

TEACHERS HEAR DOCTOR HALL

State Superintendent Pays Initial Visit to County.

The school officials and the faculty of Prince William county were greatly honored yesterday when Dr. Sydney Hall, state superintendent of education, addressed the group at the annual teachers' institute which was conducted at the high school.

The meeting is said to have been the most successful ever held. With but one exception where illness intervened, every teacher was on hand. The spirit was good and close attention was paid to every detail during the day.

One of the things that Dr. Hall introduced late last year was an applied research plan covering several years by which a new curriculum might be worked out which would be sufficiently general in nature to fit any portion of the state. Centers of group instruction and discussion have been located, Fredericksburg being the point for this area. Here the teachers will meet at stated intervals, and having already carried the plan into the county, the more general group will discuss and bring the plan to a higher plane. These plans will be tried out during the next school year, and then a final plan adopted. As it is now changing conditions have been ignored along this important line during recent years. Three years ago, Prince William stepped out of line and adopted a unit plan of study which has worked so successfully that the county is considered something of a model over the state.

All phases of the year's work were carefully gone over from lesson plans to the care of chalk. In the afternoon, the institute subdivided and Professor Haydon took over the high school group while Miss Clark, rural supervisor, took the graded section. All objectives of any interest whatever were thoroughly dealt with.

Beginning today, school sale has opened up through the teachers who will order the books from Mr. Haydon. Old books are being accepted in part exchange where they have any practicable value. After next week, it will be necessary for patrons to come all the way to the court house to secure books. This is the first year that the school board, through its clerk, has undertaken the direct sale of books.

SWAVELY SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

For some days preparations have been in progress for return of the students, who come from various sections of the country. The enrollment also includes young men from Manassas and nearby Virginia.

The opening of the school is always an event of importance to Prince William county and everyone is hoping that the enrollment will exceed expectations.

Dr. Eli Swavely, president of the school, is an authority on the instruction of young men and his school enjoys a splendid reputation. Its graduates have always made a good record for themselves in their subsequent careers.

THOS. F. COLEMAN EXPIRES SUDDENLY

Thomas F. Coleman, about 60 years old, station agent for the Southern Railway Company at Clifton Station, dropped dead at the station after flagging a northbound Chesapeake and Ohio train to stop.

The train is known as the George Washington Limited and was in charge of Conductor Turner. The body was placed aboard the train and brought to the hospital in Alexandria where life was pronounced extinct. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

Mr. Coleman had received a telephone message from Manassas that a man was hanging in a dangerous position between the cars and to flag the train. Just as Coleman did this he dropped to the ground. He had been employed by the Southern Railway Company for the past 40 years and at one time was agent for the Washington Division. He is survived by two daughters and a son. Mr. Coleman was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Manassas and also a member of Acco Temple, Mystic Shrine.

NEW SUPERVISOR IN COLES DISTRICT

The new supervisor is a native of his district, and eminent divine of the county, and his appointment is said to give general satisfaction. He will sit for the first time when the Board meets on September 27.

ROBERTSON NAMED IN 7th

After a long series of ballots, Major A. Willis Robertson, world war veteran and well-known in public affairs in the state of Virginia, was declared the nominee of the Democratic party in the new 7th District to oppose Jacob Garber, former member of Congress from that district.

There were a number of favorite sons, silver-tongued Nat Early of Greene being runner-up. It was thought for a time that the venerable senator from the Blue Ridge would be the nominee but Peyton's withdrawal ended matters.

It was a victory of the old 10th over the old 7th, but no hard feelings came of the hard-fought battle, and a huge majority was pledged Major Robertson before the convention adjourned.

MEETING AT WOODBINE

PARISH DAY HELD AT CENTREVILLE

The members of St. John's Diocesan Parish at Centreville enjoyed another successful Parish Day on Saturday in spite of the intense heat.

Rev. K. J. Hammond of St. Mark's Parish, Culpeper, was the only visiting clergyman. He assisted Mr. Gibson, the rector, at both morning and afternoon sessions.

The refreshment committee headed by Mrs. Laura Powers and Mrs. Irene Wolts had the tables spread with all sorts of viands which all hands enjoyed to the fullest.

Mrs. Gibson presided at the organ and the singing was congregational. This is the second annual parish day held in recent years. In former years they were an annual event of interest to the entire community and the return of parish day has been one of the marked signs of growing interest in the church.

GREENWICH FIELD DAY

The field day at Greenwich Labor Day turned out to be a Rebel day. The Rebels went on a rampage to mark up two more tallies in the win column, making it four victories in a row.

In the morning fracas, the visitors from New Baltimore jumped on the Greenwich lads with all four feet to score five runs in the first couple frames of the game. However, John Hopkins, who was making his mound debut for the locals, proceeded to spike the enemy's guns so effectively that they failed to score in the remainder of the game. At the same time the Rebel sharpshooters opened up a barrage, tying the score, and proceeded to shove over five more runs to take the game at 10-5.

A serious accident occurred just preceding this game, when two Baltimore players ran together while warming up, knocking both boys insensible for a short time. One of the lads, Buddy Wingfield, was hurt so badly that he couldn't participate in the game.

In the evening clash Elmo Gum, iron man of the locals, held the Triangle aggregation to five scattered hits and four runs, at the same time leading an onslaught on two Triangle pitchers that gleaned ten hits and was good for eight markers.

The visitors started the scoring, Martin crossing the plate in the first half of the third inning. But the Rebels came back with a bang in their half of the frame, "White" Taylor clouting a home run with J. Hopkins on base. They continued the attack in the fourth, Gum, Garman and Mayhugh scoring.

Things went smoothly until the seventh when Tarroo's double, Martin's single and two errors on the part of the locals, enabled the invaders to chalk up three runs, almost tying the score. The Rebels retaliated, however, when they went on the offensive, C. Foster and R. Foster making the circuit. They added another in the ninth when W. Wood scored from second on Taylor's single.

The game ended with Garman's running catch of a fly in centerfield. One of the highlights of the game was W. Wood's spectacular catch in left field when he sprang backwards to pull down a long fly. Not only did this youngster make several thirty catches, but he also slammed out three hits in four trips to the plate.

The weather was ideal and although the crowd was small the day was a success both financially and in its pleasure-giving.

The Rebels will invade New Baltimore next Saturday to return the game with those worthies.

The farm is located on the Virginia side of the Potomac and can be reached either by turning right at Rosslyn or by going through Annandale.

There will be much of interest to observe and it is expected that many farmers, with their families, will make the tour.

LARGE TROPICAL RAFT BUILT FOR "THUNDER BELOW"

One of the largest practical "properties" ever constructed for motion pictures was completed recently for Paramount's "Thunder Below," shown at the Dixie Theatre next Monday and Tuesday with Tallulah Bankhead in the starring role and Charles Bickford, Paul Lukas, Eugene Pallette and Ralph Forbes featuring.

It is a fifty-foot tropical raft, used in jungle sequences. Built of logs, it is in two sections, both of which are roofed with palm leaves. One portion is constructed as crude sleeping quarters for a party of exploring engineers and is enclosed with mosquito netting. The other is a floating stable for donkeys.

The whole raft is propelled with huge native oars and steered by a similarly crude rudder. It was constructed by workers in the studio property department for use on one of the many streams at the 2700-acre Paramount ranch forty miles north of Hollywood.

"SIX CYLINDERS"
No more . . . No less"
Compare a Chevrolet Six whose speedometer reads over 10,000 miles with any other low-priced car of about the same mileage. Compare bodies. Compare chassis. Compare the way the two cars have stood up. Compare the gas and oil mileage each is getting. You'll be surprised at what a difference there is in favor of Chevrolet.
Chevrolet's wood-and-steel Fisher body remains tight, staunch and trouble-free. Chevrolet's chassis stays rigid and solid—shows none of the ill effects of age or wear. Chevrolet's six-cylinder engine continues to purr along smoothly, quietly and dependably. And it continues to give the same all-around economy as it did when new.
The reason for this difference after 10,000 miles can be summed up in three major facts: First, Chevrolet is such a wonderfully well-built car. Second, Chevrolet has adequate weight, unusual ruggedness and strength to withstand the effects of long, hard usage. Third, the Chevrolet engine has SIX CYLINDERS. And SIX is the fewest number of cylinders you can have in a car, and avoid destructive vibration.
Play safe, in choosing that low-priced car of yours. Put your good money in a sure thing. Buy the automobile in which the majority of American motor car buyers have placed their faith ever since January, 1931—a new Chevrolet Six.

"RESERVED FOR LADIES" AT DIXIE FRIDAY, SEPT. 16

Leslie Howard, the young head waiter at the Grand Palace Hotel in London, has seen the beautiful Elizabeth Allan and is smitten.

Leslie, as head waiter at the Grand Palace, greets the diners as they come in, royally, seats them comfortably and is graceful and flattering in his manner. Elizabeth and her father enter the dining room with Elizabeth's fiancé. Leslie hides behind a screen when another waiter seats them. He learns that Elizabeth and her father are going to the Swiss mountains. He determines to follow them.

The Allans are held up by the customs. Leslie, speaking French, is able to help them out. Later he meets Elizabeth on the train and their acquaintance ripens.

At the resort Leslie is devoted to Elizabeth. Excitement pervades the Inn over the arrival of a King, traveling incognito. Everybody is curious. In the dining room the King recognizes Leslie, whom he knew as the popular head waiter at the Grand Palace. He greets Leslie cordially and invites him to sit at his table. Leslie tells the King of his difficult love affair with Elizabeth.

Tongues began to wag. Gossips circulate a story that Leslie is a real Prince.

Unexpectedly Benita Hume, a Countess and an admirer of Leslie, arrives at the Inn. She takes possession of Leslie to the annoyance of Elizabeth, and invites him to her room. Elizabeth, prompted by jealousy also invites him to her room—but at a very late hour. Leslie is in a quandary. That night he packs his things and leaves for London.

Later Elizabeth returns to London with her father. The King has joined their party. At the Grand Palace Elizabeth discovers that Leslie is the head waiter. She treats him coldly and determines to announce her engagement to Sir William Carter at a dinner party she is giving. Leslie has charge of the function, but Elizabeth seeks to humiliate him and is insulting. Her father is greatly annoyed and tells Leslie to "treat her rough."

Thus encouraged, just as the dinner is about to be served, Leslie rushes in and tells Elizabeth he would like to see her in the anteroom.

Later the King steps toward the anteroom to see what has become of her. He is greatly amused to see Elizabeth in Leslie's arms.

The scene shifts to the anteroom. Leslie and Elizabeth are seen in each other's arms. Each is promising the other unending love and devotion.

COUNTY AGENTS' COLUMN by Frank D. Cox

Interest combined with the splendid program which has been arranged and the opportunity to meet and know your fellow poultrymen in Virginia and the leaders in the industry in the northeastern area, make a visit on Sept. 7, 8 and 9 a splendid investment for any poultry producer.

Judging Instruction Given by R. W. Dickson, Extension Dairyman, Tuesday and Wednesday.

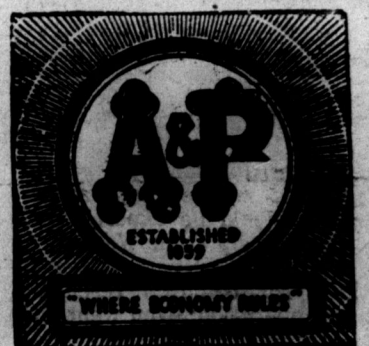

R. W. Dickson, Extension Dairyman, V. P. I., was with the agent Tuesday and Wednesday working with 4-H dairy club members who now have more than forty excellent heifers, the majority of which are purebreds. Judging instruction was given a group of the boys by Mr. Dickson at Nokesville Wednesday. A county team will be selected to represent Prince William at the State Fair during the latter part of September.

Control of Barley Smut.

Ceresan, a new commercial dust, is recommended for the control of covered smut in barley. This chemical is used in the same way as is copper carbonate dust for the control of stinking smut of wheat and at the rate of three ounces of Ceresan for each bushel of barley. Only when the grain is thoroughly cleaned can best results be expected in treating either wheat or barley. The use of two ounces of copper carbonate dust per bushel of wheat is again recommended for the control of stinking smut this year.

After a Hard-Fought Game A Glass of Frosted Coffee

By Sarah Blackwell
Coffee Service Institute

WHEN the sports enthusiasts among your friends drop on your doorstep weary and warm and generally "let down" after the exhilaration of a hard-fought game, they will welcome nothing so much as a tall glass of frosted coffee. Frosted coffee is a delightful ice-cream variation of iced coffee, and if your guests are not already familiar with the refreshing and invigorating effects of properly made iced coffee, you should surely introduce it to them.

Making good iced coffee is a very simple matter for the hostess. If the coffee that suits your taste is freshly roasted and correctly ground for your method of making—fine for drip pot, medium for percolator, and coarse for boiled coffee—when you buy it, you are sure of the maximum in coffee flavor for your beverage.

Of course, you must maintain the maximum flavor by measuring your coffee and water accurately and by brewing the coffee a very short time.

For iced coffee, the beverage must be freshly made just before serving. Coffee left over from breakfast to cool has lost most of the delicate flavor and aroma which we prize.

Make coffee by your favorite method, but use about twice the usual amount of ground coffee for one cup of water. I double the amount of coffee because the ice dilutes it. And with excellent coffees selling as low as twenty cents a pound, I don't feel extravagant either.

Frosted Coffee

1 quart strong coffee
1/2 pint of vanilla ice cream
1 cup of cream
1/2 cup sugar

Chill coffee quickly. Mix it with sugar, cream and half of the ice cream. Half fill glasses with crushed ice and pour beverage over it. Top each glass with a dash of ice cream. Serves six.

Facts and Figures on Your Telephone

BY EDWIN F. HILL

Stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company have reached a new high record. The last quarterly dividend was paid to more than 700,000 owners. For several years this company has had the largest list of owners of any corporation in the world, but the increase in holders during the last quarter of the year was the largest in the history of the company. Gains occurred in all parts of the United States statistics of the company show. The largest percentage increases took place in the southwestern and northwestern states. The widespread geographical distribution of the stockholders is indicated by the fact that twelve states each have more than 10,000 stockholders, twenty-three states each have more than 5,000 and no state has less than 500 stockholders.

More than 80 per cent of the increase in stockholders occurred in the group owning 10 shares or less each. Largely as a result of the increase in these stockholders, the average holding declined during the quarter ending July 15 from 28 shares to 26 1/2 shares, the lowest average in four years.

The number of shares registered in brokers' names continued to decline and by the end of the quarter represented 2 1/2 per cent of all shares outstanding, the lowest proportion in eight years.

High yield per cow is the basis for profitable milk production. Cows producing less than 200 pounds of butterfat fail to pay for the cost of feed and labor.

"A PASSPORT TO HELL," WITH ELISSA LANDI, HERE SOON

"A Passport to Hell," the new Fox dramatic picture featuring Elissa Landi in the leading role, comes to the Dixie Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

The story depicts the adventures of a beautiful woman, whose heart is filled with bitterness and hate. She pretends to love the man she marries until she is, for the first time in her life, touched by real love. How destiny works out her problem forms the basis of this romantic drama.

The picture is played against a background of tropical Africa and an atmosphere of war, though no scenes of conflict other than the conflict of emotions, form a part of the action.

Paul Lukas, one of the most popular leading men of the films, portrays the principal male role and Alexander Kirklands plays a part scarcely less important. Warner Oland, divorced, temporarily at least, from Oriental characterizations, enacts a prominent role. Others in the cast include Donald Crisp, Earle Foxe, Yola D'Avril, Eva Dennis, Ivan Simpson, Bert Sprotte and Vera Morrison.

CATHARPIN

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club was recently entertained by Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson at her home, Lawn Vale, in honor of a former member, Miss M. Elma Latham, now of Charlotte, N. C., who aforesaid was a charter member of the organization. This meeting was notable for several reasons but the most popular one was that in sending out her invitations Mrs. Robertson remembered the "long forgotten man" and invited the husbands. All guests arrived early and were entertained on the lawn playing croquet and other games until 7 o'clock when a most delicious dinner was served in the dining room. After the festivities the ladies went into executive session in the house and the men went into "executive session" on the front porch and thus the evening was delightfully spent. Among the "out-of-country" guests were noted Mr. and Mrs. Hunton Tiffany of Manassas who added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Mrs. I. I. Anderson has been in Washington during the past week where she has been under observation by a specialist. Mrs. Anderson for some time has not been in her usual good health and her many friends wish her a speedy recovery. The ladies of the Sudley Missionary Society are getting busy as usual in preparation for their annual bazaar and supper which is to be held all day Friday, October 28. They will serve both dinner and supper. All committees are appointed and in working order. The society is looking forward to the best one ever held. Please don't forget the date.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Lawler of Bel Alton, Md., were recent guests of Mrs. Lawler's mother, Mrs. P. S. Buckley. Corn cutting and silo filling is now the order of the day around Catharpin. The recent dry spell has very materially injured the corn crop especially the late planting. The copious showers of last few days have helped very much particularly the pasture fields which were fast declining.

Grading and widening the road leading from Stone House past Catharpin on to the Loudoun line at Putnam's ford has been in progress during the past week and adds very much to the activity of the neighborhood. The very sight of a group of men working lends an inspiration to everyone. We have been in the dumps so long that we have begun to lose our pep and spirit and need something like this to make us realize that depressions may come and go but we must go on forever following the even tenor of our ways. The successful fellow is the one who overcomes difficulties; not the one who lies down and quits because things are a little hard. It will be but a few months or years at most until this shall all have been forgotten and prosperity will make us glad we are living. Prosperity will come no matter who is or is not elected president simply because prosperity is "normal" and must obtain.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson of Front Royal, Va., were week-end guests of their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynn.

The Brower boys, Chas., William and Robert, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brower, jr., of Purcellville were visiting among relatives at Catharpin last week.

Labor Day passed off as it usually does around Catharpin with all the population laboring and marching to and fro from the field to the dining table and back again. No brass band accompaniment but just the noise of tramping feet over the corn stubble. Not a bad way to celebrate.

CHARMING INGENUE

AMBITIOUS TO PLAY
CHARACTER PARTS

One of the screen's most charming ingenues, the appealing heroine of a score or more films, is desirous of becoming a good character actress, even though she is still in her early twenties. That is the unusual ambition of Marceline Day. It is certainly unusual for one who has so much youth and beauty to offer to be anxious to obscure it from the admiring public eye. But, that's the way Marceline feels about it.

Marceline Day entered pictures in 1924. Two leads opposite Harry Langdon for Mack Sennett were Marceline's first important roles. Her beauty and ability to take direction soon made her one of the most popular young leading ladies in Hollywood. She played opposite John Barrymore, Richard Barthelmess, Lon Chaney, Buster Keaton and other famous stars.

Marceline's newest screen assignment is opposite Tim McCoy in "The Fighting Fool," a Columbia western, showing next Saturday at the Dixie Theatre. Other important screen names in the cast include Robert Ellis, Arthur Rankin, William V. Mong, Dorothy Granger and Ethel Wales.

GARDEN CONTEST LEADERS NAMED

Plans for judging both community and individual gardens entered in the Bi-centennial Garden Contest, arranged by the District of Columbia George Washington Bi-centennial Commission were completed at a general meeting of workers held in the headquarters of the local Commission in the National Press Building, Washington.

After the meeting Dr. George C. Haveren, executive vice-president of the Bi-centennial Commission, announced that the official judging would take place during the last two weeks in September under the supervision of Mrs. Lilian Wright Smith, director of the contest.

The community gardens will be judged by a board made up of Mrs. John Otto Johnson, Arthur Carr and Clifford Lamb, and nine silver loving cups will be awarded to the various communities in the order of merit of their garden development on a community basis.

At the same time individual gardens in all parts of the contest area, which includes the District of Columbia and adjoining communities in Maryland and Virginia, will be judged by local boards of judges and medals provided by the National Bi-centennial Commission will be awarded to the winners.

The key workers in charge of the individual garden contests in northern Virginia are as follows: Gilbert Hall, Clarendon; Mrs. Robert E. Freer and J. D. W. Johnson, Lyon Village; Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Campbell, Arlington Ridge; Dr. Henry Knowles, East Falls Church; Mrs. A. W. Harkness, Vienna, and H. B. Derr, Fairfax county.

Judging of both community and individual gardens will be on an identical basis. Size and value of dwelling houses will not count. General garden effect will count 40 points and will include neatness and arrangement. Details will count 60 points and will include condition of plants and lawns, suitability of planting, condition of trees on lawn and on street parking.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT RAVENSWORTH

A memorial service in honor of William Fitzhugh of Chatham was held by the Washington Society of Alexandria on Sunday, September 4, at 2:30 p.m. The services took place at the tomb of William Fitzhugh in the burying ground at the Ravensworth estate, near Burke, Va.

More than a hundred were present at the ceremonies, which were presided over by Mr. W. B. McGroarty, president of the Washington Society. After the invocation by the Rev. Wm. J. Morton, chaplain of the Society and rector of Christ church, wreaths were placed on the graves of William Fitzhugh and Ann Fitzhugh, his wife, by two of their descendants.

The Honorable R. Walton Moore then delivered an address on the life of William Fitzhugh and his intimate association with George Washington. William Fitzhugh was born in 1741. For many years he was master of Chatham, an estate on the Rappahannock river near Fredericksburg, where he often entertained his life-long friend, George Washington. The two served together as representatives from their respective counties of King George and Fairfax in the Virginia House of Burgesses. William Fitzhugh was later a member of the Continental Congress and was several times a representative in the Virginia assembly. He spent his later years in Alexandria, maintaining a country home at Ravensworth, where he was buried in 1809. Ravensworth stayed in the Fitzhugh family until 1874, when it was inherited by the children of Mrs. Robert E. Lee, who was a granddaughter of William Fitzhugh. Her grandson, Dr. George Bolling Lee, is the present owner. He was unable to attend the ceremonies, to the great regret of those present but his greetings were conveyed to the group by Mr. McGroarty.

The graveyard at Ravensworth is located in one corner of the spacious gardens, which are filled with many aged trees, masses of shrubbery, and a wealth of ancient box and ivy.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH THE TELEPHONE SCIENTISTS

Looking ahead to more diversified broadcasting programs, the Bell Telephone Laboratories cooperating with the broadcasting systems, have recently developed equipment by which connections for a program can be set up while the preceding program is in progress.

Broadcasting methods have changed radically during the past decade. Instead of single stations operating independently of each other, groups of broadcasting stations tied together by telephone lines, are now operated as a single unit.

Telephone lines used for this purpose are known as program networks. Each is designated by a color. There are seven of these networks in permanent use, each being utilized usually sixteen hours a day. They are the red, blue, gold, orange, amber, brown and purple networks. They serve 175 broadcasting stations connected by more than 35,000 miles of wire. In five other networks used only occasionally, there are 30 stations utilizing 5,000 miles of additional telephone line.

Operation of the larger networks is carried on from certain stations permanently connected to the circuit, while others are associated with that station for certain programs only. These latter stations are grouped on branch circuits which are connected by lines to distributing centers where the telephone circuits are monitored continually. At such centers known as network keypoints, operators are on duty continuously to monitor the circuits and to perform any switching required as programs change.

When the change from one program to the next is to be made all that is ordinarily required of the operator is the operation of the transfer switches, which modifies the arrangement of the network from that required for the preceding program to that of the following. This new system, according to F. S. Eats in the Bell Laboratories Record, provides for five main networks and sixteen connections. The first installation was made in Chicago. This equipment, which is now in operation on the red and blue networks, is proving most satisfactory.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

An attractive way to decorate tall glasses in which cold beverages are to be served, is to dip the rim first in a saucer of lemon juice and then in a saucer of sugar. As the sugar hardens it forms a decorative crystal ring. Also, as the beverage is quaffed from the glass, the ring gives it an unusual and piquant flavor.

Hot, strong coffee will usually stop hiccoughs.

A pleasantly tart, thick salad dressing is made of equal parts of French dressing and sour cream.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear father, Luther J. Hefflin, who departed this life two years ago today, Sept. 8, 1930.

Two years have passed, dear father, Since you were called away. How well do I remember That sad and weary day.

God alone knows how I miss you. Never shall your memory fade. Loving thoughts shall always wander To the spot where you were laid.

Forget you, no, I never shall. I love you then, I love you still. Your memory is as fresh today As in the hour you passed away.

—By his devoted daughter, Mrs. Sadie Norman.
