DAIRY FESTIVAL
at Manassas
October 31, 1931

VOL. XXXVII, NO. 20

MANASSAS, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1931

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Prince William County Bi-Centennial Celebration at Woodbridge

INTEREST GROWS IN FESTIVAL

All Committees in High Gear.

A good-sized crowd attended the weekly meeting held Tuesday in the interest of a dairy festival to be held in the vicinity of Manassas on Saturday, October 31.

Mr. Howard, of the Apple Blossom Festival, was present, B. W. Middleton, of Florida, Fairfax county, and a number of other important personages in this area.

There was some debate as to a possible postponement of the festival, but the idea was thoroughly scouted by all present.

Director General Fred R. Hynson was much enthused over the magnitude of the affair, stating that it had assumed proportions which neither he nor anyone else had fancied at first.

Outside commercial interests appear to be taking hold, and a large number of beautiful floats will be in the parade as well as bands, school children, pretty milkmaids, etc.

E. H. Hibbs, of the Ways and Means Committee, has issued a strong appeal for funds to auxiliary the work, and a full time manager will be on the job in a few days.

HALL-JONES

Miss Elva Virginia Jones and William Alfred Hall, Jr., both of Richmond, Va., were united in marriage on Saturday in Eastern Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C., with Rev. W. A. Hall, pastor of the Manassas Presbyterian Church, and father of the groom, conducting the ceremony.

The wedding was a quiet one attended by the immediate families of the contracting parties, and following a wedding breakfast the couple departed for a short honeymoon. They will make their home in Richmond, where Mr. Hall is a prominent practicing attorney and counsellor at law.

U. D. C.

The regular monthly meeting of the Manassas Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be held next Wednesday, Oct. 7, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Sinclair, instead of the 13th as has been previously stated.

PLEASE NOTICE

In order to help the unemployment situation in our Town and Community, Tuesday, October 6, 1931, has been designated for all who are unemployed to register with the Clerk of the Town of Manassas.

All registrations will be filed with the Committee on Unemployment for the State of Virginia.

In the event of persons desiring to register who are working part time, it is suggested that they indicate the type and amount of work now being done.

Respectfully submitted,
HARRY P. DAVIS,
Mayor.

U. D. C. HONORS VET'S GRANDSON

Westwood Gray Hutchison Re- cipient of Cross of Honor.

The Manassas Chapter, U. D. C., met at the home of Col. and Mrs. R. A. Hutchison on Sunday, September 27, at 2:30 p. m., for a memorial service in honor of Admiral Semmes, Confederate States Navy.

The chief feature of the program was the bestowal of two crosses of honor to Westwood Gray Hutchison, son of Othneil Gray Hutchison, veteran of the Spanish-American War and the Philippine Insurrection, and grandson of Westwood Hutchison, Confederate veteran. The Philippine Insurrection Cross is the ninth to be given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Other features of the program were: "How Firm a Foundation," reading of the Ritual by Col. R. A. Hutchison, reading of the rules of bestowal of crosses by Mrs. R. A. Hutchison, sketches of the life of Semmes by Mrs. L. L. Lonas.

Mrs. C. A. Sinclair, president of the chapter, presided over the meeting and presented the crosses to Miss Isabelle Hutchison for her nephew.

CLUB LEARNS SHOW POINTERS

Reports on Blacksburg Meeting Given.

A very interesting 4-H Club meeting of the agricultural and home economics groups was held at the Brentsville District High School last Thursday evening.

A report of the clubs' participation in the State 4-H Short Course at Blacksburg was made by Geraldine Shepherd and Goldie Knically while Woodrow Manuel, Billy Hale, Ruth Hooker, LaPoint Trenis and Marie Harpine gave excellent reports of the part taken by their club in the Northern Virginia Short Course held this year at Jamestown and in which thirty-seven Prince William 4-H boys and girls were enrolled.

Following the general program, the groups divided for separate instruction.

R. G. Connelly, Extension Dairyman, went into the minute details of fitting of animals for the coming Nokesville Fair and urged each dairy club member to begin training and fitting his dairy animals at once. He placed emphasis on the importance of knowing how to show as well as having a good animal to show. A report from the club showed that the boys having purebreds were in the majority and that the proportion of purebreds was gradually becoming larger.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

Professor Haydon announces that the enrollment this week reached 2606, both white and colored, under a faculty numbering exactly ninety teachers.

C. J. Hyslop, state supervisor of vocational guidance, visited the Manassas High yesterday, and outlined his program which Prince William has accepted, being the 26th county in the State to do so.

Miss Beatrix Clark, supervisor, and the teachers have been giving the Fall tests this week. This classification work is given twice a year, just after school opens and just before the session closes in the spring.

To the Editors and Publishers of The Manassas Journal,
Manassas, Va.

Gentlemen:

I want to pay a tribute of praise and commendation to you and your paper for the fine spirit of public duty displayed in inaugurating the movement which culminated at Woodbridge last Friday in the celebration of the Bi-centennial of old Prince William County. You have done a splendid piece of work. You have helped to plant in the minds of all the good people of your section of Virginia, and especially in the minds of the boys and girls who will be the citizens of the future, a deeper love and reverence for the institutions of their country, and for the pioneers whose labors and sacrifices gave us the government of liberty and order which we enjoy today. The old and the young in Prince William County now know something more and something really worth while of the history of their home land, and this makes for better citizens, better neighbors and better friends.

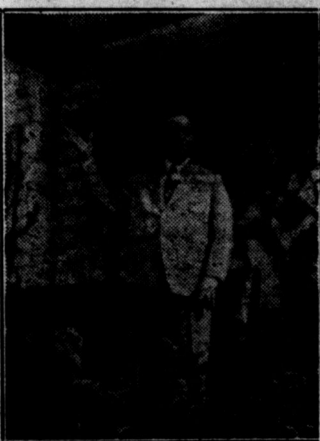

I think it also appropriate to acknowledge the intelligent and untiring assistance of your Superintendent, Prof. Haydon, Rev. A. H. Shumate, Dr. Malcolm, Mr. R. S. Hall, Mr. Ratcliffe, Mrs. Hibbs, Mr. Dawson, Mrs. Cline, and the many others whose unselfish work made the celebration possible. Certainly a vote of thanks is due to Mrs. Corbin Thompson for the generous hospitality she extended at her beautiful home; and, finally, Miss Beatrix Clark, Supervisor of Rural Schools, together with the teachers and parents who assisted, are entitled to the highest praise for the work so splendidly done in such a brief space of time in arranging the pageant, and drilling the school-children for the graphic representation of important episodes in Prince William County history, which delighted all who witnessed it.

Please accept my best wishes for The Manassas Journal. In the words of Rip Van Winkle may it "Live long and prosper"!

Very truly yours,

WADE H. ELLIS.

NOKESVILLE WOMEN TO ENTERTAIN HUSBANDS

Husbands' night will be observed by the Nokesville Home Demonstration Group on Thursday, October 8. The evening's program will be held in Free's Field, opposite District High School, beginning with weeper roast which will be served at 7:00 o'clock. A program of recreation and entertainment will follow. Ladies of Nokesville group are asked to notify the following committee women as to the number attending from respective homes: Mrs. J. O. Bittle, Mrs. M. J. Shepherd, Mrs. Joe Hale, Mrs. Ernest Spittler and Mrs. W. R. Free. Husbands are cordially invited to be present.

THREE PERISH IN FIRE AT JOPLIN

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Miller and Infant Son Perish Last Friday.

Fire of undetermined origin wiped out three lives at Joplin last Friday night, leaving no evidences as to the causes of the tragedy. On the theory of the possible foul play, Sheriff J. P. Kerlin made a careful investigation, but the fearful heat of the fire and the subsequent rain eliminated all clues that might have existed, if murder was a feature of the affair.

The fire was discovered early in the day but it was not until later when the ruins were visited by Mrs. Raymond Miller, sister-in-law of Mr. Goodwin Miller, who perished in the fire, that the sad tragedy which accompanied the fire was discovered.

Dr. E. H. Marsteller, the coroner, and Sheriff J. P. Kerlin made careful investigations but found no evidences of foul play, beyond the fact that the remains of Mr. and Mrs. Miller were found resting so undisturbed by any apparent struggle, preceding death, that the conclusion was reached by some observers, especially representatives of Washington newspapers, that a murder mystery was involved, and the Associated Press featured the story in leading papers throughout the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Miller and their infant son were buried in a single casket on Sunday, a large gathering following the remains to their last resting place, and unless some new evidence comes to light, it will only be positively known that they perished in their beds when their home was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin.

The tragedy is one of the most appalling that has visited the county in recent years.

NOKESVILLE TO GREET FACULTY

The regular monthly meeting of the Brentsville District Community Association will be held in the High School auditorium at Nokesville on Tuesday evening, October 6, at 7:45 o'clock. A program to include a welcome for the teachers of Brentsville District is to be arranged by J. A. Hooker and Mrs. Ernest Spittler, Chairmen of the Educational and Social Committees.

Ways and means of building the new gymnasium will be discussed. Everyone interested in the carrying out of this important project should be present at the meeting Tuesday evening.

SWAVELY NOTES

Mrs. and Miss Earle, Mrs. and Miss Crenshaw, and Col. Puryear, all of Washington, visited their sons at the school on Sunday.

Mr. Gill conducted the service at Trinity Church on Sunday, in the absence of the rector.

The first football game of the season will be played tomorrow (Friday) afternoon on the home grounds, against Business High School, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Zollinger, of Canton, Ohio, visited their son, William, at the school on Monday.

The School Glee Club has begun rehearsal under the direction of Dr. Harned of Washington, conductor of the National Church Choir.

Bright skies and a cool breeze greeted the many hundreds of Prince William folks last Friday morning when they arose to make ready for the day of celebration toward which they had long looked.

Before ten o'clock the roads were cloudy with the dust of passing machines and buses. The marine band from Quantico was present through the courtesy of Rev. A. H. Shumate, Chief Gunner Talbot and the post adjutant of Quantico. They all entered into the spirit of the day and appeared to get as much pleasure out of their work as the others did out of play.

Coleschester, more latterly known as Colchester, the settlement at the mouth of the Occoquan, and which lost its south wing to be called Woodbridge sometime after the separation of the counties, has a marker which can be regarded as permanent. It is of native rock taken from the old cotton factory just upstream, and dressed beautifully by Messrs. Milton Hottle and Otis Holler, who are shown elsewhere in this issue standing beside their handiwork. With a sum of $450 available for landscaping, sidewalks, benches, etc., it will certainly be the most unusual marker between Richmond and Washington on the Jefferson Davis Highway.

The committee, of which Mrs. Annie G. Cline was chairman, decided on this location after considerable archaeological work and careful consideration of the general setting of the original courthouse, which will later be marked by a small monument to satisfy any person so industrious as to climb the railroad barrier and scuttle down the steep bank.

After a concert, Miss Beatrix Clark, rural supervisor of Prince William county, put on a pageant by the children which was little short of marvelous considering the time that she had had to prepare. In the writing, she was assisted by Mrs. E. H. Hibbs and in the presentation by Mrs. Hibbs, Miss Eula Morris, Miss Helen Dunkley, Miss Lulu Hammond, Miss Lucye Hillsman, Miss Elizabeth Weatherman, Miss Jeannette Matthews, Miss Katherine Foster, Miss Grace Hite and Miss Patricia Sledd.

History from the days of Captain John Smith was announced by the Herald, Miss Margaret Frye, as each group appeared, enacting Prince William history from the days of the Dogus Indians to the recent World War. When the Confederates under Stonewall Jackson (Charles Lynn, who was mounted) chased off the Yankees, the Band struck up "Dixie," and the grounds rang with cheers.

Little Miss Mary Lynch, with a chorus, first danced the "Spirit of Youth." It was lovely and quite impressive. Soft music came from the Thompson house in front of which the ceremony was held.

Three dances were put on, the first two being minuets and the last a "Virginia Reel."

Billy Jamison, a scion of the Lee family, was given the distinction of taking the part of General Lee in which he vied with "Stonewall" who was also on horse.

Billy Hale, of Nokesville, as "Prince William" and the Nokesville youngsters staged the arrival of the Prince and his retinue.

History was carried out faithfully in the dispersal of the Indians by the white settlers (who had a dwelling, a coach, and numerous firearms).

The removals of the various court-houses was portrayed by Aden pupils, the settling of Dumfries by the school in that locality, the coming of the white man, by Occoquan High, the earliest settlement, by Greenwich, the Revolutionary Period, by Haymarket High, the First Battle of Manassas, by Bennett, and the World War period by Quantico.

The children then massed and sang very prettily.

It was then noon, and the hour for the unweaving was at hand. To martial strains, the twelve hundred spectators marched down and along the highway. After a medley of patriotic airs, R. D. Wharton, vice-chairman of the county committee, presented the monument in the name of Mr. Ellis. In so doing, he briefly lauded the spirit of the old-time people from the days in which Captain John Smith sailed to the mouth of the Occoquan to the latter time in which an even more strenuous effort was made to guarantee the liberty we now enjoy.

Home of G. A. Kyle, Staunton, Va.

MR. G. A. KYLE, of Staunton, Va., writes:

"After using your electric water heater for almost a year, I am convinced it's the best thing out when it comes to heating water. I find it very economical, clean, dependable, convenient and can recommend it to anyone."

That's the thought of a satisfied customer. He has all he wants in the way of a hot water supply and he never has to do a thing about it. His automatic electric water heater stands in his home, a silent sentinel of his hot water supply.

Hundreds of other Virginians today are enjoying the benefits of HOT-WATER BY ELECTRICITY; hundreds of them, too, are convinced that the electric water heater is "the best thing out." Why don't you solve the hot water worries of your home by installing one of these matchless servants? A small down payment will put it in your kitchen or basement and from then on you'll have no more troubles with hot water.

Your electrical dealer also will tell you all about Hot-water by Electricity.

Toss lightly together, and add one-half cup cooked dressing. Serve very cold on lettuce leaves.

Cherry Pie: Drain one can sour red cherries and pour into a pie tin, lined with pastry. Mix three tablespoons flour, one-half cup sugar and one-half cup of the cherry syrup, and pour over. Dot with one tablespoon butter. Cover with narrow strips of pastry and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for twenty-five minutes.

C. & P. TELEPHONE

ADDS PLANTS

Capital expenditures for new plant and equipment to be added to the system of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia involving expenditures of $508,485, were authorized by the board of directors of the company at its regular monthly meeting held in Richmond on September 23.

This appropriation includes routine construction work for the fourth quarter of the year and provides for extensions of underground conduit and cable, aerial cable, pole lines, the stringing of wire, and the installation of switchboards and associated apparatus, telephone and private branch exchange systems in every section of the state. This project brings the total amount authorized for similar additions and betterments to the telephone system in Virginia so far this year to $3,151,951, according to a statement made by Charles W. Weber, general manager.

MONTHLY REPORT OF SARAH PITTS, HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

Prince William County, Virginia, for August, 1931.

1. Names of Committees in which Home Demonstration Agent Worked: Woodlawn, Woodbine, Nokesville, Brentsville, Greenwich, Quantico, Haymarket, Manassas, Hayfield, Purcell, Catharpin, Dumfries, Bethel and Jamestown.

2. No. Girls Clubs Met: 6.
3. No. Womens Groups Met: 5.
4. No. Other Meetings Attended: 7.
5. No. Homes Visited: 23.
6. No. Miles Traveled: 848.
7. No. Letters Written: 239.

Home Demonstration and 4-H Leaders lent their assistance in taking care of meetings which could not be attended by the Agent due to her absence from the county while attending Northern Virginia Short Course and while on vacation. Every Home Demonstration group was represented and only one leader was absent at the August meeting of leaders for the Home Demonstration project. At this meeting plans for the remainder of the year were outlined.

The annual county picnic sponsored by the Home Demonstration and Agricultural Advisory Boards provided a day of Recreation and reminiscing at old Brentsville Court House. Unusually good speakers were able to give interesting facts concerning the history of Prince William County.

The services of Miss Gladys Kimbrough of the Ball Brothers Company were secured for a demonstration on canning of vegetables on August 13. Her demonstration was unusually good and proved very helpful in this season of much canning.

Eighteen 4-H Club girls and seventeen boys attended the Northern Virginia District Short Course at Jamestown August 17 to 22. The Short Course consisted of instruction in project work, social customs, educational sightseeing tours, and recreation. The week spent there was most interesting and of high educational value to boys and girls.

If evidence is found of heavy worm infestation among the young birds, give each a worm capsule before placing them in the laying house.

The old theory that turkeys must have plenty of range is not false but more expensive than rearing them in confinement.

ROAD TO SUCCESS:—Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him.—Psalm 37: 5, 7.

MOVES TO RESTORE CONFIDENCE

The recent announcement by the Comptroller of the Currency, responsible under the law for the conduct of the national banks of the country, that bonds of first rating held in banks' portfolios do not have to be marked down to current quotations, has been followed by another move by the Administration of unusual importance.

The reserves of the Federal Reserve System, it is said, are to be employed as far as safety and sound practice permit to free frozen assets in embarrassed member and non-member banks. Quick credits are to be given those in need.

Sound values do exist, then, in spite of the welter of wild ideas, doubts, fears and dire forebodings. Someone in authority does believe that triple A bonds and the property back of them are not to be judged solely by market quotations in a time of unreason and panic. These statements of policy by the Administration are likely to be outstandingly helpful.

It is not too much to say that they can well be the means of turning the tide of fear into confidence. Confidence in our banks and our banking system is a requisite to healthy, progressive business and there can be no doubt of the fact that huge withdrawals of funds from banks have been made by individuals because of fear. It is also true that, notwithstanding low call money rates and the apparent plenitude of money and gold reserves, credit has been restricted.

Bankers have been complaining of the unnecessary restrictions imposed by the Federal Reserve banks in the matter of eligible paper. It would be well if present rules in this direction could be reviewed and these restrictions lightened.

The cry for the past two years has been for liquidity. Bankers themselves for reasons of safety, though necessary, have become almost fanatical on the point. Complete liquidity means no credit. It means cash in the barrelhead. It means virtually a stoppage of business. These things point the way to hopefulness, to a revaluation that will put business on the upgrade, and that comports better with the spirit of America than the gloom which has been prevalent all too long.—Manufacturers Record.

NEWSPAPER ADS BEST

Addressing delegates at the convention of the Financial Advertisers' Association the other day in New York, the president of the American Association of Advertisers gave newspapers first rank among various advertising mediums. The papers, he said, are the main highways to the markets of the world and, in practice, reach more people than the radio.

Another speaker called newspapers "the greatest educational force in the world."

A thoughtful scrutiny of the advertising matter in your favorite newspaper should confirm the claims of the first speaker. There's little question of the truth of the second.

National advertisers are making increasing use of newspapers, realizing that they get in to more homes and are read by more members of the family than magazines. Local merchants who haven't learned that it pays to advertise would do well to follow the example of the big concerns now conducting national advertising campaigns through hundreds of local newspapers.—Alexandria Gazette.

DOGS AND PEOPLE

A Solomon in an American court settled a question of dog ownership the other day. A Spitz, named Chuckie, was found by a lady named Miss Paul, who kept it, believing it to be a dog she had lost. The mother of a 2-year-old boy named Wallace claimed the dog for her son, insisting that it had just disappeared from her home.

In court the dog, coming in with Miss Paul, spied Wallace, and dragged the lady over to the boy, introducing her in dog fashion and wagging his tail affectionately. The judge promptly awarded the dog to the boy.

The more you try to understand dogs, the more you wonder at their intelligence. It is never safe to underestimate their knowledge.

A dog whose family moves to a strange home, miles away, is missing when it's his turn to go, but turns up there by himself after the moving. How does he get there? The family has gone in an automobile. Can a dog trail automobile tires over a dusty highway among a thousand cars? Or is he clairvoyant? That is the dog's secret. He wants to be with his people, and there he is.

A family at a summer cottage, on the morning when they are to start home, call their dog and search for him everywhere. Finally they find him lying in the car. He has not done that all summer. He knows, and is taking no chances.

Count Herman Keyserling, the German philosopher, says the animals are perfect each in its own; only man is imperfect.

In the domesticated dog we seem to have a curious combination, as if it were dog grafted on man. He does many human things in his perfect dog way, as human being could never do them.—Alexandria Gazette.

THE MANASSAS STANDARD TRAINING SCHOOL

To those in this community who are interested in Sunday School and other church work, there will be given an opportunity beginning Sunday, October 11, to make themselves more effective. The movement was begun by the Presbyterian and Methodist workers, but workers of other denominations are joining to get the good to be had.

Three courses are offered—one in Story Telling in Christian Education, one in Worship and the third in the New Testament.

The first, under Miss Etta Mae Russell of Washington, will help teachers to get ready to teach their lessons and will help parents and teachers lead their pupils in Christian living. It will also help young people in taking part in their places of leadership in the church.

The second, under Miss Mabel Thurston of Washington, is intended to help individuals know God better and to aid church officers, teachers and parents in leading others to know God and to feel his guidance in daily living.

The third, taught by Rev. E. W. Aaron of Fredericksburg, is helpful to all church members who wish to know more about God's word and its influence in their lives, and particularly to teachers in the church.

Parents, all church officers, Young People's Societies, members of Adult Bible Classes, members of Women's Missionary Societies, and of Ladies' Aid Societies, Sunday School officers and teachers all can be benefited. There is to be no cost except the almost nominal cost for books and even these are not required.

The first session will meet in the Methodist Church, Sunday afternoon, October 11, at 2:30. The other five sessions will be held in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches nightly during that week beginning at 7:00 p. m. Credits will be given for these regular in attendance.

Besides Presbyterian and Methodists, Episcopalians, United Brethren and Baptists in Manassas and vicinity have shown interest in the plan and a large attendance seems assured.

The Board of Managers, composed of members of several denominations, met last Friday to make definite plans for the carrying on of the school. Others are to be invited into this board as they signify their intention of uniting in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Nehouse and sons William, and Hilton, of Damascus, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Mullinix of Ridgeville, Md., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bailey of Manassas.

Mrs. Harvey F. Simpson and Mrs. Samuel G. Bailey of Manassas were among those who attended the funeral of Mrs. Fannie W. Embrey in Culpeper on Monday afternoon.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. R. M. Jenkins Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 2:30 p. m.

The Ladies Aid Society of Grace M. E. Church, South, will meet Thursday, Oct. 8, at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. J. H. Steele.

OCCOQUAN

Miss Frances Brunt left on Monday for Washington to resume her studies at the Marjorie Webster school. She will be in charge of the music department in that school and will also devote a part of her time to teaching music.

Mr. and Mrs. Slack have returned from a week's visit with Mr. Faust Day at Vienna.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Humphreys and family visited Mrs. Humphreys' parents at Leesburg on Sunday.

Mr. Guy Fling, who recently underwent an operation in Walter Reed Hospital, is convalescing rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mooney and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold visited friends in Alexandria on Sunday.

Miss Rebecca Allen of Washington was a week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wayland and daughter, Norma, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gossom, at Waterfall on Sunday.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Denton of Cherrydale has been visiting her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Posey are the proud parents of a fine boy born on Monday, the 28th.

The Buckhall Community League will hold its monthly meeting at Buckhall School House on Friday, October 9. A short program will be given by the entertainment committee. After the meeting adjourns refreshments will be sold.

Miss Virginia Muddiman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Muddiman, had the misfortune to fall and dislocate her knee Sunday.

Mrs. Celia Staples and daughters, Susie, of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. George Geanaros and son, Manuel, of Bethesda, Md., spent Sunday with Mrs. Lula B. Reid.

Miss Helen Sower spent the week end with her aunt, Miss Maggie Bushong, at Sunny Rest.

Mr. John Roseberry left Tuesday for Bliss Electrical School of Engineering.

Mrs. Albert Roseberry, who has been very ill, is improving. Miss Mary Roseberry will stay at home with her mother this winter.

The ladies of Trinity Church Guild will hold a rummage sale Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Parish House.

Mrs. Emma Shaw had the misfortune to fall and break a small bone in her ankle on Monday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the Garden Club will be held Monday afternoon, October 5, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Charles Lynn. A round-table discussion of "Bulbs for Autumn Planting" will be the subject.

The Woman's Club of Manassas are busy preparing an interesting programme for the Convention of the Fourth District Federation of Women's Clubs of Virginia, which is to be held in Grace M. E. Church, Manassas, on Thursday, Oct. 22.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT Oddfellows

Working in manhood's prime and ardent youth
In that sublimest, most ennobling strife
To show for man, best friendship, love, and truth.
In memory of William W. Retzer who died Sept. 12, 1931.
So let them sleep that dreamless sleep,
Our sorrow's clustering around their head:
Be comforted, ye loved who weep,
They live with God—they are not dead.

Once again Death hath summoned Our Bro. Oddfellow, and the Golden Gateway to the Eternal City has opened to welcome Him to his home. He has completed his work in the ministering to the wants of the afflicted, in shedding light into darkened souls and bringing joy into the places of misery, and as his reward has received the plaudit, Well done, from the Supreme Master.

And whereas
The All-wise and merciful Father has called our beloved and respected Brother home,

And whereas
He having been a true and faithful Brother of our Mystic Order, therefore, be it resolved that Highland Lodge, No. 252, I. O. O. F., of Independent Hill, Va., in testimony of her loss, tenders to the family of the deceased Brother our sincere condolence in this deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and also spread upon the minutes of our Lodge.

R. C. Linton.
H. F. Keys.
A. F. Woodyard.

Green be his memory in the Order's heart
He loved so well, through all his life's span;
Bless'd be his rest, who acted well his part
Who honor'd God in doing good to Man.

LOOKING FORWARD!

Although some pessimists claim the future holds nothing—we have different ideas. Just ten years ago conditions were much the same as now—yet, within a few months business was well on its way to recovery.

We believe in the old saying, "History Repeats Itself"—and are looking forward optimistically. And we are prepared to go forward when the time comes. To you we extend an invitation to prepare for progress by forming a connection now with this reliable bank.

Save the Liquid

WHEN you serve canned peas, do you save the liquid? We mean the peas packed in brine, of course—not the new vacuum packed peas which contain practically no liquid, and so do not present this problem. The reason we ask this question is because the Dietetor Institute asked 386 of its consultant housekeepers whether they poured off the liquid in serving ordinary canned peas, and 152 of them said "yes," and only 126 said "no," and quite a number of them said "some of it," and a number of other things.

The reason why this liquid should not be thrown away is because, although it is largely water, it contains considerable amounts of vitamins and mineral salts extracted from the food, and, if it is thrown away, considerable food value will be lost. The way to avoid these losses is to simmer down the liquid separately until the desired amount has evaporated and then combine it with the liquid should be thrown away.

Contains Food Values

LEGAL NOTICES

In the Circuit Court of Prince William County, Virginia (In Vacation):
Mary Beahm Payne

Darwin Baxter Payne.
IN CHANCERY

An affidavit having been made, as required by law, that Darwin Baxter Payne, the defendant in the above-styled cause, is a non-resident of the State of Virginia and that his last known postoffice address is care of Mrs. J. W. Darwin, Hartsville, Tenn., an application for this order of publication having been made in writing and duly granted by the clerk of this court:

The object of this suit is to obtain a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the said Mary Beahm Payne from the said Darwin Baxter Payne on the ground of willful desertion and abandonment, more than three years having elapsed since such desertion and abandonment, to have the said court permit the said Mary Beahm Payne to resume her maiden name of Mary Beahm and for general relief.

It is, therefore, ordered that the said defendant appear here within ten days after due publication hereof and do what is necessary to protect his interests in this suit. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper printed and published in the County of Prince William, Virginia; that a copy be sent by registered mail by the Clerk of this court addressed to the said Darwin Baxter Payne at care of Mrs. J. W. Darwin, Hartsville, Tenn.; that a copy be posted by the said clerk at the front door of the courthouse of this county on or before the next succeeding rule day after this order of publication is entered; and that the said clerk shall certify to this court that the said copies have been posted and mailed as hereinbefore directed.

Given under my hand this 1st day of September, 1931.

GEO. G. TYLER, Clerk.

EVELYN LAYE GIVES STIRRING PERFORMANCE IN HER FIRST FILM "ONE HEAVENLY NIGHT"

"One Heavenly Night," opening Monday at the Dixie Theatre, brought a welcome gift to American picture lovers in the person and voice of a lovely English light opera star, Evelyn Laye. Appearing in a richly mounted production, with distinguished support, an unusual story and melodious music, Miss Laye's screen debut was auspicious.

A romantic comedy with music, the picture provides opportunities for the vocal efforts of both Miss Laye and John Boles in a love episode that, while the outcome is not hard to imagine, yet held the interest of a capacity audience to the end. The drama unfolds in dialogue, action and song. The dialogue is fine, the action well timed and convincing, and the portrayal of the cabaret and night life of Budapest gives frequent occasion for song-bursts from the entire cast as well as the principals.

The story opens with a music hall scene, very effective as to atmosphere and settings. Lilyan Tashman, as Fritz, a cabaret dancer, is in trouble with the police for sundry scandalous proceedings. She is banished for six months to the castle of a Count, who as a magistrate is supposed to watch over her conduct during the period of her sentence. Disliking the proposed exile, Fritz persuades Lilli, a flower girl, beautifully played and sung by Evelyn Laye, to accept the banishment in her stead.

The Count, not knowing Lilli's real character, assigns to her the real Fritz's colorful reputation, and anticipates her joyful acceptance of his advances. With the discovery of the deception comes the climax, in which the old love problem is solved in the good old way, thus developing a plot that owes much to the romantic atmosphere of the story and more to an all-star cast of principals, and the support of a large and well-directed company.

Evelyn Laye, as Lilli, brings to the screen a richly beautiful voice, and remarkable artistry as a comedienne. She is a distinct acquisition to the American screen. John Boles was particularly effective in a role that called for much dynamic power and fire. He looked and acted the part of lover-hero to everyone's satisfaction. Hilarious is the character entrusted to Leon Errol, whose ridiculous legs are no more funny than his clever delivery of indisputably comical lines. His every appearance was the signal for uproarious laughter. He at times threatened to steal the show, but the brilliant direction of George Fitzmaurice maintained a proper balance between the various elements with good and satisfying effect. Lilyan Tashman as the lady of unblushing indiscretions was never more fittingly cast. She was in supreme command of her role at all times.

IN MEMORIAM

A tribute of devotion and sad but loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. W. L. Diehl, who departed life eight years ago, Sept. 19, 1923.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last. Life's weary trials and suffering past. In silence you suffered, in patience you bore.

Until God called you home to suffer no more.

Loving and kind in all your ways Upright and just to the end of your days, Sincere and kind in heart and mind What a beautiful memory you left behind.

Some may think you are forgotten Because oftentimes they see me smile But little do they know the heart aches That I suffer all the while.

'Tis not the tears at the moment shed 'Tis the life's whole pathway shaded; 'Tis the one remembrance fondly kept When all lighter griefs have faded.

The one I loved (so dearly) has gone to rest Her true heart is still The hand that always gave me help Now lies in death's cold chill.

No one knows (dear mother) how I miss you More and more each day Life has not been the same to me Since you were called away.

I think of her in silence No one can see me weep But many a silent tear I shed

When others are asleep. Her loving daughter, Estelle.

DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

DECLARES CANDIDATES

CHAIRMAN REAMY
OBEYS COURT ORDERCertifies Democratic Nominees to Electoral Board.

In compliance with the mandamus from the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, Chairman M. R. Reamy on Wednesday addressed the following communication to the Electoral Board of Stafford County:

TO THE ELECTORAL BOARD OF STAFFORD COUNTY:

Whereas; Messrs. R. H. Estes, D.
M. Chichester, Clinton T. Heflin, W.
T. Peyton, G. B. Wallace, G. K. Massie, jr., and R. C. L. Moncure, jr., filed a petition with the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, petitioning said court for a mandamus requiring me as Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Stafford County to declare said petitioners as Democratic nominees for the respective offices they respectively seek, and said court by its writ of September 17, 1931, having required and commanded me to do so, which said writ of the Supreme Court was duly served on me by the sheriff of Stafford County on the 19th day of September, 1931, therefore, according to the direction of the said writ, I do hereby declare them nominees for the respective offices for which they have declared themselves candidates.

M. R. REAMY,
Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Stafford County.

Since the court order was issued, two of the petitioners, G. K. Massie and Clinton T. Heflin, have resigned as nominees and requested that their names be not put on the ticket.

Immediately following compliance with the order of the Supreme Court the Electoral Board went on record with a set of resolutions designed, as far as possible to nullify the action enforced by the Supreme Court. Being unable, however, to set aside the Party Rule that all members of the Democratic Party in Virginia are bound by honor to support the regular nominees of the party, they acted with respect to their own personal action, and rescinded their previous resolution pledging support of the Committee to the regular nominees.

Rules of the Democratic Party.

The Rules of the Democratic Party of Virginia, adopted at Norfolk, July 11, 1924, and included with the Virginia Election Laws, define who may vote in a Democratic Primary as follows:

"No person shall be permitted to vote unless such a person is a member of the Democratic Party and at the last preceding general election in which such person participated voted for the nominees of the Democratic party; provided further that if he did not vote at such general election, he then upon his declaration that he will support at the ensuing election the nominees of the party, he shall be allowed to vote. When challenged, he shall make his declaration on oath."

Acting contrary to the rules of the Democratic Party in Virginia the Democratic Committee of Stafford County passed by a majority of one vote a set of resolutions, which, if followed out by the Committee, will disqualify them from participation in the Primary next summer and also from representation in the State Convention which will act in the selection of Presidential Candidates.
The resolution was as follows:

Text of the Resolution.

WHEREAS, on April 16, 1931, a resolution was offered by W. T. Peyton, a member of the Committee, which resolution was unanimously passed, pledging all members of the Committee to vote for and actively support all Democratic nominees in the November election, on the assumption that a Democratic primary would be held; and

WHEREAS, this Committee subsequent to the passing of the above resolution called off the Democratic Primary for reasons which they believed then and believe now justified such action; and

WHEREAS, the action taken by the Committee in calling off the Primary was held by the Court to be technically erroneous, notwithstanding which this Committee feels that its action was for the best interest of the Democratic Party, and further that we are no longer obligated by the resolution of April 16, 1931, because of subsequent developments,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RE-SOLVED, that said resolution be and the same is hereby rescinded and the members of this committee are free to support those Democratic candidates in the November election who, in their judgment, will best promote the interest of not only the Party, but of the County.

JUST A GIGOLO' BRINGS WM.
HAINES TO DIXIE THEATRE

She slapped his face—and so they were married.

Which is how the effervescent William Haines is catapulted into romance in "Just a Gigolo," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talkie which will open today at the Dixie Theatre.

Adapted from the brilliant New York stage play, "Dancing Partner," the story has Haines in the role of a young English nobleman with a flirtation complex and an idea that no woman can make a faithful wife because all can be misled. The slap in the face teaches him differently, in a vivid little drama which also abounds in comical situations.

The play, a European hit by Alexander Engel and Alfred Grunwald, was adapted to the English stage by Frederic and Fanny Hatton. It was produced with sensational success in New York by David Belasco, and for the screen was directed by Jack Conway, who directed "Paid." "The Unholy Three," "New Moon," and other well-known films.

The plot starts when Haines promises a rich uncle to marry an heiress provided he can't mislead her in a month's time. At the end of a month of hilarious happenings mixed with some poignant drama he gets slapped for his pains and awakens to the fact that he really loves her.

The star is supported by a notable cast. Irene Purcell, the heroine, played the role for two years in the New York production, and Charlotte Granville, also of the New York production, is seen as the mother of the girl.

The choleric rich uncle is played by C. Aubrey Smith, remembered for his work in "The Bachelor Father" and "Daybreak." Others in the cast include Lillian Bond, Albert Conti, Maria Alba, Ray Milland, Lenore
Bushman, Gerald Fielding and Yola Davril.

The dramatic highlights include Haines' discovery that he loves the girl, after he has been led to believe that she has succumbed to his attempts to mislead her the slap that teaches him the truth; the comical escape from the angry French husband after flirting with his wife; the airplane elopement; the riotous flirtation in the restaurant and its amazing "alibi" when Haines poses as a lady's dentist, and other vivid bits.
Although comedy abounds, Haines is given opportunity for some of the finest dramatic acting in his entire career in serious moments of the picture.

People need advertisements more

Colgate Scientists Offer New Hope of Relief for Noise-Harried PublicTo Investigate Methods Of Building Up Individual's Resistance To Noise

Will a chocolate bar, eaten at the psychological moment, help to lessen muscular tension and resulting nervous and physical fatigue, produced by the roar of the subway?

Should you worry, while scanning the luncheon menu, about the effect upon your digestion of the riveting machine being used on the building next door?

Will a change in the diet—increasing the consumption of carbohydrate foods—help to make possible a six hour working day with eight hours worth of production?

By Philip Forbes

If you are one of those whose stamina and nerves are worn down by noise—the roar of the subway, the rattle of the riveting machine, the blare of the radio next door, or the songs of our feline friends beneath your window —there is new hope for you in the announcement of an investigation now getting under way at the psychological laboratories of Colgate University, Hamilton, New York.

Previous Research Helpful

At Colgate, under the direction of Dr. Donald A. Laird, Director of the psychological laboratories, scientists are engaged in trying to determine how and to what extent the individual can build up within himself resistance to the noises of this increasingly noise-ridden world. Previous experimental work, extending over the last two years,
has shown that certain diets, particularly those rich in carbohydrates (sugars and starches), have an effect upon the system opposite to the ill-effect of noise. This will form the starting point of the new investigation, and before the year is out you may hear that if you are bothered by noise your best remedy is a chocolate bar or a gum drop.

"We have found," says Dr. Laird,
"and our findings have been verified by others, that we have to pay a price for noise in the form of impaired digestion, nervous strain and lowered working efficiency.
Much can be accomplished through elimination of the sources of noise

In the acousti chamber where tests are made for the effect of continuous, annoying noise upon muscular and nervous coordination.
(Right) Dr. Laird putting an amplifying audiometer through its paces. The audiometer is one of the laboratory's electrical noise-generating devices.

by architects, builders and engineers, but there is little possibility that harmful noises will ever be entirely eliminated, and the scientific challenge is to discover what can be done by the individual himself to lessen or offset the ill-effect noise has upon him.

"We have demonstrated the depressing or inhibitive effect of noise on the digestive functions, and that some tastes, notably a sweet taste, have a stimulating effect upon those essentials to good digestion, the flow of saliva and the secretion of gastric juices. Similarly, we have shown that noise increases nervous and physical fatigue, and that fatigue is offset by eating carbohydrates such as common cane sugar. All of these lines of investigation will be combined this year to show to what extent a wisely selected diet will offset the harmful effects of noise."

A "Miniature Factory"

A group of typical business girls and students at Colgate University will be employed as subjects for the experiments. "A 'miniature factory'—a machine which reproduces working conditions requiring dextrous repetitive operations with close coordination of eye and hand —is located in an acousti chamber, or room that can be made soundproof. Electrical noise-generating apparatus has been mounted on a portable truck for easy transportation around the laboratories. Other equipment includes apparatus for measuring stomach contractions and the flow of saliva and the gastric juices.

A possible result of the present investigation, Dr. Laird points out, is that it may contribute to a shorter working day without a corresponding decrease in production. This would rest upon a demonstration that a change in the diet involving a greater consumption of sweet foods and other carbohydrates, will offset the nervous and physical fatigue caused by noise, thus increasing efficiency and hourly output.

FARMERS WARNED OF STINKING SMUT

Pathologist Assisting County Agent in Fighting Disease.

Stinking smut of wheat so-called because of the characteristic odor following it and resembling very much that odor adhering to decayed fish, is very prevalent in Prince William County this fall. Several lots of wheat received at the mills of Manassas, Milford and Beverly Mills have been so badly infected with the 'Stinking Smut' pest as to be unfit for milling purposes. County Agent Frank Cox of Prince William County and James Godkin Extension Plant Pathologist of V. P. L., Blacksburg, Va., have been holding meetings at strategic points in the county. They have found 'Stinking Smut' of wheat present in practically all of the wheat examined in the various points of the county visited Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22. They advise that all wheat, oats and barley planted this fall be thoroughly cleaned and treated before seeding time to prevent a recurrence of possible increase of smuts in these crops with next year's grain harvesting. A trace of the 'Wheat Nematode' disease recently found in Page County, Va., was also located at the Manassas Mill. This latter pest, however, is not a serious trouble this fall in Prince William County's wheat crop, and should cause no serious concern in next year's crop.

To control 'Stinking Smut' it is advised that all wheat planted this fall be cleaned and treated with Copper Carbonate, a chemical fungicidal dust. Use this Copper Carbonate which may be purchased locally, at the rate of two ounces (two heaping tablespoons) thoroughly mixed with each bushel of grain planted. The mixing may be done in a concrete mixer, a barrel or tumbler churn or any type of home-made box or barrel mixer. A good mixer for this work may be made with a tight box of convenient size. A shaft run through the opposite corners of the box will cause an uneven revolution and will thus insure good mixing of the grain and dust.

For Oat Smuts use Ceresan in the same proportions as recommended for Copper Carbonate in the control of 'Stinking Smut.' Ceresan may also be purchased locally.

For Barley Smuts use Ceresan also in the same proportions as recommended for Copper Carbonate in the control of Stinking Smut. The same type mixer used for treating wheat may be used to treat barley and oats. Local mills of the county are now making arrangements to treat these grains at a small additional charge to growers, who for any reason may be unable to treat their own seed grain.

Caution—If either of these chemical dusts are inhaled in quantity they may cause irritation. A wet handkerchief placed over the nose and mouth during the treatment will prevent this.

For further information see County Agent Frank Cox at Manassas.

C. & P. TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS

Construction of underground conduit, manholes and cable which was temporarily rerouted during the building of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway undergrade at the south end of the highway bridge of the Potomac River involving expenditures of $2,100, was authorized by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia at its monthly meeting held in Richmond yesterday.

This project is included in an appropriation of $508,485, authorized for routine construction in every section of Virginia during the next three months of the year, which brings the total amount approved for such work in the state so far this year to $3,151,951, according to a statement made by L. E. Roland, manager of the company.

Specifications covering this project provide for constructing about 300 feet of underground conduit, one manhole, and 1,050 feet of underground cable. On the completion of the new work 670 feet of aerial cable will be removed from the plant.

This appropriation, which includes routine construction work for the fourth quarter of the year, includes the construction of underground conduit and cable, aerial cable, pole lines, the stringing of wires and the installation of switchboards and associated apparatus, telephones, and private branch exchange systems in every section of the state.

Cows on Pasture Need Grain for Best Results.

Even though the milking herd is on excellent pasture it is necessary to feed grain if the best results are to be obtained, states C. L. Blackman, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the Ohio State university.

Sometimes, he says, the amount of grain need not be as large as when the cows are in the barn, but very often the grain allowance should be the same. The most practical method of providing a grain ration for dairy cattle is to determine the kind of ration necessary and supply this to the entire milking herd.

If a certain cow has a tendency to become fat and decrease in milk production too early, he points out, it is well to add a little extra high protein feed to her ration. This tends to stimulate milk production rather than fat accumulation.

If another cow, milking heavily, has a tendency to get thin, it is well to add extra corn and oats or other high carbohydrate feeds to her ration. It is not practical to make a separate grain mixture for each cow.

When alfalfa, sweet clover, soybean hay, or pasture is fed with or without silage, Blackman believes good results may be obtained by feeding a grain mixture consisting of 800 pounds of corn or corn-and-cob meal or hominy or barley, 200 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds wheat bran, 50 pounds of cottonseed meal, and 50 pounds of linseed oil meal or soybean meal. Another good ration contains 200 pounds of corn or corn-and-cob meal or hominy or barley, 100 pounds of ground oats, 100 pounds of wheat bran, 50 pounds of gluten feed, and 50 pounds of cottonseed meal or oil meal.

Find Cod Liver Oil Not Needed in Calf Ration

Do calves actually live without vitamin D?

To answer this question, Bus Bohstedt, E. B. Hart, and I. W. Rupel, of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, have been conducting experiments with growing calves to which they fed a ration markedly deficient in vitamin D.

Experimental results published two years ago tended to show that cod liver oil when added to a normal calf ration containing clover or alfalfa hay, adds no value to the ration.

The results now indicate that vitamin D is needed in the normal growth of calves. The ration used in this trial, which is presumably free from vitamin D, consisted of yellow corn, corn gluten meal, linseed meal, wheat middlings, calcium flour or calcium carbonate, and salt, with ground wood shavings for roughage.

In June, 1929, two calves were started on this ration and two on the ration plus cod liver oil. Those receiving the cod liver oil grew to splendid condition and showed no indication of rickets.

The two receiving the ration only, after six or seven months of feeding, showed marked disturbances. The calcium content of the blood was greatly reduced. Symptoms of rickets were apparent and the investigations concluded that calves need vitamin D, but it is their opinion that the normal farm ration fed young calves probably carries a sufficient amount of vitamin D.

Dairy Notes

Some farmers consider the conveniences of silage its greatest advantage.

Grain feeding is necessary when cows are on pasture if milk yield is to go.

Young calves usually are made sick by over-feeding or feeding from utensils that are unsanitary. Since the calves nurse the cows it is quite likely that they get too much milk.

Where silage fits a definite and important place in the feeding system, as in feeding dairy cattle, or where a succulent feed is needed to supplement pasture in the summer, the use of the silo may be advisable or necessary.

When one to two weeks old the calf should be taught to eat grain and hay and should have free access to salt. Experiments have shown that corn and grain are suitable and economical supplements to skim milk.

Silage is used as a substitute for pasture in winter and as a supplement to short pastures in summer.

Clean dry quarters, clean pails, skim milk and grain in medium amount, fresh water, and a yard for exercise, make up the requirements for raising calves successfully.

Wash and scald the separator, cans and pails, and all utensils immediately after using and keep them dry while not in use. Sunshine is a cheap and effective drying agency.

Bi-Centennial Celebration at Woodbridge

LETTER OF HISTORIC INTEREST

(A letter written by Mrs. Somerville Williams to Miss Mary Lipscomb who after-ward married Thos. W. Lion). November 29, 1862.

All day yesterday I spent in looking at Jackson's army filing by on the way we suppose to Fredericksburg. They commenced on the day before and they continued in one constant stream until late today. D. H. Hill commanded the advance and A. P. Hill the rear guard. Wherever they may go may they march to victory. There is determination in their looks and bearing. They say they are competent of victory wherever they may meet the enemy. If it were not for those bugbears, my fears, inspired by the wretches, the Yankees, I believe I could feel thus competent too. Our army looked comfortably clad, though in many instances, shabby. I saw but very few without shoes and some of them had their shoes on their backs preferring to have a good pair after the march than none at all. A soldier that stayed with us three nights ago told us that it was the only very careless and reckless that were barefooted. Last night A. P. Hill's division encamped partly on Uncle Tom's and an adjoining farm. After night we went up the hill about fifty yards from the house and just in front of us about 150 yards were several acres of camp fires. Can you imagine what a beautiful sight it was? You must try, for my pen is incompetent to describe it. We were upon one high hill. Between us and the opposite hill where the soldiers were encamped is the road. The fires looked at that distance to be about one yard apart and I can compare it to nothing except the sky thickly studded with stars only a dozen times larger and brighter. There came across the hill from the band the sweet air of Annie Laurie. Do you not think it must have been sweet and beautiful and grand? As soon as I was dressed this morning I was looking and listening again. The different regiments fell into line as soon as they were ready and took up their line of march. They filed out of the woods by regiments while the band played the grand old airs "Home, Sweet Home" and "Old Hundred." They have been constantly marching for nine days, still they do not look much fatigued. Each man looks and marches as if he had an object in view.

In dedication of the marker Rev. C. A. Langston, of Pohick Church, in lower Truro Parish, offered the invocation, using the most graceful phraseology in his wording.

Mrs. Corbin Thompson, owner of the old Mason tract on which the old courthouse stood, and through whose courtesy the picnic grounds were available, then removed the folds of the United States flag while the band struck up the national anthem. It was indeed an impressive moment.

Lindsey Dawson, chairman of the county board of supervisors, stepped forward and in a few well-chosen words, accepted the marker on behalf of the county.

The afternoon session was devoted to speaking and sociability. Mr. Ellis presided, having been presented to the audience by Mr. Hawes T. Davies, of Manassas, who expressed the appreciation of the people of Prince William County of the generosity and seal manifested by Chairman Ellis in bringing the Bi-Centennial Celebration to such a happy conclusion.

In taking charge of the ceremonies Mr. Ellis paid special tribute to those who had labored so faithfully to promote the celebration, especially complimenting the beautiful and significant pageant which had been presented by Prince William school children under the direction of Miss Beatrice Clarke. He then proceeded to explain the location of the monument and alluded interestingly to his visits abroad to points of historic interest, many of great importance being unmarked. He also read some interesting paragraphs from "Landmarks of Prince William," by Fairfax Harrison.

During his trip abroad this summer Mr. Ellis visited Rippon, England, where he found an important official of that historic town bearing the name of Blackburn, the name of his ancestors who built Rippon Lodge in Prince William county. He noted that in 1886 Rippon, England, celebrated its 1000th birthday anniversary.

Upon conclusion of his interesting remarks, Mr. Ellis introduced Hon. Howard W. Smith, Congressman from the Eighth District.

Address of Judge Smith. Judge Smith recalled with expressions of deepest appreciation the many evidences of regard that he had received at the hands of the people of Prince William county, both while he was on the Bench and later as candidate for Congressman. He called attention to the fact that within a few miles of the spot where he was standing three Presidents had been born. If his address were to be summarized in a phrase, no better designation could be made than to say that he spoke on "Monuments of Principle." He pointed out how the men whom we are honoring today with monuments of granite were in their day erecting monuments of principle which have formed the foundation of all democratic governments throughout the world.

"We are in the midst of chaotic world conditions," Judge Smith continued, "and at times civilization itself seems to totter. And in our difficulty we might well pray that our statesmen might revert to the basic ideals which actuated their forefathers and cease the quick remedies which are being offered to heal the ills of the times."

In concluding he noted the fact that the monument which had just been unveiled marked the spot where law and order and Democratic government just gained a foothold in northern Virginia.

The chairman next introduced Hon. C. C. Carlin, former Congressman of this district, who easily maintained his reputation as a gifted, resourceful and entertaining speaker. Restored in health, Mr. Carlin spoke with a vim and humor reminiscent of the days when he so ably represented Prince William and adjoining counties in the National Congress.

Mr. Carlin's Address.

After paying a high compliment to Chairman Ellis, Mr. Carlin discussed the importance of historical dedications such as this as essential to the perpetuation of the ideals which were promulgated by the men who, in their days, established our great government.

"These granite markers," he observed, will eventually pass away, but the ideals of the men whose memory they honor, will last throughout the remainder of the world's long history."

Mr. Carlin paid a high tribute to wonderful work done by the women of our country and cited as an instance the preservation of Mount Vernon by the Ladies Association which has developed this great shrine of Democracy after the Federal Government and the Commonwealth of Virginia had failed to act.

He also called attention to the fact that George Washington began life a poor boy, achieving the highest measure of fame and wealth through his own courage and sagacity.

In concluding, Mr. Carlin expressed the deepest devotion for the welfare of the Old Dominion and stated that one of the happiest recollections that he would cherish throughout the remainder of his life was that of the friendship of the people of Prince William county.

Mr. Callahan Speaks.

Mr. Charles H. Callahan was next introduced. Mr. Callahan is author of a splendid book on Washington and a former Grand Master of Virginia Masons. With a great memory for dates and details he drew an interesting picture of the settlement of colonial Virginia and the establishment of Prince William and adjoining counties, noting that one of the earliest pioneers in this region was (Giles) Brent, a distinguished ancestor of the late Judge Samuel Brent of the Circuit Court of Prince William county.

Dr. Eckenrode Talks Briefly.

Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, Director of the Historical Division of the State Conservation Commission, spoke briefly on the plan which the state has successfully inaugurated of marking its historic places, choosing rather to present history on the ground than in books. He also complimented the great number of pretty girls present, a fact which seemed to be an outstanding feature of the celebration.

Benediction by Rev. Shumate.

The formal exercises closed with a benediction by Rev. A. H. Shumate, and thereafter the large gathering proceeded to enjoy a social period of wonderful length, everybody expressing sentiments of the greatest pleasure at the very successful culmination of the Prince William Bi-Centennial Celebration. Even the weatherman had co-operated, with one of the most ideal days of the season.

POULTRY FACTS

WINTER FEEDING NOW NEGLECTED

Equipment in Poultry House Often Lacking.

Quite frequently poultry owners attempt to go through the winter with insufficient feeding and watering equipment in the poultry house. Weeks of bad weather during the winter make it hard to care for the flock adequately unless attention has been given to feeding needs.

With the advent of mash feeding, flocks being fed in many instances on a mash ration alone, mash hoppers in the winter house become practically a necessity. These hoppers should be large enough to care for the mash needs of the flock for at least two weeks, to save labor by less frequent filling. A good rule to follow in judging the flock needs for a definite time is to allow for a consumption of about three pounds of mash per bird, per month. One foot of feeding space should be allowed for every ten birds in the flock. The hopper should be arranged so that the fowls cannot roost on the top.

Where scratch grain is fed, it should be fed in the litter, either in the house or in the scratch shed or room. To facilitate the feeding of this grain, a storage box in one end or corner of the house that will hold enough scratch grain for a month of winter feeding will prove to be a valuable and small investment. Boxes should also be provided and kept filled with grit and shell throughout the winter.

Any drinking fountain that can be easily cleaned is good. Automatic fountains, if they meet this requirement, are to be recommended and if a self-heating fountain is available that can be kept well cleaned, it will aid in keeping up egg production through the cold winter months. Birds should never be forced to drink ice water, even though such automatic heating equipment is not installed in the house.

Select Breeding Stock

Early in the Season

Poultry raisers who contemplate hatching their own baby chicks should have the breeding pens or flock mated at least three weeks to a month before the eggs are saved for hatching.

Success in raising the baby chick flock is in a large measure established before the baby chick is hatched. Vigor and vitality naturally come from parent stocks that are strong in these qualities, says O. C. Ufford, extension poultry specialist, Colorado Agricultural college.

"One should use only males that are vigorous, mature and well-developed. When possible, secure these males from breeders who can furnish them from high producing hens. A male from high producing stock should never be used, however, unless he has vigor and vitality."

"Hatch Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, etc., not later than April. A very good time to hatch or buy Leghorn chicks is during the latter part of March or the first week in April. Chicks hatched later than May 15 are very seldom profitable."

FURNITURE CHANGES KEEP MOHAIR IN VOGUE

SOME FACTORS IN MOHAIR'S PERMANENT POPULARITY

LONG WEARING COMFORTABLE BEAUTIFUL APPEARANCE

WEAR COMES ON ENDS OF FIBERS, AS HIGH AS 40,000 FIBERS TO THE SQ. INCH

ERECT PILE PREVENTS SLIPPING

EASY TO CLEAN

MOHAIR FIBER DUST SLIDES OFF—QUICKLY REMOVED BY VACUUM CLEANER OR BRUSH

NOTE—PROOF MOHAIR NOW CHEMICALLY TREATED TO PREVENT MOTH DAMAGE

LONGEST WEARING FABRIC IS MOHAIR

Great Durability Explains Its Perennial Popularity for Furniture Use.

STYLES may come and styles may go, in furniture as in everything else, but one kind of upholstery—moirai velvet—remains in constant popularity ever since the invention of power machinery put it within the reach of everyday folk, and not just of kings and nobles, as in previous centuries.

The demand for furniture covered with fabric made from the fleece of the angora goat has increased steadily until now the United States leads the world in angora goat raising, and consequently in the production of moirai materials.

Its great durability is undoubtedly the chief reason why moirai velvet is an upholstery perennial. Not even the beauty and luster of its soft texture would suffice to win the housewife's repeated approval if moirai velvet, or velveteen as it is often called, did not surpass all other materials in wearing quality. This is partly because the moirai itself is the longest wearing animal fiber known and partly because it is a pile fabric, with the wear coming on the ends of the fiber instead of along the sides. As high as 40,000 of these sturdy fibers are found to the square inch of moirai velvet.

Some knowledge of the physical structure and chemical composition of the moirai fiber is necessary to understand why it makes a superior upholstery fabric. Seen under a microscope, the moirai fiber is smooth and shiny, with fewer scales or serrations than on the wool fiber. This means that it does not attract dirt so quickly, that dust tends to slide off the smooth hairs and that actual dirt is easily removed with a swift brushing or with soap and water if necessary, without affecting the color.

Then, too, moirai takes a fast, acid dye, so that the effects of sun and strong light need not be feared.

Like all animal fibers, moirai is normally attractive to the pestiferous house moth, but now science has perfected a means of effectually and permanently mothproofing moirai velvet. It has been noticed that moths will actually die in preference to attacking the fabric. When one considers the tremendous amount of damage done annually by this innocent-looking little insect, it is obvious that for this feature alone moirai recommends itself as the ideal fabric for fine furniture.

But though moirai velvet remains popular season after season, its colors, patterns, and weaves change with the current fashion. Beautiful solid colors, or two-tone weaves, period designs, modernistic effects or conventional patterns may all be had in moirai velvet. Sometimes the pile is cut to form the pattern, the remaining pile being stamped with a floral or other design. In other places, the pattern is formed by cutting certain of the loops and the fabric is then called frieze. If the uncut portion predominates, it is called frieze. Then again, the material may be hand-blocked in striking designs or woven on a jacquard loom with various colored moirai yarns.

Then, too, moirai velvet has been found to be virtually fadeless, unchanging after years of constant exposure to the sun and elements. This is because of the unusual construction of the moirai fiber, which is tubular and very attractive to acid dye. The unusual long service which moirai velvet gives is due to the fact that being a pile fabric, the wear comes on the ends of the fibers and not along the sides. It does not really hold dust, because the surface of the fibers, unlike those of wool, are smooth and glossy. Actual soil is easily removed with soap and water.

4-H CLUB NOTES

Hayfield 4-H Club will meet Tuesday, October 6, at 9:30 o'clock, at the school building.

Bennett 4-H Club will meet Tuesday, October 6, at 2:30 o'clock, in Miss Pollen's school room, Bennett School. Girls of Bennett group are requested to have on hand materials for dresses and sewing equipment.

Bethel 4-H Club will meet Thursday, October 8, at 10:00, at the school building.

Ocoquan 4-H Club will meet Thursday, October 8, at 11:45, in the auditorium of the school building.

Dumfries 4-H Club will meet Thursday, October 8, at 2:30 o'clock, in the club room at the school building.

Haymarket 4-H Club will meet Wednesday, October 7, at 11:30 o'clock, in the library of the school. Girls must have Record Books at these meetings.
