LADIES NIGHT AT KIWANIS

Large Crowd Hears Travelogue by Warrenton Minister.

Kiwanians were treated to a varied program on Friday evening at their annual ladies night program which was put on at the Grace M. E. church.

First, mention should be made of the splendid turkey dinner served by a bevy of young Methodist ladies. It was really very delicious.

While Frank Sigman and others were yet jingling bells for somebody's sleigh ride (Frank has a patented double efficiency bell), Hunton Tiffany and Doe were already moving around mysteriously, flashing the lights off and on, while the Rev. Julian Lake, of our nearby town of Warrenton, harnessed up a movie of the Holy Land. (It was a travelogue, really, but movie is what we call everything now).

Rev. Lake's talk was only too short and the lights flashed back to give Mackall Ellis a chance to put on the next act, with the help of Hunton, Eli, and now Fred jumped into the arena to inspect the time-honored sport of bingo.

Mackall called the numbers while Hunton and Eli handed out the "depression prizes," consisting of soups, flour, etc.

The following had the lucky combinations: Mrs. F. R. Hynson, Miss Nina Hayes, Miss Esther Pattie, Miss Althea Hooff, Mrs. Irvin Diener, Miss Mary Coker, Miss Gladys Ball, and Mrs. Eula Merchant who won the "grand prize."

The above list includes the name of Mrs. Diener. Irvin, erstwhile citizen of Culpeper, has been a shining light of the free city of Alexandria for some years and is one of the Kiwanis leaders of that great burg.

Dick Hynson, who presided, made a nice little talk, while Bob Hutchison gave the ladies a knightly welcome. Bishop Gibson gave the customary word of grace.

And so, another ladies night went into Kiwanis history. The instigators did their job nicely, so much in fact that Dick wants another before he lets go the gavel.

Following is a list of the names of those who attended:

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Haydon, Miss Nina H. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lynn, Mr. J. Carl Kincheloe, Miss Beatrice L. Leachman, Mr. W. H. Leachman, C. R. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Waters, Mr. W. G. Hynson,

Mr. Paul Mack, McKeesport, Pa.; Mr. W. S. Athey, Mr. M. M. Ellis, Mr. D. J. Arrington, Miss Lucy Arrington, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bradford, Mrs. Eula Holt Merchant, Miss Gladys Ball, Mr. E. R. Conner, Miss Walser Conner, Miss Virginia Conner, Mr. R. S. Hynson, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hynson, Mrs. Jno. L. Hynson, Miss Esther Warren Pattie, Miss Salie Lewis, Rev. and Mrs. Wm. JUNIOR CLUB TO GIVE BENEFIT TEA

The Manassas Junior Woman's Club will sponsor a benefit tea to be given at the home of Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe on Saturday afternoon, March 18, from 3 to 5 o'clock. A small admission fee will be charged. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the club.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN ROAD SUPERVISION

Effective March 15, Prince William County will be grouped with Fauquier County in supervision of road construction by the State Highway Department.

Resident Engineer F. A. Davis, of Warrenton, will take charge of Prince William County under this arrangement which was announced Tuesday by the Highway Department.

The separation of Prince William County from Fairfax and Arlington will enable the Highway Department to devote more attention to our county. The necessity for economy in administration has made it impossible for the State to handle Prince William as a separate construction district, but the grouping with Fauquier, it is believed, will prove advantageous.

SHERIFF HALL DEAD

Sheriff Hall of Madison County died last week of pneumonia following an operation.

THE NEW DEAL

Just as the sun was setting upon National prosperity and happiness a strong hand took the helm and in a manner never before witnessed in American procedure he is bringing the Nation out of its distress.

In recognition of the need for leadership, Congress is responding magnificently. Legislation usually requiring days is being enacted in hours. Occasionally some of the selfishness which has been so conspicuous in recent sessions of Congress becomes evident, but a patriotic majority is quickly smashing these outbreaks, and the President's emergency program is becoming law so rapidly that it is difficult for a weekly newspaper to record the progress. Before our type is cold some gigantic accomplishment is added to the brilliant list of achievements already attained.

The Banking situation has been corrected and laws enacted which will prevent speculative and crooked banking operations. The Economy Bill has passed both House and Senate and only awaits action on some unimportant amendments which scarcely change the application of the law, whether adopted or eliminated. This bill gives the President the tremendous powers which he suggested might be necessary. Only four Democrats and nine Republicans voted against the measure in the Senate. Under this important law the President can cut a half billion dollars from the Federal budget. The President has stated that unless the expenses of our National Government are kept within the available income a complete collapse of the national credit will result.

The third measure, the legislation of beer, has passed the House by a vote of 316 to 97. Protection is given to the States which desire to remain dry. It is estimated that $150,000,000 will be derived by the Government from taxation of non-intoxicating beer and that millions upon millions will be made available in wages and purchases of supplies and manufacturing equipment. All of this money, it is said, is now flowing into the bootlegging industry. The House reached a vote in thirty hours after the President's message. The Senate is expected to pass the measure very quickly and in the States having no local prohibition laws, beer will be on sale, it is predicted, within a month. In Virginia beer will continue illegal until the General Assembly changes the present law. Governor Pollard has declined at present to say whether he will call a special session for this purpose.

Finally it may be stated that criminal action has been inaugurated against the crooked big bankers who have violated existing laws in their speculations with depositors' money. All this has happened in fifteen days!

BOTH MANASSAS TEAMS VICTORIOUS IN LAST GAMES

Last Friday night Manassas High School ended a very successful season in a game with Aldie. The boys have won 13 out of 18 games. Although the girls have not been quite so successful they have put up a good showing the entire season.

The first game was between the Aldie and Manassas girls in which our girls were victorious 15-10. All the M. H. S. girls played excellent games. The larger Aldie girls put up a good fight and didn't let our girls get much ahead of them but it was our victory just the same.

REP. H. W. SMITH IS RECOGNIZED

Committee Assignments of Unusual Distinction.

Congressman Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria, who represents the Northern Virginia District, this week took his place on the Rules Committee, the most exclusive major committee in the House of Representatives.

CONGRESSMAN HOWARD SMITH.

The honor was conferred on Congressman Smith despite the fact that he is just beginning his second term in the House. All other members of the group of twelve have completed two or more Congressional terms.

Congressman Smith was elected unanimously to the Committee by the Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of making committee assignments. He replaced Congressman Thomas S. McMillan, of South Carolina, who was transferred to the Appropriations Committee.

The Rules Committee has the important task of deciding when and how legislation shall come up in the House, and its members hold strategic positions.

During his first term in Congress, Judge Smith was a member of five committees — District of Columbia, Public Buildings and Grounds, Claims, Civil Service, and Elections. He was especially active on the District of Columbia Committee because so many of his constituents are employed in the District and therefore have an interest in the National Capital's affairs.

DELAY IN OTHER OPENINGS NO SIGN OF UNSOUNDNESS

Conservative Policies Have Protected Depositors.

On Tuesday morning the banks of Manassas, along with hundreds of others throughout Virginia and the Nation, removed the holiday signs from their doorways and resumed normal business.

Late Monday afternoon the telegrams anxiously awaited from the Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond began to flow out to the member banks and these were quickly followed by authorizations to the State Banks that were in a situation permitting quick approval. As pointed out by the President, and by the Secretary of the Treasury, a delay in the opening of banks does not at all reflect upon the soundness of the institution.

The telegram to Manassas banks reads as follows:

"You are authorized by Secretary of the Treasury to open on March 15 to perform usual banking functions except with respect to gold payments and withdrawals for hoarding. License will follow by mail."

(Signed)
Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond,
Geo. J. Seay, Governor."

There never has been any lack of confidence in the soundness of our local banks, but the opening Tuesday brought smiles to the faces of everyone passing the doors where holiday signs had been so long displayed, because it was felt that a critical period in national affairs had been successfully passed and it was appreciated that a general resumption of normal business activities would benefit everybody.

Better Appreciation of Banking.

One result of the banking holiday has been a more wide-spread appreciation of banking facilities and a realization that the greatest services that banks render to the public are those which are largely gratuitous. The public pays nothing for the great credit facilities extended by our banking system, nor for the protection provided for accumulated money, which it would be rather dangerous to attempt to carry around or keep in the store or home. The banking holiday, in consequence, has brought the banker and depositor into closer and more cordial relationship than ever before.

Gold Hoarding Forbidden.

Under the new banking law gold hoarding is forbidden under severe penalties. The time for placing all gold in the banks ends tomorrow, March 17, after which any person may be prosecuted. The banks have all been instructed to report to the government the names of all persons known to have withdrawn gold since Feb. 1. Such gold must be redeposited in banks or exchanged for currency.

Deposits Exceeding Withdrawals.

In Manassas, as all over the country, the opening of the banks brought a steady flow of deposits to the banks, without any attending withdrawals. Local banks reported more business on the opening day than has been experienced in many years and deposits are still being made far in excess of withdrawals. Confidence everywhere is apparent. The opening demonstrated at once that the era of fear which had swept over the nation, but never hit Prince William County, has ended. Stocks have begun to rise to new heights and business recovery seems definitely to have set in.

New Currency Not Needed.

The great supply of new currency, which has been distributed by the Federal Reserve Banks for use of depositors in case they should demand their money, has not been needed in many sections. Confidence is so well established that the normal deposits are proving ample to take care of the withdrawals necessary for the conduct of business.

CATHARPIN

Mrs. P. S. Buckley has just returned home at Catharpin after a two weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs.
Sidney Lawler of Bel Alton, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McCarty of Delaplane, Va., were Lawn Vale visitors one day last week.

Mr. J. W. Alvey, our genial merchant, not being satisfied with reports from flu sufferers, tried the experiment himself and remained indoors for several days last week checking up. He is now convinced.

Mrs. John E. Adams of Manassas visited her parents at Catharpin on Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Adams is just recovering from her recent illness and her many friends are glad to see her out again.

It is difficult sometimes for those reared during the Old Days to become acclimated to things as they appear in the New, as to trends, habits, customs, etc., as they now obtain.

We presume that Amos 'n Andy are about the most popular entertainers on the radio programs and are listened to by more people of all ages than any other unit of entertainment.

It was while waiting for them to appear that the new form of high-powered advertising in the form of a dialog between presumably a high school boy and girl who were very much concerned about the whiteness and beauty of their teeth. During the colloquy the girl was high in her praise of a certain tooth powder, but the boy countered by saying that his was so much superior. "Why do you say that?" asked the girl. "Why mine removes tobacco stain from your teeth almost immediately," replied the boy. "O-o-o-o!" crooned the girl, "I'll use that kind." Then Amos 'n Andy took the center of the stage leaving the listener to infer that the girl, of course, smoked. We are just wondering how many "listeners" would approve if instead of trying to get Quindell and Madam Queen fixed up Amos might get off something like this—"Brother Crawford, you all time talk 'bout yo' teeth;
how to keep nicotine off 'em. Yo' know my 'pinion? My 'pinion is of yo want keep tobacco stain off 'em yo teeth the cheapest way is Don't put it on."

The little, old log cabin in the forks of the road near the colored church has entirely disappeared much to the improvement of the landscape of that particular section. We presume it would be hard to tell, just when that little one-storied, one-roomed log cabin was erected, but erected it was and to all intents and purposes it, with its added "leanos" served its purpose and has passed on. The lot upon which this little old landmark stood was purchased by Mr. Albert Ellison who cleared it of all old buildings, fences, etc., thus contributing to the general good appearance of the neighborhood.

Mrs. Albert Ellison and little son, Clarence, have returned from a ten days' trip to Cleveland, Ohio, where she was called by the illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Nancy Conrad.

VILLAIN IN NEW WESTERN HAS HAD VARIED CAREER

Direct from his sensational success with Dolores Del Rio in "The Dove" comes debonair LeRoy Mason to play the villain in "Mason of the Mounted" the thrilling Monogram western starring Bill Cody and 12-year-old Andy Shuford which will be shown at the Dixie Theatre next Saturday.

This, however, is not the first time that "Bill and Andy" fans have had an opportunity to see Mason, as he also appeared with the popular pair in "Texas Pioneers," the thrilling epic of Indian battles and cavalry raids.

Mason is owner of one of the richest undeveloped gold mines in the world, and spends much of his time between pictures, working on his Nevada properties.

In "Mason of the Mounted" he plays the role of a murderer who is tracked from the snow countries way down to the Mexican border before justice reaches its inevitable triumph, and Bill Cody, in the role of a brave mounted policeman, finally gets his man.

the guests of Mrs. Milton Fair this

"FAST LIFE," WITH WILLIAM HAINES AND ACE CAST, HAS THRILL-A-MINUTE

A "thrill a minute" is no exaggeration in the speed epic of the water, "Fast Life," that will bring motorboat racing to the Dixie screen next Monday with roaring reality and an exceptionally fine cast headed by William Haines.

Here is a film that has a punch for every type of theatregoer. There is fast-moving action, romance, drama and a generous portion of side-splitting comedy that is packed with entertainment value. Every effort has been made to keep the offering very light, but at the same time plenty of eye and ear-filling spectacle has been included.

The plot concerns the adventures of a young motorboat mechanic who is trying to obtain financial backing for his new racing engine. With the aid of his assistant, Bumpy, he manages to meet the daughter of a wealthy boat manufacturer who gets them jobs in her father's company.

The engine is built and put in a boat of new design, but fails on trial due to a fault in construction. In desperation the mechanic and Bumpy resort to amateur piracy to obtain money. The way in which they finally do get their boat in shape for the big international race leads to a breath-taking climax.

William Haines as Sandy the mechanic has a role that gives him many opportunities for flippant comedy. In dramatic scenes he shows unusual strength in contrast to his usual wise-cracking. Cliff Edwards scores with his likable portrayal of Bumpy, the assistant who keeps things in a continual uproar. Madge Evans is her own charming self in a sparkling role as Shirley, daughter of the boat builder.

Conrad Nagel fills a "heavy" role with convincing realism. Arthur Byron is exceptionally real in his portrayal of Jameson, the boat builder determined to hold the international title for America. Kenneth Thomson as a disgruntled yacht owner is outstanding in the small role. Warburton Gamble and Albert Gran provide comedy as "playboy" yachtsmen.

Harry Pollard, who scored with "Shipmates," a naval story for M-G-M, and who has filmed many racing stories, combined his knowledge of the two in directing the action at a high speed tempo.

CIVILIAN HOME SERVICE

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God
BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body. — James 3:2.

AN END TO HOARDING PRACTICE

While the widespread hoarding of money is not the cause of the nation's present difficulties it has intensified the situation and helped bring on the financial crisis. In self-protection, the government has issued orders to all the federal reserve banks to report the names of all depositors in their respective districts who have withdrawn gold in the past two years unless the money is redeposited on or before next Monday. The object is for legal action under provisions of the emergency banking bill which makes it an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment.

The News-Herald has been reliably informed that the practice is not general in this community, in fact, that it is negligible. One of the reasons for this is, perhaps, that the utmost confidence is placed in the three strong banks of the city. But the few who have for any reason withdrawn their money still have a few days grace within which to meet the orders of the treasury department to return it to their open or savings account. The president has automatic powers to take steps to force its return and to inflict severe penalties for failure to do so. News reports show that millions are being returned to depositories daily throughout the country, much of it in the form of the yellow metal, the basic money of the land.

People who hoard their money now are regarded as public enemies as much so as if the nation were in actual warfare with another and a citizen were trading with the enemy. In fact we are engaged in the bitterest war in our history. Those who do not come forward now and do their bit will be locked up as slackers even as those who during the late war failed to be loyal Americans by shirking their duty to their country. It is to be hoped there are none such in this community. We should be hurt and humiliated to see the names of any of our people appear among the large scale hoarders. — Suffolk News-Herald.

A QUIET NATION MEETS ITS EMERGENCY

The calm, unruffled acceptance by the American people of an unprecedented financial situation is something that is destined to receive a prominent place in the history of these times. Whatever terminology may be applied to the period hereafter, it will not be called "the panic of 1933," because there has been no panic.

The quiet steadiness that is so clearly manifest to those who watch with the eye of the psychologist, cannot be called characteristic. The United States has a population too widely diversified to be possessed of even one general characteristic; its people range from the highly volatile to the dully phlegmatic, but all must be moved by that human characteristic which views with jealousy any action that blocks or restricts a circulation of the medium of exchange.

Time has been when such conditions as have existed since last Saturday would have brought about riots and would have set the entire country in a state of turmoil. What, then, has been responsible for this change in temperament?

It is the lesson we have learned—the self-control we have mastered—during the last four years. Today we see a nation industriously co-operating to restore stability. There is none of the useless demonstration that irresponsible, wildly distrustful masses have staged heretofore—few of the baseless rumors that have led, in times gone by, to disruptions and have hampered a return of a normal mode of living.

It is the result, too, of an education which has come to the majority of our population not altogether from the classrooms of colleges and schools. Through the present media of news dissemination, men are kept informed of what is going on. They have been given the opportunity of watching developments of witnessing the shadows of coming events; of making up their own minds, and of knowing why such measures as are now being taken are necessary.

The ignorant, "bull-headed," totally selfish and irresponsible man still exists, of course, but his influence has waned and his following has become negligible; he is no longer a power, no longer looked upon as a savior of the common people. It is the so-called people that have come to realize they are the backbone of the nation.

More: they recognize the fact that they are so considered by the leaders they have placed in offices of trust. — Charlottesville Progress.

LET US PRAY!

Armed with an unmistakable mandate from the American people, the new administration is moving swiftly in the direction of permanent restoration of prosperity, not merely a temporary economic recovery. In this hour of crisis, which is comparable to a crisis of war, Mr. Roosevelt has already been granted extraordinary powers to meet the immediate phases of the emergency. He needs more. What the president aims at is not a temporary respite from the economic disaster, the vast human destruction of the past four years—a destruction caused by the failure of society to order its own life—but the ultimate reform of the whole financial and business structure which will prevent another economic smash a few years hence, more terrifying, perhaps, more complete than the one through which we are now passing. What he seeks immediately is the adoption of measures which will give the general public faith enough to make such a program of recovery possible—measures that will make the betrayal of public confidence by business racketeers and financial jugglers who gamble with other people's jobs and money impossible in the future.

In this crisis what can Christian people do to help? A local church has indicated the way by calling a mass meeting for this afternoon to use the most powerful instrument the spirit of man can employ—prayer. In recent years some of the churches have been severely criticised for using their religious step-ups in partisan fashion to obtain certain desirable objectives. Here is a form of activity the church may exercise in public affairs which is beyond the reach of criticism. For who will tell the church that it has no right to pray?

It was Tennyson who wrote: "There is more power in prayer than this world has dreamed of." What would so lift the religious mentality of people out of the ruts of pettiness, complacency and parochialism as to pray with them for the fulfillment of the hopes of America and of humanity which hang in the balance at Washington? Let us pray for the president and his cabinet and the congress that, under Providential guidance, they may have the wisdom, the courage, the steadfastness of purpose to carry through their program for the establishment of a better, a more enduring social order. What we hope for—what we have faith to believe can come to pass—is a stirring of the bottom depths of the church's life with a realistic sense of a great crisis, which, in humility and penitence, will drive men and women to their knees in prayer before Almighty God for the salvation of America and of mankind from the curse of greed, of arrogance, and of unethical conduct which have brought our present woes upon us. — Staunton News-Leader.

"SECOND HAND WIFE" HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

When pretty Sandra Trumbull (Sally Eilers) wins the popularity contest in the offices of Cavendish & Bartlett, she is brought to the attention of Carter Cavendish (Ralph Bellamy), the handsome young vice-president of the firm. Carter is married, but his wife, Betty (Helen Vinson) is selfish and no longer cares for him. Only their little daughter, Patsy (Karol Kay) holds them together.

Attracted by Sandra's fresh young beauty and independence, Carter takes her to lunch occasionally, and before they realize it, they have fallen in love with each other. Betty takes Patsy to Paris, ostensibly to further the girl's musical education, but in reality to carry on her affair with the music teacher, Lotzi Vadia (Victor Jory).

Despite her love for Carter, Sandra feels that she must give him up. But Carter tells her he asked Betty for a divorce two years before, and will do so again—and that this time he will get it at any cost. Betty, however, holds the whip hand and to prevent her from dragging Sandra's name into the affair, Carter gives her everything she demands, including the custody of Patsy.

Sandra and Carter finally are married and Betty goes back to Paris with her divorce and Patsy. At first their happiness is all either could ask, but as time goes on, she notices that Carter still longs for Patsy—especially as Sandra's own child dies at birth. Under Vadia's teaching, Patsy becomes a musical celebrity, and Betty brings her back to San Francisco for a recital. In spite of Betty's jealousy, the child becomes attached to her "Aunt Sandra," and Sandra, realizing Carter's feeling for the child, secretly arranges a meeting with Betty at which she offers to divorce Carter if Betty will let him have Patsy back.

Betty scornfully refuses; she intends to return to Paris and marry Vadia and she wants the money Patsy's concerts will bring. Just before she returns, however, Sandra learns that the original divorce is not legal—that Betty juggled the dates in her complaint in order to get away from Reno a few weeks earlier.

Sandra hurries to the flying field in time to catch her rival, and offers her the choice between leaving Patsy with her and Carter, or arrest for abduction. Carter follows her to the field, and in the dramatic meeting of the trio, Sandra agrees to leave and go back to her mother until Carter can get a new divorce—this time on his own terms. And so Sandra and Carter finally are married again, and this time there is no obstacle to their happiness.

IN MEMORIAM

In remembrance of my beloved husband, Andrew J. Smith, who departed this life two years ago today, March 11, 1930.

Two long years have passed, dear Andrew,
Since you were called away.
And oh! What sorrows fell
On that sad and weary day!

God alone knows how I miss you.
Your memory will never fade.
Loving thoughts shall always wander
To the spot where you were laid.

I have one beautiful memory left
'Tis those happy years we spent together.

I feel yet that you are very near,
Just unseen

Although death intrudes between.
But we will meet again some day
It is a happy thought in store,
So keep him, God, in thy keeping,
Until my weary life is o'er.

Mary E. Smith.

RESOLUTIONS

On March 6 Virginia Bushong passed on to her Heavenly Home after an earthly pilgrimage of nearly 88 years.

The Aid, Missionary Society, Woman's Bible Class of Grace M. E. church, and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, all of which organizations she was a faithful member, wish to express their appreciation of her sterling character in the following resolutions:

Resolved, First that we humbly acknowledge God's will in her removal, that in her passing we have lost one who was steadfast in her faith in God, loyal in all her human relationships, and true to the high ideals which she exemplified in her life and which won for her esteem of a large circle of friends.

Second, realizing in the home she will be most keenly missed we extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and printed in The Manassas Journal.

PRINCE WILLIAM YEAR-ROUND GARDEN CAMPAIGN

Interest in the home garden has steadily increased throughout the south within the past few years. National and State relief measures have made the country as a whole garden conscious. Economic necessity has forced the farmer and the urban gardener to give more serious consideration to the home supply of vegetables.

At present few town people and certainly no farmer can afford not to have a garden. Various government estimates place the value of a good garden at not less than $150.00 for the food produced. In addition to that the home garden is worth much to the health of the family.

If the home garden is to make its full economic and health promotion contribution to the family it must supply vegetables throughout the year.

In order to the further emphasize the garden and to direct the attention of all our rural people to the year-round garden a Prince William Year-Round Garden Campaign is being launched. This campaign has been planned in connection with the home demonstration program for the year. Garden meetings will be held at which time we will have the benefit of specialists' help on vegetable gardening problems.

Garden charts, bulletins, and garden plans will be supplied for those who wish them. Individual help from the county home demonstration agent is available to all campaign members.

The requirements for the campaign are:

1. Plant not less than 17 vegetables.
2. To have spring and fall planting; 3 leafy; 2 roots; 3 fruit vegetables.
3. To store sufficient ample supply of canned tomatoes for winter use.
5. To keep a simple record and report at the close of the campaign.

These are minimum requirements. If, in your gardening you have been meeting these requirements, set your goal a little higher. Change some method that has been unsatisfactory; try out some new vegetables; improve your method of cultivation, pest control, or storage.

This campaign is open to any man, woman, boy, or girl of the county. If you have not been a year-round gardener join the campaign and keep down the home living expenses. The year-round garden will save in money and pay in health and satisfaction.

Gardens will be scored in June and September and prizes awarded.

For further information concerning the campaign see your home demonstration chairman or write to the County Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Sarah Pitts, Manassas.

SPRING IS HERE!

Miss Inno McGill Reports Wild Geese Flight North.

A flock of wild geese went direct northward over Prince William County, last Saturday afternoon. These harbingers of milder weather, as usual, flew in a double line; converging to form a wedge led by the leader. Their raucous notes, or call, resembled the bark of dogs or the sound of an airship in trouble. This invasion of geese may be accepted as an invitation to Master Ground Hog to come out of hiding in the fifth week after his disappearance.

MINSTREL RE-GIVEN

The minstrel, which was a real success at Aden on Friday night, will be given in the B. D. H. S. auditorium on Friday night, March 24, at 8:00.

Many new features are being added. Everyone is invited — only a small admission.

CO-OPERATION ASKED BY S. S. WORKER

If someone was to ask me if I had my choice would I live in the present, a hundred years ago, or a hundred years hence, I would be ready to express my opinion. I prefer to live in the present for it seems to me it is a waste of time and vexation of spirit to indulge in idle day-dreams of opportunities missed, especially. Are we reminded of this when we see young people enjoying their Christian experience under, as we consider, not the best of advantages?

We all owe reverence to the past and we have a duty toward the future, but we are of the present and it is now that counts with us and we are reminded of that little verse—

"Lord for tomorrow and its needs I do not pray. Keep us our God from stains of sin just for today."

We can talk across the continent now. People couldn't do this a hundred years ago, but did they enjoy life any the less? And a hundred years from now our descendants will be enjoying far greater advantages. Will the people of that day be any happier? Don't let us fool ourselves, for many are enjoying life today under trying conditions. The opportunities God gives us to enjoy ourselves to make the best out of life are as plentiful now as they ever have been or ever will be.

These thoughts came to my mind after attending Sunday school at Independent Hill where children walk as far as three and one-half miles to Sunday school each Sunday and seem to enjoy it so much that we feel they consider it a privilege instead of a duty.

A religious education teacher once said, "We note the interest of our Sunday school by the average attendance." When we know that only 35 per cent of the white population of Virginia is enrolled in Sunday school, and we find churches that have many conveniences whose Sunday school rooms are many times almost empty; on the other hand there are places of worship where every available space is taken up for its school — the question comes to our mind, is it a fault of the children, the parents or the leaders?

There is much to be done now. At this time each Sunday school is being asked to appoint delegates to help organize a County Council of Religious Education. We believe this will be a great step in advancing co-operation in Sunday school work and will inform and inspire the mind on the importance and meaning of religious education, and thus create sentiment favorable to an enlarged program of religious education in the county. We sincerely hope every school in the county will co-operate in appointing and sending their delegates. Through our spiritual eyes we can see Jesus revealing himself to us, showing the prints of the nails in His hands and His feet and the pierced side and saying, "This I have done for you, what have you done for me?"

Mrs. L. J. Bowman,
Sec'y Co. S. S. Association.

HAYMARKET HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. R. C. Haydon of Manassas paid a short visit to our school on Tuesday of this week. Both teachers and pupils feel that they are most fortunate in having Mr. Haydon as superintendent of schools, and they are truly gratified at his reappointment to this position.

On Monday Howard Melton, a senior in the high school, was rushed to Emergency Hospital in Washington, where an operation for appendicitis was immediately performed. According to latest reports he is getting along as well as can be expected.

Misses Ruth and Elizabeth Harmon and Mr. O. B. Harmon of Waynesboro, Va., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harmon this week.

Misses Kathleen and Mary Griffith spent the week end in Washington with their sister, Miss Ruth Griffith, a former graduate of the high school of this place.

Electric lights have been installed in the school building during the past few days. This fills a long-felt want in our school and it is hoped that much pleasure and benefit will be derived from this splendid gift of the Community League. The regular monthly meeting of the league will be held on Thursday at which time Mr. Detrick of the extension department of V. P. I. will make an address. Miss Neel of Manassas will also make a talk.

Music and entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. A. W. Amphlett, Miss Ellen Eskridge and pupils of the school. The public is most cordially invited.

Miss Helen Harris, a junior in the high school, will lead the discussions in current events on Monday, March 20.

On Friday, March 17, the senior class will present a St. Patrick's program for chapel exercises. The seventh grade under the direction of Mrs. Jordan had charge of chapel exercises last week and gave a most interesting program which was enjoyed by the entire high school.

The Junior League held its regular meeting on Wednesday of this week. After the business session a varied and well-chosen program consisting of oral reports was given by members of the league. In addition to these, a scene from Shakespeare's Macbeth was creditably presented by Helen Osborne and Jim Dunkly.

COUNTY AGENTS COLUMN by Frank D. Cox

Buck Lamb Penalty to Be Imposed Again. Demonstration Given Upon Request.

Marketing agencies at both Baltimore and Jersey City advise that lamb producers in Virginia should dock and castrate all their lambs this year. Those in charge of these agencies believe that the penalty on buck lambs will be more severe than in 1932 and it will go into effect at an earlier date, very probably at the beginning of the marketing season.

Weather lambs have a greater value on the market because they carry a higher degree of finish over the rib, back and loin, and a higher percentage of their carcass weight is in the more valuable cuts. Docked lambs present a more attractive appearance. Tests run on 300 early lambs last year in Smyth County, Va., indicated that docked and trimmed wether and ewe lambs gain just as rapidly as do others. Since no loss in gains should result from trimming and any penalty or discrimination may be avoided, growers should not hesitate to dock and trim all their lambs.

Docking and castrating demonstrations will be promptly given at farms of those who can not do this work upon request.

Important Things to Know About Korean Lespedeza.

1. Korean lespedeza is a valuable annual legume crop because it will grow on poor, unlimed land without inoculation and improve the soil.

2. Lespedeza is primarily a soil improvement and pasture crop. For pasture, it should be sown in a mixture. Under very favorable conditions, it may produce a fair crop of hay.

3. It should not supplant clover and alfalfa on land that has been limed and properly cared for.

4. Seed Korean lespedeza preferably on small grain but may be seeded alone. Seed March 15 to early April. For full crop first year, use 25 pounds per acre, in mixtures 5 to 10 pounds. Cover only very lightly. One-eighth of an inch is about right.

5. Korean lespedeza is an annual but acts as a perennial thru its re-seeding. The second year's crop is usually thicker than the first.

6. It will pay to use Superphosphate unless a sufficient amount was used in the fall when seeding the small grain.

7. There is no legal weight for Korean lespedeza seed but a bushel measure filled with well-matured seed will weigh 45 pounds.

COUNTY TO CO-OPERATE
IN DOGWOOD PLANTINGLast Two Weeks of March Set Aside as Dogwood Planting Period.

The 4-H clubs and home demonstration groups of Prince William County are co-operating with other organizations in the Statewide dogwood planting campaign. Each organization has been asked to pledge itself to plant three dogwoods per member on private property this year. The project will be taken over by the State Highway Department and public and highway planting continued.

The last two weeks of March have been set aside as the dogwood planting period.

Mrs. Mary C. McBride, landscape garden specialist, gives the following information on transplanting dogwood.

"Virginia dogwood can be transplanted to any soil reasonably fertile, moist and drained. It grows, by nature, in and at the edge of woods; it will grow single or in groups, in the open. Transplanted trees need watering in dry weather; the right way to water them is to soak the ground to a good depth once or twice a week. If the soil contains enough moisture, mulching conserves it; winter mulching must be done over drenched soil. Rocks properly placed, might conserve moisture, equalize temperature of soil, hold and firm the soil.

"Before the trees are moved, openings must be made to receive them. In moving trees, their feeding roots must not be lost, dried or injured. Small trees are best for transplanting; large trees may be moved by experts. Select young trees with straight clean trunks and well branched heads. Move trees as nearly as possible to an exposure (to sun and wind) similar to that in which they grew. Burlap wrapping prevents sun-burned bark. Properly tamping in the roots and anchoring against winds prevents air pockets around the roots. Do not set the tree much deeper in the ground than it grew.

"When moisture conditions are right at transplanting, a tree may be pruned to reduce its leaf buds one-half to three-fourths. Its branches may be reduced to less than one-half. If there is great loss of roots, the pruning may be more."

The invited guests included Rev. Father John, O. S. B., of Bristow; Rev. Father Healey, of Manassas; Sister DeSales, of Bristow; Mrs. Parker, of Bristow, and Miss Thelma Grimes, of Washington.

Thirty-five of the forty grandchildren were present.

A FOOL

May give advice, but it takes a wise man to heed it. Again J. H. Senger advises the farmers, especially those dairying, to plant some kudzu, and in a couple of years realize twice the benefits from that, that you would from the same land in any other ordinary crop. Beside it is really constantly rebuilding your land equal to any other legume.

Any information concerning it given freely. Its planting, growing, etc.

For your own benefit, get information concerning kudzu. Plant one acre in with your corn and after you have "laid your corn by" watch the kudzu grow. It will not interfere with the cultivation of the corn.

CIVIC LEADER
DIED SUNDAYGeorge White, of Burke, Was Prominent in Civic and Fraternal Circles.

George Clinton White, 59, of Burke, Va., died Sunday morning in the Alexandria Hospital following a brief illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Burke Community Hall, where he was a faithful attendant at both church and Sunday school.

The services were attended by several hundred people from all walks of life, far more than the little community hall could begin to hold. The flowers were really lovely, and there were an immense bank of them. Certainly no one in Fairfax County has ever been held in greater esteem and affection if Tuesday's testimonials meant anything.

The pallbearers were members of Henry Lodge: Messrs. J. U. Kincheloe, Robert Graham, Wise Kelley, Paul Curtis, Harry Marshall and J. M. Fitzhugh.

The officiating ministers were Rev. Herbert Donovan, also a member of Henry Lodge, and Rev. W. M. Compton, of Manassas. Music was furnished by the Burke Union choir.

Many lodges were represented, and the funeral was presided over by several district and past district deputies. J. U. Kincheloe read the ceremony at the grave in the Fairfax cemetery. The funeral train was of such an unusual length that almost the entire police department of Fairfax County was used to safeguard the lane of traffic. It was done very orderly and with credit to the sheriff's office.

Mr. White was born at Warrenton, Va., on June 16, 1873, and had lived in Fairfax County for almost 30 years. He was known throughout the county for his activities in fraternal, civic, social and political circles.

At the time of his death he was an agent of the Southern Railway at Burke, a member of the Fairfax County School Board from Lee Magisterial District, a charter member of the Fairfax Rotary Club and had represented Lee District in both local, State and National Democratic conventions. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Henry Lodge, No. 57, A. F. A. M. at Fairfax, and the Acca Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., in Richmond, Va.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nita Robinson White, and a brother, Peyton White, of Warrenton.
