

SCHOOL CHILDREN MAY PARADE

Extensive Plans Being Laid for Bi-centennial at Woodbridge.

An enthusiastic group of citizens met at the high school on Wednesday evening to further plans for the Prince William Bi-Centennial Celebration at Woodbridge on September 25. Mrs. Annie G. Cline presided.

Mr. Dawson reported that he and County Engineer Larkin, of Fairfax County, had that day visited the site of the old court house just below the railroad bridge at Woodbridge, and had examined the foundations. Mr. Dawson and Dr. Malcolm were constituted a committee to secure co-operation of the R.F. and P. Railroad in clearing the site and such other work as might be done.

Mr. R. S. Hall, Dr. Malcolm, T. Powell Davis and others were appointed a committee to erect stands and attend to the purchase of food and refreshments for the day.

Rev. A. H. Shumate was appointed a special committee to secure band music.

H. T. Davies is attending to all legal details with regard to the land on which the marker is to be erected.

D. J. Arrington and Mrs. Cline were appointed a committee to wait on the school board at its next meeting to declare a county holiday with pay for the teachers on September 25.

Miss Clarke, supervising teacher, was appointed a committee to prepare a possible parade of the schools, singing, etc.

R. D. Wharton was left in charge of the construction work, and authorized to secure radio and moving picture activities.

Hon. Howard W. Smith, Hon. Sol Bloom, Hon. Wade Ellis and Charles Callahan, of Alexandria, were invited to speak on that day.

The committees will meet again on August 19 at the Nokesville High School.

NEW SOUND FOR DIXIE THEATRE

Manager Pitts Announces Extensive Improvements.

For the past month, Mr. Sam Pitts, who operates several moving picture houses in the Northern Neck and Fredericksburg, has had control of the local picture house.

Mr. Pitts has been running an unusually nice line of pictures. It is said that he will shortly erect a balcony to take care of the colored folk who would like to see the plays. It is hoped that he will see fit to bring this feature into a reality in the near future.

Manager Sam Pitts of the Dixie Theatre announces today that he had concluded negotiations with RCA Photophone, Inc., New York City for the installation of its sound reproducing equipment in his theatre. In making the announcement, Manager Pitts said that installation engineers would arrive within a short time.

"It is with a great deal of satisfaction that I make this announcement," said Manager Pitts. "Having had many opportunities to see various types of sound reproducing equipment in operation in various theatres, it did not take me long to come to a decision when I saw and heard the RCA Photophone projection apparatus in operation. In my opinion, having made comparisons with other sound reproducing equipment, it is the best. The recent action of the United States government in awarding RCA Photophone the contract to equip the entire Navy with sound apparatus, entailing in the aggregate about three hundred complete projection units, which followed the installation of Photophone in eighty-one United States army posts, seemed to confirm that opinion.

"Dependent solely upon those who have so liberally patronized my theatre in the past, I felt obligated to give them the best sound reproducing equipment available. Therefore, I investigated projection apparatus that had been installed and not only heard the sound delivered by them but carefully inspected the machines in the projection rooms.

"When I learned that RCA Photophone, Inc., was a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America and that its own engineers, along with the engineers of the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and the RCA Victor Company had built the sound equipment, I became convinced that it was the apparatus for my theatre."

WHO MAY VOIE AUG. 4?

In order to settle a disputed point in respect to the voting privileges of have just reached or who are about to reach the age of twenty-one years, the Livingstone Heights Civic League, through its president, John A. Petty, has obtained a comprehensive opinion from John R. Saunders, Attorney General, at Richmond.

The complete opinion of the Attorney General was contained in the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Petty:
"I am in receipt of your letter of yesterday, in which you ask my opinion covering the right of a person becoming of age between January 2 and November 3, 1931.

"Persons becoming of age on and after the first day of January, there being no poll tax assessable against them for the year prior to 1931, may, by paying one year's poll tax, register and vote, other qualifications being met, both in the August primary and the November election.

"If a person became of age during the year 1930, the poll tax is credited for 1931. If of age during 1931, the tax is credited for 1932. In both instances, however, it must be paid before registering and voting, although it does not have to be paid six months in advance of the November election.

"A person becoming of age at any time on or before the 3rd of November, 1931, may pay his poll tax on or before thirty days prior to the November election and register on or before that day. See section 20 of the Constitution."

"Yours very truly,
JNO. R. SAUNDERS,

COMMUNITIES INVITED TO TAKE PART IN COUNTY PICNIC ON AUGUST 6

Each community of the county is urged to enter group either in instrumental or vocal musical contest at Bi-centennial Celebration on the morning of Aug. 6. Any organization wishing to enter its members to represent that community may do so. Requirements are that there be as many as three persons in instrumental or 8 persons in vocal music groups. Prizes of $2.50 are offered in each of these contests.

A large group of present and former Prince Williamans are expected to enjoy the annual picnic at Brentsville Court House on August 6.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM AND STAFFORD COUNTIES:

On next Tuesday, August 4, the people of the above District, together with the State will be afforded the greatest privilege enjoyed by any people, namely—the casting of their ballot for their choice for the persons to represent them for the various State and County Offices. This privilege has been listed by one of the great men of our nation as one of the three greatest privileges we enjoy and lest we forget it was a blood bought privilege, therefore it behooves every believer in representative government to avail himself of this grand and glorious privilege.

As the nominations in this primary is tantamount to election, it is highly desirable that a full expression of the electorate of the party at this primary be had.

The office of Member of the House of Delegates for which I am one of the aspirants will be determined at this primary, therefore, I am seeking the suffrage of the voters of my party and desire to bring before them the importance of voting and hoping and asking for their support. The campaign is now drawing to a close and I have industriously and energetically conducted what I believe to be a clean and honorable campaign. My distinguished opponent has, I believe, been equally industrious and I believe likewise has conducted a clean and honorable campaign and we esteem each other's friendship but we both desire to win.

There have been no issues of great interest discussed during the campaign. (Please turn to last page)

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF MANASSAS DISTRICT

After having announced my candidacy for supervisor of Manassas District several things have entered into this campaign which should not have entered into it. One thing is the combination which has taken up the battle of the present incumbent whom I am opposing, but with whom I am on the friendliest terms. I have treated him fairly up until now and he seemed to choose the same course of action until he got under the dominating control of some of his self-appointed managers.

The local Kiwanis Club, which is supposed to be a benevolent, non-political organization has injected itself into the campaign. I saw a circular letter a few days ago which urged all Kiwanians to be careful about the selection of district supervisors running on a tax-reduction platform and pointed out the advantages of keeping taxes up where they are now rather than find a deficit on hand in later years, as an illustration it referred to the economy of not repairing a leaking roof now, but pointed out the extra ultimate cost of replacing same if neglected too long. My friends, that is the trouble now, the county budget needs some shingles tacked on it to stop some of the leakings through evaporation from the steam of extravagance boiling on the inside.

This however is a very peculiar attitude for a "Non-Political" (?) organization. However, I am informed this letter is the product of a pen wielded by a man whose own political aspirations recently came very near being chilled by an invisible candidate whose name was not even on the ballot.

But this is not the first time I have observed the activity of this local Kiwanis Club towards an organized effort to name the personnel of the county board of supervisors. When that great, untiring public official, the late chairman of the board, Mr. Jas. R. Larkin, became feeble in health, the Kiwanis Club began casting around, and planning to place one of its members on the board. They finally agreed on the likely looking sprinter whom they were preparing to enter in this spring's campaign. They rested on their oars for the time being. But when that intellectual public official was stricken down with his last illness, the club hastily made plans to lead their young candidate to the paddock. And while the Summoning angel was hovering in a cloud over the sick-bed, everything was gotten in readiness to have names affixed to a petition to the judge of the circuit court to accept the name of the chosen son of the Kiwanis Club. During the first period of mourning and before the bereaved members had given up the earthly remains of their loved one to mother earth, to fold her arms over his faithful breast this petition was presented to Judge Walter McCarthy for his consideration. But that thoughtful, kind and considerate judge suggested that action be deferred until after the fallen official had been laid to rest, as there was no special reason for haste.

My friends, the exposure of these facts are as distasteful to me as they may be unwelcome to the ears of the Kiwanis Club, but I merely mention these true incidents to you, to show how anxious this club is to run the county's affairs.

If we propose to turn the management of the county over to the Kiwanis Club, we should by all means abolish the board of supervisors and thereby save the first item on the published county budget i. e., for salary of board of supervisors $900.00 that would enable this club to reduce taxes that much.

But that is not all, one member has berated a dry friend of mine about voting for a wet candidate against a dry one. Hal! Hal! Sounds "phony" doesn't it. One thing certain is I have never been a hypocrite. I have never tried to affiliate myself with any dry faction or organization. If I am to be classified one way or the other I should very properly be classed as a wet, but what has that issue got to do with the reduction of taxes and the bringing of relief to the tax-burdened people? I never was in my life accused of swiping liquor from an elderly gentleman on an excursion trip and appropriating it for the pleasure of my friends and myself to enjoy its stimulating effects in the absence of its original owner. If a dry man should swipe liquor, and he was sincere he would immediately smash it on the rocks. This whiskey I am informed was not broken.

Just a minute longer, friends. We have one individual with us who belongs to this organization whose motto is "We Build," but who persists in going the opposite direction and chooses as his individual motto "We Break Down" — characters, good names or any other irrefutable virtues. He has attacked me verbally from every angle and in every conceivable manner. But throwing soft labels and against a stone wall is sometimes better for the thrower as it frequently bounces back on him.

Now my friends, I was born in this county and have lived here all my life. My life is an open book, whose pages you have everyone watched in the making. I have nothing to hide. If I have any good traits you know about them. If I have any faults you know about them. So weigh one against the other and see how your balance reads.

There are some inherent qualities with which I am endowed that I am proud of. I respect and esteem most highly the purity of womanhood, the sanctity of the home and the daily, friendly and congenial social intercourse with my fellowman.

I have never been mixed up in any social affair while a student at Williamsburg which might place a stigma on my good name through life, and torture my spirit after it leaves my body. I am glad of that.

I have never had a brother who was indicted by a Prince William County jury for abusing the confidence reposed in him by an old and trustful man and having to make restitution to that old gentleman or his widow for the wrong inflicted. I am glad of that.

I have never had a brother expelled from a Prince William County public school charged with an act of indecency too offensive to print for refined readers. I am thankful for that.

If there is any individual in Prince William County whose head is swelling to such proportions that he can not comfortably wear his own hat, and if this cap fits him let him wear it. Now let us quit the personal side of this subject.

I pointed out a few weeks ago the absolute necessity and the imperative urgency of reducing taxes in this county to render some relief to the farmers. They were then in harvest and I called attention to the fact that they were facing a prospect of a market of fifty cents for their wheat. Many hundreds of bushels of this crop have since been threshed and marketed as low locally as forty-eight cents. Everything else in the way of livestock, poultry and produce is sold at a ridiculously low price. So low that it cannot be produced for that and even a minimum farm wage realized from it, for the effort and time expended. Since that time, as striking evidence that this depression is worldwide, President Hoover has reached the long arm of Uncle Sam clear across the ocean, to Europe, to try to save Germany from financial collapse by granting a moratorium on her war reparation debts for a period of two years.

Certainly if it is necessary for our national government to exercise its good offices and influence to render relief to a foreign people, it is even more necessary that our county government make some effort to lighten the load off our taxpayers' backs.

When your national Congress convenes in December you are going to see recommendations in the President's message for drastic cuts in appropriations of public money and the inauguration of a general program of retrenchment all the way down the line.

When your state legislature assembles next January you are going to see the same kind of recommendations set forth in Gov. Pollard's message to the assembly.

If you don't try to exercise your own right by your ballot to change the personnel of your board of supervisors on Tuesday, Aug. 4, you are going to have to wait four long years for any relief, and relief then may be too late. If you drive 40% of the farmers of Prince William County out of business and force their land on the delinquent list you are reducing your county revenue on land tax alone 40%. The Treasurer has to carry this property on his books at your expense for two years before he can realize anything out of the sale of it. You are going to be worse off at the end of that period, with, in all probability, a deficit to take care of in addition to having to curtail a great many of your necessary expenses in the management of your county affairs. This depression is on us and in this immediate county the serious drought of 1930 left the county in a bad condition. The loans made by the Federal Government were for such a short term that they constituted the poorest kind of a substitute for relief. There are farmers in this county who have told me they borrowed money to pay their 1930 taxes. Some will be unable to repay that loan this fall and in addition they tell me they will have to borrow additional cash to pay their 1931 taxes. What kind of a business man could you expect to stand this kind of sledding and yet keep up his morale, except a farmer, and he can stand it only so long. Unless they get a little relief before a great while longer many of them will abandon their farms and join the great army of the unemployed in the big cities with a hope of finding something better.

The town of Manassas is no differently situated from any other country town that derives its support partly from the surrounding county in which it is located. If the farming population is reduced 40% the buying power of the rural section adjacent to Manassas shall have been reduced just that much, and this would mean some of the business places in Manassas closing their doors, which in turn would reduce the license and other revenue derived by the municipal government of the town. If that should happen the municipality would have to seek some other source of revenue to run the town with, which in the end always comes out of the property owners, and the citizens of the town of Manassas are paying out at this time all they can well stand either as taxation direct or on their rates on their public utilities. So you see it's the same thing all the way around. He who dances must pay the fiddler and in tight times he must dance a few less steps or find a cheaper fiddler. Look at your county budget and you will see an item in the second paragraph "for delinquent taxes $5,000." Suppose that was increased to $50,000, where would the money come from to run your schools and keep up your roads?

Every now and then you hear people say taxes can not be reduced as it would weaken our schools. Now there's not a man or woman prouder of the reputation our county schools enjoy than I am. But they are costing too much right now due to the management of our system, and this nobody can deny. Read the published copy of your county budget, as you follow me. We hand over as taxpayers to the Superintendent of Schools and the county school board the stupendous sum of $120,661.00 to expend as they deem proper without asking them if that amount could be reduced any, or without requiring them to furnish the board of supervisors and the public with an itemized statement of receipts and disbursements of the previous years. I realize as you do that every member of the school board and the Division Superintendent are absolutely honest in their desire to advance the progress of education, but should not economy enter into even that at this time.

I believe the county board of supervisors and the county school board should sit in joint session once every year before the tentative budget is prepared and see if they could not get together on certain items, and make certain reductions that would render it unnecessary for the citizens to go before the board of supervisors and ask for relief.

Of the above referred to item of $120,661.00 the sum of $72,500.00 is paid out to teachers, including high school, graded school and teachers of all class both white and colored. Since there are 80 teachers on the payroll this would leave an average of $906.25 per teacher for a term of nine months or $100.69 per month per teacher if it was divided equally. But of course we all know high school teachers get more than graded school teachers.

In a recent address in Richmond before an assembly of Division Superintendents delivered by Hon. Sydney B. Hall, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Hall advocated the state bearing a greater share of the cost of public education and proposed the adoption of a standard school term for the state, of nine months instead of the present eight months' session with an average daily attendance of pupils per teachers set at thirty; a minimum professional qualification for teachers; and a monthly salary of $80.00 per month for the nine months' term. So you can see what this eminent educator asks for is 20% less for the whole state than we are paying in Prince William County; our school term is already approximately a nine months' term.

We should have the best teachers of any county in Virginia and I believe we have them, at any rate it is not our fault if we have not for we pay them. But the teachers, as a whole, do not get a square deal from the state, although we should not be expected to make up in this county for what the state fails to do in ninety-nine other counties. The state should bear the cost of tuition for teachers studying in summer months at a normal school; the state should also provide free sleeping quarters, and a cafeteria run at cost to enable these teachers to take this summer course as economically as possible and I hope every voter in this county will urge this on your delegate and state senator next winter when the General Assembly convenes.

Now when the board of supervisors was asked by the citizens last March to reduce all county salaries 10% they refused to do so. You can see from the figures I gave you above if the average teacher's pay was reduced 10% she would still draw a monthly salary (based on average) of $90.69 or $10.63 higher than the high water mark set by Dr. Sydney B. Hall. A 10% cut on $72,500.00 would save the taxpayers $7,250.00. A 10% cut on $120,661.00 would save them $12,066.10. A supervisor told me in another public service enterprise in and out of a possible and practical son, in April, that there was nothing for the board to do but grant what the school board asked for if they said it took that amount the year before. I replied by asking him what they would do if the school board asked for a greater sum than was in the treasury to meet it. He said in that event there would be nothing to do but raise the taxes another 5 cent levy to meet it. But that it was useless to worry about that matter for the state would soon take the schools over and run them anyway, so we would not have to bother about it. As yet my friends, there is no law providing for the state to take over our schools and it will probably be several more years until one is enacted so while we have to run them let us study economy; besides the state will have to run them out of funds derived from the taxpayers and what difference will it make. This same supervisor has stated so I am told that no voter who did not pay as much as $10.00 annual tax should be entitled to a vote.

In the name of justice! what rights will that great throng of citizens have when that sort of a crowd get in control?

The Greatest War of Independence ever fought in any country, considering the odds each way, was fought by our colonial forefathers against "Excessive Taxation without Representation" and I firmly believe in that wonderful principle laid down in that day by our outstanding leaders of liberty, in that: "We believe all men are created equal," whether he pays $10.00 taxes or $1,000.00 taxes.

I can remember when teachers were selected from high schools and given a certificate to teach. The state then made it necessary for them to be college graduates. It went further and required them to take two years' preparatory work in a normal training school. Then they are subjected to a rigid teacher's examination before they are admitted to teach. Then after all this weeding out process we pay a teacher $1800.00 per year to drive around and visit each school and teach these teachers "how to teach" notwithstanding the fact we have centralized our schools and thrown nearly all the children under one roof.

We have the office of county nurse which is paid from three sources and of course the official who fills this office is paid by three paymasters. The Red Cross, one of the largest benevolent organizations in the United States, pays about $400.00. The Federal Government whose treasury holds the largest public fund we have pays about $400.00. Yet the County of Prince William as set forth in the budget pays $2000.00 or five times as much as either one of the contributing paymasters. This is a very noble service rendered to the unfortunate children of the county but the question is: is it not costing too much at this time? There are numerous other items in the budget which could stand pruning back some, but you know about them as well as I do and we can give them our attention later on.

Every now and then you hear somebody squeal out that a cut in taxes would cut down some of the revenue received from the railroads. This is ingratitude in the extreme. The two railroads passing through our county, i. e., R. F. & P. and Southern, have for a long time been our best and most prompt taxpayers. Their stockholders are a part of us, and our friends, just the same as any individual. They have been hit hard by this depression together with the unbridled competition afforded them by the buses and trucks owned in the majority of cases by people outside the state, many of whom do not even pay any gasoline tax to our state for wearing out our roads, but equip the trucks and buses with oversized gasoline tanks and indeed, some of them have been found with extra tanks filled with gas enough to provide fuel for the entire trip across the state and back again without paying one cent gas tax to our state.

When we help in any way to break down the railway systems of this country we are helping to kill the "goose that has always laid the golden egg." We kill the greatest market for timber we have, that creates work for the woodsman. We kill the greatest market for steel, coal, oil, and various other commodities that go into the construction of rolling stock, depots, offices and terminals, besides we lose the tax on all their rolling stock, terminals and trackage including yards, warehouses and depots and they cannot hide their property from the assessor nor have they ever tried. This is not all, we break down one of the greatest payrolls Virginia has ever known if ever such a thing were to happen as less this service, or even curtail it, of the railroads that travel through the south.

So my friends, if in helping ourselves we help the railroads a little too, don't worry, we are still indirectly helping ourselves. Manassas town owes more! I want to stand among you today and say I have no selfish motive in seeking this office and certainly the remunerative compensation of the Manassas District Supervisor is negligible. He does not even receive mileage for his attendance. But if America. If it had not been for the water power of the Southern Railway many a home in this town would have been destroyed by fire before we had an efficient fire company and equipment and our own water supply. If it had not been for the Southern Railway the Court House would never have been removed from Brentsville to Manassas, nor would we have the wonderful school buildings we have today to adorn the town. More than that Manassas would never have been a town, or would she ever have had her name had it not been for the Manassas Gap Railroad intersecting the Orange and Alexandria railroad forming what was known as Manassas Junction, afterwards changed to Manassas, and made prominent in history by the battle of Bull Run or the battle of Manassas (then called Manassah). If there had been no railroad junction nor railroad at all at that time there would have been no reason for a town growing up in the common and taking the name of the old Jew who owned the piece of mountain land in the gap of the Blue Ridge, whose name was Manassah.

I pointed out a few weeks ago that we had about $40,000 to expend on the whole county road system in the six districts, less than one third of what we hand the school board every year. I mentioned that Manassas District had been exceptionally fortunate in road matters. The state highway commission has taken over four roads leading in four different directions out from the county seat, while under the able supervision of our late chairman of the board, Mr. Jas. R. Larkin, whose untiring efforts never failed to improve conditions in the district, nearly every other road has been surface-treated with sand or gravel. The only unfinished work is the lower end of the Manassas-Occoquan road via Buckhall. This should be completed since it affords a route to the lower section of the county about 5 miles shorter than any other way.

The next important road is the one leading from the Lee Highway via Wellington. The Colored Horse Show grounds and on to Manassas to intersect the Manassas-Milford State road. Under our plan of distribution of gas tax Manassas district is entitled by right of succession in the regular rotation to the gas tax in 1932 and I favor the application of this money to these two projects next year, provided enough interest is aroused in each section through which they pass. I have not made any extravagant or fool promises or pledges notwithstanding all kinds of false rumors that have been circulated as eleventh hour campaign tactics. I have never promised to use the gas fund on any other road. Just the other day a man told me he heard I had promised to improve the Sudley Road. A more preposterous rumor could not have been started when the State Highway Commission has already allocated some money and taken over a portion of the Sudley Road. The best thing to do now is to let the state alone and co-operate with its officials as much as possible.

I did say that the next in importance to the above mentioned roads are the many communicating roads that interlace the district and connect up with the improved roads, some of which are in a shameful condition today, at this writing, notwithstanding in the close proximity of election and the fact we have necessary equipment in the district.

Our present supervisor has pointed out to me that if about 25% of the old roads in the district were closed the district would be better off. To this doctrine I do not adhere. Some of those roads were located before he or I either one were born and some of their patrons whose properties are located on them are older than either one of us, and those taxpayers are entitled to as much consideration and fair treatment today as they ever were. We have no more right to attempt to deprive a man from his right to get out conveniently from his home than we have to deprive him from his vote if he pays less than $10.00 annual taxes. Another thing about this equality of justice. The present Board failed to see how they could grant any relief to the taxpayers by a reduction of salaries in the county even though some of the members of the payroll parade were drawing over $50.00 per week, but some of the poor working men who could not stand a cut were cut from $2.50 per day to $1.50 and others asked to work their team and sell for 30 cents per hour. If this is not saving at the spigot and leaking at the bung, it is even something worse.

Now in conclusion, my friends, let me say I have no selfish motive in seeking this office and certainly the remunerative compensation of the Manassas District Supervisor is negligible. He does not even receive mileage for his attendance. But if solution in the offing, and not offer you my services I would not be doing what I believe you would expect your friend to do and certainly not what any good citizen should do, whose sympathy is with every man and woman in every walk of life. If your county budget of $182,872.38 annual taxes is drawn from you, whether it is easy for you to raise or not, is only cut down 10% you will save $18,287.24 and it is even possible to save even $4,000.00 more than that.

As evidence up-to-date that your Manassas District Supervisor is not looking after your interests as you should desire him to do, we had a meeting of the Board of Supervisors this week, and the question came up about the distribution of the one-cent gas tax fund. Altho Manassas District pays one-third of the county tax and has about 200 miles of road as against less than 50 miles each in two other districts below the run, your Supervisor voted for an equal distribution of this money among all the districts. I ask you, is that the way to look after your interests and that in keeping with the policy of the Kiwanis Club. If it is we had better take notice.

The only fair and equitable way to divide this one-cent gas tax is to pro rate it out according to the percent of county tax paid into the treasury by each individual district and in proportion to the mileage of roads in each respective district.

There is one question that has been asked me a hundred times in this campaign and I've answered every time in the same way. That I did not think it fair to expect me to cross bridges before I came to them. The question is whether I will if elected remove or retain Mr. H. L. Tubbs and Mr. Chas. Vetter. To this I have always said it is not in the power of any one supervisor to make any changes of the County Road Supt. A District Supervisor has only one vote in six on the Board. Mr. Tubbs has long ago proved himself a valuable man in his chosen field even though sometimes he lacks cooperation of some of his backers, and sometimes he has not always received the support of his subordinates. But he has a fair mechanical knowledge of road machinery and its use. He does know the different characteristics of soil formation and their adaptation to certain classes of roads under certain conditions. He also has the faculty of getting work out of men. But his retention or removal is solely up to the majority of the Board and not up to any one member. I do know his services are in demand elsewhere.

As to Mr. Vetter, I think he has proved himself a useful foreman and developed more knowledge as a foreman along this line than would have been expected from a man who had devoted his life to other lines of duty. I have known Charles Vetter 25 years and altho as said before the question has been put to me several times I have never stated to anybody that I had planned to remove him if elected. I make this statement here in black and white to nail any false rumors that may be circulated.

I do believe the county road accounts should be handled in the same way as any big construction company handles the same class of work. I believe every foreman should be made to keep a daily timebook and make his payroll off from that book; that no payroll should be honored unless countersigned by the Supt.; that the books should be audited once a year and published in the county paper. I believe the minutes of each meeting of the board should be published each month in the county paper as it used to be when it showed the expenditure of everything for every item from a hawk's scalp to a tractor, so that a great many taxpayers who do not attend meetings could read the proceedings at their homes.

If you believe the things I have related to you here in this lengthy article are for your individual interest and that its your duty to exercise your suffrage for your own relief, I believe you will go to the polls on Aug. 4 and vote for me and if elected whether you be a supporter of me or not I promise my undivided attention to the problems of your district as well as for the good of the county as a whole. I want you to feel assured that any matter which effects you cannot be too small to bring to me for consideration. I assure you that I shall always be glad to receive your complaint in person and it is never necessary to have any keyman to approach me, nor is it necessary to have the endorsement of any club to receive my attention.

With grateful appreciation of the many kind offers of support and with the utmost confidence of your victory at the polls—for your selection of me is simply to look after your interests unselfishly and unceasingly and is your victory I am,

Faithfully and sincerely,

Your obedient servant,
MARTIN D. LYNCH.

To the Voters of Manassas District

WITHIN the past week a letter has been mailed to a number of the voters in Manassas District requesting their support of Mr. Martin Lynch's candidacy for the office of Supervisor of this District against the present incumbent, Mr. Chas. C. Lynn. The arguments presented for the election of Mr. Lynch are not convincing.

IN SO FAR as a reduction in the tax rate is concerned, if there is a tax payer in the County who doesn't want that, he has failed to let it be known. If for no other than a personal, or selfish, reason, (if you want to call it that) Mr. Lynn would be very glad to reduce the County and District tax rate as his tax bill is between seven and eight hundred dollars annually.

IF MR. LYNCH intends, if elected, to reduce taxes it is no more than fair to the citizens of the District and County that he demonstrate to them that he has made a thorough study of the revenues and expenses of same and is prepared to say just how much he expects to reduce the tax rate, and what departments of the County; schools, roads, etc., will have their activities curtailed, and to what extent. It is very doubtful if Mr. Lynch can give a specific and intelligent answer to any question on this subject. He may mean well but you can't build roads in Prince William County with good intentions regardless of what success may be had with them on a certain other road. An indefinite promise is not a very convincing argument anyway.

WITH no intended reflection on any member of the Board of Supervisors, either past or present, it is doubtful if any man has ever made as thoroughly a study of the finances of the county as has Mr. Lynn, since his appointment on the Board, or knows as much about the financial condition of the county and the possibilities of reducing the tax rate.

THE PRESENT Board of Supervisors has made a reduction of around $9,000.00 in the county budget for this year. Any reduction in the present County Levy for schools will mean a double reduction in revenues. The State now contributes $40,000.00 annually for Prince William County Schools. If the school levy is decreased ten per cent, the state will contribute $4,000 less and the Public Utilities will have to pay $3,400.00 less into the County fund. Reductions in revenues by horizontal cuts in the tax rate without an intelligent study of the probable effects of same is equivalent to malicious tampering. Economies can best be effected by supervisors who are friends of both the school system and the tax payers, and who have made a study of the requirements of the one, and have a deep interest in the welfare of both.

A GOOD Grammar and High School education are due the children of the county; also training in health preservation, home making and improved agricultural methods. The coming generation will have to take up and carry on the work of the present generation, including payment of bonds for school buildings. It is their just due that they be given as perfect education and preparation for these duties as lies in our power.

THROUGH the Equalization Board's re-assessment of real estate, the decrease in the returns of tangible personal property, machinery, tools, etc., there will be around $9,000.00 less of county tax accruals this year. This is equivalent to a little more than an eight (8%) per cent reduction in the county tax levy.

SUMMER SEEDING OF CLOVER AND GRASS

In a previous article published in June, summer seeding versus spring seeding of clover and grass was discussed, and the advantage of each mentioned.

In summer seeding, as in spring seeding, a good seed bed is of prime importance. The land should be thoroughly disked to destroy weeds and get the surface loose for seeding. The lower portion of the seed bed should be firm and well compacted.

After first good rain during the last few days of July, or in early August, harrow the land and seed. Do not seed on a dry seed bed, as there is too much danger of losing the seeding. When such a condition exists, there may come just enough rain to sprout the seed and not enough to get the plants started, this resulting in loss of the crop.

An application of phosphoric acid, or on thin soils, a complete fertilizer will help develop a good root system and thus lessen the danger of winter killing.

A crop of hay can be secured just as early next year from summer seedings as from the seedings made last spring.

CIGARETTE TOBACCO YIELD DOUBLED IN U. S. SINCE 1921

Production of flue-cured tobacco in the United States more than doubled since 1921, according to government estimates. Flue-cured tobacco is used chiefly in the manufacture of cigarettes and the gain in production of this kind of tobacco is the result of the increasing numbers of men and women who are reaching for cigarettes. The ever-growing popularity of the cigarette is attributed to the fact that people are paying more attention to their Adam's apples and are using cigarettes from which certain harsh irritants have been remover by modern methods of manufacture such as the toasting process including the use of ultra violet rays. According to government records, production of flue-cured last year amounted to more than 870,000,000 pounds as compared with only 372,000,000 pounds in 1921. Production in 1930 set a new record for flue-cured tobacco, the next largest being about 750,000,000 pounds in 1929.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a heritage to them in after years.

LOVE CASTS OUT FEAR:—There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love. —1 John 4: 18.

PRIMARY PREDICTIONS

Who is going over in the Primary? This is a question put to us many times daily now. How should we know except by the greatest amount of current gossip we can encounter?

Frankly, as far as the county offices are concerned and we are to believe what we hear, we would say that there is, with one or two exceptions, very little prospect for any change in the county government.

With regard to the legislative situation, the State Senate seems to have resolved itself outside of this county. Fairfax is conceded to Rust by a flattering majority, as he is a member of the Bar there. The battle will be won by Jesse right in his home county, with Alexander following closely behind. There will not be a normal vote in either place but what there is will be so one-sided as not to leave the situation very far in doubt.

Now, as to friends Boatwright and Herring, Arthur will carry Manassas and part of Prince William. By what majority no one can say. George is strong in a number of precincts in Prince William. The vote in this county will run better than 1500. Just how this will split is very unstable.

Since the mix-up in the Stafford Primary, Boatwright has gone at his canvass with decidedly greater impetus, and is unquestionably beating down Mr. Herring's otherwise one-sided majority, in that county. In fact, rumors are leaking in up here that Boatwright now has a good chance to carry Stafford. No other names will appear on the ballot in that county.

One thing remains a certain fact. Boatwright entered this campaign comparatively unknown. He had plodded ahead, and by sheer force of grit has gained support which would otherwise have gone to the more experienced campaigner, Mr. Herring.

It has been a straight contest between the two men. No claims have been issued that either was soliciting or securing the support of the so-called organization, and the best man will win.

Boatwright appeared to be handicapped in the beginning of the campaign by numerous predictions of certain defeat, on the assumption of his inexperience in politics. At the close of the campaign he is confident by the general concession that he has an even chance, or better, of winning.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRINCE WILLIAM CO.

Owing to the fact that the State Tax Department has ordered that the Commissioner's work be completed by August 1, I have had very little time for electioneering. I also wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your kindness and co-operation during my term of office and trust that I may have the pleasure of serving you again.

FOREIGN COUNTRIES BUY MORE U. S. LEAF TOBACCO

Exports of leaf tobacco from the United States increased 8 per cent in volume during January to May of 1931 as compared with the average for the corresponding period during the last five years, according to a report just made public by the Department of Commerce. In the United States cigarettes are increasingly popular because of the removal of harsh irritants by modern methods of manufacture such as the toasting process including the use of ultra violet rays. Cigarettes are also growing in popularity abroad as is indicated by the fact that exports of bright flue-cured tobacco which is used principally in cigarettes amounted to 162,305,000 pounds during the first five months of this year as compared with only 119,083,000 during the same period of 1929. These shipments were valued at $35,945,000 this year as compared with $32,460,000 in 1929.

If it's worth while, you'll find it somewhere in the ad columns.

VIRGINIA MEMORIAL

MAY BE POSTPONED

The building of Virginia's proposed war memorial to a cost of $125,000 in the form of a carillon during the coming biennium is unlikely in the opinion of State Senator William A. Garrett, chairman of the Senate finance committee. He believes that the State will be able to weather a difficult economic period by prudent expenditures, reducing capital outlays to a minimum and holding to their present level the subsidies to State educational institutions.

The committee, he said, was confronted with the urgent need of additional facilities for the insane. All of the asylums visited are overcrowded, he said.

Road appropriations will not be affected by the general return from taxation. Senator Garrett said, since the gasoline tax and the income from the sale of license plates will provide for the carrying forward of the road program.

Force of habit is a good thing in the moving business, even if our men do carry it a bit too far—handling a gas range as though it were a piece of Venetian glassware! But far better to be too careful than the least bit careless. When you move call 15F4 for an estimate.

COOK ELECTRICALLY

It's Cheap

WHY are so many women old at 30? Their faces lined, their backs bent over—why? They take all the drudgery of housework as a necessity. It isn't! Electricity will do your housework for a few cents a day.

Don't let your face lose its youthfulness bending over a hot stove. Cook electrically, and stay young. An electric range gives you a cool kitchen. It cooks quicker. Its automatic control saves your time and your temper. There's no soot or smoke as there is from every other fuel.

You can be sure of instant heat in the top burners—the ones you use most. And for roasting and baking, there is even regulated heat.

See the beautiful new electric ranges today! Prices are lower than ever before. You can have an electric range installed for as little as $6.38 per month.

Don't suffer over a hot stove this summer. Use electricity. Stay young!

MEETING AT GRACE CHAPEL
HICKORY GROVE

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at Grace Chapel, Haymarket Parish, on the afternoon of Friday, July 23, was a success in every way. We were blest with fine weather, not a cloud, or any threat of storm; and all expected members came including several with Miss Davis from Leesburg and many from St. Paul's, Haymarket, besides our neighborhood friends.

We all felt honored and rejoiced by the presence of our Diocesan Auxiliary Chief, Miss Louisa Davis, who is always an inspiration for good. With the aid of a most interesting chart she fully showed us the wonderful work which is being carried on by the Woman's Auxiliary, and left each member of the Grace Chapel Branch prepared to do her best, especially for the coming Thank Offering.

After the conclusion of our exercises we adjourned to the Grove outside, and partook of delicious cool refreshments. All agreed that never before had we had so thoroughly satisfactory a meeting.

All here are looking forward to the opening of the new Young People's Camp, in Hopewell Gap of the Bull Run Mountain, which is being prepared by our Rector, the Rev. F. W. Carpenter, and also to the Historic Art Loan Exhibition at Haymarket on the afternoon of Friday, July 31. It will be held in St. Paul's Parish Hall. The hours are from one o'clock, early afternoon, to 10 o'clock at night.

Everything that can be collected of historic and artistic interest will be on exhibition, including many things connected with early Prince William County. We hope that some of our Manassas friends will be there.

TAX RATES ON REAL ESTATE
AND TANGIBLE PERSONAL
PROPERTY IN THE SEVENTH AND EIGHTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS IN 1926 AND 1930.

Tax rates on real estate and tangible personal property in the seventh congressional district averaged 11 cents less on the $100 assessed value of property in 1930 than in 1926, while the average rate in the eighth district increased by 2 cents. In consequence, taxpayers in the seventh district, enjoyed a net saving of $101,205.46 in 1930 over taxes which they paid in 1926, while a net increase was experienced in the eighth district in the amount of $20,131.41.

The reductions were made possible principally through the segregation plan of taxation, adopted in 1927, which provided for the repeal of the 25 cent State tax on real estate and tangible personal property, and permitted the counties and cities to reimpose this amount for local purposes. To the extent that the localities refrained from the reimposition of all or a part of the former State levy, an absolute saving to the taxpayers was enjoyed. The following figures show the degree in which changes occurred in tax rates in the seventh and eighth congressional districts. Computations of the levies for 1926 and 1930 are based upon the assessed values of property in 1926, which was the last year in which the State tax was imposed upon real estate and tangible personal property. The 1926 rates include the 25 cent State tax in addition to the respective county and district (or city) levies.

The seventh district is composed of the counties and three cities. In the counties the net savings in property taxes aggregated $117,251.67, while in the cities a net increase occurred in the amount of $16,046.21.

In eight of the ten counties in the seventh congressional district a reduction in tax rates and levies in 1930 over 1926 was enjoyed, as follows: Albemarle, reduction in rate 33 cents, saving to taxpayers $39,892.78; Clarke, reduction in rate 3 cents, saving to taxpayers, $1,323.49; Greene, reduction in rate 28 cents, saving to taxpayers $3,179.50; age, reduction in rate 60 cents, saving to taxpayers $31,424.65; Rappahannock, reduction in rate 18 cents, saving to taxpayers $5,520.22; Rockingham, reduction in rate 20 cents, saving to taxpayers $33,661.54; Shenandoah, reduction in rate 2 cents, saving to taxpayers $1,517.78, and Warren, reduction in rate 35 cents, saving to taxpayers $10,985.27. In Frederick County, an increase of 17 cents in rate occurred, which resulted in an increase in taxes in the amount of $9,848.23. In Madison county, the rate increased by one cent, and taxes by $405.33. Thus the total reductions in the counties amounted to $127,505.23, and the total increases to $10,253.56. The net result for the counties considered as a whole was a reduction of 18 cents on the $100 assessed value of property.

In the city of Harrisburg the tax rate remained the same in 1930 as in 1926, thus indicating that levies for municipal purposes had just increased to absorb the amount of the former State levy. Charlottesville increased its rate by 5 cents and levies by $6,489.54, and Winchester increased its rate by 10 cents and levies by $9,556.67. The net increase for all three cities combined averaged 6 cents on the $100 assessed value. The average net reduction for counties and cities considered as a whole amounted to 11 cents.

Though the ten counties of the eighth district as a whole sustained a slight increase in tax rates and levies, seven of the ten enjoyed a savings, as follows: Culpeper, reduction in rate 21 cents, saving to taxpayers $14,903.41; Fairfax, reduction in rate 35 cents, saving to taxpayers $50,682.44; King George, reduction in rate 14 cents, saving to taxpayers $2,333.77; Louisa, reduction in rate 18 cents, saving to taxpayers $22,717.74; Prince William reduction in rate 1 cent, saving to taxpayers $450.87, and Stafford, reduction in rate 6 cents, saving to taxpayers $1,696.15. In the other three counties, increases occurred as follows: Arlington, increase in rate 27 cents, increase in taxes $67,665.85; Fauquier, increase in rate 1 cent, increase in taxes $1,451.33, and Loudoun, increase in rate 22 cents, increase in taxes $32,931.91. Thus the total decreases in the counties amounted to $101,271.62, and the total increases to $102,049.29. The net increase for the ten counties as a whole amounted to $777.67. This represented an average increase of one-tenth of 1 cent on the $100 assessed value for the ten counties, while the average increase for the counties and cities combined amounted to less than 2 cents.

These figures, which are the result of a study made by Dr. William R. Stauffer, Economist for the State Department of Taxation, indicate that the segregation plan of taxation had, up to the year 1930, provided a substantial relief to real estate and tangible personal property owners in the seventh congressional district, while bringing relief, also, to a majority of the counties in the eighth district.

COME AND BRING THE FAMILY

Tenderfoot Showed Them Something

By JACK WOODFORD

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
(WNU Service.)

IT WAS in New York that Marvin first met Eulalia. He had never seen a girl like her before. He couldn't imagine, at first, what it was about her that was so strangely different.

She was not palely beautiful, as most of the girls he knew were—like hot house flowers. She was ruddily, healthily beautiful. Her lithe, slim figure had a brisk swing to it as she walked. Her hair seemed to have been dyed by the sheer gold of sunlight itself. Her teeth were perfectly matched pearls. She was so pretty she made him gasp. And then meeting her, dancing with her, taking her to a show or two, he began to understand.

She was a girl from the "wide open spaces," such as he had never seen before. That strength and power in her lovely, bright eyes came, doubtless, from looking along wide vistas; that glow in her cheeks was from early morning rides over her father's ranch. Marvin fell madly, desperately in love; so much so, in fact, that he followed Eulalia back to Arizona, to be near her.

Eulalia's father welcomed him, but just a bit derisively, until he learned that Marvin could ride. Then he provided him with a horse, and they all got ready to start out together.

Eulalia's father's foreman was to ride with them over the range. The foreman was a husky, roughly handsome man that Marvin could see was in love with Eulalia; Eulalia, Marvin noticed, viewed the foreman with at least admiration, perhaps for his rugged manliness. Marvin had to admit that he didn't cut much of a figure in the ranch picture.

Trouble started as soon as Marvin mounted his horse. He had never felt such horse muscles under him before; the horses he had ridden through Central park were, he realized now, almost toy mounts as compared with this one.

The horse reared. Marvin fell backward sprawled in the dust. The foreman and Eulalia and her father were most solicitous; but he could see the glint of contemptuous amusement in their eyes when they glanced at Eulalia; the glances seemed to say:

"Is this supposed to be a man?"

And so it went, day after day. In New York, Marvin remembered, he had made some progress in Eulalia's affections; but here . . . her interest in him seemed to be waning. He was heartbroken; for she was the one girl for him, he knew. Not that she actually was contemptuous of him because he couldn't ride horses, and couldn't get along in the ranch country . . . but somehow because he did not show up bravely, in juxtaposition with her father and the foreman. At last, desperate, he spoke to New York over the long distance telephone. A day and a half passed, and a buzzing was heard over the ranch.

"That's funny," Eulalia's father said, "must be a mail plane off its route."

"Not at all," Marvin corrected; "just my plane I had sent down. Thought you'd all like a trip in the air—that is," he added pointedly, since the foreman was present, "unless you're afraid." The foreman turned visibly pale; Eulalia's father looked startled; but he frowned. Eulalia was ecstatic. She said:

"A ride in a plane! Marvelous. And of course Don and Dad aren't afraid; they've both often admitted to me that there isn't anything in the world they're afraid of." After that, there was no question about the ride being a foursome.

It was mean, Marvin had to admit, to turn tail spins and do barrel rolls; but, after all, they had deliberately provided him with an almost unrideable horse. At the end of the ride Don and Dad were wrecks!

"Never again!" Don swore, trying to make his legs behave so he could walk away from the plane as fast as possible.

"I'm too old to learn new tricks like that," Eulalia's father declared without reservations; "though I envy you youngsters growing up in this generation."

It was as they walked after supper, with the chromatic tints of the sunset's afterglow painting the raw land in pagan colors, that Marvin said:

"Honey, I'm wild about ranch life."

"And I'm crazy about city life," she admitted "though I sometimes thought maybe city men were puny as compared with western plains men. But as compared to running a plane, busting a broncho is child's play."

"How about our incorporating," he suggested, "and spending our time fifty-fifty, ranch and city?"

"A swell idea," she echoed.

The man in the moon saw their embrace and approved, even if, in the distance, a jackal did howl disapprovingly.

St. Paul's Age Unknown

The exact date of St. Paul's birth is not known, but it is supposed to have been between the years 5 and 10 of the Christian era. As it is believed that Christ was born some four years previous to the date from which we count our years, it is to be supposed that Paul was from nine to fourteen years younger. Paul was born at Tarsus, in Asia Minor, but was sent to Jerusalem to be educated. He was beheaded at Rome in the year 67 or 68; during one of the persecutions of the Christians under Emperor Nero.

POULTRY

CULLING IS MOST IMPORTANT TASK

Examine Fowls to See if in Good Health.

Did you ever try to pick, before the event at a fair, a winning team of horses in a pulling contest? If so, you may not have selected the winner. Why? Because you probably did not take into account the owner of the team. The training of the team is as important as the team itself and many times more so.

The same principle applies to culling the flocks of hens, writes J. H. Bodwell in the Wisconsin Agriculturist. Have you fed them the feed necessary for egg production? Have you kept up their body weight? Examine the birds first and see if they are in good physical condition. If they are poor in flesh, feed them for about ten days on a fattening mash mixed with milk. Then give them a feed that will produce eggs. Eggs are 16 per cent protein and contain most of the building stones, or amino acids. Therefore, they must have feed that contains all of these building stones in order to produce eggs without causing too great a strain upon their bodies.

Did you ever try to grow cucumbers upon soil that was poor in fertility? You found that the vines were very small and a very poor crop resulted. But on this same soil, sufficiently fertilized, vines grew luxuriantly, were a nice, green color and a bountiful crop resulted.

Hens that are supplied the proper feed in sufficient quantities will respond similarly.

Of course, it is true that hens inherit a certain ability for production, but let's feed them properly, then cull out only those that have the natural low production after having given them a chance to perform.

High Quality Capons Bring Highest Prices

Making capons out of surplus cockerels of the American and heavier breeds has proved a profitable part of the poultry business for a considerable number of poultry keepers. It appears that the number of high quality capons that could be marketed might well be increased without serious risk of an unprofitable lowering of prices.

But it is essential that the highest quality be maintained. And the highest quality cannot be maintained if the increasingly common practice of delaying caponizing until the birds are twelve to fifteen weeks old continues. Not only is the question of quality and flavor of importance, but the death loss and percentage of "slips" is less when the caponizing is done at a weight of a pound to a pound and a half. Unless the American breed cockerels have reached a pound in weight by the age of eight or ten weeks it is doubtful if caponizing will pay. Runty cockerels never pay as capons, whether the operation is done at eight weeks or fifteen.

Best Turkey Finishing Requires Small Range

An old barn or shed makes an ideal place for finishing turkeys for the market, according to the North Dakota Agricultural College. It is advisable to restrict the range, and when the turkeys are grown under artificial methods they may be successfully finished under moderate confinement if they have enough room for exercise.

Corn is generally considered the best feed for finishing. Care must be exercised in feeding corn in the fall, especially new, soft or frozen corn. There is a danger of serious digestive troubles and losses may occur where such corn is fed, according to the circular.

If pullets have been grown on a regular ration, they can be easily shifted to a finishing ration about four to six weeks before marketing time. A finishing ration consisting of 50 pounds of corn, 25 pounds of wheat, and 25 pounds of oats is suggested.

Sell the Roosters

Roosters sell for just as good a price at this season of the year as they do later and usually there are more of them to sell for mortality in roosters is heavy during hot weather. If any roosters are to be kept over for the following season, they should be separated from the laying flock. Occasionally it may pay to keep unusually good males, but generally most roosters are more trouble during the fall and winter than they are worth the following spring.

Weight and Yield

The importance of maintaining the weight of the laying pullet is shown by recent experiments at the University of Kentucky. A decrease in body weight was followed approximately a week later by a decline in egg production. An increase in body weight was likewise followed at a short interval by an increase in egg production. The same relationship between body weight and production was noticeable in Barred Plymouth Rocks and White Leghorns.

Pre-Leavened Flour Takes Guess-Work Out of Muffin Baking

Quick breads, of which muffins are a type, have an important place in our meals since they act as an emergency bread and are enjoyed by our families for their freshness and variety in flavor and texture.

Success with muffins as with all other quick breads depends largely upon the kind and amount of leavening agent used and the method of baking. Accurate measurement and good material are necessary, with close attention to oven temperature.

To be wholesome, quick breads must be thoroughly baked and free from all heaviness. Inasmuch as muffins depend for their success upon the kind and amount of leavening agent used, that should be of utmost importance to us in their making. And we can have good muffins every time we make them if we use self-rising flour in making them.

Self-rising flour is pre-leavened flour. That is, it is flour to which the baking powder and salt have been added in the proper proportions. This combining of the main ingredients of muffins makes baking simple and easy for us. A chemist, highly trained and experienced, does all the actual hard work for us. All that we have to do is to add the egg or eggs, the milk and the fat and then we have our muffin batter.

Not only has the chemist done this accurate, difficult task for us by combining the flour and leavening in correct proportions, but under his direction the self-rising flour has been sifted and mixed together by machinery for 15 minutes, which means that we have our principal ingredients, flour, baking powder and salt, sifted for us as we could never sift them ourselves. Because of this we get finer grain muffins.

I find it best to have a standard muffin recipe which can be used as a base for variations. If we master one good muffin recipe then we can make an endless variety of muffins. Such a basic recipe is as follows:

3 cups self-rising flour 1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup melted shortening
1 egg

Sift and measure the flour. Add eggs, milk, melted and cooled shortening. Beat vigorously. Pour batter into well-greased muffin tins, half filling them, and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 18 to 20 minutes. This recipe makes 14 muffins.

Now, you can take this foundation recipe and make blueberry or date muffins, poppy seed, chocolate or coconut muffins. And then there are cereal muffins, nut muffins, and french muffins, and I suggest you try some of the following delicious muffins:

Date or Raisin Muffins.

Use basic recipe with but three-fourths cupful of milk. Flour two thirds cup chopped and pitted dates or raisins and add to batter. If you like a sweeter date muffin add one-fourth cupful more sugar. For variety one-half cupful finely chopped citron and candied cherries may be used instead of the dates or raisins.

Coconut Muffins.

Use basic recipe, omit shortening and add one-half cupful shredded coconut. These are best baked in tiny greased muffin tins so that you have about 24 small ones.

Jam Muffins.

Use basic recipe and stir in four tablespoons raspberry jam, strawberry jam or any other desired jam.

Poppy Seed Muffins.

Use basic recipe and sprinkle poppy seeds over the top.

STATEMENT OF MR. BOATWRIGHT

Neither of us have a Legislative record to cite or point to and therefore are equal in that respect. I have some very decided opinions about matters that I know will engage the attention of the next General Assembly, amongst them is the matter of taxation and retrenchment in cost of State Government. I am opposed to curtailment of our educational system that will lower its standard, but I believe that a study will disclose ways and means of effecting economies in the administration of our educational system. I may change my mind about this after a study has been made.

Whereas the people of rural communities pay only a small tax to the State and some pay no tax at all, yet the revenues collected and disbursed by the State are derived from an indirect tax which amounts to approximately forty-four million dollars, and therefore economies effected in all departments of our State Government will be reflected in some way to the people of the State in money somehow and some way, therefore, I am committed to a program that will reduce the cost of State Government at this time until the confidence of the world has been restored, and the recovery from the economic depression is clearly apparent, or has at least begun.

My experience in the matters of business, I believe, has seasoned me to the extent that my judgments will not be hasty, and I pledge if selected as your representative to give earnest, thoughtful consideration to all matters affecting my District and State and when such judgments are formed they will be in response to the sentiments of the majority of my constituents and divorced from personal biases and opinions.

It has been charged that if I am successful and become your representative I will be unduly influenced by certain of my friends. This assumption is wholly inconsistent with my reputation and former conduct in matters of business and politics. I am appreciative of and desirous of advice and would naturally be receptive to what I believe to be good advice and coming from friends, but I believe I enjoy the reputation of having the courage of my convictions and could not be swayed by my closest friend from acting inconsistent with those convictions unless later convinced.

I go into the closing days of this contest confident of success, this confidence being built upon the expressions of assurances of my friends who are in a better position to know and form an opinion. However, regardless of what the choice may be, I feel that the effort has been worth while as I have made a host of new friends and I shall accept the verdict of the people of my party gracefully and gratefully. I take this means and occasion to thank all of those who have promised their support, and also those who will support me who have not pledged their vote. To those whose judgment has directed that they give their support to my opponent I have only the highest feeling of respect and good will, and if elected I shall represent them and my supporters together impartially and conscientiously.

Very sincerely,
ARTHUR S. BOATWRIGHT.

Vote for JOHN W. RUST, Fairfax, Virginia, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR THE VIRGINIA STATE SENATE subject to Primary August 4, 1931.

Mr. Rust is a son of the late Capt. John R. Rust, of Haymarket, Prince William County, Virginia, a Confederacy Cavalry Officer. He has been a practicing Attorney at Fairfax, Virginia, for twenty-four years; has always voted the Democratic ticket, and for many years has been affiliated with all progressive movements in this section of Virginia. Mr. Rust's people are native Virginians and there has been instilled into him through generations a deep love for his State and her people. He is proud of the history of his State and the great Virginians of the past, and has an abiding faith in the future of Virginia.

He stands for the following principles:

1. Honesty and integrity in public life.
2. Economical and efficient government. He realizes the heavy tax burden upon the people of Virginia during this period of general depression, and advocates the greatest possible economy in State and local government and reduction in taxes wherever possible consistent with good government.
3. That public officials are the trustees and servants of the people. If elected he will represent the people and their interests, as he believes in government for the people and by the people.
4. Improvement of the public school system of Virginia in order that all Virginia children may obtain the best possible education, and in proper health legislation.
5. Conservation and preservation of the forests and other natural beauties of this State for the benefit of the people at large.
6. A better understanding between Maryland and Virginia in order that the Citizens of Virginia may enjoy greater privileges in the Potomac River.
7. The Bicentennial and its success.
8. He was born and reared on a farm and has always been a friend of the farmer, and if elected he will support any legislation beneficial to the farming interests of this section.
9. Mr. Rust is especially interested in the progress of the Thirtieth Senatorial District and sees for Northern Virginia a great future. If elected he will support all legislation having for its purpose the development and advancement of this section of Virginia and he believes that on account of its location it should be especially favored by the State in the establishment and maintenance of roads.
10. Mr. Rust believes in good citizenship and in maintaining and upholding the highest standards of public and private life.
