Grennall) so with prayers to God we set sail in June 1586, and arrived in Portsmouth the 27th of July the same year."

Some observation were made by Thos. Heriot, of their victuals, fruit beasts, fishes and fowls; their religions and so forth dealing with the different tribes that they had come in contact with during their stay in Early Virginia. Heriot mentions an herb, "Like an orange growing four foot high, the seeds will make good broth, and the stalk burnt to ashes makes a kind of salt, and other salt they know not." "Tobacco we found a plenty, which they esteem their chief Physecke."

He mentions different kinds of nuts and roots, as well as a Cassava growing in marshes, which the Indians use for bread and broth. They also have corn and several kind of berries. Twelve kinds of beast we have discovered good to eat—turkeys, partridges, cranes, swans, geese, etc.

"Some religion they have, which although it be far from the truth, they believe there are many gods which they call 'Mantoe' also that there is one chief God. This chief God as ben from all eternity. He made other Gods to use in creating. The sun, moon and stars, as petite gods. After creating the world they say, a woman was made and brought forth children and so they had their beginning. Norecords, but only tradition from father to son. All their gods are represented by images in human shape."

"They believe the immortality of the soul, when life departing from the body, according to the good or bad works, it hath done, it is carried up to the tabernacle of the Gods, to perpetual happiness, or to Popoguss, a great pit; which they think to be at the furthest parts of the world, where the sun sets, and there burn continually."

Sir Richard Grennall's second voyage returned quickly to England after leaving fifty men in the Isle of Roanoke. Later ships were sent out by a Mr. White. They found the plantation in the New World, the bones of one man, and the houses overgrown with weeds. White left 115 men and returned to England. Again John White called the great blue sea to the place where he had left the colony in 1587. He said that the Roman letters carved 'C. R. O.' "which according to a secret code was to be written upon some tree, door or post. And if they had been in distress a cross was to be made over these letters unable to find any sign of distress they pushed an and found carved on a post the one word, "Croatan."

The English colony in the New World (called Virginia) had completely disappeared. If he who carved the three Roman letters "C R O," or the single "Croatan" in the little known western hemisphere could give us a brief history of the trials, the struggles and hardships of that fateful day; we would indeed stand in silence! It is impossible for us to visualize, or conjure in our minds the sufferings of those hardy pioneers. Thousands of miles from home, loved ones, and friends, with a great ocean dividing the two hemispheres. The art of invention and science unknown. Steam had not been harnessed to plough through the great waves and ride the wild billowy deep. No one had reached to the clouds and pulled therefrom the wild forked tongue of the gods to harness it as a servant footman. At this period in our upward march a man was a man for that! For, he pitted his strength against the untamed forces of nature. He was 30,000 years from the great ice age and 12,000 years from the stone age. Man has always fought a battle for existence. Amid superstition, ignorance and environments man has pushed civilization forward. The disappearance of this colony, the mute letters "CRO" or the single word "Croatan" did not spell failure.

"Not all at once, nor all alike, nor even hath it been, That God doth offer and confer his blessings upon men."

CHRISTMAS

Once more the Christmas bells ring clear.

Across a world, we hear their chime
And, once again, the hand of time
Points to the deathbed of a year.
Unnumbered centuries have trod
Earth's paths of power in pagan pride,
In purple pomp they moved, then died.

And crumbled at the feet of God.
The past yawns empty as a grave
Leave for one single star—one light—
Silent figure draped in white
Which stilled the storm, which rules
The wave.

Tonight, as holy music swells,
A story is retold
Not life but death is growing old
While, in the promise of the bells,
Each spirit seems imperishable,
Each soul through faith made free
From pain—

And lo, we celebrate again
The anniversary of Christ.

"What!" and promptly fainted.

When she regained consciousness, here is the story that Tou Pee coaxed out of her:

Mrs. Davis had been to Washington and fixed it up with the salesman to sell Tou Pee an overcoat. The price was to be made very attractive so as to appear a great bargain big bargain to Tou Pee. Mrs. Davis agreeing to come in some time later and was $40.00.

Tou Pee says he made fifty per cent on the deal even if Mrs. Davis did lose $40.00.
