July 27 to August 15

Dr. B. L. Parrish, of the State Department of Health, will be in the county these three weeks to conduct these clinics for all who are not able to pay the Family Physician for these treatments. Every child over six months of age should be protected against Diphtheria and adults as well as children against Typhoid Fever. The clinics are intended for all ages and will be held at as many points as possible so as to be accessible to all.

It is necessary for each person to have the three treatments, one week apart. Each one may attend the most convenient clinic regardless of district, but will be expected to continue in the clinic in which he is first enrolled.

Beginning Monday, July 27, the clinics will close Saturday, Aug. 15, returning each week to each point on the same day and hour according to the following schedule:

Miss Constance Waters Married.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander Waters at Dumfries, Va., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday evening, July 18, at 8:30 o'clock, when their daughter Constance was united in marriage to Mr. Roland Malcolm Tardiff of Long Island, N. Y., with Reverend A. H. Shumate officiating.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Rose Ratcliffe, of Manassas, as maid of honor, and her brother, Mr. Leon Ratcliffe Waters, of Culpeper, acting as best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. George Francis Waters of Dumfries. The house was beautifully decorated by Gouldman, the florist of Fredericksburg, and after the ceremony a delightful buffet supper was served.

The guests included the groom's mother, Mrs. Marie Tardiff, of Long Island, and relatives and close friends of the bride.

The newly-weds left that night for Washington, D. C., Norfolk, Virginia Beach and other points, and will return by plane to Newark, N. J., where they will make their home.

STAFFORD DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE REFUSES TO DECLARE NOMINEES

By a vote of 6 to 5 the Stafford County Democratic Committee at a meeting last week refused to declare any of the Democratic candidates the nominees of the party, although they have all met the requirements of the committee and are without opposition, and it is their moral as well as their legal duty to formally nominate all unopposed candidates and certify their names to the electoral board.

The following are the Democratic candidates who the committee refused to nominate: G. B. Wallace for Commonwealth's Attorney, Dan M. Chichester for Treasurer, R. C. L. Moncure, Jr., for Commissioner of Revenue, R. H. Estes for Supervisor of Hartwood District, Wm. T. Peyton for Supervisor of Falmouth District, G. K. Massie, Jr., for Supervisor of Aquia District, and C. T. Heflin for Supervisor of Rock Hill District. Up to a few weeks ago Dan M. Chichester, G. K. Massie, Jr., and C. T. Heflin had opposition within the party, but N. N. Berry, W. A. Franklin, and W. F. Powers who were opposing them have withdrawn and announced themselves as independent candidates in the November election, leaving them unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Excuse to Support Republican Ticket.

It is generally believed that the politicians who are said to control the committee refused to declare party nominees so that they would have an excuse to support the Republican ticket if it should become necessary in order to bring about the defeat of certain Democratic candidates they are opposing. Just what the next move will be is not known but it is said that the candidates seeking nomination will take legal steps to have the chairman of the committee perform his duty and declare them the nominees of the party.

Rule or Ruin.

The meeting was without show of heat or feeling but revealed determination on the part of the politicians in control of the committee to carry out their alleged policy of rule or ruin regardless of right and justice, and in spite of the order of the 8th District Committee directing them to declare all unopposed candidates nominees of the party. Mr. James Ashby, Clerk of the Court and member of the committee, introduced the resolution refusing to declare nominees. Those voting for the resolution were: Reamy, Ashby, Cato, Smith, Stern and Brooks. Those opposing it were: Lee, Harris, Peyton, Wallace and Grinnan.

On Saturday evening, Messrs. Shumate, Davies and Wharton, accompanied by M. J. Hottle, who is expected to be the designer of the monument, journeyed to Woodbridge to locate the old court house put into use in 1731 and to select a location for the picnic which will be held on that occasion.

It is thought now that a survey will be necessary to locate the old foundations. The State Conservation Commission will also be asked to place a metal marker just south of the highway bridge calling attention to the location of the court house.

AN APPRECIATION

Resolutions adopted by the Ladies Aid Society of Grace M. E. Church South.

Our hearts were made sad by the passing away of Mrs. Bessie Benson Lewis on June 16, 1931.

Mrs. Lewis was a woman of a cheerful and christian character; faithful to the church and Sunday School of which she was an active member.

After a brief illness God saw best to take her from labor to reward. Therefore, be it resolved,

First, that we, her associates and co-workers, feel keenly our loss in the passing of this good woman. We shall miss the contact of her presence and her cheery disposition.

Second, that we humbly bow in submission to the will of God and pray that His blessings may be with the bereaved family.

Third, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy to the Manassas Journal, a copy be spread on the minutes of the Aid Society, and a copy be sent to the Baltimore Southern Methodist for publication.

Prominent Speakers Recall Stirring Scenes on July 21, 1861.

The Annual Basket Picnic on Tuesday, July 21, held in the grove on the Henry House Hill, the anniversary of the first battle of Bull Run (or Manassas), evinced a growing public interest by the number present and the distant points from which many came. There were a number present from Richmond, Va., also from Danville and Charlottesville.

The entertainment was continuous from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m., when a threatening shower drove them to cover.

The Boys Independent Band of Washington rendered numerous marches and patriotic numbers during the programme.

Various speakers alluded to the splendid tactics of Gen. McDowell, commanding the Northern Army, in his almost successful maneuver to outflank the Confederate position and of the terrific fighting of the handful of Confederate troops under Evans to stay the oncoming Union Divisions until Gen. Beauregard could push forward his Confederate Forces from a stretch of eight miles on Bull Run.

The exercises were opened with Mr. John W. Rust, President of the Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park Association, presiding, and the invocation was by Dr. W. B. Everett of Marshall, Va.

Addresses were by Col. Harry Wooding of Danville, Va., a Confederate Veteran who participated in the battle being commemorated; Mr. C. J. Meitze, well-known orator of Manassas, Va.; Messrs. Albert S. Bolling of Charlottesville, Va., and Hon. David L. Pulliam of Richmond, Va., both Past-Division Commanders of Sons of Confederate Veterans of Virginia; Hon. R. W. Moore of Fairfax, Va., who represented his district in the United States Congress for many years, and Professor Richard H. Dabney, professor of History at the University of Virginia.

Miss Ila Wallace of Washington, a favorite of former picnics, and Mrs. Wallace Streeter of Washington gave recitations.

At the opening "America" was sung as a chorus, led by Mr. Fred C. Myers, Mrs. Darr and Mrs. Utterback.

Among the Confederate Veterans present, but a remnant of those brave and sturdy heroes, were Col. Magnus Thompson, Messrs. John Boland, Robert W. Wilson, Edward O. Staggs and Wm. H. Anderson.

Mrs. H. C. Clay, President of the Washington Chapter of Confederate Southern Memorial Association, exhibited a drawing of a proposed fireproof museum to be erected on the Battlefield and for which funds are being solicited.

Presentation of an American flag for display on the pole at the Henry House was through Mrs. Mary P. Snyder of Clarendon, Va., donated by Mr. Ashton C. Jones and Mr. Charles T. Jesse in compliment to their fathers who were Confederate Soldiers.

That the programme was pleasing was shown by the entire gathering remaining until driven to cover by approaching rain.

NATIONAL O. F. A. OFFICERS HERE

Messrs. W. H. Murphy and R. L. McClannan, of Norfolk, Va., were in Manassas Tuesday, with their wives, son and daughter.

They are nationally known in the Order of Fraternal Americans. Mr. Murphy is a member of the Board of Trustees of the National O. F. A. Orphan's Home in which there are 130 children and from which 3000 orphan children have been graduated to take their places as citizens of this country.

The Home at Tiffin, Ohio, and at Lexington, N. C., is now valued at six million dollars.

Messrs. Murphy and McClannan are bringing to Virginia a beneficiary degree which is an additional protection to the membership of the order. While here they are guests of Mr. George D. Baker, District Deputy of the Order.

DEATH OF LEROY SHIRLEY

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Norman Gregg Sealeman, who departed this life July 20, 1930.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thoughts to reach,
Sweet to remember him who once
was here

And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Dearly beloved and sadly missed by Dad, Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

Borrowing Money From Your Friends Let's Talk It Over

In the first place, no one likes to lend money for which he has worked hard, and which he, perhaps, needs for his own use. Then again, it weakens your business and social prestige, and is about as injurious a habit as a young man can possibly cultivate.

Instead of borrowing, use a little judgment, and each month deposit with this safe bank a part of your income. It may come a bit hard at first, but you'll very soon see the wisdom and enjoy the benefit of it.

THE BATTLE OF MANASSAS

On July 21, 1861, the name Manassas became forever famous in the annals of modern history. Volumes have been written on that fearful struggle and the awful panic of the Union route.

The day was unusually hot. The Northern hosts, coming into Virginia to force the South into compliance with the contract between States which had been broken by the North, went into action under favorable circumstances. Although stubbornly contested the field was slowly being occupied by the Federal army when Stonewall Jackson turned the tide and finally, reinforced by General Kirby Smith, hurled the invaders into the defenses of Washington.

For the Confederacy the victory at Manassas was more than a mere victory on the battlefield. A campaign was won. Summer passed. Autumn came and went and another spring found the Union forces inactive. The whole military program of the Federal Government for the year 1861 began and ended at Bull Run.

In 1862 the Federalists began the second great invasion of the South. The strategy was to attack Richmond by way of Chesapeake Bay and the Rappahannock. By an astounding series of exploits the intrepid Stonewall Jackson prevented the concentration of the Union forces upon the Richmond project and after a bitterly fought campaign McClellan was ordered to unite his forces with those of General Pope and to become subordinate to this bombastic Union commander, who wrecked the year's campaign on the fields of Manassas. As in the First Battle of Manassas the early stages of the fight were favorable to the Northern cause, but again the iron will and genius of the immortal Jackson turned victory into defeat, and, reinforced by Robert Edward Lee, the Confederate Army again hurled the demoralized invaders across the Potomac, and the second great invasion of the South had come to naught. Two years of the War between the States were each submerged in the blood fields of Bull Run. No more brilliant feats of arms are recorded in the pages of history than these two great Confederate victories here which made the name Manassas immortal.

GREATER WASHINGTON

The Washington Chamber of Commerce has issued a statement to the effect that the population of Greater Washington is 648,604. They claim an area of nearly a thousand square miles. The true area of the District of Columbia is about 62 square miles. The balance they take from Virginia and Maryland.

Such figures have no value. According to the Washington Chamber of Commerce "Greater Washington" extends to Fairfax Courthouse and includes the

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM CO.

Owing to the fact that the State Tax Department has ordered that the Commissioner's work be completed by August 1, I have had very little time for electioneering. Therefore I wish once more to remind you that I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Commissioner of the Revenue and to ask for your support on August 4.

I also wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your kindness and co-operation during my term of office and trust that I may have the pleasure of serving you again.

Yours respectfully,
R. M. WEIR.

City of Alexandria. Their modesty in not including the rest of northern Virginia is most commendable. There are plenty of people here in Prince William County who are purchasing their supplies in Washington. Some of these short sighted folks even live in Manassas. Just how the folks in Washington overlooked our town in their grab for population is unexplained. Forgetting the stab they are making at our schools and other local institutions, and overlooking the destruction of taxable values which accompanies withdrawal of patronage of local merchants, too many Virginians are pouring their resources into the coffers of the Washington merchants, who will never return any of it to promote the welfare of the Old Dominion.

Rather than think how big "Greater Washington" may be, let us think in terms of Greater Manassas. Why not extend our area of merchandising far beyond the limits of Prince William County? What is our population up to the door step of Washington?

Madisonville, Va., July 15, 1931
To the Editors of the Manassas Journal,

Gentlemen:

After learning of the candidacy of Mr. Arthur S. Boatwright for the House of Delegates for the Counties of Prince William and Stafford I feel that I would like to say a few things in his behalf. Mr. Boatwright was born within three hundred yards of my home; hence I have known him all of his life. He was reared near me and worked on a farm for his uncle and was a faithful hard working boy. He was loyal to his church and Sunday School. When he grew into manhood and left the farm, I had the privilege of knowing the manner of life he lived while in road construction. I was privileged to be with him in his city life in Richmond and always found him to be true to the trust imposed in him.

He is a man that has the courage of his convictions and has always stood for these things that make for the better of those that come in touch with him as well as for the community in which he lives. And I hope the good people of your district will elect him to represent you in the legislature.

Very respectfully,
W. H. DeFORD

Miss Alma Hitt and Miss Betty Love who were sent out by the Assembly's Training School, Richmond, have just closed a successful week of Daily Vacation Bible School at the Presbyterian Church.

The children manifested great interest and attended quite regularly in spite of the warm weather. Closing exercises were held Friday night in the presence of parents and friends and all felt gratified with results accomplished.

Mrs. C. E. Nalls, of Greenwich, was given quite a pleasant birthday surprise on Sunday, July 12, when a party of relatives and friends arrived in procession to pay her homage. The guest arrived about 8:30 and brought a bountiful supply of good things to eat. A table was spread on the lawn and the guest numbering 44 fared sumptuously. # The quality you want..

the price you approve★

If the things you want most in a motor car have cost more than you care to pay—and if the cars you felt you could easily buy have not quite satisfied you—here is a timely message . . .

A lot of people just like you have found in the new Pontiac both the quality they want and a price they approve.

Suppose you are driving a Pontiac for the first time. What do you find?

Going along at medium speed, you notice how smooth and quiet the engine is. You wonder how it will be at high speed, and a test shows it is just as smooth.

Over a back road, Pontiac's "rubber insulation" at 43 points in the chassis surely does take up road shocks and gives Pontiac fine-car riding ease. So do the four hydraulic shock absorbers, and the other niceties of design.

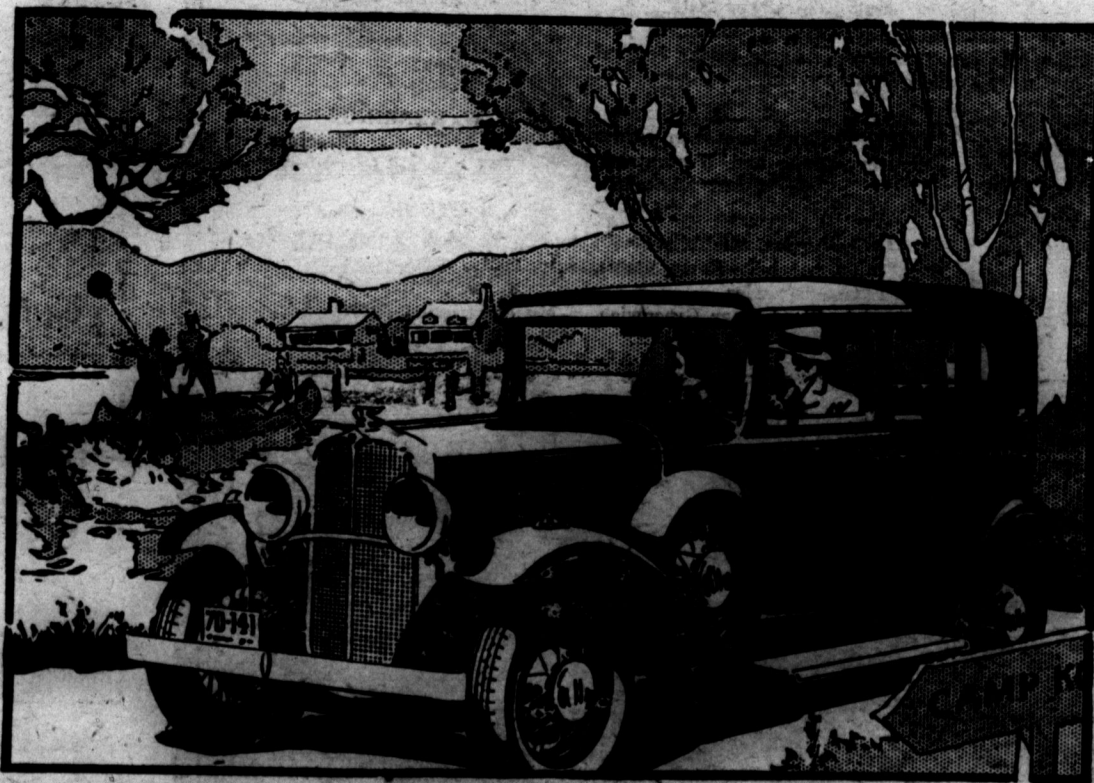

You examine the Pontiac interior, and at once you see that the upholstery is genuine mohair or whipcord. You find that seat springs are deep, cushions soft, and the driver's seat easy to adjust the way you like it.

How about protection against heat, cold, and rain?—you ask. And you learn that the Pontiac body is weather-tight and leak-proof. Everything has been done for your complete comfort.

There remains only Pontiac's effect on other people. Glances you notice along the street, and the comments of your friends soon settle that! You know you are right in your judgment. You know that in Pontiac—that outstanding General Motors Value—with its body by Fisher, you have a smart, modern, well-finished car . . . a car to be proud of.

But don't stop at this imaginary test. Take a new Pontiac out on the road and ask it to do everything you want a car to do. Let it prove that it has the quality you want—then ask the price. It's a figure you will warmly approve.

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(Ocoquan and Woodbridge)

Listen, folks! Yes, that's fine—a gourd dipper—cedar bucket bound with brass hoops and filled with sparkling spring water, cool and thirst satisfying. . . A few old fashioned split bottom chairs, and all of us seated in the shade of a cut-paper tree. A field wren moving silently thru the weeds—the cat bird's tantalizing call—the shrill whistle of the cardinal—gentle coo of the dove—old Black and Tan half asleep snapping at flies. . . As the curfew tolls the knell of parting day we hear in the dusty distance a whip-poor-will. . . All's well! The evening symphony of peace and good-will breaks the spell with a loud report of dream-land silence, and we wake to find the ages past. . .

We are living in an age of "Run here come here, darn if I care." We cannot trek backward to the past, nor would we if we could—nor would we reverse the could and would. . .

From out of the past—
Deep silence—
We count the ages,
And jot upon memory's
Silent pad,
As we turn the pages
A full life's span—
The history of man. . .

Who pinched me? O ye, as I was saying, politics is an all absorbing question and where there are two or three gathered together, there will politics be to pep the conversation and help the horny handed sons of toil to forget their struggle for the rainbow just over the hill. . .

Running along in a hurry we'll shelve to say a few words for National Politics. Brother Hoover has fully demonstrated that his name carries a full complement of the letters that spell "OVER." His National Debt Moratorium has in part relieved Europe of its acute attack of financial colic. Time will tell the wisdom of this procedure. . .

Politics near home:
My good friend, Edmund Herr Allen, of Fairfax, writes that he is a confirmed dry and from now on he is a confirmed eighteenth amendment advocate. . . Good for you Ed—and I have long known you to be dry personally and now I congratulate you as a political dry. . . In 1932 may the two "P's" personally and politically work in unison. . . Of course I expect you to continue to smite the rock of political adventure with the rod of an individual's rights and bring forth water to quench the thirst of individual desire. . . Continue to take your bath where rolls the Potomac and speaks the language of the past. . .

Our blood relative, Old Stafford, that is often referred to as the "Free County," has broken out lately with an aggravated case of Politicum-ego-aspiratum. . . This is a rash that covers the body politic and has often been diagnosed by peanut minded self styled political pathologist as Jeffersonian Democracy. . . In Jeffersonian Democracy the majority rules. . .

The majority decided for and then against a primary. . . The minority sends up a yell to high heaven for a primary. . .

The majority entertains a grave fear as to the honesty and sincerity of their brother democrats. . . After a trip thru Stafford one gleaus the impression from some that the voters be D—D, the Judges of the Primary elect, not the voters. . . My good friend, Jim Ashby, tells the cock-eyed world that the Judges of election are apparently the Master Key. . .

See Paris and see the world—see the election Judges in Stafford and your election is assured. . .

The Free Lance-Star of Fredericksburg prints a very entertaining and edifying Editorial on Stafford's Political Eruption. . . Everybody interested in the science of man should by all means visit the battle scarred Political Arena of dear old Stafford. . .

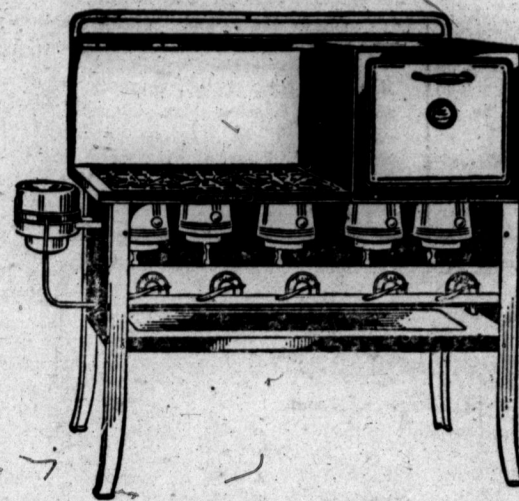

The sticky stenchful heat rising from polluted politics calls for a shaking down and a re-adjustment of political lines. . . And Er—Err—now folks let's not forget Prince William, for I must be in bed not later than 8:30 P. . . O yes, sure thing—you want to know about the house of Delegates. . . Yes, I understand, we have two candidates—both mighty good friends of mine. . . By the way, I must tell you a little joke on George Herring: Brother Geo. a short while ago was in Stafford exercising his political proclivities in the neighborhood of Widewater. . . Learning that a picnic was in full swing on the sandy beach at that picnicking place, Geo. hied forth. . . Sure enough there were about 500 HOMO SAPIENS cavorting in and out of the water. . . Geo. arranged his regular political smile and pressed thru the happy crowd shaking hands and bestowing a fatherly kiss upon the babies that were unable to protect 'emself. . . At the soft drink stand Bro. Herring treated hundreds and bought watermelons for the crowd. . . After about two hours of this existence Geo. Washington Herring's spirit was willing but the flesh was weak. . . He trailed toward the depot ignorant but happy; meeting one of his old Stafford friends he told him of his great success and assured him that every one at the picnic 21 or over would vote for him. . . The good old friend smiled, patted him on the back and said, "Geo. 'em picnic folks is from Washington."

A bucket of water brought George, to—I understand that night he kicked the cat out and failed to kiss Mrs. Herring Night-nighty.

Yes, yes, yes, I don't blame you Boatwright friends—you have a laugh on George all right. . . But, just wait a second: has Arthur ever told you about his trip to Stafford? I thought he was keeping that trip a dark secret! Well, I am going to tell it for him. . . About three weeks ago Arthur Boatwright in company with Chris Meets wandered thru the lower wilds of Prince William and into deep—deep into the hollow wilderness of Stafford. . . Chris was billed to make an address at a certain church—This church he was sure was in Stafford. So sure were these two political minded missionaries that their destination was in Stafford they asked no questions. . . Seek and ye shall find, so Chris and Arthur arrive, and immediately Arthur unlimbered his right hand and in pump like fashion he went hither and thither—to and fro greeting the populace with vim and vigor. . . Chris delivered his oration and the shades were drawn. . . The county church happened to be in Spotsylvania. . . I understand Arthur made Chris swear never to tell, because he, Boatwright, had chalked down 300 votes. . .

Martin Lynch orates that if the ladies will help him out he will help the ladies, and the Clerk will issue the marriage license. . . Remember girls, Martin is tight and believes in low wages and little pin money, be sure you have an iron clad understanding about your allowance. . . Twin City is now three jumps and a hop ahead of the world. . .
