DISMEMBERMENT BILL IS INTRODUCED

Plan to Destroy Eighth District is Perfected.

BYRD MAY TAKE A HAND

The Dismemberment Bill was introduced by Senator Early of the Seventh District on Wednesday and referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Delegates Weaver and Cather, also of the Seventh District, are patrons of the measure in the House.

The features of the bill are identical with those predicted in these columns last week, with the addition of final disposal of Louisa county, which under Senator Early's measure is placed in the Tenth.

The remainder of the Eighth, under this proposal, will be divided between the Seventh and the First as follows: First District (Newport News): Arlington, Alexandria, Fairfax, Prince William, Stafford and King George.

Seventh District (Valley of Virginia): Fauquier, Loudoun, Culpeper and Orange.

Many Measures to Follow.

The Early Bill is the opening gun. All proposals have been waiting introduction of the Dismemberment Bill, and many compromise and substitute measures will rapidly follow to be referred to the Committee which will hold sessions at regular intervals and receive delegations.

Out of the ensuing turmoil, it is hoped that some compromise measure may be reported, but the outlook for the Historic Eighth is not very bright, when it is recognized that the other nine districts may complacently view the sacrifice of one. The most outstanding hope lies in the fact that former Governor Harry Byrd may enter the picture.

Hope in Harry Byrd.

The possible entrance of former Governor Byrd into the situation and his presence in Richmond this week is variously interpreted. Some firmly believe that since the Dismemberment Measure is sponsored by the Senator and Delegates from his District, that he will throw his great influence toward enlargement of his district at the cost of annihilation of the Eighth. "The whole proposition," said one prominent politician of northern Virginia, "emanates from Governor Byrd himself." This is firmly believed by many, but those who stand closer to the Governor stoutly maintain that much encouragement can be gleaned from the fact that Harry Byrd may take a hand. They point out that the viewpoint of the former Governor is much larger than a congressional district.

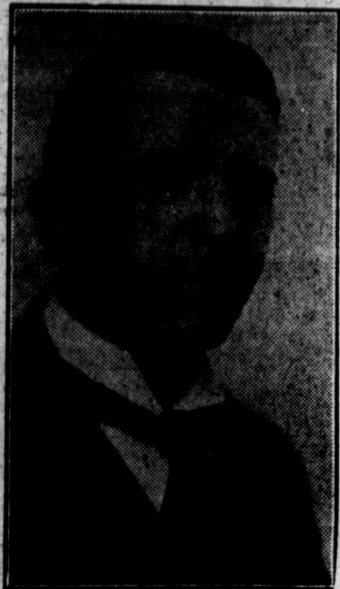

The Eighth District gave him handsome support in his gubernatorial campaign and his campaigns to reorganize the State government. He is Vice-Chairman of the National Democratic Committee and an outstanding Presidential possibility. Only recently the Virginia legislature unanimously endorsed him for the Presidential nomination, an endorsement which means more than that received by any other national figure. That he should have a limited vision of the situation, seems to the friends of Mr. Byrd, as impossible.

In a Dilemma.

A "dilemma" has been characterized as a situation where it becomes necessary to choose between evils, neither of which is satisfactory. The redistricting problem is of this type. No plan can be satisfactory to everybody. The present arrangement is a happy one, but, forced by the legislation resulting from the Hoover landslide, the change must be made. Virginia must lose a vote in the national congress. One congressional district must be eliminated and the operation cannot be performed under an anesthetic. Pain is bound to ensue, but the doctors should see that the suffering is as widely diffused as possible and that no unified economic area of the State is denied practical representation in Congress.

Eighth Deserves Representation.

Of all of the Congressional Districts of Virginia, the present Eighth is one of the most unified. Its problems are self-centered, and most of them arise from the location next to the national capital. No area in Virginia would suffer more by remote representation in Congress than the counties lying near the District of Columbia. To deny this unified area direct representation in Congress would be a piece of political maneuvering which would never be forgotten nor forgiven, and those responsible for the perpetration of this injustice would

JURIES SELECTED FOR FEBRUARY

The jury commissioners this week

drew the following juries:

Grand: H. W. Herring, C. R. Earhart, R. M. Sowers, Robt. Weir, Jr., W. M. Foley, W. L. Sanders, H. A. Tyrrell, R. T. Moncure, L. W. Huff.

Criminal: E. W. Thompson, E. M. Briggs, D. C. Alexander, C. E. Fisher, J. B. Coverstone, J. B. Florence, W. C. Latham, A. A. Hooff, A. S. Boatwright, M. G. White, L. C. Bawner, H. S. Herrell, W. V. Davis, L. J. McIntosh, R. C. Linton, M. D. Herndon, J. M. Russell, D. W. Posey, C. P. Ennis, E. L. Herring, O. V. Kline, W. H. Rollins, W. S. Lynn, J. A. Riley.

Civil: T. J. Broadus, L. G. Tolson, J. J. Mayhugh, Howard Haislip, J. B. Reid, W. L. Coverstone, D. B. Hoffman, R. H. Smith, W. C. Hixson, H. Ewing Wall, of Quantico, qualified as notary on January 13.

LOCAL DELEGATES SECURE GOOD ASSIGNMENTS

Edmund Allen, of Newington, and George Herring, of Woodbridge, have both secured good assignments. By getting on roads committee, Allen should be able to do much for his community. His other assignments are moral and social welfare, officers and offices at the Capitol, and executive expenditures.

Mr. Herring is on two important committees, namely, counties, cities and towns and the committee on the Chesapeake and its tributaries. His other assignments are the claims committee and executive expenditures.

Greenwich Home Demonstration Group will meet Thursday, January 28, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. N. H. Middlethorn.

go down in history as unpatriotic to the Old Dominion and as placing personal ambitions ahead of public welfare.

Redistricting for the Future.

The history of redistricting shows conclusively that such action stands for a long time. Except as forced by Congressional legislation, no state voluntarily initiates re-districting proposals. The problem is too delicate for experimentation. Some states, when forced into the matter, have been unable to solve the problem at all and have been forced to elect Congressmen at large, without consideration of Congressional Districts. The result of such a situation precipitates a political battle of disastrous fierceness and places all representation in the centers of population. Consequently the Virginia legislature will not permit this to happen. Some kind of a measure will be adopted and it will be borne in mind that the new arrangement will stand in effect long after all of the present personalities have passed from the political arena.

Tuesdays and Fridays.

Committee hearings will be held on the Redistricting Measure every Tuesday and Friday until the legislation is passed and all interested should see that they have their say before the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Otherwise they should hold their peace, if the battle, fought valiantly by their more patriotic neighbors, should be lost.

BILL FOR ANNIHILATION

The situation regarding the dismemberment of the Eighth District continues acute. Political ambition in some districts seems to outweigh justice, business consideration and even good judgment. We sincerely hope that the persistent rumor that ex-Governor Byrd is to take a hand will prove true. No man has a keener sense of justice and gratitude and no man has more loyal friends in the Eighth District than Mr. Byrd.

The bill to dismember the Eighth District, as introduced by the Senator and two Delegates from the Seventh, is too far-fetched and narrow in its conception for conscientious men to seriously consider. Such a plan, which has gerrymandering written all over its face, would react strongly to the detriment of the Democratic party in an area where the opposing party has greatly increased in strength in the past ten years. The reaction on business would also be keenly depressing in many cases.

There is nothing in the annals of the Virginia Assembly which bears any resemblance to such an atrocious proposal and we do not believe that the present assembly will so markedly depart from the beaten paths of good judgment and common sense.

Whatever the outcome may be, Howard Worth Smith, the representative from this District, will stand before the people of Virginia as a clean, courageous and loyal friend of the people of his District who are behind him solidly.

Apparently with the odds stacked against him, he is standing by his guns and fighting for his constituency as other Virginians have done in the past who are now acclaimed national heroes.

And if there are those who are attempting to eliminate Howard Smith from the Virginia political area they are taking the surest way to indelibly stamp him on the pages of Virginia's political history as a man whom Virginians shall delight to honor. Manhood is not dead in Virginia and chivalry still lives.

CORN SHOW HELD IN NEW QUARTERS

Farmers Join in Kiwanis Banquet.

The Prince William County Corn and Grain Show was held Friday in the show room of the Manassas Motor Co. with exhibitors and visitors joining in the declaration that it was the best exhibition of this character ever sponsored by the agricultural interests of the county. The exhibits of corn, small grain and seed, sixty-two in number, were of unusually good quality.

Prize winners in the various classes were as follows: Utility, ten ears corn, any variety, to be tested for germination and disease, John W. Ellis, Greenwich, first; Clover Hill Farm, of Johnson Brothers, second; John House, Greenwich, third. Regular show corn, ten ears, white, John Barrett, Manassas, first; Mahlon Seese, Nokesville, second and third. Yellow corn, J. W. Ellis, first; Harley & Kline, Manassas district, second and Will T. Thomasson, Manassas, third. Shelling class, ten ears corn shelling highest percentage of grain to cob, Clover Hill Farm, 89.65 per cent, first; Francis M. Lewis, 87.5, second; William H. Hayden, 87 per cent, third, and J. W. Ellis, 86.2 per cent, fourth. Ensilage corn, Clover Hill Farm, first; Sam C. Harley, second; Charles C. Lynn, third. Bloody Butcher corn, Luther J. Bowman, first. Barley, P. A. Lewis. Orchard grass, W. Holmes Robertson, first. Wheat, Francis Lewis, first; Ed. L. Herring, second.

Corn judgment contest for 4-H Club boys and First Farmers of Virginia, brought out 46 entries from the vocational agriculture departments of the Manassas high school and the Brentsville District high school. The judging was of so high a caliber that ties developed for each of the three prizes. Winners of the first prize were James Randall, Nokesville, and Wilson Kite, Manassas; second prize, Wilson Brown, Manassas, and John Hively, Nokesville; third prize, John Waters, Manassas, and Ivan May, Nokesville.

Featuring the day's program was the dinner at the Prince William Hotel, under auspices of the Kiwanis Club and the County Agricultural Committee.

Dr. L. H. Bean of the Bureau of Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, discussed the problems of the farmer showing the fluctuations of prices of agricultural and other products in the past attempted to show what might be expected in the future should the same trend as followed past periods of inflation and depression hold true. Following Dr. Bean, W. H. Daugherty of Blacksburg, who judged the exhibits at the show, discussed the importance of using good seed.

A. A. Hooff, president of Kiwanis, presided at the dinner while the visiting speakers were introduced by Wheatly Johnson.

An account of the beautiful and inspiring exercises held in the school auditorium on the 19th in honor of Lee and Jackson will be published next week.

ATTEND KIWANIS CONVENTION

President A. A. Hooff, Secretary J. E. Bradford, Ex. Gov. R. A. Hutchison and Trustee "Doc" Johnson journeyed to Charlottesville on Monday to attend the mid-winter conference of the Kiwanis Clubs.

An excellent program is reported.

PROHIBITION CELEBRATION

12th Anniversary of Prohibition

A victory program celebrating the twelfth anniversary of National Prohibition was given in the Seminary chapel on Sunday night, Jan. 17, by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Nokesville. Rev. Graybill and Rev. Mark participated in the devotional part of the program.

Mrs. E. C. Spittler, who had charge of the meeting, gave ten potent "Reasons Why I Do Not Drink." Several songs appropriate to the occasion were sung by the local union and several by the children of the L. T. L.

Our president, Mrs. Mark, gave items of interest from the convention held in Washington early in December. A few of the items are as follows:

The Youth's Roll Call presented to President Hoover during this conference contained 1,470,482 names instead of the 1,000,000 names asked for.

59,883 new members have been added to the W. C. T. U. during the past year.

778 new unions have been made during the year.

12,000,000 women are standing back of Prohibition.

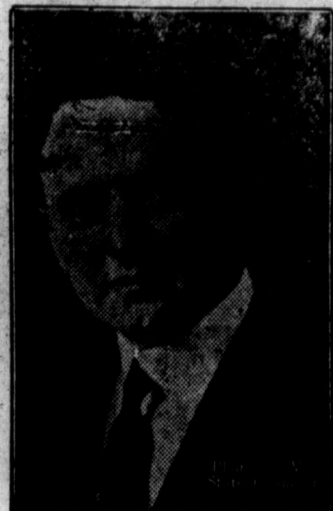

The object of these regional conferences is to promote law observance, to study problems of law enforcement and to promote prohibition sentiment. Twenty-five of them are held during the winter.

Rev. J. M. Bell of Manassas gave a very instructive talk. He stressed the fact that the battle is not over, but we forget that "eternal vigilance is the price of safety." The impression he felt was that nothing else will do but total abstinence—the only safe plan is "touch not, taste not, handle not."

Miss Hazel Cornwell gave a touching recitation entitled "G'd Feel What I Have Felt."

The duet rendered by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bell of Manassas entitled "The Outlaw," contained thought enough for a sermon in itself.

Rev. G. W. Beahm very efficiently discussed The Merits of the Eighteenth Amendment. He said that there is no document we value more than the Constitution of the U. S. but we forget that the Eighteenth Amendment is a legal child of that Constitution. It represents a high ideal of the principles of citizenship and not believe in Temperance. We cannot believe in Temperance and not stand for the Eighteenth Amendment. Its enemies are not the Christian people. He further said that the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would be one of the greatest blots on American civilization.

DISCUSSION OF "DEAD OR ALIVE" REWARD FOR ROBBERS

P. G. Marsteller, cashier, Fauquier National Bank of Warrenton, was elected chairman of group 3, Virginia Bankers Association, at the twenty-third annual meeting in session last Tuesday in Leesburg. W. H. Byrd, cashier, First National Bank, Harrisonburg, was elected vice-chairman, and P. W. Anderson, cashier, Marshall National Bank & Trust Co. of Marshall, Va., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Those named on the advisory committee are L. H. Dudley, vice-president, Alexandria National Bank, Alexandria; C. C. Louderback, cashier, Farmers & Merchants Bank, Stanley; H. C. Cooley, cashier, Round Hill National Bank of Round Hill; Wyatt Timberlake, cashier, Augusta National Bank, Staunton; W. E. Boyer, cashier, National Bank of Woodstock.

L. W. H. Patten, president, Farmers & Merchants Bank of Staunton, was named to represent group 3 as a member of the executive committee of the Virginia Bankers Association. The meeting went on record as opposing the placing of stamps on checks as a means of raising revenue for the Government. Letters were authorized to be written to members of Congress notifying them of the resolution.

They also resolved that the Virginia Bankers Association be notified that the group approved the increase of a reward offered for the capture of a bank bandit.

On the proposition of increasing the reward offered for bank robbers when taken dead, there was considerable discussion, many favoring drastic action.

Other matters favored by the group was a charge of 50 cents per month on accounts with an average balance of less than $50. A charge on checks returned because of insufficient funds and charges for notes past due.

Harry P. Davis, cashier, National Bank of Manassas, and past chairman of group 3, conducted the meeting. Mayor Charles F. Harrison of Leesburg welcomed the guests. The principal speaker was Duncan Clark Hyde, associate professor of economics, University of Virginia, who spoke on the balance wheel of depression.

The meeting was followed by a banquet at which Dan S. Hollenga, member of Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. E. E. Garrett, president of the Loudoun National Bank, was toastmaster. The 1933 meeting will be held at Berryville.

The address of Mayor Davis appears on page 8.

The L. T. L. gave an excellent playlet called "Our Nation's Builders."

It is with great pleasure and anticipation that we announce the coming of Miss Wiggins, a W. C. T. U. speaker of note. She will speak in the Seminary chapel Thursday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m., at the high school from 11:30 till 12 a.m. on Friday and also in the evening. Everyone is invited. Those who miss hearing her will miss something really worth while.

ENDORSES BYRD FOR PRESIDENT

Virginia Assembly Passes Unanimous Resolution.

FORMER GOVERNOR EX- PRESSES APPRECIATION

Last Thursday, the Virginia General Assembly unanimously adopted resolutions endorsing former Governor Harry F. Byrd for the Presidency. The endorsement was in the form of a joint resolution introduced in the Senate by T. Russell Cather, of Winchester, and in the House of Delegates, by Wilbur C. Hall, of Leesburg. Senator Cecil Connor, of Leesburg, said of the resolution:

"It would be cheering to the plain masses, irrespective of politics; it would be timely and politically appropriate since the consensus of the country is that what is needed is leadership. While both parties at present are sadly lacking in efficient progressive and vigorous leadership, Byrd has a genius for leadership, is simple in taste, democratic in manner, possesses a magnetic personality and is firm and resolute in action."

"In point of brains, character, patriotism and accomplishment, Byrd is the peer of other governors mentioned for the presidency and in addition would be free from factional dispute."

Governor Byrd sent the following reply to the General Assembly:

"I appreciate deeply the honor the General Assembly of Virginia has paid me in the resolution adopted. When the time comes for the rank and file of Virginia's Democracy to choose a candidate to present to the national convention, my personal hope is that no endorsement will be made merely to compliment a son of Virginia or to avoid a decision as between leading candidates, but that we will be guided solely by our anxiety to adopt the course thought best for our party and the nation."

"For myself, the only privilege I ask is to labor in the ranks to restore our country to democratic principles, which today offer the main hope for world recovery."

WOMAN'S PART IN DEPRESSION

What are the women of America—and the girls and boys—doing to help out in the present business crisis? Mrs. Herbert Hoover asks the question in an article entitled "Woman's Part in This Era of Readjustment," which will appear in the magazine of

The Washington Star next Sunday, and suggests being cheery and hopeful, providing odd jobs about the house for the unemployed and buying essential things that can now be had so cheaply, as a few of the important things everyone can do to tide over the current period of depression.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST

The Word of God

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY.—God is our God forever and ever; he will be our guide even unto death.—Psalm 48:14.A WORD OF COMFORT

Make an experiment for several days in succession and discover for yourself that there is a simple technique for overcoming mental and spiritual depression and physical exhaustion as well.

Plan your day so that you know in general the sequence of your duties. Then sit down and keep absolutely still for fifteen minutes, with your eyes closed.

In the quiet repeat, "My peace give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled. Lo, I am with you always. My grace is sufficient for you."

The sense of God's abiding nearness and the guidance and strength which He bestows will grow and grow until it is the great sustaining reality of your life.

SPEAKER TO BE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Miss Lenadell Wiggins will speak at the Presbyterian Church Thursday, Jan. 28, at 3 p.m. Miss Wiggins, with her attractive personality and her ability to meet the public, is equally at home with groups of all ages, from children to adults. Her education background includes a course at Wyoming Seminary and State Teachers College. She has had training in dramatic art and music and for years was before the public as a successful reader and entertainer.

Miss Wiggins speaks in schools, churches, institutes and to young people and has the ability to adapt herself to any situation. She is especially pleasing to young folk. There are thousands of fine patriotic young people all over our great nation who have open minds and want to hear the truth, who love and uphold the constitution, no matter how many would have us believe the contrary. We know there must be some of these fine young people in our school here who would like to hear Miss Wiggins.

Unfortunately her coming is during examinations at school so she could not get an appointment to talk to the school but all young people are asked to stop at the Presbyterian church on way home from school and Miss Wiggins will be glad to talk to them. She can give a message to the older people from three until the young people arrive so all both young and old can enjoy her being with us.

DEFEATS R. M. A.

The Manassas high defeated Randolph-Macon Military squad at Front Royal the evening of the 19th. Score, 26-23. Gilroy was high man with six points, the scoring being pretty evenly divided among the different members of the squad.

An overhead shot made by Gilroy after turning in midair was one of the best plays of the evening.

Coach Pullen is much elated over the victory as it is the first time the local team has brought home the bacon for five years. Wilson Kite is captain of the 1932 team, which has so far won a majority of its games.

The regular county tournament will start on the 30th.

JAMES DUNN WANTS TO KNOW WHAT SHOUTING IS ALL ABOUT

When the tidal wave of acclaim that hailed his superlative performance in "Bad Girl" began to roll back into Hollywood, the most astonished person in that cinema community was James Dunn.

At the Fox Studios where he was daily going through his paces in the leading male role of "Sob Sister," which will show at the Dixie Theatre next Wednesday, Dunn was holding a regular, though entirely involuntary court. Film moguls and eminent directors seized the hand of the amazed young celebrity, and crushed his fingers with enthusiasm while they assured him that he was the supreme actor of the generation. He answered politely but looked skeptical. Lovely ladies of the screen's aristocracy explained how perfectly gorgeous they thought he had been. James loves to talk to lovely ladies, but it was evident that he didn't believe a word they said.

As he expresses his viewpoint "What's all the broadcasting about? They gave me a role and I played it. 'Eddie' is a type; I know the type and I put it into acting terms. It was just a job of acting that happened to turn out right."

And, though he doesn't know it, that attitude is just the secret of Dunn's success, and what brought the critics up shouting: his naturalness.

In "Sob Sister" he plays the part of a New York newspaper man on a conservative sheet, who falls in love with a girl reporter writing for a rabid tabloid, played by Linda Watkins. The plot takes them through a series of misunderstandings and breathless adventures to a smashing climax.

Miss Watkins makes her screen debut in "Sob Sister" after several brilliant seasons on Broadway. Critics who have seen the film are lavish in their praise of this beautiful young star.

NOKESVILLE

The Nokesville Home Demonstration Group met at the home of Mrs. J. F. Hale during the last week. About thirty people were present. The Group decided to serve a banquet to the Future Farmers of Virginia in the High School Auditorium Tuesday night, January 19. Miss Pitts gave an interesting survey of economic conditions in Virginia.

The W. C. T. U. gave a program in the Seminary Sunday night, to celebrate the twelfth anniversary of the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment. A number of temperance readings and recitations were given. The highlights of the program were the talks by Mr. Bell of Manassas and Mr. Beahm of this place. Mr. Bell warned Prohibitionists against resting on their oars and feeling secure in the victory they have won.

Mr. Beahm spoke on the merits of the amendment and especially on the benefit that it is to the coming generation.

We are saddened by the death of Mr. Joe Laws, an ex-resident of this community. Mr. Laws, who has been living in Maryland for the past few years, died from the results of an operation, performed some time ago. The deceased had many friends in this vicinity. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

If you know any Nokesville news, please phone, mail, or tell it to Randall Foster at Nokesville. Probably, we can all make this letter worthwhile reading.

Wouldn't it be too bad if old Winter should reach back and pinch the heads off these daring Easter lilies?

NOTED MOVIE VAMP IN "YELLOW TICKET"

Rita LaRoy, noted screen vamp, and a direct descendant of Mary, Queen of Scots, is a member of the brilliant cast that enacts Raoul Walsh's latest Fox production, "The Yellow Ticket," at the Dixie Theatre next Thursday and Friday, with Elissa Landi and Lionel Barrymore in the leading roles.

After a short but successful career on the stage, Miss LaRoy made her screen debut in "Dynamite," after which she played in "Sin Takes A Holiday," "Traveling Husbands," "Midnight Mystery" and "The Holy Terror," specializing in vampire roles.

In "The Yellow Ticket," she portrays the part of a shameless woman, who is instrumental in obtaining for Miss Landi, a yellow ticket, the Czar's badge of dishonor. Possessed of that ticket, Miss Landi becomes a social outcast, and a pitiful victim of persecution by the Russian secret police and its relentless head, Baron Andrey, the part impersonated by Mr. Barrymore. The tragic events that follow and its surprising denouement, makes "The Yellow Ticket" one of the most dramatic pictures of the year, according to Hollywood reports, which have acclaimed it as one of Raoul Walsh's greatest.

The remainder of the cast is made up of Laurence Olivier, newcomer to the screen, in the other featured role, Walter Byron, Sarah Padden, Mischa Auer, Arnold Korff and Boris Karloff. It is the screen version of Michael Morton's internationally famous play of the same name.

Miss Landi was born in Venice, Italy, on December 6, the granddaughter of the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria and daughter of the Countess

Zanardi Landi. She was educated in England by private tutors and made her first stage appearance with an English repertory company. It was not long before she became the sensation of Europe, and upon coming to this company repeated her triumphs in the Broadway production, "A Farewell To Arms." Her first American picture was "Body and Soul," after which she made "Always Goodbye" and "Wicked."

TWIN CITY GOSSIP

(OCCOQUAN AND WOODBRIDGE)

Manly Southworth says, "Please tell the pop-eyed world that Peaches Browning is not a 'Peach' by any means . . ." Manly made a trip to Washington to feast his love sick eyes on the much-heralded 'Peaches'—Peaches was a late trotting out on the stage—Manly's train was due—stage director announced "Peaches coming" Manly couldn't resist the temptation to remain . . . Peaches came out all a flutter—but, alas! Peaches failed to flutter into the heart of our Bachelor Manly . . . The next morning Mrs. Dawson said that Manly was Cross, Sour and Sore . . . An investigation brings to light why Manly was CROSS . . . It cost the poor boy seventy-five cents extra to get home . . . Manly advises that "Peaches" was not worth the three quarters of a dollar extra . . . I don't see for my life why Manly wants to leave Twin City to see a 'Peach' or 'Peaches' . . .

Jahey Clarke is building a flue . . . This flue is to be built of brick, and the exact spot is 'twix the house and kitchen . . . Mrs. Clarke, with her daughter-in-law (Mrs. Roscoe Clarke) and little Billy and Mrs. Roscoe Clarke's sister are visiting neighbors in Twin City while the flue is being built . . .

Chief Justice Thomas Sheppard has bought himself a charried white oak keg, three gallon capacity . . . Tou Pee Davis, who sold him the keg, gave the Chief Justice a box to put keg in so the outfit would resemble a case of tomatoes . . . I understand the Chief Justice is going to send Mahatma Gandhi a keg of goat's milk . . .

Jimmy Dowell, who claims to be "Past Grand Master of the Great Unknown Haunted Realm," perorates that he dug from the bowles of an ancient graveyard one of the 'biggest black 'possums' he, of the ebony skin, has ever seen . . . Jimmy is saving the left hind foot for Brother Kidwell . . . Bro. Davis aspires that if this black 'possum foot, left side, south end, touches a deck of cards luck will follow . . . Bill Burdette, orates, that such a foot as herein described, hung around the neck with a twisted hair string made from the hairs of a coon footed white horse with moon eyes, will not only give good luck to the wearer, but will keep him away . . .

Peter Custer Wigglesworth says, that he has a "frozen fish eye" that was given to him by the Hon. Charlie Carlin, when he (Carlin) made his first dash for CONGRESS . . . Brother Wigglesworth desires that The Journal readers write him their opinion or advice as to sending this fish eye to Al Smith . . . Peter Custer believes that with his "Frozen Fish Eye" Al can win in 1932 . . . What do the readers say?—

Will Rogers says that he kinder feels at home with the Japs and Chinks: Reminds him very much of the dear old U. S. A.; two or three Jap and Chinks get together and there's a fight—at home two or three democrats and Smithites get together and there's a fight . . .

Banker Brunt was over to see me the other day, the mercury was standing on 78 and still going up and up, brother Brunt was wearing arctic, fur lined gloves, heavy sweater, vest, sack coat and genuine Perry fur lined great coat . . . I understand that his clothes weigh in the neighborhood of 27 pounds more than he does . . .

I notice by the papers that the Board of Supervisors of our sister county, Stafford, cut salaries right and left . . . The COURT HOUSE JANITOR was the first important official to feel the pruning knife . . . "Pat" that's his name, was drawing the healthy sum of $12.50 per month, for duties required, such as massaging the court house proper and manuring the adjacent grounds . . . Two dollars and fifty cents was lopped off per month . . . I understand several of the members of the Board were in favor of taxing "PAT" for the privilege of janitoring around this sleepy spot . . . Two fifty saved each and every month, and the Board began to swell with the pride of retrenchment . . . Then looked for another victim . . . Presto! the jailer was drawing a handsome salary . . . One hundred and eighty dollars per year . . . "Too much" cried the Board members . . . And one financial genius of the Board suggested a $5.00 per month cut . . . Sixty dollars more per year saved . . . A combined and grand and complete total of $7.50 saved each and every month . . . What is Stafford going to do with her surplus? . . .

I notice several changes were made by the Prince William Board . . . Ten Per Cent Cuts were suggested. The Personnel of the Board had a shift . . . Why in the name of common sense didn't the whole bunch follow Stafford's lead???? Out the Jailer and Court House Janitor and save money . . . But, let us hope that both counties will keep their Health Departments and endeavor to increase its efficiency . . .

Associate Justice Tyrrell has been resting in bed for the past week, reports come in that the Justice is improving . . . That's good . . .

Mrs. T. Powell Davis is resting easy on her Simond Mattresses, account of an attack of appendicitis. Mrs. Davis is being attended by Dr. Caton . . . The Doc. thinks she will be out ere GROUND HOG DAY . . .

If you are born in Virginia and then leave when you are old enough to know what is what, the stars say, "Fame is yours."

Woodrow Wilson, if he had remained in Virginia, would have been known as "Woody" and lived the simple annals of the poor . . .

J. Hamilton Lewis, our U. S. Senator from Illinois, if he had remained in Danville, Va., where he was born, would be "POOR OLD HAM LEWIS" to all the Danvilleites, and probably would be a cigar clerk or manager of a small hotel . . .

Gov. Albert Ritchie of the Free State of Maryland, if he had remained in Richmond, Va., would be known as Mr. Al. and would probably be selling bonds or life insurance . . .

George Herring dropped his role of Virginia Legislator and drove home as plain old Geo. to be with his family for the week end . . . He came in to shake hands, and incidentally to allow me to feast mine eyes on a real law maker . . . Gave a fine report of the legislative doings up to date . . . Said that he was working peacefully with old man Edmund Herr Allen, and the two were making away with three square meals and a gallon of butter milk every twenty-hours . . . Geo. and Ed. Herr are with the rest of us when it comes to saving the 8th District . . . Personally, I live and vote in the 1st, but my heart is in the 8th . . . The people in the 8th District have more than a handful of reason to preserve her boundry and take unto herself enough territory to keep her lines intact . . . Northern Virginia, spread beneath the shadows of out National Capital, is destined to become, in a few years, one of Virginia's most thickly populated sections . . . If we are thrown in the first, I hardly think it will be by the rule of common sense . . . Now is the time to take a decisive stand, and if the 8th goes down let her people go down fighting. And in the words of St. Paul: "I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith . . ."

CATHARPIN

Mrs. P. S. Buckley and daughter, Ruth, visited Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lawler of Bell Alton, Md., on Thursday.

Miss Catharine Pattie and Mr. George Cook of Washington spent the week end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Pattie.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conrad of The Plains were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ellison.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. McDonald were dinner guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson of Dunroven on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Irene Smith Towers and daughter, Patricia, of Washington, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, last week.

Mr. Joseph Swift of Clarendon who is well known in this neighborhood was operated upon for appendicitis at the Army and Navy Hospital last week and it is now hoped he may rapidly recover from his long protracted illness. Mrs. Swift, nee Miss Carrie Fetzner, is a native of and well known in the Catharpin neighborhood and her many friends have been greatly concerned in the outcome of her husband's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brower and family of Price, Md., passed through on their way to Florida and were joined by Dr. Brower who accompanied them as far as Lynchburg where he left the caravan and proceeded to Roanoke to join Mrs. Brower for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Hollman Willis.

The Corn Show held in the show rooms of the Manassas Motor Co. last Friday attracted a number of visitors from this section and a few of them enjoyed the dinner with the Kiwanis Club at the Prince William Hotel, invitations to which had previously been extended showing the interest Kiwanis has always taken in all useful activities of the county. The corn show was declared the best of its kind yet exhibited. The principal speaker, a representative from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, gave an address which was well worth anyone's time to hear. Also a representative from Blacksburg addressed the meeting on the importance of good seed. These meetings should be largely attended by the farmers of the county. It was worth far more than the small amount involved in the "dutch" just to sit with Kiwanis and hear the songs and participate in the enthusiasm thus engendered. Al presided. No, no — not "him." "Side-walks" was sung, but it was our own Al, Al Hooff.

HON. HARRY DAVIS SPEAKS AT LEESBURG

Addresses Group Meeting of Virginia Bankers Association at Leesburg.

PRESENTS PLAIN FACTS ON DEPRESSION AND POINTS TO WAYS OF RECOVERY

Speaking before the twenty-third annual meeting of Group III of the Virginia Bankers Association at Leesburg on Tuesday, Mayor Harry P. Davis of Manassas, chairman of Group III, welcomed delegates and visitors on behalf of the officers and advisory committee of the association, and discussed the financial situation in a striking manner, bringing forth much applause from his audience. Some very plain speaking was done and some facts handed straight from the shoulder which were of much interest to the general public.

"You cannot blow up a bubble of the size of that of 1929," Mr. Davis said, "and expect its bursting to have any other effect than the disruption of business and the resultant depression through which we have been passing."

"Ninety per cent of our business operations are conducted on credit, and credit is nothing less than confidence. Our modern trade mechanism is based on credit and confidence is a delicate structure. It is a watch accurately adjusted to split seconds."

Mayor Davis called attention to the need of greater faith in men and stressed the important responsibilities resting upon the banking institutions to help re-establish confidence.

"If the financial structure of the Nation is to remain sound, banks must preserve their strength and one means of doing this is to earn a reasonable profit," Mr. Davis continued, and warned against a practice of some banks of making the real service which is valued by their patrons free, while they sought to pay interest rates higher than they could secure by conservative investment of the depositors' funds.

"It has been amply demonstrated that it is not a difficult task to convince depositors that justifiable service charges and the reduction of interest rates on deposits is both sound and wise from whatever angle it may be considered, for after all people are primarily interested in safety of funds and not altogether interest rates, and they will feel a greater security and have increased pride in dealing with an institution which they realize is being conducted on a business-like and profitable basis."

Mayor Davis struck a responsive cord in his audience when he deplored the sensational journalism of the newspapers as having a pernicious effect upon healthy home and community life. In a striking manner he called attention to how much that was fine and normal was taking place in the world, yet according to the pages of the average metropolitan newspaper, nothing but crime, scandal and sordid circumstances were occurring, and the reader was not placed by such reading, in a healthy mental attitude toward the finer things of life.

In conclusion, Mayor Davis made the following statement which was most impressive and encouraging:

"The forces of nature are all here, just as favorable to our prosperity as they ever were. To those who feel blue, take stock of our country, look back over its wonderful record, and then in a cool, calm, rational manner, proceed in an orderly way with your business, and when we all do that, prosperity will be here."
