BOARD HAS BUSY SESSION

The following members were present at the meeting yesterday: Mrs. Anita Piercy, Mrs. Annie G. Shumate, Messrs. W. L. Lloyd, H. T. Barnes, F. M. Lynn and D. J. Arrington, chairman.

The Board authorized Trustee Lynn to extend Bacon Race bus route 1.3 miles toward Davis Ford Bridge.

The Board appointed Mrs. Annie Shumate and Prof. R. C. Haydon a committee to investigate the question of extending Cherry Hill bus route.

The matter of painting the local gymnasium was tabled indefinitely.

The Board appointed D. J. Arrington and R. C. Haydon to inspect Manassas schools with a view to meeting certain corrections as suggested by local fire department.

Messrs. Arrington and Lloyd were named delegates to the annual educational conference at Richmond during Thanksgiving week.

Due to increased enrollment at Bennett school, a committee composed of Mrs. Frances Lewis and Mrs. Emlyn Marsteller presented a request to furnish additional fountains. R. C. Haydon, W. L. Lloyd and D. J. Arrington were constituted a committee to go into the matter with power to spend a sum not exceeding $80 to provide such additional equipment.

Haymarket High School League was permitted to install lights if it carried all bills and expenses connected therewith, both in installation and in payment of light bills.

MANY CHILDREN T. B. TESTED HERE

At the children's clinic for the detection of early cases of tuberculosis held last week at Manassas, forty-three children were tested, and the test resulted in the discovery of twenty children showing tuberculosis in their blood. Of the 43, twenty-two were x-rayed, and the parents of all the positive cases were advised that a report would be sent to their family physician and he would advise them how to prevent the disease from taking deeper hold.

Over 50 cases of tuberculosis out of 100 in adults are contracted during childhood. If the cases are found early, it is easy to fortify the body against the larvae of the disease.

Children showing a positive tuberculin reaction to the test are rarely, if ever, spreaders of the disease, and so in most instances it is not necessary to take the infected child from school, but it is necessary to see that the habits of the child as to eating, sleeping and exercise are properly regulated.

It is reported that more and more private physicians are applying the tuberculin test to the children in families in their practice where tuberculosis is known to exist. When this becomes a universal practice, child tuberculosis will become a rarity and future tuberculosis in grown people will be nipped in the bud.

CHANGE OF POLLING PLACE

The judges of Manassas precinct have changed the place to the courtroom in the courthouse. This has been largely because the length of the ballot will cause slow voting and it is felt that inside comforts of the courthouse will be greater. It is expected that from three to five booths will be furnished.

CAPTURE STILL

Last night while going along the Richmond Highway, Sheriff Kerlin and Deputy Herndon observed a fire in the woods.

On investigation, it proved to be a 75-gallon still just getting up enough steam for operation. The owners had fled evidently on approach of the officers. It is stated that this still was believed to be under the operation of a notorious crowd in that section of the county.

BIG VICTORY RALLY AT BRENTSVILLE

The Forgotten Man

By EDWIN MARKHAM

Dedicated to Franklin D. Roosevelt, after hearing his lofty and noble appeal for the Forgotten Man.

Edwin Markham

NOT on our golden fortunes built high—
Not on our boasts that soar into the sky—
Not upon these is resting in this hour
The fate of the future; but upon the power
Of him who is forgotten—yes, on him
Rest all our hopes reaching from rim to rim.
In him we see all of earth's toiling bands,
With crooked backs, scarred faces, shattered hands.

HE seeks no office and he asks no praise
For all the patient labor of his days.
He is the one supporting the huge weight;
He is the one guarding the country's gate.
He bears the burdens on these earthly ways:
We pile the debts, he is the one who pays.
He is the one who holds the solid power
To steady nations in their trembling hour.
Behold him as he silently goes by.
For it is at his word that nations die.

SHATTERED with loss and lack.
He is the man who holds upon his back
The continent and all its mighty loads—
This toiler who makes possible the roads
On which the gilded thousands travel free—
Makes possible our feasts, our roaring boards
Our pomps, our easy days, our golden hoards
He gives stability to nations; he
Makes possible our nation, sea to sea.
His strength makes possible our college walls—
Makes possible our legislative halls—
Makes possible our churches soaring high
With spires, the fingers pointing to the sky.

SHALL then this man go hungry, here in hands
Beast by his honor, builded by his hands?
Do something for him: let him never be
Forgotten: let him have his daily bread.
He who has fed us, let him now be fed.
Let us remember all his tragic lot—
Remember, or else be ourselves forgot!

ALL honor to the one that in this hour
Cries to the world as from a lighted tower—
Cries for the Man Forgotten. Honor the one
Who asks for him a glad place in the sun.
He is a voice for the voiceless. Now, indeed,
We have a tongue that cries the mortal need.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

A jolly Hallowe'en party was given Sunday evening by Miss Thelma Barnard of Washington, D. C., at the parental M. E. Barnard home.

The decorations of autumn leaves, corn stalks, pumpkins, jack-o-lanterns, and candles made a very pretty and appropriate setting for the occasion.

ELECTION RETURNS

The Manassas Journal has arranged with the Associated Press to receive and give out reports on the evening of the election. As rapidly as anything comes in over the wire, it will be announced. In return we have been asked to assemble our local returns early in the evening. Those precincts which can not call in by phone are urged to send up someone with the exact vote listed. This may be done by merely writing the totals in on a sample ballot after the count is over.

Some of the enthusiastic Democrats in town have already ordered red fire and noise makers.

The Journal office will be open after about 8:30 and will remain open until some definite information concerning the national vote has been received. It is of the greatest importance that our phone be not kept busy by interested parties calling in to get returns. We shall give this information locally only by bulletin.

Typical Virginia Rally Presided Over by Our Popular Congressman.

A tremendous crowd assembled at the old courthouse at Brentsville on Friday last to hear the principles of Democracy enlarged upon, and incidentally to absorb a culinary feast prepared on the open spits, such as few in the assembly had ever witnessed before.

Prior to the banquet, a section of the Boys' Band from Linton Hall, under the direction of Army Sergeant Carl Shaver, furnished some excellent music.

Representative Howard Smith introduced the several speakers. While so doing, he referred humorously to the color of the informative ballots now in circulation as indicating the psychic state of the respective parties.

Hon. Wilbur C. Hall, delegate from Loudoun in the Virginia Assembly, and elector-at-large, attacked the tariff and finance of the present administration, stating that all previous panics in the history of the country were but as "summer zephyrs when compared to the present typhoon of despair."

Recalling the bombastic pledges of Hoover in 1928, he called attention to the eleven million out of work, and quoted Senator Glass as saying that "so far from a chicken in every pot, we do not even have the pot." He further epitomized the present condition of the United States as a "country crucified on a cross of failure."

He charged the Hawley-Smoot tariff act as prohibitive and not protective, stating that it had come out of clear sky, no intimation of such a policy having been given in the 1928 campaign.

Striking at the policy of Henry Ford regarding his instructions to voting employees, he urged that the time was now here to remember the "forgotten man" both in the factory and in the field. "Agriculture can expect nothing from the Republican party," he added.

Referring to the economy plank of the platform, he brought hearty applause when he maintained that "if there is one road back to prosperity it is in the reduction of the cost of government, both national and local."

After extensively reviewing "the many accomplishments of the party under Wilson," he concluded by referring to the death of Jackson at Chancellorsville, who when approached by one of his leaders after he had been shot, was admonished "to fall Caesar if you should meet him this night that the South still makes war," by paraphrasing the remark to state that whatever the outcome "Democracy still makes war."

Representative Allard Gasque of South Carolina was then introduced by Judge Smith as a farm boy and later a teacher.

Mr. Gasque explained that it was his great pleasure to address a Virginia audience for the first time.

"When I think of Virginia as the birthplace of Democracy," he said, "I can not understand how any real Virginian could vote anything but the Democratic ticket."

Mr. Gasque received the closest attention when he showed the special privilege influence exercised by Messrs. Mellon and Mills, of the U. S. Treasury Department, giving figures to substantiate his charge that they mulcted the treasury in rebates on income taxes after the last election, returning a thousand per cent for every dollar contributed to the campaign fund. He charged Mellon with being the "greatest menace ever born in the country."

Touching on Hoover's recent speeches, he accused the President of "wiffully and maliciously murdering the truth." In concluding, he asserted that this election was not altogether a party contest but "a fight for the very lives of the peoples themselves."

Hon. O'Connor Goolrick, of Fredericksburg, former State Senator, who had been invited to speak by Hon. G. W. Herring, Prince William delegate, closed the ceremonies with a dramatic attack on both the President and the party platform. He compared this with the Democratic platform which he declared was one of "courage and hope," and that the party if elected would "govern in the interest of the working man."

Going back over the last decade, he reviewed the conduct of the government. (Continued on page 5)
