BI-COUNTY GROUP CONVENES HERE

Entertained at Mrs. Jack Leachman's.

On Thursday of last week the Fauquier County Medical Society, which includes in its membership the medical profession of Prince William county, met in Manassas at 8 p.m., with Dr. Stewart McBryde as host.

The doctors, dentists and druggists of Prince William, Fauquier, Culpeper, Rappahannock, Loudoun, Fairfax and Arlington counties and also a number of professional men from Washington, Alexandria and Fredericksburg were present. The meeting was presided over by the president, Dr. John T. Sprague, chief of staff of the Warrenton Hospital.

The address of welcome was delivered with much humor by Dr. Stewart McBryde of Manassas and a very entertaining response was made by Dr. Sprague. Dr. Charles B. Martin of Nokesville and Dr. Benjamin Phillips of Quantico were elected to membership.

The speaker of the evening was Major General Robert U. Patterson, surgeon general of the United States Army, who spoke on "Veterans' Benefits" and gave an interesting account of the work in the office of the surgeon general.

In the discussion which followed Doctors John T. Sprague, S. T. Noiland, W. O. Bailey and M. B. Hiden participated.

Following the professional business of the evening, Dr. and Mrs. McBryde entertained in old-time Southern fashion, with delicious refreshments, music and dancing.

PARK PROJECT ABOUT COMPLETE

Acquisition of Blue Ridge mountain land to be turned over to the Federal government by the Virginia Conservation Commission for the establishment of the Shenandoah National Park has been brought much closer than expected by the action of lienholders of the 22,000-acre Mount Vernon Survey tract in accepting the price fixed by the Park Appraisal Commission, William E. Carson, chairman of the Conservation Commission, announced a few days ago.

The Conservation Commission has sufficient funds in hand to pay for the 160,000 minimum acreage fixed by Congress for the formal establishment of the park, if the figures of the Park Appraisal Board are accepted by land-owners. If all land-owners accept these figures within the 160,000-acre area, approximately $1,800,000 will be promptly released for distribution in the counties of Albemarle, Augusta, Rockingham, Greene, Page, Madison, Rappahannock and Warren.

The acquisition of these lands by the Federal government will be followed by the expenditure of hundreds of thousands more in building roads in the park area by the Federal government, especially in extending the Skyline Drive from Swift Run Gap, east of Elkton, to Waynesboro, and from Panorama, east of Luray, to Front Royal. The taking over the park area by the government, it is declared, will call for funds to prepare the crest of the Blue Ridge for the reception of visitors to the proposed new Shenandoah National Park in the east.

Acceptance of the price fixed by the Park Appraisal Commission for the Alexander tract of 22,000 acres makes 44,486 acres in the proposed 160,000 acre area along the crest of the Blue Ridge which have agreed and notified Mr. Carson they will agree to accept payment of the figures named by the appraisers. If other land-owners come in and accept the figures, it means it will be only a short time when the Conservation Commission will pay for the land through the courts and turn it over to the Federal government. The Conservation Commission is anxious to have this done before Congress adjourns on March 4 in order to obtain an appropriation for the development of the park area.

BREEDING SCHOOL AT MANASSAS

Two Days of Valuable Instruction, Dec. 13, 14.

For the benefit of Prince William farmers and dairymen, the county agricultural extension committee and county agent have made arrangements for a two-day dairy cattle breeding school at the Manassas post office, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 13 and 14.

This school will continue from 9:30 in the morning until 3:30 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon each day, allowing about one hour for lunch. The course of instruction will be both practical and interesting and without cost to those attending.

Every dairyman is urgently invited to register for the full course. It is recommended, without reservation, as a rare opportunity to learn the latest facts on dairy cattle breeding.

The course will treat of such subjects as "The Laws and Principles That Affect Dairy Cattle Breeding"; "How Heredity Works in Dairy Cattle Breeding," considering inbreeding, line breeding and outcrossing and the practicability of each; "Bull Management and Practical Breeding Problems," and "Clinic on Reproductive Diseases in Dairy Cattle."

All have wondered many times why "Why high butterfat cows sometimes produce low testing daughters?" "How can I increase my herd's production with a bull and hold it?" "What causes abortion, cystic ovaries, sterility, mammitis and other reproductive diseases that ruin good herds?" "Why pure Holsteins sometimes drop red and white calves?" and "How can I build up a high producing, healthy herd?"

These and many other breeding questions will be answered by dairy cattle breeding specialists from the U. S. Bureau of Dairying; Dr. L. E. Starr, V. P. I. veterinarian; R. G. Connelly, Extension dairyman at V. P. I., and others.

This course affords an opportunity to obtain additional information on sound dairy cattle breeding practices without leaving the county.

All dairymen and others interested in the lectures and discussions are urged to be on hand Tuesday morning and attend through both days.

CIRCUIT COURT MATTERS

The court has been very active this past week. The only case which has taken up much time was that of the Bull Run Power Company, being tried for flooding Woodyard's Ford below Clifton Station. This case opened on Tuesday as per schedule, was partially heard until court adjourned and then continued through all of Wednesday and into the night. It finally resulted in an acquittal.

Three liquor cases against Carrol Braxton were dismissed.

George Shoemaker was given $100 and thirty days for driving under the influence of ardent spirits while another sentence was withheld in another case.

The following were continued to February: G. W. Bradfield, Ellis Crouch, French McPherson, Elmer Waite.

Benny Rootes found guilty of a prohibition felony was fined $5 and given six months.

W. W. Mountjoy was found "not guilty" of a prohibition misdemeanor. Frank Hamilton plead guilty to a prohibition misdemeanor, was fined $50 and given a suspended sentence of thirty days.

Mike Gray plead guilty to a prohibition charge, was fined $50 and given a three months' sentence. Sam Leonard plead guilty to a charge of possession of liquor while a charge of sale will be tried in February.

John Henry Thomas, convicted of selling liquor to two little boys, was given a year while Elwood Reid, associated with him, was cleared.

demonstration on "Christmas Gift Suggestions" will be given by the home agent. Each woman is asked to contribute a Christmas idea.

The December meeting is the first of the new project year and will be under the direction of the recently-elected chairman, Mrs. Ernest Spitzer.

GREENWICH HOME DEMONSTRATION GROUP TO HAVE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The December meeting of the Greenwich Home Demonstration Group will be held on Thursday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. N. K. Middlethun. The chairman, Mrs. Raymond Ellis, is asking all members to make contributions to the Christmas program. Donations for the Christmas boxes will also be received at this meeting. "Ideas for Christmas Gifts" will be the topic for demonstration and will be given by the home demonstration agent.

NOTES TAKEN FROM ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

1. PERSONAL REPORT SUMMARY. During the project year now closing 220½ days have been devoted to field work. Ten thousand one hundred seventy-four miles were traveled in making 739 home visits attending 383 meetings at which 53,520 people were present. Seventy-two and one-half days have been spent at office work, 877 office and 741 telephone calls were received, 140 news articles and 51 notices were prepared for the county paper, 1615 individual and 23 circular letters were written. One thousand two hundred twenty-five bulletins have been given out.

2. PROGRAM OF WORK. Eighteen communities of the county have carried on 4-H club work and five have completed the home demonstration program of work for the year under the direction of the home demonstration agent. Two hundred seventeen club members and sixty seven other school children have worked in fifteen 4-H clubs. 136 women have been served directly through the six women's organizations and 200 others have been helped directly or indirectly.

In order to do the women's share in meeting the present economic condition, the home demonstration program of work for the year has been a live-at-home program. Foods were selected for the major project and through that the women have worked on the planning and serving of well-balanced and attractive meals from home-grown and inexpensive foods. In order to strengthen home production, vegetable gardening and poultry were selected as minor projects and have been studied under the State specialists in the respective lines. Through the house furnishings project, means of beautifying the homes by making attractive articles of house furnishings at little cost have been studied.

Reports from 79 women give a very good index to the work done in the foods and nutrition project. Sixty-eight homemakers have planned balanced meals throughout the year; 65 of these families produce practically all foods for family needs; and all of the 79 families planted vegetable gardens. These 79 women report having canned 5795 quarts of fruit; 5041 quarts of vegetables; 1051 quarts of meats, and 2946 quarts of other foods.

These women also report on refinishing walls, wood work, or floors in 108 rooms; reseating forty-one chairs; refinishing or remodeling 117 other pieces of furniture; improving storage facilities in 182 homes, and having 744 pieces of labor saving equipment made or bought.

In five other communities food preservation demonstrations were given at which the women of these communities helped to can vegetables and meats for school lunches. At one of these meetings in Woodbine community, 98 quarts and 1 pint of soup mixture were canned.

In order to further emphasize the live-at-home program, a county-wide garden and canning campaign was put on. Sixty-one women were enrolled in this campaign. The 37 women who reported on their work tell of 4631 quarts of fruits; 4342 quarts of vegetables; 2683 quarts of pickles and preserves canned; 917 7-8 bushels of root vegetables stored and a good supply of leafy vegetables on hand.

Three women entered the State garden and canning contest. Mrs. T. B. Flickenger of Nokesville won first place in the county and third place in northern Virginia district in that contest.

Eleven 4-H groups with an enrollment of 165 girls worked with clothing as a major project. Beside the making of 523 garments at a total cost of $104.60 these 165 girls have studied clothing costs. They made clothing inventories and budgets at the first of the year and have kept clothing accounts. They have also studied grooming posture and health (Please turn to page 4)

CONVERSE PAYS SECOND VISIT

Manassas Club Is Highly Complimented.

Henry Converse, of Harrisonburg, president of the Capitol district of the Kiwanis clubs, was the guest speaker at the last Friday night's dinner.

Manassas is highly complimented at two visits from the president in one year.

Bob Hutchison spoke at length on the Kiwanis convention and Kiwanis officers' training.

Mr. Converse dwelt on the high efficiency of the local club, its wonderful work and its determined purpose. His talk was really much appreciated.

Chairman Fred Hynson is actively projecting the work of Christmas committee.

G. R. Ratcliffe, in charge of the December program, says that he has a Washington speaker slated for tomorrow evening.

President-elect R. S. Hynson sat with President AL.

CARSON HONORED BY N. Y. SOUTHERN SOCIETY

Two Virginians are among the four persons who will be honored with "parchments of distinction" to be awarded Friday night at the annual smoker of the New York Southern Society. The Virginians are William E. Carson, chairman of the State Conservation and Development Commission, and Douglas Southall Freeman, editor of The News Leader, Richmond.

The other two are John D. Rockefeller, jr., for his extraordinary restoration of Williamsburg to its eighteenth century glamor, and L. R. Johnson, manager of White Sulphur Springs, for his maintenance of the historic resort in West Virginia near the Virginia border. Mr. Johnson recently held a "Lee" celebration at the "White" that attracted almost national attention.

Mr. Carson is being honored for placing historic markers along Virginia highways and at ancient shrines, explaining the significance of each to the passing traveler. The idea has been copied in many other States and its popularity is still spreading. He is also being complimented for his work in behalf of the Shenandoah National Park, and the Colonial National Monument which embraces Jamestown Island, Yorktown and a magnificent boulevard which is to link the two places.

Dr. Freeman is being cited, according to dispatches from New York, for "brilliant recording of many episodes, orations and phases in the history of the South."

WOOD CHOPPING CONTEST

The wood-chopping contest staged by the Manassas Hardware Company last Friday morning drew a large group of spectators, particularly those familiar with woodcraft.

A large hickory log had been placed in position on the lot adjoining the Journal office and the national champion, Peter McLaren, invited all participants to come forward, explaining the rules of the contest and the merits of the Plumb brand of axes which he represented.

Owing to the fact that previous contestants were not eligible, many who would have taken part were not able to do so, since they had contested in previous years.

Mr. C. M. Dodson of Manassas entered the contest and all who watched him were impressed with his clean, expert cutting and his good sportsmanship. His time was 3 minutes, 40 seconds. The champion had to do the same in two-thirds of the time, which he accomplished in a period of 1 minutes, 25 seconds. He used an axe with double bit and justified his national reputation as an unbeatable chopper.

VESTRY DINNER

According to the list of goodies that Raymond Ratcliffe has collected for the turkey supper next Thursday evening, the supper committee will be prepared to feed everything in sight if the good work keeps up.

These parish dinners are always a pleasure and it is hoped that a splendid crowd will grace the occasion.

CATHARPIN

Well Thanksgiving has passed off as it always has done in the past with no reported fatalities from dyspepsia or overeating that we have heard of. The people reported last week as visiting among us have returned home and as far as known are still living; so we are up against it somewhat this week for news. We have not heard anything from Gainesville or Haymarket or Waterfall but we presume they all had something to eat and to be thankful for along with the rest of us. We know some mighty good feeders and providers out those ways for we have sampled some of their "samples" and found them all that mortal man could wish with but a single exception and that exception can be summed up in one word, viz. to wit, "INFREQUENCY."

If old Noah Webster would only
"dele" that word out of his dictionary we might fare better; however we have no complaints to offer and will trust to luck for the future.

Mrs. Hill Akers attended the funeral of Mr. Joseph Harvey Swift in Pennsylvania last week. Mrs. Akers being an aunt of Mrs. Swift.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Only, of Clarendon, were Oakwood callers on Sunday afternoon last.

The community's one great and important industry is now running full time with all hands employed and the depression so far as it is concerned is now a thing of the past.

One can stand in his front door most any time and hear the buzz and hum of the machinery as it broadcasts its vibrations through the air, a most welcome sound this time of year. We almost forgot to tell you what it is; well, it's the WOOD PILE if "you all"
must know it; that ever comforting, satisfying pile of wood out in the back yard whose fagots are so often found piled up as welcoming sentinels on front porches ready at a moment's notice to drive out old Boreas and substitute therefore warmth and comfort.

We remember well when T. L. Gaines and L. J. Pattie used to travel the country over with a 40-horsepower boiler and engine to saw up the wood piles, traveling on the highway at the hazardous rate of at least 4 miles per hour; now Mr. Pattie with his farm tractor and saw attachment goes the rounds almost at model T speed and saws up the wood while you wait.

This is speed, comfort and utility.
Most of the wood piles nowadays are composed of dead timber, a result of the drought which we all so well remember.

Rev. and Mrs. K. D. Swecker and daughters, Mrs. W. L. Johnson and Nancy Lee, and little Billie Johnson dined at Oakwood on Sunday last.

The funeral of Mr. Wesley H. Rollins, a lifetime resident of Sudley neighborhood, was largely attended at Sudley church on Tuesday of last week, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Swecker, conducting the services. One by one the residents of old are passing on.

"DIED: on Monday, November 28, 1932, Joseph Harvey Swift, beloved husband of Carrie Fetzner Swift."

This notice altho expected came as a distinct shock to the many friends of Mrs. Swift, nee Miss Carrie Fetzner of this neighborhood. Mr. Swift was well known and loved by all friends and his passing greatly regretted.

His remains were interred in the family plot, Little Britain cemetery, Lancaster county, Pa., at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, December 2. Mr. Swift was one of a line of "Joseph Swifts" who have been owners of Fulton House, Lancaster county, Pa., for more than a hundred years; the said Fulton House being the home of Robert Fulton, the inventor of the first steamboat in 1807. The father, Joseph Swift, sr., the present owner, is still living at the age of 95 as is also the mother at the age of 85. The deceased was an only son and had he lived in all probability would have succeeded to the estate; however, while breaking the direct line, he leaves behind a young son, Joseph Swift, to bear the name. The Swifts have lived in Clarendon since returning from California several years ago where they had gone in the interest of Mr. Swift's health. He leaves a wife and three small children to mourn their loss.

Mr. George Davis lost a valuable farm horse recently; the animal dropping dead while at work.

The community still has a number of turkeys awaiting sale during the Christmas holidays. Both sales and prices so far have not met expectations. Surely the buyer or consumer has no room to complain this time.

OCCOQUAN

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kline, jr., and little daughter were Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. Wilmer Kline of Buckhall.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rector of Ball-

Wayland on Sunday.

Mrs. Lillian Noxon of Washington visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
James Fling, on Sunday last.

Mrs. Giles Carter, who has been ill from injuries of a recent fall, is slowly improving at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Seelman.

Mrs. Roscoe Clarke entertained a large number of friends at her home in Woodbridge on Nov. 21, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Waddell whose marriage to Mr. Kenneth Davis will take place on December 10.

Mrs. Harry Carter is quite sick in George Washington Hospital as the result of a recent major operation.

The stork visited the home of Mr.
and Mrs. R. J. Wayland on Thanksgiving Day and left a fine baby boy, weighing eight, and one-fourth pounds.

MANASSAS ATHLETIC CLUB ORGANIZES

The Manassas Athletic Club, both boys and girls, held the first practice of the season at the gymnasium Tuesday night.

Officers were elected as follows: Sedric Saunders, president and men's manager; Miss Rebecca Cornwell, girls' manager, and Claude H. Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Good material was evidenced in the enthusiastic young people who turned out for practice and some good games are anticipated as soon as schedules can be arranged.

BETHEL HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Bethel Home Demonstration Club, awarded the first prize at the annual achievement day program held in Manassas this fall as the outstanding club in the county, has elected officers for the ensuing year as follows:

President, Mrs. Fairbanks; vice-president, Mrs. Egbert Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Arnold; treasurer, Mrs. Collins, and leaders, Mrs. Shaeffer and Mrs. Powell Davis.

The new office of club reporter was created, Mrs. Wallace Dawson being chosen to fill the office.

The club meets this month with Mrs. Powell Davis at Woodbridge.

WHO CAN BEAT THIS?

Mr. A. J. Powell, caretaker and guide at the Bull Run Battlefield, killed hogs this week and had two that dressed 470 and 449 pounds each at the age of 9 months.

WOODY WILT

Woody Wilt, aged 58, died Friday at his home in Clifton. Funeral services were held Sunday in the Baptist church, Rev. S. Y. Craig, of Fairfax, officiating. Interment was in the old Payne burying ground.

The deceased leaves one son, Ernest of Clarendon, and two sisters, Mrs. Rush Buckley and Mrs. Tilden Mathers, both of Clifton.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU SEEKS HOMES

The Children's Bureau of the Virginia State Department of Public Welfare, 1101 Bank street, Richmond, Va., is in great need of free foster homes in Virginia for boys and girls, colored and white, from babyhood up to twenty years of age, but especially homes for white boys of school age.

Following are some of the children awaiting placement:

Jack, fourteen, an alert, attractive little fellow who needs the security and happiness of a permanent home. He has made many friends and should be a joy to the family taking him.

Hazel, six, dainty and blonde. To see her is to love her. She wants companionship of other children. It is hoped that she may find a foster mother and father and also a brother or sister or both.

Bobbie, a little three-year-old, with fair hair and blue eyes, much interested in his surroundings and with unusual capacity for gaining affection.

David, six, but quite a man, and most appealing with his twinkling brown eyes; has a quick mind and only needs opportunity for development.

Sue, a timid little dark-eyed girl of fourteen, sensitive and affectionate, fond of school, unusually well behaved.

Dick, thirteen, an outdoor lad, brown as a berry from sunburn, alert,

Sam, fourteen, courteous and gentlemanly, with a longing for affection of which he has been deprived by the breaking-up of his own family.

Herbert, fourteen, fond of play, enjoys the companionship of other boys, can also do chores nicely and can give help on a farm. He is interested in school; an all-round boy.

Jim, fifteen, is small for his age, with a great longing to belong to someone. Around Christmas when other boys are receiving cards and packages through the mail from relatives he feels lonely and sad because of not having interested relations. He is an appealing child; wins devoted friend. Is interested in Sunday school and church.

Jane, fourteen, quiet, well behaved, fond of school, studies hard, likes household tasks, does not remember her own parents, wants a permanent home.

Anyone in the State of Virginia interested in giving a child a free home is urged to write to the State Children's Bureau. A family which will care for one of these needy boys or girls will be rendering a real and much appreciated service, the value of which cannot be overestimated.

THE REPEAL VOTE

The very first action by the short session of Congress on Monday was the Garner proposal for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment in accordance with the pledges of the Democratic platform. This session of Congress is not pledged to the support of the Democratic platform particularly. It is the "Lame Duck" session and a large proportion of its membership was repudiated at the polls last November and will retire after this session.

A vote on Repeal at this time was purely experimental proposition designed as a test of sentiment. It was not generally believed that the necessary two-thirds vote could be mustered. Consequently the outcome was most surprising. The vote stood 272 for repeal, 144 against. Only 6 votes were needed to have accomplished the desired results.

The overwhelming sentiment for Repeal which has swept over the country is variously interpreted, but many do not consider it necessarily a wet victory so much as a demand for relief from the present ineffective system of Federal control, a desire to stamp out the bootlegger and racketeer and a return to State control.

TWO MORE COUNTIES CUT SALARIES

Culpeper and Fairfax counties this week made heavy cuts on county officers.

In Fairfax county, J. U. Kincheloe and F. W. Huddleson, commissioner of revenue and treasurer, were each trimmed to $4500. After Governor Pollard applied his ten percent cut, their net pay will be $4,050 per annum.

In Culpeper, Messrs. Davies, commissioner, and Mitchell, treasurer, will suffer a total cut amounting to twenty per cent of their present rating.

Prince William recently effected a cut amounting to one-sixth of the same officers (treasurer and commissioner).

as related to correct dress. County and State contests in which our girls have stood well, have helped in making this an outstanding piece of work.

Helen Nelson's story gives an example of the type of work done in the clothing project. Helen, a girl of twelve years, has taken complete responsibility for her mending and has done most of her own sewing. She made 3 dresses, 1 hat, 8 undergarments and made over 3 garments at a total cost of $1.11. Helen has been as consistent with her posture and health work and account keeping as with garment construction. The total amount spent on her clothing during the year was $14.95.

Remodelling has been emphasized in the clothing project. The exhibit showing uses of cotton bags which was prepared and put on at the State fair by the 4-H club girls of this county shows something of the remodelling work done by the girls. Seven coats have been turned or remodelled in some way by the girls of Hayfield club this winter.

Ten boys and girls have carried poultry projects under the direction of the home demonstration agent. The 7 girls who completed project requirements report a profit of $392.45. (A large per cent of the profit was made by one girl who co-operated with her mother on her poultry project.)

Forty-nine boys and girls worked with garden projects under the supervision of the home agent. The thirty-four boys and girls who completed their projects report a total profit of $611.95 on 2 1-4 acres.

Possibly the best club garden work done in the county was that done in Woodbine community. Red Cross seeds were furnished for thirteen of the fourteen children who took the project; parents were interviewed before these seeds were given. Reports on these projects tell of more than $175.00 worth of vegetables having been used and 710 quarts of vegetables canned from the 4-H club gardens. With the addition of soup mixture canned for school lunches the community has netted a profit of $336.80 from the club projects.

Hot lunches were served to the 128 boys and girls in Woodlawn, Woodbine, Purcell and Hayfield schools during the winter months. Teachers reported a noticeable gain in weight, better attendance at school and fewer colds during the time lunches were served. In one school the average gain in weight was ten pounds; in another eight. Preparations have been made for serving hot lunches in all of these schools this winter. Buck-hall school is also added to those serving.

Twenty-eight 4-H club girls and two club leaders attended 4-H club short courses which provided educational opportunities as well as vacation trips at minimum costs. State fair trips, tours, etc., have provided recreational and educational advantages for club boys and girls.

Better foods clubs have been discontinued and therefore the club enrollment suffered an 11 percent decrease. This decrease in 4-H club enrollment is offset by the marked improvement in the quality of work done and the increase in project completions.

A. G. MacMILLAN
MANASSAS, VA.U. S. BUREAU GIVES TIP TO AUTOISTS

THE U. S. Bureau of Standards has outlined nine points to which it considers a satisfactory anti-freeze solution should conform.

Although the selection of a satisfactory anti-freeze is of the utmost importance, automotive engineers point out that no anti-freeze can give satisfactory service unless the cooling system is cleaned and tightened before the solution is put in. Especially should all rust and scale be removed. If this is done, the cooling system should be free of rust for the entire season, inasmuch as a "rust inhibitor" put in to the anti-freeze solution by a manufacturer this year, reduces the rusting effect of water on iron by 95 per cent and the corrosion of radiator metals by 75 per cent.

This year more than ever motorists are anxious to avoid expensive repair bills and for this reason are paying more attention to the winter servicing of their motors.

The nine points formulated by the Bureau of Standards to guide motorists in selecting an anti-freeze are:

- 1—Whatever compound is used should give complete protection.
- 2—It should not boil away.
- 3—It must not do any damage to the cooling system.
- 4—It should not heat up the motor.
- 5—It should not affect the paint or varnish of the car.
- 6—It should be odorless.
- 7—It should be non-inflammable.
- 8—It should not become viscous at low temperatures nor decompose at high temperatures.
- 9—It should never deteriorate.

SAFETY CODE REDUCES TELEPHONE ACCIDENTS

Reducing lost time accidents in the Bell system by the standardization of a ladder safety code is featured in the current Bell Telephone Quarterly. Ladders, according to this article, are a contributing cause in approximately five per cent of all lost time accidents of telephone employees.

The national program for the elimination of ladder accidents was initiated by the telephone system under the sponsorship of the American Society of Safety Engineers. The sectional committee consisted of twenty-five members including representatives of the ladder manufacturers, the lumber industry, employers and employees as retail users, state regulatory bodies, the insurance interests, engineering and safety societies and the federal government.

Safety results obtained from the ladder accidents of thirty per cent. In 1927 it was found, after all types of ladders were standardized, there use of ladders coming under the standardization plan of the Bell telephone system resulted in a marked decrease in ladder accidents in 1924.

LITTLE NANCY

"What's your name, honey?"

"Nancy May."

The doctor looked into the thin little face turned up to him, framed in yellow curls, and heaved a sigh. He spoke to the parents who sat anxiously waiting for a verdict.

"How long has she been like this?"

"For several years, doctor. She's had asthma, and you see how thin and nervous she is." Nancy looked down at her own hands.

"I'm not so very thin," she murmured apologetically. "And I can play better than all the other kids on our block."

The doctor laughed. "Well, you may have to stop playing for a while, honey, but we'll fix you up all right." Then he turned to the parents and spoke in low tones.

"Her case is suspicious. She must have rest and care to begin with. We must have an X-ray. As soon as there is a vacancy at the sanatorium she really ought to go up there for a while."

Heart-breaking words. But facts must be faced. The parents walked home with their flaxen-haired little girl, sadly talking over what could be done.

"But think, John. A hospital. X-rays. A sanatorium. All that costs money."

"I'll go and talk to the District Nurse about it," the father said at last.

Next day Miss Arthur came out to the house. She and Mrs. Fuller had arranged that little Nancy should go to the Winchester Hospital to be X-rayed and care for till a place at the sanatorium was ready. The Anti-Tuberculosis Association would take care of everything as the parents were not able.

It wasn't very nice to stop playing, but Nancy was a brave soldier and went away with Miss Arthur. After a few weeks in the pleasant Winchester Hospital, she took a long drive up to the sanatorium at Catawba, where she was to stay till she got better. Nancy hated to say good-bye to papa and mamma and the children on her block, but she enjoyed the nice long ride up the valley.

After several months at the sanatorium, the doctors said she was well enough to go home. But other misfortune had come to the parents by now, and it was impossible for a delicate child to be cared for at their house.

Then the doctor thought of St. Anne's Mission up in the mountains near Charlottesville. At this place in the Blue Ridge, Miss Park and some other missionaries of the Episcopal church have a preventorium, a large stone building, where children whose legs are too long and thin and whose eyes are too big and faded and rested and fed until they are husky boys and girls.

Nancy got into a car and was driven up to the Mountain Mission, and there she is now with a lot of other boys and girls under the care

CHANGING MIND NOT WOMAN'S RIGHT ONLY

It's not only women that change their minds. Ask Wallace MacDonald, who has an important role in Tim McCoy's new Columbia action thriller, "Daring Danger," showing at the Dixie Theatre this Saturday.

If Wallace hadn't changed his mind now be an up-and-coming young bank about a career, he would probably executive.

For the actor was trained in preparatory schools and college for a financial career. Born in Nova Scotia, Canada, his father was a Canadian government official. The theater had never been part of the MacDonald family, and it must be confessed that Wallace's determination to become an actor was not hailed with shrieks of joy by his parents. But Wallace had the courage of his convictions!

However, he joined a stock company in Vancouver, and was soon on his way to theatrical fame. MacDonald played in stock in Phoenix, Ariz., Detroit, Mich., and San Francisco, and had several years' experience on the Broadway stage under the management of the Shuberts before going into pictures.

During silent picture days, Wallace MacDonald played opposite many of the greatest feminine film stars. He was the romantic interest with Norma and Constance Talmadge, Betty Compson, Mae Marsh, Anita Stewart and Pola Negri. With the rise of talkies, his previous stage experience proved valuable. He had leading roles in "The Rogue Song," "Madame Satan," "Children of Dreams," "Man in the Sky," "Drums of Jeopardy," "The Last Flight," "Branded" and "High Speed."

"Daring Danger" offers the actor a splendid character role. Others in the cast of the new McCoy thriller are Alberta Vaughn, Robert Ellis, Vernon Dent, Ed Le Saint, Dick Alexander and Bobby Nelson. D. Ross Lederman directed the Columbia film.

"THE BARGAIN FOR PEACE"

James T. Shotwell, professor of history at Columbia University, has written this featured article for the Magazine of The Washington Star, Sunday, December 11. of Miss Park and the Episcopal missionaries. No more bills come either, because at the preventorium it is the work of the church to nurse thin little boys and girls back to health.

The help that was given to little Nancy started last winter when you bought those tiny Christmas seals. Did you know at the time that your money would help save from disease and death a yellow-haired little girl who dearly loves to play?—Winchester Star.
