ALEXANDRIAN PRAISES SMITH

Judge Snow Quoted in Alexandria Gazette.

Writing to The Alexandria Gazette, the oldest daily newspaper in the United States, Judge Wm. S. Snow, of Alexandria, calls attention to the big part the Rules Committee in Congress is playing in expediting President Roosevelt's program. The interesting letter is quoted from as follows:

"It is my desire to bring more forcibly to the attention of your readers throughout the Northern Virginia section, the quality of representation which we now enjoy, in the National House of Representatives at Washington. My second and no less important purpose is to ameliorate in some degree a situation which seems to be due almost wholly to thoughtlessness.

"Representative Smith is as you know a member of the Present Rules Committee of the House, the most important and powerful of all the committees in that body. From this little group of men must come the rules under which the House operates at all times, and upon their actions depends in a large measure the speed and celerity with which legislation is enacted.

"To all of us who read of the daily doings of the national Congress, must come a feeling of wonderment when we learn of the efficiency with which the House of Representatives is now performing its duties. We of course realize that these things could not be unless there were a degree of leadership in that body which has been sadly missing for so these many years, but knowing that we have leadership and knowing whence such leadership comes are different matters.

"In the daily press we often see this sentence with reference to the passage of some important bill offered by the administration. 'Under a special rule reported by the Committee on Rules of the House, debate was limited and the bill was passed by a great majority.' In these few words is revealed the fact that in this committee, of which our Representative and fellow citizen is member, exists the leadership that is not only the wonder of the land but the pride of the Democratic Party. . . That each and every member of the Rules Committee is doing fully the duty imposed upon him, and rendering a service to the nation which is beyond estimate, is evident, and it is a source of no small pride to me to know that a valuable and active member of that body is none other than our own Howard Smith. He is performing to the fullest his sworn duty to the whole people of this great United States, secure in the knowledge that any benefits derived therefrom will accrue to us all, in keeping with the principles of Democratic government.

"Respectfully yours,
Wm. S. SNOW."

VEGETABLES HAVE HEALTH VALUE

The vegetable garden has a health value which is greater than its value from food supplied or money saved. Vegetables are rich in mineral salts and vitamins both of which are essential to the well-being of the human system. Sufficient quantities of vegetables and fruits in the diet greatly reduce the need for medicines and tonics. In this section of Virginia the vegetable garden, if properly planned, will provide adequate vegetables throughout the year. A special drive on adequate year-round gardens is being put on through the Prince William Year-round Garden campaign.

For further information about the year-round garden campaign apply to the county home demonstration agent.

The following enrollments have been received since March 23:

Bethel — Mrs. Eva Fairbanks, Bethel; Mrs. Egbert Thompson, Woodbridge.

Haymarket — Mrs. W. H. Dogan, Catharpin — Mrs. L. J. Pattie, Aden — Mrs. M. S. Kerlin.

Nokesville — Mrs. Robert Nelson, Woodbine — Mrs. Laura Posey.

ROWENA POSEY HEADS NEW CLUB

Young People Form Organization at Woodbine.

At a meeting of more than forty of the young people of the Woodbine neighborhood Tuesday evening, it was decided to form an organization of the young people of Woodbine and nearby communities to be known as the Woodbine Young People's Club. Officers were elected as follows:

President, Rowena Posey; vice-president, Madison Holmes; secretary, Scott Winfield; treasurer, Bessie Cornwell; reporter, Lester Holmes.

Program committee: Ruby Russell, chairman; Richard Wheaton, Rowena Posey, Howard Cornwell, Bessie Cornwell.

It was voted to hold regular meetings of the young people's club on every second Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. An interesting program, combining both entertainment and educational features, was outlined by the program committee and will be announced in next week's Manassas Journal. The meeting was called by Miss Sarah Pitts, home demonstration agent, and Frank Cox, county agent, both of whom encouraged the forming of the young people's organization. Later a plan of community work will be set up by the club.

Lester Holmes, Reporter.
Scott Winfield, Sec'y.

THE CRYING NEEL

MANASSAS VETS PLEDGE LOYALTY

A special meeting of Prince William Post No. 158 was called March 27 at the Court House for the purpose of discussing the national program for co-operation with the administration of our new Commander-in-Chief. A large representative body of the local post was present. Commander Carpenter outlined the program as suggested by national headquarters. It was interesting to note the sentiment expressed by the members. As a result the following resolution was adopted and forwarded to the National and State Headquarters:

"We, the members of Prince William Post No. 158, Department of Virginia, endorse the economy program of the present administration in respect to veterans' compensation as well as the curtailment of government expenditures, and pledge our support to the same.

"We shall endeavor to carry on in the spirit of Washington and the nation's fathers, that we may go down in history honored and respected among the nation's saviors. We shall do our best to so serve with our new Commander-in-Chief in this crisis as we did in 1917-18 that all thoughtful and honest Americans will say. The American Legion has richly fulfilled our preamble pledge of service to God and Country."

RELIGIOUS DEBATE

Under auspices of the Brentsville District Community Association a debate will be held in the high school at Nokesville on Tuesday evening, April 4.

WOODBIDGE MAN HURT

Said by police to have been struck by an automobile while walking along the Richmond Highway near Woodbridge last night, Fred Johnson, 53, of Occoquan, was removed to the Alexandria Hospital with both legs broken and possible concussion of the brain. Hospital authorities stated today that his condition was favorable.

The machine was driven by Jake Anderson of Stafford Courthouse, Va., police said.

Senator Byrd would authorize the U. S. Department of Agriculture to require better grading of apples.

SENATOR BYRD EXPLAINS VOTE

Regards Beer Measure as Unconstitutional.

Senator Harry F. Byrd issued the following statement concerning his vote in opposition to the beer bill:

"The bill as passed provides that beer, ale, portre, wine, fermented malt of vinous liquor or fruit juices may be sold with an alcoholic content of 3.20 per cent by weight or 4 per cent by volume. This is of equal or even greater strength than the average pre-war beer and is of the strength as the beer now sold in Germany and England.

"Few will deny that pre-war beer was intoxicating. I am therefore convinced that the beer authorized by this bill is in fact intoxicating, certainly to those unaccustomed to its use if not to those accustomed to stimulants.

"I therefore voted against the beer bill, as the Constitution of the United States prohibits the sale of intoxicating beverages. I would not be faithful to my oath of office as Senator if I voted for a law which in my conception is contrary to the Constitution.

"Neither the Democratic national platform nor President Roosevelt recommend that Congress legalize the sale of wine and beer in conflict with the Constitution.

"Under the bill as passed, beer and wine can be sold to children of any age. Furthermore, the bill permits beer and wine to be consumed on the premises where sold, and therefore invites the return of the saloon.

"I have no complaint or criticism of those who believe that wine and beer of the alcoholic content authorized are non-intoxicating and therefore permissible under the Constitution, but in order to be sincere with myself and true to my convictions I voted against this bill which I believe is contrary to the Democratic platform and the recommendation of the President and in violation of the Constitution as it now stands.

"So far as Virginia is concerned, state legislation would be necessary before the sale of wine and beer can be permitted.

"I think I should state that had I been a member of the Senate at the last session I would have voted to submit to the states the repeal of the 18th amendment, but so long as this amendment is part of the Constitution I intend to vote to sustain it.

"Even those who have reached the deliberate conclusion that the repeal of the 18th amendment should be ratified at the earliest possible time are not justified in nullifying the Constitution by indirection.

"Under the provisions of the law proposed wine and beer, unless prohibited by state legislation, could be sold at every wayside filling station and no machinery would be available to enforce the authorized alcoholic content of such beverages.

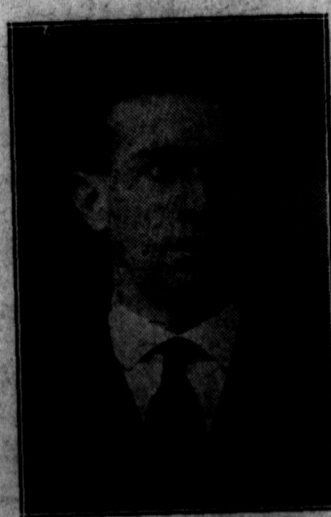

"If the wine and beer authorized are not intoxicating it would be useless to offer them to the public for sale. If they are intoxicating, the sale of such beverages of course is clearly prohibited by the Constitution."

CATHARPIN

Well, if anyone, even in his wildest imaginations, ever accuses Catharpin of not being up-to-date will certainly have another think coming. She may be a little slow sometimes in catching on but once she takes hold she clings to her victim with the grip of death until the finish. She is now engaged in moral combat with the jig-saw puzzle and her every spare moment is devoted to that adorable pastime. She is even ready to forsake her morning ablutions and tooth brush exercises to find that one elusive piece which was so mysteriously hidden away among its fellows the night before. Some families have as many as four which they, each and all, trade around with their neighbors to keep up the excitement. Well it's a fine indoor diversion; its only fault being its tendency to insomnia, but just now this will do but little damage so we are jogging along with the rest of the world, a little behind, perhaps, but still we are jogging.

Mrs. T. Otis Latham of Snowhill was a welcome guest at Oakwood one day last week.

The Catharpin Good Housekeeping Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. W. Alvey on Thursday of last week when the Post Mistress treated her guests to an excellent turkey dinner. This club which was organized some 20 years ago has always been noted for its exhibitions of culinary art so that its members and invited guests are always sure of being well entertained. The annual election of officers was held and the club is starting off with the new year with as much vim and confidence as the new administration. It would not surprise this column if and when Franklin D. Roosevelt might decide to add another "ship" to the cabinet he might come to this club for his "Secretary of the Kitchen." Take it from us they could get him a dinner all right.

Miss Audrey McIntosh and her friend, Mr. Munday, all of Washington, were visiting friends in the Catharpin neighborhood on Friday last. Miss Lucy Kidwell has accepted a position in Washington and will soon report for duty.

Spring seems to be having a horrible time of it trying to get things straightened out ready for her annual debut. A few pretty days gives her encouragement and then along comes a cold rain or something to dampen her ardor; but a two-inch snow on Saturday capped the climax and caused her to shudder and pull her chair up to the heatrola for warmth and to wonder just when, if, why and what it's all about, anyway. Just now, it seems, we are passing through an era of world's history that reminds us of old Uncle Eben's remark during a serious epidemic when he said that "some people are dying now who never died before," and so it is with the times; things are happening in the world today which not only never happened before but which we thought never could happen. Germany, after the World War, set up a Republic and tried to emulate the United States of America whereby the people and not a dictator should rule. This, however, does not seem to satisfy so her "Congress" met and delegated all law making power to one, Hitler, and then adjourned 4 years leaving him the sole dictator and arbiter of her destiny. Italy, like England, has her king but he does not seem to cut much figure except to wear the robes of office, sign on the dotted line and attend the races. She also has her "Congress" but it never seems to get anywhere so Mussolini had to take over the job. England has her Parliament but her Prime Minister has to bear the brunt of action when action is necessary; and there is Russia, the epitome of all times, which slew the entire reigning family and set up a 100 per cent one man dictatorship without fooling with Congresses, Parliaments, Reichstags, etc. and which has set the whole world by the ears. These are but samples of Old World unrest and governmental dissatisfactions as evidenced by news reports from practically all governments of the world. Avaricious Japan, gnawing at the vitals of poor, old, lubberly China, is an exhibition of both the powers and weaknesses of governmental control; also is evidence that "piracy" did not die with Captain Kidd. These things cause one to wonder what it is all about anyway, and why? Science says there is always a cause for the effect; that things can not happen alone, so there must be a reason or a cause for all these governmental upheavals; this switching back and forth from Dictator to people and from people to Dictator; what is the reason? Well, reader, you study this out a bit for yourself.

The next question is—Do we find any parallels to the above in our own beloved United States of America? Just to see how the outside world sees us we shall let George Bernard Shaw, the great English playwright, answer. He has just landed upon our shores for a visit and since his reputation is such that when he speaks the world listens, naturally our reporters were anxious to interrogate him. To one of their questions he, in his characteristic, blunt way, replied: "Why you fellows have elected Roosevelt as your 'Hitler' in this country." Yes, we are perfectly and satisfactorily aware that Franklin D. Roosevelt has been delegated unlimited power over many things to regulate and straighten out existing evils confronting our government; but one wonders, sometimes, why it was necessary for 531 law makers, representing every section of the country and elected by the people, and costing the government 10 billion dollars per year, why they should throw up their hands in despair and tell one man, yes, just ONE man to do it. Then again if just ONE MAN can do the work, why spend 10 million dollars annually to keep up 531 congressmen and senators just to prove impotent when the crisis appears? One would naturally suppose that such a group of lawyers, business and professional men, elected for their supposed ability and patriotic zeal, ought to produce a composite opinion capable of solving any question of policy or government which could arise. If they can not, then why have them? People, as a rule, do not want to be critical, but sometimes one can not help thinking.

MANASSAS, VIRGINIA

STATEMENT BY HUEY LONG, SENATOR FROM LOUISIANA

With the one law which I propose to submit the minute Congress meets, I think most of our difficulties will be brought to an almost immediate end. To carry out President Roosevelt's plan as announced in his inaugural address for redistribution and to prevent unjust accumulation of wealth, I am now drawing a law for the following:

A. capital levy tax, principally on fortunes above ten million dollars, graduated so that when a fortune of one hundred million dollars is reached, the capital tax levy will take all the balance above that sum. This will not prevent aggregated capital, that is, several persons combining their wealth in one big enterprise, but will prevent any one man owning from ten million to one hundred million dollars without paying the government a substantial part and will further prevent any man from owning anything at all above a value of one hundred millions of dollars.

An inheritance tax, heavier in the higher brackets than at present, graduated so that no one person can inherit more than five million dollars; the balance to go to the government.

An income tax about the same as now exists except that it shall be heavier in the higher brackets and finally providing that no one will be permitted to keep more than one million dollars from earnings of one year.

Because of the fact that in some cases it would be difficult for large property to be sold at a fair value to pay the inheritance and capital levy taxes, the proposed law will provide that such taxes may be paid in a course of several years and, in case a fair price for the property cannot be obtained in that length of time by the tax debtor, that the government will take its per cent of the property and market it along such lines as may be best for general welfare.

This proposed legislation will give the Government approximately fifteen billions of dollars per year. It will balance the budget and still leave about twelve billion dollars for works of the government every year, but, at the same time, it will operate to scale down the big fortunes so that they cannot be so powerful to crush out the little men and little businesses. It will mean the solution of the problem of financing all such things as the guaranteeing of bank deposits, and the public construction works, including roads, navigation, flood control, reforestation, unemployment, farm relief, canals, irrigation, etc. And with this law passed, no one can ever again say that our government has not a satisfactory basis for an adequate and sufficient currency. All such can be amply financed by the government without any burden on the common citizen at all and in a manner that accomplishes the still better object of the decentralization of wealth. Such public works of the government will provide employment for every one in the country not otherwise gainfully employed and it will so stimulate all private endeavors and business that little additional legislation will be necessary.

It would be better if, coupled with this law which I am drawing, we included the plan announced by Senator Logan for the government to participate in surplus profits of industry and the plan of Senator Black to limit the hours and days of labor so that consumption may balance with production. President Roosevelt's stand for such legislation has also been announced by him on several occasions.

Isn't $10,000,000 to $100,000,000 enough for any one man? What's he going to do with any more? Isn't $5,000,000 enough for one child to inherit, who never hit a lick of work for it? Isn't $1,000,000 enough for any one man to make in one year?

SPENCER TRACY IN "FACE IN THE SKY" AT DIXIE WED.

He has a fighter's jaw, a fighter's eyes and a fighter's build. And, although he is personally one of the kindest and most unaffected men who ever stepped before the camera or the footlights, Spencer Tracy has a fighter's disposition.

Success hasn't come easily to this Wisconsin actor. It has been a long struggle and his fighting qualities have been taxed to the limit. A weaker man would have given up long ago, and turned to something easier. Tracy couldn't; he had an inborn urge to act, and obstacles only spurred him on.

To begin with, he had to sell the idea of being a thespian to his family—no easy task. Tracy Senior, a successful executive in the motor-truck industry, naturally wanted the boy to follow in his own footsteps. But Spencer's determination, plus a useful friendship, finally won them over.

From boyhood Spencer and an Irish youngster named Pat O'Brien had been pals. They grew up together and entered Marquette University together. Both yearned to become actors, and this was the strongest bond of all. O'Brien's family yielded first, and Pat went on to New York to study dramatics, while Spencer transferred to Ripon College, there becoming a shining light in campus plays.

Today Tracy's brilliant portrayals, his satiric mastery of two-fisted roles and a unique ability to make his performances natural to the last degree, have brought him to an outstanding position in this field. But that isn't all. For the Fox Film officials, to whom he is under contract, believe that this hard-boiled sensation, who scored in "The Last Mile" and "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," can also score in a romantic role, startling as the idea seems.

With that belief to the forefront, they presented him with the leading part in "Face in the Sky," a film which studio gossip heralds as one of the most unusual pictures in American film annals. The story is a delicate, almost a fantastic, comedy romance of two dreamers who, in the words of the author, Myles Connolly, "reach Heaven via a billboard and a pot of paint."

Directed by Harry Lachman, whose European productions have been delighting screen audiences abroad, and with Marian Nixon and Stuart Erwin in the other featured roles, this new vehicle promises to reveal an astonishingly different Tracy. Probably it will. For a fighter, this Tracy is a versatile chap, and romance is romance wherever you find it.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize the daily Bible selections, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

DELIGHT AND DESIRES:
Delight thyself also in the Lord;
and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart.—Psalm

FOR OUTDOOR BEAUTY

All power to the arms of the garden clubs which have launched a campaign to plant 3,000,000 dogwood trees on the grounds of public buildings and along the roadsides of Virginia during the next three years. This is an ambitious program, but with the help of other women's clubs and civic bodies, it is by no means impossible of accomplishment. It is expected that 100,000 women will be enlisted in the movement, and each garden club member is urged to plant at least three trees each year during the three-year period. Boy and Girl Scout troops are asked to carry seed of the dogwood on their hikes and to scatter it by the wayside where there are now only bare patches of earth and where it will spring up and in time give exquisite charm to time give exquisite charm to the wayside landscape.

The dogwood is an uncommonly beautiful tree, and when the highways of Virginia blossom with millions of dogwoods, pink and white, they will present a spectacle in spring to delight the eye of the citizen as well as the tourist—a spectacle worth going miles to see. The idea is not to rob the forests of native dogwoods but to obtain young trees from nurseries for planting. The local garden club stands ready to give information as to where both seed and seedlings may be obtained. Planting the dogwood and propagating it from seed is not costly, and when you plant it you are planting lasting beauty. Surely everybody will want to have a part in this important road beautification movement.—Staunton News-Leader.

GOOD ROSES

If you want your roses to show well and keep well, said an expert at the Cleveland Garden Center; you must cut them at dawn, not with a scissors, but with a sharp knife, making a clean, slanting slash. She gave these tests by which to judge good roses:

The larger the rose, compared to others of its variety, the better.

Rich, clear, color, shading gradually and evenly is preferable to blotchiness.

A sturdy stem, whose "neck" won't flop. The longest possible stem is best.

A well-shaped bloom, with petals beginning to unfold evenly, will outpoint a larger bloom that is lopsided.

Leaves should be deep green, free from disease or insect injury or discoloration or hail stones, and it might be just as well to wash off stains of insecticide. — Exchange.

BLESSING IN DISGUISE

Handled as President Roosevelt is handling it, the bank suspension may prove to have been a blessing in disguise; may, indeed, mark the definite turn out of the long economic depression.

The President's program seems admirably sound and simple, and Congress has gone about the validation of this program with commendable speed.

The early reopening of banks that are 100 per cent sound, the early reorganization of banks that are not 100 per cent sound, together with an additional money supply that means currency expansion rather than currency inflation—these are the ingredients in the Roosevelt remedy.

And the remedy should prove effective, if the handling of this managed currency, and the banking situation as well, is left strictly to the administration, unhampered by congressional or other political interference. — Minneapolis Journal.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
UPON THE DEATH OF
MR. ALBERT SPEIDEN

Whereas, on the morning of March 21, 1933, our town was greatly shocked and grieved by the sudden death of Albert Speiden, a well-known and well-beloved citizen of this community; and,

Whereas, the said Albert Speiden had served faithfully and efficiently as a member of the council of the Town of Manassas for a number of years; and,

Whereas, he had been a member of the Volunteer Fire Department of the said Town of Manassas since its organization and had served most efficiently as president for a long period of time;

Now, therefore, be it resolved:

First, that we, the members of the council of the Town of Manassas, do give in this manner expression of our regret and sorrow at his untimely death, realizing that in his passing our town has lost a noble citizen, an efficient and beloved officer, one who lived to serve his fellow men, and one whose place will be hard to fill.

Second, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his bereaved family, with the hope that it will convey to them in some measure the deep sense of sympathy that we feel at their great loss; that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the town council; and that a copy be given to The Manassas Journal for publication.

JAMES GLEASON AT DIXIE THEATRE NEXT FRIDAY

James Gleason, seen in the role of Beef Evans in "The Devil is Driving," coming next Friday, April 7 to the Dixie Theatre, is not only an actor of stage and screen reputation. He is also a talented and experienced playwright and producer, and, during two wars, the Spanish-American and the World War, was an efficient soldier for Uncle Sam.

Gleason's parents were theatrical stars of their day. His wife, Lucille Webster Gleason, has acted with him in many plays and has collaborated with him in the writing of others. He has one son, Russell, now a motion picture actor.

After the World War, Gleason returned to Broadway in "The Five Million"; followed that experience by operating a summer-stock company in Milwaukee for several seasons; wrote and produced his own play, "Is Zat So?," which had a great success in London and New York, and topped that by authoring two other stage hits, "The Fall Guy" and "The Shannons of Broadway." He added to his fame by writing the dialog for an early talkie success, "The Broadway Melody," for the screen.

For the past three years, he has been devoting himself to motion picture work. He had roles in "It's a Wise Child," "Lady and Gent." He usually plays "slangy" characters.

Gleason is five feet ten inches tall; weighs 140 pounds; has blue eyes and light-brown hair. He was born in New York City, but spent much of his early years in Oakland, Calif.

THE NEW FRIGIDAIRE

The new Frigidaire that uses no more current than one ordinary electric light bulb will be placed on display in the showrooms of Hynson & Bradford, local dealers, very soon.

"In addition to being unusually low in operating costs, this new household refrigerator sets other standards of economy," Mr. Hynson said. "It is the lowest priced Frigidaire ever built."

"It is an open secret that many of the so-called low-priced electric refrigerators that mushroomed into existence last year have not been economical from an operating standpoint. It is a real pleasure to exhibit a model that is to be sold at such a low price and which provides extraordinary low operating cost by use of a motor half the size of any ever used before, yet providing adequate refrigeration capacity."

"This new Frigidaire is the product of a long established, reputable company which has been a consistent builder of quality refrigerators for seventeen years and now has almost two and one-half million units in use, a million more than any other make."

"GOD SPEAKS TO MAN"

God speaks to Man in various ways, In storm, in drought—perilous days, Grave warning to proclaim; Oh! Man, turn from thy futile sin, Back to the 'Shepherd's fold again, And reverse His Holy Name.

"In God We Trust," upon our coin, Will not for countless sin atone; Nor moral battles win; If Him we trust! Still not obey—Then Satan soon entwines the way, With wickedness and sin.

Woe nation that forgetteth God, Like Sodom's lot, thine will be hard; And all thy labor vain; Who seeketh not but gain and wealth And worldly pleasures for thyself, And honoreth not His name.

God speaks to Man in various ways, In storm, in drought, perilous days, He sends His warning voice; Oh! Man turn from thy futile sin, Back to the 'Shepherd's fold again, Make Him thy wilful choice.

A medicine that brightens people's lives

Fortunately for most of us, a state of happy health does not depend on strength. But like any other piece of machinery, the human machine must be properly regulated to run right.

There is a simple means of regulating the system. It makes an amazing difference in the way your organs function and the way you feel.

It pays most men and women to try this regulation. You may consider yourself in fairly good health today, and after only two weeks' regulating realize you were only half alive.

This means of stimulating the system to new life is a prescription, and it is known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It's derived from fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Every druggist keeps it on hand. Get some today, and take some tonight.

Whole households have blessed this family doctor's prescription. It has saved old and young from sluggish spells—and from downright sickness. It's the only tonic you may need; the only laxative you need. It is the most likeable and remarkable medicine you ever tasted.

Try one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and compare your condition with how you felt before!

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

To break up a cold overnight and relieve the congestion that makes you cough, thousands of physicians are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of sweet milk or water. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger.

Calotabs are sold in 10c and 25c packages at drug stores. (Adv.)
