MANASSAS, VIRGINIA THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1932

SUBSCRIPTION $1.50 A YEAR

STATE FORESTER IS DISMISSED

Resignation Requested before March 1, 1933.

By resolution of the Conservation Commission, State Forester Chapin Jones of Charlottesville has been dismissed, effective March 1, 1933.

Minutes of the Commission reveal that this action has been under consideration for some time, on account of his lack of administrative ability; his unwillingness to be advised and to carry out instructions.

With prospect of a general expansion of forestry work in Virginia the Commission evidently felt obliged to put into action a step which had long been considered.

Mr. Jones has appealed to the Governor for a public hearing, but has received no special encouragement along these lines. He is a native of Iowa and has been State Forester of Virginia for eighteen years.

HILL ENDORSED BY KIWANIS CLUB

Is Now President of Washington Club.

Mr. T. E. Didlake was the speaker at the Kiwanis meeting last week. Branching from his chosen subject, "the Constitution," on which he spoke rather briefly, Mr. Didlake gave a very interesting exposition of a murder case taken from the state courts and carried into the Federal Courts, and developments which had gradually arisen from this precedent.

All hands listened intently to his remarks, at the conclusion of which the speaker called attention to the fact that William Lewis, an esteemed colored resident of this town, was for years coachman for one of the principal figures in this memorable trial.

Bob Hutchison became so enthused over Ted's remarks that he gave an extemporaneous discourse.

On motion of G. Raymond Ratcliffe, the club went on record as unanimously endorsing the candidacy of Ed Hill as governor of the Capitol district.

BENNETT SCHOOL LEAGUE MEETS

The Bennett School League will meet Friday, Sept. 23, at 3 o'clock, in the Bennett school. A full meeting is requested.

ROBERT EVANS

Robert Evans, aged 68, died at his home near town yesterday. Up to 1928 he was an active contractor and builder. Since then, he has been engaged in cabinet making.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. Z. Pence, residing in North Carolina, and two brothers, Andrew and Charles, both of near Buckhall.

Mr. Evans had long been a Mason, and the order will take charge of the services which will be held tomorrow at 1:30 at the Methodist church. Interment will be at Buckhall.

PROGRAM AT BRADLEY BRETHREN CHURCH

A group of young people from Washington, D. C., will present a program entitled "Word Pictures of Life" at Bradley Brethren church on Sunday night, Sept. 25, at 7:45 p.m. This program is told in three ages, childhood, youth and old age, all three ages depending on the "Rock of Ages to Make the Ideal Home." The public is cordially invited to be present.

MRS. HOWLAND TO SPEAK AT METHODIST CHURCH

Mrs. Howland, who is to speak at the Methodist church Saturday at 8 p.m., is a very pleasing and interesting speaker and we hope that all who can possibly come will. It being Saturday night and will not interfere with studies, we especially invite the young people and teachers of the school.

PARISH DAY AT ALDIE

Emmanuel church at Aldie is having a Parish Day on September 25 (Sunday next). Rev. A. S. Gibson, who was rector of this parish some years ago, will preach the morning service at 10:30.

APPEAL COLLAPSES

An adverse decision from the Supreme Court yesterday finally removed fear that all tax collections for 1932 would be invalidated by an appeal from the Board filed immediately after the budget hearing last March.

Mr. Lion attacked almost every item of the budget, stoutly maintaining that drastic cuts should and could be made without vitally affecting the operation of the county government.

His appeal was first set aside by Judge McCarthy, but Mr. Lion was so much in earnest that he decided to carry the matter to the highest court, and did.

The appeal in the Supreme Court largely amounts to merely reviewing all documentary evidence as submitted by the hearings in the local courts. It was on this evidence that the Court probably came to its decision.

Col. R. A. Hutchison appeared for the Board of Supervisors.

KIWANIS CLUB OF MAN- ASSAS TO ENTER FLOAT

The Kiwanis Club of Manassas announces the completion of arrangements for a float to be entered in the Dairy Festival at Manassas. A contract has been let for a most attractive float to be constructed by a well-known float decorating company.

MONTICELLO GUARDS COMING FOR FESTIVAL

The famous Monticello Guards of Charlottesville, Va., are to attend the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival in Manassas, Va., on September 30. Captain Fletcher and his men will act as guards of honor to the Queen of the Festival.

CIVILIAN HOME SERVICE AND RED CROSS MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Civilian Home Service Committee, Prince William County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held in the County Nurse's office, Manassas, Va., September 28, at 2 p.m. Members of this committee are earnestly requested to attend.

Immediately following this meeting, Mrs. W. L. Lloyd, Red Cross Chapter chairman, will hold a meeting of the chapter executive committee. Plans for roll call and other important matters will be discussed.

Mrs. Mamie Lynch Delaney has again been appointed roll call chairman for Prince William county to handle the intensive Red Cross membership drive which is to be made early in November.

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION IN WASHINGTON

Twenty patriotic and civic organizations; religious and educational groups; dramatic, musical and dance clubs and studios of the Capital City will be represented in the varied succession of harvest scenes that make up the story of "The Vision of George Washington" to be presented by the District of Columbia Bi-centennial Commission, on the evenings of October 11, 12 and 13, at 8 o'clock, in the National Sylvan Theatre, Washington Monument Grounds, in celebration of America's harvest-time, and in honor of the Nation's First President who "believed that the task of making improvements in the earth to be more delightful than the vain-glory to be acquired from ravaging it by conquest."

BACK AT SCHOOL

Among those who left for school this week are Jack Ratcliffe, who returned to Lafayette; Arthur Sinclair, to Staunton Military; J. Jenkyn Davies, University of Virginia; Edgar Conner, who enters William and Mary; Preston Lynn, a sophomore at same school; Wallace Tiffany, now a senior at Washington and Lee; Orville Heller, Bridgewater; Rena Bevens, Goucher; Robert Lloyd and Jack Lightner, University of Virginia; Janet Truesler, Marjorie Webster; Margaret Carter, Fredericksburg; Lucy Arrington and Susie Gibson, George Washington; Evelyn Cocke, William and Mary, and Helen Lloyd, Penn Hall.

DUMFRIES HOME DEMON- STRATION GROUP TO MEET

The Dumfries Home Demonstration Group will meet Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 1:30 o'clock, at the school building.

The topic for demonstration is "Rugs and How to Make Them." All women of Dumfries community are invited to attend the meeting.

DAIRY FESTIVAL PLANS ABOUT COMPLETED

PRINCESS PRINCE WILLIAM
Miss Esther Warren Pattie of Manassas.

SPECIAL GROUP OF SHOW WIN- DOW EXHIBITS FOR FESTIVAL

Five special educational show window exhibits have been prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the Second Annual Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival to be held in Manassas, Va., September 30. These exhibits will be placed in the store windows along the main street of Manassas.

"Our Average Is Low" is an exhibit comparing the average milk production of cows in this country with that in other countries.

"Dairy Farm Success" depicts the four chief factors necessary for successful dairy farming. They are: (1) a farm growing legumes, good pastures, and grains (2) cows producing 5000 pounds or more of milk; (3) equipment for high quality products, and (4) equipment for economical marketing.

"The Dairy Situation" is featured by a huge milk pail representing the nation's milk supply. Pipe lines from the producing areas lead into this pail and outlets send the milk supply to homes, cheese factories, and condensed and evaporated milk factories. Of special note in this exhibit is the fact that the milk supply for two of the 365 days in the year must be imported.

"Dairy Farm Organization" is an exhibit showing the proper ratio which should exist between the size of the dairy herd, the productivity of the soil, the kind and amount of feed crops grown, and the size of the farm.

ROYAL RESIDENCE PROCLAIMED

The hospitable home of Mrs. J. B. Thornton will present a scene of gaiety, as Her Majesty, Regina II, with her maid of honor, Miss Gosnell of Clarendon, and Princess District of Columbia, Miss Sylvia Meredith, will establish royal presence there during the reign of Miss Anne Davies, Queen of the Festival.

Mrs. Thornton also expects Mr. J. J. Davies and family of Culpeper, Mrs. Jenkyn Davies and Mrs. Brown of Nokesville, and others.

CULPEPER COUNTY TO SEND BAND AND FLOAT

Mr. E. T. Willis, vice-president of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival for Culpeper county, has notified festival headquarters in Manassas that his county will be represented at the celebration by the Culpeper Municipal band and a float.

STREETS OF MANASSAS TO BE DECORATED

The streets of Manassas will be decorated for the Dairy Festival with lights and flags in harmony with the official festival colors of green, gold and white.

"A Tale of Two Bulls" is an animated cartoon in the display shows how one dairyman learned to build up a high-producing herd by a good high-producing bull capable of siring high-producing cows.

The officials of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival wish to acknowledge the receipt of the following contributions during the past week:

W. H. Ellmore, Herndon, Va., $5.00.
W. H. Chamblin, Manassas, Va., $1.00.
Allen Bradley, Herndon, Va., $2.00.
W. H. Lipscomb, Leesburg, Va., $15.00.
J. L. Luxford, Manassas, Va., $2.00.
G. Raymond Ratcliffe, Manassas, Va., $5.00.
E. R. Conner, Manassas, Va., $10.00.
E. H. Hibbs, Manassas, Va., $10.00.
Dr. V. V. Gillum, Manassas, Va., $5.00.

Other contributions have been promised and will be announced in succeeding issues of The Journal.

NEW SITE CHOSEN FOR FESTIVAL CEREMONIES

A new site has been chosen by the committee on arrangements for the coronation and pageant at the Second Annual Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival in Manassas, Va., September 30. The new location will afford an unobstructed view for all those who watch the exercises.

There was some difficulty experienced by those who attended last year in seeing the picturesque coronation and pageant at "Annaburg," the famous mansion on the Portner estate. This year, instead of having the exercises on the lawn in front of the house, the committee has arranged for a special stage to be placed at the foot of the historic tower on the estate. This old Indian fort and a magnificent planting of trees will furnish the background. Space for thousands of onlookers is provided in front of the stage. Arrangements have also been completed for bleachers to be erected for the comfort of spectators both at the scene of the opening ceremonies and along the line of the parade.

HERNDON FIRE DEPARTMENT TO OFFER SPECIAL FEATURE

Mr. Walter A. Farr, chief of the Herndon, Va., Volunteer Fire Department, has advised Mr. Raymond Davis, chairman of the fire department division of the Dairy Festival parade, that his organization will be represented at Manassas on September 30.

Their exhibit will include the chief's car, an engine, about twenty men and the comic rescue squad. This last is of special interest. It is the same outfit with which the Herndon fire-fighters won second place in the comic float division of the Labor Day parade in Washington.

SPECIAL AERIAL EX- HIBITION FOR FESTIVAL

Arrangements have been made with the Mount Vernon School of Aeronautics to put on an aerial exhibition for the Dairy Festival. There will be planes circling over Manassas throughout the day. A special show of spectacular flying and stunting will be presented on the Portner field adjacent to the Centreville highway at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the amusement of the crowds.

Planes from other places are expected to attend also.

FIVE FIRE COMPANIES ALREADY SIGNED UP FOR PARADE PARTICIPATION

Notification has already been received from five Volunteer Fire Companies of their intention of participating in the Dairy Festival parade to date. They are: Manassas, Herndon, Warrenton and two from Arlington county.

BULL RUN GRANGE OF HAYMARKET PREPARING FLOAT FOR FESTIVAL

Mr. Carl Smith, sr., president of the Bull Run Grange at Haymarket announces that work has been begun on the float which that organization intends to enter in the Dairy Festival at Manassas, Va., on September 30.

Big Event of Northern Vir- ginia Sept. 30.

MANASSAS ALREADY IN FESTIVAL ATTIRE

While the last-minute preparations are in progress for the Second Annual Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival, glowing reports are being received of the activity of the organizations in the various counties. All that is needed now to assure a great success for the festival is to have the powers that be delegate old man Jupiter Pluvius to some corner of the globe for the day. Just a little sunshine and fair weather is all that shall be needed in order to assure Piedmont Virginia of one of the greatest days in its history.

Every other angle of the affair has been arranged for in a most competent manner. School children will come from the schools throughout the participating area to march in the parade. The town and the countryside will throb to the music of a large array of bands, school, civic and service. Bright red fire trucks from all over northern Virginia will add color to the event.

To carry out the full effect of the coronation and pageant, the Quantico Marine Band will render music, the Glee Club of the Fredericksburg State Teachers College will sing, and the impressive Monticello Guards of Charlottesville, Va., will act as guard of honor to Her Royal Highness.

Colonel William D. Mitchell, who has a summer home in Middleburg, Va., will preside at the coronation ceremonies and crown the queen. Colonel Mitchell is a figure prominent in public life of the country and is especially well known through this section of Virginia. He has spoken at Manassas on several occasions.

More than twenty-five organizations have already notified headquarters in Manassas of their intention of sending floats and more last-minute notifications are expected. Among the entries will be included industrial, Bi-centennial and association floats as well as floats entered by various civic organizations, communities and clubs. The Herndon Volunteer Fire Department is entering a special "Comic Rescue Squad" float which took second prize in the Comic Float division of the Labor Day parade in Washington. The Chamber of Commerce in Fairfax is sending six Bi-centennial floats, which have been entered in parades this year in Washington and Alexandria.

In addition to the Quantico Marine Band, the Culpeper Municipal Band, the Fort Humphreys Band, and the Washington and Lee High School Band of Ballston, Va., have already been secured. Three or four more bands are also expected to attend.

Two Arlington fire departments and the fire departments of Manassas, Herndon and Warrenton have already accepted invitations to participate. There will probably be this many more present. The fire company division of the parade will be headed by Chief A. J. Bargagnini of the District of Columbia Fire Department.

In addition to these features of the parade, there will be marchers representing the dairymen, the 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers and other groups. A large section of school children from the public schools will form a major part of the parade.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new stage to be used for the coronation exercises and the pageant, which is to be staged by school children. The new stage is being placed next to the old tower on the Portner estate. In this location the stage is arranged that an almost unlimited number of persons will be able to view the exercises. This change was made after it was found last year that shrubbery and inclines in the lawn made it impossible for some of those present to gain a clear view of the exercises. The school children who are to present the pageant, "Night's Pasture Fields," are busy with rehearsals. This is being prepared under the capable guidance of Miss Clark, Rural School Supervisor, assisted by an able staff which includes Miss Virginia Frazier, Miss Virginia Speiden, Mrs. R. C. Haydon, Mrs. A. A. Hooff, Mrs. Warren Coleman and Mrs. Grace Hite.

The various sections of the parade will be led by mounted marshals dressed in colonial costumes. Through the very earnest work of Mr. Ed Conner, the festival has succeeded in obtaining members of the (Please turn to page 8)

BUCK JONES' HORSE SILVER

SHARES MASTER'S GLORY

For a number of years, Silver has been as necessary to the success of a Buck Jones' starring picture as the actor himself.

Silver is Black's beautiful full-blooded Arabian horse, the white stallion who has shared his master's cinema exploits in dozens of Western thrillers. Their latest dual appearance is in "One Man Law," the Dixie
Theatre attraction next Saturday,
Sept. 24.

Silver, although fourteen years old, has many more years of picture work, according to Buck Jones. The finest of care and constant instruction are keeping him in excellent trim. He comes to work in a specially built truck, and Silver's stables are the most elaborate in California.

WOODBIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. John Riley, Miss
Dora Liming and Mr. Clifton Riley spent the week end in Baltimore.

Mrs. George Southworth, who has been quite sick at her home, is much improved. Mrs. Southworth has as her guest Mrs. Gladys Stone of Richmond.

Mrs. T. P. Davis and Mrs. Pauline
Bolton have gone to Cleveland, Ohio,
for a few days.

Mrs. Louis Lombard of New York
is the guest of her daughter, Mrs.
Leslie Brown.

Mrs. Rose Hammill has returned to her home here after spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen are visiting friends in Maryland.

Mrs. Jennie Ledman of Washington, D. C., spent Sunday with Mrs.
N. S. Lambert.

Miss Kathleen Carter had as her guest on Friday Miss Louise Parker of Washington.

Mrs. Ellis Dawson had as her guest last week Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tuisley of Richmond.

The Misses Cable of Washington were week-end guests of their sister, Mrs. G. W. Collins.

CHEVROLET

SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

—with more than six you sacrifice economy
—with less than six you sacrifice smoothness

IF YOU'RE careful about the way you spend your dollars for a low-priced car, you'll be extra-careful about the way you count cylinders. Because if you count more than six, you're not going to get the lowest all-round motoring cost that is saving so many thousands of dollars for Chevrolet owners every day.

And if you count less than six—you won't be any better off from a dollars-and-cents standpoint. Six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have, and still get Chevrolet's built-in smoothness. And built-in smoothness saves you money.
It guards against the insidious workings of excessive vibration. It holds repair bills down to rock-bottom. So—if the car is a Chevrolet Six—you'll SAVE!

ESPECIALLY AFTER 5,000 MILES

What's more important—you'll keep on saving. There's nothing temporary about Chevrolet economy. It lasts! Especially after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles, when the cost of operating other low-priced cars goes up, Chevrolet's cost stays down. More economical to start with, Chevrolet is more economical still, after long usage!

Best of all: you can save with six cylinders,
and not sacrifice one important advancement. You enjoy Free Wheeling, Synchro-Mesh gear-shifting, roomy Fisher bodies. Considering these facts—do you honestly think it's wise—or economical—to keep that old car any longer?

"REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM" HAS STRONG EMOTIONAL APPEAL

The charm of Marian Nixon is the feature of the Fox version of the famous Kate Douglas Wiggin and Charlotte Thompson masterpiece, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," at the Dixie Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. As enacted by her, Rebecca is an imaginative, impulsive girl whose penchant for adopting everyone's troubles, a remembered trait of the heroine in the original book, is again made the motivating influence in the plot.

Opening at Sunnybrook Farm, created for the filming in all its peaceful beauty near Santa Cruz, California, the film story carries Rebecca quickly to her aunts' home in Riverboro. Here she lives with Aunts Jane and Miranda, played by Mae Marsh and Louise Closser Hale, a process that involves many heartaches in the learning.

Here, too, she finds Jack-O-Lantern, son of the village ne'er-do-well, played by Alan Hale and an un-wed mother, portrayed by Eula Guy. Her innocent and quite understandable attempt to adopt Jack-O as a member of the aunt's household is met with stern rebuke from puritanical, cold-hearted Aunt Miranda; but she finds solace in the appealing sympathy given her by Aunt Jane and by the kindly understanding of Dr. Adam Ladd, a part made vivid and believable by Ralph Bellamy in his first entirely sympathetic screen role.

His stout defense of Rebecca wins for Dr. Ladd the right to pay court for her hand, a privilege which he assumes with much eagerness. Their fine, inspirational romance builds the strong bulwark against which they stand when the drama reaches its climax, a time when it appears that Rebecca's ideals and all her hopes are to be shattered.

THE LAND OF PRETTY SOON

A few years ago The Philadelphia Ledger printed this little poem, which is a gem of compacted tragedy:

"I know a land where the streets are paved

With the things we meant to achieve;

It is walled with the money we meant to have saved

And the pleasures for which we grieve.

The kind words unspoken, the promises broken,

And many a coveted boon

Are stowed away there, in that land somewhere,

The Land of Pretty Soon.

"There are uncut jewels of possible fame

Lying about in the dust,

And many a noble and lofty aim
Covered with mold and rust.
And Oh! this place, while it seems so near,

Is farther away than the moon;
Though our purpose is there, yet we never get there—
The Land of Pretty Soon.

The road that leads to that mystic land

Is strewn with pitiful wrecks,
And the ships that have sailed for its shining strand

Bear skeletons on their decks.

It is farther away at noon than it was at dawn,

And farther at night than at noon.

O let us beware of that land down there—
The Land of Pretty Soon."

THE DAIRY FESTIVAL

On Friday of next week, the second annual Piedmont Dairy Festival will be held.

The decorators are already in town and Centre street is beginning to put on a gala appearance.

Committees have been working strenuously to make the event a success. Generous co-operation has been awakened outside the borders of Prince William, and the event promises to be a healthy expansion of last year's initial effort.

The dairy industry is certainly one of the corner stones of our local prosperity, and deserves every encouragement. We should all put our shoulders to the wheel and push—HARD.

This thought should not be overlooked. While we are promoting the welfare of one of our basic enterprises, let us also remember ALL HOME INDUSTRIES. Much of the local prosperity which has distinguished us from other less fortunate localities is because we do less needless buying away from home.

In promoting the Dairy Festival, more meaning comes to the word "co-operation," and although sometimes competitive in our business relations with our neighbors, we are learning to work together in a friendly and cordial manner.

Let next week be one of 100 percent co-operation and full-powered effort to make the Dairy Festival an unqualified success.

ON THE DEFENSIVE

A military campaign which keeps one contestant continually upon the defensive generally terminates in favor of the attacking forces. A political campaign may be said to be governed by the same theory. To be continually on the defensive places any party in an unfavorable situation for developing a strategy which can undo the enemy.

This is the great disadvantage under which the forces of the Hoover administration are suffering. Under the brilliant criticism and constructive idealism hurled at them by Franklin Roosevelt, they are becoming disconcerted, particularly in the face of the fearful denunciation which has been expressed at the administration's brutality and disregard of Constitutional rights of the Bonus Marchers, and the more recent Republican debacle in Maine.

If ever a Presidential campaign seemed definitely headed for a Democratic victory, the present outlook justified this belief. In Governor Roosevelt the masses have found a champion who will overthrow the dragon of special privilege and restore the forgotten man to his rightful place of security and happiness in the national program.

So withering has become the fire that the Republicans can not undertake an offensive campaign and inevitable defeat stares them in the face.

NOKESVILLE

The Brentsville District Community Association held its regular monthly meeting on Friday night a week ago.

Among other things a nominating committee, composed of P. L. Trenis, John Ellis, Mrs. Clay Wood, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. K. M. Bradshaw, was designated to name officers and committeemen for the coming year.

Principal speakers of the evening were Rev. Mark, who eloquently welcomed the teachers of the district, and Prof. C. O. Bittle, who responded well and wittily.

The educational committee, headed by Mrs. W. R. Free, had arranged an excellent program of music plus an amusing monologue by Miss Geneva Kerlin, to tickle the funny bones of the young folks.

Mrs. Leachman of Manassas delighted all with her performance at the piano, not only with her solo but while accompanying her little daughters, Nancy and Molly, and the little Misses Virginia Pullen and Althea Hooff, who sang solos, duets and a quartet.

The educational committee then put the finishing touches on a perfect evening by serving delicious refreshments to all.

Mrs. Norvel Free entertained at a bridge luncheon last week.

Miss Frances Hummer was given a birthday party Saturday, September 10, at her home. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Corde, Misses Virginia Swank, Violet Herring, Eleanor Smith and Mr. Horace Smith, all of Nokesville, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bartlett of Washington, Miss Helen Webb of Annandale, Miss Frances Hurst of Herndon, Mr. Allen Anderson of Nokesville, Mr. Houston Row of Falls Church, and Mr. Charles O'Shaughnessy and Misses Helen and Edna O'Shaughnessy of Bailey's Cross Roads. The guests were entertained by music, dancing and games after which lovely refreshments were served. Miss Hummer received many useful gifts.

"INDUSTRY FINDS SOIL"

Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, has written a timely and interesting article on the relationship of industry and the back-to-the-soil movement for the Magazine of the Washington Star for Sunday, September 25. But this is only one of a score of fine articles in the Magazine. Order your copy of next Sunday's Washington Star from your newsdealer today.

4-H CLUB NOTES

4-H club boys and girls will be given a place in the Dairy Festival parade in their respective district high school sections. The entire group will be in costume and will be followed by the 4-H club float.

The following committee was appointed by the club council to plan and direct the building of the 4-H club float: Mrs. John Barrett, Nancy Lynn, Mary Fountleroy Cocke, Charles Lynn, Paul Cooksey, Manassas; Mrs. W. R. Free, Geraldine Shepherd, and Stuart McMichael, Nokesville.

Elizabeth Allen, Nokesville, and Wilda Bourne, Occoquan 4-H club, have been selected to assist in the Prince William club booth at the state fair October 3 to 8. The booth will be arranged to represent a girl's room. Furnishings for the room as well as the display of clothing are being made entirely from cotton bags.

BURKE

Lee District Sunday School Association will hold its fall convention at Burke on October 2, beginning at 10 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon.

The U. D. C. will give a play, "A Nephew in the House," Friday evening, Sept. 23, at 8:30, in the community hall.

CORA A. FOLEY

vs.

CHARLES A. FOLEY

IN CHANCERY

The object of this suit is to obtain for the plaintiff and from the defendant an absolute divorce, a vinculo matrimonii, on the grounds of wilful desertion and abandonment for more than three years, to wit: from the 31st day of January, 1925, and ever since continued.

And an affidavit having been filed according to law, that the said Charles A. Foley, defendant, is not a resident of the state of Virginia, and that his last known place of address is 1213 Fairmont St. N. W., Washington, D. C. And an application for this order of publication having been duly made,

It is therefore ordered that the said defendant, Charles A. Foley, do appear here within ten days after due publication of this order to defend his interest in this case.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulated in the county of Prince William, once a week, for four consecutive weeks; a copy sent by registered mail by the clerk of this court to the said Charles A. Foley, at the address given in the aforesaid affidavit, and a copy posted at the front door of the court house of said county on or before the 19th day of September 1932; that being the first Rule Day after this order is entered.

Alice C. Muller, Complainant,

vs.

Richard F. A. Muller, Defendant.

IN CHANCERY

The object of this suit is to obtain for the complainant, Alice C. Muller, from the defendant, Richard F. A. Muller, a divorce a vinculo matrimonii upon the ground of cruelty, and for desertion continuing for a period of more than three years.

And an affidavit having been made and filed according to law, that the said Richard F. A. Muller, defendant, is not a resident of the state of Virginia, and that his last known place of address is Santo Domingo City, Dominican Republic. And an application for this order of publication having been duly made,

It is therefore ordered that the said defendant, Richard F. A. Muller, do appear here within ten days after due publication of this order to defend his interest in this case.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulated in the county of Prince William, once a week, for four consecutive weeks; a copy sent by registered mail by the clerk of this court to the said Richard F. A. Muller, at the address given in the aforesaid affidavit, and a copy posted at the front door of the court house of said county on or before the 19th day of September, 1932, that being the first Rule Day after this order is entered.

Margaret M. Huntley, Defendant.

IN CHANCERY

The object of this suit is to obtain for the complainant, William G. Huntley, from the defendant, Margaret M. Huntley, a divorce a vinculo matrimonii upon the ground of wilful desertion continuing for a period of three years.

And an affidavit having been made and filed according to law, that the said Margaret M. Huntley, defendant, is not a resident of the state of Virginia, and that her last known place of address is 420 N. Seventh Ave., Scranton, Pa. And an application for this order of publication having been duly made,

It is therefore ordered that the said defendant, Margaret M. Huntley, do appear here within ten days after due publication of this order to defend her interest in this case.

And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper published and circulated in the county of Prince William, once a week, for four consecutive weeks; a copy sent by registered mail by the clerk of this court to the said Margaret M. Huntley, at the address given in the aforesaid affidavit, and a copy posted at the front door of the court house of said county on or before the 19th day of September, 1932; that being the first Rule Day after this order is entered.

George W. May and Mary K. May, his wife; Nora Leverman and Judson Leverman, her husband; Ada May Spittler and William Spittler, her husband, and Lettie May Wine and Eugene Wine, her husband, Defendants.

IN CHANCERY

The object of the above styled suit is to make or have partition of two certain lots or parcels of real estate conveyed to Annie C. May, and G. H. May, her deceased husband, described as three parcels of land and situate in the village of Nokesville, Brentsville Magisterial District, Prince William County, Virginia, and being the same properties conveyed said grantees by W. B. Whetzel, et ux, and J. A. Hooker, et ux, either by partition in kind or sale of the whole and division of the proceeds amongst the parties entitled thereto; to settle the estate of G. H. May, deceased, and for general relief.

And it appearing by affidavit filed according to law that George W. May and Mary K. May, his wife; Nora Leverman and Judson Leverman, her husband; Ada May Spittler and William Spittler, her husband; and Lettie May Wine and Eugene May, her husband, the above named defendants, are not residents of this State; and it further appearing by the affidavit filed that the last postoffice address of George H. May and Mary K., his wife, is Frederick, Maryland; that Nora Leverman and Judson Leverman's postoffice address is 3616 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C.; that Ada May Spittler and William Spittler, her husband, address is 3443 Fourteenth Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., and that Lettie May Wine and Eugene Wine, her husband, postoffice address is 1307 Taylor Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., it is therefore ordered that the said George W. May, Mary K. May, Nora Leverman, Judson Leverman, Ada May Spittler, William Spittler, Lettie May Wine and Eugene Wine do appear within ten days after due publication of this order, in the Clerk's Office of our said Circuit Court and do what is necessary to protect their interest. It is further ordered that this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in The Manassas Journal, a newspaper printed in said county, the newspaper hereby directed. And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be posted at the front door of the court house of Prince William County on or before the next succeeding Rule Day, and that another copy be mailed to each of the defendants' postoffice address as set forth in said affidavit.

CATHARPIN

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson of Catharpin announce the marriage of their daughter, Eliza, to Mr. Carlyle White of Washington, D. C., the ceremony taking place on September 3. The young people will make their home in the city where he is employed.

Mrs. Bessie Brower Willis and her three sons of Roanoke were visiting Mrs. Willis' father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Brower, last week.

The many friends of Mr. F. H. Sanders were glad to see him out for a little joy ride around the neighborhood. May he be able to take many more of them is the wish of his neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., arrived on Sunday morning last for a visit with Mrs. Clary's sister, Mrs. J. W. Alvey, and her father, Mr. F. H. Sanders. Mr. Clary returned home on Tuesday but Mrs. Clary will remain for a more extended sojourn among her relatives and friends.

The annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, is not far away and naturally the people of Sudley neighborhood are interested. The year has not been as financially successful as many would like but considering all things will probably measure up with the general average of other like churches throughout the conference. Preaching services have been excellent thruout the year but the sad part of it is that so many fail to attend. Statistics have lately shown that attendance upon church services throughout the U. S. among all denominations has fallen off to about 33 per cent of the enrollment. Why this is no one seems able to explain except that the aftermath of all wars is a general religious and moral let-down. It seems now that it is about time to break away from this lethargy and get back once more to our place of duty. The Sudley congregation is large as country congregations go—enough to fill the auditorium to overflowing, and all are invited back next Sunday when the pastor will take as his subject the Ten Commandments. Don't miss this.

Notwithstanding the present day situation in regard to the depression, etc., people refuse, and very justly so, to allow themselves to be altogether downcast. Things never were so bad but that they could be worse; neither were they ever so bad that they could not be better. There are those who say that the country needed just such an experience as we have had during the past two years to bring us to our normal senses; that we have been very profligate and extravagant in our notions and expenditures superinduced by war experience which in itself is always overt, misleading, abusive, extravagant and always upsets and destroys the equilibrium of nations as well as individuals. That this has been our experience no one will deny; but to stay that way is unnatural and another question. There are many "Calebs and Joshuas" thruout the country who visualize the situation correctly and are ready not only to give a good report but to help put it over. In this connection it was our pleasure to read the announcement of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival as announced to be held on the 30th of this month. We could not help the thought that the people of Prince William county have great reason to rejoice that there are within her boundaries men who can not only plan such events but have the spirit, the business ability and can sense its industrial value enough to put it over. There is no telling the future benefit to be derived by reason of this enterprise; it is going to boost an industry which will produce the financial income of the county and the whole Piedmont section of Virginia. Not only that but it will boost the concept of the people for things beautiful as they behold the floats which at once are the cartoons of industry and picture to the mind at one glance more than columns could convey in a lifetime. Many people who gave the festival but a casual thought last year will this year realize it is a fact and an event to be reckoned with, and as the years succeed themselves will increase in value and beauty. May we all appreciate the spirit, ability and acumen of the men who are responsible for it all. Some day their names shall be recorded high in Piedmont Dairy Industrial History as the originators of this great event.

Writing notes from Catharpin reminds the writer of his experience one day in the school room when one of the trustees came for a visit. At an opportune time we invited said trustee to address the school. He arose, came forward somewhat embarrassed, faced the school, stood, looked out of the window, teetered back and forth a little on heel and toe, stroked his beard, turned around and spat on the floor behind him, straightened up again and when he came to, said: "Well if any body thinks it's easy to make a speech let him get up here and try it." That's about the way we feel about these notes; if there were more to talk about this column might be longer but we shall now follow the trustee's example and sit down.

RENOVED NOVEL ACHIEVES
LUSTRE ON SILVERSCREEN

One of the most famous novels about youth and Hollywood—Harry Leon Wilson's story of the country lad who crashed the studio gates and made good—will be seen as a talkie, "Make Me a Star," at the Dixie Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, with Joan Blondell, Stuart Erwin, ZaSu Pitts and Ben Turpin heading the cast.

Critics have said that it is the dominating comedy-with-a-heart-tug in this story that gave it its international popularity. Paramount has faithfully transplanted the essence of the book into one of the most human, most entertaining pictures Stuart Erwin has ever done—and the producers have wisely cast him as the leading man, the ambitious, blundering youth about whom the story revolves.

The action opens in a small town in Illinois where Erwin is the clerk in the general store, brow-beaten and held in contempt by almost everyone in the community because of his high-falutin ideas.

Helen Jerome Eddy, his plain, un-beautiful girl friend, joins him in his rabid idolatry of Buck Benson, the famous movie cowboy hero, and urges him to go to Hollywood to emulate the exploits of the revered Buck. At last Erwin saves enough money to go to Hollywood. In the film capital he tramps from studio to studio, never finding the Elysium he had always believed was there.

At last, through the kindness of Joan Blondell, a hard-boiled "double" for a famous star, Erwin gets his first job before a camera.

He is virtually kicked into fame—for the performance he gives as serious drama is so terrible that the directors see its great value as hilarious comedy, and so he succeeds, a serio-comic, who doesn't know why he has made good.

His struggle, his dash hopes, his burning ambition to make a success of himself are all shared by the audiences that will see "Make Me a Star."

In the end there is happiness—and a twist and a thrill... a surprise and a pleasure that makes this story altogether interesting and entertaining.

The Ladies Aid held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. T. N. Berryman. Mrs. C. M. Hively had charge of the devotional program. Two new members, Mrs. W. B. Kerlin and Mrs. Lula Wright, were added to the list. The society has recently quilted two quilts for Miss Sadie Smith, the work being done at the home of Mrs. Brown. It was decided that the treasury turn over fifty dollars to the building fund also some money be paid for improvement done on the parsonage at Manassas, other business discussed, a social hour spent, and refreshments served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Swank spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Grover May.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hively spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Sonofrank.

A series of meetings closed at the Valley church on Sunday night. Communion was held on Saturday evening. An exceptionally large number communed.

Miss Anna Smith spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Mabel Hedrick.

Mr. J. C. Snyder of Washington spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives here. He attended Sunday school and gave a most interesting talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stultz of Bergton, Mr. and Mrs. Howard May and little daughter of Timberville and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Driver of Nashville, Tenn., recently spent the week end at the Stultz home.

Mr. Leroy Brown is still confined to the hospital, but is slowly improving. On Sunday preceding Sunday school the lucky name will be drawn for the rug that was chanced off a few days ago.

The Sunbeam Class held their last meeting at the home of Misses Evelyn and Geneva Kerlin with a large crowd present. The class is always busy working on some project to add finances to the building fund. Practicing will start in several weeks on a minstrel to be given the last of October. After the devotional program and business meeting, a treasure hunt was held. Messrs. Randall Foster and Fred Shepherd were chosen captains. Napoleon with his army (?) was victor over Caesar and his army (?). Memories of a happy evening and a marshmallow roast will be carried, except by those who got poison oak.

The soliciting committee of the U. B. church wishes to express their sincere thanks to all the friends who are helping with donations which make it possible for the work on the new church to go forward. These are crucial economic times, but we believe there never was a time as now that God expects as much from his people. The fine spirit of co-operation and enthusiasm from people of other churches helping in this building project convinces us that there are many practicing the principles of Christian stewardship in matters of earthly possessions and that they have the conviction and passion for sharing others' burdens with theirs and not thinking of it as a duty but as a wonderful privilege. To mention all who are helping with this work would take a good deal of time and space, but a complete record is being kept.

HOME HYGIENE CLASS MEETS AT ADEN

The class in home hygiene and care of the sick for the Aden community had its first regular meeting on Tuesday at Mrs. F. S. Whetzel's. Fourteen of the fifteen women present were enrolled in the class for twenty-four hours of work. The class will meet each Tuesday at Mrs. Whetzel's for two hours beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Those wanting to work for certificates must join the class not later than the third lesson but interested visitors will be welcome at any meetings.

POULTRY

NO REVENUE FROM MALES IN FLOCK

Wise Poultryman Will Get Rid of Roosters.

The only object of keeping male birds is to get eggs for hatching and that season is past. The farmer should remember that the rooster is consuming feed which neutralizes the profits from a laying hen. A still more important reason for disposing of the males is the production of infertile eggs. We hear a great deal about egg quality. The best way to improve egg quality is to produce infertile eggs.

Fertile eggs do not keep well. Five per cent of all eggs marketed are a total loss because of chick development. Besides a large proportion of rot is due directly to chick development being retarded. The object of a hen in producing eggs is to reproduce herself. If males are present and the egg is fertilized, the embryo starts to develop within the body of the hen. When a proper temperature is again maintained this development continues. There will be a slow growth at any temperature above 70 degrees Fahrenheit. A temperature of 84 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit for three days will produce as great a development as one day at a temperature of 103. A temperature of 104 to 110 for one day will produce an embryo as far developed as three days at a temperature of 103.

Production of infertile eggs is especially advantageous during the summer. Such eggs do not develop germs, stand shipment well, withstand heat, are easily preserved, slow to decay and cost less. The hen will lay as well or better with no males present in the flock. An infertile egg can thus be produced and, if unwashed, may keep indefinitely. A large percentage will dry up before they will rot.—Missouri Farmer.

Weight Important Point in Breeding of Chickens

An advantage not often mentioned, that early hatched chicks have over late ones of the American and English breeds, is the greater weight. This is no little consideration when the hens are sold after a year's lay with a cut of 25 to 40 per cent in price for hens under four and one-half pounds. The Massachusetts experiment station has compiled records covering six years' work with Rhode Island Reds. Each year, the flock was made up of two hatches, eight weeks apart, one in March and one in May. The chicks were out of the same matings, fed and cared for alike as nearly as possible. At twenty-one weeks of age, the average weight of the March pullets was exactly five pounds; the best year, they weighed 5.18 pounds and the poorest year 4.83 pounds. The May pullets averaged 4.27 pounds for the six years, 4.42 pounds being the best and 4.10 pounds the poorest. The comparative weights remain about the same throughout life.—Wallace's Farmer.

Movable House Best

The light, movable growing shelter is coming into more general use by poultrymen everywhere. It is regarded by those who speak with authority as the greatest improvement in poultry housing since the introduction of the open-front house. On a suitable range it provides conditions similar to those that are enjoyed by wild birds—easy movable quarters, freedom from mites, ample ventilation, cool roosting quarters, no overheating or sweating, no germ-laden, dusty air.—Los Angeles Times.

Broody Birdies

Broody birds cause loss of eggs, loss of freshness, breakage of eggs. Take the broody birdie off the nest after dark and snip a celluloid band on the leg. Put her back on a slat-bottomed nest for three days. If she has to be put in a slat nest three times for broodiness, it is time she was eaten. Fatten her and use the ax. Broodiness is an inherited trait, just as certainly as shank color, plumage color or other distinguishing marks.

Reduces Flock Costs

One way to reduce flock costs is to cull the year-old hens and retain them another year, states University of Illinois poultryman. Such hens have gone through their most expensive depreciation. If they are well bred they should make good producers another year, though their egg yield may not be quite as high as pullets. Keeping old hens increases hazard of disease, and where possible it is desirable to brood a new lot of chicks and replace the flock with pullets.

Painting the Brooder

Unless the premises where chicks are kept and all appliances used are known to be absolutely free from lice and mites, and it is certain that chicks have never been exposed to them, it is a wise precaution to paint or spray the brooder with a mixture of four parts crude petroleum and one part kerosene, allowing it to dry thoroughly before using. Puffs of insect powder on the chicks when in the brooder, about once a week, will destroy any lice.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF
THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS

By Virgilus Dabney

The Young Democratic Clubs of America, formed last March, through the enterprise and initiative of Tyre Taylor of Raleigh, N. C., and already boasting half a million members in all parts of the country, have greater potentialities for good or evil than almost any similar group of which I have knowledge. Here is an organization which is almost sure to include the great majority of the leading Democrats of the future, the men and women who ten or fifteen years hence will be the controlling factors in the party throughout the United States. Bearing this thought in mind, one may readily grasp the significance of the movement.

If the Young Democrats remain true to the principles which they profess, and there is reason to hope that they will do so, the Democratic party, which for so many years has wobbled around between the extremes of near-radicalism and ultra-conservatism may finally orient itself once more and become what Thomas Jefferson intended it to be, namely, the liberal party in America. This great body of Young Democrats, which is expected to total 1,000,000 members before the November election, can almost certainly accomplish this objective if it makes up its mind and refuses to let anything swerve it from its chosen path.

The need for a definite orientation of the Democratic party is too obvious to require argument. During Jefferson's lifetime it was the liberal party in this country, but since 1830, or thereabouts, it has changed its policies so often that no one can say with certainty what it stands for. During the three decades preceding the outbreak of the War Between the States it was the party of slavery, and since the war it has been the party of whatever interest happened to get control. It nominated a near-radical like Bryan and then it chose a conservative like Alton B. Parker. It named a liberal like Woodrow Wilson, after which it selected a conservative like John W. Davis.

Anyone can see that a party which nominates such diverse personalities as these has no fixed principles. It is an opportunist party, seeking to cater to popular prejudices and trying to follow public opinion instead of to lead it. In 1928, for example, after long years of devotion to the principle of "a tariff for revenue only," the Democracy decided that the voters would never support a candidate on a platform which called for tinkering with the protective principle, so it promptly threw its time-honored policy overboard and endorsed the Republican tariff.

The two parties already had become indistinguishable, except on this one issue, and the Democratic surrender of 1928 wiped out the last remaining difference between them. It is true that Al Smith, the Democratic presidential candidate of that year, was far more liberal than Herbert Hoover, his Republican opponent, but in so far as the official pronouncement of the Democracy, as set forth in its platform, is concerned, it was virtually identical with that of the Republicans.

This year the Democrats have a far better platform than they had then. It is concise, clear and outspoken. It is by no means perfect, but it is a great improvement over that of four years ago. The party also has a candidate who is distinctly in the liberal tradition, and who is interested in the average man, rather than in "Uncle Joe" Grundy and his boodle brigade. But one cannot escape the feeling that it is merely accidental that such is the case. The conservative elements in the party made a terrific effort at Chicago to head off Roosevelt, and they almost succeeded. Their first choice was Owen D. Young. Their chief reason for opposing Roosevelt was that he was too liberal, which is just another way of saying that he was too much in the Jeffersonian tradition, or in other words, too much of a Democrat.

Something will have to be done about this tendency of a large element in the Democratic party to seek to make it an imitation Republican party, and it would appear that the agency through which this can best be accomplished is the Young Democrats. Here is an organization containing a large percentage of the Democrats of America between the ages of 18 and 45. It bids fair to have a membership of a million men and women within a few months and perhaps far more than that within a few years.

When the Young Democrats organized at Washington in March they adopted a resolution declaring that their purpose is "to further the ideals and principles of the Democratic party." This, it must be said, is a meaningless phrase. The "principles and ideals of the Democratic party," as pointed out above, change so often that nobody can say what they are. The task of the Young Democrats is to fix these principles in such a way that there will no longer be any uncertainty as to them. In order to do this, they must stress "the ideals and principles of Thomas Jefferson" rather than "the ideals and principles of the Democratic party." If they will emphasize Jeffersonian doctrine rather than Democratic doctrine the public will know whereof they speak. Otherwise it will remain pretty much in the dark.

Fortunately there is reason to believe that the intention of the Young Democrats is to emphasize the principles of the party's founder in their attitude toward public questions. Tyre Taylor, national president, has denounced some of the more plutocratic tendencies in the Republican party, thus indicating that he himself is a Jeffersonian. John Galleher, Commonwealth's attorney of Loudoun county and president of the organization in Virginia, is a staunch believer in Jeffersonian doctrine, and in his indefatigable work in building up the membership throughout the State he is stressing the importance of a return to the fundamental principles of the party.

Certainly this tendency was further substantiated at the meeting of the Young Democrats in Chicago during the Democratic National Convention, when President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago delivered one of the most brilliant castigations of the G. O. P. which that party has received in many a year, and at the same time presented a liberal program for the national Democracy.

Whatever one may say of the Republicans, it is undeniable that they have a definite, fixed policy and that they stick to it. That policy is to uphold privilege at all times, to favor the rich against the poor, big business against small business. It is no coincidence that the great majority of American millionaires are Republicans. They know that the G. O. P. will look out for them.

The Democratic party ought to have a fixed policy also, and it ought to be a policy which differs radically from that of the Republican party. Otherwise there is no point in having two parties.

If the Young Democrats wish to make the movement which they have inaugurated one of genuine significance in the history of this country they can do so by insisting that the Democratic party get back to fundamental principles of Thomas Jefferson. In order to do this, they must stress the fact that whereas the Republicans are chiefly concerned for the welfare of the privileged few, the Democrats are interested in the welfare of the underprivileged many. Let Wall Street yell "demagoguery!" to its heart's content. That is Wall Street's only argument against Jeffersonian principles.

All this sounds very bromidic, I know. Democratic spell binders have been urging a "return to the grand old principles of Thomas Jefferson" for many decades. The trouble is that they usually stop there. They talk about the principles of the master of Monticello but they don't do anything about them. What is one to say, for example, of the eighteen Democrats in the United States Senate who voted for the recently imposed tariffs on oil, coal, copper and lumber? Certainly there is nothing Jeffersonian about this outrageous swindle of the public for the benefit of a few special interests.

But the Young Democrats must not only set their faces firmly against a repetition of any such betrayal of the party in the future, and again all other measures sponsored by economic Toryism, but they must also dedicate themselves to the separation of church and state, to the revitalization of the principle of individual liberty, to the revival of the cause of State rights, and to the restoration of popular rule, now denied through unduly stringent franchise requirements.

The Southern wing of the Democracy is particularly in need of a call back to Jeffersonian principles. It would seem that the Young Democrats are in a position to sound that battle cry. Here in Virginia President Galleher has succeeded in organizing about fifty clubs in the past few months, with several thousand members, and he expects to attain the state goal of 20,000 by November. This is a movement with vast potentialities for the future of the South and the nation. It may give America a definite political alignment between liberals and conservatives, something we have not had for many years, and something which has long been needed.—Richmond Times-Dispatch, September 11, 1932.

POULTRY
FACTSTO PREVENT LOSS
FROM ROUND WORMSHow Poultry Pests May Be
Combated.(By C. M. FERGUSON, Poultry Extension
Specialist, Ohio State University,
WNU Service.)

Costly losses from troublesome round worms that sap vitality and produce runts in the poultry flock may be prevented by taking three simple precautions. The first step in protecting the chick crop against round worms is complete isolation of the chicks from the adult birds. This is most easily accomplished by keeping the laying flock either confined to the laying house or confined to a limited range. It may also be done by brooding the chicks on ground which has not been used for poultry or where poultry manure has not been spread for at least two years, and where the adult birds cannot come in contact with the chicks.

The second step is to take precautions in preventing the carrying of infective material on the shoes, buckets and equipment when the poultryman is walking from the laying house to the brooding quarters.

Frequent cleaning of the poultry buildings and the removal of manure to some distant field where it should be spread thinly is the third step in controlling this dreaded pest of the farm flock. If this is not practical, a manure pit constructed to keep out the flies, insects, and rodents will not only aid in the prevention of round worm infestation, but will also tend to prevent the spread of tape worms from adult birds to the growing chicks.

Average Poultry Ration
in Both Grain and Mash

The usual amount of grain given to 100 Leghorn pullets at this time of the year is about 14 pounds per day. About the same amount of mash will be consumed by them. For heavier breeds from one to two more pounds of grain is fed per hundred birds per day, and they will consume about as much mash as grain. These amounts of feed also hold good for 100 hens.

As to the amount of feed for 50 chicks: in a period of six weeks 50 chicks will consume a total of approximately 100 pounds of feed, including both grain and mash. A daily feed schedule for 50 chicks for the first six weeks would be somewhat as follows: Grain for the first week, 10 ounces; second week, 11 ounces; third week, 1 pound; fourth week, 1 1/4 pounds; fifth week, 1 1/2 pounds; sixth week, 2 pounds.

For mash, 11 ounces during the second week, 1 pound, the third week, 1 1/4 pounds the fourth week, 1 1/2 pounds the fifth week, 2 pounds the sixth week.—Montreal Herald.

Kill Chicken Lice

Hens that are infested with body lice or feather mites cannot produce efficiently. One of the easy ways of ridding an infestation of these pests is to paint the roosts of the poultry house with nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40). Just before the birds go to roost at night. The heat of the hens will release the nicotine fumes and vermin on the birds will be killed. Body lice can be killed with one treatment, but the feather mites and red mites that harbor around the roosts may take two or three treatments. Examine a few of your birds. If they are lousy, kill the lice right now with this simple treatment.—Prairie Farmer.

$ 1.50 ÷ 6 =
25 Cents
per person

TIMES can't be so bad when you can get a dinner like the following at an average cost of a quarter per person:

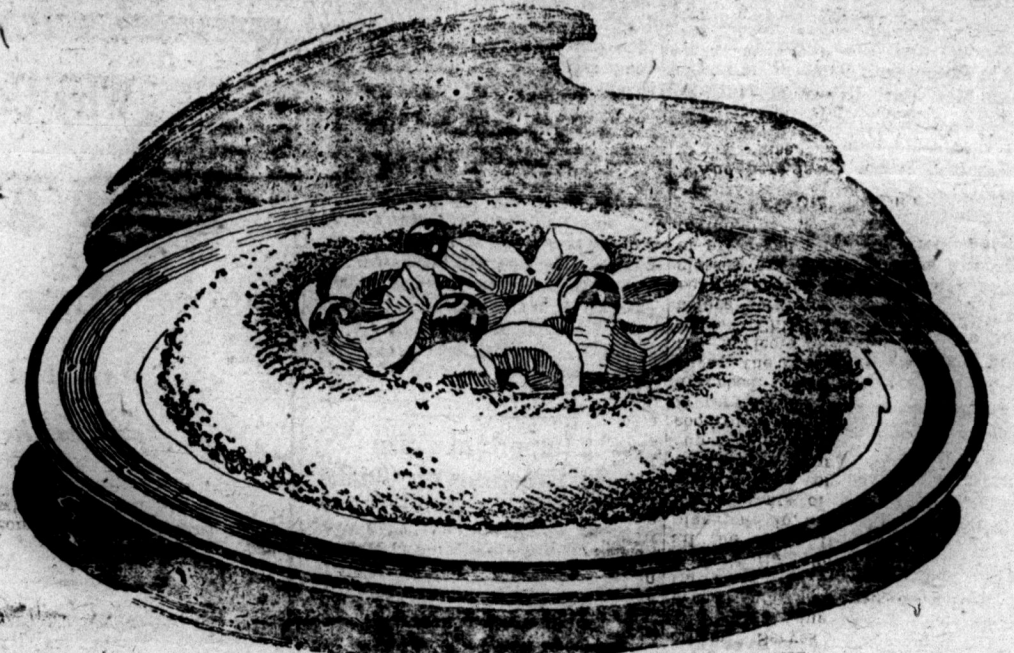

Scallops Radishes 10¢
Corn Omelet 12¢ Bacon Strips 22¢
Broiled Tomatoes 20¢
French Bread and Butter 18¢
Waldorf Salad 25¢
Pear Cobbler with Cream 28¢
Coffee with Cream 10¢

Corn Omelet: Separate six eggs, and beat yolks until thick and whites until stiff. Add six tablespoons hot water, three-fourths teaspoon salt and one-third teaspoon pepper to the yolks, then fold in the whites. Add the contents of an 8-ounce can of corn, and pour into a buttered, hot skillet, or better, into two smaller ones. Cook slowly until brown on the bottom, then place in a moderate oven, 350°, until firm and top dried off. Fold over, and turn out onto a hot platter, garnish with bacon strips, and serve at once. Serves six liberally.

Pear Cobbler: Mix two tablespoons sugar with one-half tablespoon flour, add with one tablespoon butter to the pears from a one-pound can, bring to boiling, and pour into a baking dish. Make a baking powder biscuit dough of one cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons shortening, one tablespoon sugar, six tablespoons milk, and drop by spoonfuls on top of the pears. Bake in hot—450°—oven for ten to twelve minutes. Serve hot with one cup light cream.

AN ENJOYABLE ECONOMY

A GOOD way to extend both the fresh and canned fruits which you serve this season is to put them in a rice ring. This makes them not only attractive and appetizing, but it is a real economy since it makes the fruits go much further. Rice rings are simple to make, and give a festive appearance to the dish. Here are some recipes for combinations of fruit and rice which you will like.

All in a Ring

Rice Circles with Figs: Cook one cup rice in boiling, salted water until tender, drain and pack into buttered individual ring molds, and chill. Turn out onto small plates, and fill center with figs from a No. 1 can. Pour the fig syrup over the rice, and garnish with whipped cream. Serves six.

Parisian Fruit and Rice Mixture: Boil one cup rice, and drain. Add one egg yolk and two tablespoons sugar slightly beaten together, pack into a buttered ring mold, and chill. Turn out and fill center with the drained contents of a No. 2 1/2 can of fruit for salad. Pour over one cup creamy custard sauce, or pass it on the side after serving dessert. Serves eight.

Fruited Rice Ring: Boil one-third cup rice as usual, and drain. Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, and dissolve in the contents of one 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple and one-fourth cup sugar brought to boiling. Cool, and when it begins to set, fold in the rice and one cup beaten cream. Turn into a wet ring mold, and chill. Turn out, and fill center with sliced oranges or whole fresh strawberries, depending on the season. Serves eight.

A Mound of Goodness

Rice Mound with Pineapple Cover: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, and dissolve in one-half cup boiling canned pineapple syrup from a No. 2 1/2 can of sliced pineapple. Add one-fourth cup sugar, and let cool. When it begins to thicken, add one cup cooked rice, one-half teaspoon vanilla and one cup beaten cream, and pack in a fancy mold. Chill. Add enough water to rest of pineapple syrup to make one cup, add one-half cup sugar and eight cloves, and bring to boiling. Cook the pineapple slices from the No. 2 1/2 can in this syrup until very soft and the syrup thick. Chill. Lay cherries in center of slices and garnish with whipped cream. Serves six to eight.

A Special Treat

Butterscotch Rice Ring Filled with Apricots: Boil one-half cup rice three minutes in salted water, drain and add two cups scalded milk. Cover and cook in double boiler until almost tender. Melt together until thick one tablespoon butter and two-thirds cup brown sugar, add to rice and continue cooking until rice is very tender and mixture thick. Add two slightly-beaten egg yolks, cook one minute longer, and pour into a buttered ring mold. When set and cold, turn out onto a plate. Meanwhile, boil one-half cup sugar with the apricots for three or four minutes, chill and fill center of rice ring. Serve plain or with plain or whipped cream. Serves eight.

The following recipe includes pineapple as well as apricots with the rice.

Fruit Rice Parfait: Press out all the syrup from the crushed pineapple in a No. 2 can, drain the contents of a No. 2 can of apricots, and combine the syrups. Bring to boiling, add one-fourth cup rice, boil five minutes, then cook over boiling water until rice is very tender and the liquid all absorbed. Add one-fourth cup sugar, the drained pineapple and the apricots pressed through a sieve. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, fold in one cup beaten cream. Pile lightly in glasses and garnish with a bit of preserved ginger. Serves eight to ten.

An Old Favorite

And here is an old favorite in a new guise.

Peach Rice Pudding: Mix together one and one-half cups boiled rice, one-third cup sugar and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Cut the sliced peaches from a one-pound can in pieces and add them and enough peach syrup to just moisten. Pour into a buttered baking dish, dot with one tablespoon butter, and bake in a moderate oven—350° to 375°—for about twenty-five minutes. Serve warm or cold with thin cream flavored with nutmeg. Serves six.
