

HON. D. M. CHICHESTER RETIRES
AS DELEGATE TO GENERAL ASSEMBLYKeeps Faith with Gentleman's Agreement on Length of Term

Hon. D. M. Chichester, of Falmouth, Delegate to the General Assembly of Virginia from Prince William and Stafford Counties will not be a candidate for re-election. Keeping faith with the gentleman's agreement to alternate representation every two terms between Stafford and Prince William Counties, Mr. Chichester announces elsewhere in this issue of the Journal that he will not offer for re-election.

In 1927 Mr. Chichester was elected to the General Assembly to succeed Hon. C. A. Sinclair, who became Treasurer of Prince William County. Both in the Primary and in the General Election Mr. Chichester polled large majorities and his capable record there has amply justified the judgment of the electorate and won for him a wide circle of friends throughout the State.

The recognition accorded Mr. Chichester at Richmond was unusual for a new member, especially one so young. He was placed on many very important committees where he served with distinction, always laboring diligently for the interest of his constituency. His work on the Roads and Internal Navigation Committee, and the Insurance and Banking Committees was especially notable. He was honored with selection as Chairman of the Special Private and Local Legislation Committee and Vice-Chairman of the Public Property Committee.

Throughout both terms he labored untiringly to secure better roads for his two counties and was very active in securing a cross county state road to join the Lee Highway, to form a short route to Richmond.

Mr. Chichester is the son of the late Judge R. M. Chichester, of the Supreme Court of Virginia.

CHEVROLET PREFERS
NEWSPAPER ADVERTISINGWill Use Newspaper Display in Aggressive Campaign this Year

Another aggressive advertising campaign, with newspaper display columns carrying the brunt of the attack, is promised for this year by R. K. White, advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Long one of the nation's leading advertisers, the Chevrolet organization lent its endorsement to the pulling power of the newspaper by using 6,700 dailies and weeklies to announce its new 1931 car in November, the largest newspaper schedule ever used by Chevrolet in one campaign since the inception of the company. This move was made despite sub-normal business conditions and the generally slackened promotional activities of manufacturers in and out of the automobile industry.

"We made this move," Mr. White explained, "because we are in direct accord with the frequently expressed view that the only way to make bad business good and good business better is to put abnormal effort into your activities when you face subnormal conditions."

"Not only did we carry the largest newspaper schedule we ever used, but we utilized new forms of advertising to put our new car message across. Both the radio and the motion picture screen were added this year. Both are new media in our program, and both were added because a manufacturer with a national market intensively cultivated cannot afford to overlook any new means of approach to that market."

"We are continuing to use the radio and the screen to supplement and buttress our newspaper campaigns just as we have always used national magazines, outdoor boards, direct mail and other media for the same purpose."

"The newspaper, however, continues to form the backbone of our campaign, and for the present will continue to do so. It, in the person of the gridiron, carries the ball and the rest run interference."

OUR FIVE-FOOT CHILDREN

The Journal is preparing for publication a list of the five-foot children of Prince William County. We are proud of our splendid boys and girls and will have a special message for them when we print this year's honor roll.

HUTCHISON TELLS
OF SOUTH'S GLORYProminent Civic Worker
Renders Able EulogyANNUAL LEE-JACKSON CEREMONIES HELD AT METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH ON SUNDAY

On Sunday evening of January 18, a beautiful religious and patriotic service was held in the Methodist Episcopal Church of Manassas, sponsored by the Manassas Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The church was tastefully decorated in hemlocks and poinsettias with the Confederate flag on one side of the pulpit and the American flag on the other side.

Rev. Geo. Hasel presided over the meeting and opened it with prayer after which the congregation joined the choir in that "stirring" old hymn "How Firm a Foundation," a favorite of Robert E. Lee. Miss Virginia Nelson Speiden was at the piano. Miss Speiden, a member of Manassas Chapter U. D. C., was a June graduate of Hollis College where she specialized in Music and won distinction.

Col. R. A. Hutchison was the chief speaker and the large crowd that was assembled gave evidence to his popularity and the high esteem with which he is held in his own community. The age-old saying, "No prophet is accepted in his own country," is not applicable to our own great man. Col. Hutchison received his commission during the administration of Governor Mann of Virginia in 1913. He was the president of the Manassas Kiwanis Club for the year 1930 and is now Lieutenant Governor of the Capital District Kiwanis Club.

The great number of times that he is called upon is a proof that his hearers do not tire and he may be truly classed with those who improve with age. He expressed his pleasure at the privilege of participating in the service and is quoted in part as saying:

"An index to the virtue of any nation may be found in the veneration in which it holds its great national characters; for people are themselves virtuous in proportion to the esteem in which they revere those qualities which have made their heroes illustrious. In that brilliant galaxy of names which illuminates the pages of Southern history—names of world famed poets, and orators, and jurists, and patriots and statesmen—the names of three men stand out pre-eminently great, and these three were Virginians. From that long list of noble sons whose achievements have rendered their memory immortal and added a new lustre to the land of their birth, Virginia has selected these three for distinctive honors she accords none other. To George Washington, Thomas J. Jackson, and Robert E. Lee alone belongs the distinction of having the anniversaries of their respective natal days set aside by sanction of legislative authority for commemorative services."

He touched briefly upon the lives of Lee and Jackson who are "conceded to be two of the greatest military geniuses of any age although their military prowess alone cannot accord account for the deep veneration in which their memory is held and makes of them a fit subject for a religious service and their names honored above the world's great warriors; among whom are Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon and conqueror of the Jewish nation; Alex. and the Great, King of Macedonia; the conqueror of the known world at the age of thirty-three; Charlemagne, a great King of the Franks; the brave Normans who dared the Channel and conquered the Saxons; Napoleon, Caesar, Hannibal, William the Conqueror, Xerxes, Cyrus, the Great; Peter the Great; Czar of Russia, who introduced western civilization into Russia and founded St. Petersburg, one of the most impregnable fortresses in the world; and many others of the world's successful great men."

To the People of Prince William County:

Pursuant to the gentleman's agreement existing between the Counties of Stafford and Prince William whereby they shall alternate in furnishing the Representative in the House of Delegates, I desire to announce that I will not be a candidate in the coming election to succeed myself.

I have enjoyed my official connection with Prince William County far more than I am able to say and shall always remember with the warmest affection my many friends throughout the County, who have been so generous and loyal to me. Regardless of what the future holds I shall always deem it a great pleasure to render them any service that is in my power.

Gratefully and sincerely yours,

DAN M. CHICHESTER.

MANASSAS SCHOOL BAND
TO ORGANIZE

This evening at 8 p. m., a meeting will be held in the Manassas High auditorium to determine whether there is sufficient demand for the organization of a school band.

Messrs. W. K. Baxter and Ray Hart will be present. Mr. Baxter will explain all features of the trial rental plan and Mr. Hart, a former director of the orchestra of a large theatre in Washington, will demonstrate each instrument.

Everyone is invited to attend, but more especially the interested students and their parents. The attendance of parents is especially stressed as they will assume responsibility for instruments used by their children.

The formation of a music unit in the local schools can not be underestimated as all children are musical and such an outlet is of the greatest value.

men."

The two great men were presented in different types. "The character of Lee never appeared more sublime than when shrouded in the gloom of defeat with the blackened ruins of a wasted country still smoldering around him, his hopes blasted, his world broken, the beautiful and loved Arlington ravished from him by a victorious foe, and he charged with his treason, declined offices which would take him from his beloved state at the time when he needed the best services of her ablest and noblest sons. And when on the 12th day of October 1870, the sad news was flashed from Lexington that he who had been the "Spirit of the South" was no more, the world stood with bowed head in token of Universal sorrow."

Col. Hutchison made our hearts swell with pride as our memories were refreshed in the valorous deeds of our heroes and he closed his address with the beautiful lines:

"His life was gentle, and the elements So mixed in him that nature might stand up And say to all the world, 'This was a man'."

"The War Between the States was not one of conquest, not of offense, but truly one of principle, in defense of homes and firesides. Virginia never used the sword until it was thrust in her hands."

The program was continued with a reading by Mrs. Leonard L. Lonas—"Let us Pass Over the River," Steadfast Jackson's favorite hymn and his last words as he received the final command from his Great Superior Officer when he as bravely in death as in battle "Passed Over the River" and found "Rest Under the Shade of the Tree."

Rev. T. D. D. Clark sang that beautiful old piece, "The Holy City." Good brother Clark is a former pastor of Manassas Baptist Church and much beloved and revered by all who know him. He is spoken of as being "So beautiful mid the shadows of the evening time of life."

Mrs. C. M. Larkin, a member of Manassas Chapter U. D. C. read a paper on "Why General Lee Resigned from the Federal Army." She revealed the true Christian character of Lee and the love for his native land for whose defense only he ever wanted to again draw his sword. She said that Lee had but one friend and that was God and that he would have received more joy from having lost one soul to Christ than to have won a mere victory. He proved his love for Virginia when he refused a salary of $50,000 a year with a New York enterprise to stay with her in her great hour of need.

"O God, I love My Soul" as a duet by Mrs. L. G. Hatcher and Mrs. H. G. Hatcher.

JURIES DRAWN
FOR FEBRUARY

Short Term is Expected

The following have been drawn for service on the criminal jury for the term of the circuit court beginning on February 2:

E. B. Bell, J. H. Lynn, E. S. Shirley, A. B. Rust, W. L. Meale, C. C. Cushing, R. F. Waters, E. H. Gibbs, S. M. Reid, A. H. Roseberry, John Moncure, Michael Oleyar, M. J. Shephard, John E. Adams, C. B. Linton, R. L. Anderson, T. W. Brawner, Wm. Adamson, H. L. Hundley, E. P. Davis, Bailey Tyler, K. H. Florance, W. E. Trusler and Clyde Savage.

The following will comprise the civil jury:

Jos. L. Rollins, G. C. Evans, O. W. Hedrick, W. M. Johnson, W. E. Mountjoy, Malcolm B. Herndon, E. M. McCuin, T. M. Russell, Ernest Lipscomb

The two cases listed for trial first are Robert Watson and Frank Peters.

EMERGENCY HAY CROPS

The unusually dry summer of 1930 has created a serious situation in respect to hay and pasture and many farmers will need to sow emergency crops to provide feed for the summer and fall and for the winter of 1931-32. At the same time, provision will have to be made for the hay crops requiring longer to mature and to be cut in 1932. Emergency crops will necessarily have to be seeded that we would not under normal conditions make use of. Since there may be found both strong advocates and opponents of certain emergency crops in the same locality and even in the same community, it is important that a farmer impartially investigate as widely as possible the merits of the different emergency crops before he decides he should or should not seed the particular crop in mind.

A few crops are mentioned which should be given consideration.

Oats

Cereal crops cut at the right time make excellent hay. General experience points to oats as the cereal crop best adapted to this purpose. The Fulgum oat is recommended for March and the Burt variety for later seeding, at the rate of 2½ to 3 bushels for hay and in smaller amounts for grain. As a rule, it is good practice to sow oats as early in the spring as the land can be prepared satisfactorily for seeding. Austrian Winter Peas sown with oats in March, at the rate of 40 pounds winter peas and 40 pounds oats per acre, have given good results but Canada Field Peas are not recommended.

Opinion varies somewhat as to the best time to cut oats for hay. Probably the "soft-dough" is the best average stage of maturity at which to harvest. In California, where cereals are extensively used for hay, oats usually are cut in the milk stage when the hay is intended for milch cows or saddle horses, beef or dry cattle.

Oats ordinarily respond well to liberal applications of fertilizers. When oats are to be cut for hay, a heavy vegetative growth is desirable, hence nitrogenous fertilizers may be applied without fear of producing too much stems at the expense of grain.

Rye and Wheat

Rye and wheat may be made into hay almost equal in value to timothy, if cut at the right stage. Fall sown crops must be used however since no spring sown small grains, excepting oat have given general satisfaction in Virginia. A ton of this hay cut when the head is appearing out of boot or in the soft-dough stage may be worth more than the fifteen to twenty bushels of grain harvested later in the season.

Soybeans

Soybeans will be used as an emergency hay crop. Where soybeans have not been recently grown the seed should be inoculated. Culture may be obtained from seed dealers or from the State Commissioner of Agriculture, Richmond. Soybeans sown in a seed bed similar to or prepared for corn. In comparison prices, remember that more is required for varieties with larger beans. For example, Virginia 129,700 Wammoth Yellow, etc.

KIWANIS CLUB
HISTORY TOLDFormer President Recites
Events from Time of Formation to Present
Day

Kiwanis anniversary was celebrated by the local club last week. A fitting circumstance was the recitation of the general history of the organization by Lieut. Governor R. A. Hutchison, who also dwelt with much feeling on the origin and growth of the local club. Mr. Hutchison has made Kiwanian work one of the ideals of his life and his speech was an eloquent echo of the same.

Elvin Didlake, who had charge of the evening, also introduced Joseph A. Kelly, a noted broker and sportsman of Pittsburgh, who recently purchased the Heineken place near Haymarket and is now engaged in working up a hunt club for Prince William County.

Mr. Kelly gave an interesting talk on the difficulties of organization and urged the advantages of such an organization in bringing in new investors such as have peopled much of the Loudoun and Fauquier area.

Ed. Conner's "goose was cooked" by several facetious poems which also broadly stated that the goose was also "crooked." But Ed is the genius of good humor in the club and the "goose hung high." The club is certainly starting off with a decided impetus for 1931.

MANASSAS SPLIT DOUBLE
HEADER WITH ALEXANDRIA

Manassas High School teams played Alexandria High School on Tuesday, January 20. The games were very fast and exciting, and according to some critics these were the best games played at Manassas this season.

The first game was between the Manassas and Alexandria High School girls' team, in which the Manassas girls held the upper hand during the whole game. The score was 10 to 6. Robertson and Dianek each scored three points for Alexandria, while Lloyd and Lynn scored 6 and 4 points respectively.

The line-up is as follows:

Manassas	Alexandria
Lynn	R.F.
Lloyd	L.F.
Bevans	C.
Lunsford	S.C.
Meetez	R.G.
Bushong	L.G.

Substitutions: Manassas, none; Alexandria, Robertson for Hoy; Dianek for Robinson, Hoy for Carter, Moriarity for Haler, and Angel for Haler.

The second game was between the boys' teams in which Alexandria broke loose during the last half to win by a score of 19 to 10. Evans scored 8 points for Alexandria, and Gilroy scored 6 points for Manassas.

The line-up is as follows:

Manassas	Alexandria
W. Kite	R.F.
Gilroy	L.F.
Smith	C.
Leith	R.G.
Vetter	L.G.

Substitutions: Manassas T. Kite for W. Kite, T. Kite for Leith; Alexandria, None.

On Friday January 16 four games were played at the High School Gym. The scores were: Ocoquan 7, Nokesville 22; Manassas 22, Nokesville 8; Manassas 12, Calverton 26 (girls); Manassas (2nd team) 2, Calverton 18.

The Manassas High School teams will meet their old rival, Marshall at the High School Gym on Friday, January 30. When Manassas played Marshall at Marshall in December, Marshall won by a score of 22 to 21. Who will win these coming games?

600 Virginia and 465,600 Laredo beans to the bushel. Soybeans are sown at corn planting time and should be harvested, provided curing weather is ideal, when the pods are about one-third to one-half filled and before the lower leaves have become browned.

Sweet Clover

Where soil conditions are right, unhusked sweet clover seeded in late January or February may produce a crop of hay this year. Inoculation of seed is important if sweet clover or alfalfa has not been recently grown on the land. On medium soils 300 to 400 pounds of complete fertilizer should be used. On fairly fertile land an equal quantity of 16 per cent superphosphate should be sufficient. Probably the most important essential in growing sweet clover is liming. Korean Leysodon

HOME DEMONSTRATION NOTES

The monthly report of Miss Sarah Pitts, Home Demonstration Agent for December 1930, is as follows:

Names of communities in which Home Demonstration Agent worked: Woodlawn, Greenwich, Purcell, Woodbine, Hayfield, Haymarket, Bethel, Occoquan, Nokesville, Dumfries, Quantico, Manassas, Stone House, and Catharpin; number of girls groups met, 16; number of women's groups met, 4; number of other meetings attended, 7; number of homes visited, 55; number of miles travelled, 587; number of letters written, 133.

One hundred fifty girls of the county are working on clothing as major project for the year. These girls are enrolled in ten 4-H project groups in as many different communities. All of the groups except two have active club leaders; two have junior and senior leaders. In our clothing work this year we are emphasizing more than ever the wise selection and economical buying of materials. Two groups are using feed sacks to the exclusion of other materials in their work.

One hundred ninety-six boys and girls of the county are centering their interests on their own food and health habits through the Better Foods Clubs. Many of them are reporting excellent gains in weight. Many too, are realizing the importance of vegetables in the diet and are now planning for their spring gardens. Through these Better Foods Clubs hot lunches are being brought into several of the schools.

The first meeting of the leaders of clothing project groups was held December 11 with eleven leaders present representing nine groups.

At the meeting the plan of work for January and February was mapped out and methods discussed whereby more effective helps may be given.

A poultry improvement contest was launched by the women of the county during the month of December. Miss Bess Hodsden, Poultry Specialist, is working individually with the twenty-six women and four men who are enrolled in the contest. The contest will run for a year and at the end of that time flocks will be rescored and prizes given for most improvement in flock.

The Prince William Chapter of the Homemakers' Association met December 11 with forty-eight women present. Miss Cymbel Taylor, State Clothing Specialist, talked before the group on remodeling of clothing.

MILK PRODUCERS HEAR MCGILL AT TOWN HALL

At the annual meeting of the local members of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers' Association Monday afternoon, John McGill, Manager of the Association, told of the progress that had been made in marketing milk during recent years, and of the outlook for the future. The meeting was well attended by dairymen from all parts of the county.

Officers for the Prince William District for the ensuing year were elected as follows: R. S. Hynson, president; F. M. Swartz, vice-president and F. D. Cox, secretary and treasurer.

R. S. Hynson was re-elected as director to represent Prince William County. Mr. Hynson is vice president of the Maryland and Virginia

THE USE OF CLOVER IN FEEDING LIVESTOCK AND IN OUR SOIL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM

Most of what will be said in this and subsequent articles on red clover as a feed for livestock applies to other legumes as well. The reason for emphasizing red clover is that it fits so well into rotations, and is such a good land improver. For these reasons it must be given an important place in our program of soil improvement in Prince William County. In addition, it is one of our best legumes, both as a hay and as a pasture for livestock.

Due to the drought, practically all red clover has been killed, which makes it necessary to seed more this year for hay in 1932. This will not help the feed situation materially for next winter, so it will also be necessary to seed some of the other legumes as soybeans, cowpeas or vetch clover if we are to have legume hay for feeding livestock during that time.

Corn, small grain, grass, hays, straws and stover are rich in carbohydrates, which makes them adapted to the fattening or maintenance of farm animals. However, they are lacking in protein and minerals, which are necessary for the proper growth of young animals, or for those that are milking or pregnant. Clover and other legumes being high in these nutrients are particularly valuable in balancing to other farm feeds. In fact, a satisfactory ration for feeding much of the livestock on our farms may be made up of legume hay used in combination with the ordinary grains and roughages found on the average farm.

FRANK D. COX, County Agent.

SERVICES OF ENGINEER FOR LAYING OUT FARM WATER SUPPLY SYSTEMS AVAILABLE

As soon as there are enough calls at the County Agent's office to justify asking an agricultural engineer to come to the county, assistance will be available to farmers without cost in making a survey of sources of water and farmstead layouts and making plans for farm water supply systems. While conditions are such as to not make a great many improvements along this line practical at this time, there are probably some who are planning to pipe water into the house or barns this year. If this is contemplated, please co-operate with those who are waiting and put in your request for assistance at once. It is possible that you may be able to make use of a hydraulic ram.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(Woodbridge and Occoquan)

Fairfax, our sister county, has given birth to a whole flock of legislative candidates. They are not all new. It is true they are field men, hardy, vigorous, thrifty, and well fitted to represent their beloved county. These neoteric politicians were conceived in the womb of our last year's drought, born during the travail of our cosmopolitan depression. As long as the effects of the drought are felt, and said effects aggravated intermittently by depression reports, we may expect to be burdened by a horde of office seekers.

I am in favor of each county setting aside a field, not less than ten acres in area. This field to be fenced hog tight, horse high, and bull strong and to be known officially as the "Political Arena."

Thirty days before election all candidates to be rounded up by the official dog catcher and hauled over to the political arena, and with the proper ceremony turned into the inclosure, and gates locked. Ten days later I would suggest that the electorate pick out good men and women for the positions to be filled, hold an election, and induct into office the people's choice. Then, at the end of thirty days open the gates of the political arena and let the premature candidates depart in peace to their respective homes; there to live in peace and contentment.

It is said, when a political bee hums around an ear like appendage, which you generally find attached to the dome of a political vacuum; that the sound waves conveying the vibrations to the auditory nerves set in motion a relativity action that causes the recipient to seek political advantages.

A politico-graph of Fairfax, at the present time shows quite a complex cross section of the political minded: there are several sons of this historic county ready and willing to give their time, energy, expense, and what-not to the salvation of their legislative district. They are cataloged as Episcopalians and Democrats, and some breeds not mentioned. If rumors pan out, according to gossip three-fifths of dear old Fairfax will be candidate stricken. Is there no balm in gilead, or anti-toxin in suffering to set things normal?

Edmund Herr Allen claims the Allen family for Ed. Jno. C. Mackall claims his own vote and the prospects of one more, providing he does not have a lover's quarrel.

Herbert Williams claims one and probably two, he says, the second one he will lose if Geo. F. Farrison trots out.

L. L. Freeman claims the free-man's vote.

Prince William is getting ticklish. The old county is two hundred years old to a day. The fury of political winds have swept over her rolling hills and dashed the broad Potomac into foam at her feet. She felt the pinch of civil war, laughed at misery, and thumbed her nose at retreating yanks. Well, today tells a different tale. We are self satisfied and surfeited with provincial illusions. We hug the Twin Nemesis, drought and depression and shake with a touch of ague for fear some one will stray from the beaten path.

Most of our public and would be public men are what the psychologist term extroverts. Men who agree to everything. Men who will not give you a straight out "yes" or "no." Afraid that they will offend some one. Such men are rubber stamps. Mr. and Mrs. Voter, think for yourselves, and you will soon starve out the professional politician.

In the words of Stephen Vincent Benet, "The Fetters fell like straws from the clock of Time."

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

TRUTH MAKES FREE.
Then said Jesus, If ye continue in my word, then are ye yet my disciples; indeed, and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.—John 8:31-32.

PRAYER: O Lord, our God, make us eager for thy liberating truth.

Retirement of D. M. Chichester

The voluntary retirement of Hon. D. M. Chichester as Delegate to the General Assembly from Prince William and Stafford Counties will be the occasion of regret among his many friends. During the four years in which he has represented our county, he has labored faithfully to promote the welfare of his constituency. His committee assignments were important and most satisfactorily performed. In youth, and at the height of his capability for public service, and in the face of certain re-election, had he desired to continue, Mr. Chichester retires in deference to that gentleman's agreement that the position of Delegate shall alternate every two terms between citizens of the respective counties. It is refreshing in these days of practical politics to see gentlemen keeping faith with unworldly ideas. The public life of Virginia is enriched by such sacrifices and we predict that the public services of our retiring delegate will by no means be terminated by his decision.

THE WICKERSHAM REPORT

It is evident from the report of the President's Crime Commission that the greatest difference of opinion exists among our best minds as to the most desirable method of enforcing prohibition.

Had a jury brought such a polyglot verdict into court it would have been immediately discharged and a new trial ordered. Here the majority, as evidenced by their individual statements, favored a modification of the law. Yet they seem to have been restrained from translating their opinion into an expression of the Commission. At a cost of half a million dollars the public is no better situated than before. And to cap the climax, the only point upon which they did agree was censured by the President in his message transmitting the Report to Congress.

It would appear that having made a general failure of his administration, and having seen his Crime Commission report become a fiasco, the President would pose before the people as their great hope in saving national prohibition.

Temperance has received no set back in this matter. It is more than ever apparent that our people are keenly desirous of curbing the liquor traffic. But national prohibition has received a fearful blow. The trend of sentiment toward State control is becoming more difficult to combat than ever before. It is being realized that the extension of the federal power into the local police field is contrary to the American system of government and is bringing about a condition which may become far worse than the evil it was invoked to remedy.

Much good will finally eventuate as the people of the country have a real opportunity to crystallize their ideas and voice their wishes. There never has been a fair referendum on the matter and all believers in democratic government see no harm in permitting the electorate of America to decide between Federal and State control of the liquor problem.

LEE AND JACKSON

Though anniversaries come and go with the majority of people paying scant attention to their real significance, that certainly is not true of the Lee-Jackson anniversary. These outstanding heroes of America's fratricidal war and of the "Lost Cause" are in no danger of being forgotten or belittled. In the wreck of false reputations and the eclipse of smaller heroes they loom up against the horizon of history, undiminished, impregnable, national—even world—figures that need no monument but themselves as they continue to live in the hearts of the passing generations. They possessed those qualities that are so nearly universal in their appeal as to hold the enduring affection of the Southern people as well as to command the respect of all Americans. "Old Stonewall"—distinguished by fearlessness, dogged determination, absolute integrity, child-like religious faith and unbreakable will and undying love of his flag and his people. Lee, exemplifying the virtues that enter into the making of the highest type of manhood—renunciation of personal ambition, truth, cleanness, loyalty, faith, courage, humility, gentleness, unswerving devotion to duty.

What men they were! Of those who marched with them, but few are left, and their footsteps daily grow feebler and feebler. But the names of Lee and Jackson grow year by year a more priceless heritage to the land they served so well both in war and in peace.

—Staunton Evening Leader.

PREVENTABLE ACCIDENTS

According to insurance records, half of the fatal accidents to pedestrians of the country have been the fault of the victims. Pedestrians in these cases have usually dashed out into or at points where the motorist traffic against a warning signal was supposed to have right of way.

There are other accidents to the sufferers' own fault. Explosions which have resulted in the death of many people have been caused by neglect to detect gas leaks. People blame these things on their own hard luck, when they could have prevented them by using ordinary common sense.

Safety education is teaching children not to run across the streets without pausing at the curb to wait until the way is clear. Can it not also teach them and their elders not to do some of the silly, unthinking things that cause many other accidents and catastrophes?

—Exchange.

FORGET THE SHADOW

In Washington one day last week Dr. Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, was talking with one whom he describes as "one of the simplest and wisest men America has produced in this generation." The conversation had turned to economic conditions and the business outlook. Dr. Frank relates the following incident:

"What a day of brilliant sunshine!" I exclaimed, as we strolled straight into the sun.

"Why no," my companion said, as he looked behind him. "It's dark day, indeed. Look at the shadow!"

He was looking at the shadow he cast behind him. He had turned away from the brightness of the sun.

And then he laughed.

"That's just what the Nation is doing," he said, "looking backward. We are wallowing in statistics about the past. We are reeling drunkenly in an orgy of analysis of our past mistakes. We are looking at our economic shadow when we should be marching into the sun."

For the average American, declares Dr. Frank, in commenting upon the incident, the immediate future holds recovery, not disaster. "We shall not solve all the tangled problems of the machine age next month," he admits, "but business recovery within comfortable and healthy bounds, is inevitable."

Since time began, he points out, certainly since the modern business system got under way abnormal consumption has been followed by subnormal consumption and, after a bit later the circle has been rounded to high consumption.

"All of our experience points to the fact that the phases of subnormal consumption has about run its course. Let's forget our shadow and walk into the sun," is Dr. Frank's concluding suggestion. It is good—and needed—advice.

—Roanoke Times.

FEED THE BIRDS

Remember the birds, feed them near your house and barn, hang suet in your evergreens, scatter bread crumbs, wheat or scraps of any kind under hedges on porches and window sills. It will give you pleasure to watch the starving little songsters enjoy themselves and you can study them at close range. During the holidays a beautiful mockingbird came to a porch in Woodstock and ate the holly and spicewood berries from a wreath hanging on the outside of a door and calmly enjoyed his breakfast every morning while the lady of the house enjoyed her breakfast just inside the glass door only a few feet away.

To find the haunts of bobwhite it is best to travel on horseback, as they do not fear horses, they will be seen gathered in groups under hedges and close beside fences under brush and at the edges of woodland where shelter is afforded. If grain is scattered in this way, in their haunts, they will come each day to find it and none is lost, otherwise much grain will rot in the fields before being found. Never before have the birds been in such dire need of help from us. The drought has deprived them of weed seeds which furnish the major portion of their diet as well as much of the usual shelter for protection from cold and from their enemies.

—Woodstock Herald.

FEED THE BIRDS

by LUNA S. DAY

A flock of birds came down one day.

When snow was on the ground.

They hopped up on my perch and chirped:

"Please spread some crumbs around;

It's very hard for us to find

A single thing to eat;

And crumbs that seem to you

so dry,

To us are good and sweet."

I gave them such a lot of food

They couldn't eat it all,

Although they tried and tried their best,

They were so very small.

It takes so little food to save

A small bird's life—now try

To feed some hungry little thing

Before the day goes by.

—Winchester Star.

SWAVELY NOTES

In the absence of Mr. Swavely, Mr. Illingworth delivered the address at Sunday Vespers.

Mrs. Swavely held a reception on Saturday evening for Mrs. Buck, president, and Mrs. Eley, director of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, who were her guests over the week end.

Preparations are under way for the production of a three-act play at Mid-Year in February.

The Faculty Reading Club had its first meeting last evening with Mr. Illingworth in charge. His subject was: "Barrie; the Story of a Genius."

The basketball team are playing Gonzaga High School this afternoon in Washington and on Saturday they will go to Front Royal to play Randolph Macon Academy.

On Saturday a group of students will be taken to Washington to visit the Corcoran Art Gallery and to see the Theatre Guild Play "Green grow the Lilacs."

Cross country hiking is the favorite exercise of the intra-mural squad at this season.

Jack Moore, now of Devitt School, Washington, was a Saturday visitor at the school.

Korean Leapedeza is an excellent late pasture crop and soil improver and is seeded about two weeks before the last killing frost in the spring. It has a place on unimproved land where clover can not be grown. Except on low, moist fertile lands, it can not be depended on for hay. It is seeded at the rate of 15 pounds per acre with or without a urse crop. Do not confuse Korean with common leapedeza.

Sudan Grass
Sudan Grass seeded early in June should produce a hay crop in about fifty days and if there is a good season, there may be later cuttings. The total nutrients of Sudan hay are 51.4 as compared with 48.5 for timothy hay.

CHICKEN SALAD IS FAVORITE FOR LUNCH

Chicken Salad is One of the Most Delicious Dishes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Again she ordered chicken salad." The cartoonists have made chicken salad a national by-word, through poking fun at the inexperienced young girl who does not know exactly what to choose on the restaurant menu, with its French names for ordinary dishes and sauces she never heard of.

Nevertheless, to order chicken salad shows common sense in more ways than one. At its best chicken salad is one of the most delicious dishes one can get anywhere. Even in a restaurant of no special distinction it will be one of the most satisfactory orders, for the method of making it is widely understood and the chief ingredients—cooked chicken, celery, lettuce and salad dressing—are obtainable almost anywhere.

There are a few points about putting chicken salad together, however, that make all the difference between well-flavored and indifferently flavored results. One is the slight suggestion of onion flavor in the vinegar.

Chicken Salad:

A fowl weighing 1 sliced onion about 5 pounds. Salt or 3 smaller Mayonnaise dressing fowl.
3 bunches celery Lettuce
1 cup mild vinegar

Simmer the chicken until tender in a small quantity of water. When about half done, add a teaspoonful of salt. Let the chicken cool in the broth. After it is cold remove the skin, strip the meat from the bones and cut it into small pieces of even size. In the meantime allow a few slices of onion to soak in a cupful of mild vinegar to give the vinegar a slight onion flavor. Remove a cupful of chicken fat from the cold broth and mix with this vinegar. Pour this mixture over the chicken, adding more salt and vinegar if needed to season it well. A few drops of tabasco improve it. Let this stand, or marinate, for several hours, or overnight. Cut the celery stalks and some of the tender leaves into small pieces and let stand in a cold place until crisp. Mix enough thick, well-seasoned mayonnaise dressing with the chicken to coat the pieces well. Shortly before the salad is to be served, add the celery and more mayonnaise if needed. Stir the mixture lightly so as not to break up the chicken. Add still more salt if needed. Pile the salad lightly on crisp lettuce and serve at once.

If desired, add one-quarter cupful of capers when the celery and chicken are combined. Hard-cooked eggs may be used as a garnish or cut in pieces and mixed with the chicken to make it go further.

EATING LUNCH AT HOME CAFETERIA

Children Soon Learn How to Manage Plate or Glass.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Several good results are obtained by teaching children, from the earliest age, to feed themselves and take part in such activities as laying their own places and carrying food to and from the table. They soon learn, also, to help mother by setting the table for many meals and putting away silver and other clean utensils and dishes after meals.

The most important effect of encouraging self-help at meal times is of course on the child himself. He develops steadiness in his muscles and self-confidence as he gradually becomes able to manage a plate, or glass, or tray containing both, without spilling anything. The little boy in this picture from the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture is only three, and he has reached a point where he can safely carry his own lunch from the kitchen to his little table. He calls it "playing cafeteria."

The joy of accomplishment in doing this means far more to a little child than an adult often realizes. Sometimes mothers who are in a hurry to get work done, say "Here, I can do it quicker," or "I'm afraid you'll spill it"—mother will carry it for you." What if he does spill a little food on a washable tray? He can learn not to with a little practice. Let him start by carrying one dish not easy to tip—a bowl of cereal, or a plate of vegetables. The first time he carries his entire lunch without spilling a drop, he needs a little praise; he will try to do it as well every time.

A child as young as fifteen months can be given his own spoon and fork to fit his small hands, and a chance to practice eating. Feeding himself will be slow, awkward, and spilly at first, and the mother is constantly tempted to save time and mess by taking the spoon away and feeding him herself. But this only postpones the child's independence. If his clothing is protected by a large bib, and the floor and table are washable, a few accidents do not matter.

In a very short time the second benefit from the child's new accomplishment will be evident—the mother's time will actually be saved many times over, while the little one progresses from the stage of learning to manage a spoon up to the point where he can carry a tray, pour out and carry a glass of milk, and finally, carry two things at once if they are not too heavy.

The lunch for the little boy in the picture consists of sandwiches—bread and butter with finely chopped lettuce as filling—creamed canned beans, and a pan-broiled meat ball; milk; and a simple dessert of rice and cooked fruit.

Carrots and Apples Are Superior During Winter

Winter vegetables need not become monotonous if one takes pains to vary the way they are cooked. Here's a combination of two good foods that can be found in every country store cellar and on any grocer's counter in the country. Yet when put together they make a tasty dish that seems like something new. This is an excellent accompaniment to roast pork or roast beef—in fact, to any meat dish which gains savor by the addition of cooked apples. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture enumerates the ingredients needed:

6 medium-sized carrots 2 lbs. fat
6 roots 1 tbs. sugar
6 tart apples 1/4 tsp. salt

Scrape the carrots and cut them lengthwise into thin slices. Pare the apples, or leave the skin on, as preferred, core, and cut into slices about a fourth of an inch thick. Place a single layer of the apples and the carrots in a large skillet with the fat, cover tightly and cook until well browned, turn and brown the other side. Just before the cooking is finished sprinkle with the sugar and salt. Serve on a hot platter, first a layer of carrots, then a layer of apples, so the two can be lifted together.

Vegetable Fritters Are Good With Sliced Meat

Nothing like crisp vegetable fritters as an addition to a plate of cold sliced meat of any sort. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture tells how to make celery fritters:

1 1/2 cups sifted soft wheat flour 1 egg
1/4 cup milk
1/4 tsp. salt 1 cup chopped celery
1/2 tsp. baking powder 1 tbs. melted fat

Sift together the flour, salt, and baking powder, add the beaten egg, milk, celery, and fat. Fry the celery fritters in deep fat or, if preferred, in a skillet in shallow fat. In either case drop the mixture by spoonfuls into the fat and fry rather slowly. The fritters need time to cook through to the center before the outside becomes too brown. Drain the fritters on absorbent paper and serve hot.

JOHN W. RUST,
Trustee

34-4

VIRGINIA:

In the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Prince William County, in vacation, this 30th day of December, 1930.

Henry Taylor et als, Plaintiffs, vs. H. S. Ashton, Archie Taylor, Arthur Henderson, Elsie Scott, Mary Henderson, Leonard Williams, Dora West and others, Defendants.

The general object of the above styled suit is to have partition in kind, if the same appears proper to said Court, and, if not, sale of the Jno. W. and Eliza Taylor land in Occoquan District, Prince William County, Virginia, containing 30 and 18 1/2 acres, more or less, respectively, and fully described in the bill in said suit; and also to have ratified and confirmed the partition between Jno. W. Taylor and Ernest Taylor of the Harrison land as per E. H. Randall plat and survey filed in said suit, and for general relief.

And it appearing by affidavit that the said H. S. Ashton, Archie Taylor, Arthur Henderson, Elsie Scott, Mary Henderson, Leonard Williams and Dora West, the above named defendants, are not residents of the State of Virginia, and said affidavit giving their last known addresses, respectively, it is therefore ordered that the said H. S. Ashton, Archie Taylor, Arthur Henderson, Elsie Scott, Mary Henderson, Leonard Williams and Dora West do appear within ten days after due publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their respective interests.

And it is further ordered that this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulating in said Prince William County, that a copy of this order be mailed to each of the said mentioned defendants at their said last known addresses as shown in said affidavit and that a copy of said order be posted at the front door of the Court House on or before the next succeeding rule day, as provided by statute.

Next Sunday's Washington Star

Revolution in music is forecast in an illuminating article which will be published in next Sunday's Washington Star. The famous conductor, Stokowski, tells of the demands that have been created by radio and predicts that orchestra leaders are soon to require talents in new lines. Freak brains and their relation to genius also will be featured in that issue, and science will throw light on mysterious death-dealing fogs. Unsung heroes of the silver screen, who engage in hazardous exploits, will be described. Several pieces of fiction by famous writers will be offered, and another article by John Clagett Proctor will deal with incidents of half a century ago.

GAINESVILLE

Mr. Frank Lea was a caller at the home of Mr. Robert Karpay last week. Rev. Atkins delivered an excellent sermon at the church here on Sunday with communion services being held.

Mr. John Clark was called to Washington last week. Due to the illness of his sister Miss M. B. Clark.

Mr. and Mr. W. F. Partlow and family of Manassas were callers in this neighborhood Sunday.

Mr. Norman Sinclair has been confined to his home for sometime.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and family were callers at Falls Church Sunday.

Little Mr. Vernon Ellis received minor injuries last week when standing near a wood saw during the time of sawing.

Mrs. Rose Meredith has gone to Florida where she expects to spend the winter.

Miss Louise Cave has left for her wedding which will take place in Washington and Miss Cave will later go to Texas where she will make her home. Her many friends wish her a happy prosperous married life.

Mrs. Atlee Wood and children of Manassas were Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. R. A. Pearson.

MORE SERVICE FOR THE
MEMPHIS GATEWAY

Announcement is made by the Southern Railway that additional passenger service will be inaugurated between Washington via Chattanooga with thru sleeping cars, coaches and dining car service, effective January 23.

The new arrangement affords overnight train service from Washington to Memphis which is in addition to the old established Memphis Special and gives double daily service between New York-Washington and Memphis and points beyond.

Westbound this train leaves Washington at 4:45 p. m. passing Chattanooga at 8:15 a. m., arriving Memphis at 6:10 p. m. the next day, making connection with fast trains for points in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

Through Pullman Drawing Room sleeping cars and Smoking Room Lounge Cars, Dining Cars and coaches are operated in these trains, affording an advantage for the Memphis gateway, especially for travel between Washington and Virginia points to Memphis and other Western points.

HAYMARKET HIGH
BOWS TO MARSHALL

The Haymarket High basketball team invaded the Marshall High School gymnasium on last Friday night and took the short end of a 41-32 score in a thrilling and hard fought contest, which was witnessed by a large crowd of cheering fans.

Although having no gymnasium, therefore lacking practice, the boys in Scarlet were picked to win and it did look bad for Marshall several times during the game.

Ball was the outstanding player for Marshall, while Garrison was the high scorer for the visitors.

The line-up was as follows:
Haymarket Marshall
Garrison L. F. Kinchelee
McGuin R. F. C. Ball
Ashby C. Duncan
Lightner L. G. E. Ball
Sweeney R. L. Frazier
Substitutions: Haymarket—None.
Marshall—Kadick for E. Ball; Adams for Kadick. Referee—Benner.
The Haymarket girls were defeated by a score of 40-12.

A VOTE
YOU CAST
EVERY DAY

In America the people rule. They put parties in and out of power as they see fit. They choose presidents, governors, and mayors. The law makers who do not do their bidding do not stay long on the job...

So the people control business. They buy what they like. What doesn't please them they pass by. Some concerns succeed and others do not—their fate is in the hands of the people.

In politics the people vote only at regular intervals. In business it's an every-day affair. By ballots in one case; by hard-earned dollars in the other. And every day more people vote in this way for A&P stores than for any other.

Only stores that serve the public well can stay on the job for 71 years.

Your County Newspaper
THE MANASSAS JOURNAL, MANASSAS, VIRGINIA.

Prince William County,
Hail to you, Old Prince William!
Almost two hundred years
Have you been living, doing
Your part 'mid hopes and fears.
Tho' the hopes have been sometimes blasted

Some fears have lost their smart.
Hail to you Old Prince William!
The County of our Heart!

Your head is on the mountains,
Your feet are in the tide
Where flows the Father of Waters
Slow-moving in his pride;
And there between are the swelling breasts
Of the hills, and the vales so fair,
And the spreading fields, oh, surely
Was never a land more rare!

Two hundred years of striving!
Long years of war and peace,
Of toiling and of resting,
Of change that would not cease!
The Tide of Time flows onward,
And now thro' gloom and cheer,
'Tis that same tide has brought us
Our Bi-Centennial Year.
These times are hard, Prince William;
They may be harder still;

But we must meet with courage,
And conquer with good-will;
Past is the drought that tried men's souls,
We'll meet the wintry blast
With the stern resolution
That wins all things at last.

Our namesake was a fighter,*
On Dettingen's red field
He proved his princely courage
That would not break nor yield.
And we too have been fighters
In many a bloody war,
With sword and gun, with pick and axe

That left full many a scar.
The times may be still harder,
But scarcely worse, I know
Than the dark days which followed
Those sixties long ago;
And the sons of those brave fathers,
Who stemmed that tide so drear,
Will join in celebrating

Our full two hundredth year.
In spite of money lacking,
In spite of debts and duns,
We'll pass the winter somehow
To find the springtime suns;
And meanwhile let's be planning,
Aye, and be working too,
To honor our old County's birth
With loyal hearts and true.

Everyone KNOWS

That it Doesn't Work Both Ways

Saved Money may some day be spent, but this statement can not be reversed. Spent money never can be saved by the spender.

But the money you spend,
which ought to have been saved will circulate until it reaches the hands of someone who does save
—then he will be using the dollar you'll need.
