CHAIRMAN CONNER EXPLAINS LOANS

Local Committee Ready to Help Farmers Apply for Crop Loans.

Regulations for 1933 governing crop production loans have been issued by the Secretary of Agriculture and are now available to farmers in this county upon request to Frank D. Cox, County Agent. Farmers can obtain the necessary application blanks for loans and detailed information about the requirements direct from him. Applications will then be reviewed by the County Advisory Committee, then certified and forward to the regional office at Washington, D. C., for final approval and action. Loans can be only used for crop production and require the borrower to reduce his acreage of cash crops 30 per cent under last year unless he does not intend to plant more than 20 acres of corn, 8 acres of potatoes, 2 1-2 acres of truck crops or 40 acres of wheat.

The maximum permitted to any borrower this year is $300. The actual amount advanced by the authorities will depend upon the borrowers requirements. A first lien or mortgage on the crop will be required. The regulations require that loans be repaid on or before October 1, 1933. Interest at 5 1-2 deducted in advance will be charged.

The regulations make it unlawful for any person to dispose of or assist in disposing of any crops given as security for any crop loan, except for the account of the Secretary of Agriculture and provide for fine and imprisonment for violation of such regulation. The regulations also require that each borrower agree to plant a garden for his home use and sufficient acreage to furnish feed for his livestock.

MINSTREL ENCYCLOPEDIA

You'll really think you are looking at an Encyclopedia if you come to B.D.H.S. auditorium Friday night, March 24.

"We can't live without you! You just must come for we assure you you will enjoy our cleverly arranged menu of live up-to-date jokes, first class monologues, snappy plays and red hot sermon, right off the grate."

"Fo de good ob de ordah" we ask each man to bring his wife or best friend along to keep him from jumping right out of his seat.

For your sides yill split mit laughter at the sick man whose wife falls in love with the doctor, then Mr. Patient elopes with the nurse.

You'll enjoy listening to several of our lack faced comedians preach to you.

Of course at Elder Jenkins' reception, you are cordially invited when we begin to start to commence to begin in our participation.

That's just it—you can be present at Mrs. Black's pink tea if you choose.

All of this begins at 8:00 and ends when it's time to go home—

Of course everyone likes to help the Aden people with their new church building and also the Nokesville community with the gym.

A PROFITABLE COW

This is a twenty-eight day record of one of the cows in the herd of Mr. E. R. Conner at Manassas, Va., made during the month of February.

This cow gave an average of 54.1 pounds of milk per day with a butter fat test of 4.1. The cow gave a total of 1515 pounds of milk during this period. The total cost of the feed was $6.84, and the value of the product above the feed cost was $41.79.

This cow, as well as the others in the herd, was fed on Grassy Mead Dairy Feed which is manufactured by the Wilkins-Rogers Milling Company in Washington, D. C. This concern also manufactures a full line of poultry feed under the Washington Brand as well as Washington flour.

PRINCE WILLIAM LOW IN EXPENSES

Inasmuch as figures have been released in publications coming into our area by which a casual reader might possibly be misled, The Journal has sought to make a reasonable study of all counties nearby as to instruction costs in public schools which includes total operation, maintenance and instruction. Following are figures taken from the last published report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction:

	Days School Open	Annual Per Capita Cost	Annual Per Capita Cost
Arlington	190	$42.80	$0.225
Culpeper	172	46.96	0.272
Fairfax	177	38.28	0.216
Fauquier	168	39.32	0.236
Loudoun	176	38.74	0.22
Prince Wm.	177	33.21	0.187

In addition to this, a brief study of Fauquier alone is made from figures furnished by Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Bartenstein, as to the total county levy.

	Assessed Valuation	Delinquent Taxes	Proposed Total Levy
Fauquier	$15,777,338	9,222	8,271.53
Pr. Wm.	6,600,000	8,000	16,000.00

	Total Rate	possible this rate

Prince Wm.	$1.25	82,500.00

CHARITY BALL EASTER MONDAY

The charity ball to be given by the Woman's Club of Manassas in the high school gymnasium on the evening of April 17 from 9:30 to 1:30 p.m. promises to be a most brilliant and outstanding affair. Committees are busily engaged in obtaining a good orchestra, getting out invitations, and planning special features and novelty numbers for this annual event.

Funds derived from this ball are used by the club to take care of their annual donations to hospitals and institutions which do a great deal of free hospitalization for charity cases, and to replenish a fund for local use by the charity committee of the Woman's Club.

Come, have a pleasant evening and help make some less fortunate one healthier and happier.

THE CONSERVATION CORPS

Acting upon President Roosevelt's gigantic reforestation program, authority will be speedily granted for the enlistment among the un-employed of a "Conservation Corps," which under competent supervision will tackle the enormous problem of reforesting lands that are worthless for agricultural purposes.

Never in the history of the world has such an undertaking been inaugurated. The conservation projects of the past are completely eclipsed by this humanitarian project which will provide employment and healthy living conditions for hundreds of thousands of men and will have a far-reaching effect upon the national welfare in its relation to flood control, climatic conditions and the future timber supply.

Under the new law the President is authorized to enroll for a period of one year, unless sooner discharged, a Civilian Conservation Corps, as nearly as possible in proportion to the unemployment existing in the several states, to be paid not to exceed $30 per month and provided with quarters, subsistence, clothing, medical attention and hospitalization.

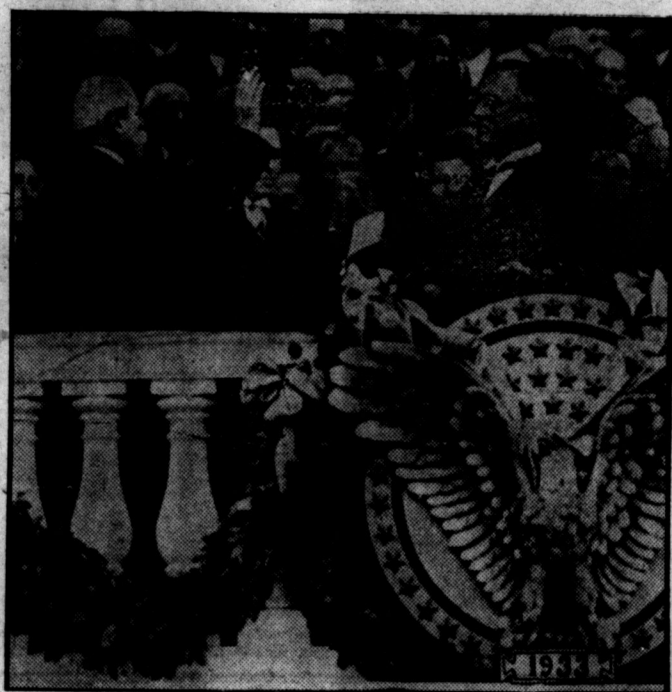

The Civilian Conservation Corps, together with any existing departments or agencies of the Government, will be employed in public work for which sufficient funds are not available, such as reforestation on national and state lands, prevention of soil erosion, flood prevention and road construction in government reservations.

Months ago, in Virginia, a similar project was studied by Governor Pollard, who had in mind use of R. F. C. funds for reforestation work in this state. A special committee was appointed to confer with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but finally it was thought best to let the matter, so far as Virginia was concerned, find expression in the President's national plan. The State Forestry Service was in the midst of an upheaval occasioned by its own disorganized and inefficient condition and the R. F. C. had ruled that such a project would have to be self-liquidating, and the funds guaranteed by State or private incorporators.

We now have a great reforestation project in which Virginia will participate, sponsored by the nation under the wise leadership of President Roosevelt, which vindicates Governor Pollard's wise forethought in advocating this kind of public work, and it is hoped that the mountain slopes of Virginia will receive the attention necessitated by their importance in any plan of flood control and reforestation.

Roosevelt Address Heard By World Wide Audience

Telephone Lines Connecting Vast Network of Radio Stations In U. S. and Other Countries Made It Possible for Millions to Hear Inaugural Ceremonies

Ted Johnson, Washington Post Staff Photographer Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes administering the oath of office to President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, inaugurated thirty-second President of the United States March 4, in a colorful ceremony before an immense audience surrounding the historic Capitol of the nation was heard literally by millions of people all over the world.

Radio stations throughout the United States and in other countries broadcast the event. The hook-up of the radio stations was made possible by the long distance lines of the Bell System and its connecting companies with the result that the addresses, music and other features of the inaugural were carried directly to immense groups of people everywhere.

A great audience in the Capitol plaza and other thousands in the grandstands along historic Pennsylvania Avenue who had come to Washington to see the brilliant inaugural parade heard the ceremony over the public address system which covered the line of march.

The inauguration was a triumphant achievement of science. The impressive words of President Roosevelt taking the oath of office and those of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes who administered the oath, were heard by people throughout the nation and in other countries as well. News, fifty countries on six continents.

stories of the inauguration were flashed over the teletypewriter systems of the press associations to papers in the far corners of the earth.

Pictured events of the inauguration transmitted by the telephoto system of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company installed at Washington especially for the occasion, made it possible for newspapers in metropolitan cities north, south, east and west to show scenes of the inauguration on inaugural day.

Uninterrupted communication—telephone, telegraph, teletypewriter, telephoto and radio—was insured by the storm-proof cable network of the Bell Telephone System companies radiating out of Washington to every section of the country.

Establishment of this cable system came about as a direct result of the disastrous snow storm of March 4, 1909, when President Taft was inaugurated. On that date open wire lines of communication were broken by the heavy snow and sleet with the result that messages were limited to mail or personal messengers. At that time telephone communication was limited to a radius of approximately 1,000 miles. Today it reaches nearly and in other countries as well. News, fifty countries on six continents.

PROMINENT RESIDENT DIES

Albert Speiden Well Known as Civic Leader.

Albert Speiden, member of the firm of Speiden and Speiden, Washington architects, died at his residence on Battle street, Manassas, Wednesday morning, March 22, after a very brief illness.

The deceased was born at "Clarens," near Alexandria, on June 12, 1868. His parents were Edgar Speiden and Lucy Leadbeater.

In 1898, he graduated from Columbia College (now George Washington University) and was later admitted to the District of Columbia Bar. He preferred architecture, however, and made this his main line of business for thirty-five years.

He was very successful as a church designer. Every church in Manassas has either been erected under his designs, or repairs made thereto. In Washington, his most noteworthy structure was the Friends Meeting House, used by President Hoover, during his administration. He also designed a large number of residences, both in Washington and in Manassas. He also designed the town hall and the local banks.

In 1901, he married Miss Effie Nelson, of this town, where he located permanently in 1905. There were three children, only one of whom is living, a daughter, Miss Virginia Nelson Speiden, an accomplished musical artist.

He was a faithful member of the Baptist church and a deacon for many years.

In Washington, he was a leading member of the Monarch Club. In Manassas, he has been one of the main civic leaders. He served as a member of the Council for several terms, being a member at the memorable time when the public utilities were installed.

Since the formation of the Fire Department, he has been its most inspiring figure. He was always promoting its interest in some way. As its late lamented chief, he will be buried in full uniform tomorrow and the entire department will attend in uniform as a mark of respect and love.

Funeral services will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow at 3 p.m. The Rev. T. D. D. Clark will give the main address. Others who will be present to take part are the pastor of the church, Rev. C. P. Ryland, Rev. C. Wirt Trainham, of Marshall, J. Murray Taylor, of Independent Hill, and Elder R. H. Pittman, of Luray. The pall bearers are Arthur H. Allen and James Kenyon, of Washington; Willard Webb, of Clifton Station, and the following from Manassas: Thomas Howard, Dr. V. V. Gillum, and R. L. Byrd.

Others surviving Mr. Speiden beside his widow and daughter are three brothers, Cuthbert, Thomas and Doctor Edgar Speiden, and two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Culverwell and Miss Mariana Speiden, all of Washington.

PATRONAGE WAITS REORGANIZATION

Senator Byrd Advises Hungry Democrats.

Senator Harry Flood Byrd, advocate of governmental reorganization, stated yesterday to representatives of the press that many months will elapse before there will be any big turnover in jobs under the new Democratic Administration.

The Virginia Senator spoke over a desk piled high with applications from deserving Democrats. He called attention to the fact that under the pending reorganization many of the jobs sought will be abolished.

"I think I should frankly say to all those who desire federal positions," Senator Byrd said, "that while I will do all in my power to see that deserving Virginia Democrats obtain appointments, we must first remember that under the authority and mandate given the President by Congress there must be a drastic reorganization of all government activities so that every useless job will be eliminated and cost of government greatly reduced." He also stated that it would be the policy of the Administration to fill no position until it was certain that such position will be continued.

ENTERTAINED AT DELIGHTFUL TEA

The Junior Woman's Club entertained at a delightful benefit tea on Saturday, March 18, at the home of Mrs. G. Raymond Ratcliffe. The table was beautifully decorated in green and white, with a centerpiece of white roses and fern, carrying out the St. Patrick's day colors.

Mrs. Stuart Pattie, sponsor of the club, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Ratcliffe and Mrs. J. P. Lyon presided at the table. An attractive program was given, consisting of vocal selections by C. A. Sinclair, Jr., "Where the River Shannon Flows," "Lonesome Road," "On the Road to Mandalay," and "Moon Song," and by Mrs. Stuart Pattie, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," assisted at the piano by Mrs. Robert Smith. Mrs. William Leachman played several selections on the piano.

The proceeds of the tea will be used for the philanthropic work of the club.

CATHARPIN

The Sudley Woman's Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. S. A. Moss. The large attendance was a fine testimonial of the interest taken by the ladies in their work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes Robertson and daughter, Frances, were Washington shoppers on Friday.

Mrs. Etta P. Lynn who for the past number of weeks has been visiting her daughter in Washington has returned home.

On Friday of last week Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brower of Lone Oak had as dinner guests Messrs. W. L. Sanders, sr. and son, Carroll, the occasion being the latter's 1933 birthday. No mention was made as to how many such birthdays had passed under the bridge since the first one but this one was made memorable for the good things to eat which the occasion brought forth and the good start made toward the next one.

The Sudley Sunday school which has been entirely suspended during the first quarter due to weather, road and flu conditions will reopen on the first Sunday in April. This is first time in years that this school has been officially closed for cause.

The drift of conversation in the Catharpin neighborhood is subject to seasonal changes. In this respect we presume we have much in common with other like neighborhoods who like to talk things over. No sooner had we gotten thru with Santa Claus than we began on the weather, and to be frank about it we have had a prolific subject; rains, snows, winds, freezes, roads and many other sidelines too numerous to mention. Then the flu occupied much attention until it was exiled from the community;
then the 18th amendment and the beer bill had to be sandwiched in along with spring plowing, the low price of eggs, pigs, calves, etc. Then the inauguration and the New Deal, the earthquake in California, the bank situation and many other things which have all been of interest and importance; but the one uppermost in our minds just now and the one which gives us our status quo in society is: "Have your turkeys begun to lay?" Some have and some have not; and therein lies the difference between the old time F F V Aristocracy and just commonplace mediocre.
So there you have it.

The Catharpin Post Office has been in possession of its new post mistress since Feb. 16 in the person of Mrs. J. W. Alvey who succeeds her father to that important post. It seems that this column must have been asleep or deaf or something of that sort not to have known it before but Mrs. Alvey has been acting post mistress so long that the change created no excitement or interruption to business so we may be forgiven for this neglect of reportorial duty.

Naturally this column was interested in the articles by "Gainesville Dist. Subscriber" relative to unemployment and the young men who are out of work. They tell us there are something like 12 millions of them

thruout the country who number includes all ages and classes of men;
some with families and in dire need;
many others honest workmen and thrifty citizens seeking honest employment and willing to render honest service; but, sad to relate, there are many clamoring for the dole who will not work under any conditions
yet are numbered among the 12 million and ready to take whatever can be forced from the government. In order to help conditions as they appear our new President is putting "first things first" and making the dollar worth 100 cents and has ordered a thorough investigation of all those high financial institutions which seem willing to crucify anything standing in the way of their own selfish interests. This disregard of government stability and the people's rights has been responsible they tell us for many of the present day ills, and of course, this means to begin at the beginning and work up if the wrong is to be righted; and our President is doing just that. But like so many things in both Governmental and our own private affairs, we neglect them until the house is all ablaze and the roof falling in before we begin to apply the remedy. In such cases the structure is lost leaving only the insurance and our experience for a new start. And now unemployment seems to be the tragedy of the hour with no one yet in sight who is able to cope with it. The two elements vitally concerned—Capital and Labor—are both highly organized but as opponents and not as deciples of the Golden Rule; so there yet remains much to be done. The subject of present day unemployment is a mighty theme with many ramifications and seems to reach farther back than the present day controversy. We are just wondering if at any time any one ever stopped long enough to analyze the situation as it really seems to apply to our young men? The high schools are educating young women by the thousand to go into offices, clerkships, banking and in fact into every walk in life
which was once regarded as the legiti-mate field of the young man. It is estimated that 90 per cent of all department store and governmental clerkships are held by the thousands of women and girls therein employed. We are just wondering how this might effect the 12 million idle men?
There are many women and girls who, of course, find it necessary to work and there are many occupations not suited to the boy which she can fill. To those who are compelled to support themselves we declare them entitled to all opportunities; but what of the thousands of other girls who are taking the places of the boy whom she ought to marry?

If the positions to which he may aspire are preempted, where can he go? What can he do? He has long since been eliminated from the teaching profession leaving only enough of his sex to prove the rule.
If we now eliminate him by the thousands from all other occupations and professions what is to become of him? We condemn him for loafing on the street; we call him lazy, diffident, stupid and many other uncomplimentary things when the very girl he would like to marry is up there in the office doing the work he himself was qualified to do in the same class with his sweetheart. Then again if the girl is to supersede the boy in business, who is to be the home maker? Who will rear the children of the future? The boy, of course, can learn to wear an apron,
make biscuits, wash dishes, sweep floors and do other chores about the home but he can not bear children. It seems to this column that the "young man" situation as it relates to unemployment is becoming more and more acute as the years go by and if some one does not emulate our new President and go to the bottom of things and straighten them out it will not be long before the young man will entirely be eliminated from his legitimate birth-right to the business professions. If the present trend is to continue and the girl "go business" then the boy will have to "go domestic" or to the restaurant;
and the home become a matter of history; then what?

SPENCER TRACY GETS INTO PLAIN CLOTHES

Spencer Tracy lays aside the po-lice's uniform he wore in "Disorderly Conduct" and discards the sailor's outfit he wore in "The Painted Woman" for plain clothes in "Me and My Gal," new Fox film in which he plays the role of a happy-go-lucky young detective. Joan Bennett, too, forswears society clothes for her role in the same picture in which she enacts the part of a sophisticated and worldly-wise restaurant
cashier.

Other parts are played by a cast
which includes such favorites as Marion Burns, last seen in "The Golden West," Henry B. Walthall, J. Farrell Macdonald, George Walsh and Noel Madison.

It is a Raoul Walsh production to open at Dixie next Wednesday and Thursday.

"THE NIGHT CLUB LADY"
FIRST OF NEW MYSTERY SERIES

Detective mystery stories are the most popular form of fiction. Consequently, it is not surprising that the movies, closely following the barometer of public taste, invariably bring to the screen the best of these crime stories. Film audiences have seen Sherlock Holmes, Philo Vance, Craig Kennedy and Arsene Lupin depicted upon the screen, and now comes the latest popular detective of fiction, Thatcher Colt, product of the imagination of Anthony Abbot.

Thatcher Colt will be brought to the screen by Adolphe Menjou in a series of Columbia pictures, the first of which, "The Night Club Lady," will be the feature at the Dixie Theatre on Friday, March 31.

In the picture, Lola Carewe, played by Mayo Methot, is warned that her death will take place as the clock strikes the hour of midnight on New Year's Eve. And even though Thatcher Colt, New York police commissioner, and a dozen of his aides are with the doomed woman in her luxurious apartment at the time, she is killed according to schedule. Moreover, the killer seemingly has committed the so-called "perfect crime." The cause of death proves baffling even to medical science. One physician, in fact, diagnoses it as a heart attack. But Colt is not deceived. Slowly, patiently, shrewdly, he pursues his investigations even to the far corners of the earth, until, by a final ingenious coup, he solves the mystery.

Irving Cummings, who directed "In Old Arizona," "Attorney for the Defense" and other outstanding pictures, directed "The Night Club Lady."

Columbia has given Menjou a capable supporting cast, including Mayo Methot, Broadway stage favorite in the role of Lola Carewe, Skeets Gallagher, Ruthelma Stevens, Albert Conti, Blanche Friderici, Niles Welch and Gerald Fielding.

Telephone Directory Used
Widely, Survey Discloses

Out of 950 Subscribers Interviewed 90 Per Cent Found Classified Section Useful; 68 Per Cent Using It Casually and 22 Per Cent Frequently

Margaret du Pief is pleased to find the very listing she needs in the classified section.

Classified sections of the telephone directory are widely read, a survey recently described in the Bell Telephone Quarterly shows. From a list of 550 subscribers, 700 residence and 250 business, 90 per cent of the subscribers interviewed found the classified section useful—68 per cent using it casually and 22 per cent frequently.

This survey was made in Columbus, Ohio, a city of about 300,000 population with approximately 50,000 telephone subscribers.

In following the questionnaire which was made to indicate volume, scope and type of the use of the directory, it was disclosed that 52 per cent of the subscribers called, stated that they were influenced to call business houses whose names were recognized when seen in the classified directory, 23 per cent made their selections on the basis of location, and 22 per cent were influenced in their selections by the wording of the advertisements in the classified directory.

"While these figures are impressive, and indicate that the classified directory fills a real need in the community," according to the Quarterly, "probably the most striking fact brought out by the survey was that 60 per cent of the users gave specific instances of use, naming the classified headings to which they had referred. A total of 931 instances were cited, covering a range of 159 different classified headings.

"A compilation of the classified headings most frequently referred to disclosed some interesting facts. Heading the list were plumbers, with 59 references, followed by cleaners and dyers, with 72. There were 42 references to taxicabs, while coal was in demand with 39, in spite of the fact that the survey was made in September. Other classifications frequently mentioned were physicians, laundries, rug cleaners, beauty parlors, radio service, and electric service in the order named. Seasonal influences undoubtedly were a factor in the classifications mentioned, awnings and screens, for example, being two which would probably be uppermost in the minds of subscribers during the early summer months, and furnaces and weatherstripping in the winter."

Similar surveys will be made from time to time in other cities giving a basis of comparison as to the uses of the directory which is not available at the present time.

NEW LENTEN DISHES.

By HARRIET DEAN

THE advent of the lenten season never fails to bring concern to the housewife who prides herself on keeping her family pleased by the variety of her foods. Not only are most fresh fruits and vegetables out of season but lenten limitations call for a less frequent reliance on meat dishes. In many places obtaining fresh fish is not a solution but just another problem.

However, you can always get salmon or tuna at the nearest grocery store and so many new and interesting ways of preparing them have been found that the housewife who likes cooking can enter into a new field of adventure in the coming weeks.

The Unesda Fish Timbales pictured above are ready to be turned, piping hot, on to a platter and garnished with parsley and lemon. Use this recipe with either salmon or tuna.

Unesda Fish Timbales
1 1/2 cups soda crackers
1 cup milk
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
2 tps. baking powder
1 1/2 cups flaked salmon or tuna
2 cups medium white sauce

1/2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tbsp. lemon juice
Roll crackers fine and cover with hot scalded milk. Let stand until cool. Add salt, beaten egg and baking powder, mix thoroughly. Line buttered timbale moulds with this mixture. Fill centers with flaked fish. Place moulds in a pan containing hot water, cover and bake in hot oven (350° F) 25 minutes. Into white sauce stir mustard and lemon juice. Turn timbales on platter and serve with hot sauce.

Norma's Salmon Loaf is served with cream sauce and chopped egg. It's easy, quick and thrifty, and equally good cold with mayonnaise.

Norma's Salmon Loaf
1 cup crumbled soda crackers
3 cups flaked salmon
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. minced onion
2 tps. lemon juice
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 cup milk
salt and pepper
2 tps. melted butter
Flake salmon with a fork, then add other ingredients in the order named, mixing thoroughly. Press into a greased bread pan. Bake in hot oven (350° F) 15-20 minutes. 4-6 portions.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, two sons, Messrs. Clay and Claude Tolson of Washington, D. C.; also a brother, Mr. Billie Keys of North Carolina and a large number of relatives and friends.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST
The Word of God
BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

I SHALL NOT WANT: The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.—Psalm 23:1, 6.

ALBERT SPEIDEN

It is with extreme regret that we record the death on Tuesday of Albert Speiden, of Manassas. Beloved and respected by all who knew him, his place will not be filled in the community life of our town and county. As chief of our local fire department he was one of the "boys," and was beloved by all of them. Under all circumstances he was always the same affable, friendly and cultured gentleman. His passing is a matter of universal sorrow in the community he had so faithfully served so many years. The Journal joins a host of other friends in expressing deepest sympathy to his family in their irreparable loss.

THE FARM RELIEF PLAN

President Roosevelt has proposed a plan for improvement of the farmer's plight. All corrective measures so far have been a dismal failure. The present measure seems to be the most comprehensive proposal that has been devised. It comes from the great leader we have chosen to guide us out of our national depression. Regardless of individual opinion on its various features, it ought to be accepted in full.

Without going into its complicated details, the plan in brief is one calculated to restore prosperity to the farmer by taxing and regulating those who handle farm products after they leave the farm. The revenue thus secured is to be used to compensate the farmer for his reduction in acreage and production.

The ultimate consumer is paying enough for manufactured farm products. The trouble lies along down the line of middle men, distributing agencies, speculators, etc., which lie between the farmer and the consumer. The President proposes to regulate and tax the movement of farm products so that farming will again become profitable.

WINE AND BEER

The wine and beer measure has passed and within fifteen days will be legal in those states having no local restrictions. Under the Eighteenth Amendment the sale of non-intoxicating beverages is permissible. The Volstead Act went the way of the way and enforced absolute prohibition. The present law modifies the Volstead Act and permits sale after April 6.

About fifteen States will be authorized to sell this kind of liquor. Virginia is not one of them. We have a State law as tight as the Volstead Act. In fact this State was dry before enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment. Whether it is still dry, no one can say until we have our referendum on ratification of the Constitutional Amendment which repeals Constitutional Prohibition.

In the meantime, if thought advisable, a special session of the General Assembly could be called to legalize beer and light wines. So far the Governor has not thought the emergency sufficient to justify the expense. He considers the revenue to the state from such a source very nominal. "We are not a beer drinking State," he stated recently.

There is a growing sentiment, however, that conditions will arise when beer and wine go on sale that may necessitate action in Virginia to parallel the national regulation. Until then all self-respecting Virginians will obey the State laws.

EFFECTIVE SIMPLICITY

Politicians of the old school are beginning to complain that President Roosevelt's methods, though obviously effective, are not "professional," reminding the amused New York Times of the Austrian generals who complained that Napoleon had defeated them in violation of established military rules. "To speak of Franklin Roosevelt as an 'amateur' in politics is merely silly," The Times asserts. "In many ways and under different tests," it points out, "he has shown himself to be a consummate politician. His planning and winning the Democratic nomination for the Presidency did not betray the hand of a bungler. It now appears that this frequent reference during the Presidential election to the need of leadership was no idle use of words. His assertion of Executive authority since March 4, together with the energetic rapidity with which he set himself to overcome one difficulty after another, was plainly the result of long study and preparation."

President Roosevelt has been frank as well as forceful. And there is abundant evidence of the fact that the American people are delighted with him and with the course that he has pursued since he entered the White House two weeks ago. "Without any pose or beating of drums," says The Times admirably, "he has announced his plans and quietly taken it for granted that Congress and the country would give him cheerful co-operation. He had, to be sure, the great advantage of appearing undismayed when the walls were falling about him, and giving calm and collected orders when nearly everyone else was hesitant or frightened. That partly explains why the Nation has risen to his leadership with such acclaim. Like the oarsmen of the Latin poet, they have been strong because he has appeared to be strong."

Perhaps that is what baffles and irritates the politicians of the old school. They have not yet taken it in that Mr. Roosevelt only appears to be an amateur in politics, whereas in reality he is an exceedingly clever and resourceful politician. It was Edmund Burke who said that politicians do not know their own trade. Apparently it is just as true now as it was in Burke's day. "The great thing," as Pascal once said, "is to be simple." "But," he added, "it is so hard to be simple." Apparently Franklin Roosevelt has mastered the art.—Roanoke Times.

THE 1933 BUDGET

After a most careful analysis of all available data the budget committee of the Board prepared and published for consideration the most comprehensive set of figures that has appeared in any published notice of this nature in the entire State of Virginia.

This was done so as to give everyone a reasonable chance to know what items went to make up the total levy, and the apparent necessity for the same.

Since that time published information regarding other counties has been circulated in a manner which may confuse some people.

With that idea in mind we sought and publish herewith on another page a very brief synopsis of such comparative data as may be of use. These figures are fairly conclusive. It is very easy to see that Fauquier with an assessed valuation about 250 per cent greater than that of Prince William can run a lower tax rate and still get a total levy larger than ours. This statement is not given with the idea of discouraging the budget in Fauquier but merely to show that any county with a higher assessed valuation can naturally get by with a much lower tax rate.

The school system did not wait for a cut to be imposed but has scheduled down its operation figures to the lowest practicable limit at which they believe that it will be possible to maintain the schools on an efficient basis.

While it costs $100 a year to educate a child (an all-American average) it likewise costs $300 a year to maintain a useless criminal. Ignorance is the best ally that crime has.

So far The Journal has heard no expressed opposition of any sort to the proposed county budget, and it does not believe that there will be any specific attack. If the Board does make a cut of any sort, it would likely have a question of total elimination of the feature affected, as everything has apparently been placed on the lowest estimated expense basis.

SHOULD VIRGINIA SHARE

An interesting question has arisen in connection with President Roosevelt's Tennessee Valley reclamation project. A resolution is now pending in Congress whereby Tennessee and Alabama will receive 5 per cent of the gross proceeds from the sale of power from the Muscle Shoals project.

Should Virginia also share in this? Most of the water in the Tennessee River originates in Virginia. The Holston, Clinch and numerous small tributaries are said to supply 90 per cent of the regular stream flow of the Tennessee River. In the recent Boulder Dam controversy in the west it was decided that five states should share in revenues from the Colorado power plant because the waters came from within their boundaries. A similar line of reasoning would seem to justify Virginia's claim in the present instance.

The question is a complicated one and we believe can be settled without litigation. President Roosevelt is unusually considerate of the rights of states. His experience as Governor of New York, particularly in reference to relations with the federal government, would indicate that this matter would have full consideration. It would certainly be nice to add a few hundred thousand dollars annually to the State income.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUILD

Plenty has been said about the orgy of building which took place during the boom years providing more dwellings than there was any need for. But now that several years have passed, this overproduction has been well averaged down.

A few years ago we were building several hundred thousand homes a year—undoubtedly too many. But last year we built only about 50,000.

Thousands of these newer homes, as well as millions of older ones, have been allowed to deteriorate to the point of needing extensive repair or replacement.

There was never a better time to do either, than now. Lumber, cement and other basic materials are selling at rock-bottom prices. So are electrical and plumbing and roofing supplies. There is an abundance of labor, skilled and unskilled. The citizen who builds a new home today, or repairs the old one, not only obtains a bargain but strikes a blow at depression. Money spent for construction and maintenance of property covers a wide area and alights in many pockets. It has a powerful stimulating effect in the national purchasing power.—Waynesboro News-Virginian.

VIRGINIA DARE LODGE NOTES

Virginia Dare Rebekah Lodge, No. 66, held its regular meeting on March 20 in the I.O.O.F. Temple in Dumfries, Va.

It was a very interesting meeting, even though our attendance was not very great; that was due to the bad weather.

Much business was transacted, and some very interesting discussions took place.

The lodge is sending a very capable representative to the Grand Lodge at Winchester this year, and with her will go the hope that she will return with lots of good ideas and working material.

After the business meeting, members staged a card party that will be long remembered, as every one enjoyed themselves to the highest degree possible.

The lodge meets every first and third Monday night at 8 p.m. starting in April. All members are urged to come and take an active part in these interesting meetings.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Two very interesting assembly programs have recently been presented at the high school.

The week after Inauguration Day, a very valuable talk was given the student by Rev. A. Stuart Gibson on the meaning of American citizenship. He spoke of how the evils of the depression from which we were suffering were due in large measure to our having departed too far from the ideals of justice and right handed down to us by our religion, that we had been putting too much stress on material things rather than the eternal things of the spirit. He told his audience that it would be the high privilege of their generation to stress more the things of real value in life and so lead their country to true greatness.

The following week a St. Patrick's Day program was given with Irish songs by the school and several beautiful Irish solos by Mrs. Gladys Ball. Mrs. C. R. C. Johnson gave a talk on the many famous people in English history—writers, statesmen and soldiers who were Irish born. This was followed by a reading by Miss Virginia Hurst on the great part that Ireland had played in the early history of Christianity and civilization in Western Europe and on the unusual musical history of the Irish people who had chosen the harp as their national emblem and whose folk songs were among the most beautiful in the world.

BOB STEELE REACHES PEAK OF CAREER AS WESTERN ACE IN "HIDDEN VALLEY" STORY

In a picture that climaxes a long and successful career as one of the most popular of outdoor picture stars, Bob Steele, ace of Western actors, appears for the first time under the Monogram banner next Saturday at the Dixie Theatre in "Hidden Valley," first of a series of eight Western pictures.

Steele, although still in his early twenties, has been a Western star for more than five years, and previously had appeared in a series of juvenile outdoor two-reel pictures with his twin brother, Bill. He is a real westerner, having received his earlier training in his birthplace, Pendleton, Ore., home of the famous Pendleton Round-up.

After making the out-door series and before becoming a western star, Steele attended high school in Glendale, Calif., where his muscles, hardened by his earlier years on the cattle ranges, won him eleven athletic letters in such widely varied sports as baseball, football, basketball, track, swimming and boxing.

In "Hidden Valley" Steele presents some of the most unique stunts of his career. Among them are several that are seen for the first time in any western picture. They include a thrilling leap in which Steele, with a wounded man tied to his back, jumps from a racing horse to a rope ladder suspended below a speeding Zeppelin. And in another thrilling scene Steele swings his way into the car of the blimp when he is picked up from the middle of a scorching desert.

The picture is also marked by an excellent supporting cast including such players as Gertie Messinger, former star of the Boy Friend comedies and recently a featured player in "Madame Racketeer," Francis McDonald, well-known western screen villain, who recently has been seen with Tom Tyler in "Honor of the Mounted" and with Bob Steele in "Texas Buddies," Ray Hallor, former star, Capt. Verner L. Smith, dean of Goodyear blimp pilots, and John Elliott, Arthur Millett, V. L. Barnes, George Hayes and Jose de la Cruz. R. N. Bradbury was the director.

The blimp which plays such an important part in the thrilling western story was loaned by the Goodyear Rubber Co.

"ME AND MY GAL" IS VIVID STORY OF LIFE

Vivid, flashing, hilarious pictures of life are said to be revealed in "Me And My Gal," the new Fox picture coming next Wednesday to the Dixie Theatre, with Joan Bennett and Spencer Tracy in the featured roles.

Miss Bennett and Mr. Tracy scored triumphantly in "She Wanted a Millionaire."

In the new film Miss Bennett portrays the role of a modern, worldly-wise young cashier. Tracy appears as an imperturbable young detective who falls in love with her.

HELEN HAYES AND RAMON NOVARRO ARE CO-STARRED IN "THE SON-DAUGHTER"

"The Son-Daughter," colorful drama of San Francisco's Chinatown, with Helen Hayes and Ramon Novarro in the principal roles, is the talkie attraction opening next Monday at the Dixie Theatre. The picture, a dramatic romance of the struggle of Chinese revolutionists and royalists in America, is based on the well-known David Belasco stage hit in which Lenore Ulric created one of her most successful roles.

The plot of "The Son-Daughter" deals with a Chinese girl, in love with a Chinese prince who is in America incognito. As a result of political intrigue, she is auctioned into marriage in order to raise funds for the Chinese revolution. Royalist spies learn of the proceedings, and the highbinder to whom the girl is sold kills her father and wounds her lover. She, however, proves herself more than a match for the plotters, and an ingenious twist in the drama enables her to slay the highbinder and to rescue the prince. In the end, they make their escape together to China.

The picture marks the first screen appearance of Miss Hayes since she was awarded the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences honor for the best performance of an actress during the past year. A distinguished supporting cast includes Lewis Stone, Warner Oland, Ralph Morgan, Louise Closser, Hale and H. B. Warner. Lesser roles are filled by Frederick Burt, Edward McWade, William Burress, Dell Henderson and Sumner Getchell. The film was directed by Clarence Brown, who was responsible for many of Greta Garbo's hits, and whose last production was the Crawford-Gable co-starring success, "Letty Lynton."

"The Son-Daughter" is said to have required construction of a number of unusually elaborate settings, depicting various typical Chinatown locales. Joss houses, gambling dens, and San Francisco's catacombs are among the scenes reproduced and the settings also include ambitious reproductions of colorful Chinese marriage rituals, Oriental celebrations and the nefarious tong wars.

Listed as "high spots" of the picture are the dramatic sacrifice of the Chinese girl for her country; the auctioning of her ride; the wedding ceremony with the great Chinese dragon carried on the shoulder of a hundred bearers; the oath of vengeance before the joss; the episode in which Miss Hayes strangles the highbinder with his own queue, and the escape of the lovers to their native land.

WILL THE VEGETABLE GARDEN PAY?

The half acre planted to garden crops if properly cared for will bring in a better return than any other half acre on the farm. Various gov- ernment estimates place the value of a good farm garden at $150. Reports from eight North Carolina counties show that from 80 acres in home gar- dens 166 farm women sold last year surplus produce amounting to $2,167.17. Evaluating at retail prices the vegetables used at home and canned these 166 gardens represent a value of $26,377.60 above the cost of seed and fertilizer. This means a saving to each family of $158.90.

Where, on the farm, do we find a half acre yielding as large profit?
